POLICE USED AS SCAB ESCORTS

'TRIAL' OF I. L. G. W. EXECUTIVES ON; JUDGES ALSO ACCUSERS; TRY TO REFUSE 'NOT GUILTY' PLEA

(Special to The Daily Worker)

NEW YORK CITY, June 30.—How "fair" is the trial being staged by the low comedians of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' official machine led by Feinberg, Sigman and Perlstein, may be seen by the fact that Israel Feinberg, general manager of the Joint Board and maker of the charges against the suspended executives of Locals 2, 9 and 22, is also the chairman of the "trial committee."

Did Not Want to Entertain a Plea.

Another indication of the "open mindedness" of the machine toward the accused executives of the three largest locals of the organization is the adjournment of the "trial commitee" at 12:30 to deliberate among its members whether the defendants' plea of "not guilty" should be given any consideration at all.

This peculiar (to say the least) attitude of a "trial committee" was based, so they said, upon the committee's contention that the defendants were already found guilty before the trial started, and the only thing the trial was to determine apparently, was whether the defendants should be expelled permanently. The accused members' plea of "not guilty" evidently caused the fake "trial committee" to summon their scattered, but collective wits to determine what course to pursue.

It was indeed aggravating. Here were some seventy-seven loyal union members, leaders of the locals making up sixty per cent of the I. L. G. W. in New York, and after the machine had announced them guilty, the culprits had the audacity to differ with the machine even in this matter, and had advanced a plea of "not guilty."

Victims Are Impolite.

In fact, the statement placed before the machine's "trial committee" took exception to the whole proceedings. It was very rude of these proposed victims to fight back. The statement said, in part:

"We deny that the meeting called by Locals 2 and 9 on May 1, 1925, at the Metropolitan Opera House was anything else but what it purported to be—namely, the usual May Day demonstration such as unions have been in the habit of holding for many years past. We deny that anything out of the ordinary occurred at the meeting.

"We declare that the entire charges are nothing but a 'frame up' and an attempt to pounce upon some false reports, which appeared in some of the newspapers, and which we believe to have emanated from the very sources from which these charges emanate, as a means of destroying the will of the membership of our local union in having elected us to office, and to illegally take possession of the offices and property of the local unions."

THE Chicago Tribune is in hard luck. Most of its foreign correspondents have such a penchant for lying that they cannot keep from getting into difficulties with various governments, for exaggerating the truth. Not only the Soviet government but others have been obliged to kick out the Tribune liars. This does not prevent the Trib's boys from sending home the news. All that glitters is not gold. Neither is everything we see in a capitalist paper according to the facts.

WHEN a Tribune correspondent was kicked out of Soviet Russia, he betook himself to Riga, and from there sent over his observations of how things were going in the workers republic. And they were going—pardon our vocabulary—to hell. It is true that the things the Trib correspondent described never happened, but he drew his pay just the same and the Tribune editorial writers commented sagaciously on his dispatches and drew very logical conclusions from them.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Henry Ford failed to submit a bid today for the 200 ships offered for sale by the United States Emergency Fleet corporation.

The largest bid was by the Boston Iron and Metal company, which offered $1,370,000 for all the ships with the understanding that some parts would be salvaged for future sale.

FENG CALLS FOR WAR ON FOREIGN DOMINATION; IS DRILLING STUDENTS

PEKING, China, June 30.—From Kalgan, headquarters of the famous general, Feng Yu-hsiang, comes the report that Feng has issued a circular telegram to all Chinese governors and military leaders calling for a war against foreign imperialist trespassers upon the sovereignty of China.

"I would fight to the death," says the call in part, "rather than be controlled or ill-treated, and, therefore, I would like to see the militarists forget their factional differences and wage a war of avengement upon the imperialist exploiters of the Chinese people. I will not desert until the last man perishes."

Feng has opened an officers' training camp at Kalgan, and 1,500 students have at once joined his army and are training at the school in intensive courses.

SAN FRANCISCO CHINESE WANT AID FOR CHINA

Appeal to American Working Class

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., June 30—The Unionist Guild, an organization of Chinese workers in America, has sent to the labor unions of this region a letter and an appeal to American labor unionist asking them to pass resolutions of protest at the imperialist brutality and aggression being practiced upon Chinese workers in China by the foreign imperialist exploiters of the Chinese nation.

The appeal, signed by Alice Sum, general executive secretary, at 1129 Stockton street, reads in part as follows:

Japan Hints War on Britain; Canton Prepares for Battle

TOKIO, June 30.—The report received here that the British government has landed an interventionist force at Shameen, the foreign settlement at Canton, has provoked a swift threat of war with Great Britain from the unofficial spokesmen of the Japanese government.

Thus the effort of Japanese imperialism to try to shift the mass indignation of the Chinese people on to the British alone, is cropping out in what amounts to a promise to the Chinese government that in a quarrel with England. Japan will take sides with China. Pressed with the threat of a devastating national boycott of Japanese goods in China, the ruling class of Japan is finding this report from Canton convenient material indirectly to notify China that Japan will unite with China against any serious war of aggression by Britain upon the Chinese nation.

The report of a British landing force at Shameen ran like wildfire about Japanese political circles, and the anonymous "unofficial spokesman" at once issued statements saying that such news was "sinister" but that Japanese government officials "did not believe that England would dare to risk occupation of the city of Canton with all that this would imply."

The Japanese foreign office is expecting to confer with the new American minister to China, John MacMurray, before he proceeds to Peking.

The second gentle hint of Japan to Britain was the claim advanced by unofficial spokesmen that the Cantonese were remaining quiet in the face of British provocation, only because Gen. Chang Tso-lin, the Chinese militarist who is subsidized by Japan, had advised a passive attitude.

Knocks Gold Market Down

HONG KONG, China, June 30.—Although the reports from Canton has sent even the gold market at Shanghai downward three points, the situation at Canton is, so far as news reports get thru, the same as yesterday.

The growing seriousness of the crisis is plain, however, in the report that the Canton government, controlled by the militant Kuo Min Tang (People's) party, had handed an ultimatum to the British and French to get out of the foreign settlement at Shameen, to make an apology for the murder of the paraders shot down recently, to withdraw their war vessels from the neighboring waters lying along the province of Kwangtung and make compensation for the loss of Chinese lives and property—or face the consequences.

Since it was the British and French marines who opened fire upon the paraders, the demands are made di-

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., June 10.—(By Mail.)—The Chinese Union of Railwaymen sent the following appeal to the International Transport Workers' Federation at London:

• • • •

"THE international imperialists have dropped their masks and are now proceeding openly like vandals and robbers. The success of the national revolutionary movement, the awakening of the Chinese people, the mighty strike movement, and the revival of the Chinese Railwaymen's organizations—all this strike terror into the imperialists who imagine they can throttle the Chinese revolutionary movement thru hitherto unparalleled brutality.

New battleships are daily arriving at Shanghai, landing American, Japanese and Italian troops who are ordered to shoot upon the Chinese people who are struggling for national freedom and independence, and for human existence.

"We, the Chinese Railwaymen appeal to you, transport workers of the world, with the cry: Hands off China! The imperialists want to crush China with the armed fist! Prevent the transport of troops and munitions to China!

Tell the transport workers thruout the world what crimes the imperialists are committing in China!

"Tell the workers in all parts of the world that the imperialists who are oppressing and robbing China, are preparing new tortures for the proletariat in their own countries! We are convinced that the International Transport Workers' Federation will give its utmost moral and material support to the Chinese proletariat which is carrying on a life and death struggle.—Lod-Shan-Lun, Secretary."

AMALGAMATED MEMBERS MAN THE PICKET LINES IN STRIKE AGAINST INTERNATIONAL TAILORING CO.

The shops of the International Tailoring Company at Jackson Boulevard and Green Street, were picketed yesterday by members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers who struck when the clothing company refused to sign an agreement with the union and determined to run an open shop, under the camouflage of an agreement with the United Garment Workers' Union, a notorious strikebreaking agency.

When the Amalgamated refused to accept a wage reduction, the officials of the International Tailoring Company got in touch with the United Garment Workers and offered to sign a contract with that body provided it accepted a reduction in wages. The officials of this scab union are always willing to do anything for a price so they willingly accepted. When the company had reached an agreement with the U. G. W. U. strikebreakers, they sent a letter to their former employes which is printed herewith:

The Scab Letter.

TO OUR FORMER EMPLOYES:

After mature consideration, we decided it necessary to make certain adjustments before signing a new agreement.

The Union refused to consider our requests, and, as you know, ordered stoppage.

Conditions during the past few years have steadily grown worse, and, as there seems to be no-let up to the destructive forces, which are sapping the very life out of trade, we find ourselves compelled to end it absolutely, and for good.

Many tailoring concerns have already been forced out of business, and others have been forced to remove to other sections of the country, and it must be obvious to every intelligent employe that such conditions must, inevitably, lead to their own lasting injury.

Given [illegible] opportunity, we will, in time, [illegible] our business to its former success [illegible]ut it can't be done with the intoler[illegible] conditions, under which we have [illegible] long been compelled to work.

A house divided cannot stand. Encouraged, therefore, by the well wishes and willing advice of many of our employes, we have decided to sever all relations with the Amalgamated, and, from this day, we will work under agreement with the United Garment Workers of America in affiliation with the American Federation of Labor.

First consideration will be given to our former employes and we urge all those who wish to continue in our service to associate themselves with the United Garment Workers and meet the requirements of the employers in their establishment.

We believe we're in the right, and we sincerely hope you follow us.

Sincerely,
INTERNATIONAL TAILORING COMPANY.

The International Tailoring Company has not been able to convince its employes thaot they should quit a labor union and join up with a scab agency. The picket lines show that the workers remained loyal to the Amalgamated.

Working in three shifts, the strikers kept up their vigil in front of the International Tailoring Company shops. A few scabs ran into a little cyclone with excellent results. The

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 30.—With the trial of D. C. Stephenson, Earl Klinck and Earl Gentry on a murder charge growing out of the death last April of Madge Oberholtzer following an attack on the girl, scheduled to start at Noblesville, Monday, prosecuting and defense attorneys held conferences in their respectvie camps today.

William H. Remy, Marion county prosecutor and Charles E. Cox, retained by the Oberholtzer family to push the case against the accused men, interviewed a number of witnesses who will be called on to testify at the trial.

Elph Inman, chief of Stephenson's counsel, conferred with other defense attorneys, but refused to divulge the nature of the matters discussed. Unconfirmed reports stated the defense was contemplating seeking a continuance of the trial.

WALKOUT OF 400 SILK WORKERS TIES UP MILL

Unorganized Lowell Strikers Out 100 Pct.

By TOM BELL

LOWELL, Mass. June 30.—Last Tuesday 400 workers at the Lowell Silk mills went on strike against [illegible] in wages. The workers are un[illegible]ganized, and the walk out was [illegible]plete. Not one worker thre[illegible] the wage cuts stayed at [illegible] of the strikers are girls. [illegible]ing of the mill gates has been kept up since the strike started.

Last Saturday the agent posted notices of the wage cut to take effect the following week. The quillers were cut from 43⅓ cents down to 28 cents a box, making their wages practically 38 cents an hour as it takes an hour to make a box. Winders were cut from 90 cents to 60 cents a bunch.

Workers Remain United

Weavers who were receiving [illegible] per 1,000 picks were cut to $1.49 per 1,000. In a desparate effort to split the forces of the workers the agent restored the old rate for weavers. In spite of this the weavers went out on strike with the rest of the workers.

On Tuesday morning the workers elected a committee to interview the agent, and demand the return of the old rate. This he refused to do. He gave as reason for the savage cut the usual hypocritical reason of "poor business conditions."

The failure of the negotiations with the agent resulted in every worker quitting the plant. The agent has filled the local press with threats of moving the plant to some other town. To this the strikers have replied in their mass meetings that if he did he would have to pay higher wages than he had paid them, as the Lowell silk workers had been lower than in other center.

Mass Picketing

At a mass meeting of the strikers held in the Portuguese Club yesterday a strike committee was elected, and instructed to get in touch with the agent and inform him that work would be resumed when he decided to abandon the wage cuts.

The spirit of the girls is fine. They turn up in a body in the morning with their lunch under their arms and picket the plant. The threats of the agent does not worry them as they have heard all that before. They are confident that the agent will be forced to forgo the wage cuts in face of the solidarity of the strikers.

BATTLE AGAINST CHILD LABOR TO CONTINUE, TEACHERS ARE TOLD

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 30.—The battle to adopt the child labor amendment to the federal constitution has just begun, John F. Sims, chairman of the committee of 1,000 on child labor, declared in his report today to the official delegates to the sixty third annual convention of the National Education Association of America.

ST PAY FULL WAR DEBT, MELLON STATES

Capitalist Powers Continue Parley

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30.—The Italian-American debt negotiations today adjourned until August without any discussion of terms or definite proposals for payment.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30—The Italian and American debt negotiations held another informal conference for two hours today, and it was tentatively decided to hold another meeting on Thursday. The conference is developing into a bargaining match, with Italy endeavoring to get the debt reduced because of her "inability to pay," and secretaries Mellon and Kellogg insisting on terms which include payment in full.

The discussion has so far been concerned with Italy's ability to liquidate her $2,000,000,000 debt. Mellon, Kellog and Senator Smoot, representatives of the Coolidge government, are waiting for the fascist representatives to make a definite proposal.

According to the policy of the Coolidge government, settlement must be made in full, on the basis of the debt funding arrangement between Great Britain and the United States.

The war debt of Italy will not be reduced, according to Mellon, and the negotiations will determine only the terms of settlement.

Kellogg Tightens Screws

Secretary Kellogg has served notice on the Italian debt commissioners that the United States expects payments on Italy's debt to begin at once and that no moratorium will be granted.

Kellogg's statement, made at the opening of the debt conference, has not been mentioned in the official communiques issued by secretary of the treasury Mellon as chairman of the American debt funding commission, but it was evoked diwespread discussion in diplomatic circles.

The exact words used by the secretary of state in communicating his very decided views on the debt situation to Ambassador Martino and Minister Alberti could not be learned, but he is said to have surprised them by stripping his language of diplomatic subterfuge and by telling them plainly that the United States was tired of talking about debt payments and wanted immediate action.

Gold Is Hard To Get

When he recovered from his surprise at Kellogg's straight-from-the-shoulder statement, the ambassador replied that if the United States wanted "Lira" it could have it immediately and no objections would be raised by the Italian government, meaning that it would be easy to pay in paper, but that gold would be harder to get.

At this point, secretary Mellon intervened to turn the talk into more placid channels and a formal discussion was then held of the ability of Italy to liquidate her debt.

Coolidge a Fraud; Elected by Chance, Senator Declares

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 30.—President Coolidge is a weak man, who became president by accident, Senator James Reed said in a speech here.

The Coolidge of fact is like a barren hole in the ground, whereas the Coolidge of fiction built up by publicity would make him out a gusher, Reed said.

"Amalgamated" Mans the Picket Lines

strikers are not resorting to violence but scabs are provoking.

Under Police Protection.

The few scabs that remained in the shops were taken to their homes on Monday evening in yellow cabs, under the protection of motorcycle policemen. The city administration is freely giving the clothing firm the use of its socalled law enforcement officers to help them break the strike. This is only a little more proof that capitalist governments always serve the bosses, as the militants on the picket line point out to their fellow workers.

Five pickets were arrested yesterday morning: Herman Reese, president and organizer of Local 61; Louis Angelino, shop chairman; Hyman Schnied; Sam Matskin and Harry Litin.

Sidney Rissman, assistant manager and member of the General Executive Board spoke to an enthusiastic meeting of strikes in Hodcarrier's Hall, yesterday morning. He said that the shops of the International Tailoring Company in New York were shut up tight. He pointed out that the clothing firm could not have a strike in one city and run full blast in another as it used to in the past, because the clothing workers are organized nationally.

Determined to Win.

The strikers are fully determined to win. Every member of the Amalgamated in this city is awake to the fact that the life of the union is threatened by the action of the International Tailoring Company, and its scabby ally, the United Garment Workers. Not only the workers involved in the strike, but members of the Amalgamated who have any time to spare are helping the strikers.

It was pointed out today by the pickets that the windows of the International Tailoring Company shops are painted, so that those inside cannot be seen from the streets. This is a custom in nonunion shops. The bosses do not want to have their employes' attention distracted by the sunlight. The I. T. C. bosses always wanted to paint their windows but the Amalgamated refused. Of course the United Garment Workers will accede to anything, even to putting balls and chains on the workers' feet.

Speaking to the strikers yesterday morning, Sidney Rissman told of the methods used by the officials of the International Tailoring Company to recruit scabs. Postal cards were sent to girls advising them that jobs in a laundry awaited them. But the address given was that of the International Tailoring Company.

Run Out the Scabs.

The members of the Amalgamated realize that should they lose this strike it would be a signal for a general assault on their union thruout the country. They see the purpose in bringing in the scabby United Garment Workers. The company wants to create a division in the ranks of the workers. They will claim that their shop is union, for has it not an agreement with the United Garment Workers Union? But the trade unionists of Chicago will not be fooled, and if the sentiment among members of the American Federation of Labor can be judged by the expressions of those interviewed by the DAILY WORKER, the scabby officials of the United Garment Workers will be run out of town.

HONG KONG STRIKERS TIE UP CITY; BRITISH CENSORS STIFLE NEWS

(Special to The Daily Worker)

HONG KONG, China, June 30.—The censorship of all dispatches is most complete. The world is not to be told, if the censors of the British government can prevent, that the city of Hong Kong is completely paralyzed by a general strike, the like of which has never been seen in this city before. A limping effort was made today to run some of the tram cars, manned by British and Portuguese scabs. Not a Chinese will touch hand to work for any foreign interest.

Monopoly of Trade Continues, However

Fifteen refrigerating concerns and one individual pleaded guilty in federal court today to indictments charging them with violating the Sherman anti-trust laws by combining to keep up prices of refrigerators and were fined in amounts ranging from $2,000 to $5,000.

This is the second batch of furniture manufacturers to plead guilty to wholesale indictments. Two weeks ago chair manufacturers were fined. Later manufacturers of bedroom and dining room furniture will enter pleas.

They will now continue their monopoly, and consider the fines a good business investment.

UNEMPLOYMENT BRINGS CRISIS TO TORY RULE

Baldwin Government Faces Censure Move

BULLETIN.

Vote of Censure Fails.

LONDON, England, June 30.—A motion of censure moved by Ramsay MacDonald, directed against the government for failure to solve the unemployment problems was voted down by the tory majority in the house of commons by a vote of 373 to 143.

LONDON, June 30.—An uprising of workers unless governmental action found a cure for the industrial woes of Great Britian was predicted today, as the laborites prepared to move a vote of censure of the Baldwin cabinet, based on the labor situation.

His motion will precipitate hot debate in the house of commons tonight. Liberals are expected to rally to his support. Premier Baldwin's position will not be endangered, backed as he is by a strong tory majority.

Unemployment Grows.

The move for a vote of censure comes at a time when unemployment is steadily increasing the already alarming figures. The average number of unemployed the past week has been 1,250,000.

Chairman Swales of the Trades Union Congress, says the unrest has reached the danger point.

Baldwin Has No Program.

Premier Baldwin will reply to the laborite attack, but it was not thought today that he has anything definite in the way of a program.

The coal and rail troubles which loomed last week with the prospect of a general coal strike as well as curtailment of employment of railroad workers seemed no nearer solution.

Release Quack "Doctor."

Charles C. Faiman, witness against William Shepherd, who said he had furnished Shepherd with typhoid germs to kill Shepherd's millionaire ward, was released.

Faiman is still running a quack medical school which was licensed by the state, and is selling dope and booze, according to Shepherd's defense lawyers.

N. Y. PRISONERS GET WAGE RAISE WHILE "FREE" LABOR GETS CUTS

ALBANY, N. Y., June 30.—Under the revised prison rules New York state prisoners will now get from 45 to 55 cents gross earnings, out of which 30 cents must be paid for maintenance. Prisoners make garments, shoes and furniture as well as automobile license plates.

All products are for state use, altho there is agitation for the extension of sale into the open market. Organized labor is against this proposal.

The 1924 law requires that prisoners who work are entitled to 70 per cent of the net profits of the industries. They are paid by piece or on hourly basis. Heretofore prison workers have received about a cent and a half a day for their work, but have not paid for their maintenance.

ALLIES PREVENT GERMANY FROM USE OF PLANES

Note Says Consent to Fly Must Be Secured

BERLIN, June 30.—Drastic restrictions against German development of aircraft so stringent in their provisions as to prohibit a flight to the North Pole without permission of the allies, are contained in the note of the ambassadors' council delivered here today.

The note besides forbidding one-seaters of more than sixty horse power as "military" planes, also prohibits the use of all aircraft without a pilot, this latter inhibition presumably being directed against machines operated by radio.

The note limits all German airships to thirty thousand cubic meters' capacity, orders Germany to provide lists of all pilots and all aviation students and to submit these lists to the allies every quarter.

Similarly Germany is required under the terms of the note to hand in to her erstwhile enemies all data which she may have concerning new patterns.

GIRLS STRIKE AGAINST SPEED-UP, WAGE CUTS IN LOWELL SILK STRIKE

LOWELL, Mass., June 30.—(FP)—Fifty girls working in the winding and quilling departments of the Lowell Silk Mills are striking in protest against the additional work given them without additional wages. The workers claim that their wages are actually reduced by the increased amount of work required of them. The girls were made to operate more machines.

Officials of the company say that the girls can still make $20 a week, their former wage, with the additional work. The girls say that their rates were reduced from 43 to 28 cents per box in the winding department which would enable them to earn only $11 a week.

Council Postpones Action on Tile; Aids Brick Trust

The brick makers' trust won a victory when the city council building committee voted to postpone consideration of amendments to the building code to permit use of hollow tile and concrete masonry in construction until fall.

It was brought out that State's Attorney Crowe has been told that bribery was used to induce aldermen to change their votes in behalf of the brickmakers.

CITY ENGINEERS IN THREE DAY WALKOUT DEMAND INCREASED PAY

The city engineers this morning begin the second day of their three day walkout, in protest against their low salaries. The engineers absented themselves from work after repeatedly attempting to induce Mayor Dever to instruct the city counsel to raise their pay.

On June 18, Commissioner of public Works Sprague wrote Mayor Dever, "Nothing has been done about the matter. I want to urge upon you the wisdom, and I might almost say the necessity, for taking some action on their request."

Gary on "Controversy."

NEW YORK, June 30.—One of the fourteen rules of health which Elbert Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation says he learned from the hospital of the company's Birmingham, Ala., plant, is "Don't indulge in controversy." Even Gary's hospitals give out anti-strike propaganda.

Money Power Prepares to Give Its Lackey Third Term in the White House

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

TODAY, the talk is already started of "third term for Coolidge." The plunderbund is satisfied with his reign in the White House and wants more of it. It has been more than ever overjoyed during the past few days over the prospect of still further reducing the meager taxes on great wealth, while retaining the high tariffs on the necessities of life. When Wall Street starts the music Coolidge dances to any tune that is played. He is completely under the control of the bucaneers of big business. No wandering organ grinder ever leashed his obedient monkey more securely and successfully.

It is rather significant that the democratic organ, the New York Times, starts this "third term talk" for the republican president, Coolidge. It is equally interesting that the Hearst press, supposed to be "independently democratic," chimes in approvingly. They seem to be willing to make it unanimous.

This "third term talk" is already becoming a repetition of the discussion that took place during the closing days of the Roosevelt regime. McKinley had died and Roosevelt was called on to serve the greater part of Mark Hanna's president's second term. When Roosevelt was elected in 1904, the battle started as to whether it was really Roosevelt's first or second term. Roosevelt settled that by putting in his friend, Taft, in 1908, and then trying to stage a comeback in 1912. But he failed. Wall Street decided it had had enough of him.

So Coolidge got a good slice of Harding's term, when the latter died. "Third term talk," therefore, now includes a discussion as to whether this is Coolidge's second term, to which he was elected last November, or whether his second term wouldn't really start following re-election in 1928.

All of this twaddle, of course, is not important, except that it shows how the propaganda organs of the great interests like to play with the "voters." That is "democracy."

If Coolidge is wanted by his sponsors for another term, 1928-1932, he will be kept in the White House. The lead of the N. Y. Times and the Hearst press in this direction is only another symptom of the breakdown of the democratic forces, more evident now than during the presidential nominating convention in Madison Square Garden last year. The "third term for Coolidge" talk will no doubt find running parallel to it the renewed discussion that "one party is enough," that the two-party shell game should be abolished, and all good "Americans" unite behind the G. O. P.

• • • •

Little is heard of the congressional elections next year. The feeling grows that if the president is safe, with his "dictatorship" thru his cabinet of multi-millionaires, then it matters little how much discussion takes place in the senate and house of representatives. The vote can always be depended on to swing in the right direction. The Coolidge dictatorship may not be as open and as bloody as that of Mussolini, in Italy; Horthy, in Hungary; and De Rivera, in Spain. But it is similar in this, that the forms of parliamentarism, as is also promised in Greece since the last revolution, are retained while reaction is in the saddle one hundred per cent. It has not been found necessary, as in Chile, to depose parliament and draw up a new "constitution." If the promised constitutional liberties interfere with capitalist interests, then they can be declared unconstitutional, as in the Gitlow case, in which the freedom of speech is completely crushed under foot.

The "third term for Coolidge" talk is merely a strengthening of the capitalist dictatorship in the United States. George Washington, after two terms, stepped aside as the first president of the nation, to show that he did not want to be another king, in fact or in name. But that is now considered "old-fashioned" and out-of-date. American capitalism must not now be disturbed, even by a fraudulent two-party controversy every four years.

But the rise of the workers and poor farmers, building a political power of their own, will raise the standards of the class war, more challenging than ever, within the rotten hulk of capitalist parliamentarism itself. They will do this under the leadership of the Workers (Communist) Party, disturbing the powerful forces of greed even in this hour when they feel themselves most comfortable. Against the capitalist dictatorship the rising proletarian dictatorship. That is the challenge that America's oppressed will throw back, with increasing strength, against the best laid plans of the money power to further entrench itself thru the Coolidge dynasty in Washington.

ANTI-EVOLUTION LAW IS ILLEGAL, MALONE CHARGES

Violates State and Federal Constitutions

The lawyers defending John T. Scopes, charged with violating the Tennessee anti-evolution law, who goes on trial at Dayton, Tenn., on July 10, will endeavor to prove that the law violates the state and federal constitutions, Dudley Field Malone of defense counsel declared.

Malone, who had just left a long conference with Clarence Darrow and John R. Neal, also counsel for Scopes, said that the case will be carried to the highest court, if necessary, "to expose the provincial psychology, narrowness, and selfishness which is trying to impose this character of legislation upon our educational system."

The law is unconstitutional, Malone said, because it violates the provision in the state constitution which says that the Tennessee legislature must promote science and literature, and because it violates the clause in the federal constitution granting free speech.

The Tennessee anti-evolution law prohibits the teaching of evolution in Tennessee's public schools.

ALEX REID TO SPEAK AT BELLAIRE MEETING AND YORKVILLE PICNIC

(Special to The Daily Worker)

YORKVILLE, Ohio, June 30.—Alex Reid, secretary of the Progressive Miners' Committee, will speak here at the July Fourth picnic.

Reid will speak on July fifth at a mass meeting at Bellaire, Ohio.

The place of the Yorkville DAILY WORKER picnic has been changed from Doctor Hunter's farm to the Rayland Car Stop No. 22, Tiltonville, Ohio.

Mortgage Swindler Prosecuted

Silk Mills Fatten Miners' Distress

SCRANTON, Pa., June 30—Ab 1,000 workers in the silk mills of Amalgamated Silk Company at ly and at Dickson City, small to of this region are on strike bring with them the girls working in silk mills of Scranton, all joining a demand for wage increase of $6 week, as they are getting only the miserable wage of $12 at present.

"Breaking Up the Home."

Three plants are struck at Dickson City. All the workers in these mills of the small towns are drawn from the mining camps, and are mostly the wives and daughters of the coal miners, forced by the unemployment and low earnings of the fathers and brothers into wage slavery in the mills whose astute directors, like birds of prey have gathered around the poverty stricken coal camps to fatten on the "by product" of the coal industry's oppression—the otherwise "wasted" labor power of the women and children of the miners.

A general tie-up of the silk mills thruout the valley is not impossible providing the strike organization perfected. Edward F. McGrady, organizer of the A. F. of L. is on ground, and at least some of workers are applying for charters the United Textile Workers Union.

Recently, the burgess (mayor) Blakely, thot it his duty to ter the pickets who came from Dickson City, four miles from Blakely picket the Amalgamated Silk pany's mill in order to spread strike.

Pennsylvania "Law and Order"

The honorable burgess, Jack by name, personally assaulted the pickets. He threw a heavy sprag at the girls, hitting one on head and rendering her uncons She is still at Mid-Valley hosp

When this occurred the counter-attacked and Burgess dignity and was mauled home with wound from thrown by strikers.

Trial of Klux K Murderer of Com Postponed Until S

BENTON, Ill., June 30.—The against O. P. Bosarth who is charged with the murder of Boris Popovsky, former Y. W. L. and Workers Party member, was postponed until Sept. 1925. The attorney for the defense asked for the postponement on the ground that he is ill and unable to conduct the case. An affidavit signed by the defense attorney's physician was produced as evidence in the request for a continuation. The case had been postponed several times before and now no one doubts that the defense is trying to stall the case off as long as possible to wear out the prosecution witness and the family of Boris Popovsky. Bosarth is said to be a member of the K. K. K. and has a reputation for brutality.

Boris Popovsky had been arrested several times before by Bosarth, each time on a fake charge of speeding. Before coming to West Frankfort Popovsky lived in Madison, Ill., and was very active in the party. On coming to West Frankfort he became active in the Y. W. L.

rectly upon these two, but so perilous will be the position of other aliens should the Cantonese open war upon the Shameen foreign settlement, that consuls are advising all but British and French residents to flee to Hong Kong.

The British and French are ignoring the demands of the Chinese, and going ahead, landing more troops and building sand bag barricades. The French gunboat Algar with Admiral Frochet on board, arrived yesterday. Waterway approaches to the island of Shameen, are being mined to prevent entrance.

Canton Chinese Silently Prepare

On the side of the Cantonese, there seems to be silent preparation. While waiting for time to expire in which the scorn of the British and French for the just demands of the Chinese can become apparent to the world, the Cantonese are working diligently to prepare for struggle.

Along the bund passing the foreign settlement, and along which paraders were marching recently when fired upon by British and French marines from Shameen, barricades and trenches are being constructed, the explanation being that these are to prevent any more Chinese from passing along the bund where their lives are placed in peril by foreign troops.

International Proletariat Will Be the Grave Digger of World Capitalism

"THE Moroccan war, the Shanghai happenings, the growing unemployment in Great Britain, the election of Hindenburg, the Bulgarian events, the symptoms of a financial crisis in France, all go to show that capitalism is doomed to death and that the international proletariat, under the leadership of the Communist International, will be its grave digger."—GREGORY ZINOVIEV, President of the Communist International.

ZINOVIEV REVIEWS EVENTS IN CHINA; CHINESE WORKERS ARE MOST IMPORTANT WORLD FACTOR

MOSCOW, June 7.—(By Mail).—Today's leading article in Pravda, official organ of the Russian Communist Party, is written by Gregory Zinoviev, president of the Communist International, and points out the historic significance of the Shanghai occurences. The movement which started with modest economic demands such as the 10-hour day, has now developed into a demand for the evacuation of China by the foreign troops, and in a few days was transformed into a political event of world historical significance.

The Chinese workers have not only grasped the problem of the relation of economics to politics, which the Russian working class came to realize in the course of a struggle that lasted decades—but also the question of the relation of Chinese economics to international politics and to the policy of bloody imperialism.

In spite of mass shootings and in spite of the brutality of the British and Japanese imperialists, the movement is steadily spreading, and the workers of Shanghai are rapidly assuming the leadership of the Chinese masses. It requires no prophet to foresee that much blood will be shed yet in Shanghai, and that the cry of the 400 million Chinese, "Away with the imperialists from China!" will become ever louder.

The Imperialists' Alternative.

Imperialism which cannot exist without plundering the colonies and semi-colonial lands, is facing the problem, either the greater exploitation of the colonies or acceleration of the proletarian revolution at home.

The intensification of colonial exploitation will accelerate the progress of the national liberation movement in the East, thereby facilitating the proletarian revolution in the imperialist states like England. The world historical significance of the Shanghai happenings consists in the very clear demonstration of this truth.

At a moment when the Chinese workers are passing from very moderate economic demands to the slogan: "Away with the Imperialists!" they are becoming the most important factor in the international proletarian revolution.

[illegible]ive revolutionary importance of the British proletariat was [illegible] time small because there [illegible] its ranks many imperialistic [illegible] as well as a petty bour[illegible] [illegible]sistance against the idea of [illegible]an revolution. The revolu[illegible] process that has now set [illegible] the British proletariat is [illegible]ally connected with the de[illegible] British imperialism.

[illegible] growing self-consciousness of [illegible]rking class in the colonial and [illegible]lonial countries and the de[illegible] the imperialistic spirit among [illegible]rkers of the imperialist states, [illegible]o parallel symptoms of one and [illegible]me process.

[illegible] Chinese proletariat counts only [illegible]00 out of a population of 400,[illegible]. But it becomes obvious that [illegible] Chinese working class can be[illegible] the leader of the great national [illegible]ation movement when we take [illegible] following facts into consideration:

[illegible] The Chinese working class can[illegible] be infected with imperialist ide[illegible]y; on the contrary, it is com[illegible]led by the objective situation to [illegible]ume the leadership in the struggle [illegible] the Chinese people against impe[illegible]ialism.

2. The vanguard of the Europ[illegible]an proletariat, led by the Comintern, [illegible]cognizes the great significance of [illegible] Chinese proletariat and floods its [illegible]y with Leninist light.

3. The first victorious proletarian revolution, the Union of Soviet Republics, is a mighty support for the revolutionary movement in all dependent countries.

4. There are in the most important centers of China considerable groups of the proletariat, 200,000 in Shanghai for instance.

5. The overwhelming majority of the Chinese people are directly interested in the overthrow of their imperialist oppressors, and ever greater masses are taking up the fight against world imperialism.

6. The Chinese peasantry is coming to the aid of the working class.

Communist International Was Correct

These points also apply to India, Java, etc., where the movement will take a course similar to that in Shanghai. The plenum of the Comintern was perfectly right when, foreseeing the change of the course of the proletarian revolution, it declared that the revolutionary events in the East would develop more rapidly than was expected and that no partial stabilization of capitalism in the West could halt the victory of the proletarian revolution for a long time.

The lightning of the revolutionary movement in the East lights up the darkness of black reaction in all other countries. The demand of the Shanghai workers that the foreign troops evacuate China will re-echo not only in Moscow and Leningrad, but in very capital thruout the world. The British Trade Unions are beginning to fulfill their international proletarian duties.

Proves Stabilization of Capitalism Only Temporary.

The more brutally the capitalists exploit the workers of their own country the sooner will the European proletariat break with its "European provincialism" and the more attention will they give to the revolutionary movement in the colonial and semi-colonial countries.

A few weeks ago the plenum of the Comintern gave an analysis of stabilization. The latest events show clearly how relative the political stabilization of the present world situation really is.

The Moroccan war, the Shanghai happenings, the growing unemployment in Great Britain, the election of Hindenburg, the Bulgarian events, the symptoms of a financial crisis in France, etc., show that capitalism is doomed to death and that the international proletariat, under the leadership of the Comintern will be its grave digger.

Frisco Drive for Aid to China

listen to the cries of the workers and students of China at Shanghai and other, parts of China?

"They are carrying on an unprecedented strike.

"What are they struggling for? They are struggling for their emancipation from the yoke of the Janaese mill owners at Tsingtao and Shanghai. The strike has since spread to other factories and other parts of China where conditions are very bad.

"American workers! Do you know that the bosses in these factories have the right to BEAT UP the workers? The strikers demand that CORPORAL PUNISHMENT in the factories shall be abolished.

"Little children six years old are employed in these mills. Just think of that, you American fathers and mothers! The strikers demand that this terrible practice be stopped.

Horrible Conditions.

"The strikers—men, women and children—want a few cents more a day increase in wages. Children are now getting as little as $3.00 a month for 12 hours a day, with only an occasional holiday, and no Sundays off. These awful conditions were publicly admitted to prevail by an investigating committee at Shanghai a few months ago. The mill owners themselves had half of the members of this committee. The manufacturers are making huge profits.

"The owners refused to make even these slight ocncessions! Instead, they called upon the soldiers and police to arrest and beat up the poor, unfortunate strikers. Many of the workers were murdered and great numbers arrested. Their leaders were courtmartialed and some of them shot in cold blood.

"The students of Shanghai, aroused by this terrible injustice done to their fellow countrymen, came to their support and demanded their release. For this simple request for justice, the students were fired upon by the police of the foreign concessions and mercilessly slaughtered.

Cry of the Far East.

"On the pretext of restoring order at Shanghai, the governments of the great capitalist powers sent their warships and landed their marines to crush the Chinese workers. Because of these oppressive measures the workers and students thruout China protested by calling sympathetic strikes. Hundreds of thousands, even millions, including all classes, have joined in this great general strike.

"This unprecedented strike voices the outcry of the workers of the Far East for emancipation. These workers comprise a large section of the world's working class.

"Workers of America! Can you remain untouched by this tremendous demonstration of solidarity? Your working class brothers and sisters of China are suffering unparalleled agonies. Can you remain cold and indifferent? You have often complained that Chinese labor has been willing to accept low wages and bad conditions, thus undermining your own standards.

Backward China to the Fore!

"That period is over! Today these hitherto backward workers are demanding not only higher wages, but they are asking also a standard of living like that of the workers in other countries. Most important, the movement for the organizaiton of the Chinese working masses is spreading in that country like wildfire. The militant struggle of these Chinese workers should get the utmost support of every American union man and woman as well as that of the millions who are unorganized, even here in America.

"We, the Unionist Guild, composed of Chinese living in America, are deeply concerned with the terrible sufferings of our fellow-workers in China. On their behalf we most earnestly appeal to you, workers of America, and to your organizations, for sympathy and co-operation with the oppressed workers of China, and urge you to give them your utmost support in their struggle for freedom and a better world, a struggle which is equally yours.

They Must Not Fail!

"Should the workers of China fail in their struggle because of the lack of co-operation and assistance from abroad, then they will be all the more tightly bound with the chains of capitalism. Then the capitalists of the entire world will quickly take advantage of the defeat of these Chinese workers to enlarge their plants in China and by operating them at tremendously low wages there, thus use the defeat of the Chinese workers to break down the living standards of the workers everywhere in the world, including America.

"The sufferings and struggles of the workers in one country are the concern of the workers in every other country. A defeat of the workers in China now would be a terrible blow to the world's labor mvement.

"Workers of America! You are comparatively well off. Your organizations are strong. You can do much to help your struggling brothers and sisters across the Pacific. Already the British workers have demanded that their government keep out of China. You must do the same.

"Act—and act quickly! Pass resolutions demanding that all American soldiers and sailors be withdrawn immediately from China! Send copies of the resolutions to the president at Washington and to the newspapers. Get action from your central bodies on the matter. Time is precious! Act at once!

"Yours for a strong international labor movement and a better world,

"The Unionist Guild, Per Alice Sum, General Executive Secretary."

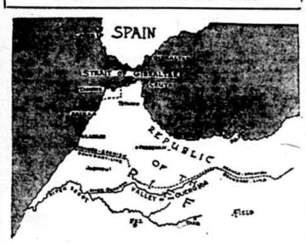
Scene of War in North Africa



THE above map shows the scene of the struggle of the Riffians in North Africa to maintain control of their Republic in the face of the invasion of the French army, brot about by the Painleve government, tool of the French bankers.

The Riffians have captured many blockhouses from the French, driven the invaders across the Ouergha River, shown above, and are now attacking the French twenty-seven miles north of Fez, the capital of French Morocco.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO IN IMPERIALIST ATTACK ON CHINESE

"LONDON—The powers are said to have agreed that Russia and Japan shall provide 12,000 soldiers each, Great Britain, 10,000, France, 8,000 and Germany, the United States and other powers 5,000 each to protect foreign rights in the Boxer uprising in China."

But time changes everything. Russia instead of being one of the worst oppressors of China, as in 1900., is today under Soviet rule the one great ally of the Chinese people.

Train Wreck in Russia

MOSCOW, June 30.—Seven persons were killed and thirty two injured in a train wreck near Novonikolaievsk today.

MORE SHANGHAI CHINESE KILLED THAN PREVIOUSLY ADMITTED, SAY DISPATCHES SENT VIA MOSCOW

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., June 7.—(By Mail.)—The latest telegrams from China point to a further sharpening of the situation in Shanghai. So far forty-two workers have been killed and eighty-five wounded.

The Japanese, British, and American volunteer troops are literally hunting upon Chinese workers, and look upon this chase as upon a peculiar sporting game. Yesterday the Japanese and American troops fired for no reason at all upon the workers; the result was eight killed, eleven severely wounded and a large number slightly wounded.

Vicious White Guard Nearly Lynched Workers' Organizer.

The limits of the foreign quarter are guarded by machine guns. The volunteer troops repeatedly attempted to attack the Chinese section, but they retreated before the Chinese police, who only with difficulty managed to save the captured volunteers from lynching.

The strike movement is spreading. Not only the workers but all office employes as well as the Chinese businessmen, banks and students are involved in the strike. The workers of the electrical power station had been forced at the point of the gun to stay at their work and were retained in the building, but they finally succeeded in disarming the guard and to flee.

Four Chinese, twenty Japanese and a number of British textile mills, with a total of 40,000 workers are involved in the strike. With the exception of the Bulletin of the newly formed Trade Union Cuncil, the entire press is laid still. The whole port is tied up.

Strike Spreads to All Elements.

The total number of strikers reaches about 125,000—a number unparalled in the history of the Chinese labor movement. Hundreds of Chinese living in the foreign section have moved to the Chinese quarters. The anti-imperialist movement is spreading thruout China. Numerous demonstrations took place in Nanking, Hankow, Hangchu and other towns.

In Peking there took place many mass meetings in which tens of thousands and workers participated. The student body sent telegrams to the British and Japanese labor organizations with an appeal for support in their struggle against imperialism. The professors of the National University of Peking are accusing the Chinese government of a lack of energy, and demand the recall of the British and Japanese consuls from Shanghai, the punishment of the foreign police, the compensation of the victims' families, an official expression of regret on the part of the guilty foreign powers, and the restoration of Chinese sovereignty over the concessioned section of Shanghai.

Even the Y. M. C. A. Protests.

Even the American Y. M. C. A, issued a statement stigmatizing the bestiality of the imperialists, and pointing out the need of revising the foreign treaties that enslave the Chinese people.

Yesterday being the anniversary of the anti-Japanese strike of 1918, the occasion was commemorated by a mass meeting comprising some thirty thousand workers and students, who issued an appeal to the nations of the whole world, and also sent telegrams to the labor party and to the Communist Party of Great Britain.

Two Notes of China Ask Redress.

In answer to the note of protest of the Chinese government, the foreign diplomatic corps responded with a note in which they attribute the guilt for the blood bath to the workers and students that took part in the demonstration.

The Chinese government thereupon sent a still more energetic note with the categorical demand that all the prisoners be freed; in this note it was also pointed out to the foreign powers that the bullet holes in the backs of those shot furnish the best evidence against the guilty ones.

PEASANTS' INTERNATIONAL GREETS SPOKESMAN OF CHINESE GOVERNMENT

(Special to The Daily Worker.)

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R. —(By Mail) —The Peasants' International has sent a greeting to the representative of the Chinese government as follows:

Highly esteemed minister plenipotentiary:

On behalf of the Second Plenary Session of the Peasants' International the presidium of the International Peasants' Council herewith tenders to you its profound gratitude for the kind and prompt delivery to the heroic Chinese people and peasantry of the condolence of the Peasants' International on the occasion of the death of the greatest revolutionary and leader of the Chinese people in its fight for the complete emancipation of China, the immortal Sun Yat Sen. The presidium of the Peasants' International at the same time assures all the Chinese patriots that it will lend its utmost support to secure the fulfilment of all the just demands of the Chinese people in the nearest future, and that it unites its voice of protest with all the Chinese organizations against the recent sad events at Shanghai.

We are convinced that hund[illegible] of millions of the toiling [illegible] of China, under the banner of the Peasants' International, will carry out the behests of the greatest Chinese patriot Sun Yat Sen.

Long live the free and united Chinese Republic! On behalf of the presidium of the International Peasants' Council.—DOMBAL and GOROV.

Riffian Drive Pushes French Beyond Ouezzan

(Special to The Daily Worker)

EL ARAISH, Spanish Morocco, June 30—The Riffians have pushed the French back before Ouezzan, and have occupied a portion of the town. The Moroccans have also broken the French lines south of Ain Maatuf. Bitter fighting continues on the entire Moroccan front, especially in the upper Leben Valley.

As heretofore, the French communique makes no mention of the number of French casualties.

The Need of the Hour—Organization of "Hands Off China!" Committees

By B. BORISOFF.

THE Chicago Daily News recently contained the following significant passage in the news cable of its London Correspondent, John Guntner:

"Additional interest was lent to the Chinese question today by the return to London of Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador to the United States. He is expected to inform the British cabinet about recent conversations he has had with Secretary Kellogg of the American state department, regarding the American attitude toward armed intervention in China.

"Altho the demand of such jingo newspapers as the Mail and the Express must be discounted, there is no doubt in official British quarters that negotiations for some sort of concerted intervention by the powers may soon be necessary. The situation is rendered especially serious in the view of British officials by three distinct factors. The first of these is the responsibility of Soviet Russia for Chinese riots. The second is the absolute impotence of the Peking central government. The third is the impossibility of intervention without vast ramifying international complications."

SUCH is the story—brief, yet eloquent; important, too, because thru the mouth of the Dialy News correspondent speaks the British foreign office.

War is in preparation—we are told; war upon the masses of China rising against the oppression of foreign imperialism; war against Soviet Russia—the "instigator" of the "riots"; and in the perspectve—"vast ramifying complications"—again war, this time among the imperialist interventionists unable to agree upon the division of the booty.

Our "own" bourgeoisie and the American ruling class are deeply involved. Without its consent and participation other imperialist powers will hesitate to take action. It has such vital economic and political interests in China that it could not stand idly by while British and Japanese imperialists prepare by armed intervention to divide the "Chinese pie." Therefore the American battleships are in the Chinese ports, therefore the American marines are already upon Chinese soil establishing "order" by the invasion of Chinese universities and confiscation of "Bolshevik propaganda." To be sure, this despicable war of American imperialism against the Chinese people is represented as necessary "in the interests of peace," for the protection of American citizens and property in China. To be sure, American imperialist power tries to appear as the "friend" of the Chinese people and sympathetic to their legitimate aspirations to assert their sovereignty. But it will not be able to hide its true face very long. For it has become the dominant imperialist power of the world. It stretches its golden tentacles out to every nook of the globe, eagerly seeking to gain colonies and dependencies—a field of application of its enormous gold reserves. In China it seeks to outmaneuver its rivals, the British and Japanese imperialists, and it is opposed to the liberation of China because it knows that free China will seek its ally in Soviet Russia. No lying declarations of the American capitalist press in favor of the right of the subjected people to self-determination can cover up the fact that the American imperialism is the most dangerous enemy of the oppressed millions of Asia struggling for freedom.

IT is the historical task of the Workers (Communist) Party to fight and to conquer the giant of American imperialism. In the course of this struggle it is the historical mission fo the party to be the champion of the oppressed colonial peoples in their struggle against the world imperialism. It is the duty of the Workers (Communist) Party of America to help the Chinese masses in their struggle against foreign imperialism by fighting our "own" imperialism, whose hand is stretched out to China. Our fight must be a revolutionary fight. We must remember what Lenin said concerning the failure of the social democratic opportunist leaders to carry on a revolutionary struggle against their "own" imperialism:

". . . One cannot become reconciled to this, that in words they (the opportunist leaders, B.) condemn imperialism but in fact they do not carry on a revolutionary struggle for the liberation of colonies (and dependent nations) from their imperialist bourgeoisie: this is hypocrisy. This is the policy of the agents of the bourgeoisie in the labor movement (labor) lieutenants of the capitalist class) That—English, French, Holland, Belgian, etc.—party which in words is hostile to imperialism, but in reality does not carry on a revolutionary struggle within the colonies for the overthrow of the bourgeoisie, which does not render help systematically everywhere to the revolutionary work which has alreday begun in the colonies, which does not import into them arms and literature for the revolutionary parties in the colonies, is a party of scoundrels and traitors."

This is the standard by which will be measured the actions of our party in the Chinese crisis.

MERE verbal condemnation of the deeds of American imperialism in China is not sufficient. Resolutions of protest alone will not stop armed intervention. The American imperialism will not dare to use its armed forces to crush the Chinese workers and peasants in their struggle for national independence only if it will know that the American workers are ready to oppose such intervention by a revolutionary struggle.

When English imperialism was preparing to intervene in Soviet Russia during its struggle against the Polish bourgeoisie in 1921 the English workers formed "Hands Off Soviet Russia" committees and threatened with a general strike. This stopped the intervention. It is the duty of the American workers to act likewise in support of the struggle of the Chinese workers and peasants. It is the duty of our party to [illegible] the formation of "Hands Off China" committees in which all working class organizations will unite in order to oppose militantly American intervention in China.

Will the American workers respond? We must have faith that they will. To be sure, there will be opposition on the part of the reactionary labor bureaucrats, on the part of the opportunists—the agents of the bourgeoisie in the labor movement. But it is just in the struggle against such opposition that we awaken the class consciousness of the workers and expose the treacherous character of their opportunist leaders. On the other hand, the truly militant leaders of the workers will not fail to respond to the call, and this struggle will draw them closer to our party.

THE other question is whether it is not premature to propose the creation of "Hands Off China" committees at the present time.

There can be no doubt that the imperialist powers of Britain, Japan and the United States contemplate seriously armed intervention in order to crush what they term as "Chinese riots." There can be no doubt that these "riots" are in reality the beginning of a revolution sweeping the entire Chinese nation. Our party must rise to the situation and act.

SOLUTION PLIED IN CZECH PARTY PROBLEMS

Work of Bolshevization Being Carried Out

MOSCOW, June 5. (By Mail).—Today's article by Gregory Zinoviev, President of the Communist International, in Pravda, official organ of the Russian Communist Party, deals with the situation in the Czech Communist Party, and contains the following:

"We can now say with certainty that the plenum of the Comintern which has dealt with the Czech question with the greatest attention, has actually succeeded in finding the right solution on the basis of which the Czech Party is rapidly recovering.

"The basic problem of a Right danger, and the fundamental question as to whether Bubnik represented an individual case or a tendency, had to be answered. The Czech bourgeoisie and the Bubnik Group have answered this question unequivocally. It cannot be doubted that the anti-Comintern paper published by Bubnik has been created not so much by himself as by the Czech bourgeoisie and with the aid of its money, or that Bubnik is executing the orders of the bourgeoisie. Roucek and Co. who have resigned from the Czech Party are undoubtedly the representatives of a considerable half social-democratic element still in the Party.

"As ordered by the bourgeoisie, Bubnik issues instructions to his adherents within the Party not to leave the Party but to reamin inside and to undermine it thru subterranean fractions. At the present moment it is not so much the liquidators of the type of Bubnik, Roucek and Co. who are outside of the Party that are dangerous,—as those elements remaining within the organization with the conscious aim of disrupting it from within."

The Bloc formed by the Plenum of the Comintern will undoubtedly realize the danger and carry the fight to a finish. It were a crime to leave the work half undone. The Central Committe of the Czech Communist Party must carry out the will of the Czechoslovakian workers to free the Party from liquidatory elements once and for all. The declaration contained in the resolution adopted by the Party Conference of the Slovakian districts at the end of May,—to the effect that the Bloc constituted by the Plenum of the Comintern is made up of two sections of the Czech Party, is of an opportunist nature; it is at its best a polemic exageration, and at its worst a direct political error which must be corrected. In order to really do away with the liquidatory danger, we must above all avoid all ultra-Left errors. We must express our satisfaction at the fact that the comrades of the Center who took upon themselves certain obligations before the Comintern, have until now fulfilled these obligations, and we hope they will continue to do so.

"We know that the Slovakian comrades have often before been the subject of unjust accusations and that they are loyal to the Comintern. It is therefore the more regretfull to see them committing a political error. Let us hope that this error will be quickly and painlessly corrected; the latest reports seem to substantiate this hope. The Czech Party will now definitely be [illegible] of the liquidators, and will be Bolshevised.

"As to Bubnik & Co.,—they will undoubtedly finish in miserable bankruptcy. The elimination of the liquidators will in no wise weaken the Party; on the contrary, it will be strengthened thereby. The Central Committee must be supported in every way in carrying out the decissions adopted in Moscow.

"Simultaneously with its work of cleansing the Party, the Central Committee should intensify its general political work, its agitational, organizational and trade union activities,—in order to enable the Party, freed from the liquidators, to enhance its role of political leader of the entire working class, and of a mass party.

"Under the Banner of Marxism" -:-

By Ma vien

REVOLUTIONARY Marxism, founded on the dialectic materialism of Marx and Engels, is the view of life held by the most advanced sections of the international proletariat, the view of life held by the revolutionary vanguard of this proletariat in its capacity of the most determined and most class conscious champion of socialism.

The new theoretical periodical appearing under the above title aims at being a scientific fighting organ of revolutionary Marxism, and at gathering around it all those revolutionary forces which are repelled and revolted by that prostitution of Marxism now raising its head more insolently than ever, and by the present general disintegration of bourgeois science and philosophy.

In the editor's preface to the first number we read as follows:

"The first number of our periodical apears at a time when social-democratic 'Marxism' has already drawn the theoretical balance of its treachery. We see the 'living Marxism' of social democracy emerge from our epoch of tempest upon the turbid waves of reawakened mysticism, of sickly philosophical idealism, subtle pornography, religious mania, decadent 'rat,' apocalyptic mendacity, sexual saturnalias, and 'sublime' slogans. But this ideological nullity, enveloped in the effluvia of a putrid corpse, still contrives to hobble forward on the crutches lent by delusions of the past. These crutches must be broken; the wretched eclectic conglomeration named 'constructive socialism' by such lamentable figures as MacDonald and Bernstein (and Messrs Kautsky, Hilferding, and the others hanging to the coat tails of such as MacDonald and Bernstein) must be opposed by true revolutionary Marxism. This opposition, in its form of theoretical expression of Communism, arises as a threatening giant before the confused and terrified consciousness of the bourgeoisie and the social reformists."

THE new periodical is thus not merely a weapon defending the legacies left us by Marx, Engels, and Lenin: it is to be at the same time a weapon of attack against every obscurantism, every priesthood, every philosophical idealism, and will declare war on all these, under whatever flag they may sail. This implies a threefold struggle: firstly, against that bourgeois science which serves for the glorification of imperialism and the perpetuation of capitalist rule; secondly against the falsification of the scientific principles of the revolutionary socialism based upon the logically inevitable class struggle of the proletariat, a falsification now being carried on by the "Marxists" of that international social patriotic league known as the II. International; thirdly against vacillation, inconsequence, and deviation from Marxist theory within our own ranks, the natural accompaniment of the growth of the international Communist movement, the increasing acuteness of class antagonisms, and the increasing complication of the problems to be solved.

The task of ciriticsm thus placed in the foreground must be accompanied by the positive work of developing the Marxist view of life in the spirit of Vladimir Ilytsch Lenin, the most gifted follower of Marx and Engels. This development is one of the first premises for the further victorious advance of the international working class.

A PREFACE characterizing in suitable terms the miserable "philosophy" and "science" of the bourgeoisie, and especially of social democracy, is followed by an essay from the pen of Lenin, pointing out in his own masterly manner the road of struggle for dialectic materialism and atheism. True to the train of thot developed in the preface, N. Bucharin contributes a theoretical essay on the question of the theory of accumulation and imperialism, in which he combats the false conceptions of the economic bases and objective driving forces of imperialist development still cropping up here and there in our own ranks, at the basis of a criticism of Rosa Luxemburg's theory of accumulation. A. Deborin contributes an article on "The last wisdom of revisionism," showing the complete collapse of German social democratic "philosophy" as preached by such ideological parasites of the working class as Max Adler, Albert Kranold, and the Philistine clique of literates using the Sozialistische Monatshefte as a means for the spread of the new tidings of salvation; "socialization of religion" and "social catholicism." A somewhat longer essay by V. Jurinetz on "Psychology and Marxism" shows that today bourgeois science is devoting particularly zealous effort to the counter-revolutionary exploitation of even such departments of science as appear at a first glance to be far removed from the sphere of politics. Jurintez' article illuminates the dangers to which materialism is exposed by an uncritical acceptance of Freud's ideas.

WE have to thank the unwearying historical research work of D. Rjasanov for two contributions of extraordinary importance. The present number contains two contributions by Rjasanov, one treating of Engel's famous introduction to Marx's "Class struggles in France," and at last giving us Engel's preface in its original and unfalsified form. The falsification of the real wording of Engel's introduction, a falsification necessary to Bernstein and his collaborators as a cloak for their revisionism and reformism, is here finally exposed by the complete reproduction of the real original text of the preface. D. Rjasanov's second contribution contains the complete text of a hitherto unpublished article by Marx on wages. The manuscript dates from the year 1947, and is closely related to the essays published by Marx on "Wage labor and capital." This manuscript affords valuable aid to the formation of a judgment on the trains of economic thot which later found their classic expression in "Capital."

In connection with these two contributions, we draw the special attention of the readers of this new periodical to M. Jablonsky's discussion of the "Karl Marx and Frederich Engels Archives" edited by Rjasanov. To all real Marxists the publication of these archives is in fact an event of paramount importance, for it supplies a number of unpublished essays, fragments, and letters, whose immense importance cannot be too highly estimated.

THE first number contains, besides all this, two comprehensive and competently compiled collective reports on Russian Marxist literature on the Kant jubilee and on Marxist periodical literature on Einstein's theory of relativity.

The second number will appear at the beginning of May, and will include the following contributions: the continuation of N. Bucharin's polemics against Rosa Luxemburg's theory of accumulation, an essay by N. Ossinsky on American agriculture, an essay by A. Maletsky on Sombart's latest efforts in the sphere of sociology, essays by Max Levien on the "realism" of the mathematician study and by L. Rudas on Max Weber, and a comprehensive bibliography.

We believe that these brief indications of the contents of the first two numbers will be sufficient to show the importance of this new periodical in its capacity of leading theoretical organ of revolutionary Marxism. We have no doubt whatever that the periodical will speedily succeed in becoming the target of the angriest attacks of narrow bourgeois science and of all falsifiers of Marx, and in becoming with this the friend and guide of all true adherents of the teachings of Marx, Engels, and Lenin, aiding the still backward workers to rid themselves of their last illusions to overcome their weakness and discouragement, and to go forward under the leadership of their Marxist vanguard towards that dialectic materialism which forms the view of life upon which a free humanity will create real cultural values. Let the lapdogs of the bourgeoisie—to use Lenin's words—the social-democratic Barmat heroes and the now catholics, whine and howl about social revolution; let them combine with capital and the church to mobilize all the forces of religious darkness and idealistic mysticism against us, we shall pursue our way undeviatingly thru the vapors of decomposing bourgeois ideology, and shall gather the advanced workers around the banner of controversial materialism and atheism. For we alone have proved by historical action that we are the guardians of the inheritance left by Marx, Engels, and Lenin. And it is their inheritance, their banner, which leads the way to the final victory of the world proletariat over all parasites and exploiters.

MURDERERS OF MATTEOTTI ARE GIVEN FREEDOM

Fascist Senate Gives DeBono Whitewash

ROME, June 30.—The senate, composed of a majority of fascist delegates, whitewashed General Debono, who was implicated in the murder of the socialist deputy Matteotti a year ago, and sitting as a high court of justice, acquitted him of the crime.

Debono's accuser, Giuseppe Donati, editor of the catholic paper Il Popolo, has since fled Italy when the fascisti threatened to murder him.

The fascist editor Giordana, of the Tribuna, has challenged Senator Amendola, head of the Aventine opposition, to a duel because Amendola called the fascist "the footman of the Mussolini government."

Overheard in the Bronx.

NEW YORK CITY.—"Say, Comrade, where are you going?"

"I am going up to the library to do some reading."

"Public library?

"No. Where do you get that stuff? I'm going up to the Bronx Workers' Library, 1347 Boston road—our own library—we built it, we contributed to it, we donated our money and our books to it, and its ours—all ours. Gee, but it feels good to have a nice library of your own—hundreds and hundreds of books lined up on the shelves—a big room, nice large tables, covered with brown cloth; open windows with summer breezes floating in; obliging comrades in charge to help you find what you want and suggest what to read; the proper silence for concentration—and outside in the main hall comrades everywhere to greet you and talk to you. Gee, pal, its good to have a home of our own, and a library of our own. Come on over and see for yourself. And what's more, comrade, everybody in the Bronx is enthusiastic about the library; is bringing in books and donations and doing his level best to make it go. You know what happened at the Bronx English branch last meeting? In the first place, let me say that Bronx English branch is not the largest branch; it only has about 80 members. Well, at the last meeting, after the library committee gave a report and showed what good work was being done for the library, and how everybody was enthusiastic about it, etc. etc. one of the comrades, and he is not a millionaire—not by a long shot—ups and pledges $25, if 25 other comrades will each give a dollar. [illegible] ell, the branch raised that extra $[illegible] mighty quick, and the result—$[illegible] with which to buy [illegible] and thing[illegible] for th[illegible] libra[illegible] guess all [illegible] other branc[illegible] doing likewise. The Workers Party in Action

WORKERS' SCHOOL PREPARING FOR SUMMER COURSES

Classes to Begin in New York in August

NEW YORK, June 30.—The two-weeks full time summer school, to be given under the auspices of the New York Workers School has just announced its course of study. Three courses will be given as follows:

Three Courses

1—Introductory Course of Marxism-Leninism (2 hours of class work and one hour of outside preparation each day.)

2—American Social, Political, and Economic History (1 hour of class work and one hour of outside preparation each day.)

3—Tasks of the party (1 hour of class work and one hour of outside preparation each day.)

Class will run six days each week—with seven hours of class or preparatory work each day.

Should Register at Once.

The intensive study to be done will give each student the equivalent of three full-semester courses at the Workers School evening courses. This, in conjunction with the sports and outdoor activities which will be connected with the summer school should be one of the greatest inducements for party, league and militant trade unionists to register for the course.

The session will begin August 17th and conclude August 29th. The cost to each student will be a maximum of $15 per week for board and room.

There is still time to register. All applicants should get in touch with Comrade O. Carlson, director, or Rebecca Grecht, secretary of the Workers School, 108 East 14th street, for further particulars.

Philadelphia Picnic on the Fourth Would Tempt Most Anybody

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 30.—Saturday, July fourth, the Philadelphia communists, sympathizers with their friends and families will all go to the Great Defense Outing in Burnholme Park. The wide grassy slopes and the wooded sections of the park will again resound to the happy laugher and revolutionary songs.

Fresh, wholesome luscious refreshments of all kinds will be on hand and plenty of them to satisfy the lusty appetites of all present. Several branches of the party will furnish the music to accompany all those who will want to sing.

Special sports committee will arrange games to pass the time away. This outing will be a demonstration of solidarity to all comrades in prison or under bonds for trial or deportation.

The picnic begins early in the morning and will extend until night. Direction:—Take car no. 50 on Fifth Street, get off at Cottman Street which is 7200 north, walk three blocks west across the railroad tracks to the foot of the hill and from there you will hear and see our picnic.

Philadelphia District Unanimously Passes Gitlow Resolution

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 30.—The following resolution was unanimously passed by the Philadelphia district, No. 3, of the Workers (Communist) Party of America, with regard to the Labor Defense Conference held in Chicago and the defense of Benjamin Gitlow:

Whereas, the U. S. supreme court has decided that our Comrade Gitlow must serve the remainder of his ten years term for his part in issuing the famous left wing manifesto of 1919; and

Whereas, Comrade Gitlow was one of the first pioners of the Communist movement in this country and has for the last six years held aloft the red banner of Communism in America, devoting himself unflinchingly to the cause of the Communist International; be it therefore

Resolved, that the District Executive Committee of the Workers Party of District No. 3, at the regular meeting held June 21st, 1925, unanimously congratulates Comrade Gitlow for his determined struggle for the exploited masses and offer our support and our pledge to do everything in our power for Comrade Gitlow's freedom, so that he may continue his splendid activities toward building the Workers Party of America into a genuine mass Communist Party; and be it further

Resolved, that we call upon all party members of this district and upon the workers in general to express their solidarity with Comrade Gitlow and to demand that this courageous fighter against the capitalist system of exploitation be freed; and be it further

Resolved, that this resolution be sent to the C. E. C. of the Workers Party, to the DAILY WORKER and to all other party papers with request that same be given publicity therein.

(Signed) District Executive Committee.

WORKERS' PICNIC IN MINNEAPOLIS ON JULY FOURTH

Will Have Speeches on Anti-Imperialism

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 30.—While the capitalists have called upon the workers to converge July the 4th for defense purposes, the class conscious workers of Minneapolis are going to celebrate July 4th in their own revolutionary manner. The Workers Party has arranged a gala picnic for that day.

It will be held at 33rd Ave. south, and East River road.

This is an ideal place for an outing amid tall and stately elms; and the silver glint of the majestic Mississippi where the cool breezes intermingle with the shadows of the forest, the following program will unfold itself, to the joy and delight of the rebels.

There will be entrancing music.

Speakers who will arouse your enthusiasm, (but not too many).

Games: both for old and young.

And a line of refreshments that will tickle your palet, and make you glad that you posses such a thing as a stomach.

This is the only picnic where class conscious workers can come together to celebrate revolution. This is an opportunity for the comrades in the Twin-Cities to spend a day together in frank and happy communion.

We'll see you there comrades!

Ruthenberg Picnic at Kansas City, Mo. Draws Big Crowds

By HUGH LEHLER.

KANSAS CITY, June 30. — The friends of Soviet Russia turned out Sunday to hear C. E. Ruthenberg speak on the contrast between the Soviet Republics and capitalist America. At the picnic were comrades from nearby towns, comrades from Topeka, Kan., St. Louis, Mo., and a group of miners from Pittsburg, Kan., that helped swell the crowd of those who heard our secretary give a most inspiring mental picture of progress that taking place in the workers' republic while capitalist Europe is becoming worse.

Mother Bloor in her characteristic appeal obtained 27 subs for the DAILY WORKER. Literature was sold, DAILY WORKERS were distributed while dancing, eats and playing showed that reds can be merry as well as active- serious revolutionists.

The speaking took place under the shade of large elms with the back end of a truck as a platform.

LENINGRAD A CITY OF WORK AND SONG—PROBLEMS BEING SOLVED

By LAURA BRANNIN

LENINGRAD.—(By Mail.)—We came to Leningrad by boat from Stettin. A German boat with about seventy-five passengers, first and third class. This being in the capitalist course of things, no one questioned the system. But once we docked at Leningrad we were in charge of the Soviets and these barriers seemed to dissolve. There was no weary waiting for third class passngers until all the upper classes were taken care of. First and third class were called for indiscriminately. When the number had been reduced to about ten, a group of fat, well fed German business men were still waiting.

Let no one assume that Leningrad is an accomplished Utopia. The amount of reconstruction work to be done is almost staggering—work which will be merely catching up on ordinary repairs and bringing the city to a livable state of order and sanitation.

Are Solving Problems

But when you recall that after almost eight years of warfare and one year of famine, there has been but two years in which to really re-build the city, and that just last September Leningrad suffered a severe flood which caused a property loss alone of eight million roubles, you find a new meaning in the well swept, tho badly worn sidewalks, the orderly piles of brick salvaged from many very old buildings and now used to erect new dwellings for workers; in the great piles of buolders assembled for street repair work; in the tremendous amount of water and sewer pipes being laid.

You notice that no money has been expended to cut the grass or trim the shrubbery in the parks tho new rude, unpainted benches have been provided for folks to sit upon.

Workers Bow To No One

The problem of unemployment here has not yet been solved. But here this fact is not regarded as an essential of the system nor is it used to break down wage standards. It is faced as an element which must be and will be eliminated as the industry of the country expands.

We are stopping at a Soviet hotel; all the big hotels are under Soviet management. The service is not a whit different from that in any European city excepting in the lack of servility on the part of maids and waiters. They bow their heads to no one and you don't dare offer them a tip.

Across the court from our hotel is a school. All day there is the chatter of children's voices and in the evening a group of amateur musicians work desperately on horns and cornets and bass violins, and between group practice some one always manages to run in a piece of the International.

City Belongs To Workers

On the street there are always children off on some excursion, usually accompanied by a teacher or two, but occasionally a group of twenty will be seen alone, carrying their own red flag and leading their own singing, and dreadfully in earnest. Walking across the huge square facing the Winter Palace, which witnessed many a brutal encounter between cossack and workmen you will find a band of soldiers, engaged in a singing lesson; their strong bodies swaying back and forth as they repeat verse after verse.

These are the things that "get" you in this new Russia; no end in sight of the hard plodding work to be done, but the workers know that one having built the city it will be theirs to inhabit in peace and comfort

Transferred Business to Unorganized Mines

WASHINGTON, June 30—Business was not so good in 1924 as in 1923, says the annual report of the president and directors of the Baltimore & Ohio Railway Co. This is the 98th year of the company's existence, and it is now operating a trackage of 10,796 miles, or a main line mileage of 5,000 miles.

Gross revenues last year amounted to $224,318,798, of which freight business accounted for $180,179,000 and passenger traffic $29,047,000.

"Owing to the general decline in business during 1924," says the report, "the revenues of the company were diminished, compared with the peak year of 1923 when the company handled the largest volume of freight traffic in its history. But the loss in revenue in 1924 was overcome to a considerable extent by operating economies, resulting in the largest net railway operating income heretofore earned with the single exception of the year 1922.

"With the exception of products of agriculture, which showed a slight increase, the decrease in traffic was general. Especially notable was the large decrease in bituminous coal, which is the largest single item of traffic handled by the company. The explanation of this decrease, however, lies in the fact that the bituminous coal industry in the northern fields has been handicapped in the eastern markets by the lower mining costs prevailing in the southern or Pocahontas, New River and other fields. This condition was partly offset by the company handling a larger proportion of coal traffic from connecting lines and finding a market for it on or via its lines."

Thus the B. & O. joined in promoting the transfer of the soft coal industry from the unionized fields in the north to the non-union fields in the south.

GERMAN WORKERS LIVE IN MISERY WHILE CRIMINAL SPIES HELP THE BOSSES JAIL CLASS FIGHTERS

BERLIN, Germany, (By Mail).—The following letter was written by a German Communist to one of his fellow comrades in prison for his activity on behalf of the workingclass:—

Dear Comrade, We are very worried because your state has become so much worse and that the strength for mental work has left you, particularly as we know that the whole life of a Communist in a class society is only considered as an eternal accusation. As my work leads me now thru the whole of Northern and Central Germany, I can see clearly how the class society tries by all means to annihilate the young generation of the working class, the children.

The housnig conditions were the best proof of that. In Hale where there is money for a luxurious town hall, the proletarian houses can be hardly described, above all those near the luxurious town theatre. Then another picture—the police attacks against the children's Home Barkenhof in Worpswede near Bremen, where the police tried to send the children of the political prisoners back to their miserably homes.

Criminals as Spies

The "Cheka" trial is also a fine example of class justice. How easy is it today for criminals to lead, under the protection of the judges and prosecutors, a safe life as spies. These are the same conditions as those in Czarist Russia. There was a time when even the buorgeoisie condemned these things.

I travel now as before from place to place with my pictures from Russia, I speak on the reality of Russia. The conparisons of the society under the dictatorship of the proletariat and under that of the bourgeoisie and capital can be clearly seen so that everyone realizes the parasitic character of our governors.

In Russia the police is a part of the working people, by their own shop committees they continue contact with the political and economic life of the present and defenders of the revolutionary acqusitions.

The German Safety Police, however, is in barracks like prostitutes, separated from the life of the working masses, mentally castrated, so that they are thoughtless instruments of capital. In the last moment they get a good portion of alcohol, are made drunk with nationalist phrases and suddenly the great slaughtering among men and women of the working class starts, the campaign against the class which fights for the human rights.

Poverty of the Workers

When we look at the judges in Russia who have passed thru the whole misery of slavery with their own bodies and now pass judgment upon the misled products of the old society, one can see how the present judges in Germany exist only as defenders of the parasites of society.

I was in Hamburg and visited a comrade whose husband has been killed in October 1923. From the old srteet through a narrow dark way in which hardly two persons can pass each other, I go to a grey courtyard to which the sun never pierces.

Here in two rooms with seven children lives a comrade. No furnitutre, only two iron beds. On strings, which substitute the warddrobes, their clothes are hanging. One can hardly move in the narrow room. There is also a kitchen, a small place without a window, black and miserable with a little lamp over the stove.

The chairman of the Supreme State Court, Niedner, should change his flat only for six months with this family, then he would be able to pass sentences like the Russian judges and he would perhaps no more allow himself to be an instrument of capital.

He would realize the fundamental faults of society and help to abolish them. The complete proletarization of the judges would be a preliminary condition of this, of course. Enough, dear comrade, of this utopia, while reality is before you.

Bosses Rule by Guns

Capitalism has only one way out in its troubles,—to keep down the revolting misery by police clubs and machine guns.

The greatest of all human bankruptcies has begun and the compromised proprietors have succeeded in using the social democrats as their last support

We, however, dear comrade, will always remember your call from the prison and we know that your sorrow is our sorrow and that we must fight, man by man, for the opening of the doors of your prison

Our Readers' Views

"Never the Twain Shall Meet."

To the DAILY WORKER:— The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway employs thousands of workers in its Southtown repair shops and roundhouse here. It is said that hundreds of these wage slaves hold membership in the Railway Machinists' Union but evidently such affiliation has done them no good in an educational way, for just a block away from the shops stands a restaurant which openly flaunts its hatred of colored workers.

"Bill's Restaurant" is situated at the corner of Minnehaha avenue and 27th street. Every morning, noon and night this place of business caters to hundreds upon hundreds of railway shopmen. In front of the establishment, placed so that it will not be missed by any passerby, is a huge sign which says, "We do not invite Negro trade." Bill does not employ union help, but he lays claim to being a full-fledged 100 per cent American—and he hates the Reds, too!

The correspondent in conversing with one of the shopmen today was told that all that is needed is for the DAILY WORKER to call this to the attention of the workers in the shops and they would raise such a howl that "Bill" would have to tear down his specimen of imbecility damn quick.—Leslie R. Hurt, Minneapolis, Minn.

SOME LAUNDRY WORKERS NOT SO HELPLESS

Pull "Slow Up" Strike; Want Shop Committee

By MURPHY, Worker Correspondent.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 29—Altho unorganized, the workers in the United Laundry Co., of Pittsburgh, Pa., have, during the last few weeks, proven their ability to fight unitedly and make the bosses back down.

On June 4th a notice of a 10 per cent wage reduction, to become effective Monday June 8th, was posted on the time clock. The notice blamed dull business for the necessity of this cut, and stated that the bosses could resort to wholesale laying off of the employes but they wished to be honest and the thot this would be the fairest way to meet the emergency. They were sure every employe could see that work had dropped off considerably.

Strike on the Job.

The workers, despite their lack of organization, had to think of some effective means of resistance and a general discussion took place quietly among them to find the proper basis. They finally decided that an unorganized strike would not do, but it would be better to slow down on the work. This was done by everyone of the workers. They became extremely careful with the customers' clothes.

The bosses would walk thru the plants and look at the workers who were in no pleasant mood, and a frequent cursing would be the reply when they demanded greater speed.

A Second—And Different Notice.

Then on Monday, June 16th another notice was posted on the clock reading as follows: "On June 8th we notified you all that a 10 per cent reduction was to become effective unless business improved. It did improve during the week of June 8th to 14th and we wish to be fair to our employes. The wage cut will not therefore become effective until Monday, June 15th. But it will become effective on and after June 15th if work don't continue to improve. It should improve, it can improve and it must improve. By being careful with the customers' clothes you can make it improve."

One of the workers told me of the discussion that followed and all agreed that this was a new scheme and a direct threat to get the workers to speed up. They knew that would mean to increase the boss's bankroll of nice greenbacks gotten from the sweat of the underpaid workers.

Shop Committee Wanted.

Some of them are now agitating shop committees to take up the workers' grievances and lead their struggles against the hypocritical bosses. This will be the starting point. shop committee in each one of the four plants and a joint meeting of the delegates from each plant to report the activities of each plant and take joint action for this is only a beginning and the worst hasn't come yet. The bosses are only beginning their plunge for more profits and their greed for gain.

This "honest" stuff the owners talk is not going over so well. The workers are beginning to understand that all hypocrites try to cover war with words of deception. The bosses in these plants are attempting to cover up their steals by appealing to the emotions and patriotism of the workers. The latter reply with the forceful slogan "Organize Workers Shop Committees."

Rumor Mellon to Quit.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon is to quit the cabinet next spring, it is rumored here.

ARE YOU GETTING BUNDLES?

If Not—Why Not?

With open-air meetings in full swing—now is the time for a bundle order of the DAILY WORKER! It doesn't matter who holds the meeting. If it is one where workers gather, that is the place for a Builder with a bundle of the DAILY WORKER and the WORKERS MONTHLY.

And picnics are now being held. Excursions and other outdoor affairs are the place for a bundle order—and of course first and foremost—and it's a habit every local should adopt—take a bundle to your union meetings!

Unite Organizations of Philadelphia for Matteotti Memorial

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 30.—Italian workers of Philadelphia are preparing for a huge united front Matteotti Memorial Meeting Friday, July 10 at 8 P. M. at the Public Hall, 7th and Morris Streets.

Arturo Giovannitti and H. M. Wicks will be the principal speakers. The following organizations are represented on the arrangements committee: Carpenters Union local 1050, Amalgamated Clothing Workers local 139, the Artisan Society, the Young Workers League and the Workers Party.

The arrangements committee meets every Monday evening at 1601 South Camac Street, the headquarters of the Italian branch of the Workers Party. Labor organizations are invited to send delegates and participate in the demonstration.

The meeting will be held in memory of Giacomo Matteotti a socialist deputy, murdered by the Fascisti for daring to oppose their ruthless and blood thirsty warfare against the organized workers of Italy. The Italian workers of Philadelphia will again demonstrate their uncompromising opposition to the white guard black shirt government of Mussolini.

KLAN PARADE AT CAPITAL FOUGHT BY THE NEGROES

N. A. A. C. Files Protest with Commissioners

WASHINGTON, June 30—Protest to the District commissioners against issuance of a permit for a parade of 200,000 members of the ku klux klan in the capital on August 8th has been filed by the District of Columbia branch of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People.

They declare that the klan parade if for the sole purpose of emphasizing its "opposition to and proscription of citizens, and of those who are entitled to become citizens, on account of race, color, religion and place of birth." They say that such a demonstration will tend to "corrupt public morals and incite to crime and disturbance of the public peace."

NEW YORK, June 30.—Jerome Brand and Selen Freedman, the members of the Young Workers League, who were arrested on April 30, for distributing leaflets among the high school students of this city, and who were remanded for sentence on June 26, were given suspended sentences.

One of the judges was for putting the two young comrades on probation, but he was overruled by the other judges. One judge warned the young comrades to leave the high school students alone, and not molest them with leaflets and talks on political economy. Comrade Joseph Brodsky then remarked that "it is preferable to have students talk political economy to hanging around pool rooms." This silenced the judge.

The young comrades will continue their work in the Y. W. L., knowing that it is the function of the capitalist court to protect not the workers, but the interests of the capitalists. They will talk political economy to the high school students—something that the boards of education of this country try to keep from the curriculum of the schools.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., June 30.—[illegible] nald Craythorne, member of the [illegible] of the steamer Canberra, gave his life today in the effort to rescue passengers of the steamer as it lay blazing at the docks here.

Forty passengers were aboard when the liner caught fire. Craythorne made five trips onto the burning vessel and four times brought passengers ashore. He did not return from the fifth trip.

A Horrible Example

If you combed the columns of a capitalist paper for twelve months in search of convincing proof that the newspapers of the employing class twist the news to suit the interests of that class, you could not find a better piece of evidence than the following item taken from yesterday's issue of the Chicago Tribune, concerning the strike of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers against the International Tailoring company. Here it is:

> Two pickets on duty at a clothing workers' strike at the plant of the Intrenational Tailoring compnay, 847 West Jackson boulevard, were arrested yesterday on charges of inciting a riot. They were Isadore Lipman, 1058 South Avers avenue, and Rudolph Pocascichal, 2849 South Richmond street.
> About 800 workers in Chicago and 300 in New York are affected by the strike, said to have originated with a refusal of members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers faction among the employes to act with the United Garment Workers, the older tailor organization, with which the employers have an agreement.

Now for the facts: The contract between the International Tailoring company and the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America expired on May 1. The clothing company refused to renew the contract unless the union agreed to a reduction in wages. This the union would not stand for. Other clothing firms signed up, but the International Tailoring company stood firm.

In a letter to its employes, which is printed on another page, the International Tailoring company stated that it had decided to sever all connections with the Amalgamated and would henceforth work "under agreement with the United Garment Workers of America in affiliation with the American Federation of Labor."

Of course, the employes of the International Tailoring company spurned this "yellow dog" proposal. They struck to preserve the wages and working conditions which they had won thru the power of their collective solidarity.

They did not strike against the United Garment Workers. They struck against the International Tailoring company. But the officials of the United Garment Workers—a scabby outfit—came in to recruit strikebreakers for the clothing firm after agreeing to accept the bosses' terms in return for a contract.

The United Garment Workers' Union has not a single local in this city. It is doubtful if it has even a single member, with the exception of the few scabs who are working in the shops of the International Tailoring company under police protection. It is not true that the "Amalgamated Clothing Workers faction" refused to work with the United Garment Workers, as the lying Tribune states. There was no such problem because there were no members of the United Garment Workers in the struck shops. They were 100 per cent Amalgamated.

The officials of the United Garment Workers are scabbing on the regular, bonafide fink agencies. The DAILY WORKER again calls the atention of the trade unionists of Chicago to the presence of this pestilent crew of strikebreakers in the city. No member of the American Federation of Labor should have an easy conscience unless he or she gives the scabby Rickert crew to understand that there is no place in Chicago for strikebreakers, masquerading as trade unionists.

We also wish to point out to the workers of Chicago that the capitalist press outdoes itself in lying when there is a strike on and it always lies in favor of the employers and the scabs.

Japan Is Worried

Count Michimasa Soyeshima, member of the Japanese house of peers, who is here to deliver a few lectures, declares that Japan will go to war with the Soviet Union within ten years. Perhaps and perhaps not, most likely not, unless Japan is sure of help.

Japan has other worries besides Soviet Russia. The same page that carried the above prediction by the count, featured a Tokio news dispatch, telling of the sensation created in Japanese government circles over the landing of British troops in Canton, China.

High government officials did not hesitate to brand the British move as "sinister," tho they ventured to state that Britain would not "dare to risk occupation of the city with all that this would imply."

Yes, Japan has other worries besides Soviet Russia. There are Britain and the United States. It is true, they are burglars of the same stripe, but Chicagoans need not be taught that burglars sometimes shoot each other. Our professional gunmen are good teachers.

Japan is between the devil and the red sea. The devil is represented by the powerful empires of Britain and the United States. The red sea is Communism. The ruling classes of Japan may make peace with the devil in return for an existence as the devil's disciples in the Orient. But the red sea will engulf them sooner or later. The Japanese ruling classes know that their natural enemy is Communism, and that the Soviet Union is the fatherland of Communism. But they don't want to die just yet. They want to postpone the inevitable. Therefore they will avoid war with the Soviet Union. They know that the Russia the Mikado licked in 1905 is not the Russia of today.

The New Leader is a little bit disappointed because the French socialists voted to support Painleve in his war against the Riffians. But then, the inconsiderate way in which the Communists attacked the government, said Mr. Oneal, rendered it difficult for self-respecting socialists to do otherwise. How could they have voted with the revolutionists? That would be terrible.

The American capitalists are now showing considerable interest in the welfare of the Chinese people. Here is a good object lesson for those workers who believe their best interests will be served by not making any trouble for the boss. The more you kick the more you get, provided you don't kick your own shins.

The International Labor Defense conference was not given wide publicity by the capitalist press. Here was a united front meeting that produced real unity. That is one reason why the boss press ignored it. But they cannot kill it by silence.

One of the buildings wrecked in the Santa Barbara earthquake was a mission, which was devoted to the use of the Lord, as the christian deity is sometimes called. The Lord is not Johnny-on-the-spot these days. The christians should hire another janitor.

SOVIET UNION HAS DEFICITLESS BUDGET AND STABLE CURRENCY IN SPITE OF FINANCIAL BLOCKADE

MOSCOW, (By Mail)—In submitting to the Third Congress of Soviets, for approval, the budget of the U. S. S. R. for the financial year 1924-1925, amounting to 2,558 million rubles, People's Commissary of Finance Sokolnikoff presented a detailed report on the financial situation of the Union, emphasizing that, contrary to predictions made at Genoa and Hagues as to a would-be inevitable financial break-down of the Soviet Republics, the latter succeeded, under difficult conditions of permanent financial blockade in setting up a sound financial order, a deficitless budget and a stable currency.

The speaker in his talk pointed out that while at the time of the final currency reform, in 1924, the bulk of monetary circulation in the union did not exceed 319 million gold rubles, it now amounted to 780 millions. As for the state budget, it had been doubled during the last three years. As compared with the pre-war budget, administrative expenses diminished, while those for cultural objects were increased, the military expenses attained 417 million in this year's estimates as against 850 million in the budget of 1913.

Development of Trade.

The tax revenue was larger, the people's commissary stressed, not in consequence of an increase of the taxation burden, but owing to the development of trade. The agricultural tax was lowered about a hundred million rubles, while the taxation of private trade was also being revised with a view to facilitating its further development. Favorable tax returns from the transport and the light industries enabled the government to readjust industrial credits to an amount of 150 million rubles, of which 41 million have been allotted for the national electrification scheme.

Deposits Doubled.

The financial blockade—further stated the reporter—had compelled the government to seek internal resources to finance industry whose indebtedness to the Soviet banks actually reached one milliard rubles; however, the system of credits was increased not on account of bank note issues, but thru the growth of bank deposits, which at the present time exceeded the milliard mark, which was the double of October, 1924, figures.

Foreign Credits Not Essential.

The Soviet government, Sokolnikoff declared, fully realized the importance of foreign credits and were willing to make necessary concessions inasmuch as the latter did not impair the interests of national economy. At the same time, while the government was alive to the fact that foreign credits would greatly expedite the economic recovery of the country, this fundamental problem of the revival of national economy could also be solved by means of the union's own internal forces.

The congress greeted with loud cheers Sokolnikoff's statement concerning the government's allowances for the restoration of the former Urkhardt works, in particular the Ridder and the Karabash works, also having belonged to the Urkhardt company, the operating of the latter works being scheduled to start within the next two or three days. The speaker further pointed out to the great importance for the national economy of the union of concessions like the Lena gold fields.

Balanced the Budget.

Referring again to the deficitless character of this year's budget, the people's commissary of finance emphasized that the government had succeeded to balance the budget and abstain from paper currency issues in spite of a poor harvest and a series of metereological disasters; as for the passive trade balance, that was only a means of right adaptation of gold reserves, a means which, in future, would also serve as a fundamental insurance in case of bad crops, attempts to recommence financial blockade, etc.

Increase Gold Output.

The bank note circulation was based on a permanent guarantee amounting to 239 millions, including the gold reserves of the state bank and the treasury. At the same time, all possible measures were taken to increase the gold output, which after attaining 3,296 poods in 1913, had dropped to 1,885 poods in 1917 to fall down to 87 poods only in 1921, but rose again to 1,810 poods at the present time.

Mentioning that during the war, 600 million gold rubles were exported to Britain as a guarantee for the czarist debts, while about one hundred million rubles were taken by Kolchak and distributed among American, English and French banks, Sokolnikoff pointed out that attention should be drawn to this circumstance during the negotiations for the settlement of mutual claims.

Withdraw London Deposits.

In the past year, the speaker further remarked, 150 million rubles out of the union state bank's gold reserve were deposited in Britain; but now the larger part of this sum has been transferred to other countries with which economic relations are being most favorably developed. The Soviet government did not want to hamper relations with the London market, but they could not do otherwise than to re-distribute their holdings of gold abroad in view of the unfavorable turn in Anglo-Soviet relations the non-ratification of last year's London treaty had brot about.

In conclusion, the people's commissary of finance pointed out that it was impossible to settle the inter-allied debts without the participation of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

Member of the Lathers' Union Among Killed

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., June 30.—Quake stricken Santa Barbara's death toll remainde at 11 today and the toll of missing was lowered. Seventy-five are injured.

Miss Carter, maid, was reported alive today. She was said to have escaped from the hotel and is now safe but seriously injured.

Union Man Killed.

Reports that another body had been sighted in the Arlington debris were denied by police. Among those killed was William Mathews, member of the Lathers' Union.

Workers turned their attention to the San Marcos building in an effort to uncover the body of Chappo-Mastero, chief engineer of the building.

Three shocks which rocked the city this morning did no damage of consequence. The first shock at 1:22 a. m. was the most severe of the three and shook the wrecked buildings and totetring walls violently.

Conscript Workers.

Many men have been conscripted as laborers by the city. They are digging in debris on State street and are removing piles of bricks from the streets and are picking up shoes, costly furs, dresses and hats heaved to the pavements and buried in broken glass, stucco and plaster.

Seventy thousand gallons of gasoline and 35,000 gallons of distillate have formed a great pool in the lumber yards.

Eastern Section Flooded.

Houses were off their foundation, household effects carried away and East Santa Barbara covered with a two-foot crust of mud when fifteen million gallons of water swept out of the broken Sheffield reservoir at the time of the first quake. The water missed the main part of the city.

AS WE SEE IT

and dispatched by courier to Berlin. The Trib says that since its regular correspondents are not allowed into Russia, it resorted to the trick of hiring a trained newspaperman who is traveling incognito thru the Soviet Union. It would show the wily Communists that a great American newspaper could not be thwarted. And what does this trained newspaperman tell us? Nothing except that Zinoviev, Kameneff and Stalin are the "big three" in the Soviet Union. Terrible news! What consternation would be caused in the Soviet Union, for instance, if a Bolshevik reporter disguised as a social democrat, were to send a dispatch to his home paper, to the effect that the United States was run by Mellon, Butler and J. P. Morgan and that the government took its orders from the Masonic order?

IT is no secret that the Communist Party of Russia is the political party which directs the social and industrial life of the Soviet Union. We are not aware that any Soviet leader ever went to the trouble of denying this. Nobody questions the right of the British Tory party to run the British empire, except the British workers who feel that they alone are entitled to that right. And nobody only the class conscious workers of America question the right of the republican party to run this country.

THE Tribune's disguised correspondent is not in Russia for the purpose of sending out the truth. That was done by the British Trade Union delegation. And it is not at all unlikely that the new offensive in the newspapers, is another concerted campaign, designed to offset the effect of the British report on the working masses in Europe and the United States.

IT is significant that the propaganda of "exposures" flooding the American press, designed to show the close connection between the Communist International and the Soviet government, should come at a time when the movement for the unification of the world's workers into one international trade union is making rapid headway. This unity drive has no more bitter opponents than the reactionary trade union leaders of America and the yellow socialists. This is not the first time the socialists and the capitalists joined in a United front against the workers.

THE fact that one of the leaders of the world trade union unity movement, A. A. Purcell, is coming to the United States as a fraternal delegate to the next convention of the American Federation of Labor, is an added reason why our capitalist papers are so anxious to poison the minds of the American workers against Soviet Russia. This is to be expected. That the capitalist press should lie is just as natural as that a duck should swim. Lying is part of their equipment with which to keep the workers in slavery. Some day they will stop lying, but not voluntarily. In the meantime, if you are a worker and want the kind of news that is useful to the masses, read the DAILY WORKER, which is very partial—to the workers.

COMMUNIST-CHILDREN'S-COLUMN

Activities In "Children's Town"

In capitalist countries children without parents are kept in institions. In Soviet Russia, where the best they have is given to the children, a whole town has been set aside for them and this town is called "Children's Town." The other day you read a letter in our column from a little girl who lives in Children's Town to her foster-parent. Today you will get acquainted with two more children who live in Children's Town. Here is a letter from a little girl to her uncle:

"Dear Uncle: Come to see us in Russia. It is very nice in our little Children's Town. Our beautiful garden is in blossom now and it smells wonderfully nice of flowers.

"Uncle, you asked me to write you what lessons we are learning. We have lessons in the Russian language and we study the vegatative and animal world. Then geography, social science, mathematics and culture."

"Dear Auntie: I live in the Russian Children's Town No. 2 and our park is in full bloom now. Kazanka is very near to us and we go swimming right thru the park. We study too, and we occupy ourselves with pioneer work: We write slogans, papers, establish Lenin corners, do gymnastics and act plays. We are going to act a play for fun in Trotsky Woods. The play will be about the red and white army."

INSULL TRACTION TRUST GRABS MORE LINES; MOST GIGANTIC SYSTEM IN WORLD, INCLUDES POWER PLANTS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 30.—Hearing was started by the Indiana Public Service Commission today on the petition of the recently incorporated Chicago, South Shore & South Bend Railway for the purchase of the Chicago Lake Shore & South Bend. The purchasing company is an Insull organization, with $2,000,000 preferred and 200,000 shares of common stock, of no par value, incorporated for the purpose of taking over the selling company, which has been operating for some time under receivership.

Acquisition of the property by the Insull interests it was stated here by observers close to the situation, would mean the addition of a link in a proposed Insull traction system from Buys Another Line.

The Interstate Public Service Co., parent traction line of the Insulls, operating between Louisville and Indianapolis, recently established limited serives to South Bend. The Chicago, Milwaukee section is said to be under Insull control.

The next anticipated move of the Insulls in Indiana, it is stated by the same sources, is acquisition of the 380 mile union traction co., now operating under a receiver. The assertion is made that the Insulls have completed, or are nearing completion, a minute survey of the entire Union Traction system, including its three trunk lines leading out fan-shaped from Indianapolis, with terminals at Logansport, Peru, Wabash, Bluffton, Portland, Union City and Newcastle.

Biggest in World.

Addition of the Chicago Lake Shore & South Bend and the Union Traction would give the Insulls the most gigantic interurban system in the world, almost 800 miles, in the heart of one of the most populous sections of the United States, including a large part of the northeast quarter of Indiana, regarded by many as the choicest territory in the midwest for electrical development.

Articles of incorpation of the Chicago, South Shore & South Bend stipulate the operation of motor vehicles on highways, the first instance wherein double service has been proposed by an incorporating traction system in Indiana. This, it is stated, is typical of the Insulls, who in addition to having the Interstate between Indianapolis and Louisville, also have exclusive bus service between the two cities." The Interstate was the first interurban system to parallel its line with busses.

Grabs Power Companies.

In connection with proposed extension of Insull traction business in Indiana, it is pointed out by experienced railway men, invaluable rights of way for high power transmission lines are secured, as in the purchase of their second traction property acquired by purchase of the Winona system earlier this year. In addition to being a link in the Milwaukee-Louisville line, it serves the purpose of aiding in supply of current to communities using Insull companies' electricity for light and power. Rights of way acquired by purchase of traction properties, it is asserted, eventually, will prove of tremendous value in the spread of the Insull electric empire in Indiana.

SPIRITS OF ABRAMOVITCH, NOSKE, HOVER OVER FORWARD'S FEAST

By JOSEPH R. BOOTH

On the 28th of June the traitorous socialists of Chicago had a glorious time at the opening of the new home of the yellow Chicago Jewish Daily Forward, at Kedzie and 13th street, an institution of the blackest reaction where the pen prostitutes of the yellow socialist international continually manufacture absurd lies against the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics.

This is the same shameless outfit that throws mud at the Comintern and all revolutionaries engaged in the class struggle. It is in this Forward nest of vipers that they conspire against all militants in the unions, workmen circles and other organizations.

Have Costly Program.

Thus it is fitting that this unscrupulous bunch should celebrate their achievements, including an enlarged edition of the Forward, with a banquet at the Morrison Hotel and a meeting at the Ashland Auditorium.

Conspicuous at this affair of the enemies of militant labor was the degenerate Siskind, city labor editor; Schlesinger, manager, and his retinue, smirking and feasting at the expense of unclass conscious workers whose ignorance is responsible for keeping them in power to fool and betray them.

Let it also be noted that among the guests of honor was the boss of the New York Forward, infamous bunk socialist, Aby Cahan and his faithful manager, the would-be imitator of Lassalle, B. Vladeck.

Labor Fakers There.

Hence it is perhaps unnecessary to say that all of the brilliant yellow socialists and labor bureaucratic speakers, including John Fitzpatrick, highly praised the Forward, an organ so well equipped to camouflage their admiring followers, with their usual keen analysis which brazeningly sounds the glad prediction that Communism is dying; that Kautsky annuls the real Karl Marx and the only authoritative Marxian is such as set forth in Hillquit's "From Marx to Lenin."

No one will doubt that on this remarkable occasion there was also felt the spiritual presence of such personalities as Father Buchkewitz; [illegible] Noske, comrade Hindenburg; [illegible] McDonald; renegade Abramowitch and all the r-r-rebels of the remnants of the S. P.

What a reflection on the rank and file of the workers that allow this new home of the Forward, with all of its equipment, to be constructed at their expense and then to have it remain in control of this rank gang of reactionaries. But it shall not always be so. The time will come when all of their trickery to remain in power will be exposed, then they will be cleaned out by the revolutionaries and after a thoro fumigation the place in control of real fighters will be made to serve the workers' cause.

The workers are awakening, slowly but surely, to the disintegration of the S. P. The ever increasing number of militants in the labor unions proves that. These are the hopeful signs.

MOTHER BLOOR REACHES CHICAGO TOMORROW ON HIKE FOR DAILY WORKER; SPEAKS AT JULY 4 PICNIC

The first couple of thousand miles are the hardest, but on a hitch-hike for the DAILY WORKER they are most interesting and none can tell it better than Mother Bloor.

The veteran fighter, who has just held successful meetings in Kansas City and St. Louis after hiking over two thousand miles on a trip begun on June 1 from Oakland California, will tell of her experiences in organizing for Communism thruout the "wild and woolly west."

Thru her efforts new subscriptions to the DAILY WORKER have been secured in batches on every stop she has made, new Communist units have been organized and thousands of workers have heard the message of Communism from this veteran fighter.

Mother Bloor on all of her trip has not paid a cent of railroad fare and has made meetings on schedule as arranged before starting. Continuing her "hitch hiking" Communist cross country tour, Mother Bloor arrives in Chicago in time to tell of her interesting experiences at the July fourth picnic to be held at Beyer's Grove, California Ave. and Irving Park Blvd., by Local Chicago of the Workers (Communist) Party.

MUSIC • LITERATURE • DRAMA

By ALFRED V. FRANKENSTEIN.

RAVINIA PARK, the suburban open air opera house, opened its gates for the fourteenth time last Saturday night. "The Love of Three Kings" was the opera chosen for the opener.

The names of the characters in Benelli's libretto are Archibaldo, Manfredo, Avito and Flora. These are the people who fret their while on the stage. The actual characters are the same sextet we meet in every opera plot—Love, War, Adultery, Murder, Disease and Poison. And in "The Love of Three Kings" the six are mixed up quite outlandishly enuf for an ideal operatic story.

Italo Montemezzi set the book some twelve or thirteen years ago. He did a good job of it. The music is rich and beautiful, at times thrilling, always entertaining. There is scarcely an orchestral or vocal effect in it that is original, but the way in which the voices and instruments are handled makes it seem as if the novel twists in the score were legion.

So far as performance went it was all between the bass, Virgilio Lazzari, the soprano, Lucrezia Bori, and the conductor, Gennaro Papi. Lazzari, as the old blind king, and Bori is his too amorous daughter-in-law put on the most magnificent strangling scene I have ever witnessed in an opera house.

Lazzari has been often praised here before. His art as actor and vocalist is beyond cavil. There was a thrill of horror in the second act where he picked up the body out of which he had just strangled the life and staggered out with it, a thrill that was not in the music and can be credited to no one but himself and Mme. Bori who played dead realistically, which is hard to do.

Lucrezia Bori is one of the exceptions to the operatic rule that says to play a hundred pound part a two hundred and fifty pound woman is required. And she is an exception to another rule that says operatic singers should not be great actresses.

Returning to Ravinia after almost two years I found it in nowise changed, except that the pop stand has been replaced by a flower bed. The trees and shrubbery are lovely as ever and an occasional moth still flies up across the stage, lending naturalness to the painted scene, and the long hoots of the train whistles on the railroad nearby somehow always seem to blend with the music, as of y

ARREST MANY PICKETS IN STRIKE

TEXTILE OPERATIVES' UNION IN BOLD STROKE FOR AMALGAMATION AND ALL PROGRESSIVE MEASURES

By TOM BELL.

BIDDEFORD, Me., July 1.—The final session of the convention of the American Federation of Textile Operatives here laid down a strong progressive policy to be followed by the union in the coming year. Campaigns for the establishment of the 48-hour week, organization of the unorganized, for recognition of Soviet Russia, nationalization of mines and railroads with workers' control, against the multiple machine policy of the manufacturers, and the amalgamation of the independent textile unions are the measures decided upon.

During the depression in the textile industry since the end of the war the A. F. of T. O. has maintained its standing better than any other textile union. But the vast mejority of the textile workers are not in any union even tho there has been a myriad of unions in the field.

The convention decided to have all textile councils under its jurisdiction establish active organization committees and commence a wide spread campaign to organize all unorganized textile workers in these centers.

On the question of the introduction of the multiple machine system by the manufacturers the convention instructed the incoming executive to wage a campaign against the propaganda of the manufacturers for the multiple machine system. Under this system the workers are being speeded up to an unendurable degree. So great is this speeding up that a large army of textile workers are permanently unemployed owing to making one worker do the work of several. This policy of the bosses is supplementary to the campaign of wage cuts conducted against the workers during the last few years.

Favors Russian Recognition

The convention went squarely on record for recognition of Soviet Russia by a resolution calling on the United States government to enter into full diplomatic and commercial relations with the Soviet government. Another resolution calls for the nationalization of the mines and railroads with workers' control.

Stands for Amalgamation

The question of greatest immediate importance facing the convention was the relationship of the union to the Federated Textile Unions of America. There were two points of view on this matter. One that stood for the withdrawal of the A. F. T. O. from the federation.

The other viewpoint held that this was purely a negative policy and that while the federation was useless to ARTHUR BRISBANE was as sore as a boil because the newspapers gave such prominence to the story of the Santa Barbara earthquake. Not that Arthur is against publicity on general principles. On the contrary, he is strong for it and has no equal in the art of calling attention to desirable real estate lots, unless it be the equally well known William Jennings Bryan. Brisbane's ire was aroused because he owns considerable of the so-called "golden west" and prospective customers might decide to risk their sinuses with the fogs and soot of Chicago rather than with the heaving bosom of sunny California.

THE "trained newspaper man" who is doing Russia for the Chicago Tribune, is [illegible] to contribute to the gaiety of this city. The second dispatch that came from Moscow via Berlin, contains the astounding news that the president of the Soviet Union, Comrade Kalinin, admitted that Communism was dead. This is the way the Tribune's headwriter contorted the text. What Kalinin actually said was that the Soviet Union was preparing the ground for Communism, and that the dictatorship of the workers and peasants was a necessary pre-condition for such preparation.

ANOTHER newspaperman tells us that the Soviet Union is preparing to install a first class telephone system thruout the country and is inviting British and American companies to do the job. This is taken as proof that Russia is becoming "capitalistic" and prosperous. Where do these sapheads get the idea that efficiency is the handmaiden of capitalism? It is true that capitalism has developed industry, but according as that development took place the inherent contradictions in capitalism increased until today capitalism is another word for chaos.

LOOK at Great Britain! Over 1,500,000 workers unemployed and the number increasing at the rate of thousands per week. But British currency is stabilized! And in France where the franc is going down like a dose of castor oil, business is booming, there is no unemployment and French automobiles are being rushed into Poland, because the sickly franc is a better friend of the manufacturers than the stalwart and healthy pound sterling.

ISN'T this funny? Of course, the French manufacturers will get theirs in thesoler plexus in the future. But at present they do not care any more than the German manufacturers cared when the mark was doing nose dives. "GET OUT, PAY AND APOLOGIZE" DEMAND CHINESE AT CANTON

CANTON, July 1.—A representative of the Chinese foreign office of the Canton South China republic, arrived in Shameen, the foreign quarter, at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon bringing five demands by the Chinese government. They included:

That the British and French consuls apologize and be replaced by others.

That the foreign gunboats all leave.

That Shameen be handed back to the Chinese.

Compensation for all deaths.

And that the naval officers apologize.

The French gunboat Marne arrived today and landed a party of reinforcements. All foreigners stationed outside of Shameen are coming in. There are fourteen foreign gunboats in port.

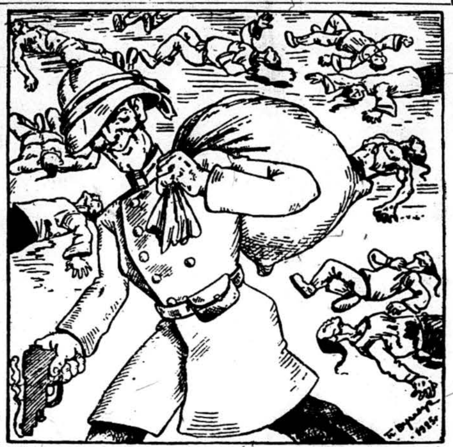
Capitalist Peace and Prosperity in China



In the quest for "prosperity" the international gang of imperialists is giving eternal peace to the Chinese while taking prosperity out of China.

AMERICAN IMPERIALISM TO CALL "HELPING HAND" CONFERENCE OF ROBBER POWERS TO CRUSH CHINA

WASHINGTON, July 1.—An international conference to revise China's treaty relations with foreign powers, and to make another attempt to maintain foreign imperialist domination over China will be called soon by the United States.

Announcement was made here today that Secretary of State Kellogg is preparing to carry out the work of the Washington armament conference by issuing an invitation to Great Britain, Japan, France and other nations to join with the United States in extending a "helping hand" to the Peking government.

Whether the Peking government is to be invited to sit in the conference as an equal is not revealed, probably it is not considered at all, in view of the "helping hand" announcement.

Abolition of the extra-territorial privileges now enjoyed by foreign powers in China—one of the sore spots which have led to recent anti-imperialist outbreaks in Canton, Shanghai, and other cities—will be the chief object of the conference.

Put One Over; Now Must Back Up.

In signing the China treaty at the Washington conference, the powers on the surface agreed to give up their territorial rights, but at that time the Chinese government, being secretly bulldozed by the imperialists indicated that she was "not yet ready" for the withdrawal.

Secretary Kellogg has now been advised, however, by Dr. Alfred Sze, minister of the Peking government here, that China is anxious to have changes made in her treaty regulations and is ready to go ahead with the program outlined here in 1921.

U. S. Bids for China's Friendship, Versus Japan.

It was learned at the state department that the conference call might not be issued solely by the United States, but by China, with the active support of this government. This is construed as a counter claim to Japan's

The strike was called off on the basis of a written agreement signed

FRENCH CABINET DENIES MOVE TO PAY U. S. DEBT

PARIS, July 1.—The French foreign office today denied, as premature, the accuracy of statements in French newspapers that M. Daeschner, French ambassador to the United States, will be instructed to announce his government's readiness to sign a debt settlement thru the commission shortly to be sent to Washington.

"Such statements in the Paris morning press are premature," said an official at the foreign office.

Members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers on strike against the International Tailoring Company and the J. L. Taylor Company, both owned by the same people, yesterday morning at their headquarters in Hodcarriers' Hall, gave a rousing demonstration to a gray-haired veteran of the class struggle, Tillie Kazack, who after a year's idleness had secured work in one of the struck shops, only to walk out with her fellow workers when her employers decided to break with the union and run "open shop."

"I have been thru nine strikes here in Chicago," declared the old rebel, "and I am willing to go thru nine more if I live long enough. I think I am a good American citizen because I am constantly in the struggle on the side of the workers," she said amid great applause.

Striker Gets Ovation

Another ovation was given to striker Frances De Spencer, an Italian girl, who was arrested for appealing to a scab not to help the bosses reduce the standard of living of the workers. The striker was taken to the police station and immediately released on bail. The police took the strikebreaker with the striker. The pickets jerred at the scab and cheered their comrade.

The arrested pickets who appeared in court yesterday morning asked for a jury trial and the trial was postponed. Among those arrested yesterday was Charles Weinstein business agent of Local 39.

Enthusiasm among the strikers is running high. The DAILY WORKER reporter noticed that the rank and file are not content to leave for the formulation of plans to their leaders, but discuss methods of winning the strike among themselves. Volunteers show up as early as 6:30 in the morning awaiting assignments.

Accompanied by Sluggers

The few scabs that come to work in the morning are accompanied by sluggers and motorcycle policemen. One slugger accompanies every scab on the inside of the taxi and motorcycle policemen protect them on the outside. There is no crowding—one scab to a cab. All the cabs are yellow!

CAL CUTS TAXES OF RICH AT WAR VETS EXPENSE

One Billion Spent on War, Figures Show

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1.—The greater part of the 300 to 400 million dollars to be saved by the government by means of President Coolidge's "economy" policy, is to be clipped from expenditures thru discharging government employes, and paring down payments to ex-soldiers, the figures for the fiscal year just ended, show

The war and navy department's figures show that in the year which ended on June 30, the United States spent $350,000,000 for army expenditures and $326,600,000 for the navy. The war expenses during the last year were thus over one billion dollars.

President Coolidge has already taken steps to close the war veterans' vocational training schools, in order to be able to cut down the high income taxes of the millionaires at the expense of the ex-soldiers.

The United States treasury now has $3,675,000,000 in sight to spend during the next year.

TRI-DISTRICT MINERS' MEET AT SCRANTON

Important Policies Up for Settlement

(Special to The Daily Worker)

SCRANTON, Pa., July 1—The Tri District convention, of the miners, covering the Pennsylvania hard coal regions, in session here today is face to face with the most important questions ever confronting them, at a time when the coal industry of the United States is in a crisis.

What is done at this convention will have a great bearing on the conventions to follow immediately in the other districts of the U. M. W. of A. and likewise on the industry.

Progressive Program Popular.

The program of the Progressive Miners has received the indorsement of the rank and file miners in the Tri-District.

The presence of John L. Lewis, and the vice president, Murray, with the secretary-treasurer, Kennedy, proves to the progressive miners in the convention that the reactionary machine of the U. M. W. of A. is standing with its back to the wall in a superhuman effort to save the fakers' faces and jobs, knowing the expulsions of Edmunds and over 1,700 miners must be contended with in the convention, with the endless treachery of Cappellini and his outfit also a major issue.

Question Lewis' Presence.

Many here are wondering how it comes, that the whole international officialdom can sojourn in Pennsylvania, when their attention is required in West Virginia, Nova Scotia and other districts on strike, and our brothers starving, and where the money is coming from.

It is not forgotten that Lewis stated the reason of the postponement of the constitutionally-provided convention, and his violation of the constitution in refusing to allow the members to know how they voted, was because of lack of finance.

The convention will deal with the most far reaching policies in its history, among them being a change of rates and methods of mining coal.

Want Tonnage Rates.

Payment by the ton instead of by car for coal mined has long been a demand of the miners, and in this demand they are supported by every miner in America.

An increase of wages will be demanded to meet the increase in the cost of living. The wives, and even the children of the miners have been

INTERNATIONAL DEFENSE PLANS LOCAL MEETINGS

National Committee Has First Session

The national committee of the International Labor Defense has held its first meeting. The committee, composed of 37 members, most of whom were present, and upon which are prominent individuals in the labor, liberal and radical movements, was elected last Sunday at the national labor defense conference, attended by delegates from workers' organizations in all parts of the country.

The International Labor Defense was founded by the conference to serve as a non-partisan defense organization for all class-war prisoners and workers persecuted for their activities in the labor movement. The national committee, elected unanimously, met to draft a schedule of work and to elect officers.

Executive Elected

An Executive committee of eleven that is to directly supervise the work of the organization was elected by the national committee, as follows: Andrew T. McNamara, E. C. Wentworth, Fred Mann, Henry Corbishly, Rose Karsner, C. E. Ruthenberg, George Maurer, James P. Cannon, John Edenstrom, Harrison George, Benjamin Gitlow. The national officers are, Andrew T. McNamara, chairman, E. C. Wentworth, vice-chairman and James P. Cannon, secretary.

Local Conferences

It was decided to start immediately with the work of building the International Labor Defense which is to be composed of individual memberships and collective labor affiliations.

This will be done by holding local conferences thruout the country. James Cannon moved that in view of the great success of the mass meeting that followed the conference on Sunday, that mass meetings be held in conjunction with the local conferences.

To Help Centralia Victims

Plans for immediate labor defense operations were discussed by the committee. Fred Mann proposed that the International Labor Defense raise a special fund to cooperate in a campaign for the release of the I. W. W. prisoners in Walla Walla penitentiary in Washington who were "railroaded" to prison in the famous Centralia trials.

The International Labor Defense will assist all elements interested in their release with wide-spread agitation, publicity, demonstrations and, if possible, legal action.

Serious Condition in W. Virginia

Henry Corbishly, representing coal miners of Southern Illinois asked that action be taken in behalf of the striking coal miners of West Virginia. He pointed out that one miner had already been sentenced to ten years in prison under an anti-picketing law and that injunctions had been served on over a hundred others.

The seriousness of the struggle to unionize the West Virginia coal fields, Corbishly said, demands the immediate attention and service of the International Labor Defense.

The secretary, James P. Cannon, was instructed to investigate the matter and arrange for the participation of the International Labor Defense in the defense work necessary in West Virginia.

RECOVER MORE BODIES IN CAL. QUAKE RUINS

SANTA BARBARA, July 1.—Today for the first time it was definitely believed the toll of dead would not exceed a score.

Thirteen persons known dead, five additional missing and believed killed and 41 injured made up the casualty list resulting from the earthquake.

Tremors have entirely ceased and no shocks of any strength have been felt for 24 hours.

The property damage was regarded by many investigators as possibly greater than previously estimated. It may reach the fearful figure of $35,000,000 altho city officials of Santa Barbara declared they hoped it would come under the $10,000,000 mark.

Discovery of R. M. Litchfield's body in the street under an automobile was made after hundreds had passed within a few feet.

Litchfield was an Associated Oil Company employe.

Would Escape Life's Conflict.

IOWA CITY, Ia., July 1.—Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, said in an address here before the commonwealth conference that "The scientific mind at its best is sublimely indifferent to such catch words as conservatism, liberalism, or radicalism." He said political controversies should be kept out of the schools.

Textile Labor Seeks Amalgamation

the textile workers in their struggle it was up to the A. F. T. O. to take the lead in amalgamating the independent textile unions. This latter view was accepted. As a result the strongest and most strategically situated of all the independent textile unions in the filed will take the lead in amalgamation of the independent unions.

Federated Body Weak

The Federated Textile Unions of America was created to bring about unity of action among the many independent unions of textile workers. Unions of lace workers, Brussel weavers, hosiery workers, carpet workers, silk workers and spinners participated in the organization of the federation in 1921.

The object of the federation was mutual aid among the independent unions in organizing the unorganized and during strikes. Practically the federation acted as a committee for collecting funds for aid to strikers.

Since its organization the unions which composed it have shrunk until at the present time the A. F. T. O. constitutes about nine-tenths of the entire federation. The delegaes were unanimously of the opinion that the situation was intolerable since the federation had outlived its usefulness as a weapon in their struggle against the manufacturers.

For Real Amalgamation

The record of the A. F. T. O. on the question of amalgamation is quite clear. Negotiations with the United Textile Workers of America, the A. F. of L. union, were carried on with a view toward amalgamating the two largest unions in the textile industry. These negotiations broke down owing to the impossible demands made by the U. T. W. officialdom.

Their conception of amalgamation was that the A. F. T. O. was to be swallowed up and that the reactionary officialdom of the U. T. W. was to boss the "amalgamated" union. Such an "amalgamation" would have simply destroyed the A. F. T. O. and given McMahon, president of the U. T. W., futher opportunities to betray more textile workers.

In spite of the break down of the negotiations the A. F. T. O. went on record for amalgamation on principle and the executive was instructed to utilize whatever opportunities presented themselves for a real amalgamation of the textile unions.

The resolution adopted by the convention on this question instructs the executive to seek to bring about an early conference with representatives of the groups now composing the Federated Textile Unions with a view to creating an amalgamation of all groups into one national textile union of textile workers in one parent body.

Next Year's Officers Elected

President, James Tansey of Fall River, Mass., who was unanimously re-elected. First vice president, Abraham Binns of New Bedford, Mass., who was also unanimously elected. Second vice president, William McNamara of Fall River, Mass. Third vice president, John B. Benoit, Taftville, Conn. Secretary, William E. G. Batty, New Bedford. Treasurer, William Harwood, Fall River, Mass., Auditors, James Howarth, Fall River, Mass., Thomas Bolton, New Bedford, and John Singleton, also of New Bedford.

A Bold Step

The policy adopted by the convention is significant in view of the savage wage cutting campaign of the manufacturers, the introduction of the multiple machine system and the speed up system, the unorganized state of the workers, and the existence of many rival unions. The amalgamation of the independent unions will be the first step toward a general amalgamation of the textile unions.

The American Federation of Textile operatives has boldly struck out on the path which will lead the textile workers towards greater efficiency in their struggles against the manufacturers.

DAILY WORKER, LOANED BY INJURED WAR VETERAN, GETS UNDER SKIN OF "LIBERAL" PROFESSOR'S WIFE

By DISABLED
(Worker Correspondent)

MENDHAM, N. J., July 1.—This story shows what a subscriber of the DAILY WORKER has to fear, even from the lower middle class. As a disabled war worker, living on a sum that any organized worker would disdain, I have to live in the country where rents are cheap, and fresh air is plentiful.

In this vicinity lives a so-called professor from the middle west who professes liberal ideas. He asked me for copies of the DAILY WORKER, and I was glad to lend these copies, as this is a nest of reactionaries and klansmen, and ideas are anathema to any of these people.

What was my surprise the other night, to be attacked by the wife of this faker, she told me in insulting terms, "not to lend pernicious literature to her husband!"

As if he were a moron, as perhaps he is. I am trying to get government aid and this woman might report me to the Legion! As I am in bad health, this weighs on my mind.

U. S. Imperialism Asks "Helping Hand"

bid for China's friendship in her hint yesterday to make war on England.

The basis for the conference will be the resolution adopted in Washington which fixed the attitude of the imperialist powers towards China as follows:

Terms of Washington Conference.

1. To respect the sovereignty, the independence and the territorial and administrative integrity of China;

2. To provide the fullest and most unembarrassed opportunity to China to develop and maintain for herself an effective and stable government.

3. To use their influence for the purpose of effectually establishing and maintaining the principle of equal opportunity for the commerce and industry of all nations thruout the territory of China, and

4. To refrain from taking advantage of conditions in China in order to seek special rights or privileges which would abridge the rights of subjects or citizens of friendly states and from countenancing action inimical to the security of such states.

A Commission to Postpone and "Investigate."

As to extra-territoriality, the Washington conference agreed to establish a commission to inquire into the present practice of extra-territorial jurisprudence in China and into the laws and the judicial system and the methods of judicial administration of China, with a view to reporting to the governments of the several powers "their finding of fact in regard to these matters, and their recommendations as to such means as they may find suitable to improve the existing conditions of the administration of justice in China, and to assist and further the efforts of the Chinese government to effect such legislation and judicial reform as would warrant the several powers in relinquishing, either progressively or otherwise, their respective rights to extra-territoriality."

The disputed question of the maintenance of armed troops of foreign nations in China also is expected to be taken up in the proposed conference.

ARREST 52 ST. LOUIS CLOTHING CO. STRIKERS

'Mother' Bloor to Speak at Union

By ELLA REEVE BLOOR
(Special to The Daily Worker.)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 1.—The eight hundred strikers of the Curlee Clothing company, one of the largest in the middle west, have been waging a strong fight for union conditions. Wholesale arrests and bitter persecution have marked the struggle of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' members.

Fifty-two strikers were arrested yesterday. Painters' local Union No. 115, which has a large membership, voted to urge all members to help these brave strikers in every possible way to gain union conditions.

Other unions are co-operating. As I helped to organize the first union here of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, I will probably address the strikers before leaving St. Louis Thursday morning.

I arrived here one day ahead of my schedule, today. Will see you all in Chicago Saturday.

25,000 BUILDING TRADES WORKERS THREATEN STRIKE

Boston Building Laborers Get Support

BOSTON, Mass., July 1.—The United Building Trades Council, controlling all the building unions in Boston except the Painters and Carpenters, have voted for a strike as a result of the refusal of the building contractors to even arbitrate the demand of 5,000 striking building laborers for an increase of wages. The Painters and Carpenters, tho not controlled by the council, have also voted to strike in co-operation.

The contractors thot that the Building Laborers would not get the support of the other building trades unions, so they became quite cocky about their argument with the 5,000 laborers.

Now the whole bunch of contractors are frightened at the prospect of at least 25,000 building trades workers tying up $30,000,000 worth of building programs and are busily trying to get Secretary of Labor Davis to save them from the unions' general strike.

Secretary Davis is due to pass thru Boston to see Coolidge at Swampscott and the unions have agreed to hold up the strike until the bosses can get Davis to intervene in their behalf. Davis' U. S. concilliator C. G. Wood, who has an unsavory record of attempted strikebreaking is now in charge of the government agencies to prevent a strike, but will hand the mess to Secretary Davis when the latter gets to Boston.

Wages-Dividends Not Enough by Far to Still Unrest of the Workers

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

TODAY, the boss class in fearful that the workers are not taking its charity seriously. "LOOK!" say the exploiters, an eastern corporation has just disributed $3,000,000 among its employes. Another distribution of a million cash was made among 8,000 employes, while a third distribution was made of another million among 2,200 employes. Such outbursts of fake philanthropy occur intermittently, and the robber press is always quick to give each recurring instance considerable publicity. It is supposed to be good contentment salve for the restless wage slave.

• • • •

One financial writer frankly confesses that the object of profit sharing and wages-dividends is to make the workers "contented and thus prevent unrest and strikes."

He offers this as a great discovery. Yet it is a fact that Communists have always pointed out.

This employers' fear that the workers are not contented, that great strikes may break out at any moment, that organization drives may be forced by the rank and file upon laggard labor officials, is also at the bottom of many other sops being planned for the workers, like the old age pension schemes being studied by capitalism's experts.

Working class unrest is not greatly affected, let alone appeased, by the distribution of wages-dividends. Take the case of "The Fair," the big State Street department store in Chicago, fiendish exploiter of youth labor, that recently distributed a large sum among its underpaid employes.

First, not a cent went to any employe that had not been with the firm for at least five years. This immediately eliminated the great mass of workers, boys and girls just out of school, employed at meager wages, who must be on the lookout for "something better" as they are throwp upon their resources; when they can no longer depend upon partial support at home.

Second, "the reward," therefore, goes to a selected few, the slave drivers, the superintendents, the managers, the floor walkers, the heads of departments, who must be satisfied with their station, and proud of it, as they wield the lash of oppression over the youth labor assigned to their none too tender mercies.

Yet one of capitalism's experts is compelled to admit that the wages-dividends distributed by employers as pacifiers of unrest do not average more than $30 of $40 per year, which it is admitted is "not enough to accomplish any notable purpose. Especially among the so-called radicals in a factory, such a distribution must remain without effect."

The sop of a few dollars, not even enough for a short vacation's expenses, especially arouses the resentment of the workers as they view the colossal dividends distributed by the corporations employing them. Take Montgomery, Ward & Co., which runs parallel to "The Fair" in the employment of youth labor. It reports that "June sales were the largest for that month in the company's history. The total was $14,430,960, an increase of 19.66 per cent over May and also a gain of 10.67 per cent over June, 1924."

For the month of May the major railroads report a net operating income of $73,800,000 compared with $60,595,197 in May 1924, a big increase, in spite of the poverty wails of the transportation interests, and their demands for wage cuts all along the line.

The earnings reported by the Standard Oil Trust and other great trusts are higher than ever.

Even the dullest worker cannot help but become acquainted with these facts. Beside the colossal profits of the great corporations the wages-dividends distributed by a few employers are hardly visible.

The robber employer safeguards his plunder. He doles out the smallest amount he must to the worker in wages. As labor awakens more and more to this fact, the class struggle sharpens, the final conflict draws nearer, when "All Power!" must shift from the capitalist dictatorship to the Proletarian Dictatorship. There is no capitalist concession that can satisfy the workers in the last, victorious struggle for power that heralds the Communist dawn.

BALDWINITES IN ALL NIGHT FIGHT PASS 'PENSION'

Fake Scheme Opposed by the Laborites

LONDON, July 1.—Dawn and adjournment of the house of commons came simultaneously today after an all-night attack of the laborites on the government's measures for workers' relief.

The laborites assault won only one amendment to winston Churchill's pensions scheme. It was the only concession the government made to the laborites.

Neil MacLean, a laborite, declared the government's allowance for orphans was "insufficient to maintain a cat."

Lady Astor, who was half asleep, jumped up and to the consternation of MacLean, shouted, as she pointed an accusing finger at him,

"You called me a cat just now."

"No, I did not," replied the surprised MacLean.

"I am the only one present," she shrilled.

The city council appropriated $3,415,655 at its last session, and will adjourn next Wednesday for the summer. The appropriation included $20,000 for lawyers fees. The council refused to instruct the building committee to recommend change in the building code to allow the use of hollow tile.

BUSINESS AGENT SLUGS MEMBER OF BARBERS' UNION

Robert Spanuth Beaten by Jim Rose

The reactionary machine of the Barbers' Union Local 548 has opened its campaign of violence against the membership which will ultimately expose it as unworthy of any trust, position or connection with the membership of the union.

On Monday a member of Local 548, Robert Spanuth, who is not a member of the progressive group, but who is merely an honest union man devoted to the interests of the wage workers in the trade, visited the Local's office at 166 West Washington street to pay his dues.

A Rose "By Any Other Name."

While there on that errand, he was approached by Jim Rose, a business agent and one of the reactionary machine, who tried to provoke Spanuth by starting an argument with him about the contest in the local between the reactionaries and progressives.

As Rose had, accompanying him, at his heels a big slugger of the hired gangster type, and as Rose's whole desire to pick a fight was apparent, Spanuth remained silent, refusing to be provoked into an argument.

Union Official Beats Up Member.

Notwithstanding Spanuth's peaceable attitude—or perhaps because of this attitude—Rose and his hired slugger seized Spanuth and, taking him by force out of the union office into the hallway beat him savagely until he lapsed into unconsciousness.

While he was unconscious Rose and the other slugger went away. Spanuth dragged himself out of the building to seek aid, as he was bleeding from several terrible blows on the head and had lost seven teeth.

Oppose Terrorism by Machine.

The members of Local 548 who have seen Spanuth are fired with indignation over the assault, many who are not members of the progressive group asserting their determination to see that the reactionary clique in control of the union will not continue to terrorize the union membership with such methods.

Members of the progressive group are pointing out to the membership the fact that such tactics by the reactionaries prove that they are the enemies of control by the rank and file of members, whose forces are getting so strong that the machine is seriously concerned over their being kicked out of office and hence is resorting to violence to save themselves.

Pledge to Keep Up Fight.

Members generally are heard condemning the cowardly assault upon an honest and loyal member by the official gangsters and their hired sluggers, and there are many pledging that they will not cease until such brutal cowards are driven out of control and out of the union.

PROGRESSIVES SHOW STRENGTH AT COAL MEET

forced to work at the wash tub and in other ways to eke out a miserable pittance of an existence, under circumstances which have resulted many times in their physical breakdown.

May Mark Decline of Reaction.

It is realized here the splendid program of the progressive miners will meet some opposition from the Lewis-Capellini gang, because a victory for the progressive policies will prove the political decline of the reactionaries.

The demands for unemployment relief and minimum wage with yearly contracts, have enthused the delegates here, and not one delegate is heard to express himself against them; in fact the progressive policy has caused panic in the breasts of Lewis and Cappellini, and it is not too much to say that if the program had been published a month earlier, many local unions would have had different representation in the convention, which would have assured complete victory for the progressive policy.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 1.—A slight ripple was caused in the tri-district convention of the anthracite coal miners belonging to the United Mine Workers of America, which is taking place here, when delegates to the new local instituted by President Rinaldo Cappellini at Edwardsville were seated instead the local headed by Edmunds.

The vote in favor of seating Cappellini's new local delegates was [illegible] for and 110 against, showing considerable progressive strength.

At the conclusion of the speech of John L. Lewis, on Tuesday, the delegates, evidently feeling the need of recreation after the ordeal of listening to their president, adjourned until today and attended the ball game.

Lewis' speech was of the usual kind. He talked mainly against militant action on the part of the miners to better their conditions. In the place of a fight for better wages, Lewis advocated a fight for the check off. The local papers were filled with eulogies of the speech, but many of the miners did not care much for it.

I. L. G. W. TRIAL CONTINUES; 5 MORE ARRESTED

Battle with Sluggers Rages Around Shops

NEW YORK CITY, July 1—The battle against treacherous reaction in the International Ladies Garment Workers Union continues, with the whole membership opposing with mind and body the machine which would defeat the control of the union by the membership and turn the workers over to the mercy of the manufacturers.

The "trial" of the officials of Local 2 was finished, such as it was, and after summing it up Local Nine's suspended officials will be questioned.

At the trial Monday five members of Local 2 were brot before the Forward's inquisitional gang headed by Feinberg who is, strange to say, their accuser as well as their judge.

Deny Olgin Chance to Appear.

Louis Hyman, counsel for the defense, in an effort to introduce testimony of Moissaye J. Olgin, May Day speaker whom the machine allege said "We must break the International with a hammer"—demanded that Olgin be permitted to appear and testify. But the "trial committee" refused.

The proceedings are held secretly, the defendants asking for admission of the press and membership, the machine refusing.

In and around the shops where the agents of the machine gather with sluggers of the Forward's crew to try to take off the job some of the best union men and women because the machine cannot control them, there were demonstrations and in all five pickets were arrested.

Arrest Five, Fine Two.

The police acted in full concert with the machine's gang of sluggers, picking up the workers who were pointed out by the Sigmanites. Frudenberg and Rosenthal were fined $5, Hoekman was discharged and the others given suspended sentences.

Dever Breaks City Walkout.

Mayor Dever induced the city engineers to abandon their three-day protest strike for an increase in wages, and most of them are back at work. The salary raise asked, however, has not yet been granted.

Imperialists Prepare New Tortures for Workers of All Countries

"TELL the workers in all parts of the world that the imperialists who are oppressing and robbing China, are preparing new tortures for the proletariat in their own countries! We are convinced that the International Transport Workers' Federation will give its utmost moral and material support to the Chinese proletariat which is carrying on a life and death struggle."—From the Appeal of the Chinese Union of Railwaymen to the International Transport Workers' Federation.

MOSCOW, June 12—(By Mail)—Today and yesterday numerous mass meetings and protest demonstrations devoted to the events in China and against the acts of the imperialists took place in Moscow and Leningrad and in most towns in the Soviet Union.

Over 450,000 people took part in today's public meetings in Moscow, which were powerful and enthusiastic demonstrations of solidarity with the struggle of the peoples of the Orient for their freedom.

Strike Relief Fund Grows Daily

The interest of the working class of the Soviet Republic for the struggle in China increases day by day. Apart from the 50,000 roubles which the central committee of the Soviet trade unions have contributed for the strikers and for the families of the victims in Shanghai, the metal worker, textile worker and mining unions have each allotted 10,000 roubles.

Today the Red International of labor unions devoted 5,000 roubles in the name of the Western European working class. Yesterday alone, the Leningrad trade unions collected 3,500 roubles in the shops.

Well-known Russian party leaders, and representatives of the brother parties, amongst them Katayama, Semard and Kolarov and representatives of the German, Chinese, English and American comrades spoke at the meetings.

Zinoviev made a speech in a district meeting upon the events in China and declared:

Zinoviev Exposes Second International

"In various parts of the world events are happening which will be developed in the future on an international scale. One of the events is the Morocco war. Renaudel and Jouhaux have the insolence to repeat to the working class in 1925 what they said in 1914, but at present it is much more difficult to lie than it was in 1914, for today everyone understands that a small and menaced people struggling for its independence and itself menacing no one has been attacked.

"It is an undisguised imperialist robber act. Ten years have gone since the outbreak of the war; ten million people were murdered and France in particular has suffered most, despite this, however, the French bourgeoisie is supported in its imperialist action by the mensheviks.

French Party Has Many Liebknechts

"This small test is prophetic for the action of the Second International in case of an attempt by the bourgeoisie to begin a second world war. At the same time the French events show that if there existed a Liebknecht in the imperialist war, in the coming world war hundreds of Liebknechts will exist. The French brother party is acting in a way worthy of a section of the Comintern.

"The events in Shanghai are in themselves not tremendously important, but on a world scale they are a smaller preliminary action for greater events. The six million young Chinese working class put up today demands like the eight hour day, for the abolition of child and female labor and for a Sunday rest, such demands as were put up by the English working class 60 and more years ago.

"At present the stream of the working class movement and the stream of the national revolutionary movement flow together and this united stream is becoming ever more stormy. Almost the whole Chinese people with the exception of the Mandarins and the reactionary generals, is joining in this movement for freedom.

Proletariat Must Lead

"It is becoming ever clearer that the proletariat will lead this movement because there is no other power outside the working class, no matter how weak and unorganized this latter may be, which can lead the struggle for freedom to its end.

"One does not need to be a prophet in order to see that after the Shanghai mass murder, the Chinese working class will feel the desire to arm itself in order to defend itself actively at the given moment against the imperialist attack.

"Our generation will experience how the national revolutionary movement for freedom will become a direct part of the world revolution.

Shanghai Movement Led By Communists

"We observe with the greatest pride that the movement in Shanghai is being led by the young Communist Party and the Young Communist League. At the present in China numerous spontaneous fighting organizations are springing into existence which will probably in the immediate future set up a definite program.

"The Chinese proletariat will not be satisfied with the 10 hour day, it will demand the eight hour day. The demand for a united, free and independent China with a freely elected National Assembly as the provisional government for the leadership of the anti-imperialist struggle will grow louder.

"When Chinese delegations travel to Europe to report there to public opinion the real situation, the European workers must send delegations to China.

English Unions Do Their Duty

"The English trade unions are carrying out their proletarian duty. They are protesting against the acts of their bourgeoisie in China and for the first time since the days of the Chartist movement they come forward as internationalists.

"Unfortunately all the European workers by no means understand the significance and extent of the struggle for freedom of the toiling masses of the East. The awakening of the masses in the East is the essential condition for the freedom of the proletariat of the West.

"The events in Shanghai, in Morocco and in the Balkans are clear proofs for the correct estimation of the world situation by the Comintern. The partial defeats in the West are being compensated for in the Orient.

"The Chinese events are the foreboding of the world revolution, the introduction to powerful happenings which our generation will experience and in which it wil lstruggle."

BRITISH UNIONS CABLE CHINESE UNIONS THEIR COMPLETE SOLIDARITY

LONDON, June 30.—The general council o fthe Trades Union Congress has telegraphed to the Chinese trade unions:

"The General Council is confident that the united stand the Chinese workers are making will result in the firm establishment of militant industrial organization in China, and will do much to build up a powerful bond of unity between eastern and western trade unionism."

WORKERS OF MINNEAPOLIS HOLD PROTEST MEETING AGAINST RULE OF IMPERIALISM IN CHINA, AFRICA

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 1.—Under the auspices of the All-American Anti-Imperialist League, a monster protest and indignation meeting will be held on Sunday evening, July 5, 7 p. m., at Washington Square (Seven Corners).

The workers of Minneapolis are going to show their resentment against the exploits of the imperialists in China, in India, and Morocco. The following speakers have been secured for the mass meeting: John Gabriel Hathaway, Carl Cowl, W. Woo and a speaker from the I. W. W.

All workers in Minneapolis are urged to attend this great manifestation.

SHANGHAI TRADE UNION COUNCIL APPEALS TO WORLD'S WORKERS

SHANGHAI, China, June 12—(By Mail)—The Trade Union Council in Shanghai addresses an appeal to the international proletariat thru the Red International of Labor Unions and the Amsterdam Trade Union International in which, after a detailed description of the bloody events, it says:

"The imperialist press spreads the most senseless rumor as tho the Chinese had risen against all foreigners. In this manner public opinion is to be deceived. In reality we are struggling only against a small group of exploiters of various nationalities which pursues a policy of economic and national enslavement of the Chinese people and a policy of bloodletting.

"We are convinced that the movement which expresses the national and revolutionary feelings of the Chinese people will find its support from the international proletariat, and that the latter will support the Chinese people in its struggle against the imperialists, the common foes of the telling masses of all countries.

"The Trade Union Council of Shanghai appeals to you in the name of 220,000 strikers."

A MILLION ON STRIKE THROUGHOUT ALL CHINA

MOSCOW, June 9.—(By Mail.)—The total number of workers on strike in China has reached 1,000,000. In Shanghai alone there are 260,000 workers on strike, and the strike here is almost general.

The press is stopped. On June 6, the strike spread to the territory of the French concession, which until then was spared by the movement. The French police tried to force the businessmen to open their shops, but in vain. With the aid of the police force the managements of the textile factories are keeping the workers at work.

The telegraph company offered its employes a three-fold wage and diverse improvements if only they would abstain from striking, but the employes struck work none the less.

British Shoot Children.

Yesterday a British troop of volunteers shot upon a group of children who were throwing stones at the trams commuting between the foreign section and the Chinese quarter. The result was one eight-year Chinese boy killed, and many children wounded.

The Chinese workers, students and businessmen formed a joint committee to carry on negotiations with the representatives of the foreign powers, and put up the following demands: Punishment of the guilty police officials; compensation to the families of the victims; the recall of the British and Japanese consuls in Shanghai; abolition of the mixed and consular courts; immediate release of all prisoners; the granting of the demands put up, by striking workers of the Japanese textile mills, and the formal expression of regret by the British and Japanese governments.

The Chinese government issued a communique declaring that it will carry on the negotiations with the foreign powers in an energetic manner and that it will insist on the fulfillment of the above demands. A mixed commission of the foreign powers is expected to arrive in Shanghai today for the purpose of investigating the causes of the massacre.

Karakhan Gets All Protests.

The Soviet ambassador Karakhan, in his seniority position in the diplomatic corps, is receiving numerous telegrams of protest against the arbitrariness of the foreign imperialists, with the request to transmit these protests to the foreign representatives.

The anti-imperialist movement is spreading all over the country. Mass demonstrations and protest meetings are reported from Wu Chang, Kai Fong, Fu Chu, and other places. A foreign battleship has been dispatched to Kiu Kiang, where the police headquarters were demolished.

In South China, particularly at Canton, excitement reigns. At Peking, about 2,000 speakers and students address mass meetings daily. Deputations are steadily pouring into the capital from the provinces to express their protests at the foreign legations. The intellectuals have joined the movement.

Even Foreign Schools Join.

All schools and universities including the missionary schools and American colleges formed a joint protest union in whose name telegrams of protest were sent to the British parliament, the labor party, to the American and Japanese peoples, and to the famous scholars and men of letters in Europe and America.

The difference in attitude of the United States on the one side, and of Britain and Japan on the other, is becoming ever sharper. While the United States, which also took part in the intervention, are not adverse to settling the conflict peacefully, Great Britain is adopting a most irreconcilable attitude and is obviously trying to provoke a second Boer rebellion as in 1900, in order to furnish a pretext for complete foreign control of China.

ALL CHINA CONTRIBUTES TO SHANGHAI STRIKERS

MOSCOW, June 13. — (By Mail.)—Monetary collections are taking place for the strikers in Shanghai thruout the whole of China. The Peking government has given 100,000 dollars. The university professors a half month's wages, and even the Manchurian generals with Chang Tso-lin at the head, who wish to utilize the situation to extend their influence in Shanghai, have donated great sums.

The movement is spreading over the whole country. The Shanghai sailors have demanded that the sailors' union in Hong-Kong should commence a strike in solidarity.

On the border of Manchuria and Korea, in An-Tung, a collision has taken place between the Chinese custmos police and the Japanese police. The latter killed seven Chinese.

In Hankao demonstrating workers and students attempted to force their way into the British concession guarded by the British police and marines, the latter met the demonstrators with rifle fire whilst the British warships anchored in the river directed machine gun fire upon the demonstrators.

Trial Opens.

In Shanghai the trial has begun against the seventeen Chinese students arrested by the foreign police. The court is a mixed one under the chairmanship of the American representative.

The inspector of the foreign police, Everson, who gave the order to fire, stated in evidence that he had received instructions only to fire in case of necessity, but should shooting take place then he was to shoot to kill.

A British missionary who gave evidence, declared that the shooting was necessary, but the American missionaries Anderson and Klyn, declared that the demonstrators only blocked the streets, offered no resistance and could have been peacefully managed. They statde further that the police fired without occasion and without warning over a hundred shots.

RED INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE CALLS I. W. W. MARINE WORKERS TO AID CHINESE PROLETARIAT

The Red International Affiliation Committee, representing the Red International of Labor Unions in its relations with the Industrial Workers of the World, today issued the following appeal to the Marine Transport Workers' Industrial Union No. 510 of the I. W. W.:

• • • •

Fellow Workers of the Marine Transport Workers:

For thirty days the workers of the entire world have been watching the beginnings of an upheaval of oppressed people against their oppressors second only in importance to the Russian revolution of November, 1917. In China, 443,000,000 people oppressed, exploited and outraged, are commencing an historic war for freedom from foreign imperialism.

The great imperialist powers who ruthlessly crush the workers' organizations whenever possible in England, France, Japan, Italy and America, and whose power to oppress the peoples of the Far East is nursed by the profits wrung from workers in the home countries, are savagely shooting down hundreds of Chinese workers and students in an attempt to maintain their brutal domination in China.

Without China as a victim, the imperialist powers would be lacking a market for export of capital and commodities, a field for intensive exploitation of rich resources and unlimited cheap labor power—an advantage world imperialist capital uses to the full in disemploying and oppressing the working class of the home countries.

Fellow Workers! The Chinese Sailors' Union has appealed for aid in the struggle for liberation of China from the rule of the same capitalists who bitterly exploit you! The Chinese proletarians are striking by millions! An oppressed people is in revolt led by 6,000,000 fighting workers of the Chinese proletariat! Do not fail to stand by to aid the Chinese masses in their hour of agony and trial as they face the combined forces of world capitalism!

Join with the marine workers in a bond of action everywhere to aid the Chinese workers! Form committees of action in every port in the world together with the marine workers of the Amsterdam Transport Workers' Federation and the Red Transport Workers of the Red International! Block every shipment of arms to those who murder and oppress the Chinese enemies! Unite your ranks for action in the world battle against imperialism! Enforce the demand: "Hands Off China!"

RED INTENATIONAL AFFILIATION COMMITTEE.

SHANGHAI, China, June 12 (By Mail)—The Chinese Sailors' Union has issued an appeal declaring:

"Our lives are subjected to the whim of the imperialist bandits. We do not fear to meet our deaths in a voluntary struggle for the freedom of China. We can no longer tolerate the shooting down of Chinese with the bullets of civilized barbarians, and we appeal to the whole people to join in the struggle for freedom."

Russian Workers Are Generously Assisting the Chinese Strikers

MOSCOW, June 15 (By Mail)—Successful collections in aid of the strikers in Shanghai are reported from various towns in the Soviet Union. The All-Russian Trade Union Council which allotted 50,000 gold roubles to the strikers the day before yesterday, has today despatched a similar sum to Shanghai.

Red Aid Sends Cash.

The International Red Aid has sent 30,000 roubles to China and has issued an appeal to the workers and peasants of China in which it promises in the name of its five million members to support the struggle of the Chinese people for a human existence against the united attack of imperialism, with all the means at its disposal.

In the same spirit the women's secretariat of the Communist International sent greetings to the Chinese fighters and called upon the Chinese women to take an active part in the struggle under the leadership of the revolutionary organizations of the Chinese proletariat and the Communist Party.

SOVIET RUSSIA DOES THINGS SO DIFFERENTLY

MOSCOW, June 10.—(By Mail.)—The following characteristic episode is reported from Vladivostok: The assistant captain of a British vessel which was being laden with Soviet goods at Vladivostok, ordered a Chinese porter chained on board the ship because he suspected him of having stolen a pack of cigarettes.

The news caused great indignation among the workers of Vladivostok, and several thousands of workers gathered in the port and demanded that the captain release the Chinese worker. But in vain.

He was finally freed thru the intervention of the Soviet port authorities who made it clear to the captain that such action was intolerable in a Soviet port. The assistant captain will not leave the port but is held and will come up for trial before a Soviet court.

Tell other workers what happens in your shop. Write a story and send it in to the DAILY WORKER. Order a bundle to distribute there.

N. Y. NATION JOINS IMPERIALIST OPPRESSORS OF MOROCCO

By KARL REEVE

ONCE more the New York Nation, in printing an article in the June 24 issue, entitled, "The Moroccan Adventure," by its Paris correspondent, Robert Dell, proves itself the garbage pail into which is thrown the sentimental slobberings of the defenders of world imperialism.

This article is an apology for the invasion of Morocco and a dennciation of the gallant fight of the Riffians for freedom from the exploitation of French imperialism.

Abd-el-Krim, whose native army has inflicted defeat after defeat on the foreign foe, is characterized as "much like a robber baron of the middle ages."

Dell then tries to show that the raping of Morocco by the Painleve government is a very altruistic maneuver.

If the nation editors read the United States government reports sent out by Herbert Hoover's department of commerce, which is keeping an eagle eye on Moroccan proceedings for the benefit of the American bankers—it would not so brazenly print such asinine nonsense.

AN article on Morocco in the June 15 issue of the U. S. commerce reports plainly states why the French bankers are freely spending the blood of the French workers to retain their African colony.

"The importance attached by European powers to the rentention and development of their colonies and protectorates is again illustrated by recent events in Morocco," says this report "France in particular, in recent years, has been depending more and more on its possessions as sources of raw material for its industries."

The French capitalists, Robert Dell notwithstanding, are interested in Morocco because of the lumber and agricultural products, and principally the phosphate mines, which form the basis of much of the profits of the French bankers as this report shows.

After giving numerous statistics to show that the French business men depend upon French Morocco for their raw material, and to an increasing extent for a supply of cheap labor, the report concludes, "All these developments are undoubtedly proving important factors in assisting France to reduce its dependence upon foreign supplies of raw material."

After this exposure by the United States imperialistic government of the reasons for the exploitation of Morocco the claim of the Nation that France has eneterd Morocco for the Moroccans own good, sounds false even to capitalistic ears.

"It might not be easy to define the advantages that France derives from the protectorate over Morocco—it is perhaps an expensive luxury—but there is no doubt at all about its advantages to Morocco," naively states the Nation's correspondent, in the face of well known facts, such as the above, which prove quite the contrary.

THE Nation follows the French socialists in openly lining up with the imperialists who are attempting to plunder the natural resources and the workers of a foreign colonial nation.

"We regret that we have to rob you, and that we are ruling you at the point of the bayonet, against your will. We regret our murder rule, really we are doing it for your own good," is the song sung to the Riffians by the imperialist Painleve government; French socialists and now the Nation, in true La Follette style, readily joining in the chorus.

The Nation regrets that the French Communists have thrown discord into this robber chorus. "The government is anxious to end the the war in Morocco, for which it is not responsible," says Dell.

This is a direct mistatement of the facts. Althou the Nation declares Marshal Lyautey was "kind to the Moors," Lyautey, the military dictator of Morocco, ruled by methods reminiscent of the rule of Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood in the Phillipne Islands on behalf of American imperialism.

The Painleve government carried out to the letter the policy of conquest of the Poincare and Herriot governments Lyautey was given definite permission by the Poincare and Herriot government to attack the Riffians when the time became "ripe." That is, after the Spanish troops had been deefated with the aid of guns supplied Krim by the French, for the purpose of driving the rival European imperialists out of Africa, and thus smashing the Algeciras agreement with Spain and England.

AS is well known, the time became "ripe" for France to attack the Riffians after France had come to an agreement with England that France was to have a free hand in Morocco and in return France was to leave Egypt to Britain. This was only a "paper" agreement, and Britain is not sorry to see France's predicament. But Painleve gave the order to attack (even tho Dell declares Painleve "incapable of such conduct") and the war against the Riff Republic was on.

The French press, and in America, sheets like the Wall Street Journal and the Nation, have kept up a smoke screen of talk about the Riffians "invading the Oouergha Valley." As a matter of fact, the frontier between the Riff Republic and French Morocco has never been definitely fixed, and the Riffian leader time after time has asked France to negotiate with him for the fixing of the frontier.

Even after Gen. de Chambrun launched his attack along the Oouergha, Abd-el-Krim again and again expressed his willingness to negotiate for peace. But Krim refuses to accept a robbers' peace—he will accept an armistice only on the basis of French recognition that the Riffians are henceforth going to rule their own Republic.

As for France's "kindness" to Morocco, it is only necessary to reflect that Gen. de Chambrun has been placed in charge of several thousand troops whose sole purpose is to terrorize the French Moroccan natives who would have deserted the French protectorate and joined the Riffians ere this had it not been for the French bayonets.

Krim's recent success North of Fez, where he captured a dozen French blockhouses, including the Bibane fortifications, and to the west, where his troops surrounded Ouezzan, show that Krim is something more than a "robber baron." Krim is the leader of the movement to drive the foreign imperialists from Africa, just as the Kuo Min Tang party of Sun Yat Sen is leading the drive of the Chinese masses for liberation.

DELL, a follower of MacDonald in England the MacDonald who pursued the imperialistic policy of plunder and murder in the Sudan, declares "The only alternative to resisting Krim by force was the evacuation of Morocco."

But the Painleve government has admitted that the French workers are prepared for this course and Painleve fears the French workers, throwing hundreds of them in jail for advocating the withdrawal of the French from Morocco. Painleve realizes that the French bankers are fighting for the very existence of their colonial possessions in Africa.

The French workers are tired of the slaughter, and led by the Communist Party of France, are making their protest against the rape of Morocco ring round the world. Already Painleve is suppressing meetings against the Moroccan invasion, in a manner that is not exactly "democratic," and has asked that the parliamentary immunity of the Communist deputies Doriot and Marty be revoked, in an attempt to silence their protests in the chamber of deputies.

Even Dell admits, "If the Moroccan campaign goes on much longer, there may be a very serious agitation and a general demand for peace at any price." Even as the words were written, much to the chagrin of the bankers, the socialists and the Nation, the French workers were rising up and demanding that the "principle of self determination" be applied to Morocco.

Dell, of course, is insignificant as an individual. But Dell, the British I. L. P. socialist, is expressing the historic role of the Second (Socialist) International. Dell is using his pen for the imperialistic bankers, under the guise of sentimental "democratic" terms.

Just as during the world war, the socialists betrayed the workers, so today, the socialists are betraying the workers.

THE French socialists have voted the credits with which Painleve is to carry on the imperialistic war, they have allowed the French workers to be thrown against the Riffians in Morocco to be slaughtered. They have shamelessly given up every principle for which they once stood and have once more demonstrated their allegiance to the bourgeois camp.

"Public nervosity has been increased by the absence of any information about the French casualties—due, I understand, to the refusal of Marshal Lyautey to give such information," says Dell.

And the French socialists, realizing that Lyuatey gets his orders from Painleve, and that Painleve receives his orders from the French bankers, are doing their utmost to appease this "nervosity", by mouthing pacifist phrases while they fall in with Painleve's imperialistic course.

The Moroccan invasion once more demonstrates that the Communists are the only group which leads the fight of the workers against imperialism and that the socialists are imperialists, thinly disguised.

CONN. TEXTILE STRIKERS GAIN PART VICTORY

Hold Ranks Solid; Co. Signs Agreement

by Meekan, the manager. First, all of the strikers were to be taken back without discrimination. Second, the company and a committee of the men were to draw up a method of settling disputes. Third, girls were to get the same pay as the men. Fourth. No worker was to be compelled to work two of the 4 wide looms, without his consent.

The Terms.

An advance was made, when the girls were promised the same pay as men. How to handle disputes has not been settled. Before this, when the representative of the men went to the foreman, he was often told that these matters were beyond the power of the representative. Now, at least, in theory, the company concedes to the workers the right to take up with the responsible manager any disputed points. And its specifies that it will meet with a committees of the men to decide how disputes shall be adjusted. If they fail to agree, the matter hangs in the air. What should have been settled by the past—strike—may have to be settled by another.

The wage increase of 10 per cent, was dropped. Many men felt that the strike should have been continued, until the wage increase was granted, but there was no unanimity on this point.

Not Compelled to Work on 2 Looms.

Last and most important is the 2 loom system on the 4 wide loom. The strike was called primarily to abolish this evil, of the two loom system. No such prohibition appears in the agreement signed by the company, an original copy of which was seen by the writer. The agreement merely states that no worker may be compelled to work 2 looms of the 4 wide.

This is a victory for the strikers as individuals. But the company will try to divide the workers, by offering bonuses for such work; it can bring in outside men. Again, the company can ask weavers to run 2 of the 7 wide looms, and thus get increased profits for the company. The committeemen interviewed by the writer Sunday at their picnic (which was a huge success) believe that they can hold the ranks of the men solid, and defeat any attempt by the management to continue the 2 loom system on the 4 wides.

Splendid Fight.

It was the spirit of solidarity displayed by the men that accounts for the company coming to some agreement. Last January, the company made a verbal agreement and violated it. This time, the management was compelled to put it down in writing. Last time, only the weavers were out. This time, the entire weaving department. A forward move.

One would have liked to see the strikers get all of their demands. But they were recruits, many entirely new to industrial struggle. The committee realizes that they did not get all they wanted, that there are loopholes which the company will try to use; and they are therefore urging the men to stick to their Weavers' club and Loomfixers' Club. The strike has doubled the number of dues paying members in the weavers' club. Their present struggle will mean greater confidence of the strikers in themselves, and greater endurance in longer struggles.

Prepare Now.

There is no doubt that the company will try to get around the agreement and nullify it. The workers will be on the watch. It is of the greatest importance that closer relations be established between loomfixers and weavers; the two clubs must be combined. Had they belonged to one organization, the 2 loom system would have been abolished, without any doubt. It is not too late. It must be done, and done quickly. And the other workers in the plant must be drawn into the organizations.

The fight is not over. It has just begun. The company, like all capitalist firms, will watch for the moment to lower wages, worsen conditions in the shop, lengthen hours, etc. It will, at the first opportunity, reduce the workers' committee to nothing. It will seek to regain the full right to handle all questions, without interference from any workers' committee. The foreman may again become the boss.

Must Unite.

We must be ready. We must unite. We must unite the workers in Blumenthal's. We must get together with the workers in the other textile centers. We cannot stand alone. We must have one organization of all the workers in the textile industry. This will give the textile workers power. Power to challenge the bosses' control over industry—to introduce workers' control of industry. To have the industries owned and operated by a workers government. This the textile workers must prepare for. And as a first step, committees of workers from each department.

Report of the Agitprop Department of the Executive Committee of the Communist International.

I.

FROM the journalist's point of view, the Reichenberg Vorwarts is the best conducted paper run by the Czechish Communist Party. Its style of diction is full of life, it strives to raise the level of its readers in international questions, and shows a decided tendency to rid itself of the provincialism which is one of the unhappiest legacies bequeathed by a social democratic past to the party press of the Czechish Communist Party. But the Vorwarts is too much under the influence of the labor movement in the German reich. Without doubt it is its duty to act as connecting link between the revolutionary German workers of Czecho-Slovakia and those of Germany, but this should not by any means be done at the expense of the actual and urgent problems of Czech politics. The Vorwarts gives the impression of inability to follow the Czechish Party press or the press printed in the Czechish language. It reacts slowly and cumbersomely to the politics of the Czechish government. There is a lack of immediate actual contact with the struggles and peculiar characteristics of the non-German workers of Czecho-Slovakia.

II.

The Political Line of the Paper.

WHILST the Vorwarts maintains one continuous line in questions of international politics, this cannot be said of it with regard to Czechish politics. Before all there is lacking a persistent carrying thru of the general campaign of the party (this is a characteristic of the whole Czechish party press). For instance, the Vorwarts publishes the decisions arrived at by the congress on the question of unity, and presents them in a form excellent for purposes of agitation. But instead of continuing the campaign thus commenced, not merely in the form of articles, but with the additional aid of headlines, short notes, etc., the Vorwarts permits the unity campaign to disappear from its columns for days and weeks, and it only reapears when some external cause brings it to the surface again. There is a lack of concrete application of international decisions to Czechish conditions. There is an almost entire lack of agitation for the unity of all Czechish trade union centrals. The slogan of unity is not carried into the actual struggle, for instance in the recent wage struggle in the Mahrisch Ostrau district. The result of this is that the agitation made by the Vorwarts for the unity of the trade unions is stereotyped and abstract in character.

In this connection it may be pointed out that much too little significance was attached to the attitude of the English delegates in Moscow. Precisely in Czecho-Slovakia much should have been made of the fact that Purcell is not only an English trade union leader, but at the same time chairman of the Amsterdam Trade Union International.

The attitude adopted by the Vorwarts to the factory council movement shows similar faults. The lengthy decisions of the national executive committee have not been sufficiently popularized in the Vorwarts. It is entirely inadequate merely to reprint the resolutions and theses in one or two leading articles. The decisions should be impressed again and again upon the memories of the workers by popular articles on each separate demand, by leading headlines, blocked notices, etc. Such methods of popularism are an indispensable prerequisite for the inauguration of so young a movement as the Czechish factory council movement. But the Vorwarts omits them entirely.

The Vorwarts devotes too little attention to the politics pursued by the German social democrats in Czecho-Slovakia. Polemics against social democracy confined to brief notes or to the local column. This is a fault. The Vorwarts should carry on a systematic campaign against social democracy, especially against its central organ, the Prague Sozialdemokrat.

The Vorwarts omits to carry on an energetic and emphatic campaign for the recognition of Soviet Russia by the Czechish government. The recognition of the U. S. S. R. by France should have been used for an energetic campaign.

The second party conference of the Czechish Communist Party was not sufficiently dealt with by the Vorwarts. General articles are absoluetly inadequate. And the same must be said of general appeals to work, etc. Above all, the slogan of "Bolshevization" and the party decisions on the national question are not sufficiently popularized and explained. Precisely at the present juncture the Vorwarts should deal energetically and continuously with the ideological and organisatory aspects of the slogan: "Bolshevization of the Czechish Communist Party." The phrase: "We are no longer concerned with speaking of Bolshevization, but with its execution", is wrong. On the contrary. Our Czechish party press must speak and agitate a very great deal more with respect to Bolshevization in order to be understood by the masses. The same applies to the national question. Brief notices and popular paragraphs must draw the attention of the German workers constantly to the new character of the decisions on the national question. Every national movement among other nationalities must be placed in the foreground of agitation. The political change in the line pursued by the party since the Second Party Conference must be demonstrated by the Vorwarts thru the medium of its application by the new party leadership.

III.

The Vorwarts and the Organization Life of the Party.

THE organization life of the party is insufficiently expressed in the Vorwarts. It is frequently relegated to the local reports, and drags on a wretched existence amidst the municipal and other local affairs. There is an entire lack of a concrete reflection of the organizatory events in the party, which should be dealt with in the political column. The supplement for the factories and works is a praiseworthy initiative, but it published too many general articles instead of reports sent directly from the workshops and factories by worker correspondents. The organization of a network of worker correspondents is among the first tasks of the Vorwarts.

IV.

Technical Questions.

WE have the impression that the adoption of the new political line has not been carried out with sufficient care. It frequently occurs that the Vorwarts publishes important and urgent notices on the last page of the paper, under "wires." And it occurs even more frequently that the first page of the Vorwarts is filled with lengthy articles of much less urgency, so that the so important first page is lost as far as agitation is concerned. This is one of the main technical faults of the Vorwarts. Too little attention is given to the first page of the paper. The reverse should be the case. The first page is the most important of the paper. The most important news must be concentrated here as far as possible. The first page must be utilized for agitation. Long articles, filling the whole page, should not be printed as continuous letterpress, but must be made effective for agitation. (Interruptions by means of headlines, etc.) It is incomprehensible to us why the Vorwarts almost invariably prints the political section in bourgeois or long primer type. The use of smaller types would impart a much more striking appearance to the paper. A further mistake is the provincialist divisions into home, abroad, etc. It is a matter of experience that a division of matter according to subject is much more effective than a geographical division.

In our opinion the local section of the paper should be completely reformed. The reports on the proceedings in the local councils, etc. are accorded too much space. They should be substituted by reports on events affecting the workers more directly. The local section should accord the greatest possible space to letters from worker correspondents.

TEXTILE UNION CONVENTION IN FORWARD MOVES

A. F. of T. O. Endorses Labor Defense

After outlining the purpose of the conference the convention unanimously passed the following motion:

> "That this convention endorse the move of the Labor Defense Council to create a general labor defense organization, and instructs the incoming executive to co-operate with such organization when formed."

Speed Up Efficiency.

The business agent of the Weavers' Local, New Bedford, gave a review of the situation confronting the textile workers by the introduction of the multiple loom system, and speed-up systems introduced by efficiency experts. The industry is undergoing a second revolution as great as that caused by the introduction of machinery thru increasing the number of machines per worker.

The efficiency expert has taken the place of the boss and overseer, and the workers are being carefully timed in every motion to see in what motions he can be speeded up.

While thousands of workers are unemployed mills are being worked 24 hours a day in two shifts in some places. As soon as orders are finished the mills are shut down and the workers join their fellows in the streets.

Besides the savage wage cuts put into effect during the past two years the manufacturers are now engaged in increasing the exploitation by means of machinery and speedup systems.

Unemployment Balances Speed Up.

From every textile center in New England delegates told of this process being carried on. They painted word pictures of unemployment on one hand and savage exploitation on the other. This process was pointed out as the great problem confronting the textile workers.

The convention decided that the resolutions committee be instructed to bring in a resolution on this matter embodying the sentiments expressed by the delegates.

Inducstry Largely Unorganized.

The report of the organization committee brot to the front the unorganized state of the industry. Great textile centers with thousands of workers are practically unorganised. It was decided that the incoming executive should lay plans for organising the unorganized.

John P. O'Connell, secretary of the union sent in his resignation which was accepted. The convention elected W. E. G. Batty, secretary of the New Bedford Loomfixers' Local as acting secretary until elections on the last day of the convention.

The Workers Party in Action

WORKERS' SCHOOL GIVES COURSES IN LENINISM

Two Weeks, Full Time Class for N. Y. Reds

(Special to The Daily Worker.)

NEW YORK, July 1. — The spring term of the Workers' School has come to a close and a program is now being prepared for intensive educational work for the summer, to begin in August.

In addition to this, several other courses have been arranged in Public Speaking Workers' Correspondence, and Advanced English.

Workers' Correspondence Course

The course in Workers' Correspondence held its first session on Saturday, June 20th, with thirty present. This aims to train workers to write up news of their shop and trade, to help them give voice to their thoughts and feelings on their daily life and problems for the Communist press. The text used is "The revolutionary role of Worker Correspondents," by William F. Dunne. The class is under the direction of Oliver Carlson. It will meet hereafter on Tuesday evenings, 8 p. m., at the school headquarters, 108 East 14th Street.

The course in Public Speaking is given in close cooperation with the local party organization, and has as its definite purpose to prepare comrades for active participation in the municipal election campaign of New York City. The first session of the class, which will be conducted by William Weinstone, will be held Saturday afternoon, July 11, 3 p. m., at the school headquarters.

The course in Advanced English is a special summer English course on American problems for advanced students, which aims to strengthen their powers of composition, make their style more flexible, enlarge their vocabulary, and eradicate defects in grammar and rhetoric. Each student will be assigned one topic for investigation and composition. He will read his work to the entire class, after which criticisms will be given by the class as to content and form.

Among the problems to be considered by the class are: (1) Basis for growth of the Communist movement in America; (2) The Workers Party as compared with the socialist party; (3) Relationship between foreign-born and native workers, etc. Only comrades are eligible to join this class who possess a fair knowledge of English grammar, who can read English prose fluently, and who are considered satisfactory to the instructor. The class will meet once a week for two hours beginning Monday, July 6th, and continuing for eight sessions.

Registration for these courses is still open. Comrades are urged not to delay but to enroll at once at the office of the Workers' School, room 34, 108 East 14th Street.

Doomed Man Attempts Suicide

Warden Wesley Westbrook ordered an armed guard stationed around the county jail hospital cot of Walter Krauser, who during the night attempted to commit suicide by building a funeral pyre of his mattress and setting it on fire in five places. Walter Krauser has been sentenced to hang.

Frisco Party Notes

At the city central committee meeting in Oakland, Calif., June 26, steps were taken to hold a mass Chinese anti-imperialist meeting in a hall in the Chinese section of Oakland, at an early date. It will be similar to the very successful meeting June 21, in San Francisco where the Chinese and Japanese turned out in large numbers. Two hundred letters will be sent to students and others. Watch for further announcement.

The city central committee of San Francisco, Calif., will be called in special meeting early the coming week to prepare for the fall campaign when city and county officials are to be elected. The matter of starting street meetings immediately will be taken up. Street meetings are also under consideration for Oakland. 1,000 leaflets "Fight American Imperialism and War" have been ordered for Oakland and Berkeley.

Saturday evening dances and entertainments and Sunday night propaganda meetings will be held during July at 225 Valencia, San Francisco, beginning July 11. The programs are being arranged.

The drive for "subs" for the DAILY WORKER and other Workers Party publications will continue unabated. The names in San Francisco have been arranged in routes for canvassing. A letter is being sent to each asking them call. In the meantime the canvassing is progressing to make sure that all are reached with our message. Comrade A. Segal is in charge of this work. Active canvassing is also progressing in the East Bay district and in the outside districts. Several Comrades are giving much of their time to this.

Good Time for All at T. U. E. L. Picnic at Akron, O., July 4

AKRON, Ohio July 1.—The International picnic given by the T. U. E. L. at Schocalog Lake Park on Saturday, July 4th promises to be the best outing ever held in Akron. An excellent program of entertainment for adults and children will keep everyone happy thruout the day. There will be prominent speakers, dancing, all kinds of amusements and refreshments.

To get to the park take W. Exchange car to the end of the line where you take the South Maple N. O. T. Bus to the end of the line, where our Special Bus will take you to the picnic ground.

NEW YORK, July 1. — At its last regular meeting the South Slavic branch of the Workers Party, District No. 2, unanimously resolved to congratulate Comrade Gitlow for his determined stand for the exploited masses and pledges itself to work untiringly for Comrade Gitlow's freedom so that he may continue his splendid work of building up the Workers Party of America into a genuine mass Communist Party.

NEW YORK PARTY MEMBERS MUST HELP FIGHT IMPERIALISM

NEW YORK.—All members not employed this week must come to the district office at the hours of 11 and again at 4 p. m. to distribute anti-imperialist leaflets at very important places. Comrades come to this office and help in this important work.

Also be ready to respond to the call of the section organizers for the distribution of this anti-imperialist leaflet. The sections have made their plans for the distribution of the leaflet and all comrades must follow these plans. Your section organizer will notify you thru your branch where to get the leaflets.

District Organizer,
Charles Krumbein.

Young Workers Begin League Educational Courses at Brule

BRULE, Wis., July 1.—A program held Sunday, opened the Young Workers League Educational courses here. The program was given by the Superior members of the Y. W. L.

Mondya morning everyone ate a hearty breakfast. After breakfast the students met in the large hall, where tables and seats, etc. had been arranged. A Y. W. L. branch was formed, the various officers, and committees were elected. Committees w[illegible]d for everything: Firewood, [illegible]r, cleanup, work, yard, and K[illegible], and the committees got to working efficiently.

The 40 minute periods for each subject make them more interesting, and lessen the restlessness of the class. Between each period, there is a 10-minute recess, which gives one "that peppy feeling." The recess is the time for ball playing, and other games.

Armenian Workers of Chicago Invite You to Their Picnic and Feast

Would you like to spend a day out in the open air with comrades? Would you like to partake of feast of a nice juicy barbecued ox with all the trimmings?

The picnic of the Armenian section of the Workers Party on Sunday, July 5th at Reese Park, 6400 West Grand Ave. offers this treat to you. They invite every worker in Chicago and vicinity to come and partake of this feast while listening to speeches by prominent speakers and enjoying a good musical concert. There is no charge for admission.

If you know what's good for you, you won't miss this picnic!

Your neighbor would like to read this issue of the DAILY WORKER. Be neighborly—give it to him!

RESTAURANT WORKER GETS FIFTEEN CENTS AN HOUR, GARBAGE FOR MEAL, FIRED FOR NOT WORKING OVERTIME

By E. HAWTHORNE WINNER

PHILADELPHIA, July 1.—About a week ago, while on a search for a job I answered a newspaper "ad" for a "young man to work in a cafeteria." From about ten others one other fellow and myself were chosen. After a long and drawn out interview with the assistant manager we were both told to report again the next morning at 9 o'clock and he would then decide which one he wished to employ.

At 9 o'clock promptly we were there, entering the building at the same time. We then waited for about half an hour or more until said assistant manager took it into his head to see us. He first called the other man in and talked with him. Finally in about fifteen or twenty minutes more he informed me that the other fellow was hired and I was not needed that day.

The next morning, I received a letter from said creature informing me that he desired to see me once more. I went down and he remarked that there was now a vacancy "on the floor." The hours were to be 9 to 2:30 and 5 to 8 one day and 9 to 7 the next alternating daily. The "salary" was $50.00 monthly and meals were to be furnished.

That afternoon I started work. I spent the time until 4:30 cleaning off the tops of the tables. It is an expensive cafetaria and they must keep things clean to please the customers. However, they don't want to pay for this work but thrust it on the underpaid bussmen.

With anticipation of a fine meal, I started toward the dining room at 4:30. First of all, I was led by the head bussman to the cellar and found there a small, poorly ventilated room, the "help's" dining room. "Mess hall" would certainly be a more fitting term. They ship down to that room all the stale "left overs" from the other parts of the building (there are about three cafeterias and a restaurant under the same roof and management). On the menu was a batch of stale cream puffs. On Friday, they had no meal all day, but only a lot of cheap and foul tasting fish. In addition was some spaghetti which had evidently been incorrectly cooked. The milk which they served was about 60-40 in favor of the water can. I did not taste the coffee. The odor was enough.

Gives Out Daily Work.

While there I distributed many copies of the DAILY WORKER and found several who were interested in the paper. Some, of course, raised cries of Bolshevism. I also raised the question of a union. This is certainly a place which needs organization.

Friday night was my night to be off at 8, and at 8 promptly I went. The next morning, on my arrival, the assistant manager "honored" me with an interview. He desired to know the reason why I departed at 8. I politely informed him that according to his statement when I came, my hour was 8. He replied, "Yes, but—" and then went on to explain that the work was not finished. After remarking that the latter fact was a matter of supreme indifference to me since I had fulfilled by obligation at the hour specified, he told me that the company must dispense with my services.

So far as the hours are concerned, I also found that one must be in at 8:30 to eat breakfast and on afternoons off must be back at 4:30 to get any dinner. Instead of 9 on every other night, as I was told, one is expected to work putting chairs up on tables until at least 8:30. This makes a total of 11½ hours on long days and 10 hours on short days, or 64½ hours per week. At the rate of $50.00 per month wages, this amounts to an hourly wage of about 15 cents. This is not counting time going to and from work. Does such an industry, and such a vital one too, need organization?

Discuss Big Business' Control of Schools

By CARL HAESSLER,
(By Federated Press.)

Defense of teachers against autocratic superintendents and school boards is one of the major problems before the 9th annual convention, American Federation of Teachers, which opened for a 4-day session in Chicago. This national organization of classroom wage earners, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, reported 3,700 members in 1924, compared with 2,700 in 1916 when it was organized. The low mark came in 1918 when 1,000 members were in good standing and the peak in 1920 and 1921 with 9,300. The teachers have suffered in common with other unions from the openshop movement and have been particularly exposed to the big-business drive to control the schools for capitalism.

Strongholds of the union are New York, Washington, Atlanta, Memphis, Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Portland, San Francisco and Sacramento. The entire faculty of Brookwood Labor College at Katonah, N. Y., is organized.

Defense of children's minds against the one-sided anti-evolution propaganda, which has come to a crisis in the legal battle in Tennessee is a leading task before the convention. The federation secretary, F. G. Stecker, has committed the organization to the support of John T. Scopes, the Tennessee biology instructor who has been arrested for informing his students of the theory of evolution, contrary to state law. Memphis union teachers, the nearest federation local, have taken no action so far on the case.

In contrast to the routine education demanded by superintendents under the influence of the big corporations, the teachers now in convention are paying much attention to what is known as the creative activity school, in which children are taught a subject as their interest in it kindles or as they find it important for their other purposes. The child's impulse to work and create is used to train his faculties.

For Teacher Councils.

Incidents in the teachers' fight against the boss in education are reflected in the strong sentiment for teacher councils in which executives like principlas and superintendents shall have no voice in the criticism of the rating system which puts the teacher at the mercy of his superior and in the insistence on freedom of teaching in the social as well as natural sciences. Allied with this is the criticism of the growing tendency in some sections of the country to insinuate religious teaching into school time.

Worker education is scheduled for special discussion.

Legislature Ends Session

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 1.—The Illinois legislature's present session comes to an end today.

GERMANY'S TRADE UNION LEADERS IGNORE DEMAND OF WORKERS FOR AMNESTY TO CLASS WAR PRISONERS

BERLIN, Germany—For many months the demand for amnesty has been raised by the broad masses in Germany. The terrible class sentences against workers for the smallest causes, the intentionally long imprisonments before the trial, the unheard of methods of investigation, the provocations of the spy system have made an amnesty for broad circles of the population a necessity. Added to this there is the openly mild justice against the right who are hardly punished and soon released from prison.

The amnesty for Jagow, pariticipant in the Kapp Putsch, by President Ebert led to a new wave of demands for amnesty so that the government felt compelled to amnesty also three pariticipants in the Bavarian Soviet Republic, but these only on probation. Since that time the motions for amnesty lie peacefully in the archives of the parliaments.

Hold Mass Demonstrations.

The mass storm has not yet been able to enforce amnesty. In almost all towns mass meetings have taken place which were followed by street demonstrations. Also in the shops, trade unions and other labor organizations amnesty was demanded. The list of the trade unions and shops in Germany which have adopted resolutions for amnesty, and sent them to the respective authorities, is very long.

The fact, that all this has not yet been successful, is due to the lack of determination of the leading bodies of the trade unions. They consoled us with the necessity of an amnesty after the election of the new president. Then it was said that Whitsuntide was a welcome opportunity for an amnesty. Now it is said that negotiations on the extension of the amnesty are still going on. This means that the amnesty for the workers is postponed till the energy of the working class in its campaign is weakened. Besides it is left to Hindenburg and his clique whether they will amnesty the revolutionary class fighters or not.

Struggle of All Workers.

The workers must not leave the liberation of their fellow-workers in the hands of the right parties standing behind Hindenburg. If they do, not a single revolutionary will be released from the prisons of the German republic. The struggle for amnesty can not be waged by the Communist Party alone. The political prisoners are the victims of their struggle for the whole working class.

It is therefore the task of the whole working class to fight for their liberation. This has been stated by the last congress of the German Trade Unions which adopted a resolution for the class war prisoners from whcih we quote the following:

"The congress demands the immediate release of all prisoners of the working class and an extensive amnesty for all political crimes and those connected with it. It appeals to the national committee and to all trade unions to use all means in order to fight for the freedom of the political prisoners and the persecuted fellow-workers."

Union Officials Unconcerned.

The national committee of the German trade unions has thus been instructed to use all means in order to release prisoners of the working class. But as yet it has taken no steps whatsoever in this direction. To it the fate of the imprisoned workers and trade union members is not important. But it has the duty to carry out the congress decision! The members who feel a natural solidarity with the political prisoners, must point to this decision in the elections for the 12th Trade Union Congress in order to force the German Trade Union Federation to work for an extensive amnesty.

Must Carry on Campaign.

Who does not want to leave the fate of the political prisoners in the hands of the right parties and Hindenburg, must carry on a campaign for amnesty in shop and trade union.

Who does not want to permit the government of Luther the comedy of an alleged amnesty, must force the Trade Union Federation to use the power of the trade unions with millions of members for a general amnesty!

All force for the amnesty!

WORKERS OF SOVIET UNION RUN PALACES TAKEN FROM "NOBILITY"

By LAURA BRANNIN

LENINGRAD—(By Mail.)—Have you ever visited one of our big museums or any place of national interest in the wake of a professional guide whose business it was to recite to your long suffering ears a detailed account of the virtues and abilities of our great men—the founders of our democratic country, the beneficence of our wealthy men and the heroism of our military leaders! In England it is the details of the lives of tyrannical kings, of their idle wives and parasitical retinue which are recited with an air of reverence by a guide who differs from nobility itself in his financial status, not mental make-up.

Now for a study in contrasts. You are in Leningrad, visiting the far famed Winter Palace. A woman guide in no brass buttons, no servility in her manner, albeit with several languages at her command, takes you thru the quarters of the one time czars of Russia. You note the beautiful wood carving in the library of Nicholas II. The books handsomely bound but contents valueless, dealing almost entirely with details of military strategy.

Quite a few are in French and devoted to Napoleon, a great hero of the late Czar. When askee why he spent so much time studying the life of Napoleon, Nicholas answered: "Because I believe we are so similar in ability." The guide laughs and you feel with her the foolish egotism of this weakling, Nicholas II.

Here are the numerous ikons of the Empress. She was a German and of protestant faith, but a neuresthenic, poor thing: she was terribly afraid of revolutions and sought relief thru religion.

And then you visit the apartments of Alexander II who was assassinated in 1881. You examine some handsome embroideries done by the daughters of nobility and presented to Alexander. One reads: "God is your protector." The guide shrugs her shoulders and her face suggests doubt.

She calls your attention to a handsomely carved bottle containing holy water presented by some pious monks and guaranteed to absolutely save the Czar from revolutionaries. "But," says the guide, and there is real sarcasm in her voice: "Alexander was killed by a bomb!"

When the party reaches one of the gorgeous ball rooms, she tells the story which is one of the most beautiful of the early days of the revolution. When the workers broke into the palace, they slashed to pieces a painting of Nicholas and of the Empress; you now see only the frame. Another of a general and of the Virgin Mary were cut in several places but they still hang on the walls.

When they reached this ball room, they were overawed by the beauty of the crystal and gold chandeliers, the lovely mirrors, the striking columns, mantelpieces and huge vases of malachite; they recognized this beauty as labor performed by unknown comrades and they instantly agreed among themselves that all of it must be preserved for all the workers of Russia. So they placed guards over these rooms, and today these new owners of the Winter Palace throng thru the place and listen to a new analysis of the stuff kings and queens are really made of.

Employment, according to the U. S. department of labor from April 1925 to May was still going down, the decrease amounting to sligthly less than 1 per cent.

The department's figures show that unemployment is serious. The number employed in industry in May was 11 per cent below May, 1923, and nearly 23 per cent below May, 1920. It was about 16 per cent below May, 1919, the last census year.

Show Gain Over Last Year.

The textile and automobile industries show a gain over May, 1924. Some of the larger gains over last year were cotton mills 6.8 per cent, hosiery and knit goods 6 per cent, silk mills 12.9 per cent, automobile 14.3 per cent, agricultural implements 16.2 per cent and auto tires 24.3 per cent.

Changes compared with 1924 in number and total payrolls in the 12 groups of industries were:

Change from May, 1924	Employment Per cent	Payroll Per cent
Food industries	—5.4	—4.5
Textiles	+5.2	+8.7
Iron, steel	—0.4	+1.2
Lumber products	—2.4	—2.3
Leather products	+1.0	+4.2
Paper, printing	—0.4	+1.2
Chemicals, oils	—1.9	+0.5
Stone, clay, glass	—1.8	—1.6
Metal products	+1.7	+3.3
Autos, cars, wagons	+7.4	+13.7
Miscellaneous	+5.0	+5.5

Percapita wages showed a gain compared with May, 1924. The monthly average earned in identical establishments employing over 2,500,000 workers was $26.17 in May, 1924, and $26.83 in May, 1925. Concerns employing about 40 per cent of the country's factory workers distributed $3,153,000 more a week in wages than a year ago.

Big increases in percapita earnings compared with May, 1924, were tobacco 6 per cent, structural iron 5.3 per cent, baking 4.6 per cent, hosiery and knit goods 7.2 per cent, silk 6 per cent, carpets and rugs 5.5 per cent, finishing textiles 5.2 per cent, cotton mills 3.9 per cent and automobiles 7.8 per cent. These increases are due to better working time rather than to changes in wage rates.

Industry in May was operating 92 per cent of full-time with 82 per cent of a normal working force, or just over 75 per cent of full-time capacity. Last May it was 90 per cent of full-time with 77 per cent of full force or just under 70 per cent capacity.

Bankers are beginning to interpret these figures as showing that normal activity means only fair business. They call it satisfactory that industry is stabilized at about three-quarters of capacity. This is the view of investors but hardly of the several million workers who face chronic unemployment or at best part-time work.

SOVIETS BUY 36 MILLION DOLLAR COTTON CARGOES

WASHINGTON, July 1—Of the American cotton crop of 1924, the All-Russian Textile Syndicate purchased 243,698 bales, valued at $36,340,000 when delivered at Murmansk, the port on the Arctic Ocean to which 20 chartered ships have carried the bulk of it, and to which five more vessels will sail in July with the remainder. During the previous season the syndicate purchased 189,145 bales, valued at $31,457,000.

Eleven of the ships this season were loaded at New Orleans, nine at Houston and five at Galveston. Purchasing is done in the cotton belt, thru a main office in New York and a branch in New Orleans. Credit is handled by the National City Bank and the Equitable Trust Co.

The syndicate is a New York corporation with $1,000,000 paid-in capital, which buys raw material for the combination of all textile mills in the Soviet Union. One of its directors resigned during the past year to accept appointment to the federal bench in New York City.

Workers' Relief Body Gathers Funds to Aid the Chinese Strikers

MOSCOW, June 12 (By Mail).—The appeal of the Workers' International Relief in China has made a great impression. Numerous organizations have sent letters of thanks to the W. I. R. and stressed the necessity for urgent aid to the strikers.

The professors of the national university of Peking have addressed a telegram to the W. I. R. in which they declare that the appeal of the W. I. R. has encouraged the Chinese people in its hard and unequal struggle in which its only weapon is the boycott and the strike.

The further development of the struggle depends upon the fraternal support of the strikers by the hand and brain workers of all countries.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 1.—Judge J. T. Ronald on Wednesday last handed down a decision permanently enjoining the I. W. W., and the Equity Printing company, publisher of the Industrial Worker from picketing the business of "Our House" and also the Lyric theater, or from holding meetings at which these business houses are discussed, or from circulating any printed matter attacking "Our House."

These two business houses, particularly "Our House" had been, so it is claimed, fair to the regular unions, but had been boycotted by the I. W. W. because alleged assistance given to the special prosecution fund to convict the eight lumber worker members of the I. W. W. who defended their hall at Centralia, Washington from an American Legion lynch mob on November 11th, 1919.

USE OF POISON GAS HANDY TO QUELL WORKERS

Major Points Out It Routs and Burns Foe

LOS ANGELES, July 1.—An astonishing statement, one that bears out the predictions of the Communists, was made by Major General Amos A. Fries, head of the Chemical Warfare Department of the U. S. army, at a luncheon of the chamber of commerce of Los Angeles, a few days ago.

The general took great pains to show that poison gas is the "most economical and efficient weapon for defense." The older weapons of war, rifles, cannons, etc., seek to disable or kill the enemy by smashing his limbs with bullets and steel, while poison gas and chemicals seek "merely" to cause corrosion (rotting), burning and irritation. On this ground the general claims that the casualties from gas and chemicals during the late world war were far below those caused by ordinary weapons.

Further, he explains that chemicals are widely used in industry. Who does not remember the use of poison gas and bombs in industrial disputes, especially the famous miners' struggle in West Virginia of a few years ago? These brutal and inhumane weapons are not merely used inside the factories, but against those who work in the factories, the wage workers.

The climax of the militarists' argument is reached when he declared that "we should go slow in agreeing not to use this weapon, aside from attacks on cities with women and children, to repel the invasion of an armed foe."

Where Neutrality Aids the Enemy

"John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, would not discuss the development beyond hoping that the federation, which has always maintained very cordial relations with the Amalgamated, would not become involved." This is a quotation from a news story sent out by the Federated Press on the strike of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers against the International Tailoring company and the J. L. Taylor company.

It had reference to the action of the United Garment Workers' Union in recruiting scabs to break the Amalgamated strike. The Amalgamated is not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. The United Garment Workers' Union is, tho it is a paper organisation and worse than that, a scab agency.

This kind of benevolent neutrality will not do the striking garment workers any good. Mr. Fitzpatrick might park his "cordial relations" in the collar and give the Amalgamated practical proof of his cordiality. In a struggle between the workers and the capitalists the "neutral" worker is giving aid to the employers. The fact that a strikebreaking outfit posing as a union in involved, does not alter the case.

How the capitalists of Chicago and of the whole country must laugh at the trade union movement that allows those sailing under its canvas to scab on another section of that movement! What would they think of a clothing firm that gave aid to the Amalgamated against the International Tailoring company? Their banks would put that firm out of business within twenty-four hours. What would they think of the Yellow Cab company if that scab firm refused to supply taxis to haul the strikebreakers recruited by the United Garment Workers to and from the scab shops? They would not only think, they would act. This is what the trade union movement of Chicago must do.

The Amalgamated Clothing Workers will win this strike. Nobody who had the pleasure of seeing them on the picket line and in their meetings could have any doubt about the result. But there is something more than the winning of one strike involved. Hasn't the trade union movement any pride? Can the members of the American Federation of Labor in Chicago become silent partners in the scabbery of the United Garment Workers thru their silence? This issue should be a burning one on the floor of every A. F. of L. union in Chicago and at the Chicago Federation of Labor next Sunday.

In 1917, and until the end of the war, any American worker who expressed the opinion that anything approaching decency could come out of Germany would find himself in danger of getting tarred and feathered or run into jail. The Germans were "Huns" and nothing else. Not only would the patriotic morons known as 100 per cent Americans defeat the Germany army, but they would never again buy anything bearing the trademark of the "Hun." They would burn everything German except her coal.

This is 1925 and this is J. G. Schurman, United States ambassador to Berlin, speaking. And this is what he says in part: "While it is the policy of the United States not to participate in European problems, and it would not be proper for me to express my opinion on the merits of policies now under consideration, I hail as a happy omen for the world's peace the fact that Germany has proposed a fresh application of the principles of good will and mutual confidence." The ambassador was referring to the security pact between the west European powers, which is nothing more or less than a frameup against the Soviet Union.

In 1917, the German race had to be destroyed, because they were incapable of keeping agreements. And it cost the fathers and mothers of the United States 100,000 of their sons to make the ruling class of Germany safe for American capitalism. It cost many hundred thousands in wounded.

In 1925, this same Germany is proposing "a fresh application of the principles of good will and mutual confidence." Our diplomatic ambassador does not wish to interfere in the domestic affairs of Germany but a wink is as good as a nod to a blind horse. Wall Street has Germany by the financial neck and Ambassador Schurman is not the least bit worried that his remarks will be resented. The dignity of the bourgeoisie is located in their bank accounts.

"Good Trade Unionists"

Sir William Joynson Hicks, home secretary in the British tory government, recently appealed to British trade unionists to "resist the intrigues of the Communists in their unions." Such an appeal coming from a flunkey of the United States government would be cordially received by the crowling lackeys of capitalism who dominate the American Federation of Labor. But in England Sir William's appeal was given a fitting answer by John Bromley, M. P., general secretary of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen. Here is part of what Bromley said as reported in the London Daily Herald:

"Who made the rebels in the trade union ranks? asked Mr. Bromley. The rebels were a broken-hearted people, broken-hearted in fighting against the present system, which was crushing them, their wives, and families down to the degradation suffered by the working class of this country. They did have Communists in the trade unions, and they could hardly elect a delegation upon which one or two were not elected, not because they were Communists, but because they were good trade unionists.

"They criticized him (Mr. Bromley) and other leaders, but I know on which side they will be when there is a battle, he added. They are not going to be on the side of the employers."

Bromley knows, and he has the courage to say what he knows. Every labor faker in the United States knows that the Communists in the trade unions are among the best fighters in the movement. They know that when a Communist deserts the struggle against the employers or flunks his duty, that he is kicked out of the Communist Party. And in the United States as in Britain the Communists will remain with the trade union movement despite the efforts of the reactionary labor skates to get rid of them. The workers will elect them, because they will gain the confidence of the workers, because they are good trade unionists. And nobody is a good trade unionist unless he is a good fighter against the employing class, in general and in particular.

AMALGAMATED PROGRESSIVES IN CLEVELAND ISSUE PROGRAM AND MEET HOSTILITY OF THE BOSSES

By ALFRED WAGENKNECHT.

CLEVELAND, July 1.—A militant campaign is being waged in Cleveland for the election of progressives to the joint board of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers.

The left wing of the local unions is supporting a program which really seeks to build the Amalgamated in Cleveland and make it an instrument in the class struggle.

The Unthinking.

The distribution of this program at the shops has met with some opposition, both on the part of the bosses and the supporters of the reactionaries in the unions.

These latter many times are only unthinking rank and file members who have been misled into believing that only the officialdom and not the rank and file have the right to make suggestions to strengthen the union and win concessions from the bosses.

Bosses Oppose Program.

But the very fect that at the shops, where the program of the progressives in the unions was distributed, the bosses rushed out, threatened the distributors, shook fists in their faces and talked injunction proves that the members who oppose it are but making a united front with the bosses.

The program of the progressive in the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, for the election in Cleveland, follows:

"The Progressive Committee of the Needle Trades Workers deems it necessary at this time to issue the following program and calls upon the members of Local No. 112 to give it thoro consideration.

"A concerted effort is being made to destroy the organized labor movement by the so-called "American plan." The "American plan" constitutes an effort by employers to break up trade unionism by substituting the open shop for union control. Just recently the formerly powerful Street Railway Men's Union has been added to the many unions severely beaten by the combination of the bosses with the government in an effort to establish the open shop.

Amalgamation and Shop Committees.

In order for the Needle Trades Unions to escape the fate which has befallen so many unions, we must consolidate our forces. Craft must stop fighting craft and union must cease fighting other unions. All Clothing Workers' Union must be amalgamated on the departmental plan in order to present a united front against the united front of the bosses.

The forces of the workers in each factory must be consolidated by the setting up of shop committees and an energetic campaign to organize the unorganized must be carried on.

For Class Struggle.

Another scheme of the bosses is that of class collaboration. If they find it too difficult to destroy the unions, then they try to bring the unions into so-called "harmony" with the bosses which only means to increase profits at the expense of the workers.

This policy has already had a serious effect upon our own organization. Many important gains in wages and conditions won by years of militant struggle have been lost and are being lost by this tame policy of looking first at the desires and interests of the boss.

The policy of advancing our interests thru fighting the bosses is the only one to rely upon in the present and future as in the past. That is how the A. C. W. was built up and that is how it will, thru amalgamation with other Needle Trade Unions, further advance the interests of the membership.

1. Organize the unorganized.
2. Amalgamate the needle trade unions.
3. Shop committees in all shops.
4. Abolish the speed-up system.
5. Abolish piece work.
6. Establish the 40-hour week.
7. Officials to receive no more pay than members.
8. Make all settlements in the open and not behind the backs of the members.
9. Reinstate all suspended and expelled locals and members.
10. No workers to be taken off the job because of their militant activities for progressive policies in the union.
11. World unity of the trade union movement.
12. Labor party.

We call upon the progressive members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers to support candidates who have in the past and will in the future fight for the above program, which means the strengthening of the A. C. W., the strengthening of the other needle unions, the strengthening of the entire labor movement; and better conditions for our own membership and all workers."

"Progressive Committee."

HANG SOFIA RED SOLDIERS FOR AIDING REVOLT

Killed Sergeant When Communists Raided

SOFIA.—(By Mail.)—On May 29, at 4:30 a. m., in the court yard of the Sofia central prison political division, the execution of Iliy P. Petroff and Ivan Petroff Tundev from Mekhemil, took place.

The executed men were condemned to death in August last year, for killing a sergeant-major of the same Mekhomil regiment in which they served as soldiers. When Communists raided the barracks, Petroff and Tundev took out the bolts of the soldiers' muskets and hid them. But when the sergeant ordered them to pick up arms and to defend the barracks, they blocked the entrance to the barrack building and killed the sergeant.

Wont Reduce Pullman Rates

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The interstate commerce commission today refused to order a reduction of fifty per cent in the surcharge on Pullman rates. This action was taken in denying the petition of the International Federation of commercial travelers' organizations asking that such an order be made.

TRADE SCHOOL TRAINS SCABS IN WORCESTER

Bosses Teach Children Loyalty to Employer

By H. SIDNEY BLOOMFIELD.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 1—"New England's industrial position is being challenged, and we must meet the challenge by preparing men to take the places of the experts who are holding important positions," was the basis of an "open shop" talk by the open shop Rev. Vincent E. Tomlinson, pastor of the open shop First Universalist Church before the graduating class of the Worcester Boy's Trade School last night.

John F. Tinsley, of the Crompton & Knowles Loom Works and high mogul of the Manufacturers' Association also took a shot at those who are discontented and said in part that "they would be more satisfied if they could realize the opportunities of work in the shop."

Visions of poor, hard-working boys, rising to position of "wealth," influence and industrial leadership, "were painted in rosy colors by the speakers. But to attain these ends, "loyalty to the employers, hard work and thrift" are the underlying virtues, according to the open shoppers.

The 77 graduates received their diplomas from the hands of the president of the board of aldermen, Roland S. Frodigh. One hour each day of the school term is devoted to open shop talks by prominent leaders of the open shop movement and the graduation exercises are the special occasions for high-powered labor hating talks in which the sons of the workers are taught to scab on their fathers.

VIENNA.—(By Mail.)—Bessarabia, the south-west corner of the former Russian giant, has been, because of its geographical situation, since 1917, desired by Roumanian imperialism. The agnets of Roumanian government of Margiloman-Mackensen, Germanofil at that time, had the special order to co-operate in every way with the decomposition of the Russian south front army in order to facilitate for Roumania the annexation of Bessarabia.

"The true Russian patriot, General Tscherbatscheff, successfully forced the retreat of the Russian revolutionary army from Roumania. The other agents of Roumanian Etat Major, the Bessarabian social revolutionaries, Inkukez, Halipa, Katareo, Erhan and others, prepared the country for the annexation from inside.

On the 20th of October, 1917 the Congress of Bessarabian officers with the active participation of the above mentioned agents, decided to convoke the Bessarabian national assembly to settle the autonomy question. The number of members of this assembly—"Sfatul Zeri," were determined in advance—120 persons—from which number 85 were Moldavians.

Fifty of those Moldavanians were elected at once, in a congress session. Those 50 persons, agents of the Roumanian Etat Major have been the deputies of "Sfatul Zeri" who supported the idea of the annexation of Bessaraby.

On the 21st of November the Sfatul Zeri was opened and on the 2nd of December it declared the Bessarabia Moldavian democratic republic.

On the 27th of March, 1918, Sfatul Zeri, in the presence of the Roumanian prime-minister, Fargiloman, declared Bessarabia annexed to Roumania, on the conditions of local autonomy.

To understand the note we must remember the declaration of the chairman of the session, Professor E. Spere, immediately before the vote: "Honary gentlemen, before voting the annexation of Bessarabia to Roumania I declare: woe to a national minority which dares vote against this annexation."

Before the 27th of March act several members of Sfatoul Zeri, of the Presidium of the congress of peasants' deputies of Bessarabia, Kataros, Fantzer Pramitzky, Tchoumatchenko and Litvanoff were shot for their opposition.

Bessarabian Workers Protest.

On the 28th of November Sfatoul Zeri disowned the local autonomy and finally "annexed" Bessarabia to Roumania. The proposition of the "final annexation" was made in the night session of Sfatoul Zeri, at which only a quarter of the members were present. The vote was made by the simple raising of hands and the number of voices pro and contro were not counted.

There is a written protest against this double lie signed by the general secretary of Sfatul Zeri, the leader of Peoples' League, the chairman of the Officers' Congress Enoury, the peasants' fraction, Trade Unions and 40 deputies of the same Sfatul Zeri.

These so-called acts of annexation are unheard of violations of the will of the Bessarabian workers and peasants and the manifestation of the brutal force of Roumanian imperialists.

NEW ENGLAND G. O. P. GIVES FIRST WOMAN TERM IN CONGRESS

LOWELL, Mass., July 1.—New England has decided to send a woman to congress. The first woman to go to congress from this region is Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, of this city, widow of the late congressman John Jacob Rogers.

Complete returns today from the special election in the fifth congressional district gave Mrs. Rogers, republican, 23,614; former Governor Eugene N. Foss, democrat, 9,251.

Mrs. Rogers got 72 per cent of all the votes cast, carried every town in the district and received a larger proportion of the total vote than her husband did last November.

KLAN LICKED IN MINE UNION BY LEFT WING

Zeigler Union Slams the Kluxers

By ALEX REID.

(Special to The Daily Worker)

CHRISTOPHER, Ill., July 1.—The election held Wednesday, June 24, in Zeigler, was a victory for the left wing in the Miners' Union and a complete repudiation of the friends of the faker Farrington, the K. K. K.

The militant miners in that vicinity, remembering the disgraceful, treacherous work of the klan in former elections, showed their contempt by the following results:

For financial secretary, Joe Filipovich, 607 to 138 for K. K. K. Jones.

In most of the offices the klan was swept under by the feeling of repulsion of the miners against the klan, due to the klan's anti-labor record and work.

Zeigler, the home of the klan of that vicinity of Egypt, has gone the way of its predecessors, the Citizens' Alliance, etc., etc., and the miners draw a breath of relief at the passing of the vermin.

future they will be in the same condition as a man after a good spree, who may have recollections of happy moments, but an awful pain around the temples and a bad taste in his mouth. In the meantime the French government, which is the servant of the French ruling class, will wipe out its internal debt as the German government did.

THIS is the beauty of having such a thing as a government in your hands. It's a mighty convenient tool. Things may look bad for the ruling class, but with a government they can pull off many tricks and stave off the inevitable. Radicals who spurn the idea that the workers should not bother about getting control of the government are all wrong. Until the French workers get control of the French government after the Russian fashion the initiative will be with the capitalists.

ALL this shows how chaotic industry is under capitalism. Despite the backwardness of Russia before the revolution, that country is making rapid strides forward. The big industries are owned by the government. There is increasing efficiency and there is a centralized authority that plans for industry as a whole. The introduction of more efficiency in methods of production, will not introduce more chaos as happens in countries where individual manufacturers and trusts are only concerned with their own particular interests, but more wealth and leisure for the producers.

THE Labor World of Duluth in its issue of June 12 last gives the premier position on its first page to a speech delivered by Kate Richards O'Hare in that city, under the auspices of the Federated Trades Assembly. Mrs. O'Hare is carrying on a campaign against prison contract labro. The prisoners make shirts which are sold on the market in competition with "free" labor. One of the most widely advertised of this brand of clothing is "Big Yank." Yet we find on the second page of this same Labor World that featured Mrs. O'Hare's speech against prison-made goods on the front page, a quarter page advertisement from the First Street Department Store extolling the virtues of "Big Yank."

THIS is what Mrs. O'Hare said about this prison contract labor in her Duluth speech as reported in the Labor World: "The contract system of employment obtains in the Jefferson City prison. The state furnishes the buildings, machinery, equipment, food, the men and women—everything but the raw material, and the contractors pay the state for the use of the inmates a daily amount equal to from one-sixth to one-tenth of the wages paid for free labor." By "free labor" Mrs. O'Hare means the labor of slaves outside of the penitentiaries.

THE Labor World is one of the most loud-mouthed defamers of Communism in the United States. It never misses an opportunity to slander the radicals and parrots the anti-revolutionary concoctions of the capitalist press with great glee. It poses as the defender of simon pure trade unionism. But like every paper of its kind it is a shameless prostitute, and peddles its principles for cash, never turning down a dollar no matter where it comes from. Compare its conduct with that of the DAILY WORKER. Whatever else our enemies may say about us, they can never bring forward one bit of evidence to prove that we ever said a good word for the enemies of labor, or that we ever ran a line in our news, editorial or advertising columns that would give aid or comfort to the enemy or injure the working class. Duluth workers should think of this when selecting their labor paper.

BUT while on the question of prison contract labor, a word about Mrs. O'Hare's campaign will not be out of place. This lady was once a socialist and no doubt is still one, after a fashion. But like most scoialists she seems to be trying to live down her past. While in Duluth Mrs. O'Hare visited the stores and found that with one or two exceptions, they were selling prison-made goods. And what do you think was her proposal? Call a meeting of organized labor to formulate plans to fight this evil? Let the lady speak for herself. Here is what she said, as reported in the same issue of the Labor World, that carried the "Big Yank" ad:

"I WOULD suggest that before organized labor starts a campaign in Duluth against prison labor that a conference be called of manufacturers and businessmen to discuss the question. You will get better results in that way than by starting an impulsive war against them." (Emphasis ours. T. O'F.) Here is the cloven hoof of class-collaboration, "capital and labor getting together" sticking out from under the skirts of this vocal foe of prison labor. Needless to say the workers will not abolish prison labor or any other of the evils that they suffer from by begging for aid from the capitalists.

TEXTILE BOSSES SPEED WORKERS, REDUCE JOBS

Output Jump in Mass., Figures Show

WORCESTER, Mass., July 1—Products of the manufacturing industries in Massachusetts in 1923 at factory prices were valued at $3,583,305,000, an increase of 25.8 per cent over the figure for 1921, the previous census year.

The U. S. Census Bureau's figures made public recently showed the average number of wage earners employed during 1923 to be 687,758, an increase of 15.3 per cent over 1921. In other words, while the profits increased 25.8 per cent, the opportunities for employment actually decreased in the per centage represented by the difference between the increase of employes, 15.3 per cent and the increase in the value of the products turned out.

The cotton goods industry led all others in the state in both number of wage workers and value of products. The average number of wage workers in this industry increased from 106,337 in 1921, to 112,717 in 1923, or 6.9 per cent, and the value of products from $313,830,000 to $415,932,000, or 32.5 per cent.

The above figures show that the textile workers in Massachusetts are the most exploited in the state. With an increase of only 6.9 per cent workers an increase of 32.5 per cent production values were turned out.

And the poor textile bosses who spend the winters at Palm Beach and the summers abroad are not exploiting their slaves enuf so they again cut wages 10 per cent.

Cops and Sluggers Escort Scabs to and from Struck Shops of the Amalgamated and member of the general executive board addressed the strikers yesterday morning.

Rosenblum told the strikers that the entire resources of the Amalgamated were behind them in the struggle. The shops of the International Tailoring company and the J. L. Taylor company in New York were emptied of workers in five minutes he said, the company officials refused the business agents permission to come into the shops and confer with the shop chairmen. But other means were found of bringing the strike message to the workers. In New York the struck shops did not threaten a reduction as in Chicago. The Chicago reduction evidently was to be the entering wedge.

The Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union will not sign any agreement with the struck shops unless they agree to the Amalgamated conditions according to statements by the strike leaders.

Dectectives Sleep With Scab

It was reported that one fourteen year old boy is working in one of the scab shops. Another scab was taken to a hotel by a detective who stayed with the strikebreaker all night. No work is being done in the struck shops and the windows are painted so that those on the outside cannot see what is going on inside.

Samuel Levin, manager of the Chicago Joint Board, branded the United Garment Workers officials as scabs and strikebreakers in a statement to the Federated Press. The same news agency quotes George Slater of the United as saying: "If trying to organize that shop under the American Federation of Labor is scabbing and strikebreaking, I am proud of it."

The Amalgamated picket line is holding up admirably. The strikers are gaining enthusiasm and in determination to win. Such a spirit knows no defeat.

Mass Picketing In New York

By MAX MARIASH (W. C.)

NEW YORK, July 1.—Upon the arbitrary refusal of the International Tailoring company to sign a contract with the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, a strike was declared June 29th, at 10.00 a. m. on the above firm and J. L. Taylor & Co., which is owned by the same firm.

Approximately 900 workers are employed in the shop, which is located at 107 Fourth Avenue, near 12th St. Workers were stopped and addressed on each floor by leaders of the firm, promising them 52 weeks work per year and wage increases. However, that did not in any way affect the 100 per cent walk-out and consequent mass picketing in front of the shop.

The company formulated a letter to the workers with the following statement in it: "The company has severed all relations with the Union and the strikers, will not return as individuals or not at all." The workers however, realize that only thru a workingmens' union can they keep their present wages and keep a grip on the bosses so that the bosses never will be able to cut their wages.

The company has engaged an open shop law firm, which fights striking workers in the courts and gets injunctions against strikes. The company will soon know that it will in no way help them as the workers are determined to smash any attempt on the part of the bosses to establish an open shop.

To the "war correspondent" of the DAILY WORKER the strike of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers against the shops of the International Tailoring Company and J. L. Taylor & Co., two firms who have been chosen to begin the "open shop" drive in the clothing industry in Chicago, appeared as a battlefield. And the shame of the Chicago labor movement is that on that battlefield, a scab agency, called a union, the United Garment Workers, fight with the bosses against the workers on strike.

Wednesday evening over fifty police, the armed force of the capitalist class, were lined up from Halsted to Green street and from Jackson Blvd. to Van Buren St. Thugs abounded. Flivver squads ran at top speed around the block, continually. And parked in a strategic position was the machine gun riot detail—with Captain Schumacher in charge of the auto, while around these armed forces swarmed the strikers. The streets were black with them. It was class war.

Tuesday, the open shop bosses had taken their dwindling crew of scabs home in scabby Yellow cabs. Just why they did not do so Wednesday night was explained by Amalgamated officials at a strike meeting. But, anyway, they were robbed of riding home in scab taxis, treated like prisoners and let out a few at a time, trying like frightful rabbits to lose themselves in the crowd.

But there is something about a scab, even a United Garmen Workers' "union label" scab, that honest workers can spot a mile away, and many were recognized. Natuarlly, there were several arguments, the scabs not wishing to be detained in their flight for shelter by lines of angry workers hemming them in on every side and telling them in none too gentle tones that they were traitors to the working class and robbers of workers' stomachs.

Officials were on the picket line, a circumstance that did much to hearten the rank and file. Veritable clouds of strikers covered the streets for blocks, turning out at 6:30 in the morning and sticking to the job of picketing with determination and enthusiasm. So persistent are the Amalgamated members that this fight shall be won that they can hardly be induced to leave the picket line even to go to a strike meeting. "We can do more work on the picket line. That is where we win the strike," they declare.

At the meeting in Hod Carriers' Hall, enthusiastic crowds greeted many speakers. Mike De Novi, business agent of Local 270, who was business agent for the A. C. W. in the two struck shops, and Louis Chiostrio, spoke of how "remarkably well" the Italian workers are doing on the picket line. They warned the workers that the firm was trying to use racial prejudices to divide the workers. The assistant manager of the Chicago Amalgamated and a member of the G. E. B., gave a survey of the strike situation:

Scab Heads Cheap; Taxi Windows Dear.

"We do little talking, but much work. The Yellow scab taxi are hesitating to carry the scabs. The heads of scabs are cheaper to the bosses than the windows of cabs. So they didn't use Yellow cabs last night.

"The United Garment Workers alleged 'union' is not interested in union membership. All it cares for is to sell labels to the manufacturers. It has a printing plant in New York City to turn them out and the bosses pay the dues to the union. It is nothing but a scab agency, having no interest in the membership. That is why the membership left it in 1910.

"The Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America does not belong to the American Federation of Labor, yet in the 1919 steel strike, when workers of the A. F. of L. fought against the capitalist steel barons, we were the first of all to send them $100,000. Solidarity is needed in the labor movement, in the fight between capital and labor.

THIS man Feng is an interesting character. General Feng, the so-called Christian, who delivered the coupe-de-grace to Wu Pei Fu, who cut a big figure in China, not so long ago. Feng worked with Wu, and the capitalist press had nice things to say about him. But suddenly he left Wu holding the bag and betook himself to Peking, which he captured, or occupied, as you may like to have it, and established himself as one of the big guns in China.

CHANG-TSO-LIN, the Manchurian war lord and Japanese tool, gradually began to lose his commanding position. Chang has been moving his troops around like a chess player since the Shanghai outrages brought the Chinese discontent against the foreign imperialists to a head. But he is in a delicate position. If he openly takes the side of Japan, his troops will desert him and if he goes against Japan, he will jerk himself from the payroll. Like the presbyterian, he's damned if he does and he's damned if he doesn't.

GENERAL FENG has joined the Kuo Min Tang party, and is now the dominating character in the movement for the liberation and unification of China. His speeches are frank and thoroly christian. He has all the zeal of the early martyrs. Bloodshed has no terrors for him. Just now an [illegible] his lethal weapons on the British, possesses him. And the strangest feature of Feng's conduct is that he is quite friendly towards Soviet Russia.

THE capitalist press agents will not adduce this fact as evidence that christianity is more closely related to Communism than to capitalism, tho like the "flowers that bloom in the spring tra la la, it has nothing to do with the case." They will show that Feng is no more of a christian than Abd-el-Krim, but that he is a murderous scoundrel, who gloats over human suffering. Watch out for pen pictures of the once christian general, now not so christian, but much more worthy.

FRENCH CRISIS PREVENTS DEBT PAYMENT TO U. S.

Painleve Makes Idle Gesture Like Italy's

WASHINGTON, July 2. — Emile Daeschner, the French ambassador, has been instructed to tell Secretary of State Kellogg that the French government is giving serious consideration to the adjustment of its $4,000,000,000 debt to the United States.

Pending the ambassador's visit to the state department, details of his instructions were not available, but it appeared doubtful whether he had been authorized to go further into the debt problem at present than to advise this government that France intended to pay her debt and would send experts to Washington later in the summer to discuss terms.

Italy Made No Progress.

This move by the French government will put its debt on the same status as that of Italy, according to the view in diplomatic circles, the Italian conference here having only advanced to the point of a promise to pay before an adjournment was taken.

The gesture made by Italy, however, is believed to have influenced the French government to take a similar step. No commitments will be made by the ambassador, but he will assure the American debt funding commission of France's desire to liquidate her external debts "as soon as the financial reform planned by Finance Minister Caillaux is realized."

Financial Crisis Grows.

With the Moroccan war costing the French millions of dollars, and the franc continually falling, with the workers protesting against the constant rise in prices and increasing burden of taxation, it appears that France will have difficulty in squirming out of its financial crisis.

Chicago learned today that the merger of the General Motors corporation and the Yellow Cab Manufacturing Co. had been closed in New York by President Hertz of the cab concern.

Yellow manufacturing stock reflected the report by selling up to 47⅝, but closed at 47, a net gain for the day of three points. Hertz is expected back in Chicago today at which time a formal announcement is expected.

The General Motors corporation, the auto trust, is controlled by J. P. Morgan and company. The DuPonts own seven million shares, or one-third of the General Motors stock.

CHINESE KILLED; STRIKE SPREADS OVER SHANGHAI

Chinese Divide Upon U. S. Proposal

SHANGHAI, July 2.—Chinese strikers opened a campaign today to force employes remaining at work for British and Japanese firms to quit when the Chinese superintendent of the international settlement waterworks was assassinated while enroute to work. It is believed this may result in a walkout of all Chinese employes at the waterworkers.

Commenting on the report that the United States is calling a conference to discuss the abolition of extra-territoriality in China, some of the leading Chinese today lauded the move, which they interpret as "American altruism."

Other comment however, is more critical, saying that American imperialism has seized an opportunity to win a diplomatic move in China against Great Britain and Japan without really doing anything for China other than promising an investigation. Moreover, some Chinese opinion is that the United States is trying to pacify China and then trick her again, as the provisions of the Washington conference have not been lived up to in the slightest particular.

Flood of Protests to Be Ignored

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 2.—Altho President Coolidge has been flooded with letter and petitions from all parts of the country demanding that he prohibit the parade of the ku klux klan, scheduled to take place in Washington early in August, it has been learned that Coolidge contemplates no action against the klan.

Coolidge has been invited by officials of the klan to speak at their convention and to review their parade. He will decline, it is learned here, not on the ground that he is opposed to the klan parade, but that "it will be impossible for him to be in Washington at the time."

Tri-District Mine Union Convention Adopts Many Progressive Resolutions

SCRANTON, Pa., July 2.—A splendid victory stands out to the credit of the progressive miners in the tri-district convention in session here.

In spite of the red baiters thruout the miners' union, and the opposition of the capitalist press, both of which have been busy here during the convention minconstruing and misinterpreting the aims and desires of the progressive miners, the program of the progressives, up to the present time, has met the approval of the coaldiggers at the convention.

For a Labor Party.

The resolution for a labor party was endorsed. This resolution showed that the history of the workers has been a continual fight for a living wage and better working conditions, and in fighting for the above, not only have the workers got to fight the employers, but have to fight all government agencies as well, and every attempt made to secure aid from the old political parties has failed.

A part of the resolution contained the following:

"This Tri-District convention favors a labor party based on trade unions, and including as affiliated sections, political organizations of a working class nature."

The resolution was unanimously endorsed.

Oppose Labor Persecution.

Likewise, a resolution condemning anti-syndicalism laws was unanimously endorsed.

The convention repudiated all laws that deny the worker freedom of speech, press and assembly, and called upon the American Federation of Labor and all affiliated bodies to develop an agitation against such laws in every state where found.

Will Fight Child Labor.

Another resolution, unanimously endorsed, was one against child labor. The convention called upon the workers thruout the country, with all working class organizations, and sympathetic organizations to rally for a battle against child labor.

Much satisfaction is felt here with the progressives' program, and in view of the organized opposition that has been carried out by the large coal companies, the Progressive Miners' Committee have much to be congratulated for.

Lewis Hangs Around—Gets Earful

Lewis, tho in the chair yesterday, vacated it today to discuss the scale questions with the scale committee which reported later.

The scale committee report was adopted and called for a two-year agreement.

Minor Victories.

This is a partial victory for the Progressive Miners' Committee, who demanded a one-year agreement. It is well known here that had the Progressive Miners not been active in this respect an agreement would have been made for a period of three or four years.

The Progressive Miners' Committee program also called for the checkoff as an economical measure for the union. This, too, was endorsed at the convention.

Ask 10 Per Cent Raise.

The specific wage demands will be reported sometime this evening or tomorrow, and is supposed to call for a ten per cent increase.

John L. Gets $300,000.

Kennedy spoke most of the morning session on Wednesday, and the afternoon session was short, but the important resolutions outlined above were passed before adjournment. In addition, the convention voted an assessment of $2 per member to be turned over to the International office.

As there are 150,000 miners in the Tri-District region, $300,000 additional will soon be at the disposal of the officials.

AMSTERDAM, July 2.—Preliminary returns from the Dutch parliamentary elections showed Communists have gained. The fascists made no headway.

MINER DYING AFTER GUN DUEL IN WHICH MAYOR TOOK PART

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., July 2.—Mike Stoniski, miner, is dying with two bullets in his lungs and Harry Houchens, city marshal of Nasan, is nursing a wounded right arm, following a four cornered gun duel at Nasan early today, in which Mayor A. W. St. Clair participated.

Houchens and Mayor St. Clair had ordered Joe Reagen, a motorist, to proceed to jail to face speeding charges. Reagen was said to have opened fire and Stoniski, standing nearby, joined him.

NEW HAVEN, July 2.— Of the seven arrested for breach of peace on a charge brought by a local member of the Jewish branch of the socialist party, six were discharged, and the seventh, Solomon Weissman, of the Jewish Branch of the Workers party was released under suspended judgement.

L. Hurwitz, working class betrayer, had the seven arrested. Weissman, and the three Abelson brothers being taken from their beds Friday morning at 3 a. m.; and William Sands, Morris Resnikoff, and the writer being arrested on warrants on Tuesday night. Weissman, Sands and the writer are members of the Workers (Communist) Party., the others being sympathizers. All are members of the Labor Lyceum Association.

COMMUNISTS ARE RE-ELECTED TO COAST COUNCIL

Unseated Delegates Approved by Unions

SEATTLE, Wash., July 2.—William H. Jones and Morris Hansen, two of the six Communists who were declared unseated from the Seattle Central Labor Council by John Jepsen's arbitrary ruling in violation of the council's constitution, won an overwhelming victory in their local union, Painters' Local No. 300.

They were re-elected delegates to the council by the highest votes cast for any nominee. Jones received ninety-seven votes and Hansen ninety-one, while Charles Doyle, secretary of the council, and one of the machine, received the lowest vote of forty-two and was overwhelmingly defeated as candidate for delegate to the council.

Jones was also re-elected to the Building Trades Council which had also unseated him and in which the resolution for their unseating from the Central Labor Council originated.

Hansen was also re-elected delegate to the Painters' District Council by a large vote about three weeks ago. Jones was re-elected business agent of the Painters' Union and district council for the ensuing term. This is the semi-annual election in the local labor movement.

Are Active Unionists.

Hansen and Jones are prominent and active trade unionists in the local labor movement. The painters' local is one of the largest and most progressive and for the third time since the arbitrary unseating it has re-elected both Jones and Hansen and it has determined to stand back of them until they have been reseated in the council.

Similarly the other locals of the rest of the unseated Communists have re-elected them and sent them back to the council and their credentials will no doubt be presented shortly to the council with a demand that they be seated.

BERLIN, July 2.— Hot resentment at the demand of the council of ambassadors for restriction of Germany's commercial aviation just as it was getting on the wing was unanimous in the German press today.

The council's note was termed "a document f unbrken war spirit, an instrument of the most brutal imperialism of the victorious allies." It was declared "unacceptable, unfulfillable and unlikely to foster the peaceful spirit in which Germany proposed the security pact."

Kreuz Zeitung accused England to throttle German commercial aircraft competition, while the Deutsche Tageszeitung warned the allies they were mistaken, "if they thought the note would bully us into submission."

PICNIC SAT. IS DEMONSTRATION OF THE WORKERS

Speakers to Tell of War on Oppressors

When the Workers' Party holds a picnic, it is something more than a mere matter of eating "wienies" and drinking soda pop. You come to such a picnic, yes, to enjoy yourselves.

But the gathering together of several thousand people is too good an opportunity to let slip when so many things are happening that ought to be known about. At the picnic next Saturday in Beyer's grove there will be races, games, dancing, refreshments and what not. But that isn't all.

Turn Picnic Into Demonstration

The picnic in Beyer's grove will also be a demonstration. It will be a gathering of workers who will take advantage of their coming together for fun, to perform a few duties that workers should perform when they come together.

Those duties are in part, to discuss the problems of their class-fight with this exploiters, to do a little solid thinking for themselves and to protest against the oppression of their comrades and fellow workers wherever they happen to be oppressed.

Just now, the millions of workers of China are beginning to discover that they can very well get along without the brutal sort of "advancement" that our own brand of imperialist and those of other nations are inflicting on them. They have recently expressed their resentment of foreign exploitation in unequivocal terms. They are in open rebellion against the imported slave-drivers of the west. They are trying to drive them out as they should certainly be driven out. Its the business of the American workers to help them do it.

Hear Message of China

There will be with us at the picnic on Saturday a young man who knows something about his country. He is a Chinaman and his name is C. T. Chi. Here is a rare chance to get the Chinese puzzle straightened out in your mind.

Jim Cannon will be there to give you an example of what a Communist interpretation of situation such as exists in China is like. "Mother" Ella Reeve Bloor just finished a hike across the country that will long be the envy of old people who think they are still young. Mother Bloor is a youngster of some sixty-odd years that makes the far-famed Chauncey Depew look like Methuselah. She will tell you a thing or two about the class-struggle that you didn't know before. The international touch will be completed by the appearance of a representative of an oppressed race that, while it is familiar to us in every-day life, constitutes a closed book to most of us when viewed from a social angle. H. V. Phillips will tell us what the American Negro Labor Congress is doing to wake up our ten million American negroes.

How To Get There

Those who take a California car to the north end of the line and walk to Beyers' grove next Saturday will have attended a picnic they will remember at a time they won't be able to recall where the other picnics they ever attended were held.

Mass Meetings to Rally Negro Workers Against Imperialism

Three consecutive nights of open air rallies, culminating in a huge mass meeting at the South Side Community House, Thursday, July 9, is the plan adopted by the South Side branches of the Workers Party and the Young Workers League, for their anti-imperialist work.

Eight thousand leaflets have been printed and will be widely distributed, at the open air meetings and in the Negro district. In part the leflets reads:

Negro Workers!
Smash Imperialism Abroad!
Africa for the Africans.
China for the Chinese.
Haiti for the Haitians.
The world for the Workers.
Fight oppression at home!
Down with Jim Crowism.
Down with Negro economic and social discrimination.
For a united struggle of all workers against the bosses.

A special appeal to the Negro youth to join the Y. W. L. in its struggle against war and all forms of youth discrimination is also contained in the leaflet.

Comrades Minor and Whiteman will speak for the Workers Party. Comrade Cline and a young Negro worker will speak for the Young Workers League. Admission is free.

N. E. A. Wants Cabinet Member.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 2—The National Education Association in convention here went on record today as favoring the creation of a federal department of education with a secretary in the president's cabinet and an annual appropriation by the government of $1,500,000 for educational research work.

YET CAPITALISTS STILL SEEM SURPRISED AT "BOLSHEVISM" AMONG THE CHINESE WORKERS

LONDON, July 2.—The British government yesterday presented to parliament statistics on labor conditions in the municipal area of Shanghai under the control of foreign powers.

Statistics of the Child Labor Commissioner show that 14 per cent of the labor employed is under the age of 12 years. Nearly 80 per cent of it is girl labor. Half the total laborers employed, says the report, are females over the age of 12 years.

Hours of labor are usually fourteen a day, no Sundays off, and the pay of the best paid workers average 50 cents a day. Overseers, especially in the Japanese mills, beat workers with whips for minor infractions of rules.

Use Machine Gun Squad in Strike

ed out solidly, that they could come back without any union, even the scab United Garment one. But they are standing out 100 per cent for the Amalgamated. And the firms will find out that scabs don't make clothes."

Tillie Kazak, the white haired but spirited woman striker who spoke yesterday again to the strikers, was given a great ovation. She told of the 1910 strike when, after the strike was over the foremen told the scabs: "Now you can get out of here. We want someone to go to work. Beat it."

Of the pickets, twelve were arrested Wednesday night and three on Thursday morning, the latter being Esther Lami, Josie Florida and Julia Carmignani. The police act often with the slightest reason, evidently just as wanton intimidation, seizing upon a group which may be doing nothing at all and loading up the wagon with them.

The shop chairmen of all Chicago shops were meeting as this issue of the DAILY WORKER goes to press. Their duty is to devise means of putting a watch on all shops to see that the struck firms do not smuggle their work thru other manufacturers.

But the biggest sensation of the hour is yesterday's circular letters sent out to the strikers by the firm. One is the "memorandum agreement" made between the scab United Garment Union and the International Tailoring company, the other a letter to the strikers sent individually from the J. L. Taylor shops on South Peoria street.

Memorandum Agreement.

"This first day of July, 1925, an agreement has been entered into between the United Garment Workers of America and the International Tailoring company, Chicago, Illinois, to the effect that employes of the International Tailoring company shall, from this day on, be members of the United Garment Workers of America affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

"The International Tailoring company shall use the bona fide label of the United Garment Workres of America recognized by the American Federation of Labor.

"Only members, or those willing to become members of the United Garment Workers of America, shall be employed in the tailoring shops and cutting rooms of the International Tailoring company.

"There will be no reduction in wages of any kind."

UNITED GARMENT WORKERS OF AMERICA.
Geo. C. Slater, General Organizer.
INTERNATIONAL TAILORING CO.
E. N. KARMEYER, Secretary.

The agrfeement was brot about by a conference between Bob Lorine, formerly an A. F. of L. official in Chicago, and today a secretary of the Overall Manufacturers' Association. Lorine and George C. Slater, "flying scab agent" of the United, and Gordon, also a United official, cooked up the "agreement" given above. The letter sent by the J. L. Taylor company to the workers on strike is one tissue of lies combined with a strong boost for the scabby United Garment Union, a circumstance that should cause any worker to steer clear of the United. It reads:

To Our Former Employes:

"Some statements have been made that are untrue . . .

"Just what do you know about the dispute between the Amalgamated and ourselves? Here are some of the facts:

"We did NOT refuse to sign an agreement with the Amalgamated—absolutely not! We requested certain adjustments, and stated we would very gladly sign, when those adjustments were taken care of.

"The officials of your organization refused even to look over these few adjustments we wanted, and stated they would not consider them under any circumstances or conditions, not until the agreement was signed.

"First of all—We did not ask for any cut in wages in the cutting room or the coat shops.

"Second—We do not intend to run open shop.

"Third—We only asked for some minor adjustments in the trousers shop, due to the fact that we contemplate changing our method of making.

"Some minor adjustments were also asked in the vest shops.

"Remember—Bushelmen, cutters, and coat shop help would and still will receive exactly the same wages as always!

"Furthermore—our shops thruout will operate entirely with Union help, as we are now co-operating with the United Garment Workers of America—affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

"Why be afraid to join the only organization of its kind worth joining?

"Sincerely, J. L. TAYLOR & COMPANY."

The outstanding falsehood in the above letter is the claim that in the negotiations with the Amalgamated, the company "did not ask for any cut in wages in the cutting room or coat shops."

The fact is, that the firm demanded that the cutters and trimmers increase the work done by from 15 to 20 per cent, a way of cutting wages that no capitalist ever want to admit is doing that, but which is a cut in the workers' wage relative to his production none the less.

The strikers were loud in their scorn of the last line of their bosses' letter—"Why be afraid to join the only organization of its kind worth joining." This boosting of the scab United Garment union by the bosses is enuf to sicken a dog, or even a Yellow taxi. The clothing workers of Chicago want no company union even tho it bears the honored connection with the A. F. of L. and they are demanding in even louder tone why the Chicago labor movement permits such a scandal and disgrace to be flaunted in the face of honest workers on strike.

STRIKE CLOSER AS "L" WORKERS DEMAND RAISE

Possibility of a strike of the Chicago Elevated lines employes drew closer when the guards and motormen for a second time voted to reject the company proposal that they accept a renewal of the contract which has just expired.

The elevated motormen are paid 77 cents an hour and the guards get only 71 cents an hour, whereas the street car employes receive 75 cents an hour.

Altho the surface line workers have voted to renew their old contract, they have refused to sign until the demands of the "L" men are settled.

The company, in an effort to prevent a strike, is talking "arbitration."

Getting a DAILY WORKER sub or two will make a better Communist of you.

MINERS FORCE LEWIS THREAT OF BIG STRIKE

Progressives Compel Faker to Speak

SCRANTON, Pa., July 2.—The hard coal miners meeting in the tri-district convention were yesterday informed that a nation-wide tie-up of the bituminous coal industry "may" take place if the coal operators continued to violate the Jacksonville agreement.

Forced by the swelling demand from the mass of miners, John L. Lewis has finally been compelled at least to threaten the operators with the most powerful weapon of the most powerful section of the American labor movement, the general strike, although he knows better than any one else that for a long time the operators have continually violated the agreement since it was signed and have no intention whatever to abide by its terms.

In Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, in spite of the agreement, working condition are being reduced and destroyed which many hundreds of miners have given their lives to attain, reductions which have made the miners object slaves.

Conspiracy to Wreck Union

Hundreds of mines in the central competitive field are closed down, thru conspiracy of the railroads and coal magnates, and the coal contracts moved to the non union fields, in the attempt to destroy the miners' union.

Whole district contracts have been violated, and the miners' union destroyed. The company union has displaced every local belonging to the U. M. W. of A. in District 18, and the officials have accepted a reduction of wages in spite of the miners' position that "no backward step" be allowed."

District 18 Deceived and Crushed

The Mine Workers in District 18 were informed that if an adjustment of wages was made, the mines would be able to open up; and prosperity would return.

The miners refused to accept the proposition but their officials in District 18 signed a contract, the equivalent to a reduction in wages. Yet the mines have failed to open up since.

All over the country the reports are the same, violations of contract and no relief from the U. M. W. of A. officials when the miners try to resist.

A General Strike to Save the Union!

While the miners welcome the threat of a general strike as voiced by Lewis, they cannot trust Lewis to lead them thru such a struggle. They know that only by their overwhelming demand has he even hinted at militant action to save the miners' union from destruction. And they are convinced that so long as he heads the union he will cripple every effort to really make a general strike and will betray it in its most crucial hour rather than do anything to "disturb domestic tranquility."

The miners want the general strike. And they remember the betrayal of the Connellsville men and the meek surrender to the Anderson injunction, and they ask, "Will Lewis, who betrayed us before, betray us again, when he has to fight eithers' against the government' or against the miners' interests?" Meanwhile, they are taking up the cry—"A general strike to save the union."

Cheer Up, Cal, John Don't Mean It

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 2.—One of the problems strikebreaker Coolidge is troubled with on the serene horizon of his summer palace is the wordy gesture of John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers that if the operators don't quit violating the Jacksonville agreement, John L. is going to up and call a general strike in the coal fields.

If such a strike should come, President Coolidge would face a mean situation, but perhaps with the same policy as when he broke the policemen's strike in Boston, the source of his fame. However, Coolidge and Lewis were bosom friends in the elections, and if there is need for anyone to yield, it will be Lewis.

COPS HELD FOR TAKING DOPE SELLERS' BRIBE

Three Chicago policemen, one a detective sergeant, and the brother of the sergeant were taken before a United States Commissioner today to face charges of conspiracy and violation of the narcotic laws.

They stand charged by the federal special intelligence unit with having extorted $2,000 from a dope peddler and with attempting to force an additional $5,000 as the price of returning to him a quantity of dope.

Doheny Turns Patriot to Get Court's Approval of Elk Hills Oil Steal

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

TODAY, Edward L. Doheny, oil profiteer, fittingly drapes himself in the American flag, casts about himself a halo of patriotism, "the last refuge of a scoundrel," and confesses that he plundered the naval oil reserves because he wanted to help American imperialism "prepare" for the next war—"The War in the Pacific." He saw "his country" in danger in 1921. A crisis was at hand with Japan threatening reprisals for the immigration ban raised against her. He came to America's rescue, so he now tells the world in a 13-column statement published in the New York Times, and to a lesser extent in every capitalist sheet in the land. It is the prize Fourth of July stunt this year, 1925.

Doheny fails to mention the little loan of $100,000 it is charged he made to Secretary of the Interior Fall, and he also conveniently ignores the letter signed by Mr. Fall, in which the former secretary of the interior wrote that the loan had been obtained from Edward B. McLean, multi-millionaire publisher of the Washington Post.

But Doheny does bring out some important facts, emphasized by the DAILY WORKER at the time of the congressional investigation, especially the charge that the whole Harding cabinet, in 1921, including President Coolidge, at that time vice-president, considered the oil steals and put its "O. K." upon them.

Denby, Fall and Daugherty were turned out of office, while Coolidge, one of the main crooks, referred to in letters and telegrams as "the principal," was not only permitted to hold his job, but was triumphantly re-elected by these same robber interests last year.

Washington is trying, with a great show of hysterics, to contradict Doheny's claims that the nation had been secretly carried in 1921 to the brink of "The Pacific War."

Upholders of Doheny's story, however, declare that it was only the earthquake that struck Japan in that year, that prevented the opening of hostilities.

Doheny, of course, has only one thing in mind. He wants to win his appeal in the U. S. supreme court against the California court that invalidated his Elk Hills lease. The Wyoming courts put an "O. K." on Sinclair's oil lease at Teapot Dome, holding that "there was no evidence of fraud and conspiracy." What Sinclair got in Wyoming, Doheny will try to get from Taft's supreme court sitting in Washington.

Doheny has timed well his confession of patriotism. The giant armada of the American navy is leaving Hawaii for its cruise into the South Seas and on to Australia. The Chinese situation involves American imperialism deeply. What an opportunity for Doheny to tell America that it was he who established the "greatest naval fuel base in the world," at Pearl Harbor, in Hawaii, with a capacity of 4,200,000 barrels of oil. Doheny no doubt expects great paens of applause as his fellow profiteers, in their jingo press, try to whip up enthusiasm for their "Defense Day," this Saturday, July 4th.

Labor is languid this year, more than ever, in support of the "defense" of Doheny's class. Doheny's protestations of patriotism fall on workers' ears more calloused than ever to this appeal of the profiteer class. American labor will not be lured into "The War in the Pacific" as easily as it was led to the shambles of the World War in Europe. There is a growing Workers (Communist) Party in the United States on July 4th this year. There was none in this country, there was no Communist International, in the July days of 1914.

Taft's court will no doubt approve Doheny's thefts in California. That is its job. But that will only help labor discern more clearly than ever the class character of the courts, of the government itself. That will strengthen the revolutionary movement under the leadership of the Workers (Communist) Party. It will help hasten the end of Doheny's capitalist system with its profits, war, hunger, unemployment and other evils that fall always with their crushing weight upon the working masses.

GREAT BRITAIN TRICKED BY U. S. IMPERIALISM

America Moves to Win Power in Far East

WASHINGTON, July 2. — China's immediate future hung in the balance today as the imperialist powers of the world debated the Washington suggestion that conference be held at once on the extra-territorial rights problem.

Informal advices, either accepting or rejecting the American proposal were expected to arrive at the state department within the next few days. The tenor of the communications will decide the next step in the negotiations.

Expect Peking to Do Asking.

Approval by Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, of the proposal, would be sufficient invitation, it was felt in official circles here, for the Peking government again formally to ask the powers to accept her previously tendered invitation.

During past decade, foreign powers obtaining concessions in China have been permitted to administer and enforce their own laws.

Chinese officials and police have had power to arrest foreigners, but at that point their authority ended, individuals appearing before magistrates of their own nationality.

Very Appropriate—For the U. S.

This condition among others recently inspired the anti-imperialist riots and American officials are inclined to regard the present time as particularly appropriate for a general withdrawal by all the world powers from their extra-territorial rights positions.

The unfavoable attitude of Great Britain toward the conference proposal will cause no change in the American position, it was learned. The United States believes that the time is at hand to take definite action in China in order to prevent "trobule" in the future.

By putting Great Britain in bad light before China, America thus may win Chinese trade and concessions away from England.

Start Negotiations Saturday

PEKING, July 2.—Initial negotiations over the Shanghai shootings, from which the serious strike troubles spread over South China, will start Saturday when the foreign commissioners will meet with the Chinese representatives.

Fears were expressed that the negotiations will be fruitless unless the Chinese limit the scope of the questions involved.

Floods Hit Poland.

VIENNA, Austria, July 2—Incessant rains have brot about a flood in Poland which has destroyed crops and villages, and is threatening large cities. Relief is being sent.

FRANCE TO QUIT REICH IN NEW BANKERS' PACT

Briand Blames It on Herriot Treaty

PARIS, France, July 2.—Foreign Minister Briand has admitted a complete change in policy toward Germany, with France planning an early evacuation of not only the Ruhr, but also the southern bank of the Rhine, commencing with the cities of Coblenz, Mayence and Cologne. Briand, while he blamed the change on a secret treaty signed by Herriot at London, declared that he would carry out the change in policy toward Germany.

Caillaux thus increases his power, for it was the finance minister who from the first sought an alliance between the French and German capitalists.

Caillaux Meets Defeat

Caillaux was defeated in the chamber of deputies by a vote of 330 to 229, on a measure of his financial budget bill which provided that property abroad must be declared by oath. However, the vote was not made one of confidence.

A clause in Caillaux' financial law passed by parliament, has just come to light, which gives Caillaux and Premier Painleve joint powers, allowing them to effect any economies in the administration they see fit by issuing decrees.

Discharges Employes

Under this provision, the first article of Caillaux' law, the finance minister has already suppressed 160 registration offices and notified 134 other offices they will soon be suppressed. He is discharging hundreds of employes.

The withdrawal of French troops from Germany is expected to give the proposed "security pact" new meaning, as German capitalists will give big concessions to French bankers in return for the evacuation.

FORCES GATHER AT DAYTON FOR 'MONKEY' TRIAL

Anti - Evolution Move Spreads to West

WINCHESTER, Tenn., July 2—The Scopes trial will open in Dayton on July 10. This was the answer today of circuit judge, John T. Raulston, who will preside at the trial, to rumors that the case would be delayed and transferred to some other city.

Raulston said he would reach Dayton on July 8 "prepared to open the trial on the 10th."

Attorney General Tom A. Stewart, who is directing the prosecution of Scopes for alleged violation of the Tennessee anti-evolution law arrived in Dayton today for a conference with his associate counsel.

Stewart met a number of local attorneys who handled the indictment of Scopes, to map out a final plan of procedure for the trial. He discounted all reports that the trial might be moved away from Dayton and announced that the state would be ready to open its case on July 10.

Seek to Bar Truth

SEATTLE, Wash., July 2.—Organizations to pass anti-evolution laws similiar to the Tennessee law under which John Scopes is soon to be tried at Dayton, have been formed in California, Minnesota and Oregon, the Baptist convention here was informed.

The Tennessee law prohibits teachers from discussing the theory of evolution or any scientific data which contradicts the bible.

Kentucky Prohibits Evolution

PADUCAH, Ky., July 2.—Miss Lela Scopes, sister of John Scopes, who will be tried at Dayton on July 10, has been denied a job in the Paducah schools because she refused to repudiate the theory of evolution, for teaching which her brother is being prosecuted.

CHINESE STRIKERS WEAR DOWN RESISTANCE OF WHITE GUARDS; IMPERIALISTS KEEP UP BLUFF

SHANGHAI, China, July 2.—The foreign settlement authorities have ordered a partial demobilization of the white guard "volunteer corps" after a solid month of continuous service, despite the fact that the strike is as tight as ever and there is no hope in it abating.

Day and night in sweltering weather, neglecting their sacred "business" and thoroly worn out, the job of being a member of the white guard volunteer corps is beginning to pall on the well-fed and lazy agents of imperialism, in spite of their anxiety to continue the arrogant attitude toward the Chinese demands for justice.

Bankrupt Traders.

Outwardly affairs are becoming normal in the foreign concession, but because of a month's stoppage of business a financial miracle will have to occur to save small shopkeepers from ruin and permit even the resumption of dislocated business.

The Chinese are far more bitter than before the strike started and for good reason. They have not obtained the slightest satisfaction of any kind upon their thirteen demands, which they regard as the very minimum of justice. They are nursing their grievances none too solently while the negotiations, deadlocked here, are shifted to Peking, where the Shanghai demands are buried and lost under mountains of red tape. Moreover, the secrecy practiced by the powers inculcates suspicions—probable justified ones, too.

Instead of abating, the strike is getting firmer in the port. Except for American, French and some smaller countries' shipping all is tied up tightly. Hostility to Japan seems lessening, but that toward Britain is concentrating and deepening.

Imperialist Bluster.

The folly of the arrogant imperialist business men who claim the right of all "superior" people to boss the masses of China, is evident in their attitude and efforts to pass the buck. They pretend to think, if they think at all, that the trouble will "wear out," that all the foreign invaders need to do is to sit tight and make a bluff with arms and that things will "blow over."

If one looks back twenty years, one can see that the trouble will not blow over until the causes, in the invasion, robbery and insult of the Chinese nation, is ended.

But, imbued with vain arrogance, the foreign residents will not concede that the injustice, indignity and exploitation they have been and are forcing upon China is the cause of the trouble. So they cry out "Soviet propaganda!"

It serves the purpose of the imperialist powers to raise the cry of "Soviet propaganda" every time the Chinese make a demand that Chinese shall rule China. Just as they did in the world war, when all that differed with the allies was "German propaganda," so now they try to stifle criticism of their plunder and rape of China by pointing at the only power which has treated China as an equal—Soviet Russia.

A continuance of this diplomatic hypocrisy only drives the Chinese into the arms of Soviet Russia, but the imperialistic agents here, probably more arrogant and overbearing in their ignorance than are the slick diplomats in European foreign offices, are blind as bats to what is going on under their eyes.

Here the British and the rest try to swagger about as before with an attitude of rigid domination and a show of military force. The leading British newspaper published in Shanghai, comes out with a cartoon, showing the courageous British lion raising his paw and about to strike, giving the idea that Britain is ready to use force.

Governments Wish to Trick China.

The truth of the situation is probably that altho the British government under Baldwin and the American government under Coolidge would like to sweep every Chinese costal city with machine gun fire and "teach China a lesson," they are, for all their desires, convinced that it would be a mistake to say so openly and proceed frankly upon such a course. If they can do so, they will postpone and ca[illegible] attitude, then assert the rule of force without limit in a sudden assault to fool and deceive China into a passive wipe out all possibility of resistance for years to come.

The intrenvention in China, if it comes, will probably be preceded by an attempt on the part of the imperialistic powers to trick China into passivity with promises of righting old wrongs, investigating abuses and changing the treaties. That is the imperialists' next move.

NEW CABINET FOR PORTUGAL BEFORE PARLIAMENT MONDAY

LISBON, July 2.—The draft of the new Portuguese cabinet, headed by Antonio Silva, today was in the hands of President Comes and will be presented to parliament when that body convenes Monday.

Antonio Silva will be premier as well as minister of war

KUO MIN TANG CALLS ON CHINA TO ARISE AGAINST THE BRITISH

MOSCOW, June 11.—(By Mail.)—According to a statement made by the teaching staff of the Peking National University to the British and American press, the number killed in Shanghai is 70, and the number of those wounded is more than 300, all of whom are Chinese.

There are now in the port of Shanghai 23 alien warships, of which 10 are American, 5 Japanese, 4 British, 3 French and one Italian. The total number of marines in the port is 4,500, of whom 3,000 are on land.

A Real Battlefield.

The zone separating the alien section from the Chinese quarter resembles a real battlefield. The Chinese members of the municipal council of Shanghai have resigned in order not to share the responsibility for the action of the alien members of the council.

In the Chinese section, food is being sold to Chinamen only, while British and Japanese goods are boycotted. In the territory of the French concession, the businessmen gave up their strike after they received the assurance of the French consul that the meetings and demonstrations will not be interfered with.

The joint committee of Workers', Students', and Businessmen's Organisations put up the following demands as a basis for negotiations between the Peking government and the alien powers:

Chinese Demands.

The lifting of the state of war; demobilization of the alien volunteer troops, withdrawal of the marines; release of the prisoners; reopening of the university, and the arrest of the chief of police and of the British policemen who took part in the shooting.

After negotiations are opened on that basis, the following demands shall be fulfilled: Punishment of those guilty, to be carried out under the supervision of the Chinese authorities; compensation to the families of the victims; an apology to China by the British and Japanese governments; recall of the British and Japanese consuls; complete freedom for Chinese in the alien section, particularly freedom of the press and assembly; improvement of the condition of the textile workers; admission of Chinese officers to the police in the alien section; supervision of the alien section by a mixed alien-Chinese authority; abolition of the consular courts, and the immediate, unconditional evacuation of China by the British and Japanese troops.

The Chinese government is reported to be in accord with these demands. No further collisions are reported from Shanghai; on the other hand, there is intense excitement in Peking where a strike in the diplomatic section is feared. This section is heavily guarded by alien troops, in order to prevent the penetration of the unceasing demonstrations into the extra-territorial quarters.

A deputation of Chinese professors and students visited the Juan Chi Jui, and demanded the recall of the British and Japanese consuls, and the expedition of Chinese troops to Shanghai.

The workers and students are contributing 15 per cent of their wages and incomes for the benefit of the Shanghai strikers.

Kuo Min Tang Call to Arms.

The central committee of the national revolutionary party, Kuo Min Tang, at Canton, issued an appeal containing the following statement: "The inhuman brutality of the British imperialists who murder Chinamen on Chinese territory, shows that Britain is pursuing the same policy in China as in India and Egypt. If the Chinese people do not arise against this outrage, it will become the slave of British imperialism."

CANTON DEMAND FOR SHAMEEN FRIGHTENS THE BIG DIPLOMATS

WASHINGTON, July 2.—(FP)—Diplomats in Washington who especially watch the development of trouble in the Orient have read with alarm the demand made by the radical Chinese government at Canton that the foreign powers cede back to China the Shameen—the island held by the foreigners at that point.

This move by the successors to the late President Sun Yat Sen carries into action one of his plans. He promised that China should be freed, eventually, from foreign control of any of her soil. Sun's agent in Washington during the arms limitation conference said that the Chinese would one day "sweep into the sea" the foreign "conquerors by stealth."

PLEDGE FIGHT ON IMPERIALISM IN OWN BLOOD

Chinese Masses Show a Deep Resolution

MOSCOW, June 12 (By Mail)—Today is the ninth day of the Shanghai general strike which continues unweakened. The town is externally calm, however, every day brings new foreign warships, mostly Japanese, landing ever more and more troops.

The following is typical of the spirit of the Shanghai population. An old Chinaman committed suicide, flinging himself into the river with the cry: "Long live an independent China! Down with the imperialists!"

Kills Self as Demonstration.

In a message left behind him he declares: "The life of a Chinaman is senseless as long as foreign bandits enslave China unpunished, as long as China remains in slavery, as long as it is possible for English and American imperialists to shoot down our best and bravest fighters for freedom. As I can no longer stand the shame of this and have no possibility to revenge myself upon the imperialists, I am committing suicide as a protest against the brutalities against the Chinese people."

On the 11th of June a mass meeting took place in Peking which established a record. Over 100,000 people took part in it, including workers' organiaztions, schools, universities, members of various societies and merchants, who assembled on the Tien An Mena Square where speakers from various classes called for the establishment of an anti-imperialist united front.

A delegation of the working class of Shanghai requested an immediate collection on behalf of the strikers as at present the length of the strike will decide the fate of the movement.

Teacher Writes Call to Arms in Own Blood.

The following incidents happened: A Chinese teacher delivered a telling speech; upon its conclusion he cut off one of his fingers and with the blood wrote upon a placard: "Chinese awake! Sacrifice your lives for the salvation of China!"

New Demands.

Prohibition of the entry of foreign warships into Chinese ports, prohibition of the export of commodities to England and Japan, refusal to sell commodities including provisions to the English and Japanese, a boycott of the imperialist press, emigration of the whole Chinese population of the foreign quarters of Shanghai. The meeting decided to raise not less than a million in aid of the strikers.

UNIONS OF LOS ANGELES SPURN MILITARY DAY

Labor Refuses to Aid U. S. Imperialism

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 2.—The Central Labor Council of Los Angeles has refused to participate in the July Fourth military parade and demonstration called by the Coolidge government.

Meetings are announced to take place in Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Philadelphia, Bellaire, Ohio and other coal mining centers, and in New York and many other cities to protest against the oppression of American imperialism.

Anti-Imperialism week has stirred the workers to action against Wall Street's mobilization day, and against the exploitation of the workers of this country and of America's possessions and dominated nations.

Most of the meetings to be held will take place on July 4. Many meetings have already been held, including meetings in Chicago, Denver, Kansas City and St. Louis.

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Workers of Milwaukee will celebrate July 4 at the anti-imperialist demonstration and picnic arranged by the Workers Party and the Young Workers League at Tippecanoe Park. This demonstration is in answer to the Coolidge administration defense celebrations.

Several speakers will address the gathering, among others Max Shachtman, editor of the Young Worker, and Comrade Davis, one of the organizers for the American Negro Labor Congress.

In addition to the speaking there will be a number of other attractions. Comrade Kovach will amuse the crowd and at the same time he will take their nickles and dimes. It is also rumored that Comrade Shklar, former sub-district organizer, will be in Milwaukee, leading the pie-eating contest as the new organizer cannot stand the strain any longer as he led the contest in the last picnic. The dance music will be furnished by the well-known Holley orchestra. Soft drinks and ice cream can be secured all day. All this for 35 cents.

Vliet street car, marked Tippecanoe takes you right to the park. Come early and bring your friends.

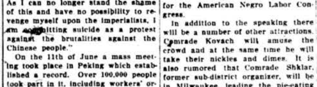
CLEVELAND.—Sunday, July 5, at 7:30 p. m., an Anti-Imperialist and Hands-off China mass meeting will be held on the Public Square at which speakers will expose the imperialistic schemes of big business to extend the domination of the American Dollar and the American flag over the four quarters of the globe at the cost of the American workers and the natives of foreign countries.

This meeting will be participated in by the Workers Party and the Young Workers League of Cleveland. The colored workers especially are urged to turn out to this meeting because their race is particularly subjected to the oppression of American and other capitalistic imperialism.



COMMUNIST·CHILDREN'S·COLUMN

The Chinese Situation.

HANDS Off China! This should be the cry of the workers all over the world. What are the American, English, and Japanese marines doing over in China? China has done them no harm. They say a Chinese ship shot upon an American ship, but this is a lie. They just want to draw China into a war. The reason they want China so badly is as follows:

1. There is an abundance of cheap labor in China.
2. China has many mineral resources.

When the Chinese workers went on strike for higher wages, the Chinese students went with them. Many of the workers and students were shot down like dogs in the street by the police. The Y. W. L. as well as the Junior Sections are taking up this cry. Come to all protest meetings and help keep up the cry of "Hands Off China!"

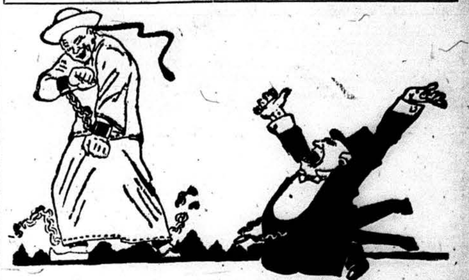
HELP! ANOTHER BOLSHEVIK PLOT!



In recent years we have heard much about the "Yellow Peril." Now when the yellow people of China refuse to be shot down in cold blood, the "yellows" all over the world cry: "Bolshevism!" Yes, China is turning red, and is smashing the chains of imperialism. Now it is the "Red Peril!"

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT SPENDS ON WAR MORE THAN ALL OTHER NATIONS, TO EXTEND ITS CAPITALIST EMPIRE

By LELAND OLDS
(Federated Press Staff Correspondent)

The Wall Street Journal in a statistical article shows that the United States spends a larger proportion of its budget on militarism than any of the leading countries of Europe. The article apparently marks an attempt to break down the popular prejudice against treating the debts of France and Italy leniently.

"Actually," says the journal, the European nations "are all spending less than the United States for defense, and many of them proportionately so."

Military Cost Increases.

"According to budget estimates the United States will spend this year for account of war and navy departments a total of $674,581,000 or about 21.7 per cent of total expenditures. This is a notable increase over previous two years. Military and naval costs in the 1924 fiscal year being 19.3 per cent and in 1923 19.6 per cent."

In contrast with the United States, Great Britain is spending 13.1 per cent of her total expenditures for militarism and France 18.1 per cent. The comparative military expenditures and the proportion of the total 1925-26 budgets of 7 countries are:

Military Expenditure	Amount	Pct.
United States	$674,581,000	21.7
Great Britain	586,000,000	13.1
France	323,000,000	18.1
Italy	82,700,000	9.3
Holland	80,000,000	20.2
Belgium	36,000,000	9.4
Switzerland	18,500,000	16.9

No "Economy" on War.

Great Britain spends more per capita on militarism than any of the countries listed. Her army and navy cost $13.50 per inhabitant. The per capita cost of militarism in the other countries is: France, $7.86; Italy, $2.14; Belgium, $4.65; Holland, $8.10; Switzerland, $3.95; and the United States, $6. But if the population of England's entire empire is taken her expenditure per capita is materially reduced.

Germany and Austria have been practically disarmed so that their expenditures are negligible. It is therefore, probable that taken as a whole Europe is spending less for militarism both in proportion to total governmental costs and to population than the United States. The United States has the advantage of wide oceans as barriers.

It appears that Pres. Coolidge with all his professions of economy and his anti-militarist advice to the graduating naval cadets has failed to hold down military expenditures.

RALLY PEASANTS AGAINST BLOODY MOROCCAN WAR

International Appeal for Riffians' Cause

MOSCOW.—The Peasant International has issued an appeal to the peasantry of France and Spain describing the true causes and the real significance of the Morocco war and declaring:

"Brothers, peasants! The agrarians of France and Spain have formed a united front in their offensive to enslave your Arabian and Berber brothers thru the horrible price of your blood and with the help of the things which you have created, with the sweat of your brow.

"Your answer must be: We want to war, down with the war, which is being carried out in the rapacious interests of a small group of parasites and which brings with it the death of tens of thousands of peasants and workers and a new increase of taxation and the collapse of peasant economy!

"May the Moroccan peasants establish their own republic!"

BUSINESS PICKS NEW LACKEY TO REPLACE OSCAR

Choice for Senator Also a Millionaire

(By The Federated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 2. — (FP) — Oscar Underwood, big business senator from Alabama, is about to announce his retirement from public life, and to designate John H. Bankhead, brother of the congressman and son of the late senator, as the man approved by the conservative industrial interests of Alabama as his successor.

There will be no labor or farmer candidate in the democratic primary contest which will decide the issue next summer, but half a dozen aspirants for the favor of organized business will be early in the field. The great mass of the people of the state will have nothing to do with choosing their next senator.

Is Millionaire.

Bankhead, who recently sold a coal mine at a price reputed at $1,000,000, inherits the powerful and corrupt political machine built up by his father, and the chief corporate interests in the state, and he is expected to spend some hundreds of thousands of dollars, if necessary, to win. His chief rival, former Gov. Kilby, is likewise rich and is expected to be prodigal with campaign funds.

Kilby is notorious as the governor who induced the organized coal miners, in their heroic strike of 1922, to select him as arbitrator. Once chosen, he delivered a decision whose bitterness toward the strikers and their union bore all the earmarks of preparation in the operators' camp long before he was put in position to betray the men's cause.

Chamber of Commerce Gives Orders.

Underwood has recently been touring Alabama, speaking before his rotary and Kiwanis friends, telling them that he wants to retire, but saying that if the people demand that he continue to carry the heavy burden of public office he will feel bound to consider their opinion. At the same time his friend, Bankhead, has sent to the reactionary press of the state his own campaign material, with portraits of himself, ready for publication on the day that Underwood announces withdrawal and asks his friends to endorse Bankhead. The old Bankhead machine always supported Underwood in the house and senate.

In the background, pulling the wires, is the Associated Industries of Alabama, a close organization of the coal operators, steel trust, and all other big corporations in business there. Its secretary is a former official of the Southern Railway. The Alabama Power Co. is one of its guiding elements. This federation of big business will elect Underwood's successor.

The Organization of Communist Agitation and Propaganda

Draft Drawn Up By the Agitprop Department of the Executive Committee of the Communist International.

(a) Central Committee.

1. The consistent leadership of the agitational and propagandist work of the party, in all its forms and expressions, verbal and written, requires that special agitprop departments be affiliated to the central committees of all the sections of the Comintern, without consideration of the influence possessed by the party or of the political conditions under which it works.

2. The agitprop, acting under the directions of the C. C. of the party, drafts a complete plan of every branch of agitational and propagandist party work, and controls the carrying out, in every local organization, of every decision made with regard to these questions by the party conference or by the C. C.

3. The C. C. of the party appoints one of its members as head of the agitprop department.

4. The head of the agitprop department of the C. C. is assisted by an agitprop commission, consisting of four to eight members appointed by the C. C. of the party with the head of the agitprop department as chairman. This commission carries out the whole of the preliminary work in general questions of agitation and propaganda, drafts the plan of work for the departments, and distributes the work amongst the members of the commission. The commission should meet regularly, at least once weekly.

5. In order to maintain communication between the work of the agitprop department of the C. C. and the other departments of the C. C., and with the organizations related to the Communist Party, and to render this work consistent in character, the commission will be participated in by representatives of the organization department of the C. C., of the women's secretariat, of the Young Communist League, of the Red Sport Organizations, of the International Red Relief, etc. Care should be taken that the members appointed to the commission are comrades familiar with educational work in the trade union and co-operative organizations. The head of the agitprop department of the party organization in the capital city is to be called upon to attend the session of the commission.

6. When dividing work into various functions within the agitprop commission, the department should observe the following chief forms of agitation and propaganda work, (a) agitation among the masses; (b) work in the sphere of propaganda or party education, and (c) the political periodic press. The agitprop commission may form special sub-commission ensuring consistent work in these various branches. The members and responsible leader of these sub-commissions are appointed by the agitprop commission, subject to the approval of the C. C. of the party. The comrades forming these sub-commissions need not necessarily be members of the agitprop commission.

7. The organization of the sub-commissions mentioned under 6. is by no means compulsory, but must be made to depend upon the real stage of development and actual differentiation of the work in hand. In the case of sections in which no great amount of work has been accomplished as yet, it suffices to form a small agitprop department, consisting of three members (including the leader), without any subdivision into sub-commissions. A press subcommission only becomes necessary where the party press is already well developed or where good opportunity is offered for our comrades to participate in the trade union press. The sub-commission for propaganda should be formed in every important party.

8. Where the financial position of the section renders it possible, it is desirable to supplement the department with a small technical apparatus: one or two secretaries, an assistant for clerical work. It is also desirable that two or three of the leading workers receive a fixed salary from the party, enabling them to devote themselves exclusively to their work.

9. The whole of the work done by the agitprop department of the C. C. must be based upon the most careful study of the working experience won in the whole of the local organizations of the party. Should the agitpropt department issue instructions or circulars, it should require the execution of its instructions with the utmost strictness, and should insist for this purpose of being supplied with all material and full reports from all subordinate organizations. The department must organize the study of all locally compiled material, must be capable of pronouncing a critical judgment on every document and organization belonging to a local organization. The maintenance of active communication with the local organizations is the leading task of the department.

10. The C. C. of the party will call enlarged consultations about twice a year for the discussion of general questions pertaining to the agitprop department (or its separate branches) These conferences will be participated in by the agitprop department of the C. C. and by the leaders of agitprop work in the leading district and local committees of the party, and by the agitprop organizers from three to five of the most important party factory nuclei. The agenda of these conferences, as also the whole of the preparatory material, must be decided upon by the agitprop commission beforehand, and placed in good time at the disposal of the local organizations.

(b) District Committees.

11. In accordance with the decisions of the C. C. of the party, agitprop departments will again be affiliated to the district committees. These departments will be similar in construction to the agitprop department of the C. C., but on a smaller scale, care being taken to avoid excessive ramification and differentiation, or the employment of paid assistance.

(c) Local Committees.

12. It is absolutely necessary that a comrade be selected from the presidium, or from the bureau of the local party committee, as leader of the whole work of agitation and propaganda in the local organization, and responsible to the party committee for this work. This must be remembered when the party committee and its presidium are being formed, and these bodies must include a comrade thoroly qualified in every respect, and perfectly firm in principles, capable of undertaking the position of responsible leader of the whole agitprop department of the local organizer.

13. The party committees are assited by an agitprop department in the periliminary work referring to all questions of agitation and porpaganda. This department consists of the leader of the agitprop work referred to under point 12, and of a commission of five to seven members with the leader as chairman. It is absolutely necessary that one of the comrades in this commission should be thoroly versed in the questions of Marxist-Leninist theory, who has to lead the whole work of the local organization in the sphere of propaganda work (party education). Some of the agitprop organizers of the largest factory nuclei belonging to the local organization concerned are also included as members of the commission. Besides this, the agitprop organizers of the nuclei are required to report to every session of the commission upon the agitprop work in their nucleus, and to take part in the discussion of and decision on the general questions of the commission work.

14. The agitprop commission distributes the various branches of work among its permanent members, and organizes at the same time two subcommissions: (a) for agitation; (b) for propaganda (party education).

15. Decisions made by the agitprop commission and its sub-commissions, if of a general character, are subject to the approval of the presidium or of the committee, in accordance with the report given by the responsible leader of the agitprop work. Communications bearing the character of circulars must be signed by the secretary of the committee.

16. In order to establish communication with other departments of the committee, and with related organizations (Young Communist League, Organization Department, Women's Secretariat, etc.), the representatives of these bodies are invariably called upon to take part in the session of the agitprop commission.

17. The party committee convocates meetings of the secretaries and agitprop organizers of the factory nuclei and residential committees at least once in two months, in order to receive the reports on the work of the agitprop department, and to discuss the principles of the agitprop work.

18. The agitprop department of the local committee must hold strictly to its duty of forwarding reports of its work in good time to the central agitprop department of the party; it should forward the whole of its material to the central committee immediately on its receipt, and should send in a short and comprehensive report every month, stating the statistic data referring to the number of agitation meetings called and action carried out by the committee or by the residential committees and nuclei to the number of participators in these actions, the number of pamphlets issued, slogans printed, etc.

(d) Residential Committee.

19. Should the local organization of the party be subdivided into residential committees, these should be assisted, in the same manner as the local committee, by similar agitprop departments consisting for instance of commission of three members and chairman, this last one being a member of the bureau, or of the presidium of the residential committee, and responsible to this last for the whole of the agitprop work.

20. In all organizations to which residential committees belong, the leaders of the agitprop work in this committee are members of the agitprop commission of the local committee. The participation of the agitprop organizers of the nuclei in the sessions of this commission remains in force. The convocation of consultations among the nuclei agitprop organizers is the task of the residential committees. The local committee calls enlarged conferences on agitprop work once in three months, and the residential committees and the leading factory nuclei take part in these conferences.

21. The agitprop department of the residential committee must organize the closest collaboration with the agitprop organizers of the nuclei controlling the work on the spot, and receiving the verbal reports of the agitprop organizers at the sessions of the agitprop commission of the residence.

22. It is extremely necessary, at the very commencement of work for the organization of factory nuclei, to devote the very greatest attention to Communist agitaion and propaganda among he working mass in the works or factory, and to ensure proper direction for this work. This applies especially to party educational work among the members of the party, among sympathizers and candidates. It is necessary for this purpose to appoint a comrade belonging to the bureau of the nucleus, commissioned as "agitprop organizer" to include the whole of this work in his field of activity, to lead the work, and to control the execution of all decisions.

23. The agitprop organizer of a nucleus has the following duties:

(a) The keeping of a list of the whole of those members of the factory nuclei who are suitable for propaganda and agitation work.

(b) The organization of circles for the study of questions of party program and party tactics.

(c) The organization of individual agitation among non-party workers, and especially among workers sympathizing with the party.

(d) The performance of the preparation work required by meetings and gatherings held for purposes of agitation.

(e) The organization of our appearance at gatherings and meetings held by trade union and other organizations.

(f) The organization of the dissemination of party literature, etc.

24. The agitprop organizer may be assisted by a small commission, consisting of the most active members of the nucleus; not members of the bureau. This commission undertakes the organization of the distribution of our literature, and appoints special comrades for this work.

25. The agitprop organizer and the commission carry on their work in closest collaboration with the nuclei of the Young Communist League, and with the organizer of work among women, where these nuclei and organizations exist.

WASHINGTON, July 2—Chamizal, the district on the northern side of the Rio Grande river in El Paso which is claimed by Mexico, has come under suspicion as being one of the secret reasons for the Kellogg-Coolidge-Sheffield attack on the Mexican government.

Under the treaty of Guadaloupe which ended the Mexican war with the United States in 1846, Mexico ceded to the United States all of Texas down to the Rio Grande, fixing the middle of the bed of the river as it then ran, as the boundary.

The river moved southward, thru long years of wearing away the south bank, until today the old boundary stands in the American city of El Paso, and the Mexican area, known as the Chemizal, is laid out in streets and railroad yards that are American-owned thru purchase from the original Mexican owners.

An agreement was reached between the two countries in 1910 for arbitration of the Mexican claim for political rule of this territory, and a Canadian was chosen as arbitrator. He decided, in 1911, that all lands south of a certain line which he drew should be Mexican. The Mexican government accepted his ruling, but the Washington government rejected it, claiming he had exceeded his powers.

Recently this dispute was revived and Secretary Kellogg was understood to be negotiating a settlement, by "compromise." Now the Mexican papers are suggesting that the attack on President Calles is to serve as a bluff in securing a better "compromise" for the United States.

VAN SWERINGENS SEEK TO BOOST THE FREIGHT RATE ON UNION COAL

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The proposal of the New York, Chicago & St. Louis railroad, one of the roads involved in the Van Sweringen merger, to cancel the present thru commodity freight rates on anthracite coal, in carloads, from Erie, Pa., and Buffalo, N. Y., and related points to Sparland, Ill., and to increase the rate from $2.96 to $4.10 a long ton, was ordered investigated today by the interstate commerce commission. The Van Sweringens are said to be backed by J. P. Morgan.

Chicago's first night airmail from New York, packed in the cockpit of a giant Dehaviland piloted by Warreda B. Williams, zoomed down out of the sky to a perfect landing at the Maywood field at 6:18 o'clock (central standard time) yesterday.

The 32 sacks of mail were immediately loaded on trucks and started for the loop for the first daily delivery.

Arrive Ahead of Schedule.

The first plane in the new night mail service from Chicago arrived at Hadley Field, N. J., at two o'clock this morning, well ahead of schedule.

SOVIET UNION TAKES STEPS TO AID PEASANTS

Money, Land, Woods and Goods Available

MOSCOW—At the last convention of the Councils of the Union S. S. R. the following measures for the improvement of agriculture were taken among others.

1. Approval of the decision of the government to lower the peasant taxes by 100 million rubles;

2. Approval of the decision of the government to give 100 million rubles out of the peasant tax for the needs of the local peasant councils, for schools, hospitals, better roads, etc.

Give Peasants More Land.

3. To turn over to the poor peasants part of the state lands;

4. To turn over to the peasantry the balance of the forest reserve, held ready for their needs;

5. To approve the rules and regulations issued by the government concerning the terms and conditions of hiring farm hands;

6. To re-establish within five years with the aid of the state the pre-war number of horses and to develop horse breeding;

7. To increase the manufacture of agricultural machinery and implements;

8. To introduce on a large scale to the peasants the use of agricultural machinery and especially of tractors;

9. To take steps to secure the production of better quality seeds;

Lower Prices.

10. To continue the lowering of prices of manufactured commodities used by the peasantry;

11. To inaugurate measures for the development by the peasantry of such branches of farming for which there is a large and more profitable demand by foreign markets.

12. To aid in the establishment of factories in which valuable by-products can be obtained in the process of manufacture;

13. To appropriate 77,000,000 rubles to alleviate the conditions prevailing in the Southeast of U. S. S. R., which are due to poor crops—the result of periodical droughts;

14. To encourage and aid in the development of the co-operative movement among the peasantry;

15. To extend larger and long-term farm credits to the peasantry and to lower the cost of the same;

16. To bring up to a higher level agricultural education and to spread intensively the promotion of better farming methods among the peasantry;

17. To increase the number of agricultural colleges and the enrolment of students.

Build Bacon Factory.

The Selskosojus (Union of Peasant Corporation) began the construction of a large factory for the production of bacon. The factory will be ready November, 1925. Its capacity will be 500 poods per week. The 400,000 rubles necessary for its construction will be provided by the Central Agricultural Bank.

The experiment with the first refrigerator cars, which transport fresh fruit and vegetables from Caucasia to Moscow, gave good results. These cars are now running regularly on this route.

DOCK BUILDERS' UNION WIPES UP BRINDELL GANG

"Social Club" Whipped by Five to One

NEW YORK CITY, July 2.—The Brindell gang has been decisively beaten in the election just finished for officers of the Dock Builders' Union Local 1,456.

Running against Kling Nelson, a Brindell gangster heading the Brindell slate, supported by what is known as the "social club," Charles Johnson, Jr., was elected president of the local by a vote of 1,118 against 226.

Thomas F. Walsh, president of the Brindellitess' "social club" was originally scheduled to run against Johnson, but he declined at the last moment, evidently not wishing to be the goat.

For financial secretaryship also the Brindellite running on the "social club" slate was whipped by 1,087 to 286. The same defeat of Brindell occurred on every position.

The election was held after the Brindell faction had accused the administration under Johnson, who became president after Brindell went to Sing Sing for grafting, of mismanaging funds. An investigation thoroly disproved the charge.

The police watched the election, but there was no trouble.

ITALY BUYS U. S. BULLION; DENIES NEW STANDARD

ROME, July 2.—Italy has no intention of following the lead of Great Britain in returning to a gold standard.

Premier Mussolini made this clear in a strong denial today of rumors that the government would introduce gold lire and backed his statement with a threat to prosecute those who were spreading the rumors. The reports had caused considerable uneasiness among Italian industrialists. Gold purchases by Italian financiers in the American market supported the reports, but it was denied the recent $2,000,000 purchase of bullion was for the government.

Alcohol for "Medicine" Moved.

One hundred and fifty thousand gallons of alcohol were moved thru the streets of the city yesterday as the first of the month was the regular period for withdrawing alcohol for pharmaceutical purposes from the five plants in Chicago manufacturing the liquid.

By WALLACE F. METCALFE

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 2.—One of the most unique "united front" mass meetings ever held in the city of Youngstown was witnessed here when several hundred people gathered at the Moose Temple to listen to a committee of speakers who are members of the socialist labor party, single tax party, republican and democratic party harangue the audience and call for a return to 1776 and "dump the tea overboard" by recalling the mayor and other elected city officials of Youngstown and thereby defeat the steel barons and their political henchmen from further exploiting the workers by enforcing what is known as the occupational tax, or a tax upon the workers' job.

The spirit of "Americanism" permeated the atmosphere and the ghosts of Washington and Lincoln were stalked about, winning their full measure of applause for the speakers. Quack remedies were advocated by the speakers and not one pointed out the robbery of the workers that takes place at the point of production. All speakers agreed that the present mayor and city councilman, who were elected by the ku klux klan, and who are governing the city under a so-called home rule charter, should be recalled but NOT ONE had sufficient courage to advocate the recall of the system that makes this robbery of the working class possible.

Workers Party Holds Meeting.

In this day and age all things are possible but when alleged revolutionary organizations such as the socialist labor and single tax party profess to align themselves with spokesmen who are members of the republican and democratic parties and with them find common cause in patching up the wornout garments of capitalism it behooves every worker to take inventory of position in society he holds.

In the near future the Workers Party of Youngstown will hold a mass meeting for the steel workers and will point out to them in a language well understood by the working class that the occupational tax of Youngstown is part and parcel of the capitalist system of government and will lay before the steel slaves a plain and definite program to stop the robbery of their class that takes place every day in the year and which the spokesman of the the socialist labor, single tax, third party, republican and democrat parties so nicely avoided.

Steel Barons Chuckle.

The recall of one set of capitalist henchmen and replacing them with another set was the principal remedy advocated by the spokesman of the so-called "United Front committee." The steel barons can well laugh at their opponents and chuckle with glee at the oratorical antics of such a conglomeration of 1776 spirits as exhibited at this alleged protest meeting and thru their ku klux klan political henchmen continue to arrest and jail all steel workers who refuse to pay the occupational tax.

OUR DAILY PATTERNS

4992. Dotted percale with bands of sateen in a color to match the dots, is a very good suggestion for the development of this style. Cretonne or chintz, unbleached muslin and dotted Swiss could also be used.

The pattern is cut in four sizes: Small, medium, large and extra large. A medium size requires 2¾ yards of 36-inch material.

FASHION BOOK NOTICE!

Send 12c in silver or stamps for our up-to-date Spring and Summer 1925 Book of Fashions, showing color plates and containing 500 designs of ladies', misses', and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

A STYLISH TWO PIECE DRESS.

Pattern 5121 supplies the skirt style, and pattern 5125 the blouse, which is cut in seven sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. The bodice skirt is cut in four sizes: Small, 34-36; medium, 38-40, large, 32-44; extra large, 46-48 inches bust measure. The width of the skirt at the foot is 1½ yard, wit hplaits extended. To make the blouse for a medium size will require 1¾ yard of figured silk, and ½ yard of plain silk 40 inches wide. The skirt will require 4 yards of 40-inch material. If bodice is made of lining 32 inches wide 1½ yards is required.

NOTICE TO PATTERN BUYERS—The patterns being sold thru the DAILY WORKER pattern department are furnished by a New York firm of pattern manufacturers. Orders are forwarded by the DAILY WORKER every day as received, and they are mailed by the manufacturer direct to the customer. The DAILY WORKER does not keep a stock of patterns on hand. Delivery of patterns ordinarily will take at least 10 days from the date of mailing the order. Do not become impatient if your pattern is delayed.

Railroads Profit in Canadian Land Grants

MONTREAL, July 2. — The enormous land grants made by the Canadian government to the Hudson Bay Co. and to the railway companies are bringing their owners much wealth. In 1919, 1930 and 1921 these companies received $48,197,717 for lands sold, according to government statistics. Large parts of the railway land grants have been turned over to holding companies whose sales do not figure in the record.

The Canadian government is buying back at high prices a good deal of the land it had given away and is establishing returned soldiers on it, saddling them with mortgages some of them will never be able to pay.

Two Hundred Slain Here in Past Six Months, 25 by Cops

Two hundred, thirty-eight men and women in Chicago were murdered in the first six months of the year, from Jan. 1 to July 1.

Guns accounted for the deaths of 236, while two others died from fractured skulls.

Fifteen of the victims were slain by holdup men. Seven were police officers.

Police killed 25 alleged bandits.

The twenty-five slain by the police are included in the list of 238 for the year, but they are listed by the police under the heading: "Justifiable homicides."

When the Pullman car hitherto called the Sirocco leaves the repair shop it will be renamed Daniels as a tribute to Oscar J. Daniels, 4402 S. Wabash Ave., a porter who was killed in the wreck near Rockport, N. J.

Daniels was alive when found in the wreckage of the immigrant train, but refused to accept aid until a seven-year-old girl was treated. When the searchers returned he was dead.

The wreck on the Lackawanna killed 50 persons. The porters are still getting the same starvation wages.

TEACHERS, FACING UNEMPLOYMENT ARE WARNED "NO SMOKING"

YPSILANTI, Michigan, July 2.—Teachers are facing unemployment in Michigan, Dimon S. Roberts, superintendent of the training school at the Michigan State Normal College here, told students 1,000 more are being graduated from the state's normal colleges than there are jobs.

He advised new teachers to take any positions they could obtain and conduct themselves irreproachably. "I have heard," he said, "of at least six teachers being discharged for smoking in the last three weeks."

KLUXER SQUIRMS UNDER MURDER, RAPE CHARGES

Stephenson Would Go on Trial Last

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 2—A bitter, pre-trial battle loomed today in the case of the state of Indiana versus D. C. Stephenson, Earl Klinck and Earl Gentry, klansmen, alleged murderers of Miss Madge Oberholzer, 28.

It revolves around who will go on trial first in the Hamilton County circuit court at Noblesville next Monday.

Get Separate Trial.

Defense attorneys late yesterday appeared before Judge Hines at Noblesville, Ind., and without warning, asked for and got a separate trial for Klinck.

Winning this point, the defense immediately asked that Klinck go on trial first.

This brot a storm of objections from Justin Roberts and T. E. Kane, Noblesville attorneys associated with the prosecution, and Judge Hines ordered a conference of opposing counsel and himself for Thursday morning in the Hamilton County courtroom.

Prosecution Objects.

The prosecution will insist that Stephenson go on trial first, William H. Remy, Marion County prosecutor, declared here. Remy vigorously termed the defense move as an attempt to force the state in trying Klinck first to "show much of the evidence with which it hopes to convict Stephenson and Gentry."

CAL ACTS WITH BOSSES TO GET CANNON FODDER

WASHINGTON, July 2 — (FP) — Col. Dwight F. Davis, acting secretary of war, explained why business men stand by military preparedness, when he addressed the graduating class of the army industrial college, at Washington, June 30.

"It is apparent," he said, "that any scheme which must provide for the prompt assignment to tasks of several million industrial workers is a stupendous undertaking. It would be impossible to hope for any reasonable approach to accomplishment if it were not for the high spirit and great capacity of our business men, our manufacturers, our professional and scientific men. We hold all real property in fee simple, the very meaning of which was, and is, that against this property there is no obligation whatever, except that the fie or fee, or the obligation to serve the state in case of war."

"The task becomes possible only because there exists in this country a body of willing, competent advisors and consultants greater in number and capacity than ever elsewhere marshalled to serve one flag. It is essential that you be competent to carry from the army of industry and from industry to the army this essential understanding which will eventually evolve plans adequate for our security."

COMMUNISTS TO HANG FOR THEIR AID TO WORKERS

"Court" Slaughters by the Wholesale

SOFIA, (By Mail)—The courtmartial of Filippoli passed death sentences on the "conspirators" Russian Petkoff, Georgy Mardaloff, Antony Khubenoff from the city of Chirpan, and Gencho Il. Gencheff from the village Kalko Tyrnovo, county of Charpan. They are to be hanged publicly and fined with 500,000 "lev" (Bulgarian currency.)

The same court sentenced Kosta Smiloza, Khristo Nepoff and Georgy Russinoff to 12 years strict prison confinement and ordered them to pay a fine of 200,000 lev. Two other defendants are sentenced to three years severe prison confinement.

The courtmartial of Filippoli has passed death sentences over Minko Gradinaroff, Atanassa Mokrii and Leon Menasian, who are to be hanged at a public place "like robbers."

No Peace On Earth.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 2.—At the opening session of the Baptist northwest convention here Rev. C. Wunder of Rochester declared: "Those who selected the convention motto, 'On Earth, Peace,' had a sense of humor. There is more of the dynamite in the world than causes conflict than there was in 1913."

BUILDERS AT WORK

TOMORROW IT WILL BE TOLD

Many Surprises in Sub Campaign

A good many most unusual things occured in the Second Annual Daily Worker Sub Campaign which ended on Tuesday June 30. Locals not considered among the best in size or past performance put forth their best efforts and did a really good job of Communist building.

And some splendid individual work was shown in the most unusual places. But all these things are the rare tidbits for tomorrows issue when the complete results will be printed. Be sure to look up your local in the standing and if the results were not what they should have been, go to your branch or C. C. C. to tell the world about it. The task of building the DAILY WORKER is never ending. And the bigger we build the DAILY WORKER, the greater our movement will grow.

IT MAY COST YOU ONLY TWENTY FIVE CENTS

For, branches and locals—and every good Communist and militant worker, there is an item of real interest in the large ad in this issue.

Three special offers are being made in propaganda literature. The very least you can do is to buy ten pamphlets for a quarter to distribute among the workers in your shop. These offers have been made for further Communist building—will you do at least this much? The offer will hold good during the whole month of July—if the stock of these pamphlets holds out!

AS WE SEE IT -:- By T. J. O'Flaherty

tants out of the organization and out of office.

ACCORDING to figures produced by the operators and unfortunately they are approximately correct, only 30 per cent of the bituminous coal mined in the United States this year, comes out of union pits. The percentage of union mined coal has decreased by 100 per cent since last year. While Lewis was busily engaged teaching the operators how to run their properties at a profit, the coal barons were shutting down their union mines and opening up scab pits in Kentucky and West Virginia. The militants who insisted on calling the attention of the miners to this fact, were hounded and persecuted and sometimes driven out of the union.

WITH West Virginia running full blast non-union, the operators are not worrying about Lewis' threats. They are not meant to be taken seriously. Men like Alexander Howat, Duncan MacDonald, Jim MacLachlan, John Watt and Freeman Thompson, who are either expelled from the union or disqualified for office by Lewis or his stoolpigeons would organize the miners and depend on the concerted action of the coal diggers to win the strike and not on the good officers of Secretary of Labor Davis or some other administration hack.

CONTRAST the action of John L. Lewis with A. J. Cook, the secretary of the British Miners' Federation. There is a coal crisis in Britain. What is Cook doing? He is not telling the bosses that they must drive 200,000 men out of the industry before they can run their mines at a profit. No. He is actively engaged in trying to form an alliance between the railroaders, the miners, the transport workers and the members of other industries, for united action against the bosses.

NOT so long ago, when the progressive elements had a stronger footing in the miners' unions than they have today the U. M. W. of A went on record for an alliance with the railroad workers. The failure of this alliance to materialize cannot be blamed on the leaders of the miners' union only. Warren S. Stone was against it. That gentleman was too busy running scab mines to have any time for organizing his members to support miners striking against his own coal mines.

STONE is now dead. But the need for such an alliance is as great as ever. It is a tragic spectacle to see union railroaders hauling scabs to break strikes. Some day there will be a railroad strike. How would the engineers and firemen like to see the engines fired with union-dug coal? The union miners would not supply coal to break a strike. Their unionism is not only skin deep. The members of the railroad brotherhoods must be convinced that it is not only a violation of the principle of trade unionism to haul scabs and scab coal, but that they owe it to their own future welfare to make common cause with their brothers in the coal industry.

STOOLPIGEON MINNEAPOLIS STAR MAY SUSPEND PUBLICATION, AS ITS VALUE TO BOSSES GROWS LESS

MINNEAPOLIS, July 2.—A rumor to the effect that the Minneapolis Daily Star would suspend publictaion early this fall, gained wide currency today in newspaper circles.

Labor men point out that there may be considerable foundation to the story, as the stoolpigeon character of the paper was so pronounced in the recent election, that its circulation suffered a severe loss thus impairing the value of the sheet to the Minneapolis chamber of commerce.

Its the same old story of the stoolpigeon. When his use to the capitalists has worn out, he gets the boot. The Star is no exception to the rule.

25,000 BUILDING TRADE WORKERS WILL WALK OUT

Boston on the Eve of Big Tie Up

BOSTON, July 2.—The adjustment board of the building trades council of Boston was reported to have decided to call a strike immediately unless there is a change before that time in relations between 25,000 building trades workers and the Building Trades Employers' Association. A strike vote had already been polled by the council, but the date which the strike would become affective had not been set.

The skilled trades signed three-year agreements this spring with the employers' association, but the building laborers' local, 5,000 strong, pressed demands for increased pay and sought immediate arbitration. The contractors refused to arbitrate and they hold that it would be a violation of the agreements signed earlier this year if the skilled trades were to strike now to force higher wages for the common laborers.

Two commissioners of conciliation from the department of labor in Washington are in Boston endeavoring to prevent a strike.

MADISON, Wis., July 2.—The race of conservatives for the United States senatorship to succeed Robert M. La Follette promises to become complicated with Roy P. Wilcox, Eauclaire, announcing his candidacy; and Francis E. McGovern, former governor, and A. C. Backus, both of Milwaukee, expected to enter the race. Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., will enter the race with the combined support of progressives. Wilcox is an ardent supporter of President Coolidge.

MILL OWNERS WRING PAY FOR NEW MACHINES OUT OF WORKERS' WAGES

By Worker Correspondent.

MONESSEN, Pa., July 1—The workers in the local tin mill dropped their tools, and walked out when notices were posted that they would receive a wage cut and that the mill would close down for three weeks.

The men were so disgusted that they did not care if they worked the remainder of their turn. Only one hot mill was working that evening. This is no strike, but it goes to show that they have some pep in them.

The mill is closing down to install mechanical doublers but is rumored that they will be closed down for a longer period than stated so that when the owners are ready to open up again the workers will be willing to work for lower wages.

The cut will affect some 800 men, and the closing of the plant will put out of employment close to a thousand men.

Sharpening the Struggle

The British coal capitalists are saying that the seven-hour day must go and with it a reduction of wages. The coal miners' union announces that it will resist all efforts to reduce further the living standard of its members.

The British railwaymen are also confronted with an attack on their wages and their union. The British textile workers are in the same boat. Unemployment is on the increase and the tory government does nothing except recommend the exportation of workers to the colonies.

The Moroccan war has France by the ears. The big votes for the Herriot policy in the chamber of deputies need fool no one who does not want to be fooled. France has a long, costly and dangerous military adventure on her hands and it is not popular among the masses who are about to experience all of the hardships coincident with an attempt to stabilize the franc.

The Moroccan war puts Great Britain in a delicate position also. She has millions of Mohammedans under her rule who are for Abd-el-Krim first, last and all the time and who wait only a favorable opportunity to say so with any weapon that is handy. Again, altho by one of those diplomatic agreements mothered by expediency, Great Britain has agreed to let France make war in Morocco at present, no one above the mental level of a ten-year-old child or a William Jennings Bryan can believe that Great Britain will allow France to entrench herself permanently across the straits from Gibraltar and threaten British control of the western entrance to the Mediterranean.

There are all the ingredients for a first class war in the conflicting interests of these two nations alone to say nothing of the ambitions of Italy in northern Africa.

In China there seems to be no let-up in the intensity of the drive of the national liberation movement. Here again Great Britain seems to be getting the worst of it. The Japanese are cordially hated by the Chinese, it is true, but with an enerring accuracy that does credit to them, the Chinese masses have picked out Great Britain as the target for most of their activity with the realization that she dominates the policy of the European imperialist bloc.

The other powers, the United States and Japan, while taking part to some extent in the shooting of strikers and students, have not as yet shown any real enthusiasm for pulling British chestnut out of the fire. Backed by Soviet Russia, the Chinese nation is taking advantage of the conflicts in the imperialist camp, pressing its demands for a revision of treaties and abolition of extra-territoriality rights.

Along the northern frontier of India, in the province of Bengal, there is an anti-British movement of which the press carries little news but which, because of its location, is of great importance.

Here in the United States even such a notorious reactionary as John L. Lewis threatens a strike in the coal mining industry at the convention of the anthracite miners in Scranton, as an answer to the shutdown and starvation policy of the coal capitalists.

Do the great anti-imperialist movements and the sharpenings of the class conflict here noted agree with the statement that world capitalism has stabilized itself?

Hardly. On the contrary, the desperate race for markets and new fields of capitalist enterprise, the over-production of industry which is one of the methods by which the so-called stabilization has been achieved, the export of gold to vassal nations and the revival of industry at the expense of workers' living standards, have added almost unbearable burdens to the heavy load already on the backs of the working class in the capitalist nations and the workers and peasants of colonial and semi-colonial countries.

At our anti-imperialist demonstration on July 4, it will be the tasks of our party to point out the tremendous importance of this period and show the clear line of the class struggle that must be followed by the American working class.

"Union" Scabbery

The strikebreaking role played by the United Garment Workers' Union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, in the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' strike in Chicago is clearly shown by a circular letter issued by the International Tailoring company in which the United is referred to as "the only organization worth joining."

This boosting by the bosses ought to be enough to convince any wavering workers that the United is a union in name only.

What attitude will the officials of the Chicago Federation of Labor, for years on the most friendly terms with the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, take in this situation?

John Fitzpatrick and his associates know that the Amalgamated Clothing Workers organized the men's clothing industry and that it is the only genuine union in that industry. The question that confronts the Chicago Federation is one of scabbery versus struggle, co-operation with the bosses and the police as against a clean cut fight for better conditions.

The proper action for the Chicago Federation of Labor to take would be to denounce officially the strikebreaking of the United and issue a leaflet to this effect to be distributed in the struck shops.

If the Federation does not take this or similar action repudiating such betrayal of the labor movement, it will mean that the deadening effect of capitalist politics and class collaboration has extended to what not so long ago was the most militant central body in the United States; that the virus of class collaboration which is poisoning the American labor movement has flooded the veins of Chicago labor officialdom in such quantities as to make them condone the unpardonable sin—scabbery.

At the next meeting of the Federation this question should be raised on the floor in such a form that the issue cannot be evaded and the local labor leaders put on record for or against this particularly disgusting form of labor treason.

SOCIALIST PLOT TO JAIL CONN. WORKERS FAILS

Too Rotten for Even Capitalist Judge

Lyceum Thursday evening, June 18, talking of current matters in the labor and revolutionary movement. Hurwitz entered, an ignorant individual with a filthy tongue. He butted in, and was told to keep out of the discussion. He singled Weismann out, calling him thief and swindler, spitting at him, and raised a chair to strike him. L. Abelson and the writer jumped up to separate them.

Weismann was led away from the hall, to prevent further trouble. Other workers, attracted by the noise, left the meeting of the Jewish society for colonization in Russia, (Icor), came down, among them Abe and Louis Abelson, and Resnikoff.

Hurwitz, by that time, had fallen to the floor, and started yelling. When he was asked to get up, he replied: "I'll show all of you. I'll stay here till a policeman comes." Hurwitz had himself examined by a doctor, who saw two scratches on his head, the doctor admitting in court, that the scratches might have come from falling.

Hurwitz had a cut lip, made by the edge of a door, slammed by a woman to prevent him from getting bottles he was after. The whole thing simmers down, therefore, to a drunken ignoramus, Hurwitz, who started a fight with Weissman, because the latter is not as strong as some of the others there.

Not Mass Picketing, but Mass Arrests

Yellows shun mass picketing, or any form of militant working class action. But they believe in mass arrests. Nothing is too dirty for the yellows of New Haven. Hurwitz is one of a small group mostly insurance agents, cheese merchants, and other petty bourgeoise, who comprise the dead Jewish branch of the socialist party. Since the yellows lost control of the Labor Lyceum a year and a half ago, they have sabotaged every undertaking of the organization.

They have advised others not to help the Labor Lyceum association of which some are member. Other yellows don't belong to the association, and throw mud at it from the sidelines. Hurwitz deliberately provoked a fight in order to give a black eye to the Labor Lyceum, and to the left wingers in control. That is why Abe Abelson, president of the Labor Lyceum association was dragged in.

The Dirty Counter-Revolutionary.

At the trial, Hurwitz claimed that the fight started when he challenged us to do in New Haven what we were commending in China. He told the court that when he came into the Labor Lyceum, "THEY WERE TALKING REVOLUTION, and I told them if I was a big man, I would send them out of the country." He said, that this was the remark that caused us all to jump on him. His main witness admitted not seeing who struck Hurwitz. The case was a frame up on the face of it, for seven men would not leave one with just two superficial scratches. Competent witnesses testified to the story given above. Poor innocent Hurwitz testified that he didn't spit at Weismann, nor strike him, nor raise a chair. The socialists left the court room, deserted, even a capitalist judge being unable to come to their aid, after a socialist inspired newspaper attack on the Communists for a week.

Concerted Attack on Lyceum.

Last Saturday, the 20th, the Labor Lyceum had a tag day. The right wingers boycotted and sabotaged. Sunday, the ultra conservative "Register" printed an editorial "Helping the Reds," in which it was charged that the Communist Party of New Haven had collected funds for propaganda, and that the Labor Lyceum association was the local Communist organization connected with the Communist International. This was 3 days after the fight in the Labor Lyceum. This set the Jewish workers of New Haven thinking. They remembered the statement in the Times Leader last July charging that the Workers Party was a branch of the Russian Communist Party, sent in by Morris Rice, socialist chairman of the District Committee of the Workmen's Circle, who has since then been called "informer." This time, the workers drew the obvious conclusion.

The conclusion was strengthened, when the Journal Courier of Thursday, June 25th, carried a column and a half story about the arrests. It carried Hurwitz's version of the fight, and presented a typical right wing explanation of the struggle in the Labor Lyceum, calling the Labor Lyceum and the Workers Party one and charging that the moneys collected at the Tag Day by the Lyceum were for communist propaganda. The story shows plainly that the socialists furnished the capitalist sheet with material for their red baiting. As a climax, the story says: "The primary purpose of the Communists in this country, the socialists claim, is to establish a dictatorship, and this, according to members of the deposed parties, is exactly what has been done locally in the case of the Labor Lyceum, where the Communists hold secret meetings on the average of once a week."

Socialist Challenge to Communists.

Hurwitz is quoted as saying that the fight started over the following remark made by him to the writer, as District Organizer of the Workers Party: "Just try to practice what you teach in the streets of New Haven, and see how far you will get with it." This was after we cited with approval the action of the Chinese working class in combatting imperialism.

Hurwitz thus admitted that he would stand with the capitalist police and courts in opposing working class action, that when the decisive moment came, he would follow Noske and Ebert into the counter revolutionary camp. His testimony at the trial bears this out. He would aid the capitalists in deporting revolutionists. He acted like all the other yellow curs, enemies of the working class. This rat and the rest of the yellows in New Haven must be read out of the ranks of the working class.

TO ERECT STATUE OF AMUNDSEN, WHO TRIED TO FLY TO NORTH POLE

COPENHAGEN, July 2.—A memorial will mark the port from which Capt. Roald Amundsen hopped off in his effort to reach the North Pole thru the air, if the plans of M. Knutsen, a coal owner of Spitzbergen, meet with success.

He has taken the initiative in a plan to erect a monument to the explorer at King's Bay.

KLAN OUTLAWED IN KANSAS BY CHARTER BOARD

Cannot Do Business in State, Is Ruling

TOPEKA, Kans., July 2.—The ku klux klan was denied today the right to do business in Kansas when the state charter board refused to hooded order a charter.

The action followed the decision of the state supreme court last January 10 that the klan was doing business in Kansas illegally and would have to obtain a charter.

The court held that in the sale of paraphernalia and lodge equipment the klan did not come under the head of a benevolent organization. This view was upheld by the charter board.

History of Hoover's War Treachery Now Stowed at Palo Alto

WASHINGTON, July 2. — (FP) — Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, has gone to Palo Alto to inspect the Hoover War Library, a collection of 125,000 documents relating to the known and secret history of the world war and its progeny of little wars in Europe and Asia. This library is connected with Leland Stanford university, and has been in preparation for six years past.

Among the documents which Hoover sent to this permanent collection were the records of his relief organizations in Belgium during the war and thruout Europe after the armistice.

When the DAILY WORKER was looking into Hoover's connection with the sending of "relief" stores to the white leader, Yudenitch, at Reval, for his invasion of Soviet Russia from Esthonia in 1919, it ascertained that the official records of his Paris office, dealing with these shipments, had been stored in New York City in charge of George Barr Baker.

This man was in charge of press propaganda for the republican national committee last summer. Inquiry at Baker's office disclosed that the documents in question had been shipped to Palo Alto.

NATIVE TROOPS DESERT FRENCH, RIFFS DRIVE ON

Wheat Is Harvested Despite Burnings

PARIS, France, July 2.—The Moroccans continue their advance against the French invaders north of Quezzan, and have broken thru the French lines further eastward.

Abd-el-Krim's attack has enabled the Riffians to harvest their wheat, while the fighting was being pushed further south. The Riffians have practically completed their harvest and are now in no danger of famine.

Large numbers of Moroccans who had been terrorized by the French have now openly joined the Riffians cause as the result of the offensive. The important group of Branes, which had been used by the French as a buffer to bear the brunt of the Riffian attack, near Taza, have joined the Riffians, taking with them a large supply of arms and materials secured from the French.

"Tribes" Join Riffians.

The Moroccans' attack has undermined the French behind the lines, as they have demonstrated their weakness to Moroccan groups which they had kept "friendly" by rule of force. The Moroccans that have come over to Krim since the start of the fighting more than make up for the Riffian casualties during that period.

French Kill Prisoners.

The French have taken no prisoners, killing all who surrender. No prisoners are mentioned in the official communiques for that reason.

The French, wherever possible, have been practicing the policy of setting fire to the Moroccans wheat fields in order to bring on a famine among the Riffians, but the recent offensive has checked this strategy.

Riffians Take Outposts

The Riffians are now attacking on a 120 mile front, with 30,000 troops pushing back twice that number of French troops. The attack has broken thru the French lines south west of El Kebir in the direction of M'Sila, and west of Bab Moroudj. The fighting is now taking place on the heights north of this point.

Further eastward the Riffians have gained important successes in the region of Dabar. The Riffian attack has pushed the French a number of miles south of the river Leben. The Riffians have taken several outposts from the French in the upper Leben.

FORD BIDS FOR 200 GOVERNMENT SHIPS TO BE JUNKED BY CAL

DETROIT, July 2.—Henry Ford's bid on the United States shipping board's discarded vessels which were offered for sale recently is due to arrive today in Washington by special courier. The absence of Ford's bid when those of others were opened yesterday was a surprise to officials of the board, who had refused a former bid of Fords unless others were permitted to compete.

SANTA BARBARA DAMAGE WORSE THAN EXPECTED

Wrecked Buildings Are on All Sides

SANTA BARBARA, July 2.—As the sun wheeled into the heavens today it became apparent that the city was more damaged from the earthquake here than first believed. Many buildings that yesterday stood upright, seemingly undamaged except for immense cracks up their facades, were piles of bricks, mortar and wrenched steel; the work of demolishing condemned structures proceeded with gigantic strides under the impetus of the efforts of four thousand workmen.

Two minor shocks were felt during the night. No damage was done. The first was felt at 10 o'clock and the second came shortly afterward. Both were extremely mild and passed almost unnoticed.

Several injured persons were released from hospitals during the day. None of the seriously injured, physicians said, will die.

The Printer's Devil Is the Guilty Party

The DAILY WORKER issue of Thursday, July 2, in reporting the election vote of Zeigler, Ill., Local U. M. W. of A., made a misprint.

The vote for president should have read—Henry Corbishley 724 and his K. K. K. opponent 162.

As published it read only 74 for Corbishley.

HIBBING LABOR FAKERS, SELL OUT COUNCIL TO STEEL TRUST, LET CONTRACT TO NON-UNION FIRMS

HIBBING, Minn., July 2—Hibbing, the "World's Richest Village" which four years ago had a strong labor movement and a Central Labor union led by a group of militant trade unionists who surprised the reactionary officials of the movement in the state by holding a successful celebration no May Day has today but a handful of unionists left as the result of the betrayal of so-called Farmer-Labor politicians.

The militants were gradually driven out of the community by the steel trust by various methods and the labor fakers and politicians secured control of the central body and used it for their own benefit.

A farmer-labor party local was organized and it was also controlled by labor fakers, lawyers, etc., who succeeded in getting the endorsement of labor for local municipal offices.

They told the workers that they would get anything they wanted if they were elected and one stated, to the Central Union that he would keep "Labor's flag flying" at all times—and so they were elected to office.

But instead of keeping their promise to the labor movement they planned on keeping control of the movement by putting the officers of the different unions on the village payroll and having them keep the membership in line.

Let Contracts to Scabs.

This worked for a while, but when the "labor" council started to let contracts for municipal buildings to non-union concerns this was more than some of the workers would stand and they protested at a meeting of the Central Labor Union and one of the councilmen, who was a delegate to the Central body yelled "Communist" at the delegate who had the courage to denounce his betrayal of the workers.

The politicians then seeing that their hold on the movement was slipping planned to have all who were protesting against their actions unseated as delegates in the Central body "because of their Communistic beliefs."

Militants Gain Strength.

He wrote for Paul Smith to come to the range to help them, but Smith was then in Great Falls, Montana, and could not be secured.

They are now hurling the charge of "Communist" at every worker who opposes them but the workers are getting wise to the fakers and no doubt the Central Union will soon again be back in the hands of the militants and the movement once again be made of some use to the workers instead of merely being a tool of politicians.

ENGLAND DUNS FRANCE FOR WAR DEBT PAYMENT

Morgan-Cal Combine to Be Appeased First

PARIS, July 2.—The foreign office today announced receipt of the expected note from Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the British exchequer, inviting the French government to begin negotiations for a settlement of the French war debt to England.

The foreign office announced that negotiations will first be undertaken for the settlement of the French debt to the United States before the government will be in a position to discuss the debt question with Britain.

County Employes' Pension.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 2. — The Marks bill, providing for the "creation, maintenance and administration" of an annuity and benefit fund for county employes in counties of 500,000 or more, became a law today without the governer's signature at the expiration of the time limit for the chief executive's action on it.

MURDER OF NEGRO PRISONER BY GUARDS TO BE "INVESTIGATED"

RALEIGH, N. C., July 2.—An investigation of North Carolina chain gang camps and prisons was ordered here by Governor McLean, following the flogging to death of a Negro prisoner at Rock Mount, and for which two gang guards are now awaiting trial for murder. The announcement was made after a conference between the governor and other state officials, and an expert of the health department has been assigned to investigate into further charges of unsanitary conditions existing in all North Carolina camps.

However, the killing of Negroes goes unpunished in the southern states.

STEALING AN ELECTION BY NEW METHODS

Mine Union Officers Conspire with Boss

By IRWIN
(Worker Correspondent)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 2.—Out of a total of 273 mines in District 5, western Pennsylvania, about 80 [illegible] at present operating and only [illegible] working full time. The terrible plight of the coal miners with unemployment and sufferings stalking thru the camps, knowing that the operators are deliberately and unscrupulously utilizing this situation as a means of pressure to compel them to accept a wage reduction and to ultimately give up the union, can easily be conceived.

Yet the most base attempts to take advantage of the situation to compel the rank and file members of the Miners' Union to give up their militant traditions, to exclude the fighters from amongst their ranks in order to get the masses of workers to submit to the demands of the bosses [illegible] unquestionably come from the [illegible] district officials working hand in hand with the coal operators.

Stealing Elections, New Mode.

Here is how they have invented new tricks to avoid, if possible, the stealing of elections in the ordinary manner and still build up their machine control.

The Vesta No. 4 mine is the biggest mine in Pennsylvania and one of the biggest in the world. It is a slope mine and has forged its way about eight miles into the hill with about that many more miles to go before the coal vein is exhausted. It used to employ 600 loaders with 300 day men producing an average of 6,000 tons of coal per day.

Some Slick Trick.

Now the company has put on 1,000 loaders with only 200 day men, altho the productive capacity could be increased to only a little less than 8,000 tons. The men were informed by the pit boss that dead work would not be paid for any more, and since the mine works only three days a week a double shift system was established.

Local No. 2399 covers the Vesta No. 4 mine. Its charter is held at Daisytown, Pa., but it meets alternately also at California and Richville, Pa., as many of the members are located in these two places.

A local election was held beginning June 15. The progressive forces nominated their own candidate for president, Simon Virta, long known as a militant member of the local, the machine placed a candidate in opposition to him, but it was generally admitted that Virta would carry the election.

Operator and Officials Unite Against Progressive.

He was a member of the pit committee until he became nominated for president when the mine superintendent, Edwards, informed him that he would have to go to work on the night shift. That would mean that he would be compelled to resign the pit committee, which was obviously the intention of the superintendent who, of course, does not like militants on there.

He refused to take the night shift. Board members Hines and Robertson were called in and District President Fagan gave them a hand, but they claimed they could do nothing to reinstate Virta on his job.

The district officials refused to let Virta take part in the negotiations with the mine superintendent. They could fix the job "better alone," and they did fix it right.

Not only was Virta eliminated from the pit committee but the officials also succeeded in eliminating him as a progressive candidate who was sure to win the election.

Deceiving the Membership.

The rank and file recognizes that the district officials and the mine superintendent talk the same language and work hand in hand to defeat the progressives and attain their common objects. Still many say: "Simon Virta has now lost his job, he will have to leave to seek work elsewhere, what is the use then to vote for him for local president?"

A Wrecking Plan.

The returns are not yet in, but when the tally sheet finally shows the election of the machine candidate by a majority vote, the rank and file will remember that this was another trick played upon them jointly by the mine management and the district officials and, serious as the outcome will be for the members of Local 2399, it will be but a small matter compared to the bigger job which is being pulled—the enforcement of the 1917 scale.

When finally accomplished, the district officials will again say that they "could do nothing," but the road has been prepared for the complete destruction of the union.

Laborite Calls Chamberlain "Cad."

LONDON, July 2. — The epithet "Cad!" was flung at Minister of Health Chamberlain by Neal McLean, laborite member of the house of commons, in a bitter scene at the close of another all-night session early today. McLean later withdrew his remarks.

“WAR ON RUSSIA!’ BRITISH THREAT

Friday marked a week's anniversary of the battle begun by the International Tailoring Company to break the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Union and establish "open shop" under the scab label of the United Garment Workers. And a lively anniversary it was.

With every one of the 800 strikers standing out solid, the strikers' spirit is better than ever. The firm thought that about 30 per cent would stay, but not one remained, only about 25 scabs furnished by the scab agency of the United Garment crew are on hand, and not one solitary garment has been made by them. They are too busy thinking how they are going to get back home with a whole skin.

Won't Fall for "Worth While"

Even the firm's bluff about joining a "union worth while" cannot fool any garment worker in Chicago. Some of the bosses stay outside the shop—having nothing to do inside—and smile at the strikers, wanting to be "friendly." They do not get much encouragement from their reception, however. The assistant foremen are asking for a vacation, no work to do, anyhow.

Masses of pickets cover the streets and sidewalks morning, noon and night. Despite the 100 uniform police,

AS WE SEE IT.

By T. J. O'FLAHERTY

THE kaiser's movements are puzzling the Dutch, so the papers tell us. Old "Me Un Gott" is returning to his old tendency towards loquacity tho he promised to keep a tight hold on his lips when he was given asylum in Holland. The socialists were good to old Bill. They took over his government, and preserved it for his capitalists. They gave Bill plenty of money to live on and saw to it that his property was held inviolate. Now Bill is sending telegrams to the German monarchists signed "William Rex." As we have often said before, Bill is much more lively than his cousin Nicky, late of Russia.

ONE of the conditions on which the Wall Street bankers granted financial relief to the Mexican government, was that "superfluous" employes be eliminated from the railroads. This "reform," Calles promised to carry out. It was reported that the labor leaders were "sold" on this step. Perhaps they were bought and sold. However, the rank and file were not so satisfied. This accounts for a headline in the papers which reads: "Army Ready for Railroad Strike," and "President of Mexico prepares for trouble over economy move."

THE dispatch goes on to tell us that the minister of war in the "socialist" government of Mexico has ordered all commanders to call units of the federal army to quarters. The members of the railmen's union have threatened to strike and Calles is determined that he will carry out the orders of the Wall Street bankers even if he has to march over the dead bodies of the workers.

WHEN Kellogg sent his blundering note to Calles recently, the DAILY WORKER pointed out that the thing looked stagey. Calles was faithfully carrying out his bargain with Wall Street. But, by the very loyalty of his conduct towards the United States capitalists, Calles was fast losing the confidence of the Mexican workers and peasants. Therefore it was necessary to indulge in a little stage play with Wall Street, such as the late Sam Gompers used to pull off with Judge Gary every once in a while.

SOCIALIST and labor governments, while capitalism is recognized as the dominant social system, are nothing but handmaidens of business. We saw them in action in Germany, England, New Zealand, Australia, Denmark, Sweden, and Poland. They treated the workers just as the avowed capitalist governments did. They pretended to be governments of all the people, just as the avowed capitalist governments. And when the capitalists had no more use for them, they kicked them out.

INDIAN RAILWAY STRIKERS MARCH WITH RED FLAG

Secretary Would End Walkout of 20,000

NEW YORK, July 3.—A procession of 10,000 of the 20,000 railway workers striking on the North Western Railway of India marched thru Lahore bearing a banner dyed red with the strikers' own blood.

The general secretary of the All-India Railwaymen's Unions Federation, M. A. Khap, independent of the Indian Trade Union Congress, says that the strike began two months ago and has been growing. It originated over the dismissal of a worker but was fed by general discontent among the workers over low wages. Many of the workers have been evicted by police from company houses.

Their pay is little and many of the workers are illiterate. The union secretary, however, is attempting to settle the strike by calling in government "arbitration".

There are about 700,000 railway workers in all India. They are being called on to aid strikers who are hungry and homeless.

Imperialism at London Blames Soviets for Woes

LONDON, July 3.—Pessimism over the international situation, which is clouded with a possibility of war with Soviet Russia, is felt by many high officials as the imperialist interests of Great Britain seem falling into a crisis which threatens to break the power of Britain unless by war, which may involve the whole world, she can regain the ground she is losing.

Threatened by a nationalist liberation revolution in China which is cutting off a tenacle of the British imperialist octopus, and with India, as a consequence of both China's and Soviet Russia's example in likelihood of an explosion that would shatter the age-old British Empire into a heap of ruins, the British Tory cabinet is scheming to place upon Soviet Russia the blame for the war Britain feels she must face.

Wholesale propaganda of British agents at home and abroad to the effect that the Soviet government is directly inciting the liberation movement in India and China is a part of this English alibi for the coming war.

Under the shelter of this cry which England thinks she can make the world believe, Britain's aggression against Soviet Russia takes the form of a demand on Soviet Russia regarding "revolutionary propaganda" in India, made informally by Lord Birkenhead and a majority of the cabinet wish to use this excuse to break off all relations with the Soviet power and prepare for war.

The reply of Georges Tchitcherin, Soviet Commissar for foreign affairs, reminds England bluntly that severance of relations would be an unfriendly act "the last consequences of which is war."

The dispatches of one of the best informed European journalists, Karl Von Wiegand, from Berlin, indicate that Soviet Russia, desiring only peace with other nations, is no longer the football of international imperialists and speaking to the British work-

UNITE FOR THE SUPPORT OF THE CHINESE PEOPLE AGAINST BRUTAL TYRANNY OF WORLD IMPERIALISTS

An appeal to the trade unions, the socialist party, and all other organizations sympathizing with the cause of the Chinese people has been made jointly by the All-American Anti-Imperialist League, the Workers (Communist) Party and the Trade Union Educational League as follows:

THE Chinese people are waging a valiant struggle for their independence and against the brutal oppression of the foreign imperialists. The toiling masses of China demand that the imperialists get out of China and let the Chinese people develop freely their own lives and manage themselves their own affairs.

But, the rapacious imperialists of America, England, Japan, and France, the capitalist powers that are holding China in their grip, refuse to accede to the rightful demands of the Chinese people. Foreign imperialism is determined to hold on to China by sheer force, by jailing, persecution, and wholesale murder. Already many workers and students have been killed by the agents of foreign imperialism in Shanghai, Hanken, Cindaw, and many other places where the Chinese masses have dared to demand the right to their own country.

At this very moment the imperialists of England, and Japan, are carrying on a joint military intervention to subdue the revolt of the Chinese masses. This means war. This means the sacrifice of thousands of people on the altar of capitalism and imperialism. It means more suffering and misery for the masses of England, America, France, and Japan, as well as for the people of China.

The situation demands united action of all working class forces in support of the just demands of the Chinese people. The labor movement of the United States is vitally interested in the success of the struggles of the Chinese workers against their capitalist exploiters as well as in the struggles of the Chinese people for national freedom and independence.

Realizing the gravity of the situation and the duties that it imposes upon the labor movement of the United States, the All-American, Anti-Imperialist League, the Workers (Communist) Party of America, and the Trade Union Educational League call upon the trade unions, the socialist party, and all other organizations of workers and poor farmers to join hands for common action in support of the struggles of the Chinese people.

We propose the calling of united front conferences of all labor and other organizations favoring the cause of the Chinese masses to organize and lead this campaign. We propose that all forces of labor, irrespective of political aims or affiliations, join hands for common action in support of the following demands:

THE CANCELLATION OF ALL TREATIES HUMILIATING TO CHINA, AND THE CANCELLATION OF THE EXTRA-TERRITORIAL RIGHTS FOR FOREIGNERS.

GRANT THE DEMANDS OF THE CHINESE WORKERS NOW ON STRIKE.

WOULD SUPPRESS PUBLICITY OF PLOTS OF UNITED STATES TO BRING ON WAR IN THE PACIFIC

(Special to The Daily Worker)

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The Navy Department has been asked by Representative Sumners (D) of Texas to make an "investigation" of the statement of Edward L. Doheny that he was told by Admiral J. K. Robison that the United States feared a war in the Pacific.

Sumners said naval officers or other officials of the government "should be kept from divulging such information to private citizens." Sumners did not doubt the truth of the "war scare" story.

TRI-DISTRICT MINE CONVENTION ADJOURNS; PROGRESSIVES BATTLE HARD FOR HIGHER WAGE DEMANDS

SCRANTON, Pa., July 3.—The tri-district convention adjourned last night after the scale committee had rushed thru its report in about two hours' time, following a big battle between progressives and the Lewis-Cappellini machine.

The committee proposed only a ten per cent wage increase and a dollar increase for company laborers.

Pat Toohey and Howell of Pottsville, along with other progressives demanded a twenty per cent increase with a two dollar raise for the laborers.

Lewis Clashes with Progressives.

Lewis continually interrupted the progressive speakers and shook his fist at Toohey. Evidently, however, the Progressive Miners' Committee and the rank and file attention and adherence it has won, has learned John L. not to go beyond such demonstrations at present.

Cappellini was bitterly attacked by speaker after speaker from the Progressives for his betrayals of the rank and file, but Lewis ruled always that discussion on Cappellini was "out of order."

Pat Toohey demanded action on the conciliation board resolution on which the committee failed to report. None the less, the battle by the adherents of the Progressive Miners' Committee in the convention of the Tri-District marks a significant step forward for the American miners.

Besides the political resolutions adopted previously, many of the measures of the Progressives were adopted such as the payment on tonnage basis, higer pay for overtime, payment for dead work, and other matters of great interest to the miners.

ANTI-IMPERIALIST OPEN AIR MEETINGS TO BE HELD TONIGHT

At the meeting of the South Side English branch of the Workers (Communist) Party, five Negro workers who had attended last week's street meetings filled in applications and applied for entrance into the Workers Party. The branch meets at 3201 South Wabash Ave.

Tonight anti-imperialist open air meetings will be conducted on the corner of 32nd and State and 30th and State Sts., as well as several other South Side corners. J. Louis Engdahl, Robert Minor, Paul Cline, Victor Zokaitis, Nat Kaplan and Karl Reeve will be among the speakers.

Other street meetings will be held thruout the city.

FOREIGN IMPERIALISTS REFUSE TO DISCUSS CHINESE TREATIES AND NEW CONFERENCE COLLAPSES

PEKING, China, July 3.—Upon the refusal of the representatives of the foreign powers to discuss treaty revision and the whole causative background of the murder of Chinese by foreign troops at Shanghai and the resulting national strike, the Chinese members of the conference attended by both sides to discuss the events at Shanghai, resigned yesterday, causing a breakdown of the conference. The parley had just started.

LABOR COUNCIL, LOS ANGELES, IS AGAINST WAR

By R. BELLIT

(Worker Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES, July 3.—The Central Labor Council of Los Angeles, refused to participate in the mobilization program of Defense Day July 4th.

John Horn, secretary of the Central Labor Council, pleaded for the Defense Day. He made a motion that all the delegates should officially represent organized labor of Los Angeles at the parade: furthermore he want that the communication of the war department should be published in The Citizen, official weekly of the Central Labor Council.

During his speech he did not overlook to remind the delegates that 10 Communists were expelled of the council due to their disloyalty and unpatriotic attitude. He also threatened should the council decide contrarily to his motion. He himself as an individual would attend the parade.

In reply to that the delegate of the Cigar Makers' Union Local No. 225 said, "Should you decide to fine one hundred dollars, I shall refuse to take part in that shameless imperialist parade." He also pointed out that war is always the rich man's sport where the poor man is the looser.

Other delegates opposed the motion. When a vote was taken, the results was as follows: 24 for the motion, and 27 against, approximately about 25 have not voted at all.

There is no doubt about that, that organized labor of Los Angeles is against the Defense Day parade, against war, against the imperialistic operations of Sec'y. of War Weeks. John Horn is a little bit in despair, he had seen that when he goes too far, then, his own fellowers are turning away from him.

bunches of detectives with their machine guns and riot clubs and billies and the private sluggers in droves, the already small number of scabs is being whittled down. The strikers manage to talk with them in one language or another and put forth convincing argument against scabbing.

Scabs Have Gay Time.

Twelve of these smelly United Garment scabs were let out of the back door into the alley, lined up like prisoners surrounded by 15 cops and a squad of sluggers, marched like prisoners out into the street along the gutter of one block, into the alley on the next block and by devious route into the elevated station. There the cops tried to stop the pickets from entering until the scabs were safely flown, but one woman managed to have a chat with one scab, who was so interested that he went away and forgot his hat, which wasn't worth much except for cow feed, however.

The outside contract firms that used to make many of the firms' order have shut off doing so, and at the meeting Friday night of shop chairmen, instructions were issued to stop all attempts to get the scabby firms orders made in other shops.

The morale of the strikers is excellent and they are determined to see the fight thru, in spite of all police brutality, there being nine arrests Thursday and many clubbings by the police, one striker being knocked down with the butt end of a gun. Among those arrested were M. Weiss, M. Ziccarelli and Mike Florida.

Have to Fight Class War.

The meetings at Hod Carriers' Hall maintain the mass morale at fighting pitch. Many officials spoke. Referring to the Fourth of July, one speaker said, "The patriots will tell you about liberty and democracy, but the workers never get any of either unless they fight for it. They will tell you this stuff on Saturday, but when you come down to the shop on Monday you will get slugged and arrested for your share of liberty and democracy."

General Organizer Grandinatti, just came from St. Louis, told the strikers here of the strike there against the Curlees Company and what the strike meant for the union, and an official of Local 39 pledged that the 12,000 members of that local would stand by the International strikers to the point of going on strike if necessary to aid them.

Up to Chicago Federation.

The strikers are waiting impatiently to see what will be the response of the labor unions of the Chicago Federation of Labor next Sunday to the scabbing agreement of the United Garment Workers crew headed by George C. Slater.

Austen Chamberlain, foreign minister, is more shrewd than Birkenhead and fears to venture upon the road to war with what amounts to the working class of the world. But—even Chamberlain says that Britain "will take whatever steps are necessary to protect British interests."

Regarding the charges that Soviet Russia is directly aiding the Chinese liberation movement, dispatches from Moscow state that Tchitcherin has declared in an official statement that while the workers and peasants of Russia are on the side of the Chinese in their struggle for complete liberation from foreign domination, the Soviet government has a policy of avoiding any action which could be regarded as intervention in China's affairs.

CURLEE STRIKE EFFECTIVE; NO CLOTHES MADE

St. Louis Girls Fight Loyally for Union

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 3.—The St. Louis strike of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of Curlee Manufacturing Co. has been bitterly fought for over a month. The Police brutality in the strike aroused the public to such an extent that a protest meeting was held by men and women, representing many organizations on Wednesday afternoon.

Lawyers, doctors, businessmen and club women expressed their disapproval of the methods used by the employers to break this strike. Nearly $3,000 in fines have filed-up against the strikers in wholesale arrests.

In one day, fifty-two union men and women were arrested, and every day many more are dragged to court on all kinds of trumped-up charges.

Mother Bloor, former General Organizer of the United Cloth Hat & Cap Makers, now touring the country for the DAILY WORKER, received a great ovation from the strikers at their meeting on Thursday morning, where she appeared, very unexpectedly, and addressed them—on the fundamental principles of their great union—solidarity of all workers in the shop, without regard to color, race nationality or creed.

She showed how the standards of living both mental and physical, had been uplifted by the power of the workers themselves. That union men and women do things for themselves, do not ask charity in any form.

Good union men and women are self-respecting workers with an interest in there own class, their own life, and their fellow workers.

Brother Oliver is doing good work as manager of the strike and is ably assisted by some of the women organizers.

One feature of this strike is the great activity of the women workers. They are just as strong as when the fight first started, and are out to win recognition of the union and union conditions for their shop in spite of police brutality, in spite of Curlee's determination to make open shop conditions, and even in spite of the injunction issued against the picketing. They are good strikers and know what they want.

TO ASK FEDERAL WRIT TO HALT SCOPES' TRIAL

Clarance Darrow has announced that a federal injunction will be asked Monday to restrain in the state of Tennessee from prosecuting John T. Scopes.

This means that, if the injunction is granted, the widely heralded "evolution trial" will not take place July 10 in Dayton as scheduled.

Instead the case will be one merely of local technicalities, without witnesses being called and without the subject of evolution itself being discussed, and will be held before a federal court.

"A favorable decision in our petition for an injunction will save Mr. Scopes from trial," said Darrow "and will be a very detrimental influence upon further prosecutions in Tennessee and upon further passage of similar 'Gag Laws' by other states."

Imperialist "War" Cry Herald of Labor's Civil War Against Capitalism

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

TODAY, the imperialist cry for "WAR!" voiced from the slavery mouths of the billion copies of its inspired daily press, thunders 'round the globe. The imperialists try, as best they can, to forget their differences, in China, in North Africa, in Mexico, everywhere, in their frantic efforts to unite in the common cry for "WAR!" against their recognized common foe, the Union of Soviet Republics.

• • • •

London dispatches say that the majority of the tory cabinet that rules the British empire is in favor of breaking off all diplomatic relations with Georges Tchitcherin, Soviet foreign minister, who declares that severing of relations would be an unfriendly act, "the last consequence of which is war."

No secret diplomacy here. The Soviet foreign minister points the goal toward which British imperialisism is heading. The British workers will be advised accordingly.

U. S. imperialism, with its political seat in Washington, is trying to call the anti-Chinese allies into conference to discuss the difficult dilemma of international banditry in the Orient.

The dollar dictatorship at Washington is just as convinced as Baldwin rule in London that "Moscow" is to blame for the flaming unrest that is sweeping Asia, in ever-widening regions, that "Moscow" is responsible for the uprising of the peoples of North Africa, from the coast of the Atlantic to the Nile, that it is "Moscow" that is plotting "Soviet Rule" in the Mexican republic on the southern brink of continental Wall Street. Thus imperialism stands blind upon the precipice.

• • • •

President P. W. Kuo, of the Southeastern University, of Nanking, China, speaks to the students of the Rockefeller oil university, pointing out that Soviet Russia has come forward proclaiming herself to be China's best friend. Foreign Minister Tchitcherin, at Moscow, issues a statement declaring that:

> "Altho the sympathies of the Russians are on the side of the Chinese in their struggle for complete liberation from foreign domination, the Soviet government's policy is to avoid any action which could be regarded as intervention in China's international affairs."

• • • •

The Soviet Union does not need to intervene in China. Imperialism has created in China all the conditions necessary for the present revolutionary struggle, not only against imperialism, but also against native capitalism.

The growing proletarian masses in China are developing their struggle for all power, in common with the struggle of American labor, British labor, French labor, German labor, all in their own countries.

President Kuo, from Rockefeller's forum, urges the United States to take the same attitude toward China that has been adopted by the Soviet Union. He asks the impossible. Imperialism goes abroad to plunder and murder, to oppress subject peoples. Bolshevism, on the other hand, struggles for the world fraternity of all peoples, for a world economy, where no great nations will crucify smaller nations on its altar of greed, but all live in harmony and peaceful development. President Kuo will learn that as the struggle in China develops, if he continues to cling to the Soviet viewpoint.

And the world imperialists, torn by internal rivalries, will not be able to develop unity, neither against the Chinese people nor against the Soviet Union. It is the United States against the Japanese, the French against the British, or any other combinations that keen competition for domination in the Orient, or elsewhere, demands.

Not even "WAR!" against the Soviet Union will unite all capitalism. Within every capitalist nation there stands the growing proletarian power demanding civil war against and the overthrow of the capitalist oppressor.

World imperialism cries "WAR!" World labor replies, "Then let there be war!" But not the fratricidal war fought by workers of one nation, or group of nations, against the workers of another nation, or group of nations. But let it be the war of the workers against the present master class, that sees its sun rapidly setting.

This is something for the workers of the United States to think about on so-called "Defense Day," July 4, 1925. It must be a day of defense of working class interests, a milestone of the growing offensive of the working class against the boss class, that ends in labor's victory.

CHINESE ON BRITISH BOAT STRIKE

and to communicate such news to the editors, I find such an instance obscurely concealed in the Shipping News column of the San Francisco Examiner of June 27. It says:

> "VICTORIA, British Columbia, June 26—After four days' delay here, the steamer "City of Vancouver" left Pier No. 1 for Australia manned with a white crew. Twenty-four reactionary (Why the word "reactionary" instead of "revolutionary" only Christ and the Frisco Examiner editor knows—M. H.) Chinese who refused duty, were today sentenced in police court here to six weeks in jail with hard labor. The ship laden with 4,750,000 feet of lumber, cleared for sea at 6 o'clock tonight, after recruiting the white crew."

To me three queries arise: How can these Chinese seamen be imprisoned who have left their boat safely in a port? What can be said of the "superior" Anglo-Saxons who scab on Chinese striking union seamen? Thirdly, will somebody in the marine unions of the United States or Canada, cable a demand on the Australian port workers' unions to show international solidarity and lay a boycott on the lumber cargo of the "City of Vancouver?"

Brokerage Firm Did Not Meet Payments

A $30,000,000 crash rocked the financial district here yesterday when Dean Onativia and Co., one of the oldest brokerage houses in Chicago was placed in the hands of receivers by Federal Judge Carpenter.

Creditor banks filed the petition. The Chicago Title and Trust Co. was named receiver.

Chester R. Davis of the Chicago Title and Trust Co., was placed in charge of the company's offices, occupying an entire floor of a loop office building.

Offices Closed.

Davis barred every one but his immediate aids from the offices, and details concerning the financial difficulties of the company were meagre.

29 Million Liabilities.

The petition for receivership was filed in conjunction with a petition for adjudication. Altho merchandising bills totalling $844.73 threw the firm into receivership, the receivership petition avers that the liabilities of the firm approximate $29,000,000.

"Its said liabilities of $29,000,000," the petition avers, "are almost wholly stock and other securities which are in fact the property of its customers and are pledged in various banks."

The petition charged that the firm committed an act of bankruptcy on July 1 by paying to Charles J. Trottman $22,000 with intent, it is alleged, to give Trottman preference over other creditors.

So suddenly did the petition come that the board of governors of the Board of Trade were not appraised of the action until late last night, after, it is understood, the creditors held a meeting and determined upon the bankruptcy proceedings. A meeting of the governors was called at 6 A. M. and the board voted the customary five day suspension.

New York Petition.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Coincident with the announcement that the New York Stock Exchange suspended the firm of Dean Onativia and Company, for failure to meet its obligations, an involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in the United States District Court against the firm by three employes.

The assets were given at $4,000,000 and liabilities $1,000,000 in excess of assets, according to the petitioning creditors.

The suspension had little effect on the trading in Wall Street, altho it brougtt some liquidation for evening up accounts.

The New York Curb Market followed the exchange, and also announced suspension of the company.

William M. Cannon of the New York Federal Court was appointed receiver for Dean Onativia & Co. under a bond of $50,000.

Three Months of Communist Building

Statement of the Central Executive Committee of the Workers (Communist) Party on the Conclusion of the Second Annual Daily Worker Subscription Drive.

The Communist Press is the collective organizer of the party and collective organizer of the working class". Lenin has written these words and the import of them has been emphasized by the history and the development of every Communist party.

The DAILY WORKER has concluded its second annual subeription campaign which during a three months period succeeded in adding 3200 new subscribers to the army of DAILY WORKER readers. Three thousand two hundred workers have thus been brought closer to the Communists. The most militant and intelligent among them will be brought into the party ranks. Most of the rest will from now on follow the leadership of the Workers Party, will support the Communist program. An important progress in the organization of the party and of the working class has been made.

Important as they are, however, the results of this campaign give no cause for great elation.

An appraisal of the campaign shows us that one new subscriber has been gained during the past three months for every ten members of the party. Many of those who were active during the campaign secured many more than one subscription each. It it therefore apparent that less than one tenth of the party membership participated in the campaign.

There is only one DAILY WORKER. It is the organ upon which the party depends to reach the widest masses of workers. It follows therefore that the entire party, everyone of its units, every member must utilize the DAILY WORKER to the utmost, must connect the DAILY WORKER in the most intimate manner with every party activity. That means that in every activity of the party and in every place the party or its members function the DAILY WORKER must be held to the forefront. If this is done it will not require three months of intensive campaign to secure three thousand new DAILY WORKER readers, but this number and more can be secured every week.

How can the party fulfill its obligations toward the DAILY WORKER? How can the party reap the full benefit from its possession of a daily organ in the English language?

First of all it is necessary that the party apply itself organizationally to its DAILY WORKER tasks in the same manner in which it undertakes all its major activities. THERE MUST BE COMPLETE AND COMPETENT ORGANIZATION. In every unit, every City Central, branch, nucleus, trade union or industrial fraction there must me a DAILY WORKER representative, competent and active in promoting the circulation of the DAILY WORKER. At every meeting of these units the WORKER must be on the order of business, reports of accomplishments made and plans and assignments of work considered.

Secondly the DAILY WORKER MUST BE MADE THE ORGAN OF EVERY STRUGGLE OF THE WORKING CLASS. This does not mean simply that the party shall issue a manifesto on each of the major working class issues. It means that wheresver there is an attempt of the working class to fight against the enemy, to better its conditions, to increase its strength, whether it be a movement comprising thousands or whether it concerns only a few, there the party members involved must make the DAILY WORKER the champion of the workers. By sending in news, by securing copies of the DAILY WORKER containing the pertinent articles and distributing them among the workers, by following up these activities to make steady DAILY WORKER readers.

The party depends on the DAILY WORKER more than on any other institution or weapon for its health and growth. The DAILY WORKER depends on extending its subscription list for the extension of its influence and for its very existence.

Our press is the collective organizer of our party and of the working class. In times of campaign and out the party membership, all of it, is charged with the duty of working for our press, writing for it and extending its circulation.

The second annual DAILY WORKER subscription campaign has ended. The daily subscription campaigns the membership must wage for the DAILY WORKER goes on every day by instruction of the Communist International and the Central Executive Committee, and no member is exempt from participation.

SAN FRANCISCO AND MONESSEN LEAD SUB CAMPAIGN

Thirty Two Hundred New Subs Secured

The second great attempt to build the DAILY WORKER is over. For approximately three months active workers thruout the country banded together in the happy task of building their own paper, and 3,200 new subscriptions were added to the list. This figure excludes renewals sent in and subscriptions sent by the subscribers themselves.

San Francisco (Bay District), filling ninety percent of its quota of 170 new subs. took the lead in the last two weeks of the campaign, when with the united effort of the local and chiefly thru the guiding activity of District Organizer Comrade Lewis and City Agent Comrade P. B. Cowdery, they instituted the drive which terminated with San Francisco far in the lead.

Local Philadelphia is deserving of hardly less credit. City Agent Comrade Lena Rosenberg, leading the work that resulted in 186 new subs to fill seventy four percent of the quota, considering local conditions, did a Communist job to be proud of.

Buffalo, N. Y., a comparatively small local, with the great assistance of the Finnish branch came in third and only one point behind second. Here again, the hard work and patient insistence of City Agent Comrade Dirba was greatly responsible.

Minneapolis, followed by Milwaukee, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Detroit and St. Paul did well—and in each of these cities the City Agent, part of the splendidly improving DAILY WORKER machinery, was chiefly responsible for the showing made.

New York had a much more difficult problem. Only shortly before the campaign, this local mainly thru the efforts and good generalship of Comrade L. E. Katterfeld, secured over three thousand new short term subs at a monster meeting held there. The whole city organization from then on was engaged in the gigantic task of securing renewals and the 621 new subs secured in the campaign is a comparatively good performance.

All cities, including those of outstanding campaign performance, have a problem on hand which necessarily becomes now the immediate task. Intense interest in only one phase of DAILY WORKER activity, that of securing new subs. permitted the overlooking of a careful follow-up of renewals and the close attention to newsstand sales. Both these matters, especially for the large cities, are and must be one of the chief angles of DAILY WORKER activity—supplementing shop and factory drives.

Smaller Cities Best

Where no city having a quota of over hundred subs has filled its campaign obligations, among these having a quota of less than one hundred, nine locals went over the top.

Monessen, Pa., leads them all with 260 per cent. A small group of the Young Workers League was chiefly responsible. Led by Leo Kauppila, they have contributed the outstanding performance of the whole campaign.

West Allis, Wis., a suburb of Milwaukee came second. In Pottsville, Pa., and other smaller cities, each performance can be directly attributed to a single individual—usually the DAILY WORKER Agent.

One of the really splendid showings made was that of Comrade J. C. Das of New Orleans. Single handed, without the aid of any Communist units, this comrade left obligated to fill his quota and did—getting the ten subs needed.

This is the caliber of Communist Builders and sympathetic workers to whom most of the success of this campaign can be traced directly—and with the further election of DAILY WORKER Agents in every single Communist unit in the country, insistance on their proper functioning, and support from every Communist member to these most important activities, the DAILY WORKER can grow to be one of the world's really great Communist papers.

PROF. DOUBTS JULY FOURTH; GETS CANNED

Declaration of Independence Under Glass

"When the 'Fathers' signed their 'Declaration of Independence' on July 4th, 1776, they were not aware that they were not doing what they thot they were." This statement was made public today by Professor E. M. Butterworth of the National Institute for Historic Research at his home in Mount Olivia, Conn. He bases this not at all startling disclosure on a number of documents in the possession of the Institute which, the professor says, "indicate that July 4th was an inopportune time chosen by the signatories, since," he goes on, "April First would have been a far more appropriate date."

Couldn't Write Own Names.

In addition, Professor Butterworth said that his own personal researches had led him to doubt very much whether the declaration had been signed at all. The mere existence of such a document, he said, "is by no means convincing to one, like myself, who is required to repudiate historic forgeries every day in the year. Furthermore, I know of at least two dozen of the so-called signatories who couldn't write their own names."

"And," he concluded, "what better evidence would you need to lead you to doubt the existence of a document than that the purpose for which the document was supposed to have been signed have at no time been achieved."

Two hours after the above interview was given, Professor Butterworth was notified by the board of directors of the Institute by wire that he "would be making a very great mistake to suppose that he would be allowed to continue in the services of the institute."

Chicagoans Offer to Listen.

As soon as this news was made public another wire was received at Mount Olivia from Chicago, inviting Professor Butterworth to speak at a great picnic there at Beyer's grove. This wire said in part "We will have on July Fourth no less than 30,000 people assembled in Chicago who will be glad to hear what you have to say about the declaration of independence. The mere fact that most of them know already as much as you [illegible] about the matter should not be a deterrent to your speaking to them." The professor will not come. But it is reported from Chicago that there will be better speakers at the Grove on Saturday.

AS WE SEE IT -:- By T. J. O'Flaherty

THERE is only one real government of the workers in existence and that is the Soviet government. It does not pretend to be fair or impartial. It openly admits that it exists for the benefit of the workers and peasants and only tolerates capitalist production until the development of industry and the onward march of the revolution in other countries permits the socialization of all industry and the gradual Communization of society. The antics of the socialist Calles, the tool, of the American capitalists is another eyeopener for the workers.

THINGS are geting blacker in Italy. The fascisti are getting crazier. During the course of a sermon a priest urged his parishioners to increase their offerings to the church a penny each because the lira had fallen. He was immediately arrested by the local fascisti and thrown into jail. He was afterwards released. The lira is going down and so are the blackshirts.

DULL is that page of a capitalist newspaper on which is not featured at least one story telling of the activities of the Communist International or the Soviet government. Four, is the count on one page of last Wednesday's Daily News. A Soviet "agent" was arrested in Shanghai with instructions on his person for organizing strike committees; another story of a stool-pigeon who thot he could fool the Gay-Pay—; a story of a civil war between Zinoviev and Dzerjinsky and another one telling of the great fear which pervades Latvia—fear of the Russian Red Army.

WHERE there is much smoke there is liable to be some fire. The capitalists have good reason to fear Soviet Russia. Here is tangible proof of what the working class can accomplish. The old bunk that the workers would not know what to do with industry if it were handed to them is successfully exploded. The Communist idea is going thru the world like a torpedo and it will finally sink the capitalist ship.

GOVERNMENT DOES NOT DENY THE CHARGE OF TEAPOT DOMER THAT U. S. EXPECTED PACIFIC WAR SOON

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Official comment was lacking here today on the statement of Edward L. Doheny that a "war scare" in the Pacific caused the government to contract with him for the building of storage tanks at Hawaii and his oil leases in California, and thus speed war preparations.

At the office of the government oil counsel, it was pointed out that the "national defense angle" referred to by Doheny was brought out in the hearings before the senate public land commitee, but that little attention has been paid to it in the trials of Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair as the state and navy departments "did not regard it as important."

Atlee Pomerane and Owen J. Roberts, the oil counsel, are enroute to Cheyenne and Los Angeles to appear in the federal courts in connection with the civil cases growing out of the Sinclair and Doheny leases.

July 4—Anti-Imperialism Day!

The widely extended lines of American imperialism reach out to all quarters of the earth as millions of American workers and farmers celebrate the founding of this nation just 150 years ago.

The United States of America won its freedom from Great Britain by armed struggle. Thirteen colonial provinces, peopled by farmers, hunters and trappers, with a thin fringe of manufacturing and trading population along the Atlantic coast, decreed their independence, fought to gain and maintain it.

For a decade after the recognition of their independence by Great Britain the thirteen colonies were torn by internal strife separatism and rebellion.

The diluted history taught American children tells nothing of the strife and chaos of this period. The general assumption therefore is that once the foreign tyrants had been ousted peace, order and prosperity reigned at once.

We mention this fact because the moral justification for American imperialism's interventions in Haiti, Mexico, Santo Domingo, the Philippines, China, Russia, Cuba and other colonial and semi-colonial nations is that it is necessary to institute "law and order."

The theft of the natural resources, the enslavement of the population, the imposition of American dictatorships—open or disguised—is veiled by this camouflage and the cries and groans of the founded and dying victims of machine-gun democracy are drowned by the slogan of "Americanization."

Great masses of workers and farmers are coming to understand the hypocrital nature of the American ruling class. There is no longer any great enthusiasm created by schemes for extending the Wall Street empire and the erection of a huge military machine for its use.

But imperialism dare not cease its efforts for militarization of the American masses. Its interests abroad are so huge now that their loss would mean the crippling of capitalism at home. It must strive ever for greater conquests and more complete domination of the colonial and native masses.

In Europe and in the Pacific American imperialism comes into conflict with other great powers having similar ambitions—Great Britain and Japan. Sooner or later our rulers know that the imperialistic conflicts, the logical sequence of commercial competition can be settled only by war—commercial competition carried to its final stage.

American Imperialism Prepares for War

What else can mean the great naval maneuvers in American history, the extension of the military training camp system, the division of the whole nation into army corps areas, the skeleton detachments of transportation and industrial units already set up, the allotment of tentative war-contracts to the capitalists in a dozen industries, the agitation for larger naval appropriations, the war-like speeches of the militarists, the flag-waving in the schools, the militarization of thousands of children in the Boy Scouts, and finally—

The setting of July 4—Independence day—as the date for a test mobilization of the armed forces of American imperialism!

The national pride in the achievements of the colonial revolutionists 150 years ago is to be diverted into channels that will serve the bloody purposes of the most powerful and brutal group of conquerors in the world today.

Against the conspiracy of the imperialists the Workers (Communist) Party of America opposes the slogan of "Unity of the Worlds Oppressed Peoples!"

Against the rule of the war lords of Wall Street it raises the slogan of "A Workers and Farmers Government!"

To the dictatorship of the capitalists it opposes the slogan of "The Dictatorship of the Workingclass!"

Hands off China!
Hands off Mexico!
Recognize Soviet Russia!

Tender Cannon Fodder

Six hundred Chicago high school boys yesterday started in to fit themselves for the day when they will be taken by the scruff of the neck and planted where they can play at being "African Dodgers" with shrapnel shells taking the place of tennis balls. They will have a lot of fun, and should the cannons be successful in locating them, the parents of the little boys will have the satisfaction of knowing that their sons died bravely fighting to preserve civilization from whoever the diabolical enemy of civilization happens to be. It may be Japan; it may be Russia; it may be Britian or it may be Mexico.

Besides preparing the boys' bodies for war, the militarists will also prepare their minds for the struggle against the working class, from whose loins those boys sprung. How tragic, that the flesh and blood of the workers should be used against the workers? What a pity that the workers not only produce surplus values for their masters but they also give them their children for use either in fighting some competitors or fighting the workers themselves?

Full of Hope or Full of Hop

The bible says that "hope deferred maketh the heart sick" but the czarist in France either never heard of the bibilical saying or else it means nothing to them.

The latest contribution made to the gayety of nations by the Russian monarchists, yellow socialists, democrats, and plain bandits who inhabit the cellars and dives of Paris, Berlin and London, is the formation of a "national parliament" in Paris which is designed to supplant the Soviet government. On the roster of the committee organizing this burlesque outfit are the names of men prominent in the Czarist regime when that gentleman existed. A few well known "socialists" are among them.

Where are they getting the money to indulge in their antics? Much tho the Soviet government may appreciate innocent hilarity it is not likely that the pantomine is financed from Moscow. Is it possible that Britain driven to desperation by the progress made by the Soviet government in the Orient is preparing to stake her future in the East on the last throw of the imperial dice?

WORKERS MEET TO FIGHT RULE OF IMPERIALISM

Demonstration Against Oppression Nationwide

The militant workers of the country will gather by the thousands at anti-imperialist meetings, demonstrations, and picnics to express their working class solidarity and protest against the attempts of big business to create a war spirit by forcing a mobilization of workers on July 4.

Thousands of leaflets have already been distributed, bearing the declaration of the Workers (Communist) Party which calls on the workers to denounce the exploitation by the imperialists of the victims of the profit system.

Meetings in New York.

New York has already held an anti-imperialist night of open air meetings at which speakers carried the message of opposition to exploitation of the United States' workers and the colonial peoples to thousands of New York workers. Five large meetings were held in Union Square, Harlem, Brownsville, and Williamsburg.

A meeting will be held in Chicago tomorrow at which C. T. Chi, member of the Chinese Students' Alliance, will speak against the use of American troops to shoot down the striking Chinese workers.

Chicago Demonstration.

James P. Cannon, member of the Central Executive committee of the Workers (Communist) Party, will be the principal speaker. H. V. Phillips will speak on Imperialism and the Negro, and Ella Reeve Bloor will speak on the DAILY WORKER. The picnic and demonstration will be held in Beyer's Grove, California and Irving Park Blvd.

Protest in Minneapolis.

On July 5, at 7 p. m., a monster protest and indignation meeting will be held in Minneapolis, at Washington Square, to demand the withdrawal of American troops from China and protest against the enslavement of the Chinese workers by foreign imperialism, including American capitalism.

A picnic will also be held in Minneapolis on July 4, at 33rd Ave., south, and East River Road, where speeches will be made.

An anti-imperialist demonstration will be held in Akron on July 5, at Schocalog Park.

The Armenian branch of the Workers Party of Chicago on the same day will hold an anti-imperialism picnic at Reese Park, 6400 West Grand Ave.

Anti-Imperialist Issues.

Thousands of copies of the DAILY WORKER have been distributed thruout the country containing articles exposing the bosses "Defense Day" and exposing the profit grabbing domination of imperialism.

Many copies of anti-imperialist books have been sold during anti-imperialism week, including Lenin's State and Revolution, Imperialism, the final stage of capitalism, and the Decline of Capitalism, by E. Varga.

Special "Workers Monthly."

The July issue of the Workers Monthly is a special Anti-Imperialist number and contains many important articles on capitalist exploitation.

Anti-Imperialist meetings have already been held on the Pacific coast, in Denver, St. Louis, Kansas City, Detroit, and many other cities.

Worker Is Murdered

MT. VERNON, Ill., July 3.—Great mystery surrounds the death of Caluge Loge, 20, found dead in the southeast pat of Mt. Vernon, his jugular vein severed. He had been dead several hours as his clothes were wet with dew.

Loge worked as a drayman.

Boosting "The Daily"

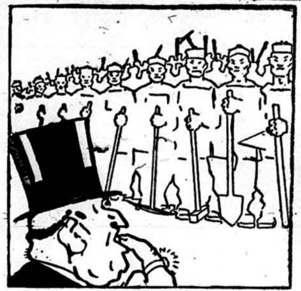
Another Chinese Puzzle



The new Chinese wall—of workers and peasants. How can this wall be penetrated? is the problem of world imperialism.

COAST WORKERS IN 'HANDS OFF CHINA' DEMAND

Many Races Contribute to Shanghai Strike

By WILLIAM SCHNEIDERMAN

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 3.—At a "Hands off China" meeting held here three hundred white, Chinese, Japanese and Negro workers applauded the demand that American troops be withdrawn from China.

A representative of the Kuo Min Tang spoke. There was also a speakers representing the Japanese Workers' Association. Emanuel Levin represented the Workers (Communist) Party.

There was a fine spirit of international solidarity of the workers' against the oppression of imperialism manifested. A collection of seventy dollars was taken, and the net proceeds will be sent to the Shanghai strikers.

UNITY OF ALL WORKERS IN THE WORLD TO AID STRUGGLE OF CHINESE, IS COMMUNIST AIM

(By International Press Correspondenee.)

MOSCOW, June 17.—(By Mail.)—The Executive Committee of the Communist International and the Executive Committee of the Red International of Labor Unions have addressed a telegram to the Executive Committee of the Second International and to the Central Committee of the International Federation of Trade Unions as follows:

"THE events in China are taking an ever stronger character. The Chinese working class organizations have requested in numerous telegrams all working class organizations of the world without distinction for help. Ignoring the existing differences between you and us, we hold it to be our duty in this moment to propose to you a common organization of the moral and material assistance for the Chinese workers. Only one opinion upon the cruel acts of violence committed against the Chinese workers and students and against the whole Chinese people by the militarists of the imperialist powers, can exist amongst class conscious workers. There can be no doubt whatever about the robber character of the imperialist action in China. Such a policy on the part of the imperialist powers brings the danger of world conflicts once again near. It is the elementary duty of the European and American workers without distinction of tendency to assist the Chinese people as speedily as possible. We propose to you to organize together with us meetings and monetary collections in aid of the striking Chinese workers and the families of the dead and wounded Chinese. The question is one of permanent aid. We also propose that an international conference be called for a detailed consideration of the question of other forms of help for the Chinese people. Having regard to the urgent nature of the matter, we request an immediate answer by wire.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 3—A resolution was presented to the 2,000 delegates to the nineteenth annual meeting of the northern Baptist church convention here, advocating that "all missionaries whose beliefs do not accord with historic Baptist canons be recalled."

The special committee appointed to investigate the Baptist board of foreign missions reported that some of the missionaries sent out "do not themselves believe the gospel which they sent to proclaim to the heathen."

One missionary has resigned and one was recalled because of their "modernist" views, the committee reported.

Greek Military Rule O. K.'d.

ATHENS, Greece, July 3—The national assembly has accepted the military government set up by the recent coup, with a vote of confidence in Gen. Pangalos, who appointed himself premier, of 185 to 14.

MOTHER BLOOR REACHES CHICAGO ON HER COAST TO COAST AUTO HIKE

Mother Ella Reeve Bloor arrived a the DAILY WORKER office at nine a. m. yesterday, well and hearty, after covering the 310 miles from St. Louis in an all night ride in a salesman's auto. Comrade Bloor will speak on "From Coast to Coast For Communism" at the Anti-Imperialist Picnic this afternoon at Beyer's grove, California and Irving Park Blvd.

Comrade Bloor addressed several meetings in St. Louis, including a speech at the Workers (Communist) Party membership meeting, and a public meetings on the lawn of the Labor Lyceum, at which many subscriptions to the DAILY WORKER were sold.

LIQUIDATE LOREISM AND POYNTZISM IN WORKERS (COMMUNIST) PARTY

To the Membership of the Party.

Comrades:

The Bolshevization of our Party and its future growth demand a quick and complete liquidation of the non-Communist tendencies of Loreism and Poyntzism. This mandate of the Comintern is so specific and at the same time so universally accepted by the party membership that there should be no difficulty in liquidating this tendency in the shortest possible time.

Loreism and Poyntzism are one tendency. Comrade Juliet Stuart Poyntz has been the most consistent and militant exponent of non-Communist conceptions and policies in our party. She stands for an ideology that is absolutely menacing to the healthy growth of a Communist Party.

Her influence upon certain sections of our New York organization is positively disintegrating.

The Comintern has sharply condemned the tendency represented by Comrade Lore as a non-Communist tendncy. Comrade Lore consistently supported the right wing in the Comintern, in the cases of Levy in Germany, Serratti in Italy, Brandler in Germany, and Trotsky in Russia. He developed opportunistic conceptions regarding the Labor Government in England and the Herriot government in France. He has had a supercritical attitude towards the Comintern and has advocated loose conceptions of discipline incompatible with real Bolshevik organizations, as well as showing in his writings in the Volkzeitung various other non-Communist deviations. In all these he was supported aggressively by Comrade Poyntz, who was the most militant figure in the tendency.

The Central Executive Committee is glad to state that due to recent developments in the party our membership in New York is becoming fully conscious of the harmful influences of Poyntzism which is being combatted in a very effective manner.

The Party cannot tolerate the opportunistic manouvers of Comrade Poyntz. The Party has a right to demand of every Party comrade absolute sincerity and frankness with the Party and the Communist International. This Comrade Poyntz obstinately refuses to do. Instead, she is playing a shallow game of diplomacy with the Comintern at the same time that she is carrying on a violent campaign against the Central Executive Committee of the Party. Her speech and misrepresentations are now being circulated widely thru illegal channels in the Party.

What is the decision of the C. I. regarding Loreism? The Comintern demands the total liquidation of this tendency. With this demand the overwhelming majority of the Party is in full agreement.

What does Comrade Poyntz do with the C. I. decision? She evades it. She has no courage to stand up and defend herself, nor is she Communist enough to admit frankly her opportunistic mistakes and put herself in line with the C. I. policies. Instead, she attempts to crawl out from under the C. I. decision by the ridiculous assertion that there is no such thing as Loreism or a Lore group in our Party. Comrade Poyntz, the most energetic leader of the Lore group, denies the existance of Loreism. Such opportunistic manouvers and insincere diplomacy with the C.I. cannot and will not succeed in our Party.

For over 16 months Comrade Poyntz was resisting systematically all the efforts of the Central Executive Committee to Bolshevize the New York organization and to liquidate the Lore group. The following are only a few of the outstanding facts in the struggle of Comrade Poyntz against the Party and the C. I.

1. She refused to accept the policies of the Party for the bolshevization of the Party school in New York. She called it "fake" bolshevization and was ultimately forced to resign her position as director of the school.

2. She sabotaged and resisted all the efforts of the C. E. C. to break away from the Lore group its proletarian elements and thus liquidate the group.

3. She systematically poisoned the minds of the membership with distrust towards the C. I. and its leadership.

4. She cemented and solidified the right-wing Lore group in the bureau of the Jewish Federation, bolstering up its opposition to the Party and to the C. I.; and last,

5. She assumed the role of ideological leader of the opportunistic tendencies in the Communist fraction in the needle trades unions in New York.

The role of Comrade Poyntz in the needle trades controversy is well known to the Party. At the time when the Party was making strenuous efforts to liquidate the opportunistic tendencies of some of our comrades in the needle trades, Comrade Poyntz made use of her position as a member of the New York District Executive Committee to encourage the opportunistic opposition to the Party, thus making it harder for the C. E. C. to establish correct Communist policies for the Communist fractions in the needle trades unions.

In her attempt to evade the consequences of the C. I. decision of Loreism, Comrade Poyntz has been putting forth all kinds of ridiculous claims and assertions. First, she maintained that there was no Lore group in our Party. However, when she found that this denial of the existance of a Lore group was more damning than a frank confession of guilt, Comrade Poyntz began putting forth another claim, namely, that she was all the time a loyal supporter of the C. E. C. majority. As proof of this she cites her support of the C. E. C. majority at the last Party convention and also her support of the C. E. C. majority on the Labor Party issue.

According to her statements before the Plenum of the C. E. C. on May 12th, and later on before the District Executive Committee of New York she always knew that the C. E. C. majority were "un-Marxian, syndicalistic, opportunistic, and sectarian." In the same way she describes the C. E. C. thesis on the Labor Party, and yet she found it possible, according to her own admissions, to support the C. E. C. majority at the last Party convention, which she claims to have known to be "syndicalistic and opportunist," and to vote for the C. E. C. thesis on the Labor Party which she also claims to have known to be "sectarian and un-Marxian." In other words, by her own public admission, she has supported a leadership and policies which she says she believed were un-Marxian, syndicalist, opportunist, and sectarian. This admission of Comrade Poyntz is itself sufficient to discredit her claim of being a Communist.

The Party and its Central Executive Committee are determined to liquidate completely the tendencies of Lorism and Poyntzism. No amount of diplomacy and manouvering on the part of Comrade Poyntz will prevent the Party from remaining loyal to the policies and tactics of the Communist International.

Loreism and Poyntzism must be liquidated.

WHERE DOES AMERICAN LABOR STAND?

With the Workers and Farmers of Mexico or with Wall Street?

By WILLIAM. F. DUNNE.

. . . Immediately following the publication of Secretary of State Kellogg's threat to the Calles' government the president took with him on his week-end cruise on the Mayflower not only Mr. Kellogg, but General Pershing, who led the expeditionary force in pursuit of Villa, and General Lejeune, commandant of the marines, who has had the experience in military operations in Mexico and would direct any landing of sea forces if a demonstration should be determined upon.—(Washington dispatch to the Chicago Tribune, June 15.)

THE Coolidge policy is one of "firmness" in dealing with the working class at home and firmness in dealing with the workers and farmers in the outlying sections of the American empire.

There is no dualism in this policy—it is the iron hand of American imperialism which suppresses the working class at home so that it can be used as material for punitive expeditions in Latin-America to enforce upon still more oppressed workers and peasants the rule of the lords of finance and industrial capital whose offices are in Wall Street.

AMERICAN imperialism has two kinds of tactics which it uses in Latin-America:

(1) It secures financial control of basic industries (copper mines, oil wells, timber, hemp, jute and banana plantations, waterpower, railways) and then either by fomenting revolts, by wholesale purchase of officials—or by both methods—secures control of the government. This policy has been followed in Chile and other Latin-American nations.

(2) It follows financial penetration by open military aggression as in Haiti and Santo Domingo—it "occupies" these countries and sets up American military dictatorships.

IN Mexico a combination of both these policies has been adopted. The oil and mining concerns first controlled the Diaz government. After its overthrow they financed revolts against its successors and these revolts were made excuses for military intervention during the Wilson administration.

Since that time no reform government has been able to carry out the agrarian program on which all of them won their support from the Mexican masses without running foul of the American state department.

Every Mexican government has therefore had two major problems to solve—the internal one of carrying out the distribution of the land among the peons and the external one of maintaining its sovereignty while carrying out an agrarian policy to which the American mortgage holders are opposed.

The term "American mortgage holders" is used advisedly.

IF ever a nation was in pawn to foreign capital it is Mexico.

The internal debt of Mexico—the amount owed inside the country is only $67,606,000—not a large sum for a population of approximately 14,000,000.

But—

The external debt, owed to American capitalists and secured by customs duties, government securities and the railway properties, amounts to $441,224,777.

To this must be added the claims of Americans for property damage resulting from the revolutions estimated at $500,000,000!

Mortgaged Mexico! Mortgaged for a billion dollars to the most powerful financial group in the world!

. . . this conference of the commander-in-chief of the army and navy with these high officers and the secretary of state was intended as a subtle hint to President Calles that the Coolidge administration is prepared to go to whatever lengths are necessary to protect American rights in Mexico.—(Washington dispatch to the Chicago Tribune, June 15).

"To protect American rights in Mexico."

It might be will to say here that whatever "rights" America has in Mexico have been secured by a series of briberies and butcheries beginning with the stinking Diaz government and extending down to the procured betrayal of the Mexican labor movement to Wall Street by the El Paso convention of the American Federation of Labor and it should be further understood that American imperialism claims in Mexico privileges not provided for Mexican capitalists themselves in the constitution of the Mexican republic.

In particualr does Wall Street object to the distribution of the large estates to the peasantry and to the

"THE MOSCOW SPIRIT"

To the Memory of the Murdered Workers and Students of Shanghai

By LEON TROTSKY.

THE Times, the leading newspaper of the English bourgeois, writes that the movement of the Chinese masses reveals a "Moscow spirit." Well, for once in a way we are prepared to agree with the conservative denunciators.

The English press in China and in the British Isles brands the striking workers and students as Bolshevists. Well, we are prepared to a certain extent to support even this terrible revelation. The fact is the Chinese workers object to being shot down by the Japanese police, so they have declared a protest strike and are proclaiming their indignation in the streets. Is it not evident that here the "Moscow spirit" prevails? The Chinese students, filled with sympathy for the workers in their struggle, have joined in the strike against the exercise of violence by foreigners. It is evident, as far as the students are concerned, that we have to deal with Bolshevists.

WE of Moscow are prepared to accept all these accusations and revelations. We should like, however to add that the best agents for spreading the "Moscow spirit" in the east are the capitalist politicians and journalists. To the question of the ignorant coolie: "What is a Bolshevist?" the English bourgeois press replies: "A Bolshevist is a Chinese worker who does not wish to be shot by Japanese and English police; a Bolshevist is a Chinese student who stretches out a brotherly hand to the Chinese worker who is streaming with blood; a Bolshevist is a Chinese peasant who resents the fact that foreigners, whose arguments are deeds of violence, behave on this land as tho they were lord and master." The reactionary press of both hemispheres gives this excellent description of Bolshevism.

Is it possible to carry on in the east a better, more convincing, more stirring propaganda? And to what purpose, may we ask, do we need in the east or, for that matter, in the west either, secret agents with Moscow gold in one pocket and with poison and dynamite in the other? Would any trained agents be capable of doing a thousandth part of the educational work which the Times and its companions is carrying on gratuitously—this must be acknowledged—thruout the world? If a so-called Moscow agent were to tell the oppressed Chinese that the policy of Moscow is a policy of the liberation of the oppressed classes and subjugated nations, the Chinese would very likely not believe him—has he not often been deceived by foreigners! But when Moscow's worst enemy, in the form of the English conservative newspapers, tells him the same about Moscow, he will believe it implicitly.

WHEN the half-naked and half-starved Chinese worker who is oppressed and degraded, begins to become conscious of his dignity as a human being, he is told: Moscow agents have egged you on! If he allies himself with other workers to defend his elementary human rights, he is told: this is the "Moscow spirit." If in the streets of his own town, he tries to defend his rgiht to existence and development, he hears cries of: this is Bolshevism!

Thus the course of revolutionary education advances step by step under the direction of the foreign police and of the journalists, whose attitude of mind is similar to that of the police. And in order to imprint the political lessons deeply on his memory, the English police, after having shot down dozens and hundreds of Chinese workers and students, drags him into the cellars of the English prisons in Shanghai. Thus a short cut to political knowledge is accomplished. From now onwards every Chinaman will know that the "Moscow spirit" is the spirit of revolutionary solidarity which unites the oppressed in the fight against the oppressors; and that on the other hand, the atmosphere which pervades the cellars of the English prisons of Shanghai incorporates the spirit of "British freedom."

WE would have concluded at this point, for is there much to add to this eloquent and convincing propaganda of the capitalist press on behalf of Moscow? But it occurs to us that liberal labor politicians of the MacDonald type are eagerly listening to our conversation with the conservatives. "You see," they say, pointing didactically at the chief editor of the Times, "we have always said that our conservatives work for Bolshevism." And this also is true. The conservatives, or rather the reactionaries—all capitalist parties are now reactionary—represent an enormous historical force which is supported by capital and gives expresion to its chief interests. MacDonald is right in that there would be no Bolshevism, either in the east or in the west, if the forces of capital did not exist. As long, however, as the force and the yoke of capital does exist, the "Moscow spirit" will make its way thruout the world.

For the "adjustment" of events in Shanghai, and in order to counteract the influence of "Moscow," the liberals and mensheviki suggest the idea of an international conference on the Chinese question, but they are shutting their eyes to the fact that at this conference the decision would lie in the hands of the same gentlemen at whose command workers and students are shot down in Shanghai.

POSSIBLY MacDonald has a program ready for this conference. If not, we can submit our own to him. It is very simple. The Chinese house belongs to the Chinese. No one has a right to enter this house without knocking at the door. The owner has the right to admit none but friends and to refuse entrance to those whom he considers his enemies. This is the beginning of our program. You will certainly reject it, because to your nostrils it seems to be thoroly saturated with the explosive "Moscow spirit." But just for this reason it will penetrate into the consciousness of the oppressed Chinese and of every honest English worker. This program contains in itself the most powerful innate force. This is the banner under which the workers and students of Shanghai are dying. The blood which has been shed in the streets of Shanghai, will infect the masses with the "Moscow spirit." This spirit penetrates everywhere and is invincible. It will overcome the whole world by liberating it.

Thompson of I. W. W. to Speak this Afternoon

James P. Thompson, one of the most noted members of the I. W. W. and an ex-class war prisoner who spent about four years at Leavenworth, is due to speak in Chicago today, the Fourth of July, at an open air meeting to be held at Altheim Park.

The meeting is scheduled to open at 1 p. m. and in addition to Thompson's lecture there will be sports, games and refreshments. Madison car to 7800 West or Garfield Park elevated.

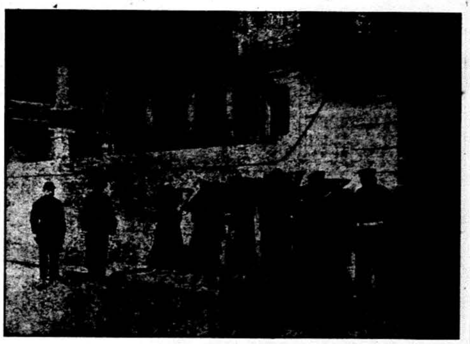
Chinese Workers Under Imperialist Rule



THIS picture, taken by our special representative in Shanghai, gives an indication of some of the brutalities visited upon Chinese workers and peasants by the French, British, Japanese and American invaders, thru their specially organized police.

The World Historical Importance of the Events in Shanghai

By GREGORY ZINOVIEV.

THE movement began with the most modest economic demands—the Chinese workers demanded the eight-hour day for juvenile workers, the ten-hour day for adults, and one day's rest in seven; demands which the workers of the advanced capitalist countries put forward half a century ago.

The movement became a profound political event, which has assumed world historical importance.

From the demand for the eight-hour day to the demand for the evacuation of China by the foreign troops! For this the Chinese workers needed in all only a few days. The working masses in Russia—after a long period of preparation—likewise traversed an analogous road at a very rapid pace. The troops of the English and Japanese imperialists have now furnished the Chinese workers with just a lesson as, in their time, the reactionary troops of Nicolas Romanoff, who was spattered with the blood of the people, gave to the Russian workers.

THE Russian workers in their time learned thru painful and bloody experience the connection between economics and politics. And the struggle of the Russian workers became converted more and more into a political struggle, and ever louder and louder resounded the "cry of the people": down with despotism! The Chinese workers are now learning by painful and bloody experience, not only the connection between economics and politics in general, but also the connection between economics in China and international politics, the politics of bloody imperialism.

The troops of the English and Japanese imperialists have shot down dozens of Chinese workers and also students who suppoterd them. The English gendarmes have arrested workers employed in the electric power stations and water-works in Shanghai. These sections of the workers of Shanghai have been compelled to work at the mouth of the revolver—in the literal sense of the word. Notwithstanding, the strike is extending to a general strike and the movement is spreading and growing. The slogans of the fight against international imperialism are growing louder and more powerful; the workers of Shanghai are coming forward more and more decidedly as the leaders of the general movement of the broad masses of the people of China.

THE English, Japanese and American imperialists are sending urgent war signals to their warships and are dispatching them to the "scene of action." One need not be a prophet in order to predict that the hate of the hundreds of millions of Chinese people against the foreign capitalist robbers will become all the more deeper and that their demand: "Clear out of China" will resound all the louder.

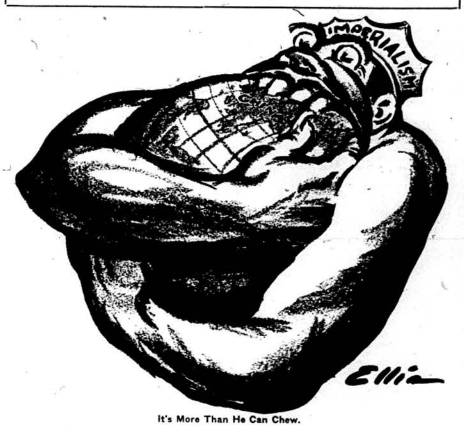
ENGLISH and Japanese imperialism, and especially the first, cannot live without plundering the colonies and semi-colonial countries. Without the predatory plundering of such countries as China there would be no excess profits, there would be no possibility of bribing the labor aristocracy in their own countries. There are only two alternatives: either plundering of the colonies or hastening the proletarian revolution in its own country. This is the issue which faces English capitalism. The dialectics of history are working in such a manner that it is precisely the pressure upon the colonies which is hastening the ripening of the national liberation movement in the east and which, in turn, is also expediting the proletarian revolution in imperialist England.

"Fifty-one per cent of the proletariat are less than 20 per cent when, among the 51 per cent there exists imperialist infection and petty bourgeois resistance." So wrote Lenin in a sketch on the dictatorship of the proletariat.

THE reason why for a long time the revolutionary weight of the English proletariat was so insignificant, was precisely because with the English working class there existed many elements of "imperialist infection" and petty bourgeois opposition to the idea of the proletarian revoltuion. The present rapid revolutionizing of the English working class which has just set in, is bound up in the closest manner with the commencing decline of English imperialism. The growth of the revolutionary self-consciousness of the working class in the suppressed countries (colonies and semi-colonies), and the decline of "imperialist infection" in the proletariat of the suppressing countries, is a parallel process.

The working class in China represents a much smaller portion of the population than 20 per cent (six million among 400 million). But it is clear that, under favorable conditions, the Chinese working class can and will become the leader of the whole great national liberation movement of China, when one takes into consideration the following:

THE FATAL BITE



It's More Than He Can Chew.

1. The working class, thanks to its situation, cannot be infected with the "great power" ideas of imperialism, on the contrary, the entire situation compels it to take over the role of leader of the whole of the people against the foreign capitalists who are oppressing them.

2. The advance-guard of the European proletariat who are led by the Communist International, recognize the enormous importance of the Chinese working class, and illuminate for it its historical way with the torch of Leninism.

3. The first victorious proletarian revolution (the Soviet Union) constitutes an ideal revolutionary point of support for the growing revolutionary movement in all colonies and dependent countries, among them being China.

4. In all the prominet centers of China (Shanghai, Hankau, Pekin, Tsingtao, Nanking, etc) the Chinese proletariat constitutes a numerically important group. In Shanghai, for example, there are over 200,000 workers.

5. The majority of the population of China is keenly interested in throwing off the foreign imperialist yoke, and ever greater masses of the people of China are awakening to the conscious struggle against world imperialism.

6. The Chinese peasantry in particular are being driven by the whole situation to support the working class.

IN view of the general situation which has arisen in China and the level already attained by the national liberation movement, the reprisals of English and Japanese imperialism will only add fuel to the flames.

Executive of the Comintern was absolutely right when, foreseeing the alteration of the line of march of the proletarian world revoltuion, pointed out that the revolutionary events in the east were ripening with much greater rapidity than was to be expected, and that no partial "stabilizing" of the capitalist west would be capable of postponing the victory of the proletarian revolution for any great length of time.

The events in Shanghai serve as an example of the events in the whole of China, in India, Java, etc. In India, among a population of 350,000,000, there are eight million workers; in Egypt, among a population of 20 million, one and one-half to two million workers; in Java two and a half million workers among a population of over 30 millions. In all these countries there exist to a greater or less degree those six conditions which we indicated above. In all these colonial and dependent countries, the working class, if conditions are in any way favorable, will certainly succeed in impressing their stamp upon the great liberation movement of these countries.

"THE revolt of the proletariat against the bourgeoisie of its own country, plus the revolt of the peoples in the colonies and in the de-

The recent session of the Enlarged pendent countries"—this, delcared Comrade Lenin, was the essence of the international revolution. Now this formula is being clothed more and more with flesh and blood. The time is no longer distant when there will begin the great appeal between Shanghai and Calcutta, Hankau and Madres, Tsingtao and Cairo, Pekin and Alexandria. And at the same time the revolutionary appeal between these centers of the colonial and dependent countries on the one hand, and the proletariat of London, New York, Tokio and Paris on the other hand, will grow and become stronger. In China and in Egypt the affair has already come to the occupation of factories and works by the workers. In India the movement of the workers is growing and extending. The sheet-lightening of the revolutionary movement in the east is piercing the darkness of black reaction which is hanging over all countries.

The demand of the workers of Shanghai for the evacuation of China by the foreign imperialist troops will find a powerful response, not only in Moscow and Leningrad, but in all the capital cities of the world. The English trade unions are beginning to fulfill their international proletarian duty. The more European capitalism, which is being "stabilized," scorns and oppresses the workers of "its own" country, the more will the European proletarians cast aside the narrowness of European "provincialism" and give more attention and support to the revolutionary movement in the colonies and semi-colonies.

IT is not so many weeks since the Communist International for the first time pronounced the word "stabilization" (partial "stabilization" of capitalism in Europe). The events which have occurred in the few weeks that have passed since that time have shown with sufficient clearness to what a great extent the political stabilization of the world situation is only relative.

The war in Morocco, the events in Shanghai, the increase of unemployment in England, the victory of Hindenburg in Germany, the events in Bulgaria, the signs of a financial crisis in France, etc.—all this goes to show that capitalism is doomed to decay, and that the international proletariat led by he Communist International, will be its grave-digger.

"The cause of the workers in Shanghai is our cause," the advance-guard of the European proletariat will say. The textile workers, the printers, the railway workers of Shanghai, the Chinese proletarians, are occupying the front ranks in the proletarian world war. We are heart and soul with the Chinese workers.

44 New Victims of Ruhr Capital

By GEORG SCHWARZ
(Essen)

ON Saturday, May 16, 1925, the Ruhr Echo, the district organ of the Communist Party in the Ruhr district, published a poem, entitled "Ballad of the Workers' Death," by Franz Krey, a young miner and poet. In the evening of the same day the terrible news spread like wildfire thru the whole Ruhr district that an explosion had taken place in the Dorstfeld mine, pit V, and that the lives of the miners at work in the pit were in great danger.

The disaster involved 44 dead and 27 wounded.

Now everyone is seeking to find those who are responsible. The most absurd hypotheses are brought forward in the bourgeois press. Thus a report in the Duisburger Generalanzeiger of May 18 states that "there exists the possibility of a deliberate outrage." From assertions of this sort to a declaration that here it is a question of an outrage by a Communist "Tcheka" group is only a step. The press hirelings maintained by Stinnes capital are capable of anything, solely in order to conceal the real causes of this terrible disaster.

It is not a mere chance that the number of accidents in the Ruhr mines has considerably increased since the coming into force of the Dawes plan. Every day, four to five cases of death are recorded, which are attributable to the intensified methods of exploitation.

THE Dorstfeld mine belongs to the Essen Steinkohlenbergwerk A. G. The chief shareholder in this is the firm of Henschel in Cassel, whose representative is a member of the board of directors of the Berlin Disconto Gesellschaft. The chief partner of the Disconto Gesellschaft, Dr. Salmonsohn, is the notorious managing director of the Gelsenkirchener Bergwerk A. G. who so shamefully slandered 136 miners who were murdered in the "Minister Stein" mine. As is to be seen from the reports of the workers, there prevails in the Dorstfeld mine, Pits I to V, the most insane speeding up system. One hundred and fifty workers were given notice, expiring on the 1st of June. It is quite logical that great danger results from the discharge of the miners by the increased exploitation of the miners who are still retained.

The natural result is, of course, that all measures for safety are disregarded. The speeding up methods employed by the overseers and other officials cause the safety rules to be ignored. It is certain that the explosives chamber, the explosion of which led to the disaster, is not the sole cause. It is much more probable that, in the first place, a gas explosion took place which led to the explosion of the explosives chamber. That is the view of all the miners. Gas explosions are only to be avoided if all precautionary measures, sprinkling and removal of coal dust, are strictly carried out.

THE miners and their relatives waiting at the pit's mouth could tell a story of the brutality of the administration of the Dorstfeld mine. The miners worknig in the same pit, in the 7th section, when they heard of the disaster, demanded that they be allowed to leave the mine, but they were ordered by the foremen to fill the wagons still remaining empty and to employ the rest of the time remaining of the shift in carrying out repairs.

They had to insist on being allowed to come to the surface.

This event shows clearly and beyond dispute how the gold and profits of the heavy industrial exploiters is minted out of the blood of the mining proletariat. It is a piece of hypocrisy in this connection to describe the disaster as an "accident." One disaster in the mines follows the other. Hecatombs of miners' lives are sacrified, but it is all an "accident."

For months past the Communist Party and the union of hand and brain workers have been demanding of the miners' union a common fight of all workers in the mines:

For workers' control.

For the seven hours' shift and 40 per cent wage increase.

THE leaders of the German trade unions, the Husemans and Limbertzes, reject the united fighting front of the miners for the extension of the rights of the workers with scornful laughter.

How particularly necessary is the fight for the dependents is shown by what has happened in the case of the victims of the "Minister Stein" disaster. The Communist press pointed out clearly and openly at the time, that all the bourgeois charity activity was an obvious fraud. The relatives of the killed and injured in the "Minister Stein" disaster have already to appeal to the public, because they are in bitter need and up till now only 30,000 marks have been distributed to the victims concerned out of a total sum collected of nearly a mollion. In view of this scandalous treatment of the relatives and dependents, the Communists again demand for the dependents of the present disaster:

Payment of full wages for this month, a permanent pension of 60 per cent of the years' wages for the widows, and 20 per cent for every dependent member of the family; permanent supply of coal and the right to reside in the miners' houses belonging to the company.

THE capitalists have clearly shown by their attitude hitherto that, for them the families of the fallen miners are mere dirt. At the graves they speak a few words of comfort, which are only hypocrisy. In reality, by their speeding up methods, they drive the miners to death.

THE miners see quite clearly that it is nothing else than the system of murder which is killing their brothers. The present disaster must therefore be a warning signal to fight the abolition of the speeding up methods in the mines.

In two crowded meetings, which took place on Sunday in Dorstfeld and in the adjoining district of Marten in which comrades Schwan and Sobottka spoke, the miners demanded in detailed resolutions the taking up of the fight in the sense of the demands of the Communist Party of Germany.

It is necessary to drive home to the workers that only a united strong mine workers' organization, under revolutionary leadership, can abolish the murderous speeding-up system in the mines. For this reason the fight for trade union unity in the Ruhr mines is an urgent necessity.

To the Butchers of Marko Friedmann

By HENRY GEORGE WEISS.

You swung him from your gallows,
You hanged him on your tree,
In the place that's called Cathedral Square,
For all the world to see.

And all the world has seen it,
Has seen how he has died,
Has seen that in the death of right
The truth was crucified.

Not only on the place of skulls
Has mankinds' hopes been slain,
But in the public square of greed,
And in the heart of gain.

Peace, peace to him and war to you!
In every land and clime
Our hands are clenched, our hearts are stone,—
We bide our time!

By H. YOUNG.

THE seventh congress of the British Communist Party marks a distinct advance on its predecessors.

Two clear indications of this were the attention bestowed upon it by the press—and the police.

The congress naturally opened on the keynote of the lessons of the most significant event in recent British politics—the MacDonald labor government.

THE effects of the new period in the labor movement were clearly visible in the congress discussions. This was also clearly stated in the most important document of the congress —"On the international and national situation," which laid the correct basis, by stating the characteristics of recent British developments: The loss of imperialist monopoly, the gradual destruction of the privileged position of the British labor aristocracy and the resultant amalgamation of the hitherto divided forces of British labor, skilled and unskilled; thus bringing in its train new tendencies in the labor party from the trade unions.

The political report of the party's work for the past year was introduced by Comrade J. R. Campbell. It was now clear that the labor government did not constitute a working class victory, but a capitalist experiment, which successfully hoodwinked the workers and threw their ranks into confusion. The role of the present labor party parliamentary fraction was charatcerized as a sham one. Particularly evident is the treasonable role of this party, now that the tory government is in power and its ministers blandly quote the speeches of the former labor ministers in support of their own policy.

THIS is to be seen in all questions: Foreign affairs, league of nations, Geneva protocol, Zinoviev letter, colonial policy (it transpired that J. H. Thomas, the colonial minister in the labor government, during his visit to Kenya, approved of the conscription of 4,000 natives to work on the railways for a wage of 14s. per month), war office, the supplementary reserve, home affairs, the Campbell case and the use of troops in industrial disputes, etc.

In the discussion it was pointed out that it is dangerous to praise too much, without qualifications and warnings to the workers, the leaders of the labor left wing.

Campbell's final point that the party was now politically unanimous, was appropriate, asignificant feature of the congress being the complete absence of factionalism.

SAKLATVALA reported on the party in parliament in an amusing exposure of capitalist democracy in the "mother of parliaments." His criticism of the labor left wing was good and his suggestion as to the necessity of a program and concerted action excellent.

The organization report by Inkpin, presented in conjunction with the thesis on the mass party reveal great progress. The party is now breaking with every established tradition in the British labor movement by building a centralized party, based on individual membership and daily individual activity. The most important feature was the announcement of the organization of over a hundred factory groups.

J. T. Murphy presented the Thesis on the International and National Battle Front. This emphasized the temporary character of capitalist stabilization and the need for intense Bolshevik mass work. The theses relating to the tasks of building up the left wing in the labor party, fighting for trade union unity, winning influence in the co-operatives, re-organization, educational work, etc., were unanimously accepted.

THE question of trade union unity was summed up in the necessity for developing mass propaganda side by side with the demand for the establishment of the Anglo-Russian unity committee and the world conference of all trade unions.

An important feature of the report and discussion on colonial work was the announcement that the jute workers had decided to send a delegation to India to enquire into labor conditions and to organize white workers while assisting native workers.

The two decisions of the congress which particularly aroused the ire of the capitalist press were: (1) factory groups; (2) colonial work.

SCENES of indescribable enthusiasm greeted the appearance of the French and German delegates. The success of these delegates in breaking thru a cordon established by the government, produced an instant effect upon all delegates, whose confidence in their party and the International was unbounded.

The subsequent discomfiture of the government was apparent and rendered more so by its clumsy attempt to absolve itself by declaring that Comrade Stocker was an Englishman in disguise and that Comrade Faussegave (the French delegate) was really of no account.

An important indication of the present tendency of left wing labor was the greeting proffered the conference by George Buchanan, M. P., the member for the constituency in which the conference was held.

THE Thesis on Bolshevization was rather unhappily conceived, as it only dealt with two questions: factory groups and Leninist education. This was rectified by the reporter who pointed out how Bolshevization affects every sphere of party life.

The resolutions on Trotskyism and the Youth League were unanimously adopted.

THE resolution on the work among women, together with the special women's conference, showed the party's clearer appreciation of its Bolshevik duty to the masses of working women.

The congress marks the beginning of a new stage in the party's development. The Bolshevik course has commenced. In its unanimous decisions in the very significant participation of the Youth League in all discussions and a clearer view of the organizational basis of a Bolshevik Party, the British party has made big strides forward.

Oudegeest versus Swales on Unity

By A. Losovsky

EVER since a rapprochement began to develop between the British and the Soviet trade unions, the general secretary of the Amsterdam International, Oudegeest, who lost his sleep and appetite for grief, began to develop stormy journalistic activities. As a result of his efforts the international social democratic press has now been flooded with articles and notes sharply opposing unity of the international trade union movement.

IN an editorial article in the central organ of the Dutch Social Democracy, "Het Volk," of May 8, we read that "among the followers" of the unity slogan a distinction should be made between those misled and those who do the misleading, that the "unity effort is a result of co-operation between the naivity of the ones and the dishonesty of the others," that "trade union unity" (a journal edited by Comrades Purcell, Hicks and Fimmen) is the camp mainly of those misled and that "the editors and contributors of this organ display more zeal than political wisdom" etc., etc., in the same spirit.

WE would not deal with this "dignified" literature had it not been for the fact that it represents a sample of the methods which the second international and the right wing of the Amsterdam International are forced to resort to in the struggle against the "danger" of the restoration of trade union unity.

However, Oudegeest apparently was not content with the anonymous attack upon the Anglo-Russian rapprochement and taking as his excuse an article in the Labor Magazine, the organ of the British Trade Union Congress and labor party, which belittles the significance of the R. I. L. U., he took upon himself nothing less than the job of saving the Russian trade union movement from the Communist Party.

AFTER a vituperous outpouring upon the heads of "Zinoviev, Lozovsky, and the other leaders standing outside the ranks of their own trade union movement" for their systematic and tireless struggle against reformism, Oudegeest treats his readers to the following Dutch concoction:

> "THE position of the Communist Party in Russia, not only from a political, but from a trade unionist point of view as well, is more difficult than ever! The leaders of the Russian trade union movement will no longer reconcile themselves (!) with a position of subordination to the Communist Party leaders. The further the capitalist system is becoming rehabilitated in Russia, the more clearly do the trade unions realize their true tasks and the importance of independence.
> "WE would really gladly support our friend (?) Tomsky and his comrades in their struggle (!) for freedom from the violence of the Communist Party, but owing to the position of a number of countries, where the Communist trade unionists have not yet become as independent as our Russian comrades, we are forced to ponder over the question of whether this sort of consideration for the Russian comrades would not prove too costly in the other countries.
> "WE, who know of the negotiations between Russia and England somewhat more (!) than would appear from the general press accounts, have gathered the definite impression that Tomsky and his followers are ready to tread along the true path. But the fact remains that the Russian trade unions are affiliated to the Red International of Labor Unions, which takes orders (?) from the Communist Party and whose constitution dictates to its adherents in the various countries the destruction (?) of the Amsterdam International as appears also from the above mentioned speech by Lozovsky, and if we wanted to lend assistance to our Russian comrades in their struggle for emancipation, not only by the initiative of the British labor movement, but on our own impulse, our instinct of self preservation dictates us the greatest caution."

IN reading this sort of literary exercise the only conclusion to which one is forced is that this fellow has become hopelessly confused and that what he wants is a long indefinite furlough.

It takes some skill to put into a little article like this, such an infinite mass of crazy nonsense.

Oudegeest, you see, wants to help the Russian unions to free themselves from the leadership of the Communist Party.

Only he forgot that international imperialism has been trying to do this for several years and got its neck broken in doing so. Was not the offensive upon Soviet Russia carried on under the slogan of the "liberation" of the Russian people from the Communist Party and the Soviets?

HAD Oudegeest understood the Soviet trade union movement just a little he would have refrained from this sort of cavalry raids, as his proposal of assistance to "our friend" Tomsky to free himself from the influence of the Communist Party can bring nothing but homeric laughter from the Russian workers.

AS secretary of the International, he ought to get rid of the ridiculous habit of the provincial solicitors to foist his friendship upon strangers, remembering the French saying that the ridiculous is killing.

Is it worth while arguing with Oudegeest fundamentally? Of course not. The man builds his plans on fantastic assumptions and instead of making a clear breast of his opposition to unity, he travels 80,000 miles around himself, offers friendship, promises to free the Russian workers from the influence of the Communist Party, incidently garnishing his deliberations by attacks upon the Comintern and the R. I. L. U. guilty of disagreeing with his, Oudegeest's views. To argue with such a man is, of course, useless.

WE would finish right there if it were not for the fact that Oudegeest's literary itch drove him forward with an article in the British press against the policy of the general council of the British Trade Union Congress and in criticism of some articles by Mr. Swales, president of the general council. Oudegeest did not like Swales' articles defending the Anglo-Russian agreement and advocating the erection of an all-inclusive genuine trade union international.

AS a man of wonderful determination, Oudegeest, forgetting his age and good temper, wrote a lengthy letter to the organ of the Independent Labor Party of Great Britain (The New Leader, of May 15) in which he tells Swales the history of the organization of the Red International of Labor Unions and of its wicked attempts to "destroy" the Amsterdam International.

Oudegeest tells that in 1920, the Comintern and the R. I. L. U. issued an appeal from the Reds to the yellows, that this appeal was signed by Lenin, Zinoviev, Tomsky, Lozovsky and others, that the Amsterdam International, tho resenting it, nevertheless decided to seek the affiliation of the Russian unions, etc. Oudegeest also attempts to deny Swales' statement to the effect that the Russian unions were subjected to a trade union blockade, but since he forgets to offer any serious proof his denials sound like pure anti-Communist declarations.

AFTER several more threats at the Comintern and the R. I. L. U., Oudegeest, as the final stunning argument, triumphantly asks Swales:

> "At the time when the British Trade Union Congress in 1919, affiliated with our International, its representatives did not ask for any special pourparlers. They attended our congress, examined the rules and proceeded to affiliate. The same course has been taken by all our affiliated countries. It is so far not clear to me why Russia should have to make an exception."

OUDEGEEST was sure that this last argument would crush, like a sledge hammer, all possible excuses and would make it impossible for any of the leaders of the British trade union movement to defend their point of view as to the methods of re-establishing international trade union unity. However, the president of the British Trade Union General Council, Comrade Swales, with characteristic British coolness, replied to this sneer of Oudegeest as follows (New Leader of same date):

> "No one knows better than Mr. Oudegeest that there is no analogy between the British affiliation and the present position of the unions affiliated to the All-Russian Trade Union Congress. He knows that it is not the affiliation of a country that is involved so much as the amalgamation of the two Internationals."

THIS statement of the president of the Trade Union General Council, the Oudegeests of all countries will do well to remember. This must be especially understood by those of the Amsterdam International leaders who juggle with figures. To them statistics is not a science, but an art by which they try to prove that apart from the Russian unions and some small minorities the R. I. L. U. represents no one. Recently the Chinese unions affiliated to the R. I. L. U—do you think that the right Amstredamers attach any significance to that? Not at all.

When the trade unions of Palestine and of the free port of Danzig affiliated to the Amsterdam International, that was an event. But China, with only 420,000,000 people, can it ever compare with any European country?

WE shall yet have an occasion to deal with the latest statistical researches of the Amsterdam International in that part which deals with the R. I. L. U. Just now we only want to call attention to the gulf dividing the right wing of the Amsterdam International from the left wing, and again emphasize the statement of the president of the British Trade Union General Council that now it is not the affiliation of a country that is involved so much as the amalgamation of the two Internationals.

The Rise of Organized Labor in the Far East

By ALFRED WAGENKNECHT

WE cannot tell by what circuitous routes the delegates from the Railway Workers' Union of North China, or the Javanese delegates arrived in Canton, but they came via underground and for the sufficient reason that the Javanese workers active in the labor movement were being deported and imprisoned, and in north China the heads of leaders of the Railroad Workers' Union were being cut off to discourage organization.

So the Transportation Workers' conference meet a bit secretly, in the inner city of Canton. The soft thud, thud of the rickshaw coolies' bare feet brought us to a gate, and then we walked thru endless narrow streets to an upstairs, where, despite language difficulties, (three Chinese dialects, Russian, German, English, Spanish, Dutch and Tagalog) there was adopted, after days of debate, a manifesto which now proves to have been a revolutionary forerunner of all that is happening in China today.

THIS conference took place just a year ago. The manifesto has to now never been published in America. It is a document well worth the attention of all workers who today have their eyes upon China and understandingly discuss with their fellow-workers in the shops the onslaught upon international imperialism made by this eastern people.

MANIFESTO

Of the Transport Workers of the Orient addressed to the toiling masses of the East, to the proletariat of Europe and America and to the Workers' and Peasants' state—the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics.

Adopted June 24, 1924, Canton China.

FOR the first time in the history of the young but growing labor movement of the East an event has occured which is pregnant with important consequences. In the territory of revolutionary South China, in Canton, representatives of transport workers from South and North China, from Java, and Philippine Islands gathered in conference called by the Red International of Labor Unions.

Since the world imperialist war six years have elapsed. All the promises made by the big capitalist governments to the oppressed nations of the East, whose man power, raw materials and other necessities were taken in order to help win the war, were not only not fulfilled and the promised independence not given, but instead, in almost all the colonies and semi-colonial countries, the imperialists strengtened their administrative oppressive apparatus, have increased their military punitive forces on land and water and have assumed a more high-handed colonial policy.

In this respect there is no difference of a substantial nature between the policies of all the imperialistic states. The oppression of Korea by the semi-feudalistic and militaristic government of Japan; the oppression of British India by the so-called labor government of England which is in fact a bloc of labor aristocracy and liberal bourgeoisie transacting the affairs of British financial capital; the oppression of the Philippine Islands by "democratic" America; the oppression of the islands of East India by Holland and the united oppression of China by all the imperialists, all have the same exploitative aim, all bring great suffering to the oppressed peoples, depriving them of the possibility to live and develope, freely.

In those few colonies where the imperialists have implanted "democratic" institutions of government patterned after their own forms of state power, these institutions are mainly a plaything in the hands of governor-generals appointed by these imperialists. There, these governor-generals can, by a stroke of the pen, annihilate all the decisions, passed by the very "democratic" institutions introduced by the imperialists as tho for the benefit of the colonial people.

THE imperialists of England, America, Japan and France, which have so treacherously betrayed the peoples of the colonies and semi-colonies during the war and which have shown such cynical contempt of the promises made at the close of the war, are again, because of the growing unrest, attempting to persuade the colonial peoples that they will be given independence as soon as the subject nations can show that they are ripe for self-government.

But what the imperialists mean by the term, "ripe for self-government," is never explained. However, every attempt on the part of the subject nations to accomplish actual independence and begin governing themselves, is called restlessness and instability by the imperialists and force is applied to break the will of the people in their struggle for independence.

This was the case in 1919 in India when General Dwayer shot to death, with machine guns, the people of Punjab. This was the case in March 1919 when the Japanese militarists massacred the Koreans while they were peacefully demonstrating for independence.

Toiling masses of the East, revolutionary proletariat of Europe and America, Union of Socialist Soviet Republics!!—We, the representatives of the transport workers' of the orient declare, that for us the best proof that the peoples of the East can and will govern themselves lies in the very fact that they are leading a revolutionary struggle for independence. The imperialists will not grant independence to any subject peoples voluntarily.

WE further declare that the toiling masses of the colonies and semi-colonies will achieve their national, economical and political independence as a result of organized struggles against world imperialism, native feudalists, militarists and capitalists who compromise with the imperialists.

Such organized struggle of the colonial peoples against imperialism in this historical period when the world proletariat organized in revolutionary parties and led by a revolutionary center against the strongholds of capitalism necessitates the formation of militant people's parties in the colonies, consisting of workers, peasants, intellectuals and non-propertied classes in the cities. Such parties will not only unite the struggling forces for independence inside of the colonies, but will bring the colonies into closer contact with each other and also will bring the national revolutionary movements of the East in contact with the world's revolutionary labor movement.

Toiling masses of the East! — We call upon you to organize yourselves into labor and tenants unions! We call upon you to assist in the organization of people's parties' for the struggle against imperialism and for independence. We call upon all transport workers organizations in the colonies and semi-colonies of the East, to amalgamate their unions, to affiliate with the revolutionary transport workers of the world. We call upon them to carry on extensive organization campaigns, so that the present organizations may become a real power in the fight against capitalism and imperialism.

Long Live the struggle of the oppressed peoples of the East against imperialism!

Long Live the united front of the toiling masses of the East and the revolutionary proletariat of the world!

Down with the oppression of one nation for another!

CHINESE EDITOR THANKS US FOR OUR ARTICLES ON CHINA

THE CHINESE STUDENTS' MONTHLY

The DAILY WORKER,

June 27, 1925

Dear Sir: I have been reading the last few installments of Mr. Wm. F. Dunne's articles on the "Enslavement of China," and have found them exceedingly true to the facts as well as interesting and enlightening. There is nothing more valuable at the present time than a reliable and unbiased source of information about the conditions in China and I sincerely believe that your paper as a whole and the special columns given exclusively to the affairs of China has championed a worthy cause for a people in their hard struggle for ultimate freedom and independence.

As I understand Mr. Dunne is going to start with another series of articles about China in a very short time, this merely goes to show your earnestness and richness of details which are rather rare in the present newspaper world. I beg to congratulate your achievements and pray for your success.

For a more universal dissemination and systematized manner of presentation to many of those who have not had the opportunity of reading your paper I wish to offer a humble suggestion. Maybe you have already such similar plans in mind in which case it would only be a joyous mental coincidence. What I would personally like to find is to see this series of articles and what more Mr. Dunne is likely to write go into press again in a booklet or pamphlet form available for general distribution. As a reader may I be privileged with an ardent anticipation and in closing I wish you again the best of work and success. I am, yours very truly, Frank Liu.

Kool Kalculations
of Kal and Kellogg Co

KAL was smoking his favorite five cent cigar, nonunion manufacture, when his messenger boy informed him that secretary of state Kellogg was on the telephone. "Oh it's about that Chinese situation, I guess" muttered Kal as he rushed to the phone.

Kal—(at the phone) Hello, Hello, this you Kell. How's the old liver this morning?

Kell—I am not worrying about my liver, sluggish tho it is. I am worrying about my neck.

Kal—What's the matter? Have you been to a chiropractor?

Kell—Couldn't have been much worse if I had. The fact is the Big Fellow almost eat my ears off on account of the way I wrote the letter to Calles. "You son of a Tennessee monkey" he said "my pet baboon could make a better job of it. If you don't do better in the Chinese situation, I'll have you sent as American ambassador to the island of Yap."

Kal—Don't mind him; he talks like that to me too. In fact that's why he likes both of us. We take our medicine without wincing. He likes men with grit.

Kell—Well, anyhow, I guess you want to know what J. P. wants done in the Chinese situation.

Kal—Oh, yes, yes. I have een pestered by newspapermen for the past week and I hate to look foolish all the time. I want to have something to tell them soon. Then they will think I took a whole week to make up my mind.

Kell—If they only knew who makes up your mind and mine! But to blazes with that. Morgan told me that the British Ambassador was in to see him a few weeks ago asking that the United States support Britain in a joint move on the part of the great powers to force China to accept our terms.

Kal—I am pro-British and I hope J. P. will find some way of complying with Sir Esmond's request.

Kell—Hokum! Pro-British! You are not any more pro-British than the Big Fellow, but if you saw him laugh. "Pull the British chestnuts out of the fire!" he said, "like hell we will. Say Kellogg, I am much of an admirer of British civilization as anybody, but business has nothing to do with sentiment, and I think it is about time we began to carry the 'white man's burden' particularly as there is good money in it." Of course he warned me that he was not speaking for publication. Say, Kal, are you sure the wires ain't tapped?

Kal—What makes you think that?

Kell—You can never tell what those Communists would do. Why, I saw in the paper a few days ago, that they have a great spy system in America and keep track of everything we do and every word we say.

Kal—I would not be surprised to find one of them hidden in my hobby horse some morning. But they won't get much out of me.

Kell—I would pity the Communist that is assigned to report what you say, Kal. He would die of boredom. But shucks, this will never do. I must tell you the story. Kal—Hold on. Is this call charged to this side or is it prepaid.

Kell—It is charged to you of course.

Kal—Then damn it proceed. You'll ruin me.

Kell—Don't worry, the only thing that will ruin you is the revoluiton and Bill Green will take care of that end of the business.

Kal—Oh come on, every minute of this time means two bits. Snap into it.

Kell—Oh alright. The Big Fellow said that our game in China must be to pose as the only real friends of the Chinese masses. Let England carry the cross this time, he said. It's too bad the British did not let Japan do the dirty work, but those Britons have nothing between the ears he said, but gudgeon grease.

Kal—What the devil is that?

Kell—Damned if I know, but it must be alright. But to go on. The Chinese are clean mad with England now and will not buy anything made in England. The same is true of the Japs. But for those rascally Bolsheviks we would be on the pig's back, he said, and but for our own boneheaded diplomats he said, the Chinese would now be eating out of our hands, wearing our B. V. D's and reading our bibles.

Kal—What about drinking our cider?

Kell—Don't be so parochial Think of the country as a whole and not of the chief industry of Vermont. Morgan said that we could have the Kuo Min Tang party with us if we handled them right. Even General Feng was once our man but now he likes nothing better than contemplating the joy of carving our anatomies with his beheading sword. The damn Bolsheviks were wiser than we thot they were when they sent an ambassador to China, while we were sending ministers.

Kal—But the word of god must be spread, Kell, even tho it may not always pay.

Kell—Who the hell is talking about the word of god? I mean envoys, diplomats, trained liars not preachers.

Kell—That's about all they ever do, but to go on with the story. There is no use crying over spilt milk, said the Big Fellow. We must make the best of the situation. He instructed me to get in touch with some good liberal professor, who can write notes, gramatically and with some degree of intelligence. We should first practice by making statements about Germany or some other country that is properly subdued. When our style reaches the proper degree of polish, we should let fly at the Chinese. Borah is doing fine work.

Kal—Do you mean to say that the Big Fellow complimented Borah?

Kell—I'll swear to Christ he did. Borah, he said has more brains than all the rest of you put together and if you fellows don't do better than you're doing, he said, I may make him president next time. It's easy enuf to get by he said, when things are running smoothly, but in times of crisis brains are needed.

Kal—Why in hell didn't you tell him, that Borah would not take orders the same as we are doing?

Kell—I told him nothing. He was telling me. I never saw him so hardboiled.

Kal—Then, the thing for us to do is to do nothing. Is that it?

Kell—Just about that. McMurray, our minister to Peking, got his instructions. Just watch his movements and take your cue. By the way I had a nice nip in the Big Fellow's office.

Kal—The stuff they peddle around here is awful. I'm anxious to get an invitation from Andy Mellon. Take a run down and see me one of these days, when you're not busy playing golf. By bye.

Marko Friedmann How A Revolutionist Died

(Letter of a Witness)

SOFIA, Bulgaria—On May 27th, at eight o'clock in the morning the "attempters" Friedmann, Koeff and Sadgorsky who were sentenced to death by the courtmartial, were hanged.

The execution of the sentence took place on a free place in the eastern suburbs of Sofia. At least 50,000 people and representatives of the foreign press and the embassies were present. The place was guarded by strong departments of gendarms and soldiers. The execution was filmed.

Faced Death Daily.

On May 27th at six o'clock in the morning the prison commander informs the prisoners that the execution will take place at eight o'clock. In the room of the director the prisoners are allowed to see for the last time their relatives. When the wife of Friedmann begins to cry, he calms her with the words: "Do not cry, this is the fate of every revolutionist. That you should have known in the beginning. You know that I was sentenced to death every day. Twice I was seriously injured; I myself took poison but it had no effect. I knew my fate beforehand and I will therefore calmly bear everything."

Then Comrade Friedmann turns to the prison commander: "I regret that the king has not fulfiled the request of an honest fighter to be shot openly instead of hanging on the gallows." When his mother says that 150 men have been killed in the attempt, Friedmann replies: "I have nothing to do with the attempt. I am not responsible for those victims"—He asks for a cup of chocolate and drinks it down calmly.

At a quarter to eight the prisoners are taken to the place of execution in a lorry. The secretary of the court reads the sentence. The accused remain completely calm and Friedmann shows himself particularly courageous.

Regrets Nothing.

The state attorney asks the prisoners for their last wishes. Friedmann asks them not to persecute his family. The little money that he has in his pocket, is for the hangman. He knew what he had done. He declared aloud that he had been actually working illegally according to his convictions. He regretted nothing. But he had nothing to do with the attempt.

Koeff wants to write a letter to his brother. The writing lasts a long time and Friedmann calls impatiently: "It is high time, I cannot wait any longer!"

Koeff and Sadgorsky confess to the priest. Comrade Friedmann only bows politely to the priest and says that he needs nothing from him.

Dies Calmly.

The state attorney asks the prisoners to say their last good bye. Koeff and Sadgorsky remain motionless, while Friedman bows to the audience and then turns to the gallows. "Is this mine," he asks and climbs as the first on the table under the cord where he calmly waits till it is his turn.

Koeff is hanged first. Then Sadgorsky. Friedmann looks at it calmly. When his turn comes, he wipes the dust from his shoes, takes off his coat and proud and calm, as he was before, he received the gipsy who puts the cord around his neck. "Pay attention," he says to him, "I have given you a tip." "I understand my job" the gipsy answers and takes the table away from under Friedmann's feet.

Passed Life for Workers

The dead bodies are taken down and given to their relatives for burial.

The public gradually goes away. There is a general excitement. Many give loud comment on the happenings, others laugh. But the majority keep silent and walks slowly to the town.

Marko Friedmann was 33 years old, lawyer, former member of the municipal council and in the last three years editor of the Jewish workers' paper "Bratstvo." The government thinks he is a member of the illegal E. C. of the C. P. of Bulgaria. He enjoys a great popularity among the Jewish workers and the working class youth in Sofia where he passed all his life with proletarian work.

labor clauses of he constitution.

WHAT the Coolidge administration is interested in is not so much what Calles says as what he does. If he proceeds to indemnify Americans for their properties which has been seized under the agrarian law, the American government will not care how much he fulminates.—(Washington dispatch to the Chicago Tribune, June 15.)

The matter stands like this:

The Mexican government owes a billion dollars to Americans. It cannot carry out its agrarian program if it has to pay Americans for land to which they have not the vestige of title. To insist that it do so is to sabotage the distribution of the land.

Wall Street and the state department knows this very well. It does not want the land divided among the peons because its source of cheap labor supply is thereby cut off—a landless people make the best slaves.

In addition to this compelling motive the land distribution interferes with the grabbing by American capitalists of territory rich in oil and minerals.

HOW rich is Mexico in natural resources?

Their wealth is incalculable. From 1901 to 1923 Mexico produced 1,190,000,000 barrels of oil. In 1920 she was producing 25 per cent of the world's total supply. In 1923 alone Mexico produced 22,325 kilos of gold, 2,552,550 of silver, 138,468,000 of lead and 47,521,000 of copper.

There are 44,000,000 acres of forest and 25,000,000 of these are said by experts to contain vast stretches of pine, spruce, cedar, rosewood, mahogany and logwood. Corn, cotton, sisal hemp, what beans, tobacco, coffee and sugar cane can be raised in great quantities and with a minimum of labor on the 30,000,000 acres of fertile land now under cultivation. On the berches are 120,000,000 acres of rich grazing lands. Here is an empire in itself and knowing our rulers as we do (as we ought to, at least) we need not wonder if they look towards Mexico with greedy eyes and watering mouths.

SO rich is this southern country that the Mexican peasants can not be driven into the mines and mills of American capitalism while they have land. The struggle for possession of Mexico's riches becomes therefore a war on the Mexican masses—overwhelmingly agrarian in composition.

There is another thorn in the flesh of Wall Street and the Coolidge administration—the labor clauses in the Mexican constitution. Article 123 has the following provisions:

Eight-hour day—seven hours for all night work—six-hour day for children from 12 to 16—no night work for women and children—one day rest in seven—vacation with pay before and after child-birth—a living wage—living wage cannot be seized for debt—compulsory profit-sharing—wages must be paid in cash—double time for all overtime—housing provisions for workers—insurance against accidents in industry—compulsory safety and sanitary measures—right to organize, strike and shut down plants—three month's wages must be paid to worker in case of arbitrary discharge—no contracting of labor—free employment service—co-operative workingmen's building associations.

SO far no Mexican government has been able or willing to enact the necessary laws to make these constitutional clauses legally effective but the workers—about 500,000 of them organized—know their rights and insist upon them.

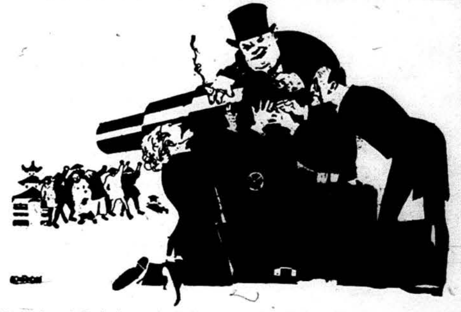
Prevent the distribution of the land to the peons and smash or debauch the unions of the workers.

If these twin objectives can be achieved American imperialism will have about 7,000,000 slaves in Mexico who in return for a handful of frijoles and a hunk of bread will turn the natural resources of that country into a golden stream flowing into Wall Street.

THE Calles' government was elected as an anti-militarist bloc by the workers and peasants. It has as office holders and hangers-on the whole upper stratum of Mexican labor officialdom and a number of American socialists or former socialists. Since the El Paso convention of the American Federation of Labor, after which the officialdom was taken to Mexico City as guests of the Mexican government, Calles has waged war on the most revolutionary elements of the workers and peasants.

In preparation for the return of the nationalized railways to private hands he has ordered the railway union to disband. The workers are to be made government employes without the right to organize and strike as provided in the constitution.

MacDONALD WANTS ANOTHER CONFERENCE



"Oh! Gentlemen! Don't shoot so loud! You may awaken all the people of the East. Better call a conference and settle this matter peacefully, as you did at Versailles"—pleads James Ramsay MacDonald, British "socialist," with the world bandits.

He has sent troops into the Tampico oil fields to crush strikes and troops have also been used freely to prevent confiscation of big estates by the peasants.

JUST a few days ago, on June 29, to be exact, a dispatch from Mexico City announced that 200 "reds" are to be deported. As the officialdom of the Mexican labor movement has waged war on the Communists since the El Paso convention it is fairly certain that these 200 "reds" are Communists or sympathizers who have been especially active in the denunciation of the Wall Street policy of the Calles' government and in the work of the All-American Anti-Imperialist League.

The question arises:

Why, if Calles is following a Wall Street policy, did Secretary of State Kellogg send to him what practically amounts to an ultimatum?

THERE are two possible reasons:

(1) Calles, altho following a Wall Street policy, may not be pursuing it with what Wall Street considers the necessary rapidity. The Kellogg note in this case was framed to let him know that the mortgage-holders were getting impatient.

(2) Wall Street, by attacking Calles thru the state department, may have counted on rallying the Mexican populace to the support of a government that Wall Street has in its vest pocket, discrediting the revolutionary elements who were attacking Calles as a tool of Wall Street and securing more popular support for his policies.

The latter supposition seems the more probable.

Imperialism prefers always to have the colonial slaves held in subjection by native rulers and only in emergencies resorts to foreign dictatorship. This method has the advantage of not raising the issue of war on a helpless people among the working class at home, of making it appear that whatever the colonials may be suffering, it is their own desire, or fault, as the case may be.

It is much cheaper and less risky for Wall Street to enslave the Mexican masses with a native government than to do it with armed forces of the United States.

INTERESTING as these hypotheses are, their truth or falsity does not affect our major premise—that Wall Street has gobbled Mexico and that its war on Mexico, open or concealed by a Calles camouflage, is a war on the Mexican workers and peasants.

The American working class must learn that the enslavement of the Mexican masses means their own enslavement. From Chile the Anaconda Copper Mining company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil company, is laying down copper in New York for six cents a pound that it costs it 11 cents per pound to mine and refine in Butte, Montana.

If the Mexican peons can be made into landless workers, if the Mexican unions can be betrayed and smashed, if the Wall Street policy is enforced either by an American military dictatorship or by a puppet Mexican government, the living standards of the American workers will not be able to stand this slave competition. If they stand by and watch the Mexican masses betrayed they will pay the penalty.

BUT the Mexican workers, with a revolutionary stamina they have shown since they declared their independence from Spain in 1810, will not be permanently enslaved. They will rise from time to time and it is then that a still greater danger will confront the American workers—the danger of being conscripted to butcher their comrades to the south.

WHERE do the American workers stand on the Mexican question? Are they going to follow the agents of Wall Street at the head of the unions, applaud the arrests, deportations and murder of the militant workers and peasants, allow the Mexican unions to be smashed by a "labor" government and the Mexican workers and peasants driven into the mines, oil refineries and mills of American imperialism to work and starve?

Or are the American workers going to understand that the fight of the Mexican masses is THEIR fight—that in this imperialist period the colonial peoples and the peoples of semi-colonial regions like Mexico, can be brought into the struggle against capitalism side by side with the proletarians, that these peoples, a thousand times betrayed and a hundred times more oppressed than we are, hold the balance of power in the mighty struggle between world capitalism and the proletarian revolution?

The answer of the American labor movement must be:

All power to the Mexican woskers and peasants!

We must encourage them to take their land and aid them in holding it. We must show them that we realise that our enemies are their enemies and if they chase every Yankee robber from their soil, if they take the water power, the oil wells, the railways and the mines in the name of the Mexican people, we must be prepared to rally the working class to prevent a single soldier or a single ship going to Mexico to stop them.

Why in hell should we do anything to aid Wall Street to enslave more people, make our lives harder and strengthen our class enemies?

Why should we not be on the job to do all we can to help the Mexican workers and peasants get what belongs to them, especially when it makes it easier to get what we want—the government, the land and the industries here in the U. S. A.?

By ARNE SWABECK.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 5.—In response to the pressing needs of the thousands of steel workers struggling under almost unbearable conditions for a mere existence, the Communist fraction within the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers has become definitely organized and a concrete program of work outlined. Thru the Communists employed in the unorganized mills and furnaces it has become linked up with the great problems of the unorganized.

Last week at a conference held in Youngstown, Ohio, the details of organization were worked out. About thirty delegates participated representing Workers Party units whose members are employed in the steel mills of Western Pennsylvania and Ohio. Both district organizers from the Cleveland and Pittsburgh districts, Wagenknecht and Swabeck, were present together with William F. Dunne, representing the central executive. senting the central executive committee of the Workers Party.

Past Mistakes Reviewed.

In reviewing the Communist policies in the trade unions as applied in actual life, the mistakes made in application in certain unions and the general lack of application in the steel workers' union, many important lessons were drawn.

It was made clear to the delegates present that the tendency often manifested to submerge the left wing issues in order to quietly gain offices, could have nothing but serious consequences for the left wing and for the labor movement in general, as particularly the Communist must put forward these issues and lead tthe fight for more militant policies.

Failure to do so can only lead to serious right wing deviations. However, any general tendency to minimize the importance of Communist trade union activities and the necessary organizational basis becomes equally dangerous. Such mistakes are most often made by the eroneous concep-

By T. J. O'FLAHERTY

PROFESSOR WOODHEAD, the British gentleman who essayed to enlighten the students at Chicago University on the situation in China, blamed the Chinese for all their own troubles. This was to be expected. It is quite believeable, that had the Chinese workers submitted to the exploitation of the British and Japanese enslavers and took all the indignities heaped upon them without a murmur, John Bull would have let well enough alone.

FOR some reason that the British can never understand, or any other imperialist for that matter, subject peoples never properly appreciate the efforts made by their benefactors to better their condition and lift them up to the pinnacle of civilization occupied by their masters. We have the Hindus, who according to the British are yet in a state of political and cultural infancy, always rebelling against their benevolent rulers.

THE same is true of the Egyptians tho the British have so far managed to hold them down by means of guns, etc. An occasional slaughter of Egyptians is entirely in harmony with the ethics of christianity. The Chinese (there are over 400,000,000 of them), managed to get along before the British empire was founded. They increased and multiplied at least, in Rooseveltian fashion. Their god was not up to the scratch in the ways of piracy, like the British god, so the Chinese found themselves sucking opium, forced on them by John Bull, for the greater glory of god. Out of the profits of the opium trade the British were able to hire missionaries and endow churches. Opium was to the Anglican church what the saloons in America were to the Catholic church.

CHINESE misrule is caused by the efforts of the Chinese masses to get rid of foreign rule. In other words there would not be any trouble in China if the masses worked sixteen hours a day, suffered the floggings of the brutal factory bosses in silence, and in general allowed the foreigner capitalists to walk over them. Instead of being a great liberator and revolutionist, Dr. Sun Yat Sen was a great scoundrel, according to Mr. Woodhead.

WELL, the Chinese don't think so, Mr. Woodhead, and when the Chinese give the British taxmasters the tip of the boot or better still the point of the sword out of their country, they will owe more gratitude to Sun Yat Sen than to any other single individual in the history of China. That Sun's memory is hated by the British is the best testimony to his character. British propagandists are

800 STREET CARMEN STRIKE AGAINST THE OPEN SHOP IN IOWA

DES MOINES, Ia., July 5.—The 800 employes of the Des Moines street car system are on strike, effecting a complete tie-up of service since Saturday morning.

The issue is one of the union to job control and the attempt of the company to force an open shop. The company refused to discharge a conductor whose union card had been revoked. This refusal of the company is a violation of its agreement with the union and telegraphic sanction for the strike was obtained from International.

FRANCE SEEKS SECOND MORGAN LOAN BEFORE PAYING DEBT TO U. S.

PARIS, France, July 5. — The French government will seek a large loan from J. P. Morgan and company before making arrangements to fund its four billion dollar debt to the United States, it was rumored here in official circles.

At a fourth of July celebration, Premier Painleve declared that France would pay her debt to America, "to the extent of her ability."

BIG STRIKE OF PATTERN MAKERS IS ON

Hits Jobbing Houses of Chicago

A strike of the Pattern Makers involving all pattern makers in the jobbing industry in Chicago and vicinity was called by the Pattern Makers' Association of Chicago and vicinity on Friday, July 3rd. The strike is 100 per cent effective and was called to enforce the union or closed shop, a minimum wage of $1.25 an hour, for the 8-hour day and 44-hour week.

The strike was first called in the Noback Shop, located at Van Buren and Clinton streets. The Pattern Makers' Union tried to obtain a conference with the bosses to discuss these demands.

Bosses Refuse to Talk.

The bosses' association called its meeting and flatly turned down a conference with the union. Thereupon the union, the Pattern Makers' Association of Chicago and vicinity retaliated by issuing a call for a strike which will effect the entre jobbing industry.

At the meeting of the union last Tuesday, June 30, there was the largest turnout of members in a year. The local unanimously voted to levy an assessment of $3.00 per member on those on the job in the manufacturing industry. The spirit of the members of the union and strikers was high. They are out to win the strike in spite of all obstacles and to teach the bosses a lesson.

Come Back Strong.

Four years ago, in 1921, the pattern makers of Chicago struck and lost. Since then they have been repairing the damage and today they are coming back 100 per cent strong and determined to win the strike. Prior to the present strike, attempts at conferences were made by the union but they were unsuccessful. The union therefore girded itself for a determined battle against the attempts of the bosses' association to smash their union and the conditions they have won thru many years of struggle.

Communists On Firing Line.

Among the strikers are a number of members of the Workers (Communist) Party who are taking prominet and leading parts in the strike.

The headquarters of the striking pattern makers are at 119 Throop street. The strikers are all on the job picketing and their morale is high.

COMMUNISTS IN POLAND EXPOSE BRUTAL MURDER

Socialists Laugh at Workers' Suffering

WARSAW, (By Mail)—At one of the last sessions of the Polish Diet the deputy of the Communist faction, Thomas Pristupa, disclosed in a speech the activity of the Polish secret service and emphasized the touching care the Ministry of Interior is taking of the police. We shall quote the most interesting part of his speech:

"77 per cent of the whole budget the Ministry of Interior is assigning to the police. Not only has the percentage of expenses consumed by the police increased, but the number of this body also increased. In the year 1924 the internal police-force consisted of 36,953 men, and the frontier force 10,604 men. That made up a total of 47,557 men. In March 1925 the number of police increased to 61,903 men, not counting whole gangs of spies, secret agents and paid plotters, the number of which, according to the statement of the officer Russinek, can not be fixed."

Socialists Hide With Killers

When Pristupa disclosed details of the base assassination of the workers Galchik and Pilarchik, who were choked by poisonous gases and pointed out at the murdering of Baginsky and Vecherskovitch and others, the Polish Socialists interrupted his speech with mockery exclamations: "Please tell us how many anti-government meetings did you organize," or "what do you care about the assassinations of workers."

Calles Demonstrates His Loyalty to the Mexican Landowners

MEXICO CITY, July 5.—The landowners of the state of Durango have declared their support of the Calles government, after President Calles promised them to "limit lands taken to those absolutely necessary for uplifting the peasants."

Calles said most of the lands the peasants hold are held illegally, only about five per cent of the lands granted having received his signature.

A. C. W. STRIKERS RETURN TO THE FIRING LINES

Machinist Local Raps Scabby U. G. W.

Members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers on strike against the International Tailoring company and J. L. Taylor company (owned by the same people), which are fighting the A. C. W. to establish the open shop under the guise of a fake union agreement with the United Garment Workers to furnish scabs, are expected to return from the week-end and holiday vacation with renewed spirit for the second week of militant and mass picketing.

Mass Picketing Wins.

This form of action, the massing of all strikers to face the scabs and their police and private slugger protectors, has won the first week's battle, since no power on earth can break a strike that is fought with such spirit and cohesion.

Every day and all day, morning, noon and night, the streets have swarmed with workers, milling and marching back and forth, with eyes peeled for the elusive scab. The hundreds of police and sluggers who have beaten and arrested many pickets only brings a more spirited crowd to the picket line the next day.

No Division Between New York and Chicago.

The shops of the same firm in New York City, was emptied in 15 minutes when a wire arrived from Chicago telling the workers in New York that their Chicago brothers are fighting to prevent the union from destruction. Here there is no question if the workers in New York City have the same interests as those of Chicago and vice versa.

The workers readily see that anything which affects their New York brothers affects them also. There is no chance for the enemies of the workers to drive a division between the workers of Chicago and those of New York.

Class Viewpoint Seen Essential.

Neither can any unionist of Chicago deny that a broad class viewpoint is necessary in the labor movement in addition to the narrow trade issues in one union or industry. The left wing machinists and members of the Trade Union Educational League in Lodge 199, of the International Association of Machinists on Friday night, took up the battle against union scabbery and the lodge passed a resolution condemning the scabbing of the United Garment Workers fake union on the Amalgamated strikers.

The Chicago Federation of Labor did not hold a meeting yesterday. A number of delegates came to the meeting place, the Musicians' Hall, at Washington and Wells Sts., but none of the officials put in an appearance nor could they be reached over the telephone.

Seven Killed on Fourth.

Seven were killed and ten were seriously injured as a result of Fourth of July explosions and shootings, in Chicago.

Coming Tomorrow!

TOMORROW the DAILY WORKER will publish a great Special Edition, devoted to the struggle between the suspended executives of Locals 2, 9 and 22 of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, and the Sigman-Perlstein-Feinberg machine in the New York City Joint Board and the International.

Documents, critical articles, news articles, stories from the rank and file, and Hyman's eloquent and convincing speech for the defense before the Trial Committee, all will be there—and illustrated with a photo of the membership guarding the headquarters of Local 22.

New York City workers! Members of the I. L. G. W. everywhere! Stand by to distribute the I. L. G. W. Special Edition!

IMPERIALIST SPEAKER ON CHINA GIVEN AN UNCOMFORTABLE TIME BY QUESTIONS FROM AUDIENCE

British Inspired Threat of War on Soviet Union Is Stirring All Europe

LONDON, July 5.—All the diplomats of Europe are stirred by the threat of a war upon Soviet Russia by an alliance of imperialist powers led by Great Britain, which is launching a propaganda thruout the world to provoke a severance of the present relations between England and the Soviet Union.

Poland, the creature of British banking interests, is taking the physical offensive by wanton raids of Polish troops across the Soviet frontier and attacks by arms upon the small Red Army posts at the frontier.

Germany, under Hindenburg, has seized upon the excuse of the sentence to death of three Germans in Soviet Russia for an attempt to assassinate Soviet officials, to ally herself with her former foe, "perfidious Albion," and has sent a peremptory note to Moscow demanding the release of the criminals.

France Discusses Situation.

France, whose imperialist interests are in a crisis, with the Moors slicing fiercely at her African colonies, has under the Painleve cabinet's consideration an offer from England to join hands with Britain, Germany, Poland and Roumania in a war upon Soviet Russia.

It is obvious that the excuse of Soviet "interference" in China is not the entire reason for Britain's acts, as long before the upheaval in China began, Austen Chamberlain, British foreign minister, offered an alliance against the Soviet Union to France under the Herriot government.

Soviet Indignation Is Rising.

Soviet Russia, on behalf of the workers and peasants of the Soviet Union, are indignant that Britain insists upon violation of international law so flagrantly as to try before a foreign mixed court set up in Shanghai, China, a citizen of Soviet Russia.

Soviet Russia long ago gave up the extra-territorial privileges in the old treaties forced out of China at the point of bayonets, and in so doing agreed that Soviet citizens should be tried before Chinese courts and under Chinese laws.

But Soviet Russia did not agree that Soviet citizens should be seized upon by imperialist nations who have occupied coastal regions in China by force of arms and tried before courts where neither the laws nor the judges are Chinese, but are British.

British Labor Watchful.

The labor movement of England, which has lately turned to the left following the sharpening of the industrial crisis from the depression in production of the Dawes Plan, and the widespread enlightenment of British unionists upon conditions in Soviet Russia thru the report of the British Trade Union delegation, is becoming alarmed at the menace of war in the actions of the British cabinet.

Labor unionists are pointing out that the hope of remedy for the increasing unemployment in England is being destroyed by hostile acts towards Soviet Russia which has opened up great commercial and trade pos-

COMMUNIST PARTY OF CHINA DECLARES CHINESE PEOPLE IN FINAL FIGHT FOR FREEDOM

(By International Press Correspondence.)

MOSCOW, June 16.—(By Mail.)—The central committee of the Chinese Communist Party has published the following manifesto in which it defines its attitude to the protest movement in China:

THE Shanghai blood bath is no accident, but the unavoidable consequence of the imperialist policy in China, the result of its enslavement. The history of China since the Nanking agreement is the history of bloody suppression.

The Shanghai tragedy has led to consequences which open a new page in the history of the development of Chinese national consciousness. All the imperialists oppose the Chinese national movement with equal enmity, but this does not abolish the conflicts between the imperialists themselves and at the moment they are engaged in trying to shift the blame upon each other's shoulders.

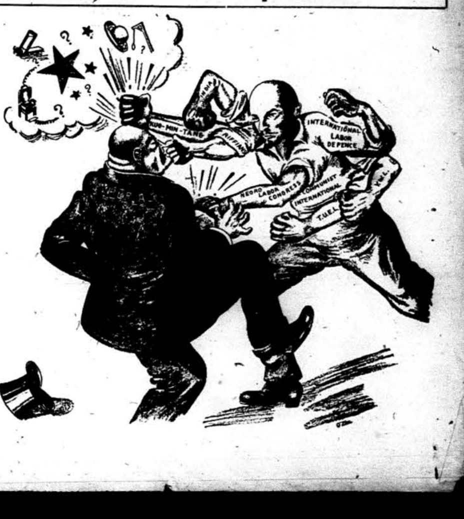
This expresses itself in the attitude of Japan towards England and in the hypocritical sympathy of Germany for the Chinese students. The movement which has developed from the Shanghai strike must set itself wider aims than the punishment of the guilty and the compensation of the families of the victims, it must set itself not judicial but political aims, above all the cancellation of the unfair agreements made between the foreign powers and China and the abolition of the privileges extended to foreigners, as otherwise there is no guarantee for the safety of Chinese lives.

The Communist Party is faced with the following tasks: 1. The development of the present movement to a permanent one having as its aim the destruction of foreign dominance in China. 2. The bringing together of all classes in China by their participation in the national revolution and the drawing of the widest masses of the people to the struggle. The Communist Party must warn the Chinese people against forgetting that the present government of Tuan Shi Tshu is the tool of the imperialists and that Chang So Lin is an agent of Japanese imperialism.

Compromise is out of the question. It is better to suffer a defeat than to use enemies as defenders and go-betweens. The imperialists are attempting to split the movement by declaring that the movement has its beginning from the Communists and the Soviet Union. Should it be true that the Communists are the originators of the movement, then the Chinese people must attach itself to the Communists all the more as the representatives of the whole Chinese people. If it is true that the Soviet Union supports the movement, then it is but another proof that the Soviet Union is the only friend of China. Unfortunately, the Soviet Union cannot help the Chinese people immediately to throw off the yoke of imperialism. The Shanghai events showed that all sections of socialism have recognized the necessity of supporting the workers and peasants against the imperialists. Hundreds of thousands of Chinese are facing the cannon directed against them by the imperialists.

Despite the martial law, despite the threats and brutality, the whole population of Shanghai supports the strikers unitedly. The sacrifices will not be in vain, the Chinese people will pursue the cause of its freedom to the end!

Leninism vs. Imperialism



RIFF ATTACK IN LEBEN VALLEY IS SUCCESSFUL

Workers Refuse to Go to War; Recruit Poles

PARIS, France, July 5.—The French positions in the upper Leben valley in Morocco have been pushed back by the severe bayonet attack of the Riffiant troops, a dispatch from Fez states. The fighting near M'Lisa is violent.

The statement of Premier Painleve to the French senate that the French losses in the entire Moroccan campaign have been only four hundred killed is believed by no one who is well informed of the Moroccan situation. It is well known that the losses have been many times greater.

Socialists For Bankers.

The senate gave Painleve a vote of confidence in his Moroccan policy of continued attack on the Riffians, the socialists again lining up with the imperialists.

The French foreign office announced that the Franco-Spanish conference at Madrid is drafting peace terms to present to Abd-el-Krim.

Workers Refuse to Fight.

WARSAW, Poland, July 5.—An interpolation in the Polish Sejm (parliament) by the Communist fraction, with regard to the French invasion of Morocco disclosed that the French government is recruiting Polish immigrants in France to go to the Moroccan front because the French workers are refusing to fight the Moroccans.

There are 750,000 Polish workers and peasants in France. The Polish white terror government sent them in order to get rid of a large unemployed army, and to be free of political opponents.

Would Use Poles.

The Polish immigrants were first used to lower the wages of the French workers and to act as non-union help to break up the French unions. They did not succeed because the Communists established two Polish language papers in Paris and informed the Polish workers of the situation.

Now the French government is using the same tactics to try to use the Poles to help win Morrocco for the bankers.

Workers Party Acts.

The Polish section of the Workers (Communist) Party of America is calling on the Polish workers to protest against the use of Poles in the interests of bloody French imperialism.

Communists Call General Strike.

PARIS, France, July 5.—The Communist Party of Paris has decided to call a general twenty-four hour strike of protest against the Moroccan invasion.

In Saint Pierre des Corps, near Tours, the mayor has been arrested charged with "anti-militaristic propaganda," and the municipal council held a meeting and declared their approval of the mayor's stand against the Moroccan war.

Searches and arrests of workers' homes by the Painleve government continue thruout France. Meetings are being held in all the other industrial centers, which expose the imperialist aims of the French bankers who are promoting the Moroccan war.

Situation "Critical."

Premier Painleve has hinted that army classes will soon be mobolized to be sent to North Africa.

The Riffian attack on Taza is pushing back the French, and premier Painleve has called the cabinet together, admitting to them that the Moroccan situation, from the viewpoint of the French imperialists, is "serious." The war will cost at the least $250,0000,000, even if ended very soon, it was estimated by experts here.

The Journal des Debats declares the situation inMorocco is "critical." The Moroccan natives in the region of Taza, where the Riffians have battered their way to within a few miles of the town, have deserted the French and gone to the Riffians with their arms. Taza is on the main line of the Rabat-Fez railroad.

Demonstrations in Tangier

TANGIER, Morocco, July 5.—The workers have stormed the shops here and forced them to close in compliance with their organized demonstration against the statutes of the Tangier international government, of France, Spain and England. They have refused to pay taxes called for in the statutes, and have ordered all shops to close in protest.

The Spanish directory has asked Britian and France to send troops, declaring that "the neighboring tribes no longer intend to observe the neutrality of Tangier.

Moreover, it is pointed out that a rupture in relations and a breaking of the trade agreement would, as Chicherin claims, set England upon the road to war which would involve the whole world.

Soviet Union Seeks Peace.

That Soviet Russia is seeking peace, and not war, is pointed out from the report of M. W. Frunze, War Commissar at the third congress of the Soviet Union. Frunze pointed out that in four years the Red Army has been reduced from 5,500,000 to 562,000.

The ring of imperialist nations and their puppet governments have, Frunze reported, been doing the exact opposite. They have been preparing for war—and openly—with Soviet Russia. Frunze said: "The Helsingfors Conference of the Baltic governments, the General Staff Conference at Riga, the Bucharest Conference of the Little Entente and the fierce agitation which is being carried on in the bourgeois press of the world against the Soviet Union, compels us to most seriously concern ourselves."

Roumania Increases Army.

Roumania has recently increased her army by 25 per cent and bought 40,000 rifles and 62,000,000 rounds of ammunition for them. Poland has ordered three torpedo boats and six submarines from France. Great Britain has just loaned White guard Esthonia $5,000,000 to arm her troops and provide for increased forces. Frunze, in referring to these developments added;

"You will have read that the Esthonian government is ceding the islands of Oesel and Dagoe to Great Britain. If this report be confirmed, if the English flag is indeed to fly over the Islands of Oesel and Dagoe, it would mean that the English dreadnoughts could appear before the walls of Kronstadt and Leningrad within 24 hours and that the English air-fleet could cruise over the factories of Leningrad within an hour and a half. You will understand that this is by no means a matter of indifference to us. We must regard such a transaction as a direct challenge to our worker and peasant state.

Good Precedent for Sympathy.

"You know that the ex-Prime Minister Lloyd George and the present French Prime Minister Painleve, assured the Ukrainian deputy Wassintschuk, who had been sentenced to penal servitude by a Polish court, of their sympathy. Now if Painleve and Lloyd George consider it possible to do this, who can forbid the workers and peasants of our Union to call to our oppressed brothers: 'We know your griefs, your sufferings, we are with you, heart and soul, we send you our warmest fraternal greetings.'

"In spite of all this, I declare most emphatically that we have no desire for war and that, in spite of the assertions of the foreign bourgeous press, we are not preparing for an attack against either Poland or Roumania.

Numerical Strength.

"I will pass over the numerical strength of our Red air fleet. I will only say that it is unfortunately not much stronger than our nearest western neighboring countries together, Poland, Roumania and the Baltics.

"The strength of the Red Army without the navy amounts to only 529,000 men. That is 183,000 less than in France and 17,000 less than our nearest western neighboring countries together, Poland, Roumania and the baltics.

"These figures show with convincing force that it is nonsense to speak of a 'Red Imperialism'. Absolutely as well as relatively, we spend much less on armaments than all other, the largest bourgeois states, and relatively even much less than the smallest bourgeois states. At the disarmament conference at Moscow, it was precisely Poland which frustrated our proposals for giving up the argument of arms."

British There With Cold Water

LONDON, July 2.—Great Britain today threw cold water on Secretary of State Kellogg's proposal for a new conference of the powers to iron out Chinese troubles that have resulted in the present widespread disorders in that country.

"China must put her house in order before there can be any conference to discuss matters of extra-territoriality," said the usual hypocritical statement from the foreign office.

Officials Show Surprise

British officials were manifestly surprised at Kellogg's move, for no communication had been received from Washington, they asserted. In the absence of such official communication, foreign office officials said they believed the United states would continue to cooperate with the other powers interested in China and deal with the issue of extra-territoriality "only after China herself has cleared up the present situation and showed herself able to protect foreign lives and property."

Foreign Minister Austen Chamberlain has already stated that Britain sees no reason for considering the question of the extra-territorial rights now held by foreign powers in China.

In fact, the British charge d'Affaires at Peking has been instructed to tell the Chinese authorities flatly that Great Britain is opposed to consideration of this question.

British Seek Trade Protection

The British policy is based primarily upon British trade and the need for its protection in China.

The Daily Express spoke frankly on this angle today and showed clearly what is in the back of British minds.

"Twenty-five per cent of the inhabitants of the world live in China," said the Express. "Its more than 400,000,000 people make the country a vast potential market for British manufacturers—and their rivals."

Fear Stirring of Rivalries

Continuing, the editorial pointed out that China already has signed trade agreements with Japan and with Soviet Russia. This incident was mentioned as showing the need for the careful nursing of British trade prospects in the Far East.

"Deep rivalries may be stirred up by President Coolidge's peace move," concluded the Express.

ALBERTA MINERS STRIKE AGAINST WAGE CUT DRIVE

Treason of Leaders Is Unavailing

(By Worker Correspondent.)

TORONTO, July 5.—The whole of the Drumheller Valley in Alberta, Canada, is tied up by the rank and file strike against a terrific wage cut, which the operators and the district officers of the U. M. W. of A. are trying to put across.

The cut was suggested to the operators by Sherman, the president of the district, sacrificing all kinds of conditions and concessions won thru years of struggle, and leaving practically nothing but the check-off to show that it is an organized field.

A Non-Union Agreement.

There was no discussion, no vote, no explanation. The first word received by members, was thru the capitalist press to the effect that the agreement was signed. What kind of agreement, may be judged from the fact that it is considerably worse than these offered by various operators during the past few months, in the attempt to get men to break away from the United Mine Workers.

Some classes of work are cut nearly thirty per cent. The men were given no choice, and in the only mine where any attempt was made to operate with scabs, the men working (29 the first day, about 11 the second AND LAST day), actually did not know how much they were going to get.

Men Strike.

The men took a Sub-District ballot and decided by an overwhelming majority to reject the agreement. Sherman and the operators did their best to hound them back with mounted police and a barrage of newspaper vilification, but so far the rank and file are solid.

Miner Shot By Cossack.

There have been numerous arrests, one young miner has been shot by a Mountie, and tear bombs are being used freely. But the miners have decided that this shall be the las time Sherman sells them out, and unless the operators listen to reason, there is every prospect of a long fight.

Kenosha Communists Have Fine Picnic and Hope for Shop Nuclei

By ALEX TISHON.

KENOSHA, Wis., July 5—A most successful Anti-Imperialist demonstration and picnic was held yesterday by the Kenosha local of the Workers Party. Several hundred workers attended and cheered Morris Chilofsky, who spoke on "Imperialism Today."

A resolution was adopted by unanimous vote of the assembled workers demanding that American imperialism keep its "Hands off China."

Kenosha is a busy industrial city and the membership of the Workers Party has many opportunities before it, once it gets organized on the real Communist basis of shop nuclei, as most of the membership is located in a few large plants. Heretofore this opportunity seems never to have been thot of, but now Kenosha live wires are expecting to see a change as soon as the party is reorganized.

GERMANY NOT TO BREAK RAPOLLO, SOVIET TREATY

Security Pact Must Also Revise Versailles

BERLIN, Germany, July 5.—Foreign Minister Stresemann will lay down among the conditions for Germany's entrance into a "security" pact with the allies that the Rapallo treaty with the Soviet Union must not be broken, according to a resolution passed today by the German peoples' party, which he leads. It is understood the conditions embodied in the resolution would govern his future policy.

Condition of Entering League

Stresemann will also lay down rigid conditions for Germany's required entrance into the league of nations, the resolution shows.

"Entrance to the League of Nations is out of the question unless the Ruhr sanction territories and the first rhineland zone are evacuated," the resolution set forth.

"Our entering the league must first be preceded by the conclusion of a security pact. Germany must be exempted from giving military assistance to the league. If we enter the league any military control of Germany, exceeding the terms of the versailles treaty, shall automotically be abolished.

Must Leave Germany Free Hand

"The security pact must not exclude the possibility of revising the Versailles treaty insofar as it deals with Germany's eastern borders, but it must exclude any further sanctions and provide for submission to arbitration of all controversies regarding the demilitarization of the Rhineland.

"The security pact must leave Germany a free hand to conclude similar pacts with her eastern neighbors and not allow France the privilege of arbitration of violation of such pacts.

"It must pot interfere with the Rapallo treaty." (With the Soviet Union).

ELECTRIC TRUST REPRESENTATIVE MAY RESIGN JOB

Secretary of War to Retire, Is Report

BOSTON, Mass., July 5.—Altho Secretary of War Weeks has issued a denial from his residence at West Gloucester that he intends to resign, his Washington house is sold, and it is thought that President Coolidge is looking for his successor.

Secretary Weeks represents the Morgan electric trust in the government. When it was thought Coolidge would pay his political degt to Henry Ford by leasing him Muscle Shoals, it was Weeks who brought in counterbids from the subsidiaries of the Morgan General Electric company.

Weeks also looked after the interests of Wall Street in Panama, attempting to lease concessions to New York firms.

Charge New Mexican Revolt Being Cooked Up in Wall Street

MEXICO CITY, July 5.— Former Minister of Foreign Relations, Gen. Candido Aguilar, according to the evening Grafico, declares a new revolution is being prepared from the American side of the border against Mexico and states he was invited by agents of Wall street and other heavy financial interests to participate.

According to the Grafico, the reported revolution has unlimited funds and aims at securing for American financiers concessions denied by the present Mexican laws.

Cal Indorses English-German Scheme.

BERLIN, Germany, July 5.—President Coolidge's approval of mutual covenants among European nations," was hailed by German capitalists here as an indorsement of their "security pact" offer.

The German capitalists are endeavoring to form an alliance with the English government against France, and thru the pact negotiations extend Germany's eastern frontier at Poland's expense.

Prisons Terribly Overcrowded.

There Is No Escape for the Imperialist Bandits Who Plunder the World

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

TODAY, the spokesmen of the imperialist bandits are awakening to a realization of the fact that "Moscow" is not to blame for the growing discontent in Asia, India, Persia, Northern Africa, Mexico and other restless spots over the globe. The New York Times, for instance, displays a little intelligence, when it grudgingly admits:

> "Chinese radicalism is not primarily the creation of Soviet or Communist International activity. Wherever political and social unrest manifests itself on a larger scale, the tendency is to call it Bolshevism. The late Sun Yat Sen may have been inspired, in part, by the Moscow example, but Bolshevism at Canton and elsewhere in Southern China has arisen from native conditions and under native leadership. It is the same in Morocco . . ."

The Times then goes on to argue that the "Soviet government is the leader of the opposition in the family of nations," and that all discontented nations, therefore, seek its support, until its period of discontent has passed, when they are again supposed to go anti-Soviet.

It is urged that all that is necessary is to appease the nations that have taken to the warpath. It is pointed out that there are many ways to placate China, Morocco, Mexico and other lands into joining the capitalist fold, with Mustapha Kemal Pasha, leader of the successful Turkish revolution pointed out as a brilliant example for them all to follow.

• • • •

In other words the imperialists would find international nostrums for satisfying the aches of subject peoples and oppressed nations, much after the fashion in which they offer old age pensions, welfare plans and class-collaboration schemes to ease the pains of wage slavery at home. But all these "good intentions," set forth in beautiful words, go by the board as imperialist oppression continues in action against its victims.

• • • •

The American armada tours the Pacific and Hawaii is to be made an "impregnable" fortress, certainly not to ease the burden of U. S. imperialism upon the Chinese. But rather to make the American position in the Orient preeminent among those of other imperialisms. That means, to become the most successful plunderer of the Chinese.

No intelligent student of conditions in the United States will contend that the class war here is less bitter now than in the past. The growing strength of the Workers (Communist) Party testifies glowingly to the growing class consciousness of American labor. Capitalism will not surrender its position of exploiter of labor. No more will the workers capitulate in their fight to achieve the final overthrow of the capitalist class.

• • • •

The victory of the workers and farmers of the Soviet Republics stands as an inspiration to American labor, as it does to oppressed toil in all other lands. But the victory of the American Soviet Republic grows out of American capitalist conditions, that today seek to hold wage labor in endless slavery. The New York Times is one of the best champions of that slavery.

• • • •

For more than a century developing imperialism has sought to improve its stranglehold on China, and other fields of exploitation. Chinese resistance in the past has been beaten down. But the power of the Chinese to fight their own battles is today greater than ever. That is the biggest fact that troubles the imperialist diplomats, as they ply their games of secret diplomacy in Washington, London, Paris and Tokio.

• • • •

Calles, the "socialist," in Mexico, and Mustapha Kemal Pasha, in Turkey, as two examples, may seek to make peace with the imperialist oppressors, may make war upon the Communists in their own countries. But the farmers demand the land, the workers demand the industries, in spite of such betrayals. They continue the fight to the final victory.

• • • •

The imperialists, according to the Times, are trying to find the magic formula "for reconciling Chinese nationalist aspirations." They have hunted long, like the alchemists who have tried down the ages to transmute baser metals into gold. There is, of course, no such formula. Imperialism stands before an international defeat, of which China offers but one front. Imperialism faces complete destruction before onrushing Communism. There is no escape for it.

NOBLESVILLE, Indiana, July 5. D. C. Stephenson, formerly grand dragon of the ku klux klan, and a factory owner, and leading Indiana politician, will go on trial here Monday for the rape and murder of Madge Oberholtzer, 28.

Stephenson, according to a deathbed confession of the girl, kept her prisoner in a hotel room over night, attacked her, and refused her medical aid after she took poison.

Rosenbaum's Bogus Cooperative Brot Big Stock Crash

The Dean, Onativia and Co. brokerage concern failed with liabilities of over $35,000,000 because the company bought stock of the Grain Marketing corporation.

The firm was organized with capital furnished by the Rosenbaum brothers, who also control the Rosenbaum Grain corporation. The Rosenbaum grain corporation formed, with the Armour Co., and other large concerns, a bogus "co-operatice," the Grain Marketing Co., and tried to sell the farmers stock in this concern.

The farmers did not buy, however, and the Rosenbaums were forced to buy back 45,000 shares which had been put on the market, thru the brokerage house. The capital of the brokerage firm was used in buying this stock, and the crash followed.

Working Class Youth Rushes to Enroll in Vacation High Schools

NEW YORK, July 5—The Board of Education here was taken by surprise by an overwhelming number of pupils who made applications for entry into the four vacation high schools opened for the summer months. Hundreds had to be turned away. Recommendations will be made to the next meeting of the board that more schools be opened.

The tremendous number who have applied, shows that boys and girls of the working class cannot afford vacations. As one of the students put it: "After a long winter term of study the youths of the wealthy go off to resorts for vacations but we have to hustle around for a job. Jobs during vacations are at best very poorly paid because of the competition of an army of students, who are eager to take anything to help them thru their period of study. Summer schools offer an opportunity to complete our course sooner."

COMMUNIST ELECTED TO PARLIAMENT IN HOLLAND CONTEST

THE HAGUE, July 5.—One Communist, Devisser, was elected to parliament, defeating the socialist candidate, in the Dutch elections. The government lost five seats but the present catholic premier is expected to remain in power.

SPEAKERS FLAY IMPERIALISM AT WORKERS' PICNIC

International Protest Against Exploitation

The Anti-Imperialist demonstration at the fourth annual Communist picnic, held at Beyer's Grove, California and Irving Blvd., July 4, was a real international affair, with a Chinese, an American Negro, a West African, and American Communists speaking. The speakers were James P. Cannon, Ella Reeve Bloor, C. T. Chi, H. V. Phillips, and a West African worker.

James P. Cannon, member of the Central Executive Committee of the Workers (Communist) Party, assured the representatives of the oppressed peoples who were present that the Workers Party fully supported their fight for freedom from foreign imperialism.

Communists Support Chinese.

The Communists, Cannon said, realize that world imperialism will never be destroyed until not only the colonial countries drive out their foreign oppressors, but until the workers of those countries seize power and set up workers' and farmers' governments.

In the fight of the Chinese workers to drive out the American capitalists, the American Communists are wholeheartedly with the Chinese workers and against American capitalism, Cannon said. The Soviet government and the Communists of the entire world fully indorse the fight of the oppressed races and nationalities against imperialism.

Chinese Speaker.

C. T. Chi, of the Chinese Students' Alliance, who received an ovation, as did the other anti-imperialist speakers, related the history of the present fight of the Chinese workers to take possession of their own country and drive out the foreign troops, who are slaughtering Chinese for the foreign capitalists.

"This fight of the Chinese workers is different from the Boxer war, or any other Chinese movement," Chi said. "In this movement, the Chinese have intelligent leadership, they know what they want and they will fight on until they are victorious."

An International Struggle.

"We Chinese are not only against imperialism in China, but we realize that the fight against imperialism is an international one," Chi said. "We support the fight of the workers of India, Morocco, and all other oppressed peoples against imperialism."

Ella Reeve Bloor, who has just arrived in Chicago from California, enroute on a coast to coast hitch-hiking tour for the DAILY WORKER, told of the widespread unemployment which prevails thruout the country. She told of the campaign of the Workers Party in Los Angeles which secured 26,000 votes, in the recent municipal campaign.

Unemployment.

"In the western industrial cities," said Comrade Bloor, "the open shop bosses deliberately created an unemployment menace as part of their union smashing drive. They threw thousands out of work and then they said, 'These men, if they wanted to work could go out on the farms and get jobs.'

"But when I got to Kansas, I found the roads choked with workers who couldn't get jobs on the farms because there were too many of them, and because the Kansas harvest this year is a failure. The crops are very poor and thousands of farmers are penniless."

Comrade Bloor told of the Chinese workers she met in Denver and in San Francisco, who are supporting the fight against imperialism and who are friendly to the Soviet Union because they realize that Russia is the only nation friendly to the oppressed peoples.

Negroes Fight Bosses.

H. V. Phillips, representative of the American Negro Labor Congress, spoke on behalf of the seventeen million Negroes in the United States. "I can assure you," he said, that altho the Negroes are oppressed more than the most exploited white workers, hat the Negroes are taking an active part in the fight against imperialism."

The race problem in America is fundamentally a class problem, Phillips said, and the Negroes are taking their places along side the white workers in the struggle against capitalist exploitation.

Africa Uniting.

A worker from West Africa spoke, describing conditions in Africa, and declaring that all Africa is uniting against imperialism, and is watching the struggle of the Riffians against the French bankers with great sympathy.

Several thousand people attended. There was dancing, games, sports and refreshments.

Advocates Militarization.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 5.—In a speech here, Rear Admiral Bradley Fiske declared that there will be another war, and advocated increased military preparation.

Imperialism Is Determined to Rule Thru Persecution and Murder

"THE rapacious imperialists of America, England, Japan and France, the capitalist powers that are holding China in their grip, refuse to acede to the rightful demands of the Chinese people. Foreign imperialism is determined to hold onto China by sheer force, by jailing, persecution and wholesale murder."—From the Joint Manifesto of the All-America Anti-Imperialist League, the Workers (Communist) Party and the Trade Union Educational League.

WORKERS MUST FORCE EUROPE'S IMPERIALISTS OUT OF AFRICA, TO PREVENT WORLD CONFLAGRATION

MOSCOW—(By Inprecorr Cable).—The Oriental Bureau of the Communist International has issued the following proclamation to the workers and peasants, calling upon them to resist the imperialist war in Morocco which, supported by the socialists, is leading to a world conflagration. The statement follows;

THE Painleve-Briand-Caillaux government has started the Morocco war which for months had been prepared by Herriot in conjunction with General Lyautey. The imperialist Left Bloc which emits so much symbolic peace talk, is just as dangerous as the Nationalist Bloc. It is the old unbriddled race for markets and for the acquisition of riches which benefit the capitalists only, and for which the workers and peasants have to pay.

The negotiation proposals made by Abd-el-Krim were systematically rejected by Lyautey and Herriot, who organized the blockade of the Riff by swarming the neutral zone with block houses and then alluring Abd-el-Krim into the ambush on the Ouergha.

Leads to New World War

The Moroccan events between 1907 and 1911 and the Agadir episode were the fore runners of the great slaughter from 1914 to 1918. The plundering expedition now undertaken by France against the Riff contains the elements which may lead to severe international complications. Not only France and Spain, but also England and Italy are interested in the plundering of Morocco.

France waited for the defeat of Spain in order to acquire the Riff territory at Spain's costs. Just as in 1914, so today we hear of the "attack on France's prestige." Today also we are told that it was the inhabitants of the Riff who first attacked peaceful France. England and Italy are waiting for a favorable chance to demand in the name of their international prestige their share of the spoils.

In this manner French imperialism once more lets the Morocco fire flare up which may lead to heavy international conflicts. This is an imperialist war directed against an oppressed people; it is the war of French, British, Italian and Spanish imperialism against the independence of the oppressed peoples. By defending themselves the Riff inhabitants are only defending their independence in the name of the right of self-determination of all peoples.

Socialists Again Betray Workers.

The democratic left bloc which presented itself to the workers and peasants as the angel of peace, has started the Morocco war in order to do justice to the colonial interests of high finance and the Comite des Forges.

The socialists who are now part of the bloc, were the accomplices of Herriot in the preparation of the war, and they are now the accomplices of Painleve in the starting and the continuation of the war. They are no better than in 1914; they support with their ideology the imperialist adventures of the left bloc—those pacifist adventures which contain the elements of international complications. These socialists help spread the lies about the "peaceful and local" nature of the Morocco affair.

In order to hide their treachery they simulate ignorance of the truth, and demand "explanations" from the government. At the same time, however, they prepare together with the government, the vote of confidence which demands the continuation of the military campaign and the driving out of Abd-el-Krim's troops beyond the limits of the protectorate, which as they know, do not exist.

Just as in 1914-1918 they are for the prosecution of the war "until the bitter end." The "union sacre" is again concluded. Renaudel and Jouhaux are once more in accord with Loucheur and Briand, in order to drive the Riffs out of French Morocco. They are executing the imperialist plans of the reactionary national bloc.

English Intrigue.

It is only for the purpose of better deluding the workers and peasants who are opposed to the war, it is only from tactical motives that the socialists and democrats of the left do not come out so openly for the complete crushing of the Riff inhabitants. And these criminal charlatans dare to speak of pacifism and peace— when the blood of French workers and peasants is already mixing with the blood of the Riffs who are only defending their possessions against the onslaught of the Spanish and French imperialists.

The war in Morocco will be long and murderous. It will call forth new conflicts and new international complications among the rival imperialists. Great Britain who is opposed to a mighty France based on industry and colonies, will do its utmost to prevent the creation of a French Gibraltar on the coasts of the conquered Riff. England is intriguing with Spain who is also opposed to the French penetration into the Riff.

In the meantime Italian imperialism is taking advantage of this situation by demanding Tunis. It points to France's intentions in order to hush up its own plans in Tripolis. Because of the international complications, the government of the left bloc tries to assure the world that it will confine itself to driving Abd-el-Krim out of the protectorate and to the defense of the borders.

In reality, however, the war will be carried on in the form of a blockade whose goal it is to force the Riff inhabitants into submission and thus to get hold of their land.

Workers to Pay.

Such is the policy of peace which is supported by the democrats and social-democrats of the left bloc. Their colonial policy differs in no way from that of the bloc national. They have prepared the war, they are now prosecuting the war, and they will carry the Morocco war to a finish. This war may lead to another war yet more frightful than that of 1914-1918 —a war that will cause rivers of blood to flow, and will require thousands of corpses and unparalleled destruction and devastation.

French workers and peasants! The horrors of the last war will be as nothing in comparison with those which the murderous imperialists and militarists will let loose upon the world. The next war will require not only countless victims, but also milliards upon milliards of money that will go into the pockets of the war mongers and war profiteers. Heavy burdens of taxation are your inevitable fate.

Workers and peasants of Spain! French imperialism has sent its agent to Spain in order to drag your country into the bloody war in Morocco. Spanish soldiers were already fraternizing with the Fiff, and they will continue to do so. It is your duty to join all your efforts with those of the French workers and peasants in the struggle for peace and for the evacuation of Morocco.

Down With Imperialism!

Workers and peasants of Italy! The French proletariat will do its utmost to rouse the resistence of the masses against the pirate war of their government. It is your duty to prevent the further spread of the conflagration. Your government, the fascist government of Mussolini is inclined to freshen its crumpled laurels thru new conquests, united with the French proletariat, you will prevent your government from committing these new crimes.

Comrades, workers and peasants! The Communist International warns you against the impending danger. Only you can prevent the new mass slaughter. Close your ranks, organize and raise such a mighty protest that your government may be struck with terror and lose no time in making peace with the Riff inhabitants. Workers and peasants! Arise, all of you, against the war!

Long live the fraternity of the French soldiers with the Riffs for the purpose of effecting a rapid peace.

Long live the complete independence of the colonial peoples!

Down with the imperialist war in Morocco!

Questions Overcome British Propagandist.

His speech denouncing the Bolsheviki and defending foreign rule in China, especially British and Japanese rule, stirred up a storm of questions that shocked, worried, and practically routed the speaker.

One awakening scholar in the audience wanted to know why, inasmuch as the Communists had brought Russia from chaos to order and happiness in a few years, it wouldn't be a good thing to invite them into China, in order to restore peace there. This question the lecturer waved aside—"I shan't answer that," he said.

But there were others he couldn't answer. "What about the unjust treaties, depriving China of natural resources and controlling her finances?" was one.

Yes—It Depends

"Depends what you call unjust," replied Woodhead, and he went on to make clear that mere abuse and long hours of hard labor in the foreign capitalist's factories somehow were not unjust to a Chinaman.

"Why do the foreign powers support centralized autocratic rule in China?" came from some person who had read of diplomatic intrigue to restore the monarchy.

"But whom would our diplomats have to deal with unless there was some one powerful autocrat in charge of China," responded Woodhead, and then demonstrated that such an autocrat must of course be willing to listen to reason—financial reasons, if he got any foreign support.

All For "Profitable Business"

"Why extra-territoriality?" several students asked.

"Because it is absolutely necessary to our people if they are to have profitable business in China," unblushingly answered Woodhead.

There were literally dozens of questions, all hostile not one friendly leading question in the lot. The speaker was simply flabbergasted, his voice grew weaker and weaker, finally he pleaded weariness, and the chairman came kindly to his rescue.

The questions were the best part of it, but the speech itself was sufficiently amazing. After being introduced by Prof. Tufts, vice-president of the university, and acting president, Woodhead proceeded to give one of the frankest pro-capitalist imperialist versions of the Chinese situation ever heard.

Slanders Sun Yat Sen

Sun Yat Sen he slandered with the statement that "his mercenaries supported themselves in Canton on the opium, gambling and brothel graft," and Woodhead's interpretation of the defeat of the "tiger troops" or Fascisti of Canton was that "Sun Yat Sen incited the proletariat against the merchants and massacred them."

Evidently all this might have been forgiven Sun if he had not "become closely allied with the Soviet." This was his great sin. In horror stricken accents Woodhead referred to Sun and Joffe, the representative of Soviet Russia, as "this precious pair," and "the noisiest trouble-makers in China."

Evidence, But No Proof

The whole difficulty in China, according to Woodhead, is that the Chinese are inefficient, and dumb generally, and that they are being mislead by the Russian Bolsheviki. "There is no absolute proof," said Woodhead, "that the Kuo Min Tagg is subsidized by Russian gold, but there is very strong evidence."

One of the incidents he related as evidence was the case of a Chinese soldier who just would go up on a certain wall in the fortifications of the city. No Chinaman had ever been allowed on that wall since the whites came to China. Naturally the whites were not going to begin now to allow Chinese soldiers to mount the fortifications of their own cities, such a thing would indeed set a bad precedent.

How Shocking!

So the Chinese soldier was chased off once or twice, and then put where he will never bother any of the "superior" race any more. "And would you believe it, Karakhan, the Soviet ambassador, issued a statement justifying the soldier, and all sorts of Russian Bolshevik unions and what not sent messages of consolation and sympathy to the soldier's family." Such a ridiculous thing, in Mr. Woodhead's opinion.

According to the lecturer, the Chinese are so stupid, really, you know, they cannot see that the foreign capitalists are trying to civilise the country, and that foreign mills are much better places to work in than any Chinese workshops.

They are so stupid that they cannot tell one kind of white man from another, and go on strike against British capitalists just like all the rest. Of course they can tell the Bolsheviki.

Bad Bolsheviks Are Contagious

There is something inherently bad in a Bolshevik that calls out similar badness in the Chinese coolie; wickedness responds to wickedness, and they treat each other as comrades. Woodhead read excerpts from speeches of both Chinese and Russian leaders to prove this point.

Woodhead has the Bolshevik horrors all night. So much so that he entirely overlooked the evident sarcasm in one of the questions he tried to answer, which was, "The very real economic interests of England and other powers in China are well known, but what do the Russian Communists expect to gain by their activity?"

Why Indeed!

Poor Woodhead contented himself with naivety wondering aloud, "Why indeed should the Bolsheviki want to come into China? If they would only stay out!" Previously to this he had stated that red theories were making no headway whatever among the business men in China.

Woodhead's speech was part of a series on Far Eastern Affairs, given under the Norman Walt Harris foundation. He talks on July 8 on "Extraterritoriality," and on July 16 on "China's Foreign Relations." Speeches at 4:30, in Leon Mandell Hall, University of Chicago, and public is invited. Count Soyeshima of Japan talks July 9, on "Japan's Policy in the Far East."

OCCUPATION OF CANTON BY THE KUO MIN TANG ARMY WAS BIG DEFEAT FOR THE IMPERIALISTS

MOSCOW, June 16.—(By Mail)—The occupation of Canton by the Kuo Min Tang army, which is to be regarded as an important victory for the national revolutionary movement, took place under the following circumstances:

Canton, where for some days the armies of the generals of the provinces of Yunnan and Kwang-Si had risen against the government of the Kuo Min Tang Party, was occupied by revolutionary Kuo Min Tang troops. The latter have completely defeated the counter-revolutionary army and have made 4,000 prisoners.

The commander of the first Yunnan division, Tschao Tschin Lian was murdered by his own soldiers.

Documents were found in the possession of the general staff of the Yunnanese troops which reveal the existence of a conspiracy for the formation of a counter-revolutionary government with the support of the foreign imperialist powers. The coming publication of the documents will prove sensational.

The population greeted the Kuo Min Tang troops as a besieged town greets its rescuers. Workers of Canton marched as the first into the town.

The counter-revolutionary insurrection took place under the slogan of freeing of Kwangtung from the Bolsheviks. The Kuo Min Tang issued in opposition to this the slogan of freeing the country from the militarist and imperialist yoke.

The insurrectionaries had enormous sums of money at their disposal for the purpose of corrupting the Kuo Min Tang troops. They were, however, unsuccessful.

The Kuo Min Tang troops were supported by the workers, peasants, students and smaller business men and by all groups of the national revolutionary movement including the Communist Party.

By a decision of the Kuo Min Tang Party a new government has been formed in Canton of nine members. The Kuo Min Tang Party has issued an appeal in which it calls for a realization of the will of the dead leader and founder of the Party, Sun Yat Sen. In Canton there is a great revolutionary impetus and powerful anti-imperialist demonstrations have taken place.

Liberation Movement Reported Spreading Rapidly June 16th

MOSCOW, June 16. (By Mail).—The movement in China is spreading. The Shanghai strike continues unweakened. The Shanghai chamber of commerce which has previously adopted a conciliatory attitude to the strike has now decided to support the strikers with considerable sums of money.

On the 13th of June hundreds of thousands of people took part in a demonstration in Shanghai in which the decision was passed that should the demands be rejected and satisfaction not be made by the foreign powers, the whole of China is to be called for a general strike.

Indigation Grows.

The growing indignation of the people expresses itself in all kinds of collisions in various parts. Yesterday in Tsching-Kiang (Province Kiang-Su) crowds forced their way into the English concession, the Japanese "Formoso" and the English consulate being set alight.

British and Japanese soldiers who were landed, forced the masses back. The Japanese naval authorities in China have demanded the dispatch of four further Japanese cruisers. In the already reported collisions in Hankow, seven dead and 40 wounded have already been recorded. After the bloodshed the foreign quarter of Hankow was surrounded by 5,000 foreign soldiers, and defended with barbed wire, machine guns and field guns.

In Hankow, 30,000 Chinese have commenced a strike of protest against the shootings. The Chinese foreign minister has handed a protest note to the British ambassador in connection with the shootings. The note demands the dispatch of instructions to all British consuls in China to prevent the repetition of the events in Hankow in other places. The note further declares that the English followed the blood-bath in Shanghai with new bloodshed in Hankow. In Pekin, protest meetings against the Hankow shootings have taken place.

Expect Nation-Wide Strike.

A one-day general protest strike over the whole of China is expected. The support of the strikers with money is considered to be the condition of success. Street collections in Pekin resulted in a sum of $10,000. The railwaymen have alloted five per cent and the officials 10 to 50 per cent of their wages and salaries to the help of the strikers. The government has been requested to form a strike fund of 80 millions thru special taxes, and to commence with the building of railways to occupy the strikers.

NEGRO EXPOSES STEEL TRUST'S SPYING SYSTEM

Workers Are Fired for Talking Union

(By A Negro Steel Worker.)

EAST YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 5—The employes at the East Youngstown plant of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, one of the largest plants in the Youngstown steel district, work under what the company calls the "Employes' Representation Plan" or a company union.

No member of a labor union is eligible to act as a representative. Membership in the Workers Party, Industrial Workers of the World, or any other revolutionary organization, subjects any employe to immediate dismissal.

The rules provide that any employe who feels that an injustice has been done him can appeal to the president of the company and finally to the secretary of the U. S. department of labor.

Davis Co.'s Supreme Court.

According to this the secretary of labor is the "supreme court" for the company union. Unionism of all kinds is prohibited by the rules and regulations subscribed to by the workers at this plant and even the chances of appealing to the open shop supreme court of the department of labor are indeed remote when the appealing party happens to be a militant worker in rebellion against the iron heel of capitalism.

Five South Slav steel workers who have been employed by this company for many years were recently dismissed without any reason given. Two are members of the Workers Party of America while the other three are sympathizers. They were simply told by their boss to GO HOME and STAY THERE.

Bribery System.

In their cases the company union refused to operate because their plant representatives in the company union are immediately promoted when elected to represent the workers so they will get out of the way of the workers. Straw bosses and foremen use the bribery system and one dismissed steel worker tells how a straw boss on No. 6 threading floor wanted to "borrow" $30.00 from him just because he was discharged.

The "borrowing" habit is a fixed part of the daily life of the steel workers and in most cases the steel slave must either "loan" his boss the money or face dismissal. These are but a few of the evils resulting from this wonderful employes' representation plan or company union. The only time the workers in my department hear from their representatives is around election time which takes place once each year.

Fired For Complaining.

Not over 5 per cent of the workers vote for their representatives and when they are elected they usually get a better job. We never have seen any of the minutes of their meetings and their spy system is so well organized that once we complain we are immediately discharged for some reason or another. All of my fellow workers want to be organized into a real union and this we hope to do in the near future.

Negroes Demand Union.

They feed us a monthly bulletin with much sop about this and that worker along with talks by the management but once we, as our S. Slav comrades did, tried to use our heads we were discharged upon the spot and the company union STANDS BACK OF IT.

It is but a weapon in the hands of the company to club down the workers and the slaves are fast waking up and demanding REAL unionism. We negro steel workers are ready at any time to organize with our white brothers and we hope that the movement started at Gary will come our way.

Congested Big District Picked for Big Junior High School Project

A new junior high school will be constructed on an 8 acre site now occupied by the Jewish Peoples' institute, south of and adjoining McAllister Park. The site is bounded by Taylor, Lytle and Sibley streets, and Gilpin place. It was chosen by the building and grounds committee of the board of education for the erection of a junior high because it is a district very thickly populated by working class families for whose children trade education is advocated by the big business interests of Chicago.

Air Joy Ride.

LAKEHURST, N. J., July 5.—The naval dirigible Shenandoah left its mooring mast on the naval air station field at 9:15 this morning for Bar Harbor, Maine, where a group of state governors will be taken for a flight tomorrow. It is all chalked up to government expense.

Complete participation of every party member to aid in building a mass membership organization of the International Labor Defense organization on a broadest possible basis was stressed at the C. C. C. meeting of Workers (Communist) Party, Local Chicago, by Thurber Lewis, in making the report on the successful National Defense Conference on June 28.

Every party member should be on the job in his local union and fraternal organizations to get those bodies to co-operate with and join this Labor Defense organization which will defend all class war prisoners, I. W. W., A. F. of L. workers, Communists and any other workers caught by the capitalist tyrannies in this country and internationally.

Locally, some twenty-five unions and fraternal organizations sent delegates to the Defense Conference, a good showing for the short period of necessary work.

The mass meeting in the evening of the 28th was given full support and resulted in a most enthusiastic mass demonstration and gave a fine send-off to the newly organized International Labor Defense organization.

Chicago Industrial Organizers Meet.

At the last industrial organizers' meeting 20 party and Y. W. L. units were present and the matter of tactics, resolutions and work in the trade unions was closely discussed and plans of work laid out. Every branch is instructed to make industrial and trade union work a special order of business at each meeting in order to stimulate interest and activity on the part of every member of organizations in this work.

Some local elections have taken place in the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union and a number of left wing candidates have been elected to the local union executives and to the joint boards. The machine has contested a few on the usual fake reasons. It was reported that leaflets explaining the situation in Locals 2, 9 and 22, had been distributed in the "Market."

The strike of Amalgamated Clothing Workers in Chicago at the International Tailoring company and the role of the United Garment Workers as scabs was reported upon. Party members were urged to give complete support to the Amalgamated strike and to expose and fight the scabbing tactics of the United Garment Workers in the midst of this struggle.

The progressive painters' group program for the coming convention was outlined, among the points being 100 per cent organization, direct election of general officers, against expulsions of painters and other delegates from central labor bodies, for a labor party, for amalgamation, etc.

Trade Union Committee Formed for Negro Work.

It is necessary that additional support be given to the work among the Negro workers, especially to the trade union committee working in that field for the American Negro Labor Congress to be held on October 25.

Hands Off China Meeting.

A successful Hands Off China protest meeting on Wednesday, June 24, was reported on, despite a continual rainfall. The hall was filled, a number of Chinese workers and students present. Three Chinese speakers and a number of contacts gotten with them.

On July 3, will take place the Anti-Imperialist Week at Beyer's Grove, end of California Ave. car line. The fourth annual Communist picnic is also held in conjunction with the Hands Off China, Mexico, Haiti, etc., protest demonstration.

Douglas Park English	4
Irving Park English	1
Douglas Park Jewish	3
South Side English	2
Northwest Jewish	4
South Slav	2
Polish North Side	2
Polish South Side	3
Cicero English	1
German	2
Russian	1

The following resolution was adopted by the city central committee:

"The C. C. C. having considered the resolution on the South Slavic Federation, adopted by the central executive committee, declares:

"It is in thoro harmony with and endorses the C. E. C. resolution. The C. E. C. is correct in calling attention to the violation of discipline, in failing to carry out C. E. C. decisions on the part of the majority of the South Slav bureau.

"The C. C. C. endorses the action of the C. E. C. in declaring that the Fisher-Mikalachky group is a healthy Communist group and must be given full opportunity to do work for the South Slav Federation.

"The attitude of the Novak group in following a policy of persecution and exclusion of the Fisher-Mikalachky group from responsible work in the federation is to be condemned.

"More important yet, is the action of the C. E. C. in calling attention to and checking the strong tendency toward federation autonomy on the part of the Novak group. Especially will such an attitude on their part, if continued, tend to prevent reorganization on an international branch and shop nuclei basis among the South Slavs.

"The city central committee will fully support the central executive committee in the fight against the decentralizing and disintegrating tendencies of federation autonomy."

Next meeting of C. C. C., Wednesday, July 15, 722 Blue Island Ave.

Fraternally yours,
WORKERS PARTY, Local Chicago,
MARTIN ABERN, Secretary.

Cleveland Comrades and Fellow-Workers

Comrade Emanuel Vajtauer, editor of the Bohemian Workers Party weekly Obrana, in New York, was denounced by social-democratic spies and held four months for deportation at Ellis Island and is now released on $2,000 bail.

He is one of the most able speakers of the Third International and until the supreme court decide if he will remain with us or not, he is on a lecture tour.

He will speak in Cleveland, Ohio Saturday July 11, 1925 at 8 p. m. at the Bohemian Sokol Hall (Garden) 4314 Clark Ave.

All comrades who understand Bohemian or Slovak are urged to attend.

CONN. 'HANDS OFF CHINA!' MEETING IS BIG SUCCESS

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 5.—The first open air meeting this season on the Central Green from the Bandstand conducted by the Workers party took place here Saturday night. Several hundred workers listened carefully to the spech of Oliver Carlson on the subject "Hands off China."

He traced the curse of opium, and the explotation of the Chinese workingmen, women and children for profits of imperialist countries. It was a speech full of facts, presented in an interesting manner. The audience was well satisfied, and was in agreement with the views expressed by the speaker.

The question period proved exceedingly interesting. Questions on Russia came thick and fast, which Comrade Carlson was able to answer well, because of his several trips to Russia, and the many years spent there, as well as in other countries of Europe.

A socialist party member, a real estate dealer came to grief when he complained among other things that there was no free speech in Russia, and then refused to give the speaker a chance to answer his question. He went off, the audience applauding his exit.

Comrade Simons was chairman of the meeting.

Arrest Is Made in Collecting for the Irish Famine Victims

NEW YORK, July 5.—David Brown member of the Young Workers League, and voluntary collector for the Irish famine suffers, was arrested on Saturday, June 27, and committed to jail without bail. On Tuesday night, he was sentenced to 15 days in the workhouse.

An Irish society, interested in keeping information about the famine of the Irish workers and peasants from the United States, prosecuted the case. The young comrade was arrested in the streets, before he had collected any amount of money. But the friends of suppressing the idea of solidarity between the American workers and their Irish brothers was too strong in the breasts of some of the Irish elements of this city. The young comrade is a Communist and the authorities are determined to connect his activities in behalf of the starving Irish workers with his political concepts.

The court went even further. It has ordered an nvestigation of the Irish Workers and Peasants Famine Relief Committee, contending that it is not a bonafide organization—and is "conducting a bunco game." The Irish Workers and Peasants Famine Relief Committee welcomes this investigation, since it will be proven that this committee is the only one that has made any attempt in the United States to get help to the starving Irish workers and peasants.

The Irish Workers and Peasants Famine, Relief Committee intends to fight the case.

DAILY WORKER SUBS TO KANSAS COAL MINERS

Collection Taket at Communist Picnic

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 5.—At the DAILY WORKER picnic here, which was addressed by Mother Ella Reeve Bloor, who is on a hitch-hiking coast to coast trip for the paper, and C. E. Ruthenberg, Workers Party executive secretary, a collection was taken to give DAILY WORKER subs to the members of the Workers (Communist) Party, coal miners' shop nuclei of the state. These coal miners are very poor from their long seige of unemployment and hardships brought on by the betrayal of the Lewis machine and the "open shop" drive of the coal operators.

The collection went for DAILY WORKER subscriptions to these miners. Thirteen were donated, and the miners filled them out. A large number of miners from the Kansas coal fileds were present at the picnic.

Cleveland Y.W.L. Gets Behind the Labor Defense Campaign

CLEVELAND, O., June 30—The Young Workers League of Cleveland at its regular meeting unanimously passed the following resolution condemning the incarceration of our Comrade Benjamine Gitlow and pledging its support to the International Labor Defense.

The Resolution.

Whereas, the United States supreme court, the buttress of capitalism, has decided that Comrade Benjamin Gitlow must serve the remainder of his ten year sentence for uttering the famous "Left Wing Manifesto" of 1919, and

Whereas, Com. Gitlow has during the past six years held aloft the red banner of Communism in America, devoting himself unflinchingly to the cause of the Communist International, therefore, be it

Resolved, that the East Side English branch of the Young Workers League, Local Cleveland, congratulates Comrade Gitlow for his determined stand for the exploited masses, and pledge our support and unremitting work for Comrade Gitlow's freedom so that he may coitnue his splendid activities in the Communist movement; and be it

Further Resolved that we call upon every member of the party and the league and every member of the working class to co-operate with the Communist movement of this country in the fight for the freedom of Comrade Gitlow.

AND FURTHER,

Whereas, the oppression of workers by the courts, as in the Gitlow case, has now become an established practice by the capitalist class which must be expected to become more severe with the development of greater intensity in the class struggle, and

Whereas we must prepare for the oppression of many valiant fighters of the working class by the capitalist state, and

Whereas the workers need a strong defense organization to fight against these oppressive measures, therefore be it:

Resolved that we are in full harmony with the plans of the Labor Defense Conference held in Chicago on June 28 for the reorganization and revitalization of the Labor Defense Council by making it a workers' defense organization based upon the support and participation of the broad masses of workers, and that we renew our energies to work thru this revitalized defense movement for the defense of all workers who are victimized by the capitalist state in the class war.

Hibbing Protests Bulgarian Terror

HIBBING, Minn.—At present, when the bloody hand of Bulgarian fashism writes the gloomest pages in the history of brutalness, the workers of Hibbing and vicinity, gathered in Dvorani Hall, Morton to demonstrate their class solidarity, rise their voice against the white terror in Bulgaria. In his speech, the principal speaker Comrade Chas. Novak described the cannibalism of Zankov clique and its class on the militant workers and peasants.

A resolution in the spirit of the protest was read, and unanimously adopted.

Preacher Writes Bogus Checks.

WASHINGTON, July 5.— The Rev. Garrett L. Allen, retired army chaplain, and Judge Myles S. Macon, formerly of Chicago were under arrest here today charged with passing $600 worth of bogus checks. According to the police, Allen wrote the checks and Macon cashed them. When arrested Macon said he would make good the checks.

AMERICAN ENVOY DID GOOD JOB FOR OIL TRUST

Congratulate for Work in Roumania

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Peter Jay, American minister to Roumania, returned to Washington to prepare for his new post as ambassador to Argentina, has been a complete failure as a debt-collector for the American government, but he has scored a brilliant success on behalf of Standard Oil and the Baldwin Locomotive Works. A. C. Bedford of Standard Oil has written Secretary Kellogg a letter eulogizing Jay in golden terms.

Roumania owes the American treasury $45,000,000, on loans made during and after the war, with accrued interest. A long series of strong notes demanding payment has failed, thus far, to bring the slightest sign of intention, from Premier Bratiano or the much-advertised royal family, that they will pay a nickel. A large part of this debt is due to "relief" loans made in the period after the armistice, when the Roumanians threatened to set up a Soviet government.

Oil Trust "Interpretation."

Britain and France and some other countries made smaller loans, and the Bucharest government secretly agreed with them to begin payment. But the American help, which had been more necessary, prompt and extensive was not to be refunded.

However, Roumania also enacted a confiscatory law aimed at the Standard Oil Co., and other foreign firms in the oil business in Roumania. Jay persuaded the minister of commerce to 'interpret' this law, and to grant a long series of "exceptions," that saved many millions of dollars to Standard Oil. Bedford was delighted. In the same persuasive way, Jay got the slippery Roumanian cabinet to pay the Baldwin firm some millions due for locomotives delivered after the war.

Doesn't Know of Workers.

Jay is one of those happy, rich young diplomats, equipped with inherited privilege and polo ponies, who knows nothing of the workers in any country where he serves the state department. He believes that there is no political party in opposition to the reactionary Bratiano ministry in Roumania, that the Communists are not jailed or intimidated, and that freedom of speech and of the press is greater there than in America.

OPPOSES GRAFT, JUDGE DENIES CITIZENSHIP

Calif. Worker Told to Be More "Diplomatic"

LOS ANGELES, July 5.—In a local paper is a letter from one S. Garborg, in which he tells about some of his experiences trying to obtain citizenship papers in a local court.

From his letter it appears there is a naturalization class with C. C. Kelso at its head. Garborg attended this class and on being invited to ask questions asked the following: "Can I be naturalized if I affirm loyalty to a government of, by, and for the people as opposed to a government of, by, and for the profiteers and grafters of the country?" Kelso answered, "No."

After class Kelso told Garborg he had noticed he was given to "theorizing" and advised him to be more diplomatic. The letter goes on: "On May 1st, I appeared before Judge McCorimck. On my petition for citizenship I had asked if the U. S. constitution guaranteed freedom of speech, and, if so, why such questions (as are asked on those petitions) are asked there.

At the court I was required to tell why I had asked that question, whether I was an anarchist, whether I sympathized with radical organizations, and whether I thought the present government was of, by, and for the people. Not being an anarchist, I said so. I said I strongly sympathized with radical organizations and that I had my doubts as to the government. Judge McCormick then refused to naturalize me."

This speaks for itself. Incidentally the judge spoken of is the one who ruled against the Doheny oil interests.

WORKERS OF BELGIUM DEMAND TRADE UNION UNITY-ISSUE PROTEST

BRUSSELS (By Mail).—An important group of the Belgian leftwing trade unionists have issued an appeal to the Belgian proletariat, calling for unity of the international trades union movement and protesting against the non-admittance of Communists into the movement.

The authors of the manifesto declare their solidarity with the newly-formed Anglo-Soviet committee of unity of the trade union movement and call upon the working masses to prevent all interference with the internal affairs of the Union of Soviet Republics.

OPERATORS IN VIOLATION OF THE AGREEMENT

Force Wage Reduction with Unemployment

By LEONARD

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 5.—The threat of wage cut in the well-known Monongahela branch of the western Pennsylvania coal mining district has now gone into effect. As usual the district officials are doing nothing to stop it.

In the important branch of no less than fourteen mines only two are working. One of them is working three days a week, and the other one only two. This can give the reader an idea of the extent of unemployment with due suffering of the miners and their families in this region.

Besides, the miners often have to return from the mines and lose even these few days, because the company prefers to have "dead work" done by special day men, whose wages it is easier to reduce, than to have it done by the loaders at regular day rate.

Operators Violate Agreement.

At Stockton, for instance, miners have lately been compelled to do such work as dismantling mines, tearing down tipples, moving props and machines, etc., for as low wages as 40c per hour. For inside work they were allowed $5.00 a day tho the agreement calls for $7.50 a day. Outside work calls for at least $6.10 a day.

Walter Astle, one of the militant miners in Stockdale, was recently offered this inside work for $5.00. Altho hard up and badly in need of work, he indignantly refused this as being against his principles as a union man. He reported the incident to the district office of the union, where he was told by the high officials, that they cannot do anything, that the union "has no power," etc.

Why the Weakness?

The question is, then, what is the cause of this weakness of the union? The policy of the officials has always been carried out, in spite of opposition. The main part of this policy, as often expressed by Pat Fagan, president of the district, is to peacefully co-operate with the coal operators to produce cheap coal."

A little study in cause and effect!

FASCIST PAPER WOULD MAINTAIN SOVIET ACCORD

Seeks More Business from the Union

ROME (By Mail).—The Epoca, a Fascist organ, deplores the attitude taken by a part of the Italian press towards the U. S. S. R. and the newly appointed Soviet ambassador at Rome. The paper scores the critics, of whom some profess to believe the Soviet government and the "Comintern" (Communist International) were one and the same thing, while others assert that trade with the Union does not yield Italy adequate profits.

On its own part, the Epoca emphasizes the fact that neither Yureneff, the departing ambassador, nor the new ambassador, Kerjentzeff, has proved himself disloyal vis-a-vis the Italian government.

Italian Bosses Lack Pep.

As for commercial intercourse between the two countries, the Fascist organ considers that Italian capitalists themselves have been lacking adequate initiative, as not many of them have been engaged in business with the U. S. S. R. or have applied for concessions.

Want More Trade.

"What we do want," the author goes on to say, "is that the Soviet government should make larger purchases in Italy and should not neglect the Italian market. . . We ought, however, to bear in mind that Italy mostly exports manufactured articles, while she imports raw materials—which means that should our trade balance prove to be unfavorable, we can always straighten matters by increasing Italian exports to other countries.

"Besides, we must never forget that not only does our commercial flag rank first in the Black Sea, but thru the medium of the Union of Soviet Republics, Italy gains access to the markets of the Near East."

The Epoca articles concludes by stating that the development and improvement of Italo-Soviet relations is desirable and necessary in the interests not only of the U. S. S. R., but Italy, too.

White Collar Dubs Easy Prey

No police were needed to end the white-collar strike of Chicago's city engineer and his 573 associates who walked out June 30 for an announced 3-day layoff. The strikers demanded an immediate and long overdue wage raise. Mayor Dever applied a liberal dose of sympathy and persuaded them to go back to work on the second day. Aldermen added a heartfelt expression of the justice of the demands and sent the ordinance for a raise to slumber in committee, presumably until the 1926 appropriations are considered.

Soviets Beat Turks at Football.

MOSCOW (By Mail).—The Soviet Union association football team has defeated the Angora-Smyrna team at Angora by 6 goals to 1. Among the numerous public attending the international match were members of the Turkish government, the medjilis (parliament), the diplomatic corps, and others.

NEW MASS TRIALS OF WORKERS IN BULGARIA FILL JAILS OF ZANKOV

SOFIA, Bulgaria—(By Mail)—On May 30 the court-martial of Ruscuk passed a verdict over the Plevny Communists Genko, Tachev and Theodor Kolev (Gotkat), tailors who are accused of concealing arms and parts of machine guns. The first of the above mentionad is sentenced to 4 years strict prison confinement and to pay 150,000 lev fine; the second, to 6 months prison confinement.

New Trials.

It is reported from Plevny that the investigation in connection with disclosed Communist cells in the city and country is being finished. Thirty-two comrades are accused in this trial; the majority of the accused persons are students of the Plevny High-School (gymnazia) commercial employes and a few teachers of rural schools.

Frank Tomov—a worker in a printing shop is considered to be the main leader of these cells; according to articles 2 and 16 of the Government Defense law he is threatened with being hanged on a public place or with lifelong prison confinement.

Trial of C. E. C.

It is confirmed that investigation of the case in connection with the Central Executive Committee of the Communist Party has been finished long ago and that the hearing of the case will take place soon. According to indictment the members of the Central Executive Committee are charged with preparing and bringing about the September insurrection. Many evidences and witnesses have been brought forth and the persecuting attorney will make use of the same in order to prove that the Central Executive Committee was working exclusively with the aim in view of causing a revolution in the country and also to show that the uprising of September 22 was organized by the same Committee.

The Bulgarian newspapers state that this trial will be of great historical importance

CARPENTERS WIN WAGE INCREASE IN WASHINGTON

Raise Follows Strike of the Painters

WASHINGTON, July 5.—A wage increase of 50 cents a day for all members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters & Joiners in the District of Columbia will take effect July 6 and continue until May, 1926. This raise was granted after negotiations which were ignored by the anti-union Operative Builders' organization. It follows the defeat of the anti-union forces in the strike of the Painters' union membership and the signing up of the bosses for increased wages for the Plumbers and Steamfitters.

The carpenters' wage now becomes $9.50. The union agreement provided that the carpenters should get $9 until next May unless a raise were meanwhile granted to other building crafts. The carpenters benefited by the painters' victory.

Poland Host to Baldwinites.

MOSCOW (By Mail).—London papers report that eight M. P.s', representatives of British industries, are leaving for Poland for an inspection tour in the Galicia oilfields. During their stay in Poland, the British industrialists will be guests of the Polish government.

SILK WEAVER TELLS OF WORK CONDITIONS

Rhode Island Mills Sap Vitality of Workers

By ALBERT WEISBORD
(Worker Correspondent)

PAUTUCKET, R. I., July 5.—I am a weaver in a silk mill in Pautucket, Rhode Island. The textile workers have been pretty hard hit. We are speeded up, our wages cut and then starved by unemployment. I work nights, 7 p. m. to 5 a. m., Saturdays 5:30 a. m. The work is piece-work and each one works as fast as he can. I am all in when morning comes. The watchman in our place, an old man, near 70 years, who used to be a weaver till he got too old and was thrown on the scrap heap, works 91 hours a week for $19. He works 13 hours a day, 7 days or nights a week, never a day off.

Women Work All Night.

Here in Rhode Island women are allowed to work nights and there are young girls who work with me till five o'clock in the morning. Then there are mothers with children who work such hours too. Many of the workers are women.

Our work is very hard on the eyes, especially at night with the bad light given us. Many weavers lose their eyesight or must give up their work on account of bad eyes. In silk work sometimes there are as many as 18,000 threads covering only 45 to 60 inches on a single machine. Each one of these threads must be watched and fixed when necessary and so you can see how fine the work is.

The noise in this mill is not so great as in a cotton mill where I worked last. One could not speak because of the noise. Everything was done by signs. Many of us weavers go deaf in time. In the cotton mill, in spite of humidifiers, cotton fills the air and our lungs. Thousands of textile workers suffer from lung troubles, consumption and tuberculosis.

Pay is wretched. Good weavers working full time seldom make over $32 weekly anywhere. Many make as low as $14. The average would be between $20 and $25.

"Gun Toting" Law in Effect.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 5.—The so-called "gun toting bill" which repeals the present deadly weapon act and provides for drastic regulations for the sale and carrying of fire arms, became a law without the signature of Gov. Len Small today at the expiration of the time limit allowed for action on it by the chief executive.

Polish-Soviet Trade Mounts.

MOSCOW (By Mail).—The export and import activities of the Soviet trade mission in Poland in 1925 have so far increased 500 per cent as compared with the same period last year. The trade mission is actually assailed with offers from various Polish firms, of which most offer goods on six months' credit terms.

STEEL TRUST USES LEGISLATURE TO SLASH WAGES AND REDUCE ITS TAXES, IN HIBBING, IRON TOWN

(By Worker Correspondent)

HIBBING, Minn., July 5.—Hibbing, the largest city on the Mesaba Iron range of northern Minnesota is known as the "World's Richest Village."

It has been given this title because of the large amount of tax money the village can raise due to the fact that the village is underlayed with a rich deposit of iron ore, which makes the assessed valuation over 100 million dollars and this enables the village officials to raise large sums to be spent by them.

This large amount of tax money coming into the coffers of the village also has an effect on labor conditions.

No Work in Winter.

The principal industry is open-pit mining and the season usually lasts from about May 1 to December 1 and during the winter many workers are unable to secure employment in the mines.

In the past the village has used a large part of its tax money to keep these mine workers employed during the winter months. Of course this plan has been fought by the U. S. Steel Corporation which pays the largest share of this tax money into the village treasury, but they appealed in vain to the local politicians to stop this practice. For the village election came in March and they knew that they must keep these men at work to get their votes. Of course jobs were plentiful just preceding an election.

Steel Trust Limits Taxes.

Being unable to stop what it called the "extravagant expenditure" of village funds the steel corporation managed to put a law thru the legislature limiting the tax levy to $100 per capita which cut the amount that could be raised by taxation to about half of what it formerly was.

But even this did not bring about the results that the steel trust wanted as the politicians still used the funds to get votes and cut down on the amount spent for permanent improvements.

Steel Trust Wins.

Again the steel corporation went to the legislature and secured a law changing the election to December instead of March, thinking that as the workers would be employed in the mines during the summer and fall months it would not be necessary for the office seekers to use the village funds to keep the miners at work to get their votes as they did when the election came in the spring.

Hundreds Seek Jobs.

That the steel corporation got what they wanted was evidenced last winter when hundreds of men stormed the village employment office looking for work and only a few secured work on half time and the "World's Richest Village" undoubtedly had a greater percentage of unemployment than any city in the country!

Wages Slashed.

After a winter of hardships and suffering the workers were ready to accept whatever wages the steel corporation wished to pay in the spring and conditions are the worst in the history of the community.

Two Labor Haters Run.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(FP)—Everett Sanders, former Indiana congressman, enemy of railroad labor and now private secretary to President Coolidge, is reported to be a candidate for the senate against Senator Jim Watson, who is just as much of a labor hater, who must face the voters next year.

COOLIDGE'S DRIVE FOR DEBT PAYMENTS BRINGS IN NO MONEY

WASHINGTON, July 5—The government's new debt-collecting drive, started in April under the direction of President Coolidge, has not brot any money into the treasury to date from European nations.

It has brot only assurances that virtually all the $12,000,000,000 owed the United States on account of war loans will be paid.

FRENCH CABINET WILL SEND DEBT DELEGATES HERE

PARIS, July 5.—The French cabinet today decided to send a debt commission to the United States "as soon as possible" to conduct negotiations by which the French war debt of more than $4,000,000,000 may be adjusted.

Announcement of the government's decision was made by Foreign Minister Briand at the close of a cabinet meeting devoted to consideration of France's fiscal affairs.

It was understood the mission would be sent to the United States early in the autumn.

Decide "In Principle"

After the cabinet meeting, Foreign Minister Briand announced to the press: "We have decided in principle that we will send a debt mission to Washington."

WORKERS WAGES CUT IN HALF IN U. S. BEDDING CO.

By VICTOR VOLKMANN.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 5.—The majority of the workers in the U. S. Bedding Co. of St. Paul, are young men. Wages range from 25 to 40 cents an hour, except for a few sample heads who receive more. Many family-men work for 32½ cents an hour; that is, they get no more. At present the men work ten hours a day. Two years ago the spring makers received one dollar for every spring they made; now they get fifty cents. Two wage cuts occurred in the mattress department during the last six months.

Sanitary conditions are terrible. The dirty water from the toilet on the second floor drops on the heads of the workers on the first floor. The place is cleaned only the day before the inspector comes. There is no steam heat in the factory, except when it is impossible to work even with your overcoat on.

Three Accidents In One Week

They promise the workers golden treasurers when they start, but once they ask for a raise, out they go. As a result, the workers are unorganized. The boss himself is an Israelite and he boasts of liking Jewish workers. The reason for it is simple, he gets the least protected workers and pays them the lowest wages.

A national hatred is set up in the shop between the American and Jewish workers; consequently, the workers forget their vital interests.

The workers are fooled with picnics and other such affairs. The workers cover the expenses, but the boss gets the advertisement.

Spies room about the factory and the workers are not aware of it.

Bittner Asks Bosses' Government to Please Make 'Em Stop Fight

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Owing to the absence of Secretary of Labor Davis from the city the department of labor has as yet taken no action on the request of Van A. Bittner, of the United Mine Workers, that the government intervene in the contest between miners and operators in West Virginia over the continuance of the present wage agreements.

Officials said the dispute had been in progress for about 90 days and that the department, thru its conciliation service, had made a number of ineffectual attempts to "bring the warring parties into some sort of agreement."

Bittner's appeal for government intervention was in the form of a telegram.

BREACH WIDENS BETWEEN JAPAN, GREAT BRITAIN

Nippon Offers to Frame War Alliance

PARIS, July 5—To secure a Japanese naval base at Saigon, opposite the British base of Singapore, the Japanese have, thru Viscount Ishii, offered France an offensive and defensive alliance against Great Britain it is rumored here on good authority.

To pave the way the Japanese government has just placed an order for $14,000,000 worth of railway rolling stock with Schneider and other French firms, and also has given orders for airplanes and armaments to France.

The Tokio government had asked for bids for railway material from English firms, but suddenly transferred the business to France last month to aid the political negotiations. The French bids were no lower than the English, and Kruppe offered lower prices than either.

Want to Isolate Hongkong.

The outstanding Japanese objective is said to be to get the use of the harbor of Saigon, in French Indo-China, which is just opposite Singapore and which has a tremendous strategic value.

The establishment of a powerful Japanese naval base at Saigon, which has an excellent harbor, would be a counter balance against the new British base at Singapore and would prevent the British fleet from passing thru the China sea en route to Hongkong and Japan.

Viscount Ishii also is said to have proposed a sort of supplementary commercial alliance between the two countries, under which Japan could get unlimited food supplies from Indo-China, could send Japanese laborers to Indo-China and dump large amounts of goods in France and the French colonies under extremely low tariffs.

Japan Bargains.

In return it is stated that Japan offers to attack Russia in case Russia supports a German attack against France, offers to buy all its war and industrial material in France, pledges its diplomatic support and promises low tariffs on French goods.

The same proposal was made to M. Poincare and later to M. Herriot, but the French refused to discuss it for fear of American objections and because of a fear that Japan would flood France with cheap goods and Indo-China with Japanese emigrants.

BUILDERS AT WORK

THE CONTEST IS ON IN FULL SWING!

Prize Winner Soon to Be Announced

The first WORKER CORRESPONDENTS CONTEST ended Saturday, June 27. The best story sent in by a worker correspondent will soon be announced by the judges and a prize of the choice of $5.00 worth of books from the catalogue of the Daily Worker Publishing Co. will be awarded.

The second contest began June 29 and ends on July 11. The third contest begins on Monday, July 13 and ends two weeks later and every two weeks a winner will be chosen from among the best proletarian writers.

The Daily Needs Your Help!

Workers will need no urging to subscribe to the DAILY WORKER if "Our Daily" is ever reflecting the life of the worker, his fights and his aspirations.

You can help the DAILY WORKER become such a mirror in which everyday can be seen the stories that tell of wages, living conditions, trade union activities, etc.

You are the ONLY one who can do it. Send in a story on how you work and live—and order a bundle to distribute among other workers who also live and work that way.

Special worker correspondent paper has been prepared on which you can write your story. On the back of each sheet are helpful hints that will tell you how to polish up your story so that it will be a real picture of the life of a worker. These hints have been prepared by the editors of the DAILY WORKER and will be sent to anyone WITHOUT CHARGE. Simply drop a line saying you want some sheets of the special worker correspondent paper—and you'll get it by return mail.

TOOL OF BLOODY IMPERIALISTS TALKS OF 'PEACE'

Coolidge Speech Amid Military Setting

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 5.—Amid a military setting, and following the parade of infantry and cavalry troops President Coolidge, who has sent United States soldiers to China, Nicaragua, Haiti, the Philippines and other oppressed countries and colonies, prated of "peace" and "morals."

Coolidge was speaking at the 150th anniversary of the taking command of the revolutionary army by Gen. Washington. He declared America will not make "political committments where it does not have political interests," but will give such covenants "moral support."

Soviets Erect Wireless.

MOSCOW (By Mail).—It is reported from Teheran that a powerful wireless station, constructed with Soviet assistance, is being completed there, and another one will be erected at Kermanshah by mid-June.

Workers and Farmers Belong Together; South Dakotans Are Told Why

FREDERICK, So. Dak., July 5.—The People's Hall association of Savo, South Dakota, held its 27th annual midsummer celebration for two days. The first day was given to the presentation of a play, "The Beggar Actress." Comrades of New York, Mills, Minn., and local comrades participated in the play. It was one of the best plays ever shown in Savo.

Principal numbers on the program for the second day were speeches by Comrades Hathaway of Minneapolis, and Mrs. K. E. Heikkinen of New York Mills, Minn. The former stressed the necessity of farmers and workers to get together to fight the exploiters, their mutual enemy.

The latter showed how the intensification of the class struggle has brought about the downfall of many great and powerful nations in the past. She pointed out the way for the workers of the world to fight to determine their own destiny.

The proceeds of the celebration went to the upkeep of the People's Hall.

PAY OF BOSTON OFFICE WORKERS EXTREMELY LOW

Many Get Less Than $15.00 Per Week

BOSTON, July 5.—(FP)—Massachusetts office workers are not so well paid as many people think, the state department of labor's division of statistics shows in a survey of white collar workers of the bay state. More than half of the 9,897 office workers listed in the canvass earn less than $25 a week. The 9,897 includes 1,798 administrators and supervisors of various sorts who probably call their wages "salaries." The 9,897 also does not include the poorest paid group, messengers and office boys.

The workers are employed in 381 establishments, banks, public utility offices, stores, insurance companies and various manufacturing concerns. Added to the 13 per cent in administrative or supervisory jobs are 13 per cent operating usual office appliances; 68 per cent are general office workers, stenographers, typists, bookkeepers, filing, mailing and order clerks and workers whose jobs are not clearly defined.

Those who get less than $14 a week are 3.4 per cent of the total; $14 to $16, 8.7 per cent; $16 to $18, 8.5 per cent; $18 to $20, 10.3 per cent; $20 to $20, 21.9 per cent; $25 to $30, 19 per cent; $30 to $35, 11 per cent; $35 to $50, 11 per cent; $50 or over, six per cent.

Most of the typists make between $14 and $25; stenographer-typists, $20 to $30; senior stenographers, $20 to $30; secretarial stenographers, $25 to $35. Mailing clerks mostly make less than $16; filing clerks, $14 to $25; general office workers, $20 to $30; senior clerks, $35 up to $50; chief clerks, $35 to $50 or more; office managers, $50 up.

WHITE GUARDS DISMISSED FROM C. E. RAILROAD

HARBIN (By Mail).—According to reliable information, it is estimated that there were less than three hundred employes left in all the services of the Chinese Eastern railway by June 1, who were not registered as either Soviet or Chinese citizens—most of them being former white officers who possess no special qualifications for their posts and are but a dead weight for the railway. Their going, therefore far from unfavorably affecting the normal working of the enterprise, is expected to yield useful results from the business and the financial viewpoints.

The dismissal of such employes was begun on June 1, all the necessary preliminary arrangements having been gone thru.

In the Anthracite Fields

The convention of anthracite miners, members of the United Mine Workers of America, held in Scranton, has been valuable in that it brot the left wing program before the representatives of 150,000 coal diggers and showed as well that these miners have not lost the fighting spirit that made the anthracite district the cradle of the modern American labor movement.

The endorsement of a labor party based upon the trade unions and including working class political parties is especially encouraging in view of the capitalist politics to which the officialdom has been committing the organization.

The demand for the repeal of all criminal syndicalism laws is a fine precedent for the whole labor movement.

Substantial increases in the present wage scale and improvements in the working conditions were demanded by the convention which was remarkably free from the attacks on the left wing and the Communists that, under the leadership of the Lewis machine, have featured similar gatherings.

The activity of the left wing in the grievance strikes, against the traitorous activities of Cappellini, their fighting program and the pressure from the operators, have made many changes since 1922 when Lewis was able with the aid of his "wrecking crew" to have militants thrown out of the Scranton convention.

The miners are facing a great struggle. Within the next year will come either a gradual decrease of the strength of the union, if it allows the operators to cut it to pieces with a shutdown policy, or a great influx of miners now unorganized if it adopts a fighting policy.

The anthracite miners are assured of steadier employment than their fellow-workers in the bituminous industry and it is probably the thot of officialdom that they will continue to work and finance the strike in the bituminous fields if one is called.

This is a mistaken policy. The left wing must set its face like flint against this plan, amounting as it does to division of the miners' forces. The United Mine Workers must, when they strike to save their union, be prepared to deal all the misery possible to the bosses and their supporters without any sentimental regard for the anthracite-using "public" which does nothing for them or any other working group.

The anthracite miners must fight any attempt on the part of officials to separate them from the soft coal workers. Only disaster for both sections of the union can come from such a policy.

This, as we see it, is the big issue for the anthracite district and the program of the left wing in this regard is clear and plain—all together for a powerful union, all together for the organization of the nonunion fields, all together against the coal capitalists.

Japan and France

Japan has proposed, according to Paris dispatches, an alliance with France. The proposals do not mention Great Britain, it is understood, nevertheless one of the terms proposed by Japan is the right to establish a naval base at Saigon opposite Britain's new Singapore base and drydock.

A glance at the map of this part of the world will show Singapore far to the south with Saigon so located as to threaten effectively the British route to Hongkong thru the China sea. Hongkong is a British port on the southern China coast—the only Chinese port of any importance that Japan does not dominate either by actual hold on contiguous territory or by possession of islands a little way off the coast.

The possession of Saigon would close the Japanese line of naval and military bases along the coast of China from Sakhalien island to the China sea and give her full control of the trade routes.

The alliance proposal is doubly interesting as confirming the conclusions drawn by us from recent events in China—where Japan has not only allowed Chinese sentiment to be directed against Great Britain but has actually encouraged such sentiment against the European nation which was her ally in 1914-18 when Japan seized the German leaseholds and military base in Shangtung.

In return for the Saigon naval base and other concessions Japan is understood to have proposed to give France a monopoly of her heavy industry market and assistance in case Germany makes war on France with Russian aid. The latter stipulation evidently is for diplomatic bargaining only as Japan has no desire under present circumstances to directly antagonize Russia; in addition, by the time that Germany is able to think of entering another major war the map of the world will have undergone such striking changes that such an agreement would be either meaningless or unnecessary.

That France looks favorably upon an alliance with Japan can scarcely be doubted. Under present conditions her Indo-Chinese possessions are at the mercy of Great Britain in event of war and the aid of a powerful naval power would be welcome. But France has to consider her relations with the United States. The franc is at the mercy of the House of Morgan. Unless American imperialism is willing to overlook the immediate strengthening of Japan in return for the potential weakening of Great Britain, its other powerful rival in the Far East, France will have to forego the advantageous arrangement proposed by Japan.

It is evident that diplomatic relations are in a state of flux at present and that the hard and fast alliances within the framework of the two great imperialisms—Great Britain and America—have not yet been formed.

The task would be easier for the capitalist nations if there was no Soviet Russia forcing consideration.

Imperialist wars are fights between big robbers to see who is going to get the biggest share of the wealth the workers and farmers produce.

Why should we fight for one gang of these robbers simply because they call themselves Americans?

Ask the worker next to you what he has in common with the boss. If he says "nothing," ask him what he is doing about it to make the boss understand it.

CROUCH DUE AT ALCATRAZ ARMY PRISON TODAY

Communist Soldiers to Be Confined There

ALCATRAZ, Cal., July 5. — Paul Crouch and Walter Trumbull, United States soldiers who were sentenced at Schofield Barracks, near Honolulu, Hawaii, for organizing a Communist League, are due to arrive here. Crouch and Trumbull, who were at first sentenced to forty and 26 years in prison were scheduled to leave Hawaii on June 26, for the United States disciplinary barracks here, where they will be confined. Following a universal protest, the army authorities reduced the sentences to three years and one year.

Paul Crouch tells the DAILY WORKER, "While in Alcatraz, we will study and prepare ourselves in every possible way for more efficient service to the cause of the working class after our release."

Speaking of an article in the Winston—Salem N. C. Journal, entitled: "Mercy For Young Crouch," Comrade Crouch said just before he sailed, "I do not have a sufficient command of words to describe those who propose 'mercy' for one who desires no favors from the capitalist class."

"When the worker demands his rights, the ownership of the instruments of production and the wealth he has produced, he gets 'charity.' When he asks for justice, he gets 'mercy.'"

Crouch and Trumbull were court martialed and sentenced on the sole evidence of an army spy, whose testimony was proven false by the defense. The verdict was brot in after less than half an hours' deliberation, and the records of the trial were altered by the army authorities.

DAYTON, Tenn., July 5. — The Scopes trial will probably begin next Friday after all, as the defense lawyers are considering the plea of Dayton residents that they have spent fifty thousand dollars getting ready for the trial.

It was announced that an injunction would be sought in the federal court to restrain the Rhea county authorities from prosecuting Scopes on the ground that the anti-evolution law under which he was arrested is unconstitutional.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 5.—Less than half the number of persons participated in this year's mobilization day than last year, the war department announced. Eight million took part this year, most of them being forced by their employers to listen to speeches, and many being regular troops that were ordered to mobilize.

Many Women Over Age of 44 Years Employed

Of the eight and a half million women in the United States who work for a living, three-quarters of them are over 24 years of age and two-fifths of these, or nearly one-third of the total number are more than 44 years old. Of the two million married women at work, three-fifths are between 25 and 44 years of age, while another fifth are over 44 years. These facts concerning working women can be found in the latest pamphlet issued by the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor, Washington, D. C.

In regard to women's wages for any of the states investigated by the Women's Bureau the highest median was the mere pittance of $16.85. The medians ranged from that sum down to as low as $8.80 a week. The investigation showed that where the wages were higher the hours of work were less and where wages were the lowest, hours of labor were longest.

STATE ALLOWS INSURANCE CO.'S TO DODGE TAXES

Court Ruling Ignored by Attorney General

Licenses to several hundred foreign fire insurance companies, which expired July 1, were being renewed today pending a decision by the United States supreme court as to whether the Illinois insurance law is constitutional as held by the state supreme court.

The license renewals were ordered issued following an opinion given by Attorney General Carlstrom which virtually overrides a recent decision of the Illinois supreme court.

The ruling of the supreme court came in a test case brought by the Hanover Insurance Co., against Patrick J. Carr, treasurer of Cook county. The insurance company contested against the law taxing them 2 per cent of their net receipts, which has been enforced for years.

The state court ruled that the law is constitutional, and that no licenses should be issued to companies in default.

Perhaps ninety per cent of the fire insurance companies doing business in the state, with 30,000 agents, are in default.

Plan Spitzbergen-Alaska Trip.

OSLO, July 5. — Captain Roald Amundsen was reconnoitering of the possibility of a flight from Spitzbergen to Alaska as well as attempting to reach the North Pole, it was learned today.

Publishers of the Aftenpost said they had received a message from the Polar flyer stating that he had this in mind in his recent flight into the northern wastes.

Overnight Airmail Cuts Time.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., July 5.—Overnight airmail service between New York and Chicago continued to operate smoothly today, with the arrival of 226¼ pounds of mail at Hadley Field at 5:52 a. m.

J. D. Hill, the pilot from Cleveland reported the trip had required about four hours of flying time, with steady west winds slightly slowing up the flight.

Builders at Work in New York

AMONG the many Comrades in New York that did good work during the national subscription drive that has just closed the following are some of those that deserve special mention:

Comrade Ger Szepsi, who is responsible for the activity in the Hungarian Yorkville Branch, which resulted in securing sixty-five subscriptions. The Comrades were instrumental in getting one of the Hungarian Fraternal Societies to order 25 subscriptions for their directors.

Comrade M. S. Schneider, who personally secured fourteen subs, and who will keep up the good work even now that the "campaign" is over.

Comrade Leon Litvin, who, altho not Daily Worker Agent in his Branch, the Jewish Branch No. 1, Bronx, nevertheless encouraged forty MEMBERS TO PLEDGE THEMSELVES TO GET AT LEAST ONE SUBSCRIBER EACH.

Build Party Strength in Steel Union

tion that because the party may not know all the technical details of the requirements of the industry therefore the union work should be separated from Party affairs and party policies.

Bad Results Either Way.

The results are generally the same. Party members fail to become the connecting link between the masses within the unions and the party. They fail completely to put forward Communist policies and, instead of advancing a concrete, militant program, they become simply an appendix to whatever opposition movement may exist to the rule of the reactionary clique in control, or they become the tools of reaction itself.

On the other hand, where the Communist fractions are rigidly maintained and Communist policies applied in practice, healthy growing left wing movements have already obtained important victories and promise good for the future.

Communist Tactics Not Applied Previously.

It was acknowledged that, due to lack of application of Communist policies and definite organization of the Communist fraction in the past within the steel workers' union, the struggle for the present progressive group, altho it had given battle to the reactionary corrupt leadership of the Mike Tighe administration, had become confined to purely trade issues and had failed to bring forward in concrete terms the great needs of the union and of the workers in the industry.

Altho being subject to vicious attacks by the Mike Tighe administration and ready to fight back, the progressive group has succeeded in rising no higher than to demand constitutional changes on dues payments and improvements of the existing wage scales.

Must Live Up to Name.

Important as these may be, the Amalgamated Association has no power to enforce any scale because of the unorganized state of the industry. And any group laying claim to the name "progressive" must not fail to bring forward a practical program of organization of the unorganized in the industry, of real industrial unionism and of the organization of shop committees. It must not fail to take a stand on the political issues facing the workers in the industry.

The Communist steel workers' fraction, organized at the Youngstown meeting, will consider it a first duty to bring those issues to the fore. It will have its connections thruout the country with a specific form of organization under the direction of a national committee representative of the various steel districts but subject to the regular party jurisdictions.

Begin Work on Union Basis.

Taking the union as the starting point to reach the hundreds of thousands of unorganized workers, the fraction will endeavor to crystallize the progressive movement into a definite left wing group struggling militantly for the building of a real union capable of defending the interests of the workers against the repacious steel trust.

The following points will be proposed to the progressive elements as basis for a united front program:

A Fighting Program.

1. Demanding the launching of a national organization drive covering the whole industry to take into the union all workers employed in or about the steel mills, regardless of craft or skill, race or color.
2. The establishment of an organization department with full power to conduct drive, establishment of district committees in each important steel district, each to conduct the drive in the district.
3. National organizers to be elected at the annual conventions, district organizers to be elected by the district membership.
4. A uniform initiation fee of $1.00 to be established.
5. Measures to provide necessary finance for the drive to be worked out by the executive board.
6. A period of intensive propaganda to precede the actual organization and to cover the whole industry. The propaganda to be based on the live slogans of the needs of the workers in the industry.

Slogans for Drive.

The following are some suggested slogans:

The complete establishment of the eight-hour day with abolition of double shifts.

No further wage reductions, but increase of present wages.

Abolition of the speed-up system.

Standard scale of wages for all steel workers to expire at the same time.

One day rest in seven.

Abolition of company unions.

Abolition of black list, physical examination and finger print system.

The industry to support its unemployed.

7. The establishment of an industrial form of organization in the full sense of the word as adopted by the conventions of 1923 and 1924 to be properly departmentalized according to the requirements of the industry.

Shop Committees.

8. The establishment of shop committees composed of both organized and unorganized representing all workers thruout the mills and furnaces, the shop committees to be used as the basis of the organization drive and of the union and to be combined within each district on the same basis as the local unions.
9. The international trade union unity and support of joint Russian-English trade union unity committee.
10. For a Labor Party based on trade unions.
11. Demand for recognition of and establishment of trade relations with Soviet Russia.

IT is reported that Abd-el-Krim broke his leg falling off a mule. Perhaps he has but his brain has not suffered any material injury. Krim may have broken his leg, but the French are liable to break their necks. By the way, it is pretty well established now that Britain is financing the Riffians against France. And is also well established that France was financing the Riffians against Spain. Watching the capitalists cutting each others' throats is a sweet occupation. Good luck to them.

WHAT a whole souled patriot Mr. Edward L. Doheny is. We suspected this right along, but here comes Edward himself and proves it. He would never dream of going to the trouble of bribing Albert Fall with $100,000, but for the fact that Japan was preparing for war with the United States and in order to save fair California and Arthur Brisbane's real estate from the yellow peril, Ed went ahead and risked his honor for his country. Unfortunately the exigencies of politics know no honor and Edward was pitched to the wolves. His millions rendered the wolves toothless however, and he lives to tell the tale. (A poor burglar got from ten years to life last week for getting caught in the act of stealing $20.)

IT is hard to say what will happen to Doheny, but we expect that if he is involuntarily confined on this side of his voyage across the dark ocean, it will be in a hospital, due to illness. To put a man like Doheny in jail would be to sap the foundations of this republic. I am willing to bet that when the war with Japan comes along, Doheny will be one of our greatest heroes and those who have opposed his deals will run the risk of being boiled in oil as horrible examples.

NOW it can be told! Not that it makes the slightest difference, but the information might be useful when the next war comes around. The current issue of Current History, contains a verbatim report of a speech delivered by Lloyd George to the British war cabinet and a special mission from the United States, sent to England by the president for the purpose of co-ordinating the war efforts of the two countries. George admitted that the Germans were on the point of winning the war when the United States butted in. But one could never guess at such a possibility from reading the glowing reports of allied victories in the newspapers.

"Modernists" Win.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 5. — The modernists won two victories in the fight with the fundamentalists at the Baptist church here. By a vote of 742 to 574 they defeated a resolution of the fundamentalists, outlining a strict set of beliefs deemed essential to the Baptist orthodoxy, and also had seated the Fosdick delegates from New York.

HYMAN B[illegible] THE SIGMAN MACHINE IN THE I. L. G. W. U.; DISPROVES FAKE CHARGES

The DAILY WORKER presents herewith extensive extracts from the speech of Louis Hyman, manager of Local Union No. 9, in closing the defense of the suspended officers of Local Union No. 2, International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, on trial before the Trial Committee of the New York City Joint Board at Hotel Cadillac on Wednesday, July 1. The speech, which speaks for itself, is a masterful thing, devasting in its logic against the reactionary expulsion policy of the Sigman-Perlstein-Feinberg-Forwards machine. The charge for which the executives of Local 2 was on trial was that they held a First of May mass meeting at which Communists, particularly Moissaye J. Olgin, spoke.

Hyman's defense was in part as follows:

MR. HYMAN: Mr. Chairman and Members of the Committee: The specific charge against these members of the Executive Board of Local 2 and its manager, is that they have violated Section 5 and Articles 9 and 10 of the Constitution of the International. Section 9 and 10 which they are supposed to have violated, reads: "That the regular revenue of the local union consisting of initiation fees, dues, assessments and fines, shall be considered a trust fund of the I. L. G. W. U. to be held by the Local Union for the members of the I. L. G. W. U. belonging to the Local Union, shall be administered by the Local Union in accordance with the provisions of this constitution."

There is nothing in that section which applies to this particular case. There is Section 10, which says: "That the regular revenue of the Local Union shall be used only for the payment of the per capita tax and other legitimate expenses of the Local Union."

The question then arises whether the First of May meeting was, or whether the money spent for this meeting was, or could be considered as a legitimate expense of the Local. It must be known to this Committee that the First of May celebrations have been held by this local and by all the locals of the International for years and years, and that even this year the Local of which the Chairman, Brother Borenstein, is a member, also had a celebration and that there speeches were made of the same nature as were made at the First of May meeting at the Metropolitan Opera House.

I want to call the attention of the Committee to the fact that the First of May was accepted as a holiday at one of our conventions.

I will read to you the resolution that was introduced and the resolution that was accepted at that convention with reference to the First of May. Resolution No. 75 introduced by delegates of Locals No. 7, 21, 49 and 56 of Boston., which reads as follows: (See convention minutes of 1920, page 108).

"Whereas, the First of May as a holiday recognized and celebrated by the class conscious workers of Europe and America; and

"Whereas, the labor unions in the men's clothing and other needle industries already make its practice of ceasing work on the First of May and taking stock of their accomplishments during the past by making it an inspiration for activities in the future; and

"Whereas, the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union has not yet made the First of May a holiday, thus compelling our members to work on that day; and

"Whereas, the idea of working on the First of May without a chance of celebrating it, is repugnant to the ideals of thousands of our members, be it therefore

"Resolved, That the 15th bi-ennial convention assembled in Chicago go on record as declaring the First of May a holiday to be observed by our members by the cessation of work and by general celebration."

On the same page of the convention proceedings, is a resolution recommended by the resolutions committee as a substitute for resolutions 75 and 83, which read as follows:

"Whereas, our International at its previous convention recognized the First of May as an international holi-

AS WE SEE IT.

By T. J. O'FLAHERTY

ELATED with their victory in the recent elections, the reactionaries of Minneapolis are getting ready to make another drive on the central labor body, with the object of cleaning out those former progressives who escaped the tomahawk of the A. F. of L. disorganizer Paul V. Smith. According to the Minneapolis Morning Tribune, the conservatives expect to carry their ticket this time as a sufficient number of radical delegates were ousted to take the punch out of the opposition.

IT is also significant that in the same issue of the Tribune there is a report that an attempt will be made to remove Lynn Thompson as chairman of the roads and bridges committee of the Hennepin county board. Thompson is a former socialsit and in fact appeared as one of the mourners at the recent funeral of the socialist party in Minnesota, when Eugene V. Debs appeared to officiate as undertaker. The spinelessness of the so-called progressives is responsible for the victory of the reactionaries. They thought it was great fun seeing the Communists getting ousted from the labor assembly and the farmer-labor party. Now their own chickens are coming home to roost.

'NO MORE STRIKE' POLICY SLIPS ON BOSSES' BANANA

A. C. W. Forced Into Class Warfare

NEW YORK, July 6—Pickets patroling past armed guards and police in front of New York plants of the twin International Tailoring Co. and the J. L. Tailor Co. are fighting to retain their union organization and at the same time giving support to their fellow workers in the Chicago plants of the same firms.

Solidarity With Chicago.

This effort of the Amalagamated Clothing Workers Union is, however, but the hottest part of the warline in the New York market. Strikes against smaller open shop firms are expected in the next few days unless agreements are signed.

The Amalgamatd, tho controlling shops where the greater part of the men's clothing workers are employed in New York, feels it necessary to had off the open shop tendency by ironing out what nonunionism at present exists before it is added to.

Injunction at Philadelphia.

While these fights are going on in New York and Chicago the situation is becoming steadily more acute in St. Louis where the arrests in the curlee firm strike now total more than 200 and where police are in addition using clubbing and threats.

At the same time a warm strike is being conducted in Philadelphia against the big E. H. Rosenberg firm which moved to Philadelphia several years ago to get away from union control in New York. The firm has an injunction against the union but peaceful picketing is not restrained and the fight goes on. Another strike is being conducted in Trenton, New Jersey, on the Milton & Simpson firm. This is an organization strike.

AUSTRALIAN LABOR BOYCOTT'S AMERICAN FLEET IN PACIFIC

MELBOURNE, Australia.—(By Mail.)—At a meeting of the Melbourne Trades Hall Council, it was decided to confirm a previous resolution asking all trade unionists not to participate in any function arranged for the entertainment of the American fleet.

This action was taken in an effort to obtain the release of American workers imprisoned for their opposition to the war and for radical activities. It was also pointed out that the council's action was consistent with its advocacy of labor's peace policy.

JACOB REICHERT, CLASS WAR PRISONER, FREED FROM PRISON TO DIE

NEW YORK, July 6.—(FP)—Word has been received at the headquarters of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union that Jacob Reichert, former business agent of the union in Cincinnati, and till a few days ago a class war prisoner in the state penitentiary at Columbus, is dead.

Reichert was jailed during the 1922 strike and convicted—on convicts' testimony—of inciting attacks on strikebreakers. Appeals were lost and he was finally committed to the penitentiary, being released by Governor Donahey when he seemed at the point of death. Death occured in the Jewish Hospital of Cincinnati.

ALIEN LAWS OF U. S. SEPARATE MANY FAMILIES

Cal's Policy Hits Foreign Workers

By ESTHER LOWELL (FP)

NEW YORK July 6.—How many immigrants to the United States are being temporarily and some even permanently separated from their families by action of federal courts is disclosed by Isaac Shorr, attorney in many workers' deportation and naturalization cases.

According to instructions from the federal department of labor judges are denying citizenship to alien men whos families are not in the United States. On the other hand these immigrant heads of families cannot bring in their families, exempt from quota, until they are citizens.

Separated From Families.

The evil is that when the families reside in countries with greatly limited quotas there is very little chance of the family ever being able to rejoin the father who emigrated to the United States. Shorr cites Russia, with its allowed quota of only 5000 immigrants a year, as one of the countries hardest hit.

There is no law compelling judges to deny citizenship to aliens whose families are not in the United States, and some judges do use their own discretion in ruling. But too often, the lawyer declares, the clerks who prepare the records of prospective citizens make it appear in their recommendations that the alien has not sufficient command of the English language or in some other way is undesirable at the time for citizenship. Judges rarely examine the recommendations and records so that discrimination is the result.

"Cannot Be Naturalized."

Former assistant secretary of labor Henning (now federal judge in California) wrote a circular letter to all examiners and clerks in the naturalization bureau stating: "I want to repeat what I have said frequently to you, that an alien whose family is in Europe has never lived in the United States, no matter how many years he may have been here. He cannot be naturalized, because he has not complied with that requirement of the statute that he must have resided here five years. It is the common law of the United States and the common law of the world and decent philosophy and sound doctrine that a man resides where he has his family and maintains his family." (Feb. 19, 1925).

CAILLAUX WILL VISIT U. S. TO BORROW BILLION

Will Negotiate for Huge Loan, Talk Debts

PARIS, July 6—M. Caillaux, minister of finance, will ask the cabinet which will meet at six o'clock tonight to name the members of the commission to be sent to Washington to negotiate a settlement of the french war debt to the United States.

The finance ministry officially announced that Caillaux probably would go both to London and Washington to negotiate the final details of french debt funding and at the same time determine conditions for a new loan of a billion dollars.

The official announcement today said that the visit probably would be made during the parliamentary vacation in August.

I. T. C. STRIKE OPENS SECOND FIGHTING WEEK

Strikers Confident of Victory; Few Scabs

The second week in the strike of Amalgamated Clothing Workers at the International Tailoring Company shows added determination on the part of the strikers that they shall win their fight against the open shop which the I. T. C. is trying to establish under the guise of a fake union agreement with the U. G. & W. to furnish scabs.

In spite of the treachery of the United Garment Workers sending scabs in place of the strikers, very few scabs succeedd in getting in yesterday.

Long before any strikebreakers reached the place, numerous strikers had already been pacing outside the shop for over two hours.

The success of mass picketing was so decidedly demonstrated last week, that the strikers barely take time to eat their lunch at some nearby restaurant. Indeed, one striker declared, "I shall not take time to go to the union strike meeting. It is more important to stay here and stand guard against scabs. The picket line—that is where we win our victory."

Bosses Dissatisfied.

The owners of the International Tailoring Company are dissatisfied with the way the strike is tending. With the aid of the large number of police the local authorities have so obligingly supplied them with together with the co-operation of the scabby United Garment Workers, they figured they would not lack workers in place of the strikers.

But the strikers fooled them. In spite of the glaring hot sun, all of them to a man, from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m., march back and forth, alertly watching for the treacherous scabs.

One man about to enter was approached by a group of pickets who took him up to union headquarters where the situation was explained to him.

He had come in answer to the advertisement in the capitalist "kept"

KLAN KIDNAPED TENN. MEN, LEFT THEM TO STARVE

Were at Death's Door When Found in Chains

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 6—An investigation was started today by the sheriff's office into the kidnapping of Dr. W. D. Mason, a veternarian and Lawrence Bowman, who were found Sunday chained to a tree on signal mountain after being missing for ten days.

They told their liberators that they had been taken into the woods by a hooded band and left to die after it had been alleged that they had assisted federal agents in running down dry law violators.

Both men were near death when they were found as they had been without food or water for the entire period of their imprisonment.

Blow to Defense

Judge Fred Hines today decided that the state's attorney had the right to make the choice as to which defendant was to be tried first.

The ruling was a blow to the defense and attorneys asked for a few hours to prepare motions and objections.

The prosecution undoubtedly will name Stephenson, former Indiana K. K. K. Dragon, as the first to be placed on trial. Last week the defense had obtained a ruling that Gentry was to be tried first.

The defense may ask a postponement of the trial until the next term of court, which will be in October.

ULTIMATUM TO CHINA BY IMPERIALISTS, IS REPORT AT SHANGHAI

SHANGHAI, July 6.—John Van A. MacMurray, who arrived in Shanghai last week had planned to remain here until Wednesday. A Rumor was in circulation that the powers intend to hand Peking an ultimtum as soon as MacMurray reaches the capital. No confirmation of this rumor could be obtained however,

London Sees the Thunder Clouds of the New World War Looming in Pacific

LONDON, July 6.—The thunder clouds of a new world war are seen gathering over the globe as imperialist diplomats, at their wits end to halt the uprisings of colonial and oppressed peoples, are threatening to turn on each other and upon Soviet Russia—which they conjure up as the most implacable enemy of capitalist imperialism, an enemy which must be destroyed no matter at what risk or cost.

War clouds loom over the Pacific between Japan and the United States and over Europe, between Soviet Russia and Britain and her continental allies.

Austen Chamberlain, speaking tonight in the House of Commons used the customary pacifist phrases which always are a prelude to war. Assuring the house that he was "striving to maintain peace" he pretended that he felt great concern that relations with Soviet Russia have "become critical."

Hypocrisy That Preludes War.

He proceeded to bid for the labor party support of the government and its policy of aggressive war upon the Soviet Union by appealing to "both conservatives and laborites" to "refrain from anything that would further inflame relations."

Notwithstanding this pretense of peaceful desires, Chamberlain and his conservative cabinet colleagues under Premier Baldwin, are driving the British empire straight into the jaws of another world war. It is learned that with Japan, Britain is putting every ounce of pressure on the Peking government to force China's weak president, Tuan Chi-jui, ot break off relations with Soviet Russia and expel Soviet Ambassador Karakhan.

Intimates Hostility to U. S.

In addition, Britain is covertly using the Britaih conversative press to bring out a war threat by indirection against the United States, in order to force her to abandon the position of an "altruistic" reformer of the treaties of violence forced on China.

In the London Daily Telegraph today, a newspaper published by the conservatives, the menacing vista of war between Japan and America was brought into the picture of the International situation.

U. S. "Throw Down Glove"

"By making the demand for a conference to consider the abolition of extra-territorial rights in China at this hazardous moment, the United States will assuredly be regarded by Japan as having at last thrown down the glove," said the Telegraph.

The Telegraph states that Japanese interests would suffer most if the United States insisted on immediate modication of extra-territorial rights in China. The paper conveniently omitted mention that Great Britain also is seriously threatened.

For Immediate Action.

"These interests would be so patently menaced," said the Telegraph, "that pacific as her present intentions are, Tokio would be persuaded by the mere instinct of self-preservation to take immediate action."

This is regarded as a hint that Japan is justified in an immediate declaration of war on the United States and is adding her persuasion to that of "self-preservation."

Police Hold Six Workers Charged with Robbing God

ROME, July 6.—Altho six artisans employed in redecorating the treasury of St. Peters, which was rifled of some of its most valuable art and religious objects, last week, are still under arrest on suspicion that they know about the burglary, little progress seemed to have been made today in establishing the identity of the culprits responsible for the theft.

CHINESE TRADE UNION FEDERATION ADDRESSES WORKERS OF THE WORLD

By INTERNATIONAL PRESS CORRESPONDENCE

MOSCOW, June 16.—(By Mail.)—The Chinese Trade Union Federation has issued an appeal to the working class organizations of all countries in which it declares:

"THE events in Shanghai throw into strong relief the real situation in China. The success of the Chinese movement for freedom, the successful struggle in Canton, the development of the students' movement, the strikes in Shanghai, Tsingtau and Hankow, the growth of the trade unions, the formation of the Chinese Trade Union Federation, all this begins to make the imperialists uneasy who have been used to enslave, plunder and degrade our country thru decades unpunished.

"The workers in Tsingtau and Shanghai put forward moderate economic demands, they were, however, shot down in the most brutal way by the mercenaries of the Japanese factory owners. The Shanghai students arranged a peaceful demonstration of solidarity and their demonstration was drowned in blood by the English police.

"The mass murder and armored cars of the marines will, howwas carried out by the imperialist police as tho it were a sport. The imperialsit forces are daily strengthened by the arrival of new warships.

"The mass murder and armoured cars of the marnies will, however, not cow the Chinese workers, they will only band them more firmly together. The imperialist challenge was answered with the general strike which has already lasted 16 days.

"The Chinese people are fighting for their freedom and independence and for a decent existence.

"We appeal to you, the organized workers of all countries, to assist us, the organized workers of China, in this historical hour to give us your powerful support."

"We must advance against the common foe with closed ranks, that is the condition of our freedom.

"Down with bloody imperialism!

"Long live the united front of the international proletariat!

"Long live the national movemnet for the freedom of the Oriental peoples!"

Capital Receiver Is Appointed for Bankrupt Brokers

WASHINGTON, July 6—On petition of local creditors, the District of Columbia supreme court today appointed the Chicago Title and Trust Company receivers for the bankrupt brokerage firm of Dean, Onativia and Company. The same company was named receiver in the original suit filed against the company last week.

It was represented that the brokerage firm owned property in Washington valued at $50,000.

Heat Kills 3 in New York

NEW YORK, July 6.—Three dead and many prostrated was the toll taken up to three o'clock this afternoon in New York's heat wave—the second of the season. At 2 p. m., the temperature touched 86. Only seven degrees below the record, 93 established in 1908.

Amundsen to Try Again

OLSO, Norway, July 6.—Roald Amundsen, who was greeted here by thousands when he arrived in the seaplanes which took him on his recent polar flight, said he will make a second attempt to fly to the North Pole. He said he would try to fly from Europe to Alaska, via the Arctic.

NEW YORK FURRIERS CALL ORGANIZATION STRIKE OF 1,000 MEN

NEW YORK, July 6.—From the 200 to 300 fur lining-finishing shops of New York the 1000 workers have been called out for an organization strike by the joint board of the Furriers' Union. The manufacturing fur shops do not as a rule do their own finishing, making the union's problem of enforcing conditions thruout the trade much more difficult. The union is expecting to offer manufacturers a plan of operation whereby lining-finishing work can be done under union conditions in a limited number of regulated outside shops.

UNIONS FIND U. S. IMMIGRATION LAW "TO KEEP OUT REDS" LETS IN "SCABS" TO BREAK STRIKES

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Study of the immigration law by building trades officials interested in the announcement that Secretary of Labor Davis has been urged to permit plasterers to enter the United States to end jurisdictional strike of the Operative Plasterers against the bricklayers, shows that Davis has power to admit alien strikebreakers regardless of the quota.

Under the present law the secretary of labor may determine that shortage of labor in a skilled trade exists, and he may admit enough alien workers in that class to meet the shortage. While the law does not mention strikes as creating a shortage, it does not forbid the admission of alien workers to break strikes.

FRENCH FRONT COLLAPSING AS MOROCCANS REVOLT; LYAUTEY ASKS TROOPS; EMPIRE TOTTERS

PARIS, France, July 6.—The French empire in Africa faces complete collapse as the Moroccans who have been guarding Fez and Taza for the French have joined the Riffian troops. Marshal Lyautey has issued an urgent call for 80,000 more troops, and the French war office admits a severe defeat at the important city of Taza. Abd-el-Krim, Riffian leader, is launching a new offensive on both the Spanish and French fronts.

A general uprising of the Moroccans hitherto held in subjection to French imperialism, has commenced, both at the front and behind the lines, Premier Painleve has announced.

The capital of French Morocco, Fez, and the strategic town of Taza, are gravely menaced, as is the main railway to Algeria. Reports are current that Taza has already fallen into Krim's hands.

Lyautey, in a message to the government, declares that as two-thirds of his 100,000 troops are native, he must immediately have 80,000 more troops or he cannot vouch for the security of France's colonial empire.

Communists Call Strike

The government is seriously worried by the interest stirred up among the workers in the Communist congress at Paris. A committee of 150 was formed with full power to decide the time and length of the general protest strike against the Moroccan invasion, which the congress decided to call.

The Painleve government is reluctant to send more troops to Morocco, as the capitalists fear that Germany will be able to secure better terms in the "security pact" negotiations if the French army is weakened. The government admits that large numbers of workers are supporting the Communist demand for the immediate evacuation of Morocco. No one is enthusiastic about the Moroccan campaign except the French bankers and the politicians they control.

The negotiations between France and Spain for a united attack on the Riffians have definitely failed, it is announced, and the Spanish government, backed by England, refuses to allow France to enter Spanish Morocco to attack the Riffians. Spain is endeavoring to secure peace with Krim.

The ministry of war, in an official note, admits a 'serious setback" in Morocco, especially in the region of Taza, where it is admitted the French have retreated.

New Commander Named

A new commander in chief of the French invaders has been appointed.

The Fichtala and Cheraga "tribes," which have been defending Fez for the French, have gone over to the Riffians, and the Tsoul and Branes "tribes," which until now have supported the French of the Taza front, have also joined the Riffians, who are pouring into the regions thru the gaps in the line made by the natives' revolt.

Lyautey Is Displaced

With the appointment of Gen. Guillaumat as supreme commander of the French troops in Morocco Marshal Lyautey is thus displaced. The French war office announced that this move was taken to allow Lyautey to spend his entire time in attempting to hold the natives who have not already gone over to Krim in the French camp.

WAR OFFICE PLANS TO MAKE GOOSE STEP DAY COMPULSORY AFFAIR

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 6—The purpose of the war department's July 4 mobilization was revealed when Maj. Gen. Hines, army chief, admitted that the department plan to seek the passage of a law before the next congress setting a date for an annual muster.

Marines Guard Goods of Millionaires in Calif. Quake Zone

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 6.—A total of 279 earth tremors has rocked this city since shortly before 7 o'clock last Monday morning, according to a registering or graphic thermometer at the property of the Southern Counties' Gas company.

Early today only one extremely faint tremblor had been registered. It occurred shortly after 3 o'clock this morning.

The quake death toll mounted to 16 today when an aged unidentified man who became deranged during the disaster died in Ventura, nearby town. The only clue to the man's identification was a note book in which "Medford Oregon" had been written several times.

No visitor was permitted to enter the business district bceause of fear of walls falling.

Marines guarded every street to keep back with fixed bayonets the crowds. How long the marines will remain and the stricken city continue under semi-martial law was to be determined tomorrow, it was said, on the arrival of the Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur. The navy secretary, it was said, will confer with Mayor W. F. Evans, in command of the marine guard and city officials regarding the military patrol.

press and was unaware of the strike. He declared he would never act the part of a scab.

Daily Worker Reaches Strikers.

The DAILY WORKER was eagerly bought by the strikers and many passers expressed sympathy with the strikers and bought a paper. Even a scab, the most backward and least class conscious of the working class, knew that the DAILY WORKER is staunchly supporting the striking Amalgamated workers, just as it supports any militant move of the working class.

This scab bought a DAILY WORKER and with it in her hand as a sign of sympathy with the strikers, was able to wedge her way thru the group vibilantly watching the front of the building to sneak in.

The reporter for the DAILY WORKER spoke to a group of three policemen on the job who expresed sympathy with the strikers. One spoke bitterly of the Boston Police strike which occurred several years ago and exclaimed: "They sent the militia against them and broke the strike. If we unionize and strike, they'll do the same.".

His companion chimed in, "Yes, money counts. You strike, and they send us. We strike and they send the army."

Strikers Buoyant.

The strike is bound to succeed! Nothing can break a strike fought with so much determination and solidarity. Mass picketing is making the bosses realize their failure in getting scabs to break the strike. The open shop drive is being crushed by the militant attitude of these brave workers!

Scabs Afraid to Show Faces.

The few scabs who were working were brot from the shops last night, heavily guarded by police with their heads wrapped up in newspapers. They were afraid to show their faces to the strikers. The scabs were then packed into touring cars and driven away.

Philippines Bring U. S. Profits.

TOKIO, Japan, July 6.— Congressman Charles Underhill of Massachusetts stopping here after a visit to the Philippines said the United States should not grant independence to those islands because "the United States needs the Philippines as a base for commerce and we can make them a source of revenue to the United States."

KLUXERS GO ON TRIAL FOR RAPE AND KILLING

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., July 6.—An impenetrable maze of rumors and counter rumors veiled the atmosphere here today when the so-called Stephenson-Gentry-Klenck murder trial got under way before Circuit Judge Hines.

The defendants, David C. Stephenson, deposed grand dragon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan, Earl Gentry and Earl Klenck, stand charged with murder in connection with the death of Miss Madge Oberholtzer.

Refused Girl Aid.

It is conceded by the prosecution that the girl bought the poison and administered it herself while alone. It is charged, however, in the four counts of the indictments against the three defendants that, first, she was kidnaped and "by force of arms and duress was forced to take bichloride of mercury and refused medical attention by defendants."

Second, that the defendants refused to permit her to summon medical aid.

Third, that the injuries and wound inflicted by the defendants hastened her death.

Took Poison.

Fourth, that the poison was self-administered while she was mentally distracted because of ill treatment by the defendants.

Following legal technicalities the court ruled that Gentry would be put on trial first. This ruling has caused the prosecution to confer as to the best methods of procedure. It was rumored that the charges against Klenck and Gentry may be dismissed and Stephenson placed on trial.

No matter how it turns out both sides expect it will take a week to select a jury.

U. S. Trade Commission Reports Anthracite Coal Trade Situation

WASHINGTON, July 6—If the public knew more about the hard coal industry it would not pay such high prices for coal, the federal trade commission said today.

"The greatest obstacle to intelligent action on the part of the public and the government in the frequently recurring emergencies in the coal trade," the commission said in a report to congress, "is the lack of adequate information particularly with regard to prices, cost of production and profits. The commission believes therefore, if the matter is found to be within the legislative power of congress that some federal agency should secure and publish concurrently data on production, prices, costs and profits in the coal industry."

The commission also stated that there was "not enough competition" in the anthracite industry. Among the recommendations for betterment of the situation were price reductions in the spring and summer to cause earlier buying, increase in the storage facilities of mining and distributing companies, and enlargement of production capacity to meet period of increased demand.

The Manufacturers' News Thinks the Daily Worker "Vicious and Vigorous"

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

TODAY, a copy of the June issue, of the Manufacturers' Record, of non-union Baltimore, Md., arrives with the front cover page and four inside pages devoted to an Anti-DAILY WORKER blast, with which it hopes to awaken "the more intelligent, thinking business men of the country."

The euphonious phrase, "vicious and vigorous," is applied to the DAILY WORKER in bitter condemnation, especially of its Special International May Day Edition, that was picked out to bear the brunt of the attack of this "open shop" organ. One verbal broadside was as follows:

> "Its May 1st issue was so unspeakably vile in the way in which it discussed economic problems of the day and sought to arouse the working people of the country to established government and to the economic system of the times, by the most diabolical pictures we have ever seen published."

We regard our Communist cartoons with increasing admiration if they can arouse such anguish in the hearts of the capitalist foe. Some of the cartoons that were republished by this big business organ from the May Day issue will be easily remembered by our readers.

On one page are reproduced the "United Front for a Labor Party!" the "Make 'em Recognize Soviet Russia!", the "Release the Class War Prisoners!" and the "Workers' and Farmers' Government in America!" cartoons. No doubt the capitalist editor went into hysterics as he beheld the red banner of Communism, emblazoned with the "Hammer and Sickle," planted right in the middle of a map of the United States, by a sturdy worker and farmer, embodying the aspirations set forth in the other three pictures.

The second page of cartoons bears these captions: "Separate We Lose—Together We Win; Equality for Negro Workers"; "Help the Red Aid to Help the Imprisoned Fighters"; "Stop Religious Training in the Public Schools"; "Down with Militarism and Imperialist Wars!"; "Stop the Capitalist Cannibalism of Child Labor!"

It is to be hoped that the cartoon picturing the capitalist cannibal feeding on the child wage worker, turned the stomach of the kept editor of the Manufacturers' News. The demand to end religious training in the public schools no doubt sent this editor in Roman Catholic Baltimore to his knees in panic stricken prayers. If he forgets to get up again the world will be better off, however.

• • • •

• • • •

Tens of thousands of workers have seen these pictures and voted them the best ever. The capitalist editor thinks they are the "most diabolical he has ever seen." It is all in the viewpoint. If the kept editor of big business beheld labor in the abject position that the DAILY WORKER pictures the capitalist, that is, getting the worst of it, then he would cheer lustily, stamp his feet with joy and tear his hair with ecstatic aproval. It all depends on whose ox is gored. It is easy to see where some trade union officials and the liberal intelligentsia draw their inspiration when they make similar attacks against the DAILY WORKER.

• • • •

It is not expected that capitalist editors and their masters will like the DAILY WORKER cartoons. If they did have something good to say about them, then they should never have been published in our paper. But the DAILY WORKER is succeeding very well when it can draw down the wrath of the enemy class in such wholesale fashion. Especially when every picture that appeared was a blow struck at intolerable conditions right here in the capitalist United States of America. Our blows are hitting home more than ever, "FOR A SOVIET AMERICA!"

AS WE SEE IT -:- By T. J. O'Flaherty

WHILE France is having her hands full in the Riff and forced to continue making excuses to the United States with a view to holding off the United States bill collectors, England comes along with an ultimatum saying: "Come on, pay your debts and stop your stalling." This is the same Britain that has been negotiating with France for a four power pact, designed to isolate Soviet Russia from Europe.

THOSE capitalist nations like each other—like hungry bull dogs. It happens that there is considerable talk of France beginning to pay her indebtedness to the United States. This does not look any too well to the British who have almost one million and a half of unemployed workers on their hands, while France has no unemployoment problem. Britain has plenty of money but a scarcity of jobs. France has to keep the printing plants busy in order to supply the government with enough paper to pay current expenses. Queer system.

STANLEY BALDWIN admitted a few evenings ago that he had no solution for the unemployment problem. If only those workers would die and relieve the government of a nuisance. Another war might dispose of them, but that cure is even worse than the disease. Tho Britain is too poor to take care of her unemployed she has money to spend making war on the Chinese and plotting against Soviet Russia. Capitalism is sitting between the two horns of a dilemma and is bound to get gored no matter which way it turns.

PROHIBITION enforcement will henceforth be under the direction of an assistant secretary of the treasury. It is reported that the gentleman responsible for the war on John Barleycorn will divorce prohibition from politics. In order to insure honesty in the service he intends to call to the colors ex-generals and army officers who made good records in the world war. It is generally admitted that the most gallant of the soldiers were considerably aided in facing the enemy's fire by stimulating nips of brandy. The officers will need lots of Dutch courage if they are assigned to the Chicago front.

PENNSY HANDS O. R. T. WIRE MEN A TRICK

R. R. Tells U. S. Labor Board To Go To Hell

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(FP)—"Labor" quotes President Manion of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers as describing the "settlement" made by the Pennsylvania with its own company committee of telegraphers as follows:

"The Pennsylvania Railroad announces that a satisfactory settlement of the wages and working conditions governing telegraphers has been effected. It is significant that the 'committee' makes no announcement.

"The terms of the settlement are as follows: An increase in wages approximating 2 cents per man per hour has been granted, but immediately the company has abolished so many positions on each division that the increase will actually amount to one-quarter of a cent per man per hour. Vacations with pay and relief days with pay have been denied, but in lieu of these two important demands by the employes, the company thru its committee is now going to vote the seven-day week with loss of pay.

Telegraphers have been arbitrarily removed by the Pennsylvania Co. because they refused to accept such penurious dole. The much wanted vacation and relief day question has now been junked. The so-called committee has been duped and the members of the O. R. T. are the sufferers thereby, as practically 75 per cent of this class of employes hold membership in our organization."

The Railroad Labor Board, meantime, has ruled that the Pennsylvania railroad has violated the transportation act in ignoring the order of the board that the company deal with the union of telegraphers. This finding means nothing to the company, since the board has no power to enforce its findings.

SELECT VENIRE FOR TRIAL OF JOHN SCOPES

Prospective Jurors Are Picked by Justices

BULLETIN.

Defense Asks Injunction.

COOKEYVILLE, Tenn., July 6.—Scopes' attorneys filed a petition for a federal injunction to halt the Dayton trial before the federal court here this afternoon.

DAYTON, Tenn., July 6.—The state of Tennessee took the offensive today in the evolution case when the Rhea county court met to select a jury panel for the trial of John T. Scopes, youthful high school teacher, on charges of violating the state's anti-evolution law.

Sixteen justices of the peace, comprising the court, convened to nominate twenty-five citizens of Rhea county as the first jury panel.

The prospective jurors were chosen under the oldest rules in American jurisprudence, each justice being legally empowered to name his personal choices. The resulting venire will be certified by County Judge B. Gordon McKenzie, and served with subpoenas for appearance in court next Friday.

Under the Tennessee law, the state and defense each has but three peremptory challenges and after that all repections must be made for cause. This limitation, it was universally admitted, will make the selection of a jury comparatively easy.

If this venire should be exhausted without a jury being selected, the presiding judge is empowered under the law to call additional veniremen out of the courtroom or from the street. In this manner, the jury will be chosen. The simplicity, it was said, results from the fact that Scopes' offence is only a misdemeanor and does not even carry a jail penalty.

While the panel is being drawn, a wave of unrest swept the town due to the defense's announced intention to seek a federal injunction stopping the trial. At an early hour no such move had been made by Scopes himself or by any of the Dayton attorneys.

Scopes however, has signed the papers necessary for the filing of a federal injunction, leaving it to his attorneys to take whatever steps they deem advisable.

DETROIT NAIL DRIVERS STILL SAWING WOOD

Hutcheson Plays The Ostrich Act

(Special to The Daily Worker)

DETROIT, Mich.—The mess in which "Brother" Wm. L. Hutcheson has involved the Detriot carpenters' movement in his attempt to out-czar the late Nicholas has been thrown in bold relief by the events of the past week. Czar Hutcheson has "edicted" that Local Union No. 1191 of Detroit no longer exists and has notified members that unless they signed his yellow dog pledge and transferred to another local they would forfeit their rights as individual members by June 15th.

That date has come and gone and on Sunday, June 28, the members of Local No. 1191 celebrated the opening of their new home. At this celebration, Frank X. Martel, president of the Detroit Federation of Labor, complimented Local 1191 as being "more substantial than any or all other locals of carpenters in Detroit in maintaining union wages and closed shop conditions."

Everybody but Hutcheson.

Other speakers, including representatives of the four largest carpenters' locals spoke in a similar strain. As these statements are true it becomes apparent what harm Hutcheson is doing the Detroit movement by expelling Local 1191 merely because they refuse to accept his bullying. It also indicates that neither the carpenters' unions nor the general labor movement in Detroit are prepared to sacrifice the unity of the movement to the whim of this peevish autocrat.

Hutcheson has decreed that all members of those local unions not yet expelled must sign the yellow dog pledge or stand suspended by June 15. When members of Local 19 who did not sign on the dotted line challenged Jack Welsh, Hutcheson's flunky in the president's chair to throw them out if they were not members, this yellow turn-coat replied weakly that he had no instructions yet. When Hutcheson sends instruction he'd better send Dutch courage along with it for his cowardly crew have a big job ahead of them.

"No Such Union."

Hutcheson's stamp licker, Frank Duffy, has advised Local Union 2140 that the general office has "no such union" in Detroit and has returned three months' per capita tax sent in to protect the rights of members some of whom are credited with 40 years membership at the general office.

It will be remembered that Local Union No. 2140 circularized the brotherhood regarding the illegal and unconstitutional expulsion of its president, Wm. Reynolds, exercising a constitutional right for which it is now paying the extreme penalty.

Local Union No. 2140 made the union wreckers of Indianapolis think twice and then change their minds on this expulsion after they had resorted to the use of police and injunctions. Duffy is also to find himself a liar on the above statement before the final gong has sounded.

Not Through Yet.

Approximately 800 carpenters, including two whole local unions have refused to sign this yellow dog pledge. Hutcheson maintains that by this action they have automatically suspended themselves. If he gets away with this autocratic bluff it will deprive the Detroit carpenters of every vestige of militant and aggressive leadership and leave a greatly weakened organization led by a group of reactionary lick-spittles to fight the most aggressive open shop builders' organizations in the country.

The menace of these disruptive actions goes far beyond the confines of Detroit and threatens not only the morale and integrity of the brotherhood, but must inevitably shatter the organizational strength by which wages and working conditions are maintained.

It behooves every carpenter to take this up in his local union and call Hutcheson to an accounting before he wrecks what little organization has as yet escaped the blight of arrogance.

T. U. E. L. TAKES LEADING PART IN SHOE STRIKE

Winning Fight Put Up In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—The Shoe Workers' Protective Union of Philadelphia has scored another victory in the strike against the open shop started seven weeks ago by a combination of bosses.

The Philadelphia Shoe Co. has settled with the union granting all demands after a ten-day strike. Recognition of the union working card and the yearly, instead of the former six-month agreement are the outstanding gains made by the union.

The Star Shoe Co. remains the lone contender against the union's demand that all workers must have a union working card.

At a union mass meeting the announcement of victory over the Philadelphia Shoe Co. was greeted with a great outburst of cheers and enthusiasm. The strikers were pledged the full support of the entire membership.

The strike originally started as an offensive against the union by a combination of small bosses. The union immediately organised its forces and became the aggressor with the result that up to today after a number of live-skirmishes on the picket lines, two of the shops have settled and the settlement includes the yearly agreement.

The splendid fight put up by the union shattered the forces of the bosses and many of those are now considering a "quiet, gentlemanly settlement" with the union without a strike.

The only struck shop remaining has been deserted by the newly organised bosses' association. The strikers predict a speedy settlement of the Star Shoe Co. strike, which is unable to get either scabs or any of the shops to do its work.

Frank Di Liberty, national organizer of the Shoe Workers' Protective Union is in charge of the strike.

Needless to say the union is gaining in membership and prestige as a result of the energetic and successful struggle it is putting up. Members of the T. U. E. L. are taking an active part in the strike and the union especially at the present time.

Thirty Per Cent Cut Too Much for Lowell Workers; Close Mill

LOWELL, Mass.—All departments of the Lowell Silk Mills are closed by the strike begun by 50 girls who protested against wage cuts from a re-assignment of work. Weavers declare that their work would pay $1.49 instead of $2.24 per 100,000 picks on one kind of work, which would equal a cut of $5 a week on two-loom weavers and $8 a week on three-loom weavers. The majority of the workers find that their wages would be cut about one-third under the new scale and doubling up of work. The T. U. E. L. has distributed many leaflets against wage cuts.

BRITISH BOSSES TRY ARTFUL GAME TO FORCE UNEMPLOYED TO SCAB

LONDON, July 6.—A committee recently formed by the Federation of British Industries is making proposals to the British tory government to subsidize industry instead of paying the unemployed workers the present unemployment insurance.

The employers are raising a great propaganda to the effect that workers who are getting the miserable unemployment dole "don't want to work."

The fact of the matter is that any worker can but barely exist on the dole, if he can do that much, but that they won't blackleg (British rates of those who are employed, and the bosses want the dole cut off to force the unemployed to bid for jobs at any price and help the employers in their war to destroy the unions.

SCABBY BILL LEE FAILS TO PUT IT OVER

Other Unions Don't Admire His Plan

CLEVELAND.—June 29th dawned cool and cloudy and thus the reputation of President William G. Lee of the Railroad Trainmen as a weather prophet was destroyed. "Hot weather" was the excuse used two weeks ago by Lee to call off a peace conference between railway and labor executives to have met here June 29.

Lee's other excuse, that many of the rail presidents expected to be in London for the International Railway Congress proved as futile when Railway Age, organ for the rail interests, replied brusquely that "only two or three presidents plan attendance at London."

Other Unions Cold.

The proposed conference was to have been a sort of "get-together" to prove that the interests of railwaymen and their employers are "identical." Heads of other railway unions, however, believe that co-operation begins at home and declined to accept invitations to the confab, remembering Lee's policy in refusing to work with the other organizations in wage and political demands.

Lee's scheme for a "get-together" followed months of patient propaganda thru the columns of the Railway Review, a weekly published in the interests of the railways. The culminating article, "What Are We Going to Do About It?" contained the plan for the harmony meeting of executives and labor heads, now definitely killed by the indifferences of both sides.

No Strikes In Sight.

As a matter of fact there is no particular hostility between the executives and railway labor since the accomplishment of the post-war deflation program.

The weakness of Lee's scheme for harmony was demonstrated by Lee himself recently when he announced regional conferences of trainmen to seek in increase in wages. These meetings are little but war councils in effect, as the trainmen's executives will consider the extent of claims to be placed against the railroads and measures to be taken in case the roads fail to "come thru."

WE SING, WE DANCE, WE PLAY— AND WE FIGHT FOR THE RANK AND FILE IN LOCAL 22

IF you think it fun to work all day, and to watch all night, and then again the next day to work and watch again, just try it—for a few nights in succession, and see how much fun you get out of it. And yet, Local 22 has done it, for several weeks now, and intend to continue doing it for many more weeks to come, or until the fight is won—for we are determined not to give up the fight until victory is ours.

WHAT is the fight all about? Three locals of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, to wit, locals 2, 9 and 22 were suspended from the International, pending investigation against their several executive boards for "conduct calculated to impair the usefulness of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union" (see letter of Israel Feinberg to Joint Board, dated June 11, 1925) and "unbecoming the dignity of the offices held by them."

Their offense consisted, in particular, in having views different from those of Feinberg, Sigman & Co., in inviting Communist speakers to a May 1st demonstration at the Metropolitan Opera House, and purchasing shares in Camp Nit Gedeiget—a workingmen's camp at Beacon, New York, controlled, as Sigman, Feinberg & Co. maintain, largely by Communists, and in consorting with Communists in general, and criticizing the members of the Joint Board. Truly, heinous crimes!

THE treasuries of locals 2 and 9 were confiscated, their headquarters broken into by gangsters hired by Sigman & Go. and the members permanently routed from possession.

The same tactics were tried at Local 22, but we were prepared for them. And so the watch patrols, hourly and nightly—inside and outside the headquarters, ready to defend with our lives if necessary what is ours, what we have built up with long years of labor—against the Feinberg's, the Sigman's and all the other corrupt officials, whose only purpose is to either rule, or wreck and ruin our organization. The membership is with us one hundred per cent (our shop meetings, called after the illegal suspension, has shown this fact), and is willing to support us wholeheartedly, financially and otherwise. Thirty thousand members are with us in this fight against our corrupt officialdom. Will we win? I believe we will.

NOT content with suspending us pending the trial of our Executive Boards, the officials have gone to the various shops and demanded that the workers not supporting the Joint Board be discharged. In many instances the employers have been threatened and intimidated into discharging some of our most active workers. We have therefore been compelled to call strikes in these shops, demanding the reinstatement of our discharged brothers and sisters. Not alone are we engaged in holding the fort—in defending our headquarters—but after a sleepless night, you will find us, at five o'clock in the morning on the picket line, picketing the struck shops.

THE history of the nefarious practices of the joint board is not yet complete. In addition to all these crimes against the membership, they have called a lockout of the bookkeepers and stenographers employed by Local 22. We explained to the organizer of the union, that due to the present situation we could not employ the nine clerical workers the union had employed during ordinary times; that in fact, we could not employ more than four. We were willing to let all employes divide the time between them, and that when the controversy was over we would pay them for lost time. This they refused and, instigated by the joint board, declared a lockout against us. They picketed our headquarters with leaflets until we were compelled to issue a leaflet explaining the true situation. Their yellow journals, like the "Forward" and other Socialist dailies slandered us in their news and called us strikebreakers. But we are all undaunted. We are being attacked on all fronts, and we will fight them on all fronts. Once and for all the corrupt officialdom must be dealt such a death blow, that it will never again venture to resort to the tactics they have used against us, to suppress us and maintain their own power.

FELLOW workers, we ask your support. The day watch and the night watch, the picket line and the other struggles in our union will go on, but we want you to help us to carry on our fight.

Do not permit the corrupt officialdom of our union, and their lying press to make you believe in their twisted and perverted version of the facts; do not let them convince you that this is a fight against Communism only: it is a struggle for rank and file control in our union. It is a fight for all that the progressive elements in all unions hold dear. Help us with your moral and financial support. Our fight is your fight. Our victory is your victory. And with your support, we cannot fail; we must win.

Pennsylvania Textile Workers Tire of $6 To $12 A Week; On Strike

SCRANTON, Pa.—Silk workers on strike claim that their weekly wages have been from $6.50 to $12 for the same work for which Paterson silk workers get $14 to $20. Most of the strikers are miners' daughters or wives. Paterson workers are organized in the Associated Silk Workers' Union, an independent organization which has been attempting to extend its activities into Pennsylvania. It has opened an office in Allentown, but had not reached Scranton, much further away.

The Blakely mill of the Amalgamated Silk Co. is tied up by the strike of its 300 workers; the Frisbie Mill in Dickson by 120 strikers; the South Dickson Mill of Bliss Co. by 250 strikers; Priceburg Mill of Bliss Co. by 260; Jessup Mill of Bliss Co. by 60; and Providence Mill of Bliss Co. by 110; John Kingsley Mill by 60; and Providence Spinning Co. by 60 strikers. The strikers ask wage increases of $3 to raise their scale to $15 a week.

Skilled Textile Craft Asks for Wage Raise

PATERSON, N. J.—(FP)—Reedmakers of the Paterson silk textile industry are asking for a new wage scale which will give them a 30 per cent increase in wages. They are organized in Local 1006, United Textile Workers of America. Their work is very important in the silk weaving.

"LEFT WING, AS USUAL" LEADING B. W. S. STRIKE

Correspondent Tells Of Heroic Struggle

By BERNARD TREMBACH,
(Worker Correspondent)

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—The workers of the B. W. S. shoe factory, situated on Powell street, Brooklyn, New York, are still on strike. On this date, they are completing the tenth week of their fight for better working conditions, and complete unionization of the above factory.

Ten weeks, in which the workers have had to combat the bosses, the slackers in the ranks, and demoralization. The bosses have tried their darndest to demoralize and disrupt the strikers' ranks by various clever strategical moves.

They spread the rumor that they were going to leave the business to sell out, in other words. Immediately afterwards they told some of the workers that they were going to move and were renting their loft out.

Spirit of Victory.

Soon afterwards, one of the bosses asked a member of the strike committee how long they were going to strike. The striker threw these words into his boss' teeth: "We'll strike until October, then put on our winter coats, and keep on striking." The boss had no words to say in answer to this defiant statement.

The spirit of the workers is unshakable. The men give up practically all of their time to strike and picket duty.

As Usual.

Especially is it noticeable in the left wingers of the crew. As usual the most militant, these men work all hours of the day and quite often, late into the night, picketing the shop, and watching the bosses.

Right now there is a crisis. The bosses are making their last desperate stand. They decided to put all their strength into one final, desperate stand. They packed all their machinery and material into trucks, hung out a sign, "For Rent," and parked their trucks in a garage!

But did this strategic move make the strikers lose hope and give up? No! they did not lose hope in the least.

Just Move Picket Line.

On the contrary, recognizing this last move for what it was, they went about reorganizing their forces so they could discover where the bosses were moving to, in order to place the picket line, even before the work started, about the factory.

They are converting this desperate move, on the part of the bosses, into a further manifestation of the workers' power and ability and prove to the bosses conclusively that the strikers' militancy and fighting strength will eventually triumph over the capitalist forces.

Victory in Sight.

The bosses' last defences are being battered down. The strike is nearing its end, and the strikers are about to have all their demands materialized. Such work as the men have been doing has only one end, and that is—complete victory.

Trust Tool Appointed.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 6.—The appointment by President Coolidge of John B. Stetson of Philadelphia to American minister to Poland was announced here today.

THE OUTLOOK OF THE STRUGGLE IN THE I. L. G. W.

By P. Yuditch

THE pogrom which is now going on in the International is by far not ended. The lynch trial at the Hotel Cadillac is not thru with a third of its victims, but the outcome of the lynching party is already decided. If the pogrom leaders will not condemn all the 77 of the accused, they will lighten the sentences of a few in order to save their faces. The rage of the union membership will surely not be squieted by this trial. Oil is being constantly poured on the fire, and the rank and file of the union is determined not to let injustice be victorious.

The spirit of the widest masses of the cloakmakers is against a retreat, against surrender and for a struggle to the finish to win once and for all a union for themselves, for the workers, not for a machine of corrupt politicians.

What, then, is the outlook of the struggle? Which side has the best possibilities for success?

THESE questions are on the lips of thousands of individuals who are involved in the struggle. And some give various replies.

There is a certain element of sentimentalists, mainly observers from the outside, who do not analyze the whole situation but always in such cases have definite solutions. Children, they say, do not quarrel among yourselves, because your bosses will be the only victors in this.

THERE are others who do not think about the situation and sympathize with the struggle of the workers, believing that the leaders of the machine are committing great injustices against the membership, but who, out of habit, think that "you cannot fight City Hall." The Sigman machine is all-mighty, it holds the official machinery in its hands, and they are therefore afraid to oppose this power.

BUT in the present struggle in the International, it can be seen that the widest masses of cloakmakers and dressmakers do not agree with either of the above-mentioned views. The tactics of the yellow leadership has long since implanted in them too much bitterness and disillusionment.

And now, the last act of the Sigman clique has roused a mass revolt. The membership insists that resistance must be offered and the largest part of them is determined to do everything necessary to liberate themselves from the clique.

LET us consider those opinions.

On the point of view of the sentimentalists it, is not necessary to waste many words. I once saw a hooligan in Hester Park attack a Jewish young man and beat him up. An old Jewish lady came up to the injured one and reproached him saying, "It is not nice. Jews should not fight among themselves."

The cloakmakers and dressmakers have already received blows enuf both from the manufacturers and the machine leaders of the union. Were they not to defend themselves, the attacks would be intensified.

Peace does not depend upon them, but upon those who attack them. So long as blows are showered on them, so long as the leadership of the union is in the hands of hooligans who do not concern themselves with the suffering of others, peace cannot be made.

All the acts of violence must be opposed, and the power of the officialdom must be fought, else they will continue in their deeds and your wounds will deepen and your pain increase.

LET us clarify this generality also. When workers are struggling against their own union machine because it co-operates with the bosses at their expense, that struggle can not serve the interests of the bosses, but only of the workers themselves. There is a saying "when you shear the lamb's wool, its young shiver."

When the bosses see the militant spirit of the workers, when they see a struggle which is an expression of dissatisfaction, they try to be more conciliatory in order to quiet this militancy. The bosses cannot win anything out of this struggle of the workers. On the contrary, they would gain much more if the cloak and dressmakers were to remain silent for the sake of peace. The bosses would win much more if the workers would swallow every violence on the part of their leaders.

IT is much more important to consider the second point. Can the Sigman machine win in the present struggle?

Those who see things clearly must answer, No. Under no circumstances can the Sigman machine win anything. Whatever the outcome of the struggle may be on this or that point, one thing is generally certain, that the Sigman machine has lost, the pogrom which it is now carrying on has brot it to the last stage of bankruptcy. This pogrom has sealed the doom of its rule.

In reality, the leadership of the Sigman machine in the International has long since been bankrupt. From the very start it followed a course which foretold its downfall.

WHEN Sigman took over the presidency two years ago, he ventured like a gambler. The industrial conditions in the ladies' garment trade was at that time not of the very best. Working conditions in the shops were miserable. The union apparatus was disorganized. Bureaucracy ran rampant. There were no trade policies. In fact, the only policy they did have, was to have no policy. The membership was isolated from activity and control of their organization. Their wants were not considered, and their dissatisfaction was consequently great. Under such conditions the organization required a leadership with a sense of responsibility. It needed a strong hand and a clear, cool head. —The head of a man, not of an idiot, and the hand of a working class leader, not of a cossack general. It needed a leadership which should follow a constructive line, carefully planned.

BUT Sigman, with a strong will, ventured like a gambler, and drew under his strong hand some of the worst irresponsible union politicians. With the help of Peristein, Feinberg, and Co., he undertook to bluff the public, to throw sand into the eyes of the workers instead of doing something which might better their working conditions. Instead of the strong hand of a leader, he put out the hand of a mule-driver. instead of a flag which the workers would follow, he put up a club. Instead of curing the old wounds, he produced new ones.

AND so in the course of two years, the Sigman administration is marked by one failure after another. The organization campaign which they undertook in the east and the west brot no fresh blood into the union. This was because, while on the one hand they undertook to organize, on the other, proceeded to break. And so these mule-drivers succeeded to destroy that which others built. The Sigman machine declared a holy war against the most militant section of the union membership.

They carried destruction and demoralization everywhere. And for this activity they expended fortunes. The treasury was emptied, and the International was thrown into heavy debt.

AND when the Sigman machine undertook an industrial program of "ten commandments," the failure was still greater. This was due to the fact that Sigman and his colleagues were as earnest in this as in their organizing activity. They adopted this program only to deceive the workers, and by no means to scare the bosses. When the time came to put out demands, they maneuvered those "ten commandments" into the hands of the governor's commission. Nothing resulted from the demands of the workers. Conditions in the shops became worse and worse.

LAST year it was still possible for the Sigman machine to deceive the workers with the arguments that the demands were not yet lost, that the decision of the governor's commission was only temporary. It was only a question of an investigation, they said, of continuing under the old working conditions for but one year more. In the meantime they had given us this great gain, that each boss must employ not less than 14 operators, etc., etc.

NOW this year is also past. The so-called gain of the 14 machines proved to be, as we pointed out even last year, another one of Sigman's fakes. The "ten commandments" turned into Hillquit's memorandum, in which the demands were destroyed by Sigman even before the commission gave its decision.

If we summarize the Sigmanism of the last two years, we get the following:

The result of the campaign of organization was that the existing organization was demoralized, and no new ones were built. The membership decreased considerably. The finances of the union dried up, and heavy debts accumulated.

IN the struggle against the left wing, the progressive elements in the International have been immensely strengthened. Sigmanism itself, with its terroristic tactics, helped to spread the revolutionary spirit.

The revolutionary program of the "ten commandments" turned into the biggest fake which has ever been staged by any union politician.

Sigmanism is bankrupt all along the line. Whatever it touched, whatever it undertook to carry thru, resulted in the opposite of what was intended.

In the present pogrom, the Sigman machine is gambling its last card. They must get the last decision of the governor's commission.

They must forcibly seize positions in the largest locals.

They must therefore eliminate the official "disturbers" of these locals.

They must find a way to continue to deceive the membership, and to hide their last bankruptcy.

THIS necessitated the pogrom. This made it necessary to seize the local offices with sluggers in the middle of the night. This made it necessary to adopt the methods of gamblers who have lost everything, and throw their last card into play.

From the latest developments in the pogrom itself, it can be definitely said that Sigman and his colleagues have lost even their last card. Their machine might have saved itself, if the suspended executive boards had accepted their sentence quietly, making no resistance. The Sigman machine might have extricated itself, if the cloak and dressmakers had swallowed these dirty insults. Sigman's card might have won, had the cloak and dressmakers not understood his gambling game and played "badly."

BUT the suspended officials and the mass of the membership understood the game and guarded themselves against the gambler. The result is that the last card of the Sigman machine did not win. And the only thing left for them to gamble with now is the rage of disappointment, which remains with every gambler when he has lost everything. With this rage, Sigman is now carrying on his struggle. With this wealth he and his colleagues are still continuing the battle. But how far they can proceed with this, I will consider in another article.

WHO SAYS THE INTERNATIONAL OFFICIALS ARE TRAITORS?

IS it permitted to say that the I. L. G. W. U. leaders are traitors?

We hold that not only is it permisseable, but when the leaders commit a treacherous act it must be pointed out and they must be eliminated from the labor movement.

But Yanovsky does not agree with us. He holds that the international officials are the "greatest minds" in the union. If Feinberg concludes secretly a "supplementary" agreement with the bosses, "he knows what he is doing" and he has to be thanked for it. And if Sigman and Hillquit secretly work out a memorandum to the Governors Commission which surrenders the cloakmakers demands, they also "know what they are doing", and those who are not satisfied are "Sulkeses, unionbreakers, etc."

ALL this is so when Yanovsky receives pay from the Sigman machine. But in the Freie Arbiter Stimme of Jan. 17, 1917, Yanovsky wrote about the International officials and told them:

"Compare your acts from the beginning until now, with the acts of provocateurs and strike-breakers, and you will see yourself that you are not justified in being enraged for being put in the same category."

AND about the agreements which the International officials signed in 1914, Yanovsky wrote:

"The cloakmakers dare not, under any conditions, permit that traitors which have made this agreement should remain at the head of the International. A special convention must immediately be called, and this convention should put before the Court of the Union these servants of the bosses, and should exclude forever these betrayers of the working-class movement."

These excerpts we have copied from parts of Louis Hyman's speech, read Wednesday before the "Lusk Committee" in the Hotel Cadillac.

day of the working class; and

"Whereas, as a result of the above-mentioned action, the majority of agreements signed in our industry contained a provision relating to the right of every worker in our industry to celebrate this day by cessation of work; and

"Whereas, in some localities agreements exist that do not provide for the right of the worker to stop from work on the First of May; be it therefore

"Resolved, That the 15th biennial convention of the I. L. G. W. U. instructs the incoming general executive board to see to it that in all future agreements which are about to be signed with our employers, a provision be incorporated, giving each worker the right to stop from work on the First of May."

After this substitute resolution, which was adopted at the convention unanimously, President Schlesinger delivered a short talk, in which he said that the introduction of this resolution was not justified. "I want to say," said President Schlesinger, "that our organization was the first one in the needle industries that has done what you are referring to. It seems to me that you are not familiar with the workings of your own International. Second, you say that the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union has not as yet made the First of May a holiday, thus compelling our members to work on that day. I don't think it is fair to say the International is or will be compelling its members to work on the First of May. On the contrary, in most of the agreements that have been made between the International and individual manufacturers or with associations, there is a provision which definately states that being absent from work on the First of May does not mean a violation of the agreement. The International has been the first organization, I venture to say, of all other organizations in the country, to insist upon the employers that stopping work on that day shall not be considered any violation of our agreement."

All of which certainly proves that the First of May was recognized as a labor holiday, even previous to the convention of 1920, and that we have always urged our workers to stop on that day, and that we have held meetings and celebrations on that particular day.

It is also not true that it is the first time that a speaker of the Party that Mr. Olgin belongs to, was invited to address such gatherings. I have said during the course of this hearing and I say it now, that Olgin spoke for years and years, not only for Locals No. 9 and 2, but for the International itself, and has lectured for them for a number of years, and we also want to state that the convention of the International has permitted to speak such well-known Communists as Mr. Ferguson, who was at that time the secretary-treasurer; Mr. Ruthenberg, whose speech I am going to read to you, which he delivered at the convention of the International.

Schlesinger Aided Communist Speches

On page 121, President Schlesinger introduced Mr. Ferguson, the treasurer of the Communist Party, and he made an appeal for funds on behalf of the deportees, in order to supply them with legal aid. It was moved and carried that the appeal of Mr. Ferguson be laid before the Committee on Resolutions. You will find this on page 38 in the convention minutes of 1922. Charles E. Ruthenberg, who is an eminent Communist and one of their foremost leaders, and was known as such at that time, was introduced by President Schlesinger at the 1922 convention. You will find it on page 108 of the convention minutes. Mr. Ruthenberg spoke as follows:

Ruthenberg's Speech to I. L. G. W. in 1922

"I come to you to present a program of unity, of solidarity in the struggle of the workers against the capitalist aggression. I speak to you as a Communist, as one who accepts the leadership of the Communist International. It has remained for the Communist International to offer that program to the workers of the world which will bring about a united front. We hope that your organization will make the necessary advances which will bring into existence, in the near future, an organization covering all the needle trades so that the industry will stand as one. My parting wish is that these deliberations will solidify the labor organizations of this country, so that the entire working class may meet and bring the day when they will administer and take over the industries of the world, and conduct them for the workers of the world." (Applause).

I want also to quote to you some of the speeches that were delivered at our convention, to show you that they are in no way different from the speech delivered by Mr. Olgin at our First of May meeting. From the convention mibutes of 1918, page 140, address delivered by Morris Hillquit:

Hillquit's Speech in 1918 Convention.

"So long as there remains any exploitation of the workers, so long as a particle of your work is taken by the others, taken by a class of parasites who thrive upon your labor, so long as your struggle remains before you, so long must you continue striving steadfastly, tirelessly, day after day, until you have come into your own, into your full inheritance in life, until such time as the working class is fully emancipated from all economic exploitation."

I will read from page 142. "With all the cry of our bought press, of our narrow-minded statesmen against the present regime in Russia, we know nevertheless that there is a great, tremendous country, with a large population, a country that has heretofore been the darkest resort of the darkest reaction, standing today in the vanguard of democracy, in the vanguard of social progress, in the hands, all thru from top to bottom, of the people themselves, of the working class and the peasants." (Great applause).

I am now reading to you from the report of the convention minutes of 1924, a speech delivered by Morris Hillquit. Page 116).

Hilliquit's Speech in 1924 Convention.

"We have reached a very crucial point in the history of the whole world. We have reached the point where it has become apparent and obvious that the capitalistic class can no longer govern. It is not merely the incompetence and the corruption that are today displayed by our own government, in this Washington investigation. Oh no, it is more than that. It is an absolute, complete bankruptcy of the capitalistic class all over the world. Look at them. They have ruled, they have governed for generations. They have ruled without question. The workers of all lines have submitted to their rule. They have ruled in ruin, in devastation, in destruction. They ruled up to the point where they driven the whole human race into a frenzied war of mutual extermination until they have covered the countries of Europe with rivers of human blood. They have ruled until they have taken the most progressive, the most prosperous part of the world, Europe, and turned it into a poor-house, turned it, into a condition of misery that beggars description. If they are allowed to continue ruling, it may mean the end of human civilization.

"There is but one force that can save the world, and that force is the force of the workers, who have no interest in the competitive fights and struggles of the capitalists class, who stand, and of necessity must stand, for universal prosperity, for universal brotherhood, and for peace and the workers alone can establish a world on that basis."

Hilliquit Said I. L. G. W. Should Lead Progressives.

"This movement to redeem the world from capitalistic cluthces, is the very real movement today. It requires the co-operation of the American people which means primarily the American workers. The opportunity is open before us now. The International, as a progressive organization, as an organization of idealists, should make it its duty, should make it its pride, to lead in that movement, to lead in every progressive movement of the workers."

Panken's Advisory of World Unity.

I am reading to you now the minutes of the convention of 1918: You will find on page 234 a speech delivered by Judge Jacob Panken: "In my opinion," said the judge, "there should be no American labor movement, there should be no French labor movement, there should be no English labor movement, but there should be one labor movement, a world labor movement."

Vice President Rosenberg Lauds "Reds"

On page 145, an address is recorded by Mr. Elmer Rosenberg who was at that time, I think, the first vice-president of the International. He said:

"When this war was declared, it was supposed to have broken down the International, it was supposed to have broken down the organization of the Reds thruout the world. Instead of that, it seems as tho the Reds were going to break up the present system of the world."

The phrases used by Mr. Rosenberg, as well as the rest of the speakers who used similar phrases, were always wildly and strongly applauded by the delegates at our convention.

Cahan Praises the Russian Revolution.

I am going to read to you now pages 214 and 215, an address delivered by the editor of the "Forward", Mr. Cahan:

"About four years ago," said Mr. Cahan, "when the war broke out, many of us were intensely interested in seeing the Russian despotic regime smashed. But the czar has been eliminated. There is no such thing now as the throne in Moscow. That is a thing of the past, thanks to great, glorious revolution that took place in Russia. (Great applause). And, friends, there we have a regime in Russia that is a Socialist regime from top to bottom (great applause). The next to go are the Kaisers. Is there an honest man on the face of the globe who can think, and at the same time would not desire the downfall of that infamous bunch? (Tremendous applause). That bunch of highway robbers that are trying to wreck the Russian revolution for their own use, to their gain? Now that the majority party in the Reichstag, including the scoial-democrats and even the ctaholic party, have been obliterated and robbed of every influence entirely, there is nothing left but the military chieftains, the Hindenburgs and the Ludendorfs that rule Germany and that there seems to be no hope for free speech, democracy or suffrage in Germany. In the face of all that, can there be any true opinion as to who should win now?

Abe Cahan Felicitates Lenin and Trotsky and Red Flag.

"After the war is over, there will be a new era in the life of labor in this country, as well as in Europe. This war has taught us a great deal. England today is the great country of organized labor, so powerful, so strong, that the powers that be in Britain have to reckon with this; today the English labor movement is about 75 per cent clear cut socialistic (applause) and in Russia, the Red Flag is waving as the flag of the Nation. They celebrated the 1st of May in Moscow, they combined that great holiday with another festival, the birth of Karl Marx, and this holiday was celebrated not only by trade unions, not by organizations in their private capacity, but as a National holiday. Lenine and Trotsky, every member of the organization of the government, marching alongside of the great flag of Socialism as their banner. (Tremendous applause).

Cahan Hopes Bolsheviks May Defeat Capitalism.

"We can trust both the Bolsheviki and the English comrades, and the American comrades to defeat the designs of the capitalist class. And let me tell you frankly, with perfect sincerity, from the bottom of my heart, that so far President Wilson has taken the right attitude toward the Bolsheviki. (Tremendous applause.) He is standing by them nobly and valiantly, because I know he has many odds to contend with.

"Prepare Yourselves for Great Change."

"Comrades, a new world is coming. We are on the eve of a great new historical epoch. This country will be different from what it is now and what it has been so far. Everything will be absolutely different. We are now going thru the most remarkable change in the history of humanity, not only in the political history of humanity, but in its history from every aspect and view. Nothing like it has ever happened before. Get yourselves ready. Prepare yourselves for the great change that is coming after the war. This war is teaching a remarkable lesson to the workers the world over. The membership of the socialist party will be probably ten times as large as it is today about [illegible] after the war is over. There is no question about it.

Says I. L. G. W. Should be Left Wing in A. F. of L.

"And this is the final word. You are one of the progressive organizations of the American Federation of Labor. You are one of the few that amounts to something. Everybody is proud of you. And without fear or favor, you must do your duty. Get ready to do your share to keep alive in the American Federation of Labor that progressive spirit, that spirit of socialism. The American Federation of Labor will amount to a great deal, but only because it is getting to be a progressive body, and you who are already progressive, ought to be congratulated as being one of the great factors in bringing about a glorious change in the American Federation of Labor. I thank you. (Tremendous applause.)"

I am citing now to you, a speech delivered by Mr. Clarence Darrow, at the convention in 1920, on page 3 of the minutes:

Darrow the Anarchist, Speaks for Soviet Russia.

"We have looked to Europe and seen in Russia a great movement for the man who works. (Applause.) I protest against this country, born in revolution, against tyranny, laying the least thing in the way of the aspirations of the new Russia. None of our soldiers should be there. Our statesmen are not able to pass upon the wisdom of the rule of Russia. It is not for the American people to say whether they are right or wrong, but it is for the American government to inquire one thing, who is in control, and to recognize those who are in control.

"I fancy that 90 per cent of the people of the United States wish Russia well, and would like them to succeed. In their hearts they protest against their government misrepresenting them, and seeking to throw anything in their path."

"Hands Off Russia," Charley Erwin.

Mr. Charles Erwin, at the convention in 1920, in this address—you will find it on page 2, said, "Now, don't think for a moment that I don't know how important world events have been in the last five years, that I don't know that out of the war has come the wonderful working class republic of Soviet Russia, that I don't feel a tremendous inspiration from that fact, and that you ought not to feel a tremendous inspiration from that fact. But the kind of inspiration you should feel is this, not that you can do anything for Soviet Russia, but use your influence for the working class of the world that they shall keep their hands off. The best answer that you can make to Soviet Russia, is to show Russia that the working class of this country knows how to take care of itself."

Why the Sudden Scare at Red Speech?

I have cited these speeches to show you that we have not been so conservative in the past that we should believe that suddenly the International got frightened over a radical speech and has suspended and brought on a trial people for having arranged a meeting on the first of May where a speech praising Russia was delivered, and calling the workers of the world to unite for the purpose of abolishing the present system of society and establishing a new co-operative commonwealth.

These sort of speeches have been delivered at our meetings, and at all our conventions, all the conventions of the International, and the leaders bragged whenever they had an opportunity to come before the members, of their radicalism and their records as revolutionists.

You will, of course, try to argue that these speeches were delivered and that Communists were invited to speak prior to the order issued by the International with reference to the league, and it seems that order was issued, prohibiting members from belonging to the Trade Union Educational League, or any other organization that has the same programs, and the same object that the Trade Union Educational League.

No Prohibition in Local's Choice.

You will say, that afterwards, such practices are prohibited. We absolutely deny that the order can in any way be interpreted to imply that a local union has no right to invite a speaker who is a member of any political party, even including the Workers Party. The order in question does not specify any parties. It does not specify or does not mention any individual who shall be permitted to speak at such gatherings.

As to the question, then, whether we had a right to call a meeting for the first of May. I know that nobody will question that right. If Mr. Olgin would have been invited to address this meeting, nobody would even have an excuse to stage even such a trial as the present one, because the leaders of the International, they are the same few people who control both organizations, and they know themselves that the First of May meeting and the First of May celebration can not be interpreted as a violation of Section 10, that these expenses are not legitimate expenses.

Peristein Approved as Local Officer.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Peristein himself, he was the administration of Local 2, and he never questioned the bills that were submitted covering the expenses of this meeting. To show you as a further illustration that Peristein had his eyes wide open and did [illegible] blindly, it is grevous by the fact that when $25.00 tickets were purchased for the Freiheit Chorus, Peristein immediately said that this is not a legitimate expense and "I will not sign this bill." He would never dare to say that the expenses covering the rent for the hall, the talent that was engaged for that meeting, were not legitimate expenses, and are not valid, that they are, in violation of Section 10.

Olgin Received No Money for Speech.

As far as Mr. Olgin is concerned, it is known to the Committee that he did not receive any money for his speech, and it is also known at this time to the Committee, that it was never passed by the executive board, and it was never reported whether Olgin or anybody else, was invited as a speaker, that the whole meeting was arranged by a committee of three in Local 2, and a committee of an equal number of Local 9, and that they have never reported to the executive, to their respective executives, and they have had full power to arrange this meeting.

There is nowhere in the constitution anything that should direct them or prohibit them or restrain them from inviting speakers who are writing in newspapers who happen to criticize the leaders of the International, which is the whole contention of the prosecution, that this was in violation of the constitution. I want to show you that speakers who have very strongly criticized the leaders of the Internaitonal, are not only invited to speak at meetings, but some of them are at present the leaders and are receiving high salaries from the International.

As to Critics of the Officials.

I will read to you some of the articles written some time ago by Mr. Yanovsky, who is the editor of the official organ of the International at the present time, and this will also illustrate to you that the Freiheit isn't the only paper that criticizes the International leaders, and that it never happened that when the Forward criticized leaders, whether it was of the local unions, whether it was leaders of the joint board or leaders of the International, or leaders of any other union, or leaders of the American Federation of Labor, that any of these locals, joint boards, or the International or the American Federation of Labor as a whole, should ever demand of the members to know who are reading these papers, who are supporting these papers, or that they should refrain from reading these papers, or that they should abstain from supporting these papers, because there is nowhere in the constitution of the International, and these cannot be, and they have no right to make such a constitution, that should regulate the thoughts of the members.

No Control Over What Members Read.

We in America, at least believe in free speech, and we have never given the authority to our officers or even to the authorities of the United States government to abridge the rights of the citizens to read any newspaper they desire, and to support any newspaper that they feel like.

I will now read to you some of the articles that were written by the present editor of the Justice at the time when he did not have his office with the International. I am quoting now from the Freie Arbeiter-Stimme, Jan. 10, 1914, of which paper Mr. Yanovsky was the editor at that time. Under the heading of "Bosses and the International Officers In Conspiracy Against the Cloak Union," from which heading itself you can see that the article which will follow will not be any compliment to the leaders of the Intrenational.

Yanovsky's Attack of U. L. G. W. Officers.

The article in part says as follows: "The last joint statement in the English press by the Union officers and the bosses should dispel anybody's doubt that the Internaitonal officers of the Ladies Garment Workers Union united with the Bosses' Association to betray the Cloakmakers. The Cloakmakers Union situation permits the traitors who have gone into agreement with the bosses, they remain at the head of the International. A special convention of the International should immediately be called. This convention should put on trial the officials who are obedient to and servants of the bosses, and it should expel those traitors from the labor movement forever."

The Same Leaders and the Same Yanovsky.

This article was written by Mr. Yanovsky, who is the editor of Justice at the prsent time, and the leaders whom he called traitors at that time were Mr. Sigman, Mr. Peristein, Mr. Rosenberg, Mr. Halpern, and some other of the leaders who are the leaders of the International at the present time.

At the present time the same Mr. Yanovsky who called these leaders whom he is serving now, by the names I have just mentioned, he is naturally prepared to call us by the same names he used to call them at the time when he was an editor of the Freie Arbiter Stimme.

Nobody at that time questioned members of the union whether they have the right to read the Freie Arbiter Stimme, whether they agree with it, whether they should support it, because we know very well that a member of the union has a right to read papers which their leaders were objecting to.

Right of Political Opinion and Criticism.

It would be ridiculous for instance, for Mr. Lewis, the president of the Mine Workers' Union, to question his members whether they are reading a democratic paper at the time of a campaign who attack him for his support of republican candidates. Everybody knows that as far as politics are concerned, every member has a right to belong even to a party which attacks and opposes the party of which the leader is a member. It has not been proven that these members who are on trial here have taken their orders and their opinions from the Freiheit or any other organization. You have never proved that and you are not able to prove that.

In the union, as they have stated, and nobody has contradicted their statement, whatever they do comes from their own convictions. They do things because they believe in them, and they don't do things in which they do not believe.

I have some articles written by the same Mr. Yanovsky of the same character, and I'm not going to waste your time in quoting them because they are of the same nature that I have just read to you, but even stronger. Nothing that is said in the Freheit at the present time can be compared with what was said at that time by the same Mr. Yanovsky against the very same leaders whom he is serving at the present time and from whom he is taking orders as to what to write.

I wanted to bring over here Mr. Olgin himself, since his speech is in question, to establish whether he said, as two or three doubtful witnesses for the prosecution testified, that we must take a big hammer and smash the International. Is this true or not? It stands to reason that no one knows better what was said at that time than Mr. Olgin himself.

It was no more than proper that we should permit him to come here and state what he said at that meeting, because, as I said in the beginning and in the course of my cross-examination, that this Olgin is one of the best and most fluent and eloquent speakers in the Jewish labor movement, and that he spoke for nearly an hour, and even a stenographer would not be able to take the minutes as quickly as he spoke.

Since it has ben quite a few months ago, and nobody took down any minutes as to what he said, we can not rely on our memory or on the memory of a few individuals who claim that they have heard him say or use that phrase.

Trial Chairman Has Various Constitutions.

Olgin was not permitted to come here because the chairman, who knows so well the constitution, says it is not, in accordance with the construction of the International to permit one who is not a member of the union. But this chairman evidently has different constitutions for different occasions. In one place he has one constitution and in another place he has another constitution.

It is known that there was a trial against several of our members, namely Bookman, Alex Cohn, and another whose name I don't remember. It was a question that these members accused one of our officers of taking graft. Presum was the name of the officer. These people were tried for not being able to prove to the satisfaction of the committee that he had taken graft.

We have a point in the constitution that if you bring charges against an officer and you cannot prove these charges to the satisfaction of the committee so that he should be convicted, the people that bring the charges are convicted instead for slandering or besmirching the good name of the officers. That is perhaps one of the reasons why a good many who have charges to bring against officers refrain from making them, because if a district attorney would know that if he is going to bring anybody to court and the jury would not convict, that he himself will be convicted, he would be very careful before he would put anybody on trial.

Borenstein Had Bosses as Witnesses.

However, at that particular trial, I believe the same presiding judge, Brother Borenstein, was there, and there he had a different constitution. He admitted there not only non-members of the union as witnesses, but contractors and sub-contractors. Their names are Levine, Sachoquitz, and Shanehouse.

These people surely are not members of the union, and belonged to an organization with whom we have occasionally to fight, because I do not think the union has adopted a new philosophy that instead of preaching that the interests of the workers and of the capitalists are antagonistic, that they have now adopted a new philosophy that the interests of the workers and the capitalists are harmonious.

If that would be the case then, of course, there would be no reason or justification for the existence of the union. Nevertheless, Mr. Borenstein did not object to admitting as witnesses, manufacturers who evidently are not members of the union and cannot be members.

Workers Party Theses.

A great deal was said during the course of this hearing about the theses of the Workers Party. Brother Feinberg wanted to prove that the mere fact that a man is a member of the Workers Party, he must necessarily violate the rules of the union, or the rules of the Workers Party.

This is my opinion—in my opinion it is the greatest fallacy, because it has not been proved that the Workers Party has adopted the program that was read and quoted here several times, and furthermore, this is not a program, but it is a thesis or a basis from which to work out a program, and there is quite a difference between putting a few theses from which a program shall be drawn, and the program itself.

And even if it was a program of the Workers Party, it does not necessarily follow that you can convict a member for belonging to a party which has a program that stands for defending certain things without permitting that this particular member actually has fulfilled that part of the program.

Have Right to Belong to Workers Party.

The Workers Party has not been made an illegal party by our union. It has not been made illegal by New York State or by the United States. On the contrary, it is a legal party of the United States which had its own candidates in the last election, and as far as our union is concerned it has not been mentioned anywhere that it is an illegal party, and that our members have no right to belong to the Workers Party.

On the contrary, we have on several occasions been assured by the leaders of the International, including Mr. Sigman and Mr. Feinberg, that every member of the union has the right to belong to any party that he wants to belong to, the democratic, the republican, socialist, anarchist, the Workers Party, the single taxers, and even the Communists.

Sigman, Himself, Says So!

I have here a declaration by Mr. Sigman in the Justice, of June 20, 1925, where Mr. Sigman says that an economic organization like ours must take in as members, atheists, freethinkers, Jews, gentiles, Communists, democrats, republicans and single taxers. All members of all parties are welcome in the union, provided that they act in the union as union men.

It must also be known to this committee that these members are not all members of the Workers Party. A minority only of them belong. As far as Local 9 is concerned, out of the 26 there are only three that are members of the Workers Party. They have been accorded the same treamtent, have been diagnosed in the same category as Communists, altho these people know perfectly well that statement is absolutely false.

Snooping Committee Was Busy.

It is also known, or should be known to this committee, that the few that are members of the Workers Party among the members of Local 2, at the time when they ran for office, there was an objection committee of the officers of the International, including Mr. Feinberg and Mr. Peristein, and tho nobody in my opinion in accordance with the constitution has a right to question anyone whether he belongs to this party or the other, because this is his private business, nevertheless these gentlemen have taken it upon themselves the responsibility to inquire into the thots of people, as to what papers they read, the papers they support, and to what party they belong.

These people who are Communists and have read and supported the Freiheit, did not deny it. That is quite proper. And they have a perfect right to do these things, so long as they do not violate a specific rule of the union incorporated in the constitution of the International, and the things they do uotside the union is not the union's business.

So, these gentlemen who now bring charges knew that these people read the Freiheit. They know perfectly well that the Communist Party, and later the Workers Party, did not suddenly spring into existence after the elections. Nevertheless they permitted these epople to go on the ballot, and some of them were even requested by Mr. Peristein that they should run for office.

Why have they suddenly come here and wanted to prove that a member of the Workers Party must necessarily act in contradiction to the constitution of the International? Had they not known the constitution of the International ten weeks ago? Hadn't they known the Workers Party and the Communist program ten weeks ago, or had the constitution of the International been changed since then? Has the constitution of the Workers Party changed since then? Has the Workers Party become since then more leftist?

The Times Poor Informer

Quite the contrary, everyone knows that the Communists are becoming ever more practical. So why does the prosecution come here suddenly, and into the daily press, to denounce these people as not eligible to hold office in the union? A great deal has been said during the cross-examination, about the report in the Times of the First of May meeting. Mr. Feinberg should be the last to base a charge or make a case from reports in newspapers, such as the Times, or any other capitalist newspaper.

As far as supporting organizations of a revolutionary nature, which might be in violation of Section 10 of the constitution of the International, you will see in the minutes of the convention of 1922, a list of donations to other organizations besides trade unions or labor organizations, that the International itself has donated money to the American Labor Alliance for trade relations with Soviet Russia.

FASCIST KILLER DE BONO GIVEN JOB AS REWARD

Senate Admits Crimes of Mussolini Aid

ROME, Italy, July 6.—Senator de Bono, who, evidence showed, aided in the murder of the socialist deputy Matteotti, has been appointed governor of Tripoli, the Italian territory in Africa. The appointment comes immediately after a senate commission had whitewashed de Bono, and issued a statement apologizing and making excuses for his crimes. The commission, of course, was composed of fascist members.

The senate statement admits the charge that de Bono received a "commission" of 400,000 lire on the sale of government war material, but claims he donated this money to the fascisti, and was therefore excused.

Allowed Killers Freedom

The commission admitted also that the fascist assailants of the opposition leader Amendola calmly proceeded to the militia barracks unmolested by police, but declared they "could not prove" that de Bono, as police director, was responsible for the crime.

"It should be remembered," the senate states, "That part of the blame attributed to de Bono may be explained by his lack of necessary preparation for the important office with which he was suddenly invested."

The senate also admitted that de Bono had taken the Matteotti case out of the hands of the police, when the evidence piled up that the fascist leaders had ordered the murder, but declared "this might have been due to his zeal in tracing criminals."

Forged Passports

It was admitted that the fascist Dumini, who is charged with the actual killing of the socialist deputy, was furnished with a passport under a false name and date, the date being falsified to make it appear that the passport was issued before de Bono became police inspector. But it was declared that de Bono "was not personally responsible."

Donati, the opposition editor who made the accusation against de Bono, was forced to flee the country when the fascists declared they would kill him.

De Bono was formerly head of the fascist army and directed the march on Rome.

By ALEX REID.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 6.—Systematic looting of the Illinois miners' treasury by a set of official pirates and jail birds to an extent never equalled in the Miners' Union is being carried on at the present time. The stench calls to high heaven for a clean-up, which the bureaucracy is determined the miners will not get. And in their determination to cover up the evidence, records are being grabbed and destroyed wholesale.

It is well for the fakers that they destroy them, because if the miners knew one-tenth of what is taking place the apaches would be relegated to quarters where they would be unable to continue their union busting.

Dominick Couldn't Get Away

One parrot, willing tool of the Farrington machine, has gone to board with his Uncle Samuel for, from one to fourteen years for getting away with approximately $2,000 in death benefits, and overpaid per capita tax to the sub-district, district, and international organizations, during a period covering four years. The books have been audited time and again in the last four years and the theft not discovered by the district auditors until it was laid bare by Local Union 3495 local officials.

Dominick Teneski, financial secretary of Local Union 3495 in gathering to himself the miners' money, adopted a novel method of petty larceny. He knowingly overpaid per capita tax to the sub-district, district and international, and the auditor's OK'd books each audit, and had returned to him the overpaid tax, which he misappropriated to his own account. And those same auditors did not find the money had not been receipted for by the local treasurer.

Farrington Protects Treasury Thieves

After the local union discovered the discrepancy, the district office, Farrington, was notified by Freeman Thompson that action would be taken at once against the defaulting financial secretary, Dominick Teneski. Which was done—the local union trying him and expelling him for 99 years.

During this time, when the sub-district president and local officers expected aid by the district officers, the machine sent to the local union a rubber stamp by the name of "Young" who informed the local union that he represented President Farrington, and attempted to have the local union drop the case against Dominick, finally threatening the local union that if it did expel Dominick the local union would be expelled.

Dominick realized that even in spite of the aid and connivance of his friend Farrington, "his name was Walker," and a rumor reaching him that the bonding house was after him, he hied to a garage, bought four new tires and left for parts unknown.

Accomplices in Crime

The district officials including Farrington, by their refusal to co-operate with the local union and sub-district officials, aided in every way the enemy of our union, even to the extent of openly supporting him at his trial, by the local union.

The Farrington push button, Nesbit, showed his friendship for the crooks by stating Thompson and Watt were "too god-damned" busy looking for something with which to put a feather in their hat," thereby showing the whole gang of fakers were lined up with the enemies of the union.

Machine Blind in One Eye

It is very noticeable that during the four years of auditing the books, the machine auditors could never find the discrepancy, but an investigation of Duncan McDonald's life membership disclosed the fact that during a lifetime membership, somehow, somewhere, he was behind $1.00 in dues, for which he was arbitrarily expelled from the union!

TOILERS JOBLESS, RAILROADS REAP HIGHEST PROFITS

By LELAND OLDS.
Federated Press.

With the highest cash dividends on record and net profits exceeding any year except 1916 and 1923, the 1924 statistics of 20 railroads give the lie to the propaganda for higher rates and lower wages. The 20 roads compose the group selected by Dow, Jones & Co. of Wall Street as a barometer for railroad investors.

The 1924 net profit of these 20 roads amounted to $347,022,000, or more than 10 per cent of the par value of their stock. They paid $209,745,000 in dividends giving the stockholders an average dividend of over six per cent. And this was in a year when a slump in business necessitated laying off thousands of workers on the railroads and in industrial plants.

Comparative figures for the profits and dividends of these railroads year by year since 1914 are:

Year	Profit	Rate Per Cent	Dividends	Rate Per Cent
1914	$231,045,000	7.27	$183,188,000	5.76
1915	284,803,000	7.42	171,003,000	5.40
1916	364,525,000	11.43	173,583,000	5.44
1917	346,645,000	10.83	186,474,000	5.79
1918	269,211,000	8.08	183,645,000	5.73
1919	281,118,000	8.69	179,683,000	5.55
1920	252,987,000	7.76	177,035,000	9.43
1921	302,378,000	6.17	170,835,000	5.31
1922	333,398,000	6.74	169,101,000	5.11
1923	374,400,000	11.09	185,515,000	5.56

In 11 years these 20 railroads have made a total of $3,117,439,000 an amount just about equal to their entire common stock in 1914. They have paid the owners of common $1,989,807,000 in cash dividends and have increased their undivided surplus profits from $1,124,461,000 or 35 per cent of their common stock to $2,417,868,000 representing about 70 per cent of the value of the stock.

Some of the higher dividends paid last year include Central Railroad of New Jersey 12 per cent, Union Pacific 10 per cent, Delaware and Hudson nine per cent, Atlantic Coast Line eight per cent, Norfolk & Western eight per cent, and Illinois Central, New York Central, Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis and New Orleans, Texas & Mexico each seven per cent.

Prospects for 1925 are rosy especially under the Coolidge administration whose entire influence is for larger profits. Says the Wall Street Journal: "Freight rates seem more likely to go up than down. The year's volume of business seems likely to about equal last year. Operating efficiency is at a high point, and equipment and property is in good condition comparatively."

The implication is that those who have excess incomes can secure a good return by investing in railroad stocks. But when the time comes to convince the public of the need of an increase in rates or a decrease in rail wages the press will be ordered to sing a different song.

MOSCOW, (By Mail)—The total extent of the interior waterways fit for navigation and timber-floating in the European and Asiatic parts of the U. S. S R. amounts to 226,404 kilometers, considerably exceeding the total extent of the waterways of all the countries of Europe.

The total goods traffic of the Russian waterways amounted in the pre-war period, in 1913, for instance, in the present territory of the Union, to 4,317,621 tons at the average speed of 727 kilometers.

Now on Increase

As a result of the world war and, later, the foreign intervention, the goods traffic fell in 1918 to 81,132 tons, but after that the said traffic progressed and developed in connection with the growth of industry and the progress of agriculture, and in the navigation season of 1924 it amounted to 21,261,260 tons (46 per cent) with the average speed of 512 kilometers, 12,000,000 passengers having been conveyed at that time. On all lines, newly repaired steamers are working.

Steamers Owned by State

All the fluvial fleet of the Soviet Union belongs to 8 state steam-companies, possessing altogether 2,252 steamers with a total power of 515,542 ind. p. and 4,052 ships of the barge type, with a total tonage of 3,101,835 tons.

The Volga State Steam Company possesses 54.8 per cent of the total power and 63.5 per cent of the tonnage. The rest falls to the share of the North, the High-Dnieper, the Low-Dnieper, the Don-Kuban, the West-Siberian and the Amur State Steam companies.

To Produce Standard Type

The general structure of the fleet has completely changed in the last years, if compared with the pre-war fleet. The steamers of the old type have entirely disappeared, the wooden petroleum fleet is also dying out, being replaced by the iron overshot barges. The fleet is in a very satisfactory condition. Its active part can serve a long time.

Considerable work has been done in the way of concentration of the ship-repairing workshops, whose number has been reduced from 123 to 84.

The next plan of fluvial ship-building is in the direction of producing a standard type of ships.

The year 1924 has given no deficit and the financial side of the fluvial navigation is in a very good condition.

BUILDERS AT WORK

JULY OFFERS BEST OPPORTUNITIES

Work on the Special Offers

The unusual opportunities that the special July offers make on both the DAILY WORKER and Communist books and pamphlets, should be greatly productive of some real Communist building.

During July, the special offer of those two Communist classics, STATE AND REVOLUTION by Nicolai Lenin, and THE THEORY AND PRACTICE OF LENINISM by I. Stalin AND a three month's subscription to the DAILY WORKER, all for $2.00 ($2.50 in Chicago), should be an inducement for every thinking worker to subscribe.

This offer combining these books of great educational value together with the DAILY WORKER is the very best offer that has yet been made.

For those who wish to subscribe the second and more modest offer of a two month's subscription for one dollar, should be further inducement.

With these advantages (good only until August 1!), every Communist or progressive worker has the opportunity to make his shop-mate a subscriber to the DAILY WORKER.

THE NEW ISSUE OF THE WORKERS MONTHLY IS OUT!

Another good and a very timely issue of the Workers Monthly is now on the newsstands and in the mails.

It seems that each month this only American English Communist magazine has been able not only to uphold the high standard it has set with its first numbers, but also that it has been able to add further features of both greater interest and importance. No better issue for important articles and splendid propaganda features has yet been issued.

INTERNATIONAL LABOR DEFENSE CALLS ON ALL ORGANIZATIONS TO MAKE RETURNS ON COUPONS SENT

The International Labor Defense, formed at the Chicago conference on June 28, has issued the following appeal to working class organizations which have been working with the Labor Defense Council and have received Defense Coupons, funds from which should be turned in at once for immediate needs:

TO ALL WORKING CLASS ORGANIZATIONS.

Dear Brothers: We wish to inform you of the great success of the Labor Defense Conference in forming a new, broad organization—the International Labor Defense. The Labor Defense Council has merged into the International Labor Defense and turned over its apparatus, etc., to it; but has been only able to turn over a few hundred dollars, because of the $4,000 expenses for the Pittsburgh and deportation cases, in the month of June.

We need not, of course, point out the immensely increased needs of the International Labor Defense for funds—to issue literature, membership supplies, etc., and at the same time to meet defense and prisoners' aid expenses, for ALL class-war defendants and prisoners.

About a month ago the Labor Defense Council sent $24.00 worth of Defense Coupons to many hundreds of workers' organizations in order to raise sufficient funds for the defense of the Pittsburgh case of Fred Merrick and nine others, and for such deportation cases as those of Vajtauer, Zinich, Kannasto, Lassen, Severino, Schedel, etc. These cases will along with many others, be handled in the future by the International Labor Defense. The workers must defend them, and the many others.

ALL WORKERS AND LABOR ORGANIZATIONS SHOULD DO THEIR UTMOST TO BUILD AND SUPPORT THE INTERNATIONAL LABOR DEFENSE.

COME TO ITS AID NOW, ESPECIALLY SINCE FUNDS ARE IMMEDIATELY AND BADLY NEEDED.

SELL AND BUY all of the coupons; take collections and RUSH THE REMITTANCES.

Yours for a powerful mass defense organization,

Fraternally yours,
INTERNATIONAL LABOR DEFENSE,
(Signed), James P. Cannon,
Executive Secretary.

Note: Make remittances payable to the International Labor Defense, 23 So. Lincoln St., Chicago, Ill., and address all communications to James P. Cannon, Secretary—same address.

More Lockouts In An Effort To Run Open Shop In Metal Trade

READING, Pa. July 6.—(FP)—Union stove mounters are locked out and the recently unionized stove filers and fitters are discharged by the Prizer-Painter Stove Co. of Reading because the filers and fitters asked for a 15 per cent pay raise and because the mounters would not scab on them after the dismissals. The company's wage for filers and fitters was 55 to 70 cents on hour. The prevailing wage elsewhere is 83 to $1.05 per hour.

Teacher Fights Dismissal

SECAUCUS, N. J.—(FP)—Helen Clarck, 22 year old teacher, plans to fight the action of the Secaucus board of education in suspending her because her landlad reported that she smoked cigarettes. The teacher claims that her ability in her profession has never been questioned and that charges against her are exaggerated.

'CONCILIATION' OF CAL A CURSE TO THE WORKERS

Department of Labor Breaks Cloth Strike

By WILLIAM SIMONS.
(Special to The Daily Worker)

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 6.—Several weeks have gone by since the strike of the weavers in the Salt's Textile Mfg. Co. was settled thru the intervention of the U. S. Department of Conciliation. According to the Federal Conciliator, it was a 100 per cent victory for the strikers. The strike was against the Deier unit system, a worker being required to turn out a certain amount of work, to get 62c an hour. Otherwise, 52c.

The strike settlement under which Miss Weinstock forced the workers back was as follows: In the South Shed, the unit system was to continue for two months, after which a vote would be taken by the workers involved on continuing or not with the system.

In the North Shed, the unit system was not to be introduced for a year, but at any time the company could take a vote in any trade or department on introducing it in that trade or department. A fake settlement. But it was pushed over.

Company Trickery.

Already, the company is showing its hand. It aims to show that some workers are able to make more money under the new system. Some workers received a premium, others none. One got $2.41 as premium in one day, and his record was posted on a bulletin board as an incentive for others.

According to this, he was turning out 17½ yards a day. But when workers asked the prize worker about it, he admitted that he didn't make that yardage. "I don't know anything about it myself," he replied.

The workers held a meeting Thursday night, and when the company was confronted with proof of their fraud, the officials gave the lame excuse: "It was a mistake."

According to an active worker, those in the South Shed are losing from $8 to $9 per week.

The company is planning to introduce a nightshift in the South Shed, with outside workers. The workers insist that the eight men laid off be taken back before any night shift is put on, if the company statement is true that they have more orders. While the Shelton strike was on, the company was recruiting workers from Shelton for the night shift.

Night Shift a Ruse.

But why the night shift? When looms are free during the day, and workers are to be had. To put over a vote favorable to the company, when the vote is taken in the near future, on the continuance of the Deier unit system. If all the men, will be on the job, the plan will undoubtedly be voted down.

But if the work is completed, the company can reduce its force in the South Shed to a minimum of loyal workers. A vote taken then would be in favor, and then other workers would be taken on, under the new system. On the day of the settlement, the writer warned some strikers against this scheme, but they were new to the game, and were roped in.

Active Worker Fired.

The company was to show no discrimination against any striker, but already, a young Italian, a day weaver, fixing piles, was fired. He is the one who before the strike, went to the management and inquired if the management was planning to put the system into the North Shed. For his daring, he has been discharged. It is hoped that the workers will take up his case, and demand his return.

The strikers are being told to do nothing until the two months period is up, when they can again call in the Federal Conciliator. By this time, they should realize that the conciliator has worked in the interests of the company and not in their interest. Now is the time to act.

Greetings, I. L. G. W. Members!

In the clash between the membership of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union and their reactionary officialdom which carries aloft the yellow banner of class collaboration and which marches side by side with the unspeakable Forward, the DAILY WORKER unhesitatingly takes the side of the membership, particularly of the outraged and betrayed membership of Locals 2, 9 and 22 in New York City.

The DAILY WORKER is not devoted to wanton attacks on union officials. When they perform their function of leading the membership along the lines of class struggle in the interests of the working class, they shall receive the complete support of the DAILY WORKER.

In the New York City joint board of the I. L. G. W. U., however, we have seen the most glaring example of the betrayal of the membership by the officials, the complete negation of the express purpose and function of unionism, and an amazing attempt to cover the crimes of the officials by expulsions of the leading groups of local union leaders.

The DAILY WORKER greets the members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, compliments them upon their staunch resistance to the Sigman-Perlstein-Feinberg machine, and pledges that its support will unwaveringly be given to the rank and file of the I. L. G. W. U. and all other unions of the workers.

A Naval Auxiliary

Coincident with the staging of naval maneuvers around the Hawaiian Islands, there was organized what is known as the Institute of Pacific Relations. Perhaps it is a coincidence that the leading light in this organization is Dr. Lyman Wilbur, president of Leland Standford University, brother of the secretary of the navy.

According to the press agents of this institute it was organized for the purpose of helping to maintian peace in the Pacific. Needless to say this is camouflage. The Institute of Pacific Relations is to the military and naval arms of the United States government what mud is to the cuttlefish. Between wars the capitalist powers are always sending up pacific smoke screens in order to feel their enemies.

There will be no peace in the Pacific or anywhere else so long as capitalism exists. It is generally agreed that the next great war will take place there. The object of the war maneuvers in Hawaii was a hehearsal for a war with Japan. But it may be a war with England. Nobody knows, not even the heads of the capitalist governments themselves.

Let nobody be fooled by the pacifist declarations of the imperialist powers. The more they talk of peace the harder they prepare for war.

The "Defense Test" went off like a dud. It didn't make any noise at all.

Rockefeller and the Baptists

The right wing of the Baptists, claim that John D. Rockefeller's money is raising the devil with the church. Who would expect it? Here is a man who represents the top notch of industrial reaction leading the forces of progress in the house of God.

Tut, tut, tut! Remember what we said about the so-called "monkey trial" in Dayton, Tennessee. The big industrialists have nothing to lose by polishing God up a little bit, giving him a clean shave and an oil shampoo and making him presentable. In fact the bloodthirsty creature who was so handy to the ruling classes of the dark ages, is now only a wart on the face of capitalist progress.

The masses may believe in a god looking for all the world like John D. Rockefeller Jr., but who would believe in a god that looks like William Jennings Bryan? We were told in our youth that God made man in his own image but it is quite evident today that man is making God after the image of the most stable of currencies and the highest industrial development.

It is not surprising to see John D. Rockefeller putting the Baptist church thru a delusing progress. What is known as modernism in the church does not interest us half as much as the strike of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers here in Chicago. We are more vitally interested in the persecution of the left wingers in the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union than we are in the trial of John Scopes in Dayton, Tennessee. But the Scopes' trial nevertheless shows that American capitalism has an immense reservoir of feudal ignorance from which it can replenish its forces in its war on the advancing workingclass.

The burglars who robbed St. Peter's in Rome seem to have made a good job of it. But the priests will pick the pockets of the workers a little more assiduously and quickly retrieve their losses. Or some more multi-millionaires will be handed new decorations as rewards for greater gifts.

Secretary of War Weeks is having just as difficult a time getting out of the Coolidge cabinet as did Daugherty, Denby and Fall. But the skidway is greased and he will no doubt make room very soon for some other fellow multi-millionaire.

Coolidge has joined John D. Rockefeller as a passer of thin dimes. The boys get something to buy candy with and the political faker gets big space in the "warm weather" departments of the daily press. Anything may happen during the dog days.

When French imperialism begins changing generals in Africa, it's only another indication that its outlook is turning from bad to worse on the southern shores of the Mediteranean.

The thunder clouds of the next world war get thicker and thicker. But when the lightning strikes it must mean the destruction of capitalist imperialism $300; American Labor Party, $105.; the Freie Arbeiter Stimme, a "revolutionary" organ, $300.; Jewish Socialist Verband, $200.; The Kropotkin Society, an anarchist organization, $200.; The Messenger, a socialist paper, $300. the National Socialist Party, $100.; the New Majority, $250.; the New York Call, $3,000.; The Rand School, $500. For the socialist campaign, $300; and in a long list of other conventions you will see that it is an established custom for the International to give financial support to anarchists, socialists, and other revolutionary organizations of all sorts, and the same organizations are also being supported by the various joint boards.

Never Considered Violation

Only recently the joint board has contributed the sum of $500. to a revolutionary Jewish paper in Poland somewhere.

If we would go over the records of our organization, we would find that organizations of such a nature have always been supported, not only by the International, by the joint boards, but also by each and every local union of the International, and it was never interpreted that these expenditures or donations are in violation of Secion 10 of Article 5 of the constitution.

It says here in Section 1 of Article 11, "Trial and appeals"—it reads as follows:

"Section 1. Except as elsewhere provided in this convention for automatic suspension or expulsion or for fixed fines or penalties, no member of the I. L. G. W. U. shall be fined, suspended, or expelled; no local union shall be reorganized or suspended, and no officer of the I. L. G. W. U. or of any joint board or district council or local union, shall be removed from office without proper notice of charges and a fair opportunity to be heard in defense; but an officer under charges, under Section 6 of this article, may be suspended by the executive board of his organization, the joint board or the general executive board,, pending trial."

Now let us see what Section 6 of this article says. It reads as follows:

"Section 6. Any elective or appointive officer of a local union, joint board, district council, or general executive board, may be removed from office for any violation of this constitution, or of the by-laws of the body of which he is an officer, or because of the commission of any act which may be calculated to impair the usefullness of the organization, or which is unbecoming to the dignity of the office held by him."

Article Does Not Apply

This article certainly does not apply to the members of the executive board of Local No. 2 First of all, I want the committee to understand that most of the members have nothing to do with the arranging of speakers for the May Day meeting. Even if that meeting impaired the usefullness of our organization, because the Times did not write a favorable report of the meeting, which is a very far-fetched thing to interpret an article in this way—the members of the executive board of Local 2 cannot be classed as the officers referred to in Section 6.

We have always known in the joint board that an officer does not mean an executive board member. An officer means a business agent, a manager, a vice-president, and a local manager. Executive board members are not classed as officers. They are simply called officers in this trial for the purpose of getting rid of them and for no other purpose.

It is known to everybody in the union that at the time when the joint board used to have "an executive session where only delegates of the joint board and officers are permitted to attend," the very same persons who are in this trial classed as officers were not permitted to be present at the meetings, because, it was said, only delegates to the joint board and officers of the union are permitted and executive board members of the local are not officers. They were not trusted to attend meetings of the joint board as officers. And so far as the expenditures upon which the charges in this trial are based, everyone knows that the executive board had nothing to do with incurring these expenses in their details. So far as checking the bills and personally seeing what kind of expenses are being made, this is only done by the officers committee which consists of three or four executive board members.

Accusations Are Ridiculous

Therefore, to make wholesale accusations against members of a board for a bill which is claimed to be not in accordance with the constitution of the International, is absurd and ridiculous. They might as well bring charges against the 12,000 members of Local 2, for having spent the money for a May Day meeting.

In conclusion, I want to say this on behalf of the members of the executive board of Local 2. We have not restricted the questions asked by the chairman of this committee, and we have permitted the committee to ask all sorts of questions that have absolutely nothing to do with the charges. Such questions as to whether they would have been in the committee, whether they would have engaged Olgin, or whether they have read this article or the other, and are of the opinion of this writer or another—these questions are entirely out of place. A man cannot be tried for what he would have done in a particular place and under particular circumstances which did not exist.

We have given the members of the committee an opportunity to ask such questions and permitted the defendants to answer, in order to bring out the entire ridiculousness of the whole charge, and to prove to this committee and to everybody, that the whole charge was not made in good faith, and the reason these people were suspended and their offices taken away in the middle of the night by force, that was because the entire case from beginning to end was not only contrary to the constitution of the International, but also contrary to all civilized laws. This has been done by people who claim to be high-standing citizens, who are the highest officials of the International, but under an impartial administration of the laws they would today be in jail as ordinary criminals who broke into private offices in the middle of the night and took away money and property of which others are the owners and trustees.

Shows Real Cause of Attack

We claim that the fights and the differences that we have had with the officers of the joint board and of the International, who are the bosses of the "International machine," are the real cause of these charges being brought, and not the May Day meeting. These officers have looked long since for an excuse to get rid of us because we are their strongest opponents concerning questions of policy affecting labor and agreements with the manufacturers.

One year and a half ago, the general executive board adopted a revolutionary program, known as the "ten commandments"—the way they have styled it in their own organs. These demands were of a fundamentally revolutionary character. The general officers paraded amongst the members of the union as the real revolutionists, because, they said: "Here is such a program as no union has ever before submitted to the employers, and we are going to demand this, and we are going to strike as long and as hard as in 1910, until we are going to get each and every one of our demands."

These same leaders who assure the workers that they will let their hands be cut off before they will sign an agreement without any of these demands being granted—these same leaders have submitted all of the demands to a commission appointed by Governor Smith. The union has promised to abide by the decision of this commission at a time when the manufacturers of all associations said that they would not submit to any ruling of an arbitrator but would come to the hearings simply to listen and to bring out some of the facts of the industry.

Joint Board Disregards Advice

As it is known to everybody, an agreement was reached by the suggestion and recommendation of the commission, and not one of the important points of the 10 demands was incorporated in the agreement. Nevertheless, the union accepted it, but after the agreement was signed and everything peacefully settled, the strike was called all the same by the international officials. We at that time opposed the calling of such a make-believe strike. We argued that it is useless and a waste of time and money to call a so-called stoppage at a time when an agreement has been reached with all the associations in the industry. But our voice was disregarded as usual by the joint board which is constituted by a majority of locals who represent a minority of the members, because each local, whether it has 200 members or 15,000 members, they have the same number of delegates, five—and so when the large locals come with their demands, altho they represent a majority of the members, they are out-voted by the numerous locals who represent a minority of the members, and so it was in this case.

The stoppage was called. Hundreds of thousands of dollars were spent, a report on which was never given to the members and never made public yet. When the union had emptied out its treasury and become indebted to the extent of hundreds of thousands of dollars, the leaders came then with a recommendation to increase the dues from 35c a week to 50 a week, and to levy a new tax of $20. We opposed the tax as well as the raising of the dues, but nevertheless, at the joint board meeting, by a majority of delegates representing a small minority of the members, they have increased the dues in spite of our protests, of the protests of the representatives of the greates number of the workers, and they went so far as even to rule that these recommendations to raise the dues were not to be submitted to he majorly vote of the locals for approval.

Consitution Is Disregarded

This was absolutely in contradiction to the consitution of the joint board, which says all the minutes of the joint board shall be submitted to the locals for approval. We have challenged their right to disregard their own constitution. When they had a committee or a majority of delegates, they can very easily afford to overlook the constitution at such a time, as they did on all other occasions. We have then refused to carry out their decision to raise the dues, and we have challenged the right of the joint board to the general executive board.

The general executive board answered us that the joint board in their opinion acted legally, and that they are helpless to do anything at present, but they have promised us that at the next convention they will recommend that this part of the constitution which should be so interpreted, shall be amended, because they themselves did not think at that time that the constitution will be liable to such interpretation, and that even the editor of Justice wrote that he did not know that the constitution gave them such rights to raise the dues without the consent of the members.

We contend that the general executive board could not reverse the decision of the joint board because they were faced with an accomplished fact, the 50c dues being in effect, and because the leaders of the joint board are the same as the leaders of the general executive board of the International, and they could not very well speak here for raising the dues and vote there against it.

Every impartial man that will read this constitution of the International, where it says that a majority of delegates representing a majority of locals can decide the minimum dues to be paid by different locals, it cannot be interpreted that this means when the Joint board has a constitution that provides that the minutes of the joint board shall be submitted for the approval of the majority of the locals, that because the constitution says the delegates shall have the right to raise dues that this means they are absolved from the requirement to submit all their actions, according to the constitution of the joint board, to the majority of the locals for approval.

We therefore contend that this was an absolute violation of the constitution of the joint board, but, nevertheless, as law-abiding members, altho we knew that the leaders are wrong, we abided by the decision, and we have charged the 50 cent dues. But some of the locals decided that they shall pay sick benefit for the same 50 cents, to give the members some benefit for the greater dues, and Local 22, which had a tax for sick benefit payments has declared that in the future it will not levy this extra tax but that the members shall receive sick benefit from the 50 cents dues.

We have also as yet not collected the $2.50 tax levied by the International, and it was specifically stated by Brother Baroff, the general secretary-treasurer of the International, that due to the rebellious attitude of the three locals, Nos. 2, 9, and 22, in their refusal to collect the tax, is responsible for the depleted condition of the treasury of the International, and their inability to collect this tax.

Discusses Increase in Dues

Brother Baroff stated that he himself went to his Local No. 22, and the clerk said the executive board ordered not to collect this tax, and there it was decided to bring charges against Local 22 as well as the others of the three locals. The reason that they do not want to state that these are the charges is very obvious to everyone. It is very easy for them to get public sympathy, and the sympathy of some of the members, by accusing the executives and officers of the locals with being Communists even though they themselves know this is not true, whereas it would be a great difficulty for them to get such sympathy should they charge us with not raising dues, with not levying taxes.

Local 9 has been brought on charges some months ago for refusing to increase dues quickly enough. We had a meeting before a committee of the general executive board, of which vice-president Peristein was the chairman. After grilling us for several hours, trying to make us believe that we are the greatest criminals, that we have violated the constitution of the International, the orders of the International and the joint board, we have not heard from them nor of their decision; that is because they would not dare to bring out the real charges. [illegible] they have made a fake, and they try to make the world believe that the reason they are fighting us is because they are conservatives and we are ultra-revolutionists.

Only a minority of us are members of the Workers Party. The Workers Party is a legal party. When the officials want to make you believe that members of the W. P. cannot hold office in the union, they know that they are not telling the truth. They themselves knew the program of the Workers Party. They knew that these members were also members of the Workers Party. They allowed them to go on the ballot in the local elections. Nothing has been changed in the last few weeks since these people have been elected by the greatest majority in the history of our union, and with the permission of the officials, knowing that some of these members are members of the Workers Party, and that they cannot prove that they did anything except calling the May Day meeting, and this is not a crime against the union.

Trial Committee not Open-Minded

We have during the course of this trial, stated that we did not believe that this committee is open-minded, we do not believe that its members are free to give a verdict in accordance with their belief. Thru the fact that they have been selected by those who brought the charges they will do and act the way they will be instructed from them. They cannot do otherwise. They have never before done otherwise.

We have therefore requested from the beginning, that since you have branded us as Communists, union-breakers, and what-not, we have challenged you that you should also come out before the whole world where you have published your statements, and show what you have against us, and not conduct the trial in star-chamber proceedings where the chairman of this committee should be able to tell me that I "can talk to the wall," that he "will do the way he pleases" no matter whether his conduct is in accordance with accepted rules or with the constitution of the International. If you will look over the record you will see the rulings of this chairman in the entire trial, and you will readily see that from the very start the object of this chairman was not to find out the truth, that his conduct and his questions show that his was not the work of an impartial judge who is ready to listen to both sides and then give out a verdict.

That is shown from the very beginning, his partiality, that he is interested in one side, and that he wanted to bring out answers from the witnesses that will incriminate them, questions that were absolutely irrelevant, that had nothing to do with the case. I did not object to these questions because I know that these members on trial here are so much in the right that you have absolutely nothing against them. The fake charge of calling the May Day meeting is, on the face of it, so absurd and ridiculous that it is condemned not only by our membership but by every liberal and progressive-thinking man in the entire country, and in every country thruout the world.

FIGHT FOR CLASS STRUGGLE IN I. L. G. W. SAME AS IN ALL UNIONS SAYS T. U. E. L. STATEMENT

The National Committee of the Trade Union Educational League today issued a statement regarding the struggle going on in the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union and expressing the viewpoint of the T. U. E. L. toward both sides of the contending factions. It reads as follows:

* * * *

THE attempt by the reactionary machine of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union to expel the whole executives of Locals 2, 9 and 22 in New York City is but one of many onslaughts being made against the left wing in the American labor movement. Everywhere the membership of the unions, driven by conditions into the class struggle with their employers, find that the union bureaucracy, instead of leading the struggle for them and against the bosses, is betraying their interests and fighting against the membership and lining up with the bosses to "clean out the reds."

Everyone knows that the charge made against the executive of Locals 2, 9 and 22, that they committed a crime by having Communist speakers at their May Day meetings, are pure fakes, trumped up merely to prevent the militant membership of these locals, comprising 60 per cent of the New York City membership, from having their rightful control of the their own affairs in their own union.

And why does the Sigman-Peristein-Feinberg machine wish to prevent the 30,000 members of Locals 2, 9 and 22 from controlling those locals? Is it not clear that the machine has a totally different point of view than the membership? The workers of Locals 2, 9 and 22 want a policy of militant class struggle against the bosses. The machine wants no struggle but "peace" and class collaboration. The machine wants no demands or but slight demands upon the bosses. The workers want as much as their power can bring them.

It is the old struggle of the workers fighting against betrayal; the old fight between the workers who wish and who must fight, and the traitorous officials who try to prevent them.

The workers use their union to fight with. It is their instrument of struggle. The officials try to constrain the union into a mere collection of dues-paying, whose labor power they sell as merchandise. To the official bureaucracy, the members are but slaves to be sold on the block in the open market. The members have no rights to think or speak or act for themselves, no voice in or control over the union, no right to approve or reject the terms of their servitude.

The battle against such a slavish position is the highest duty of every union member. The suspension by the I. L. G. W. machine of the executives of Locals 2, 9 and 22, proves beyond question that these local executives have been faithful to the trust of the membership and are loyally leading the membership in the right direction—the way of class struggle. It proves also that the machine is so fearful of conscientious leaders arising to challenge their corrupt control of the I. L. G. W., that they are trying to choke of this expression of the membership by expulsions.

The berayal to arbitration compromises, the cheating of representation of the big membership in the joint board, the vanishing funds of the organization, the arbitrary raising of dues, the struggle to lay violent hands on the local treasuries, the failure to enforce existing agreements, the abandonment of the workers' demands, the fight to control the next convention—in a word the fight between the workers in the shops and the bosses and their agents in control of the union machinery—these are the issues in the New York organization. The ridiculous charges about first of May meetings and such trivial things are fake charges and are recognized as such by every worker.

In this struggle the final victory can belong to the workers, who will drive the traitors out fo their ranks and march forward with determined spirit to militant leadership, to fighting policies, and to amalgamation with other needle trades unions and under the banner of class struggle to the free society of the future.

NATIONAL COMMITTEE,
Trade Union Educational League.
—Wm. Z. Foster, Secretary-Treas.

WHERE DO YOU STAND?

LOW WAGES and long hours of toil are steadily haunting the workers. The eight-hour day is history. Millions of workers are walking the streets in the vain search of a job. Workers who still have a job live in constant fear that they will be laid off tomorrow.

In face of this situation, the labor leaders are practising class-collaboration instead of striving to unite the workers in the struggle against the bosses.

In strikes and lockouts the capitalist class is using its political power—the government to suppress the workers.

DO YOU WANT TO FIGHT THESE DAILY AGGRESSIONS MADE AGAINST THE WORKERS?

DO YOU WANT TO FIGHT WAGE CUTS, OPEN SHOP DRIVES AND UNION SMASHING CAMPAIGNS?

ARE YOU FOR THE STRUGGLE VERSUS CLASS-COLLABORATION?

DO YOU WANT TO DESTROY THE BLOOD-SUCKING CAPITALIST SYSTEM AND ALL ITS INSTRUMENTS OF OPPRESSION THAT ARE USED AGAINST THE WORKERS?

DO YOU WANT A WORKERS' PRESS TO HELP YOU CARRY ON YOUR FIGHT AGAINST THE BOSS CLASS?

ROUSE LABOR AGAINST NEW WAR

Struck Garment Boss Asks Writ from Judge Sullivan

The strike of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers against the International Tailoring Company and its associated firm, the J. L. Taylor Company, proceeds with vigor and determination in effectively shutting off scabs, even from the "United Garment" gang of George C. Slater, which pretends to be a union.

The I. T. C. is, therefore, applying for an injunction before Judge Sullivan, famous for anti-labor injunctions and the judge who issued the injunction last year against the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union.

At the meeting of strikers Monday it was reported that the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Union would fight against the injunction and the membership gave evidence it would be ready to battle the injunction menace by mass violation if necessary.

Pickets Are on the Job.

Despite the terrific heat Monday, all the pickets were on the job early and late. The police tried at first to drive the pickets from the shop side of the street to the opposite side, but the strikers put up such a battle that the attempt to bar them off the shop side was abandoned after fifteen minutes of struggle.

Fighting for Their Union.

In speaking to strikers, the DAILY WORKER reporter found that there is a uniform determination to win the strike at all costs, as the workers understand that if the strike were to be lost it would injure the union nationally and rob the clothing workers of the protection it has given them and the benefits of unionism. It is a fight to maintain the union and they will stand by to battle unto the end.

They seem to be in fair way of winning, too, since in place of the 800 workers who struck, the I. T. C. has only 22 scabs left of the United Garment brand. The big ads in the Chicago papers haven't helped, neither have the United Garment scabs been plentiful enuf.

New Trick Tried.

New tricks are being pulled to get the scabs home past the pickets. Monday evening the company furnished private autos, (since the Yellow taxis became afraid of their plate glass) and the scabs accompanied by plainclothes police tried to slip out among the crowds. Many weer spotted of course and before riding away under guard of motor cycle cops were talked to by strikers.

As a result, four strikers were arrested Monday evening and one on Tuesday morning.

All Eyes on Chicago Strike.

Jack Crow, general organizer, in addressing the meeting of strikers, told how and why the members had whipped the United Garment gang in 1910. He said that the workers in the entire garment industry look to Chicago to stand firmly for the union against open shop and scab unions. He remarked that strikes are won or lost on the picket line, and because the Chicago members are sticking like glue on the picket line, the strike should be won before long.

The Amalgamated Clothing Workers did not ask any more for its members from the I. T. C. than from any other union, Crow stated, but the company of its own volition decided to use the scabby "United." The scabs have no right to the job and it is up to the strikers to see that they don't get the jobs.

RED UNIONS OF ALL EUROPE TO SEND FUNDS TO CHINESE STRIKE; BIG DEMONSTRATION IN MOSCOW

(Special to The Daily Worker)

MOSCOW, June 16.—(By Mail.)—The Red International Labor Unions handed over 50 francs for the benefit of the strikes from the C. G. T. U. in France and 50,000 Czecho crowns from the All-Trade Union League of Czecho-Slovakia. It is reported from all parts of Russia that workers and officials are devoting a high percentage of their wages for the strikers in China.

Chinese students of the Moscow high schools, Send Katayama (Japan), Brown (England) and Felix Kohn (R. K. P.) spoke in a mass meeting arranged by the Chinese colony in Moscow.

The Chinese greeted with stormy applause the declaration of Brown that the English proletariat understood its international duty and that for the first time in history of its movement it had undertaken an organized protest action against English imperialism. Brown further declared that the Chinese people could rely upon the support of the international proletraiat.

In a letter of greetings to the Soviet government as the only government without imperialist aims, the meeting of the Chinese colony expressed the hope that the Soviet Union would extend its greatest support to the struggle for freedom in China.

An appeal issued to the toilers of all [illegible] described the situation in [illegible] for help, particularly for the rejection of munition transport.

In a letter directed to the British consul in Moscow, the Chinese colony declared that the Chinese will no longer tolerate imperialist arbitrariness and demanded the complete fulfilment of the demands set up by the Chinese organizations. A similar protest was sent to the Japanese representative.

After the close of the meeting the participants arranged a demonstration, which marched past the buildings of the foreign diplomatic representatives.

CROWDS HEAR N. Y. REDS EXPOSE IMPERIALISTS

Socialists Routed by the Workers Party

NEW YORK, July 7—A successful demonstration as a part of the Anti-Imperialist Week Celebration was held at 163 St. and Prospect Ave., under the auspices of the Workers (Communist) Party.

Several hundred workers listened attentively for three hours as speaker after speaker drove home their points about world imperialism, and American imperialism in particular. They enthusiastically applauded every reference to Soviet Russia, the Communist International and the mention of the names of Crouch and Trumbull who were cited as victims of the brutality of American capitalism.

Socialists Routed.

After Sylvan A. Pollack, the first speaker had been addressing the meeting for about ten minutes a competition meeting was started across the street by the socialist party with August Claussens, their star soap-boxer and comedian—extraordinary as their speaker.

After talkng for a few minutes and seeing that he could not win the crowd, he vacated the platform to one of his lesser satellites who spoke to a crowd consisting of his committee, six people and a stray cat.

Meanwhile, the Workers Party meeting was progressing successfully with speeches by Sam Darcy, Joseph J. Padug and Israel Amter. A few remarks was also made by Comrade Tysze of the Kuo Min Tang.

Even Cat Annoyed.

When Comrade Amter, who was the last speaker of the evening was on the platform, Claessens once again attempted to speak and win the Workers Party crowd, but instead found that he lost three of his six people, and even the cat seemed annoyed. Therefore, without much ado, he closed up shop, making it a clear victory for the Workers Party speaking battalion.

One of the socialists asked Comrade Amter, about political prisoners in Russia to which he replied in a manner which drew applause from the crowd and showed in no uncertain terms how those assembled felt about the matter.

CAL WILL NOT WRITE KLAN TO DECLINE INVITE

Afraid to Take Stand Against Terrorists

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 7.—President Coolidge has refused to take a stand against the ku klux klan, and will not answer letters to him asking him to decline the klan invitation to address the national convention at Washington in August.

Neither will he answer the letter of the klan to decline the invitation.

Rum runners were operating within sight of the president's summer home today.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The American Institute of Architects today continued its campaign to prevent the interior of the White House from being decorated in early American style.

A letter written by Theodore Roosevelt has been sent to President Coolidge to back up the institute's plea to have the present French empire style retained.

In this letter, written by Roosevelt in 1908, to Cass Gilbert, then President of the Institute, the interior decorations of the White House were described as "ideal," and Roosevelt recommended that they be left unchanged.

President Coolidge is understood to have approved the chance to early American furnishings and $50,000 has been appropriated by Congress to start the work, which is now under way.

Two Workers Killed While Employed on Ancient "L" Lines

One man was killed and another probably fatally injured in two accidents on elevated structures today.

Benjamin Boverd, a painter working on the "L" structure near Diversey station, was killed when run over by a train. Robert Van Dell, 19, likewise at work painting the structure, was probably fatally injured when he was crushed between two trains at the curve near Sheridan Road station.

Tents For Evicted Miners' Families Given Out In W. Va.

WHEELING, W. Va., July 7.—Tents are being distributed to striking miners who have been evicted from houses owned by coal companies in the Panhandle field of West Virginia. William Roy, Vice President of the Ohio district United Mine Workers, said today. Plans are being formulated to extend substantial help to the strikers, he added.

Norris Refuses to Accept LaFollette Progressive Mantle

WASHINGTON, July 7.— Senator George W. Norris (Rep.) of Nebraska, announced today thru his office here that he did not propose to assume the leadership of the third party as the successor of the late Senator Robert M. La Follette.

I. L. G. W. U. RANK AND FILE READY FOR BIG TURNOUT

Expect 50,000 to Join Big Demonstration

(Special to the DAILY WORKER.)

NEW YORK CITY, July 7.— The membership of the Interntional Ladies' Garment Workers' Union of New York City is filled with enthusiasm in support of the giant demonstration in the Yankee Stadium to be held Thursday after work.

The reactionary officials of the Internation Ladies Garment Workers' Union are seemingly paralyzed with fear at the masses of workers flocking to the support of the suspended executives of Locals 2, 9 and 22.

Plaster Up New York City.

The whole of New York City is plastered with bills and stickers which thousands of zealous workers of the I. L. G. W. have distributed and posted up on every space to make sure that the whole membership of the New York I. L. G. W., some 40,000 or 50,000 men and women, will turn out.

Shop meetings are announcing that the workers of the shops will go to the meeting in trucks carrying the banners of their shops.

Challenge Sigman Regime.

The committee of action of the three locals, has issued a challenge to Sigman, Feinberg, and Perlstein to come to the meeting and tell the workers their side of the case face to face.

The slogans of the meetings are given as they spring from the hearts of the workers themselves:

"Down with Sigman and company.

"Organize shop committees to protect workers in the shops.

"Enforce the Dressmakers' agreement.

"No acceptance of the governor's commission award which overrules the workers' demands.

"Agreements signed by present joint board are invalid.

"Raise defense funds from every shop.

"Unity of the International and amalgamtion of all needle trades unions.

Scare Governor's Commission.

The veritable revolution going on in the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union is evidently having some impression upon the powers that be. Yesterday the governor's commission announced that its decision would be made public on Wednesday.

Last week, it announced that many issues will be laid over for "further study."

There are rumors afloat to the effect that all adverse decisions of the commission will be withheld and some concessions will be granted. If so, the membership revolt against Sigman's betrayal will have caused this change.

Delay Tax Publicity Returns.

WASHINGTON, July 7—The bureau of internal revenue announced today that 1924 income tax returns would be made public about Sept 1. It was originally planned to make the returns public August 1, but administrative work in connection with getting out the lists will require a month's delay, bureau officials said.

STREET CARMEN TIE UP DES MOINES IN A FIGHT ON OPEN SHOP

(Special to The Daily Worker.)

DES MOINES, Iowa, July 7—The full force of the street car men's union of this city is out on strike and has tied up all service since last Saturday.

The cause of the strike is the refusal of the company to pay the amount of money to the union check off for the first half of June, refusal to discharge a scab named Cooper when requested to do so by the union, and the expected installation of the one man car service.

The workers are standing solidly for a full victory, recognizing that if the union loses they will suffer the results of the open shop, reduced wages, unemployment and general worsening of conditions.

Every hour the diplomats of the great capitalist imperialist nations are pushing the working masses nearer the charnel pit of a new world war. World imperialism, sensing the end of its reign, hoping to retrieve its control over the exploited masses of oppressed nationalities and the sweated proletariat in the home countries, is raising the cry "War Upon Soviet Russia," threatening a new war in the hope of crushing the Workers' and Peasants' Soviet Government by force of arms.

Simultaneously, the rival interests of these imperialist robber powers, sets one group of imperialist powers against the other. Unmistakeable signs of approaching war between Japan, allied to Britain, and the United States, grow more menacing every hour.

Hypocritically, the United States government, makes the gesture of proposing a conference to aid China to abolish extra-territoriality at the very hour when American marines are shooting down Chinese workers on Chinese soil.

Actually, the American proposal is a declaration of war upon the status quo of Japan's and England's imperialist interests in China. Actually, American imperialism, fully as brutal and rapacious as any other, merely pretends to favor China's right of sovereignity, hoping to displace Japan and England in the Chinese field of imperialist exploitation.

The workers of the United States and of the world stand before the yawning gulf of war. The capitalist imperialist powers aim to crush the Soviet Union in blood and put an end to the Soviet Power of workers and peasants whose very existence undermines their rule. The capitalist imperialist powers will not take their fangs from off the throat of oppressed China until those fangs are broken. They intend to war upon Soviet Russia and upon China at the same time.

In this situation, the Workers (Communist) Party of America has taken the lead in arousing the protest of America's exploited masses. Yesterday the Central Executive Committee sent to 150 cities the following telegram, calling for action:

"TO ALL CITY CENTRAL COMMITTEES:

"The Central Executive Committee instructs, in view of serious International developments, that all city organizations arrange mass meetings under the slogans within the next week or ten days.

"Wire National Office date and hall location of your meeting and speaker will be assigned.

"All city organizations must also take immediate steps to form united front organizations under same slogans. Introduce resolutions in trade unions along same lines.

"WM. Z. FOSTER, Chairman "C. E. RUTHENBERG, Executive Secretary."

ABROGATION OF TREATIES IS DEMANDED

No Revision, But New Treaties, Chinese Cry

SHANGHAI, July 7—A nation-wide campaign urging immediate cancellation of all foreign treaties is apparently gaining force.

Scores of Chinese organizations in Shanghai today sent messages to Tuan Chi Jui, chief executive in Peking, advising against any negotiations with the foreign powers on the revision of the present treaties and asking the president to issue a mandate abrogating all present treaties. Negotiations would then be started for new treaties on a basis of complete equality, according to this plan.

100,000 More on Strike.

The strike situation has grown deeper instead of easing up. The white guard foreign "volunteers" have been exhausted with the unusual, to them, manual labor of firing the power house on which the power for all the Shanghai mills depend. They, too, have "gone on strike" from inability to stand the gaff of long hours in the terrible heat at hard labor. Perhaps they now dimly realize what the Chinese work men have been standing as a regular thing. Anyhow, the failure of power will close down many Chinese owned factories which were running up to the present, and add 100,000 to the ranks of the strikers.

There is, in addition, the reason advanced by some, that the imperialist powers are, by closing the power down and forcing the Chinese factory owners to share the losses due to the strike, trying to divide the Chinese population and set the capitalists against the working class strike leaders.

United States "Altruistically" Murders a Chinese.

No action has even been started against the United States marine who, yesterday, shot down an unarmed worker who, with others, was taking part in a demonstration on the street.

The only court action of interest is the protested "trial" before the foreign imperialists' "international mixed court" of Z. Dosser, a representa-

THREE NATIONS PLOT WAR UPON SOVIET RUSSIA

Count on U. S. Cooperation When Begun

(Special to The Daily Worker)

LONDON, July 7.—A secret conference between the governments of England, France and Japan have agreed, according to information given by unquoted officials, to prepare for a concerted attack of capitalist nations upon Soviet Russia.

England and France, according to the report, will lead the war by their own arms in cooperation with their puppet nations on the Soviet border.

The United States was not brought into the conference, not that Britain, the inciter of the conspiracy, thinks that America reluctant to war on Soviet Russia, but because the United States would be opposed to granting Japan a free hand to make war upon China to suppress the movement for national liberation—a grant made by France and England to obtain Japan's aid in shutting off Soviet Russia from the east and seizing the maritime territory.

Believe U. S. Will Join.

The three powers agreed to take action against Soviet Russia and Young China at the same time, without consulting the United States, believing that once war is begun upon Soviet Russia, the American bankers and government will lend it financial support and military and naval expeditionary forces, in spite of the quarrel between Japan and America for dominance in China.

ALLIES FIGHT TO CONTROL THE TANGIER ZONE

Riffians Continue to Push Back French

LONDON, England, July 7—Great Britain will refuse the request of the Spanish government that England aid the blockade of Morocco established by France and Spain, on the ground that "British interests have not as yet been endangered," it is said in official circles here.

To Rush Troops to Tangier.

However, the Baldwin government is already preparing to rush troops to Tangier, not to crush Abd-el-Krim's followers, but to prevent the Spanish from taking military control of the international zone.

The Moroccans have made the international zone, ruled under agreement by Spain, France and England, their base for securing food supplies and arms. The natives are favorable to the Riffians, and have already held huge demonstrations against the government.

England is determined to prevent the Spanish government from establishing a stronghold on the straits of Gibralter to menace England's fortress there.

Austen Chamberlain, when asked in the house of commons to permit debate on the Moroccan situation, refused to guarantee that troops would not be sent to Tangier.

PARIS, France, July 7—After several generals had refused to accept the difficult task of battling the Riffians, an almost unknown general, Stanislas Naulin, accepted the command of the invading army.

The Riffians have captured Taza and cut the main railway across Morocco and Algeria, a dispatch to the Communist newspaper L'Humanite which was later confirmed, states.

DELEGATION OF BRITISH TRADE UNION WOMEN IN RUSSIA MAKE STATEMENT FAVORING SOVIETS

MOSCOW, June 18.—(By Mail.)—The delegation of British Trade Union Women which is already six weeks in the Soviet Union, has so far visited Leningrad, Moscow and Kharkov, the coal district of the Donets, the Workers' Sanatoriums in the Crimea, and Rostov-on-Don, the North Caucasus, the naphtha fields in Grozny and Baku.

The delegation is at present in Tiflis, from where it will return thru Moscow to London. The Women's Delegation made a careful study of the condition of the workers, especially that of the women workers, and has collected rich material. Everywhere the delegation was greeted with enthusiasm by the workers.

Today the delegation was present at the enlarged plenum of the Georgian Trade Union council, where a member of the delegation, Bridge, declared among other things:

"If there were any doubts in our minds on our way to the Soviet Republics, our exhaustive study of the true position of the workers, the trade union movement and of the economic situation, has given us the deepest and firmest conviction that the proletariat in this country has made enormous acquisitions.

"We have not yet returned to England, and yet we are already being attacked at home. But we will be courageous enough to tell the whole truth unreservedly about the situation in the Soviet Union, and to destroy the base calumnies. We are not at all embarrassed when we are called Bolsheviks. The British proletariat will stand shoulder to shoulder with the Russian working class."

The other members of the delegation spoke in the same spirit. Mary Quail, head of the delegation, said the following in connection with the recent statement made by the British minister of the interior, Mr. Hicks, to the effect that the British Trade Union movement was being financed by Russia:

"I am not a member of the British Trade Union Minority movement, and I do not know whether the leaders of the minority are sending reports to Moscow. But even if it were so, it is none of Hicks' business. The evolution of the British Trade Unions is natural and can be prevented by nothing. Knowing the British trade union movement well, I declare Mr. Hicks' statement in regard to the financing of this movement by Moscow, to be a base lie. The British Trade Unions are a thousand times more justified in accusing the British government of financing military expeditions against Soviet Russia.

"The British government has spent many times more for these expeditions than the Soviet Trade Unions would be able to offer to the British trade union movement, even if that were the case. Statements of the kind made by Hicks can only strengthen the British labor movement."

The British Women's Delegation is planning, upon its return to issue a big report on the Soviet Union, particularly on the position of the women in Russia.

Put Anti-Evolutionists in Jury Box

Decision Blow to Defense.

The decision actually was a blow to Scopes' defense. His attorneys were caugt with their principal witnesses unsummoned and spent the forenoon sending frantic telegrams to a dozen prominent scientists, urging them to appear here Friday. In addition, their failure to carry the case into a federal court robbed them of the use of subpoenas and all their witnesses must be obtained thru "volunteers." As each scientist to take the stand must face a scathing cross examination at the hands of William Jennings Bryan and other prosecuting attorneys, it was said, but few have accepted the defense's invitation.

Much speculation was rife here as to the future attitude of Clarence Darrow and Bainbridge Colby toward the case. The defense announced that both attorneys would appear on the scene within 48 hours, but rumors persisted that both might be missing when the case is called for trial.

Make Up Jury.

The countryside meanwhile announced itself satisfied with the handpicked jury panel, personally chosen by Rhea county's sixteen justices of the peace under the existing archaic legal system.

With both the state and defense limited to three peremptory challenges apiece, it was generally believed the Scopes jury would be chosen from the first panel. There was also a feeling that the panel favored the prosecution because a great majority of the talesmen are stout church members. In fact, one, J. M. Hinds, of Grandview, is a baptist preacher, while another, E. C. Byron, of Dayton, is a Sunday school superintendent. The panel includes twelve methodists, nine baptists, three presbyterians, one christ church member, one seventh day adventist, all of whom have been regular attendants of their respective churches, and three talismen, whose church affiliations were not known.

Jury Favors Prosecution.

"I am perfectly content to rest my case in their hands," said Walter White, county superintendent of schools who is Scopes' prosecutor.

Businessmen in the Cumberland Hill towns, and veteran farmers dominated the panel. There were 14 farmers and three fruit growers, including E. W. Hall, secretary of the Rhea County Farmers' Union, in the 29 chosen. There were seven merchants.

MOREY SHOP WET FLOORS EXPOSES MEN TO DISEASE

Daily Worker Exposure Gets Big Welcome

NOTE:—With this article came the following: "Fifty copies of the DAILY WORKER containing the first article, were sold to the shop fellows and most of the boys said 'that's the stuff' and 'we'll keep right on until we succeed in our efforts'."

By Worker Correspondent.

ASTORIA, L. I., July 7.—In my second article on working conditions in the Morey Company Machine Shop, I will take up the question of what we workers can gain in the way of better conditions in that shop thru organization.

Sweat Shop Conditions.

Let us consider our shop problems, fellow workers. Does our boss treat us like men living in the twentieth century? In the few minutes we have for eating our lunch, we cannot even find a bench to sit on, there is so much dirt and grease and parts of machinery are strewn all around the place. The slimy wet floor that we stand on all day exposes us all to rheumatism. For the privilege to work for a miserably low wage we are exposed daily to disease.

For being loyal suckers, our boss, Mr. Himoff, pays to a few wages a little higher than to the rest of us, but these few must realize that the more they scheme to bury us the deeper they sink too. By keeping us down they set the same pace for themselves. They will gain more by standing by us. Remember, fellow workers, that a man who is a traitor to his class is at the same time a traitor to himself.

I am addressing myself to those poor fellows who have fallen into the trap of hoping to help themselves by standing on the backs of their fellow workers. I still believe they will join with us when they understand the folly of their doings. But if they continue we will not spare them.

Organization's First Task.

Some workers, good, honest, sincere men use the argument that since this place is not a steady place, and with so many suckers around, it is impossible to organize. I say that is wrong. Wherever men work for a living, they should be organized for that is their only protection against the greed of the boss.

Our wages are so poor we barely make a living. Yet I can safely say without exaggeration that our boss makes 70 per cent profit on every machine that is turned out. In the face of such facts, why do we hesitate to demand better conditions and higher wages?

Mr. Himoff drives us so successfully that we have not even taken a moment to stop to figure out what this rushing is getting for us. If we stand together we have nothing to lose in our fight for better conditions. Jobs like this one we can always find. Our task as workers is to unite to better our conditions in the shop where we work no matter where it is.

Time to Act.

Up to the present we have shown that we are together in sympathy, but words will not get us anything—we must combine this sympathetic understanding with action and we will succeed.

A meeting of our shop will be called in the near future and we must all attend. We will get together to lay our plans for organization. Every worker in the shop will be invited. A notice of this meeting will be printed in the DAILY WORKER.

Each and every man of the Morey Company shop should be a reader of the DAILY WORKER, the only newspaper in the English language in the United States that fights for the liberation of the working class. You will begin to understand the role of a worker in society when you read this paper. You spend your good money for which you have worked so hard on newspapers that help the bosses exploit workers. You should use that money for the paper that voices your struggles. Every word in that paper is devoted to your interests.

Watch for the call of the meeting in our paper, the DAILY WORKER.

JEWISH BRANCH NO. 7, PHILADELPHIA, ADOPTS GITLOW RESOLUTION

China Starts Move to Scrap All Her Treaties With World Imperialism

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

TODAY, the Chinese masses make their greatest bid for liberation. They have launched a nation-wide campaign urging immediate cancellation of all foreign treaties. This effort has every possibility of winning the support of all the Chinese people.

The move will no doubt be heralded by the imperialist allies, the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan as being also Moscow inspired.

• • • •

Soviet spokesmen, however, like L. M. Karakhan, the ambassador of the Soviet Union, at Peking, have never concealed their belief that China must scrap all treaties with foreign capitalist powers and make a new start. It has been pointed out that the mere attempt to revise treaties imposed upon the Chinese people will get nowhere.

It was an outspoken Karakhan who addressed the students of the Tsinghua College in May when he said:

> "The appearance of the Union of Soviet Republics on the world historical stage meant more than a victory of the oppressed class of workers and peasants; it also means the victory of the nationally oppressed peoples of the former Russian empire AND THE BEGINNING OF THE FIGHT OF THE OPPRESSED PEOPLES OF THE WORLD FOR THEIR NATIONAL LIBERATION."

Karakhan spoke in the name of Leninism, which forms the basis of the international policy of the Soviet Republics, which points out the inevitable struggle of subject peoples and oppressed nationalities against bandit imperialism. Imperialism is a phenomenon of the developing world economic order. It is the highest stage of capitalism. Cal Coolidge, in his Fourth of July speech, may prate about the "peace aims" of American imperialism, and some workers may be blinded into an acceptance of this misleading propaganda of Wall Street's political agent.

But the Chinese workers and peasants, thru bitter experiences extending over the past century, have learned to recognize the brutal face of the imperialist slavemaster, even when it is concealed behind its "pacifist" mask.

That is why it is possible to say today that the Chinese masses are on the eve of tearing up the treaties that the foreign offices of Washington, London, Paris and Tokio have imposed upon them.

The Chinese giant, the more than 400,000,000 people of China, are held helpless in an intricate network of treaties and obligations among the first of which was the "Treaty of 1842" that ended Britain's "Opium War" against China with the forepaws of the British lion firmly planted in the Orient. Hong Kong became a British port.

Annam and Tongking went to France as a result of the war of 1883, thru an agreement reached in another treaty, while the Chinese went down to abject surrender in the treaty forced upon her by Japan following the war of 1894, that resulted in Korea going under the wing of Tokio, while the indemnity of $200,000,000 threw the Chinese people into the welcoming clutches of the European money lenders, mouths watering in anticipation of the luscious feast.

The Germany under the kaiserdom in 1897 got Kiachow and Tsingtao, and it was only three years later that the ill-fated Boxer Rebellion resulted in the yoke of the protocol being forced on China by the nine imperialist powers.

• • • •

These give only an inkling of the many ties that have been created to bind the Chinese nation to the imperialist profit machine. China made another bid for liberation eleven years later in the national revolutionary movement organized and led by Sun Yat Sen. After 14 years of ceaseless heartbreaking struggle, the Chinese now demand that all treaties with the foreign oppressors be torn to shreds. All militant workers and poor farmers, the world over, will wish them every success in their latest endeavor. But they must do more. Labor everywhere must join the Chinese in the common war of extermination against the capitalist oppressor.

LOS ANGELES, CALIF., TRADE UNIONS PASS RESOLUTIONS DEMANDING THE RELEASE OF CROUCH AND TRUMBULL

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—The Young Workers League campaign in behalf of Crouch and Trumbull is progressing well. So far the Millinery Local Union No. 48, and the Cigarmakers' Union No. 225 in Los Angeles, have adopted the resolution demanding the release of the imprisoned Hawaiian soldiers, and the delegates of both these unions have been instructed to present the same resolution, presented by the Young Workers League, to the Central Labor Council and demand similar action.

It is expected that within the next week the Painters and Carpenters locals will also endorse the campaign we have begun, and ask of their respective district councils to protest against the persecution of these Communist soldiers.

"Whereas, two soldiers of the U. S. army, privates Crouch and Trumbull, have been originally sentenced to 40 and 26 years respectively on the evidence of a spy for the militarist officials; and

"Whereas, their only crime was that they held certain political opinions, and as members of the Hawaiian Communist League at Honolulu, which is a legal organization, are supporters of organized labor and advocating the interests of the workingclass of America; and

"Whereas, due to the nation-wide protest of the American workers against the savage sentences and unfair trial and court-martial given these young soldiers, the army officials were compelled to reduce the sentences to 3 and 1 years respectively; therefore, be it

"RESOLVED, that this local union demands the immediate release of privates Crouch and Trumbull; and be it further RESOLVED, that this resolution be sent to the War Department, the Central Labor Council, our District Council, and the labor press."

FATHER OF 11 FALLS INTO VAT IN SCAB PLANT

Company Too Stingy to Buy Safety Guards

By Worker Correspondent

Charles Etherington, 413 S. Irving Ave., slipped and fell into a vat of boiling enamel at the plant of the Enameling Manufacturing Co., at 549 Fulton St., He is in a serious condition at his home.

Other employes report that there had been no safety guards for months in spite of the fact that the lives of workers were endangered constantly.

Some members of the Young Workers League were discharged from this plant some time ago on the ground that no "agitators" were wanted. Safety appliances would cost a few dollars. But new workers can always be found to take the place of the victims.

Etherington is the father of eleven children, who have been deprived of his support by the accident.

HATTERS LAUNCH FIGHT AGAINST POISON MENAC

Occupational Ills Ar Cause of Many Death

By ART SHIELDS (Federated Pre

NEW YORK, July 7.—Millions o felt hats, soft velours and derbi adorn as many heads in this country but few of the wearers know wh price in human lives is paid in the manufacture. But of 100 union felt hatters recently examined, 43 per cent were found to be suffering from that form of mercury poisoning known as "hatters shakes".

A study of 599 union death records showed that the death rate from pneumonia is 173 per cent above that of the average population and from tuberculosis, 46 per cent higher. Other diseases abound. And yet, experience in the hat plants of more civilized nations shows, all these hatters' death hazards are unnecessary.

Will Make Health Demands.

Facts such as these have roused the union hatters of Danbury, Conn., to demand decent health conditions. A scientific survey of the shops, leading to the remedies they will demand from their employers, is being made with the technical assistance of the Workers Health Bureau, 799 Broadway, New York, to which the Danbury hatters' union is affiliated.

Dr. Alice Hamilton of Harvard Medical School, leading authority in the United States on hatters' hazards; Dr. Yandell Henderson, professor of physiology at Yale and Dr. C. E. A. Winslow, professor of public health at Yale and authority on the control of dusts and ventilation—all consulting experts for the Workers Health Bureau—have offered their services to the union.

Stand In Water.

American hat factory conditions are shockingly inferior to those of other countries. No mercury poisoning is found in the British and Italian plants.

In England hat factories are dustless, practical exhaust systems carrying off the dust and steam. In Italy men work with rubber gloves and aprons; exhausts carry off steam and employes have special dining and dressing rooms and men are changed from one department to another so that they do not work long in the mercury.

But in America nothing has been done in most factories to eliminate the deadly dust and steam.

They are dirty. Laboratories are unsanitary, while proper ventilation is unknown. In most shops there is water on the floor and the men have to stand in water all day.

Mercury Poisoning.

The cause of mercury poisoning, most insidious of hatters' ills, has been traced to cheap production methods used in American plants. Soft felts, fluffy velours and stiff derbies start as bits of rabbit fur dampened and blown together to form a felt. Because cheap piece fur is used, poor in quality, a strong solution of nitrate of mercury must be employed and this mercury solution steams into the hatters' lungs from the hot sizing tubs.

What mercury remains in the felt is volatized by the hot irons of the pressers and passes into the atmosphere for inhalation. In England the difficulty is avoided at the source by using whole skins.

Other diseases afflicting hatters include silicosis, incurred in breathing the particles of sand dust from sandpapering the surface of the finished hat; chronic bronchitis and lung inflammation, of which 32 per cent of unionists examined are found to be suffering; abnormally high blood pressure, found among 39 per cent; loose teeth and inflamed gums, affecting 45 per cent and due to mercury and nitric acid fumes; tremors (trembling or twitching of the body), 55 per cent; excessive tiredness, [illegible] per cent.

Straw Hatters' Ills.

Straw hatters suffer from rheumatism, excessive fatigue and other troubles from constant standing in an oppressive atmosphere of steam and heat.

It is hoped that the example set by the Danbury hatters in improving shop conditions will be followed at Orange, N. J., second largest hatters' center in the east. The present issue is regarded as being as fundamental in its way as the fight waged years ago against the famous boycott cause.

ADOPT FIGHTING PROGRAM OF T. U. E. L. AGAINST WAGE CUTS IN SHOE AND LEATHER TRADE

By TOM BELL

BOSTON, Mass., July 7.—The campaign of the Trade Union Educational League against wage cuts in the shoe industry was heartily endorsed by a conference of militants in the shoe industry called by the national amalgamation committee for the shoe and leather industry. Workers came from the shoe centers of New England such as Boston, Chelsea, Lynn and Brockton.

General Wage Cuts Reported.

From each center reports of the wage cutting campaign of the bosses were given. In Brockton the workers are being asked to accept wage cuts as a means of securing "steady work." In Boston many factories are shut down, and the workers have been informed that when work is resumed $25 a week will be the standard wage. In Chelsea the foremen set the list of prices and those workers who refuse to accept them are fired.

In each of these places the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union officialdom is the best ally of the bosses in wage cutting. Not only do they bind and gag the workers who protest by putting the local into the hands of a commission, but they refuse to take any action whatever against the wage slashing of the bosses.

B. and L. Agrees.

In Lynn the bosses have succeeded in forcing the workers into the Boot and Shoe by refusing to employ them unless they join this union. The workers were without leadership willing to lead them with a definite policy in this situation, and bombarded as they were by the Boot and Shoe propaganda in the capitalist press, they are now in the Boot and Shoe.

Already the Boot and Shoe officialdom has signed contracts with the bosses which agree to wage cuts and a graded price list which means that the cheaper the shoe manufactured the lower the wages will be.

The policy of the T. U. E. L. for the shoe industry was accepted. This policy is practical and leads to the amalgamation of the shoe unions into one industrial union with a militant program of struggle against the bosses based upon the class struggle. It advocates a militant campaign against the class collaboration policies of the Boot and Shoe officialdom and against the despotic rule of the officialdom against the rank and file.

In each shoe center this campaign against wage cuts will be waged by means of leaflets and mass meetings to rally the workers to stem the tide of wage reductions which is going on. The organization of militant left wing groups to supply leadership for the workers in this struggle will be taken up, and the best militant forces in the shoe towns organized to conduct the battle against the bosses which the "labor leaders" have deserted.

Propose August Conference.

This work among the shoe workers will lead to the holding of a great conference of rank and file shoe workers in August during the height of the wage cutting. The organization of shop committees to lead strikes against the wage cuts where the union leaders refuse to take the leadership, rallying the forces of the workers in defense of their standard of living, organizing the unorganized, and working for the amalgamation of the shoe unions are the tasks of the rank and file militants among the shoe workers.

The conference was an organizing conference. It took up the question of organizing a militant leadership for the shoe workers in this situation. This will displease the moguls of the Boot and Shoe and the bosses, but the rallying of the shoe workers against wage cuts will be accomplished in spite of them.

Rail Unions Win New Trial in Case of Scab's Suit

DENVER, Colo., July 7.—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Order of Railway Conductors won a victory today when the Colorado state supreme court handed down a decision reversing lower courts in which R. F. Jones, a former conductor, on the Denver & Interurban Railroad was awarded $50,000 damages against the Brotherhoods.

In his suit Jones claimed the Brotherhoods had prevented him from securing a livelihood because of his failure to join in a strike several years ago.

The high court ordered a new trial.

"AMERICAN" PLAN SHOWS CLOVEN HOOF

Deprecates Violence; But Buys Clubs

CLEVELAND, July 7.—The promoters of the "yellow dog" contract in Ohio, the American Plan Association, are jumping into the arena of struggle with all four beastly feet. These yellow doggers have felt quite spry, recently, what with several court decisions against the trade unions to their credit.

Will the trade unions in Cleveland fight back? Will they allow this open shop association to make the yellow dog contract effective in Cleveland? Will labor permit an organization of employers to force employes to sign a contract not to join a labor union as a condition of employment?

"Signs of the Times."

Down town, in the heart of the city, on Superior avenue, upon three immense plate glass windows we read a sign of the times. There in foot high letters the name of the American Plan Association can be read together with the announcement that help is furnished free by it and employment given to those who call.

Then we turn to the help wanted page of today's Plain Dealer and find this little insert:

"Police Wanted."

"100 able bodied men for special police work, equipped with uniforms and clubs. Box 12039, Plain Dealer."

Then we turn the pages of the Cleveland Times and happen upon nearly a full page advertisement headed: "Judges and Juries Condemn Closed Shop Lawlessness. Court Cases Bring Judgments, Fines and a Sweeping Injunction. American Plan Association helps Both Union and Non-Union Workers."

What About "Union" Shop.

The advertisement, and a very expensive thing it is to run so continuously, starts out by saying the closed shop is "Un-American"—whatever that means. It accuses the "closed shop" (it does not use the words "union shop") of various violences, all oblivious of the fact that their own methods of using "ablebodied men equipped with clubs" is not exactly a form of procedure to be classified as pacifist or non-resistant.

"Under Cover."

It further states that the supposedly pernicious "closed shop" also "works under cover whenever it can." Again quite oblivious of the fact that the advertisement for the "ablebodied men with clubs" they inserted in the Plain Dealer as noted above, is a "blind" advertisement, giving an "under cover" address. They even fail to explain that the employers of this country, by use of industrial spies against the workers, are responsible for the very term "under cover man" from which they seem now to shrink.

After reciting numerous horrible details where the capitalist courts have in all due solemnity declared that unions and union men have actually violated capitalist law, the point of the big advertisement is brought out in a heart rending plea for money. They set forth there many arguments to prove that the great pleasure of fighting the "closed shop" (read "unions") ought to be worth $10 of anyone's money. And one and all are to send that much for a year's dues.

Pretending to be Popular Move.

Not, of course, that the American Plan Association needs the money. While they pretend that the poor and the humble and downtrodden have reason to rally to the holy of union crushing and ask for the same P. H. and D. T. to fork over $10 for the privilege, this is just a blind to cover up the conspiracy of the big boys in the Ohio Manufacturers' Association to fight the unions under the cover ("under cover" think of that!) of a great popular mass movement, with acres of those who are "oppressed by the unions" swarming about the office of the American Plan armed with ten dollar bills.

In fact, the big boys, and just a few of them, are secretly in conspiracy and are forking over huge sums to finance the page ads in the Times and the little advertisement in the "help wanted" columns of the Plain Dealer calling for "ablebodied men with clubs." And they likewise are paying the bills for both the men and the clubs. Such is the "open shop" American Plan.

LIVINGSTON LOCAL OF U. M. W. OF A. DEMANDS CONVENTION IN 1926

LIVINGSTON, Ill., July 7—It is learned that the United Mine Workers Local No. 2656 at this city recently passed the following resolution:

"We the members of Miners' Local 2656 U. M. W. of A. at Livingston, Ill., go on record at our regular miners' meeting June 18th, with a membership of 730 miners, condemning the action of the International executive board of the U. M. W. of A. of postponing the next national biennial miners' convention to 1927 instead of 1926, as a dictatorial act of the International officers and unconstitutional."

CALL I. A. M. TO BUCK UP AND DO BATTLE AT ONCE

Crooked Election Deal Must Be Corrected

By Rank and Filer.

Not only in the Miners' Union and in the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union are the militants and progressives in a life and death struggle against the officialdom which intends to hold power by all means against the wishes of the rank and file.

The officiadom of the International Association of Machinists under the leadership of Johnston and Davison have recently announced to the world that they have again succeeded themselves in office. This is probably one of the most brazen election steals in the trade union movement in this country and puts the officialdom of the machinists together with the rest of the labor bureaucrats in the American labor movement on the same basis.

Bare Faced Steal.

With tremendous outspoken decision of the rank and file the last election showed that the membership in all of the large industrial centers was overwhelmingly against the Johnston administration. In the city of New York, to give an example, the vote was approximately 2,300 for the Anderson slate and 74 for Johnston. In Chicago, the biggest and strongest district in the International the vote was 2,700 to about 800 for Johnston. The Canadian locals gave the Anderson slate a majority over Johnston of over 1,200.

Other important centers like Seattle, Pittsburgh, etc., gave an overwhelming vote to the opposition. In spite of these facts the administration is announcing the election of William H. Johnston by a majority of 984 votes over his opponent, J. F. Anderson.

How It Happened.

The members of the organization are asking how did it happen? The answer is that the administration counted itself into power and stole the election. In the last convention, held in Detroit, a new paragraph was added to the constitution whereby the counting of the ballots was supposed to have been taken away from the general secretary-treasurer.

This proposition caused one of the most bitter struggles in the convention but in spite of the administration forces it was finally carried. After the convention the administration forces immediately started to make their own interpretation of that clause.

One mistake seems to have been made by the progressive elements who proposed the clause. They forgot to mention that this new law naturally supersedes the old one, and as a result Johnston and his clever lawyers in Washington made their interpretation to mean that the old law still stands.

Two Contradicting Laws.

So we find two laws in the constitution, Section 14, stating that the general secretary-treasurer shall count and supervise the ballots in the election and paragraph 15 stating that the candidates or the tellers of the two respective candidates shall supervise the counting of ballots. We find therefore that nothing was accomplished by having this bitter struggle in the convention.

After all, the powers that be do as they please in spite of the understanding of every delegate in the convention who understand that Davison would no longer count ballots. In this election Davison counted all of the ballots first and then after he had done so gave them over to the regularly appointed tellers. In other words, he knew the results before the tellers knew anything about it.

Sabotaging Election.

A number of other crooked maneuvers were made. For example, we find that locals have sent in their ballots and forgot to send in the tally sheets. In the past these sheets were taken care of in Washington by the officials. There are other examples where we may have the suspicion that some of the secretaries have been tools of the Johnston administration and deliberately sabotaged sending in the tally sheets.

Local 82, in Detroit, had a majority for the Anderson slate, but it was never counted. According to information that the writer has, the secretary of Local 82 is a Johnston man and he claims to have sent in the tally sheets. The question to ask is "Where are those tally sheets?"

2,000 Illegal Ballots.

If this tactic has been followed in one local it may have been followed in other locals. About ten locals were not counted because they came in late, that is all the locals that gave a majority to the Anderson slate but we find that a big number of Johnston locals that had sent in the results after May 3rd were counted and, according to reliable information, about 2,000 ballots were thus counted.

We also find that a number of locals in checking up on the secretary-treasurer's report, does not correspond to the report of the local. A number of locals are supposed to have been thrown out due to submitting more ballots than the lodge members. These locals, however, claim that this is not true, that according to the local financial statements it does not correspond with the figures of Davison. The Anderson followers claim that had the election been carried on in an honest manner the whole Anderson slate would have been elected by approximately 2,000 majority.

Check Up the Locals.

It is very advisable for the locals to check up on the report in the last journal and their own local report and also protest against the violation of the convention decision in regard to the counting of the ballots. The Johnson administration seems to be determined upon maintaining itself in power regardless of the will of the membership.

The locals should immediately begin to demand an emergency convention in 1926 and the recall of the illegally elected officers. Militant and progressive elements all over the country should get together immediately and devise ways and means to make it possible to have an honest election in the I. A. of M.

Only with a unified, national program on the basis of every day needs of the machinists in this country will it be possible to smash the present bureaucracy.

Get Into the Fight.

Members of the I. A. of M.! Unite with the militants in the call for an emergency convention, for the recall of the illegally elected officers, for a national conference of militants and progressives, for the amalgamation of all metal trade unions, for reinstatement of expelled members, for a national labor party based on trade unions and workers' organizations, and for the international trade union unity.

PROGRESSIVE MINERS' GROUP APPEALS TO AMERICAN MINERS FOR INTERNATIONAL SOLIDARITY

The Miners' Federation of Great Britain is threatened with a serious fight. The employers are taking the offensive, aided by the unemployment caused by Dawes' Plan reparation coal displacing British coal in the south European market. They are attacking both wage and hour standards, and a great strike may be called by the end of July. The Progressive Miners' Committee of the United Mine Workers of America, today issued the following statement on the situation:

To American Coal Miners and Transport Workers!

The miners of Great Britain are facing a situation at the present which is similar in many respects to the situation in the United States and Canada.

Unemployment among the miners, lasting many weary months, has reduced them to the verge of starvation and a campaign of wage cutting union breaking and destruction of working conditions is on thruout the British fields.

Unending Greed

Northumberland mine owners have forced the miners down to starvation wages and still attempt further reductions from a standard of living that is a disgrace to civilization.

The week ending June 13 showed several brothers' wage for the four week to range from $5.00 to $7.50 for the week.

A reduction of 20 per cent was made in Longwell cutters' yard prices, and a reduction of from one to eleven cents in cutting rates.

Unbearable Conditions

The cost of living in Britain is as high as in America, so the situation can be readily understood by the miners in America who are experiencing similar attacks.

The situation is international in every respect, the capitalists are organized internationally and the miners must be not only organized internationally but must protect themselves in action against the onslaught of the coal barons, and prepare to take over the mines in the interest of the workers.

The strike of the miners in Nova Scotia, against wage cuts, union wrecking and loss of working conditions, the same thing at the Crows Nest Pass in Alberta, the outrages on miners in West Virginia, in Oklahoma and thruout the country, show the international aspect of the situation.

A strike is threatening in the British coal industry, and the miners of America will again be called upon to scab on their British brothers, to supply the British coal market, and help the English operators defeat the striking miners of Britain.

Not A Pound of Coal to Defeat Our Brothers!

Miners and transport workers of America, the Progressive Miners' committee calls upon you to be on guard and to refuse to scab on your brothers across the seas. We pledge ourselves to aid in every way our brothers across the seas. Their suffering is our suffering, their fight is our fight, their victory or defeat is likewise ours.

As capitalism and its interests are international, so is labor and its interest. A militant international organization of the workers of the world, based on the class struggle, for international unity must be supported by the workers of America.

The Progressive Miners' committee congratulates the British Trade Union committee for their unbiased report on the Russian situation, and emphatically endorses its conclusions.

Brother miners of Britain we greet you and pledge our support for international unity in every possible way at our command!

Where Does Sigman's Pogrom Lead To? - -

By P. Yuditch

(The Outlook in the Present Struggle in the International.)

THERE are two means by which it sought to attack the cloakmakers. From the "bed-time stories" of the Forward both originate. They were tried out many times by this yellow gang.

One means is to take Henry Dubb for granted. This yellow gang looks down on everything and everybody. Their own idiocy they consider the greatest cleverness. And the wide general public is considered by them as a "bunch of fools, Dubbs who have not the least bit of sense." They can talk into them whatever they want. They believe that they can talk a woman into believing she is pregnant, and whatever the Dubbs need they do not need, and what they want they do not want.

AND therefore they yell, for instance, that among the cloakmakers everything is at present normal, that their union offices are functioning in the best of order, that all members are greatly satisfied, and they congratulate the union for throwing out the Communists.

Even those who are being attacked with the strong-arm gangs in the streets and union offices, even those who are being insulted by the machine-sluggers and other appointed scoundrels, all are enthused with joy. That is how things seem in the bed-time stories of the Forward. They do this, thinking to talk into the masses that they are really satisfied, with the belief that just as one can make himself believe that he is sick, so he can make believe that his wounds are not wounds at all, and that from his pains he gets satisfaction.

THE second way in which they seek to attack the cloakmakers is thru the bundle. They know that the bundle cloaks is very dear to the cloakmaker. They know that he is hungry and tired of the long slack season, and yearns for the bundles. Therefore, they assume an attitude toward the "Dubb" of a cloakmaker as if he were a child yearning for sweets; they paint before his eyes the shadow of a bundle, seeking to scare him by saying "Remember, you will soon have a bundle." "If you will be good and obedient," they say, "and do what Sigman or Feinberg tells you, you will get a bundle." "If not you will be out of luck. The bundles will disappear, and others cleverer than you will catch them."

THESE means were used against the cloakmakers at the time when they carried on a struggle against the machine when, a few years back, it expelled the "Communist union-breakers"—Professor Isaac Hourwich, and Bisno. True, Hourwich and Bisno were not Communists, but "Perlstein, the union" were then there, and Hourwich with Bisno did not agree with the policy of "Perlstein, the union" and they were therefore disturbers and liable to be suspended.

And so they yelled with great headlines in the yellow Forward: They are cutting bundles in the shops." With this yell they sought to scare the cloakmakers. The shadow of the bundle was their greatest weapon.

Similarly they did in 1922. The cloakmakers were greatly dissatisfied with the "victory" of the renewed agreement and they were threatened if they vote against the agreement it means a strike, and they will lose the bundles.

AND similarly they are doing in the present struggle. The cloakmaker, they yell, does not think of the present struggle which is going on in the union, he does not even speak about it; he only thinks about the work in the shop, about the bundle. And therefore they scream with great headlines in the yellow Forward, "They are already cutting work in the shops," etc.

MORRIS SIGMAN, the union boss, that teamster with the strong hand, who has broken and ruined in the union this which someone else built, this Sigman who only retains the rags of the gambler who has lost everything — his only hope is also built on the above-mentioned two means. And therefore, he continues to mumble "Sulkeses, scab-agents" and speaks with the tone of one who is sure of everybody. He desires the members of the union to believe they are all with him, they are all good union people and stick to "Sigman, the union." Only a few "Sulkeses," Communists, are the breakers. They want to break the union. He also mumbles: "Everything is normal in the joint board." "There will soon be work in the shops." The bundles are the main thing, not only for the cloakmaker, but for Sigman and Feinberg. The cloak makers are interested in the bundles because they need to make a living. Sigman and Feinberg are interested even if only in the shadows of bundles with which to scare the cloakmakers. They also need to make a living from them.

BUT how far can the Sigman machine lean on such methods? Those who come among the cloak and dressmakers, those who are acquainted with the spirit that rules among the workers, they know that the first method is played out long since. You cannot take the masses for granted. Among the widest masses of the cloak and dressmakers, they laugh in their sleeves when such union-breakers as Sigman and Feinberg speak of "Sulkeses." The cloak and dressmakers know for a long time the deeds of the Feinbergs and Peristeins. They also know the left wing and they know who are the disturbers and betrayers.

BUT very differently it is with the second method. It must be admitted that generally even the shadow of a bundle has a great attraction for most cloakmakers, that regardless of the consciousness which has penetrated deeply in the ranks of the cloakmakers, the yearning for the bundle is still such a factor that it often demoralizes the consciousness of the workers.

This is because the cloakmaker is tired and hungry, especially in the last few years, when the trade has been brought to such terrible chaos, when the competition is so great, when a large part of the garments are made in scab shops, when the co-operation shop has so developed, and when the most of the union men work only a few weeks a year.

In such a time and under such conditions it is very natural that the cloakmaker should often be scared, perhaps he will lose the possibility to make a few bundles.

MORRIS SIGMAN & Co. cannot rely any more on this fear of the bundle. Sigman machine has in the time of its rule led the cloakmakers to such a condition of despair, they have bluffed the members so much, that the disillusionment is continually increasing. The further the members go, the more they see for themselves only the hole of the doughnut, which is continually being promised them. For two years they were fooled with the trade program of 10 points. And what was the result of that? Sigman, Feinberg & Co. have on that account destroyed the strength of the International. Instead of mobilizing the workers to struggle for these demands, they disorganized their ranks. The funds of the union were wasted in union-breaking activity and other irresponsible acts. And about the demands of the workers the machine relied upon miracles from heaven and the goodness of the governor's commission, the jobbers and manufacturers.

AND what is the present situation? It is clear that if in the present struggle against the three locals, 2, 9, and 22, Sigman & Co. should be victorious, this victory will not be built upon the interests of the workers. Sigman's machine cannot get any better conditions for them. Sigman's leadership is bankrupt. His tactics are played out. All his possibility he lost in his gamble. He cannot bring about any improvement in the bad conditions of the workers.

THERE can be no doubt for any one that if Sigman should succeed in the present struggle against the cloak and dressmakers, this victory will surely be built upon the sacrifice of the living conditions of the workers. Sigman will accept the decision of the governor's commission, not taking into consideration that this decision will give nothing to the workers. It is possible that he should accept the decision thru a fake referendum. But the decision itself will not change the conditions. An improvement the workers can only get thru a struggle.

THE bosses in the industry are too far away from responsibility, so that it is impossible to imagine that thru a spirit of philanthropy they should lessen their profits by retreating. It is impossible to believe that thru their good nature the bosses should see that the cloakmakers need also to earn a living from cloaks. The bosses can be brot to see this only thru a strike. But if a strike occurs, Sigman and his machine surely cannot be the leaders of it; under the conditions that they have created a strike under their leaderships is a danger for the workers. Sigman cannot really carry on a struggle against the bosses, and he cannot lead the workers in a strike. If a strike occurs, then the Sigman gang must go from the union before that.

SIGMAN, Feinberg, and Peristein, cannot come out victorious on the basis of a strike. Victory for them is only possible thru a combination with the bosses.

And what can be the result of such a combination?

The answer is very clear. Sigman's combination with the bosses will do much to undermine his rule. The end of his leadership will be more securely sealed, and that very soon. Victory for him under such conditions will be a formal, superficial, momentary victory. In fact it will mean a worse defeat, because if there are any cloakmakers who do not yet see the utter bankruptcy of Sigmanism they will then see it in broad daylight. If they can still scare a few with the shadow of bundles, those few will then also see the bluff which lies in this scare.

IN addition, we must not forget the following: If certain cloakmakers can be scared with the hole of the doughnut, the same is not the case with the dressmakers. Both above-mentioned methods used by the machine have long since lost their effectiveness on the dressmakers. You cannot scare them any more with bundles. They are long ago acquainted with the fakes of the yellow Sigmanism, much more than the cloakmakers. And the dressmakers will play in the present revolt a very prominent role. They cannot be pushed aside. Against the cloakmakers of Local 2 and 9, and in addition to the dressmakers, Sigman's pogrom will surely be a failure. It will be a failure, we mean, in the sense of perpetuating Sigman's rule —but such a pogrom cannot be a failure so far as concerns the general harm which it does.

WILL the cloak and dressmakers be victorious in this struggle? The foregoing explanations show the answer to the last question. It is clear that the failure of the Sigman machine, the failure of the pogrom-leaders, is a victory for those who are robbed and attacked. Sigman may very possibly obtain not even a temporary victory if the present spirit of revolt which rules among the cloak and dressmakers refuses to be choked by the threats and bluffs of the Sigman family. If the workers of the shops will not permit themselves to be frightened with the bundles and will not lose for one moment their consciousness, then the Sigman machine will be forced to remove themselves very soon from the union. This gang has no place in the International. They themselves have undermined [illegible]

COMMUNISTS GET CHEERS AT PINK MEET IN ST. LOUIS

Daily Worker Sold at Socialist Picnic

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 7.—In an effort to revive the all but buried socialist party here, Eugene V. Debs addressed a crowd at Triangle Park. In the early days of the socialist party St. Louis was one of its strongholds, but only a few stragglers are now in its ranks, most of them being petty trade union officials and jobholders such as the editor of the reactionary organ of the socialist party ("Labor").

The capitalist papers gave generous space to advertising the revival picnic. Debs was met at the park by a group of children, some of them dressed in red, white and blue. None of them, of course, were dressed in red.

A Patriotic Affair.

Marie MacDonald, after a sentimental speech, announced that "the children will sing the first stanza of "My Country 'Tis of Thee." before Debs spoke. Debs made the same speech he has been making for the past 30 years.

Debs spoke for industrial unionism, but did not say ho wthis could be brought about. He neglected to state that the Workers Party and the left wing are fighting for industrial unionism thru amalgamation of the existing trade unions, and that the socialists are not aiding this fight.

Communists Applauded.

The names of Foster and Ruthenberg received the greatest applause of the afternoon when Debs mentioned them in connection with his declaration on behalf of class war prisoners.

The members of the Workers Party and the Young Workers' League were on the job selling the DAILY WORKER, and every available copy was sold out, with the workers clamoring for more.

Good Time Awaiting Takoma, Washington, Workers on July 19th

TAKOMA, Wash., July 7.—Everything is ready for the picnic to be held on Sunday, July 19, at Flatt Station picnic grounds, which is being given by the C. C. C. of the Workers Party of Takoma. If you don't want to miss a good time and have regrets after it is over, come and bring your friends along. There will be plays, games, dancing to good music on a wonderful dance floor. The refreshments and eats will be of the very best. And speeches in English. To get to the grounds take American Lake car on Broadway.

Minnesota Federation Convention.

AUSTIN, Minn., July 7.—The 43rd convention, Minnesota State Federation of Labor, will open in Austin Sept. 21.

"BUILD UNITED FRONT TO AID CHINESE LIBERATION"—APPEAL OF COMMUNISTS TO ALL WORKERS

MOSCOW, June 18.—(By Mail.)—Brown, a central committee member of the British Communist Party, and Semard, a member of the French Communist Party, have issued the following appeal entitled, "The United Front against the Imperialists":

"The telegraphic appeal of the Comintern and the R. I. L. U. to the Second International and the International Federation of Trade Unions, contains two concrete practical proposals: First, the organization of joint meetings and money collections for the victims of imperialist violence in China, and second, the calling of a joint international conference to discuss further measures to be taken in support of the heroic struggle of the Chinese people.

"The acceptance of these two proposals would make China's struggle of liberation the cause of the working class of the whole world. The battleships and machine guns of the imperialist would be rendered powerless in the face of such an organized united front of the working class. We must do everything in our power to effect a complete and rapid acceptance of our proposals.

"We consciously emphasize the word "rapid." It were a cruel tragedy to delay the acceptance of our proposals on any formal grounds and thru chicanery. The imperialists are not waiting. They aim at the annihilation of their enemy.

"Under these circumstances, each day, each hour assumes the greatest importance. At the same time we must be prepared to see the executives of those organizations to which we appealed make the attempt either to use the proposals made by the Comintern and the Profintern for polemic purpose or to evade an answer altogether.

"It being necessary to count with such a possibility, we must take all measures to form an effective united front of the working class with the Chinese people against the imperialists.

"Under the given circumstances, effective action is the best means of agitation. In England steps are already being taken to form a proletarian united front on a national scale. A successful campaign in England will undoubtedly seriously influence the second and Amsterdam Internationals.

"The action of the British proletariat is for two reasons of prime significance: In the first place it is obvious that the British government is at the head of the campaign directed against China, and, second, because the action of the British working class is evidence of a new attitude of the proletariat towards imperialism.

"Less than half a year ago our British comrades were not in a position to get the labor organisations to support China. In Germany, too, the situation may be considered favorable to the tactic of the united front. The German social-democrats will find it very difficult to counter the proletarian spirit of solidarity with the Chinese people.

"Not only the German workers, but other large sections of the German people feel and understand that China has risen not only against its own oppressors, but against the oppressors of the German people as well. Quick, energetic action will assure the creation of joint committees of support for the Chinese people.

"In France the situation is somewhat more difficult. The French social-patriots are fulfilling their imperialist task against the Riffians. But they can hardly succeed in overcoming the resistence of the honest French proletarians to the acts of violence perpetrated against the great but enslaved oriental people.

"In France the success of this campaign will depend on its extent and intensity.

"The attitude adopted by the United States, who are aiming at certain British positions in China, will serve to sharpen the Anglo-American conflict, and offers a favorable opportunity for the Workers Party to win over the American proletariat for a joint movement in favor of China's liberation.

"It is self-evident that in spite of the success attained by our United Front slogan among the proletarian masses of all countries, the executives of the Second and Amsterdam Internationals may attempt to evade our proposals. However, such an attitude would unmask them not only before the Chinese people and the other awakening oriental peoples, but also before those working masses who still confide in them.

"In the struggle for the realization of our proposals, we must take into consideration the fact that our position is more favorable in regard to Amsterdam than it is in regard to the Second International. Within the Amsterdam International there is a solid minority which is openly and sincerely striving for the unity of the labor movement. There can be no doubt that this minority will take up a sympathetic attitude towards our attempt to organise a far-reaching and effective campaign in favor of the Chinese people.

"The support of this minority by the masses will naturally strengthen the minority's position in its struggle against the German-Dutch bloc which at present dominates the whole Amsterdam machine. It is therefore natural that in the course of our campaign we give especial attention to the trade unions.

"This is the more necessary and possible because the Trade Unions are playing a most important role in the struggle of the Chinese people. But on the whole, our work will be successful only if we permeated by the conviction that the happenings in China are of the greatest significance for the whole of humanity. We repeat and emphasize: Every instant is precious!"

WORLD WAR VETERANS OPPOSE MOBILIZATION DAY OF CAPITALISTS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 7.—Defense day program, the militarist experiment which was indifferently observed thruout the nation on the 4th of July, is condemned by the world war veterans. "It should be called by its right name as the "exploitation program of American financial interests," declares Emil E. Holmes, president of the veterans' organization.

HEARST PRAISES SELF, PRINTERS FIND HIM SCAB

Bought Out Union Head, Has Open Shop

Ghastly silence in labor quarters greeted the 25th anniversary July 4 of Hearst's Chicago American. William Randolph Hearst, for a score of years the idol of the organized printing trades, is now a black sheep.

On the day that his evening daily in Chicago screamed out its own praises after a quarter of century of publication, three printing trades unions were stubbornly continuing a year's battle against the scab Hearst morning daily in Seattle, the Post-Intelligencer.

The Typographical union, the Stereotypers and the Mailers are in the 14th month of their struggle to make Hearst pay at least as high wages and meet at least as good conditions as the other publishers in Seattle. Meanwhile Hearst is using strikebreakers to get that paper out.

Twentyfive years ago a trade union delegation headed by Jacob Betten, then president Allied Printing Trades Council of Chicago, greeted the appearance of the Hearst Chicago daily. "Labor can depend that from the first issue it will have a champion", Betten cried.

Today the unions are silent and Betten alone speaks but he is on the Hearst payroll. The unions are watching the Hearst openshop experiment in Seattle and are working to stamp out that cancer before it spreads from the coast. The "labor champion" has become an advance runner for the open shop.

GET INJUNCTION AGAINST CURLEE A. C. W. STRIKE

Federal Judge Issues Usual Scab Aid

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 7—The Curlee Clothing Co. has come down to the inevitable last (sometimes the first) resort in its effort to beat the solidarity of the strikes. A temporary restraining order forbidding so-called "unlawful" picketing and intenference with the company's business was granted by Federal Judge Davis.

Hearing Thursday.

The hearing to determine whether or not a permanent injunction shall be issued was set for next Thursday.

Despite the brutalities of the police and some 200 and more arrests, the strike lately has been looking more and more favorable to the strikers.

The company now shows its weakness by resorting to the weapon that every defeated open shop corporation uses as a last resort, the anti-labor injunction and once again demonstrating how the capitalist government is used to help enslave the working class.

Disobey Injunction If Need Be.

The strikers say the strike will go on, "injunction or no injunction." Lately there have been many arrests and much brutality on the part of the police. The injunction asked for is supposde to permit peaceful picketing and peaceful persuation of scabs.

If this would be lived up to (which it won't) the situation would really be more favorable to the strikers.

At any rate, the strikers are wise enough by this time to know that injunctions will not produce clothing.

SOVIET UNION ONLY FRIEND OF CHINA, NANKING UNIVERSITY HEAD TELLS STUDENTS AT CHICAGO U.

(By Student Correspondent)

An audience of University of Chicago students, with a sprinkling of the general public, on Thursday, heard P. W. Kuo, president of Southeastern University, Nanking, China, defend the right to strike, support the anti-imperialistic movement now sweeping China, and present one reason at least why the workers of China think they have found a friend in the Soviet Union.

"I'll give you another version of the trouble in China today, from that you heard from the English editor who talked here yesterday," said Kuo, and launched into the story of how a strike in Shanghai textile mills for very moderate demands, the ten hour day, overtime for night work, a whole hour for lunch, etc., was turned into a revolt against foreign capitalists.

Slain in Cold Blood.

He showed how the course of events was hurried by the way in which a foreign government on Chinese soil, the municipality of the white settlement at Shanghai, exercised its political power in an unsuccessful attempt to crush the strike.

A climax came, Kuo pointed out, when a parade of unarmed young men and women, students, were protesting against the use of the foreign police to break the strike, and were fired on and many of them killed by these police. Kuo read from the report of a police officer on duty in Shanghai the statement that the police ordered the parade to disperse, and then when it did not, they fired, as the (white) law in Shanghai permits.

But this same police report admitted also that the order to these Chinese to disperse was given in English, and the first volley was fired ten seconds after the order. Machine guns and rifles shattered the parade, and many were killed while fleeing from the hail of bullets. All China flamed with rage.

Capitalists Enslave China.

In Kuo's opinion only the abrogation of the unfair treaties, which give foreign employers such military and political rights in China as they now possess will ever satisfy the Chinese people.

The good will of the Chinese towards the Soviet Union, according to Kuo, is largely the result of the attitude of the Workers' Republic towards China. He gave a long account of foreign aggression and invasion of China, invasion which still continues, with England trying to annex Tibet to India, and France and Japan picking out their prospective slices, to add to the Chinese territory they already rule over, all of them meanwhile continuing the economic spoilation of the country.

Soviets Kept Promises.

In the days of the czar, no country was as greedy as Russia, or as much hated in China. But the speaker was forced to admit that a sudden change took place when the Bolsheviki came into power.

Russia then voluntarily retreated from the czarist adventure in Manchuria, revised her treaty with the Chinese (who were at first highly suspicious) gave up all unfair political advantages, including extraterritoriality, restored Chinese railways, laws, sovereignty, and kept their promises to the letter.

"And they didn't have to do it," said Kuo, "for there was no force to compel them. This is something absolutely new in the foreign relations of China. Germany made a treaty nearly as favorable, but she was militarily helpless, and had to make the best of things. The Russians were not."

Sweetness Turns to Gall.

Kuo said he was not a Communist. Of course, as head of a bourgeois university, he could hardly be expected to be but nevertheless, he also made it very clear that unless these other foreign countries begin to show some of the consideration that the Communists have given China, and unless they began to demonstrate at least a little elementary human fairness, China will be lost to their influence forever.

The thing that seemed to gall him most was that China should have been swindled by fair promises of the allies into furnishing them with cannon fodder, fighting on their side against Germany, and then be treated worse even than Germany was treated, in the peace.

This was Kuo's second lecture on Chinese affairs, the other having been delivered a few days ago. The effect on him of the bitter, imperialistic haughtiness of Mr. Moodhead, editor of the China Year Book and of some English newspapers in China, (The speaker of the day before) was very apparent. Kuo's first lecture had been all about the sweetness that should pervade the international relationships of man, and fairly sighed with hopes of peace and a return of good feeling between employer and employe, between mill owning foreigner, and laboring Chinese.

More Lectures Coming.

But Kuo's second speech was a defense of China's right to run her own affairs without forming part of the "white man's burden" (of loot).

Other lectures on China are to follow. They are all given under the auspices of the Harris Foundation for the promotion of the concord of nations, at Leon Mandel Hall, University of Chicago.

FARMERS COLD TO FAKE COOP, CRASH ENSUED

By CARL HAESSLER

(Federated Press Staff Correspondent)

Scarcely had the rumor got around that the Grain Marketing Co., the so-called farmers' own company, would probably be unable to meet its first $4,000,000 payment Aug. 1, when a $29,000,000 crash engulfed the principal holders of the stock of one of the constituent corporations.

Dean, Onativia & Co., stock brokers, were sent to the wall by the Chicago bankers who had got tired of lending the firm money on 45,000 shares of Rosenbaum Grain Co. grain stock, listed at $50 a share but scarcely worth $5 at present market.

Publicity Failed

Whether the missing 90 per cent in the Rosenbaum stock value was to have been absorbed as water by the Grain Marketing Co. when it finally took over the Rosenbaum, Armour and other grain elevator companies is not revealed at present. What appears is that the Rosenbaum stock became shaky after farmers generally refused to bite on the Grain Marketing Co. stock despite the efforts of salesmen to paint the cooperative features of the new organization and despite the American Farm Bureau federation publicity for the venture.

Hoped to Unload

At any rate one of the promoters, Emanuel Rosenbaum, whose grain companies would have been taken into the cooperative, freely admitted last month that the companies had hoped to unload on the farmer a year ago when is seemed not unlikely that the federal government would go into the grain marketing business under the McNary-Haugen bill. The bill failed to pass and the prospect of letting the farmer instead of the grain gamblers buck the government lost reality.

THE DAILY WORKER PUBLISHING CO.

1113 W. Washington Blvd. Chicago, Ill.

AUTO WORKERS' UNION OF PHILLY BOOSTS 'WORKER'

Say It's Real Fighting Paper

PHILADELPHIA, July 7—Local No. 14 of the United Automobile, Aircraft and Vehicle Workers Union have unanimously endorsed the DAILY WORKER as the only militant labor daily in America.

At a regular meeting of the union the question of the DAILY WORKER was brot up and discussed thoroly by the members several of them stating that it was thru the DAILY WORKER that they first heard of and joined the union.

Elect Publicity Committee.

As a result of the endorsement a publicity committee of two were elected to act as the correspondent to inform the workers of Philadelphia thru the DAILY WORKER of all the union activities.

United Automobile, Aircraft and Vehicle Workers Union is a militant industrial union whose object is to organise all the workers in the automobile industry into one union.

The Philadelphia local is at present conducting an intensive organization drive which is showing good results. The executive board has proposed a plan of shop meetings which was unanimously and emphatically approved by the membership.

Huge Auto Industry.

The automobile industry in Philadelphia employs upwards of 15,000 workers, many of them working in the huge open shop concerns.

The Philadelphia local meets every first and third Thursday of the months at 1534 Ridge Ave.

The charter is still open and will remain so until the third Thursday in July. All Auto Workers are invited to be present at the meetings of the union and join hands with the organized workers as the means of securing decent wages, hours and working conditions in the automobile industry of Philadelphia.

New Building Permits.

The number of new apartments and residences authorized for construction by the city building department in the first six months of 1925 is almost double the annual requirement to meet Chicago's growth. 17,678 new apartments were authorized. Permits were granted.

Rum Battle on Coast.

SALINA, Calif., July 7.—Deputy Sheriff N. H. Poader, a Salina merchant, was killed, Sheriff W. A. Oyer and State Traffic Officer Henry Livingston, seriously wounded and one man is mising as the aftermath of a battle near Boon Landing early today between rum runners and a sheriff's posse.

Tell other workers what happens in your shop. Write a story and send it to the DAILY WORKER. Order a bundle to distribute there.

ADVERTISEMENTS IN CAPITALIST SHEETS GIVE LIE TO EDITOR'S TALK OF PRINCELY WAGES FOR WORKERS

By JESSE A. REEHLE, Worker Correspondent.

TOPEKA, Kansas, July 7.—During the open shop drive and intermittently ever since the daily papers of Topeka have been telling about those princely wages received by the workers. Some of these articles are speeches of employers that have been given at the chamber of commerce or some other meeting and some are editorials written by the editors of the papers.

These articles generally give as an example of the wages received by some of the seasonable workers as the brick layers or plasterers. This is an unfair example of the wages of labor because the average factory laborer does not get half those wages, and if you count in all laborers both employed and unemployed, they won't average one-fourth that much.

Even the brick layers and plasterers would be glad to work for half the wages they get if they could get steady work and in their own town where they could be with their families. Their work is a seasonable job. Their employment is such that the weather prohibits them working months each year.

By the division of labor they can't work until the building has reached a certain stage even in season. Then at times there is no construction work. Their work is generally away in another town so they are out transportation to get to their work and must pay board and room while there as well as maintain their own home. Talk with any of them and you will find it takes all they can get to keep up expenses.

Jobs on Side to Stretch Pay.

Go into any of the working sections of Topeka, such as Oakland, Park Dale or North Topeka, and talk with the working people and you will find that they could not live on the wages they get if it was not for the fact that they carry on side lines to stretch their pay check. If you will look at the homes of these people you will find they have their garden to save buying vegetables. Some even have vegetables planted in the parking. Some repair autos evenings and Sundays. Many of their wives do sewing or other work to help out and hundreds of young men and women in their teens who should be in school, work in the packing houses and stores and factories to increase dad's pay check and make it go round.

Psychology of Advertising.

I drew a book from the city library entitled, The Psychology of Advertising. The first principle laid down in this book for successful advertising and successful salesmanship was that we should learn what was the sincere wish of the customer and then try to show them that the purchase of your goods will help to fulfill that wish. The book explained that everyone has some sincere wish, some desire that they want to see fulfilled.

Now then, if we want to know what the editors think about the laborers' wages, let us study the advertisements. The majority of the people in Topeka are working people so any ad. for the daily papers will generally be meant for the working people. We find such ads as this upon examination: Fire sale, special sale, clearance sale, dollar day, acorn day, money raising sale, odd pants sale, end season sale, one cent sale, bankrupt sale.

Then there are the credit houses who tell you to pay as you earn, the instalment plan houses with a dollar down and a dollar a week.

All these ads. carry the impression that you are getting something for less than its real value. These ads. show that the editor believes that the sincere wish of the laborer is to find a way to make his pay-check go round. They show that he thinks that the worker isn't getting enough wages to buy all the things that he needs unless he can get some of them for less than their real value.

Now, let us examine some other magazines and see how the advertisements are written when aimed for a different class of people. As I went home one evening, I saw a magazine drop off of a truck wagon into the street ahead of me. When I came up to it I got out and picked it up. It was printed on Fifth Avenue, New York, and was intended for people with liberal incomes. There were all kinds of advertisements from collar buttons to autos, but not a word about cheapness. They appealed to the quality of their goods, to the artistic design and to the exclusiveness, only a limited number could be had, etc.

Advertisements Give the Lie.

The advertisements in the daily papers show that the editors do not believe what they write about the princely wages of labor, but that they do know that the average worker is not even getting a decent living wage.

MILWAUKEE'S PLASTER HELPERS FIGHT WAGE CUTS

Special Meeting Called to Fix Demands

By J. KASUN.
(Worker Correspondent.)

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 7.—The plasterers' association of Milwaukee made an attack on wages of the plaster laborers by an action to reduce their present wage of 90 cents to [illegible] cents per hour. This move by the bosses has taken place during the month of June, and a "new wage scale" is to be effective on July 1. Mason helpers and concrete helpers realize the danger of this action of the bosses, that they will be "treated" the same, and were arraigned to solid determination to make the fight of the plaster helpers their common fight. Not only that, but also to demand increase of their wage which is now 75 cents an hour to 90 cents (what plaster laborers are now getting.)

The cut was to be effective July 1. When the workers above mentioned heard of the bosses action, they laid down their tools. When the bosses saw this they began inquiring: "What's the matter, boys, ain't you going to work?" Reply was: "No, if we don't know what we are going to work for," and "we don't accept no wage cut!"

There was nothing else to be done but tell the men to go to work under the old scale for the extention of time for two weeks, pending an arbitration with union heads.

Of this action of the employer, International office was notified, and it sent its representative to Milwaukee, third vice-president, and his instruction to the union was to solve this problem thru arbitration if possible. To this effect he wrote a letter back to the union, after reporting to the executive board of the International also with instructions that the union give their committee full power to act as arbitrator with employers.

Decision of the last meeting was to call a special meeting for Friday, July 10, when it will be decided what power executive board will have, and also, get their instruction, as to the wage scale, conditions and so on.

When the question came up to call a special meeting at which the executive committee is to be empowered to act, many questions were put forward as how will the executive committee be given instructions, how shall they act, what they have to do and what they may do for the membership, concerning the wage slash.

The splendid spirit that has been shown at the last meeting indicates that no flinching of anybody and no excuse will be tolerated. The outcome of the situation we would not forecast, but we say that this is a most opportune time to fight the bosses.

Militant members can only support the demand of no wage cut, but increase from 75 to 90 cents an hour.

Don't forget special meeting Friday, July 10, to decide on what are your demands.

Act as committee of one and bring to the meeting every member you can.

It concerns your bread and butter.

Swiss Protest Fascist Outrage.

LUGANO, Switzerland, July 7—Raids across the Italo-Swiss frontier by fascisti and beatings of anti-fascists who sought refuge in the canton of Tessin has caused the appointment of a commission of enquiry to report to Berne.

Arthur Alliatia, member of a party of excursionists in the Alps, was attacked by fascist bands because he was wearing a red shirt.

COMMUNIST-CHILDREN'S-COLUMN

JUNIOR GROUPS OF LEAGUE TO HOLD SUMMER CAMP IN CHICAGO

The children of the capitalist class live in large and well-ventilated homes, wear good clothes, eat the best of foods, have a thoro education, and travel all over the world for enjoyment on the sweat and blood of the working class. Especially is this true during the summer months when the rich go to California, to Michigan camps, to the cool soothing mountains, or take a trip to Europe or some other continent.

Life of Worker's Child.

The working class child lives in a densely populated section of the city, the part of the city where the flies and mosquitos hover, the place where you can hardly find a tree or a blade of grass. In the summer time during the hot, uncomfortable days the child of the worker runs around on the streets of the city, a victim of capitalist machines, or what is still worse is placed into production during his vacation to help support the family. In either case a prey of capitalist society.

Juniors Teach Class Interests.

The Junior Groups of the Young Workers League realize this. That is why we are organized. We teach the children to fight the capitalists, we prove to them by example that their parents are being robbed by the thieves who are non-essential to society, parasites who live on the toil of the workers. We try to make fighters of these children, class conscious fighters that will help break the chains of capitalism.

To Hold Summer Camp.

In accordance with this we want to teach the children to develop their own resources, to become stronger mentally and physically. We want them to grow up to be sturdy men and women, stronger fighters for the cause of the workers. In line with this the Junior Groups of the city of Chicago have decided to hold a summer camp. A camp that will remove the proletarian child from the slums of the city, that will build him up physically and intellectually. That is our present objective.

Need Funds.

There is only one obstacle in our path, one hindrance to this perfect plan, and that is what we workers have found to be the curse of capitalism, money. In order to put this proposition into effect we need at least $500.00 to start with. Five hundred dollars to insure the working class children of Chicago a few weeks of real happiness.

What would you give to see a camp governed by a children's Soviet Council, run completely by children, of course, with the co-operation of older comrades?

Must Contribute at Once.

What will you give to make this a reality?

We want you to contribute at once as much as you possibly can to help us in this work. Fill out the form below and prove your sincerity and solidarity to the rising generation.

CHILD LABOR LAW NOT ENFORCED BY PENNA. POLICE

Pay No Attention to Slaving Thousands

HARRISBURG, July 7—The child labor law of Pennsylvania is a scrap of paper so far as law enforcement officers, generally, are concerned. This strong statement is made on the authority of Richard H. Lansburgh, secretary of the department of labor and industry. His exact language occurs in the monthly publication of his deparament, as follows:

"In most communities of the state, local police pay no attention whatsoever to the enforcement of the child labor act." And this is one of the reasons why the law is so poorly enforced, he finds.

Turn Homes Into Sweat Shops.

Child labor, while decreasing in the factories, has been gaining more difficulties in the utilization of children within the factory walls they have "deemed it profitable to prey upon the economic necessity and old world characteristics of portions of the community by turning homes into sweat shops where little children are employed early in the morning, late at night, and on Saturday."

Thousands of children in addition go from Philadelphia to New Jersey truck farms and cranberry bogs where they work from May to November, losing months of school annually. There is no national child labor law affecting interstate relations, and the Pennsylvania statute cannot be used in New Jersey. Lansburgh says something is being done in checking the migration by way of employment offices in Pennsylvania but the results are inadequate.

Our Readers' Views

Two Cases for The International Labor Defense.

To the DAILY WORKER:—Mike Dumbrosky, Fort Madison Prison, Iowa, No. 12595; also Joe Drazich No. 11761.

This man Mike Dumbrosky was a member of the Workers Party. I can't recall what local he joined in Chicago. The court knowing this, the machinery of the court was set in motion to convict him with purely circumstantial evidence, in spite of the fact that he was ignorant of anything whatever concerning this case, or having any acquaintance with this man Schroeder. The cooked up story is that they met in the depot. An officer of the law saw Schroeder talking to Dumbrosky and Dumbrosky was held as an accomplice of Schroeder. Schroeder made a denial that this man Dumbrosky had anything to do with or knew anything at all about what was in the suitcase and he was thrown into jail.

A lawyer whose name is Carl Jordan in the city of Cedar Rapids, had taken his case, also the case of Schroeder that paid him $750 with the understanding that the case would be appealed to the supreme court. But nothing came out of this, except the statement by the lawyer that he withdrew his appeal to the supreme court because he was sure the board of parole would operate very quickly upon his release.

To be exact he had the understanding that he would get out in eleven months, it has been two years, and no action has been taken in his behalf.

The other man, Joe Drasich, was a member of the Carpenters' union of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. He held some office in this union. I believe he was secretary. They discovered in the meantime while holding this office that he also was a member of the Workers Party and, as there is much prejudice in this state against such members there was no difficulty in securing his indictment. To be indicted is equivalent to conviction.

We hope the Labor Defense Council will look into these cases and remedy if possible, the unfortunate conditions of these two men, and will work for repeal of this law, which brings about such hardship for members of the Workers Party. I have stated these cases correctly as possible. I am depending upon memory as I have no notes. You may find in the court of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, the exact record of the case. To my judgment they were railroaded to prison. Yours fraternally, Wm. Dandridge.

The Conflicts Increase

Who can recall, since the mad days of August, 1914, a time when so many events of the gravest importance, and full of meaning for workers and farmers, occurred with such lightning rapidity?

The French forces are defeated by the colonial tribesmen of Morocco, who fight for independence. Spain presumes to aid France and Britain declares that she will occupy Tangier rather than let any of her Mediterranean rivals menace her control of its western entrance.

The French government can get no general of any standing to take charge in Morocco. Evidently conscription does not apply to generals.

50,000 more Chinese workers join the strike in Shanghai.

General Feng Yu-hsiang issues a statement declaring that his army is ready to fight Great Britain for China's independence.

The British coal miners have rejected the wage revision submitted by the coal capitalists and are preparing for a strike.

250,000 British textile workers have likewise refused to accept a reduction in wages.

The executive of the Miners' Federation of the International Federation of Trade Unions, in which the British Miners' Federation is the most powerful unit, is meeting today to consider the crisis which prevails in the industry in Belgium, Germany and France. In all these countries the coal miners are demanding an increase in wages.

The increasing intensity of the imperialist conflicts coincide with the revival of militancy in the world trade union movement and the failure of capitalism, particularly in Great Britain, to improve the economic conditions of the masses. Every imperialist nation, confronted with the need for greater markets, cheaper raw materials and lower labor costs, is forced to encraoch on the preserves of its rivals and at the same time make war on the living standards of the workers.

Millions of workers and peasants, never before touched by the struggle, are now drawn into it.

The support of the Moroccan workers and peasants by the French working class, the expressions of solidarity sent the Chinese workers by the British unions, the unity of the workers of all these countries with the revolutionary Russian unions are a phenomenon never to be seen before.

These demonstrations of unity mark a new development in the class struggle—the recognition of the identity of interest between the colonial peoples and the working class of the imperialist nations.

That we are on the eve of world-shaking events cannot be doubted by any one who does not blind himself to facts. Nor is this a temporary phase of capitalist development. The normal process of imperialism is to intensify just such conflicts as we have mentioned and thereby to speed the progress of the world revolution.

When the colonial peoples are awakening by the millions as they are today it is a sign that imperialism has reached the beginning of its final stage—a period of conflicts ending with its destruction and the rise of the working class.

In the Illinois Coal Fields

A trip thru the coal fields of southern Illinois is recommended by us for anyone who doubts that the United Mine Workers' Union is being destroyed systematically by the shutdown of mines resulting in compelling miners either to move and secure other jobs or starve.

Mining town after mining town in the richest mining districts presents a spectacle of desolation. In some of them one-half of the houses are empty and in West Frankfort, formerly one of the most prosperous towns, the largest wholesale house has failed because the retailers cannot collect their bill from jobless miners.

The miners, still in camps in most instances, are able to live only because they cultivate a little patch of ground, raising potatoes, green vegetables and a few chickens and pigs.

In St. Louis businessmen tell one of the strenuous efforts made by the coal dealers to get them to switch from Illinois coal to non-union coal from Kentucky and other southern fields. Everywhere one finds evidence of the deliberate conspiracy against the union.

But the union officialdom is complacent. In one district the miners point to a "legal investigator," employed to take care of cases under the workmen's compensation law, who is drawing salary and expense at the rate of $10,000 per year while there are injured miners who have waited two, three and four years for an adjustment of their cases.

The officials of the union ceased long ago to enforce the provision of the agreement and the operators in many of the one-third of the mines that still are working have a free hand. There are instances of men loading so much coal in one shift that the actual labor cost figures out at only 43 cents per ton.

But in spite of the fact that continued unemployment and the joint blacklist of the officialdom and the operators have driven thousands of the best fighters in the union out of the coal fields, there is a very decided purpose apparent in those who are left. The control of the union by the Lewis-Farrington gang is now purely a mechanical process—all faith in the officials has been destroyed and they only maintain their control by means that would put the most reactionary capitalist government to shame.

A better organization of the left wing forces in the union is in process, determined groups are forming in every camp and the rank and file have decided:

First, that the union must fight if it is to be saved.

Second, that the fight must be started and the union saved in spite of the officials.

The miners expect a strike this fall and are getting ready for it.

No Revision, But New Treaties, Chinese Cry

tive of the Soviet government oil syndicate.

Raw Frame Up by Imperialists.

The Soviet government asserts that the frame up against Dosser is apparently a case of the British-American oil trust preventing the Soviet government oil syndicate from getting any foothold in China.

Moreover, the farce usually practiced against a Chinese in the "international mixed court" is now being used against a citizen of Soviet Russia, which has full treaty relations with China, according to which the Soviet government agreed that its citizens in China are subject to trial under Chinese law by Chinese courts. The Soviet government does not recognize the legality of the "mixed court" which, headed by a British judge assumes the right to try a citizen of the Soviet Union.

Forgeries Apparent.

The supposed "documents" alleged to have been "found" in Dosser's luggage, are denounced as ridiculous forgeries of the British secret service men who arrested him, placed in evidence falsely as having been found upon Dossier's person.

The most unique lies are told by the imperialist press in Shanghai. At Chungking, where a student demonstration was held a student was wounded by a bayonet thrust from the British sailors posted at the British legation.

Childish Excuses for Bayonetting Student.

The almost unbelieveably childish story in the Shanghai foreign press is that the students "thrust one of their number against the British bayonets so that he would be wounded or killed and thus become a martyr." The British sailors offered, apparently, their full co-operation by holding the bayonets in a favorable position to offer martyrdom to any student who would be "thrust against" them.

From Kalgan reports state that General Feng Yu-hsiang, has issued a manifesto to the Christians of the world, pleading for justice for China and saying that the Chinese are being killed like chickens and dogs.

Where Are The Christians?

He remarks that while expressions of sympathy and vast material support is pouring in from the revolutionary labor unions of the Red International and the British unions, no word has been heard from Christians. He notifies the Christian world to respond to the appeal for justice "or your day is at hand."

Wheat Crop for 1925 Shows Big Gains in Two European Countries

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 7.—The Hungarian wheat crop is forecast at 55,115,000 bushels compared with 50,386,000 bushels harvested last year, according to a cablegram received by the United States department of agriculture from the international institute of agriculture at Rome. Rye production is forecast at 26,376,000 bushels against 22,858,000 bushels in 1924.

Wheat production in Netherlands for 1925 is forecast at 5,181,000 bushels against 4,216,000 bushels in 1924; rye 15,747,000 bushels compared with 14,661,000 bushels last year; barley 3,582,000 bushels against 3,146,000 bushels; potatoes 110,928,000 bushels against 98,969,000 bushels in 1924.

TRI-DISTRICT DEMANDS CONSIDERED BY BOSSES OF ANTHRACITE FIELDS

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 7.—The demands adopted by the hard coal union miners at Scranton, Pa., last week were to be considered today at a meeting here of the anthracite operators' conference, formerly known as the policy committee.

The demands will be presented formally to the emplyoers at the joint session of miners and operators in Atlantic City, N. J., next Thursday.

FRISCO SETTING PACE IN T. U. E. L. AND OTHER WORK

"Hands Off China!" Is Popular Slogan

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 7.—The local T. U. E. L. group has made a surprising come-back recently. The work in the local trade unions is taking on a real militant form and the numbers in the group are increasing enormously.

Saturday, July 11, has been set aside for an entertainment and dance, and from all indications this affair will be the success of the season.

The Chinese, Japanese and other nationalities of Oakland will unite in a mass protest meeting Sunday night July 12, at Machinists Hall 434 11th St., Oakland. Speakers: James H. Dolsen, in English; Miss Sum Way Gum, President of the Unionist Guild, in Chinese; Cham Sut Yeu, secretary of Guild, and editor of Kung Sing (Chinese Labor paper), in Chinese; and Marshall Jeng, vice-president of Guild and officer of Chinese Students Association of America, in English.

Shiji Matsui, Berkeley, will speak in Japanese. Clarence Tobey, of the Young Workers League will be chairman. The feeling for "Hands off China" is strong among the workers of all nationalities. The rank and file of the unions are demanding action. The enslavement of China means the enslavement of America. Come, every worker, and voice your protest.

The unions of San Francisco are rapidly lining up for the resolution "Hands off China" passed by the recent mass meeting. Financial support is also being given by these unions. The following locals, up to this date, have passed the resolution: Painters' Local 19 Painters' Local 11-58; Amalgamated Clothing Workers; Cooks Local 44; Waiters Local 120; Machinists Local 68; Dregerman's Local; Carpenters 483.

demanding severance of relations was made "with the consent of the whole cabinet". Chamberlain's ridiculous claim that Soviet Russia is solely to blame for the uprising in China and the liberation movement, is definitely meant to lay a ground for war upon the Soviet power.

France, thru a conference of Briand with Lord Crewe, British ambassador, decided to join the war movement to check the swift decline of French imperialism threatened with financial collapse and military disaster in the Riffian war.

The British cabinet today announced that it "considered" the note from the Soviet Commissar of Foreign affairs Tchitcherin, handed to British Ambassador Hodgeson at Moscow but not arrived yet in London.

Soviet Russia Rebukes Britain

Tchitcherin sharply rebukes England for its propaganda that the Soviet Government and not imperialist brutality and exploitation is responsible for the liberation movement in China. In addition he challenges the assumed authority of "mixed courts" of foreigners in China to try Soviet citizens and asserts that M. Dosser, was convicted by forged evidence before the illegal "mixed court" with a British judge at Shanghai on Chinese soil.

To Act Without Consent of Parliament

In reply to a question in the House of Commons, Chamberlain stated that the Baldwin government "reserved the right to take whatever action it might think was required without consulting the Commons."

KLAN ATTACKER FACES JAIL FOR ENTIRE SUMMER

Judge Refuses to Free Alleged Murderers

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., July 7.—Faced with the situation of having their clients, David C. Stephenson factory owner and ex-klan dragon Earl Gentry and Karl Klinck, charged with the murder of Miss Madge Oberholtzer, remain in jail thruout the summer, counsel promised a surprise either late today or Wednesday. The attorneys declare they will either free their clients on bail or get them an immediate trial before enother judge.

Legal jockeying and maneuvering suddenly ended when Judge Hines arbitrarily took the case into his own hands and adjourned court until next October. Counsel had argued all day. The state wanted Stephenson, classified as the real principal in the case, to go on trial first, while the defense counsel wanted Gentry and Klinck to be tried before Stephenson.

Defense counsel planned to go before the state supreme court on a writ of habeas corpus claiming that their clients have been arbitrarily and autocratically denied their rights under the constitution and the state statutes by a judge whom they will demand be thrown out of the case and another substituted.

GREAT BRITAIN FACES BIG STRIKES AGAINST WAGE CUTS OF BOSSES

LONDON, July 7.—The British cabinet is today considering the crisis in the coal industry at the same time that the executive committee of the International Miners' Federation is also meeting with delegates present from France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Czecho-Slovakia and Britain to consider the attacks upon the coal miners in every country where wages are being cut and hours lengthened.

The British miners have refused to consider the operators' proposal for reducde wages and longer hours and a strike may come at the end of July.

Meanwhile England has 1,250,000 unemployed, and 250,000 textile workers threaten to strike against a proposed wage cut.

TOILERS SUPPORT COMMUNISTS AT STREET MEETING

Junkers Retreat Like Beaten Dogs

By P. SECHAL,
Worker Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 7.—"Pay-triots" who consider it their duty to always interrupt street meetings held by Communists tried their stunt last Saturday evening at a meeting held at 39th street and 8th avenue, under the auspices of the Greek branch of the Workers Party. Several legioners, and detectives tried by interruptions to break up the meetings, but Cmrade Clarence Miller who followed Peter Yakoumis and Stanitsides, Greek speakers, showed up their patriotic bunk.

Freaks of Capitalism.

Comrade Miller pointed out that some of the intruders, in spite of their being in the ranks of the working class permit themselves to become the tools of the bosses. The fact that in capitalist countries there are workers who blindly fight for the interests of their exploiters, when they should line up where they belong, on the side of their fellow workers, is due to the bosses owning every avenue of policy. The press, the schools, the movies, sport organizations and the church are all spokesmen for the exploiting class and their minds are poisoned with capitalist propaganda. Comrade Israel Amter who was the last speaker continued along the same lines. He produced fact after fact to show the miserable conditions of the workers and how these are being made worse by the workers supporting the bosses' organizations. Especially did he get the support of the audiènce which consisted of a few hundred workers when he attacked defense day.

Junkers Call Cops.

The enraged junkers not succeeding in breaking up the meeting because of the support given the Communist speakers clied the police. But the police only took the names of the speakers so that in case the fascisti want to prefer charges against the Communists they will know where to find them.

GREAT BRITAIN PASSES BUCK OF HER DEBT TO AMERICA ON TO ALLIES

LONDON, July 7.—Foreign Minister Chamberlain announced in the house of commons that Great Britain in her hote to her debtors had reiterated her insistance that in any settlements arranged, Britain must receive payments proportionate to any payments which the allies might make to the United States.

He said both France and Italy had responded expressing the hope that they would be able to enter into negotiations with Britain on the subject in the near future.

HOLD LEFT WING MEET TO BUILD MPLS. UNIONS

Rank and File Sees Need for Militancy

(Special to The Daily Worker)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 7.—Plans are under way to revitalize the trade union movement of Minneapolis. The rank and file of the unions are conscious of the fact, that as the trade union movement is now constituted, it is divided, weak and incapable of carrying on an effective struggle against the attacks of the citizens' alliance, chamber of commerce and the manufacturers' association.

The rank and file is becoming restless because of this situation. The Left Wing is going to lay definite plans to overcome this disgraceful condition. There is no question but what the progressive members of the trade unions must take the initiative in organizing a fighting campaign to "Organize the Unorganized" against wage cuts and lengthening of hours; in making the trade unions real organs of the class struggle instead of supporters of the capitalist system which enslaves and oppresses the great mass of the workers. And in fact, to utilize every means possible to build up and strengthen the organized labor movement.

After preliminary discussion among the leaders of the left wing, the progressive members of organized labor have reached the conclusion that a meeting should be called immediately to organize the left wing movement in the trade unions on a constructive fighting program.

Every progressive member of a trade union must recognize, that if the weak and disorganized condition of the trade unions is to be remedied, something more than mere talk is required; he must roll up his sleeves and participate actively in the reconstruction of the trade union movement. Lip service is not quite sufficient for this task.

To the end, then, of laying a permanent foundation to work on, a meeting will be held Thursday evening, July 9 at T. M. A. hall, 816 Hennepin Avenue, second floor at 8 p. m.

Every progressive worker is not only urged to attend himself, but to also bring with him several other members of his union. It is time to be about and doing things.

DEMANDS OF PROGRESSIVE MINERS TOLD TO SCRANTON ANTHRACITE CONVENTION BY DELEGATE TOOHEY

SCRANTON, Pa., July 7.—After making a vigorous speech in support of a labor party resolution at the Tri-District convention of the anthracite coal miners, members of the United Mine Workers of America, Pat Toohey, progressive coal miner and member of the Workers (Communist) Party, was asked by the press for a statement.

Comrade Toohey made the following declartaion, telling what the progressive miners stand for:

Born a Miner.

"I am the son of a miner, was born in a mining camp and entered the mines as a wage worker at a very early age. All my life I have been in intimate contact with the workers in the mining industry in this country in both anthracite and bituminous fields. I know the problems that confront the workers in this industry, their hopes and their sueffrings, and since I was able to understand anything have been convinced that the only way for us to improve our conditions is by fighting for a militant union organized thruout the length and breadth of the industry.

"When I was elected by my local union, I stood on the program of the Progressive Miners that, in my opinion, if adopted, would strengthen the organization in its struggle against the mine barons. This being a wage agreement convention we emphasized the question of wages and hours. We demand an increase in wages compatible with living costs and the establishment of the 6-hour day and 5-day week in order to assure employment to all miners in the jurisdiction of this convention.

Abolish "Conciliation."

"I am not alone in these demands. These are the demands of all the progressive miners in this country. While we demand decent conditions from the operators, we, at the same time, strive to make our organization more effective by proposing the abolition of the conciliation board, which in and always has been unfair to the miners.

"We considered this board beneficial to the operators and harmful to the miners. We also insist upon the election of organizers of the union, instead of their appointment. We hold that the custom of appointing organizers tends to build up an official oligarchy against the membership.

For Union Unity.

"Our interests in the miners' cause extends beyond the borders of the United States and Canada and we include in our demands the proposition that the United Mine Workers of America fight for International Trade Union unity. This is essential because we have seen in the past when miners of one country go on strike for better conditions coal is shipped in from other countries.

Such was the case in our own strike in 1922 when British ships carried coal to American ports and when previous to that American coal was shipped to British ports during the triple alliance movement in England. This practice of the workers of one nation scabbing upon those of another can only be stopped by the consolidation of all the unions of the world into one great International.

Must Hold Convention.

"We are against the postponement of the International convention, as sponsored by our International officials, and consider the problems of the miners so pressing that a convention must be held this year in order to lay plans for effective resistance to the assaults being made upon us by the mine owners.

Demand Labor Party.

"We also propose that the miners and other workers fight the enemy on the political field and in order effectively to conduct this political fight we demand the formation of a Labor Party that will fight against the treachery of the two old parties whose entire history is a record of assaults against labor.

"Furthermore, we demand the nationalization of the mines which means the abolition of private ownership in this industry. We insist that the administration of nationalized mines to be in the hands of the workers.

"We favor the recognition of Russia, the release of class war prisoners who are rotting in the dungeons of this alleged democracy, the abolition of child labor; we oppose the Dawes plan as an ambitious dream of world imperialism which, if carried into effect, means the enslavement and degredation of German workers and the eventual beating down of the standard of living of all the workers of the earth. We also condemn the tendency of certain labor leaders to support this Dawes plan, which is a conspiracy against the world's workers.

"We further insist upon the abolition of the anti-syndicalist laws because they are used to crush the working class. We oppose the so-called Citizens Military Training Camps as a scheme to militarize the workers and further the interests of the "open" or scab shop in American industry.

"In fact we fight at all times for the elementary demands of the working class."

The strike of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, 800 strong, continues with all the fireworks of the class war, with the picket line effective, no work in the shop, few scabs getting fewer, and the masses of strikers enthused by union support in their fight against the scabbery of the United Garment Workers' "Union."

Two Machinist Locals Protest Union Scabs.

Tuesday night, Local 390 of the International Association of Machinists, at the instance of the left wing group of the Trade Union Educational League, passed a motion of protest against the scabbing of the United Garment Workers' "Union" upon the Amalgamated strikers in the shops of the International Tailoring Company and the J. L. Taylor Company shops.

This important machinists' local instructed its delegates to the Chicago Federation of Labor to take up the matter at the next federation meeting and condemn the scabbing of the United Garment gang. Local No. 199

AS WE SEE IT.

By T. J. O'FLAHERTY

THERE is a little town in Montana located on the Great Northern railway line, by the name of Wolf Point. It is quieter than an unoccupied graveyard. Had Rip Van Winkle taken his snoose there instead of in Sleepy Hollow, he would not be awake yet. The only noise that can be heard in Wolf Point, outside of the "toot, toot" of the trains that pass thru, is the chriping of the grasshoppers. The people of Plentywood say that the grasshoppers grind their teeth with rage because they can't get out of there.

THERE is a reason for Wolf Point's deadly quiet. Only a few years ago it was a live spot. The employes of the Great Northern railway shops injected a progressvie note into the political atmosphere. But during the 1922 railroad strike, the Great Northern shopmen went out and lost. Broken-down farmers went in and scabbed. To show their gratitude, the company took the shops away from Wolf Point.

THE little town is completely in the hands of the reactionaries. There is a court house in Wolf Point and sometimes the officials of Sheridan county, when prosecuting businessmen for public robbery or some other misdemeanor, are obliged to attend trial there. The judges and prosecuting officers at Wolf Point—it is located in Roosevelt county—make common cause with the indicted businessmen against the "reds" of Sheridan county. Kluxers and catholics join hands against the common enemy and unless a crook pleads guilty he is pretty safe around Wolf Point, provided he does his thievery in Sheridan county.

THOSE who imagine that the American farmer is an ignorant "hick" have not visited Montana. It seems to me that the eastern part of that state was colonized by wobblies and socialists. One farmer boasted that he attended the first convention of the I. W. W. held in 1905, and that he voted with Thomas Haggerty, the ex-Roman catholic priest. And he is still in the fight. In fact farming to him is merely a sideline. He is now a Communist and a member of the Workers Party. In Sheridan county the radicals never miss an opportunity to tell the world what they believe in.

ANOTHER ex-wobbly has degenerated into a banker. He was a lumberjack and worked as a harvest stiff. He is sympathetic to radical ideas yet, but he does not like to hear the bankers scored. A banker in this part of the country is about as popular as a prohibition agent in Hoboken, New Jersey. There is one thing to their credit, however. While it is

U. S. Imperialism Insists

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Under instructions from Secretary of State Kellogg, John V. A. MacMurray, new American minister to China, is sounding out the representatives of the powers at Peking on the advisability of holding a conference for the revision of China's treaty relations with foreign nations.

It was stated here today in diplomatic quarters that upon MacMurray's report to Kellogg will depend the next step of this government in getting the conference organized. Despite the opposition of Great Britain and Japan to the American proposal, the state department has indicated no change in its original plan, but expects to make no further step until MacMurray has surveyed the situation in China and cabled his impressions to Washington.

Ratification of the treaties of the Washington conference relating to China by the French chamber of deputies was looked upon here as an endorsement of the suggestion of the United States that the powers should not delay in going into the Chinese problem, regardless of the alleged impotence of the Peking government. Officials say they feel that Great Britain and Japan "will eventually approve" the conference suggestion and accept the invitation which China is said to be ready to tender at a propitious moment.

At this time, so information states, Secretary Kellogg is not willing to try "to drag the powers into a Chinese conference," looking to the abolition of extra-territoriality. Realizing that the "British and Japanese interests in China are so vast, varied and complicated that these governments must proceed slowly and carefully in agreeing to take any step that might injure their commercial relations in the Far East."

Great Britain Refuses

(Special to The Daily Worker)

LONDON, July 8.—A flat declaration that Great Britain is opposed to giving up its extra-territoriality privileges in China was made in the House of Commons tonight by Foreign Minister Chamberlain.

"Britain is not prepared to renounce extra-territorial privileges in China," he said.

BRITISH HAVE AN EXCUSE.

This is a direct opposition to the conference as proposed by the United States. The British excuse, communicated by unofficial routes to the American state department and published as propaganda all over the world, is that the Peking government is "powerless to enforce" any international committments and that the weakness of the central government prevents foreign powers from granting the Chinese government the right to sovereignity over Chinese soil.

The fly in the ointment is that this pose is purely hypocrisy, as the foreign nations, by force of arms have taken over the administration of customs and other revenue of the Chinese government and have effectively stopped the central government from getting any funds wherewith it might enforce its rule.

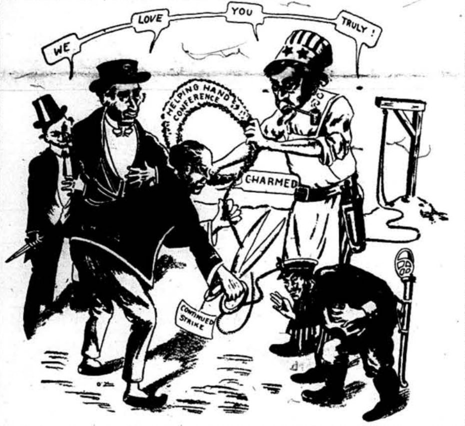
WHY U. S. GOES TO CHINA.

It is, of course, fully recognized that the United States proposal for a conference to revise the treaties now being enforced on China, is far from being an altruistic act of the big-hearted Yankee imperialists. On the contrary, it is not the benefit to China that the American government contemplates, but the winning for the United States the trade and concessions now being put in jeopardy by Chinese hostility.

The Crafty Wiles of the Would-Be Assassins



Premier Ill with Carbuncle; To Form New Cabinet Soon

HALIFAX, N. S., July 8.—Grave anxiety was expressed today over the condition of Premier Armstrong, who was readmitted to a local hospital after being operated on for an infection of the upper lip diagnosed as spreading carbuncle.

It is expected that Hon. E. N. Rhodes, conservative leader, whose party was returned to power in the recent elections, will be called upon to form a new government.

MEMBERS OF CENTRAL COMMITTEE OF COMMUNIST PARTY OF BULGARIA BRAND "MANIFESTO" AS FORGERY

(By International Press Service)

MOSCOW—Kolaroff and Dimitrov sent the following telegram to the trial court at Sofia:

"In the indictment against the Central Committee of the Bulgarian Communist Party there is mentioned a certain manifesto dated September 22, 1922, and claimed to have been signed by Basil Kolaroff. We herewith declare said manifesto to be a forgery. We have never issued any such appeal."

A copy of the above telegram was sent to Kabaktchev who is imprisoned in Sofia in connection with the trial against the Central Committee.

FORCE LAST OF SIX SOCIALISTS FROM COUNCIL

Minneapolis Contest Is Lost by T. Jensen

(Special to The Daily Worker)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 8—The contest that John P. Eckberg instituted against Theodore Jensen, for the aldermanic seat of the twelfth ward has resulted in the victory of Eckberg over Jensen.

Jensen was a laborite and president of the city council under socialist-labor control. With the loss of this contest, the entire six socialist-laborites that were up for re-election, were defeated.

"Boss" Murphy Leaves $2,000,000.

NEW YORK, July 8.—While not as large as some of the fortunes left by other leaders of Tammany Hall, notably that of Richard H. Croker, the estate of Charles F. Murphy, who died more than a year ago, totalled more than $2,000,000, it was disclosed today. Most of it was in stocks and bonds.

FREIHEIT TO STAGE A FLOWER TAG DAY NEXT SUNDAY; GIRLS WANTED

Next Sunday the Jewish Communist daily paper, the fighting Freiheit, will stage a unique sort of demonstration in Chicago, in which all readers of the DAILY WORKER and the Freiheit, and especially all members of the Workers (Communist) Party are asked to participate.

Women and girls are asked to volunteer to put over a Flower Tag Day, to report at various supply stations not later than 7 a. m. Sunday morning.

The following are the stations at which girl volunteers are to report Sunday at 7 a. m.: Freiheit office, 3118 West Roosevelt Road; Freiheit Singing Society, 3837 West Roosevelt Road; Northwest side: Ceshinski's Book Store, 2720 West Division St.; Jewish Workers' Culture Society, 2032 West Division; West side: Wallerstein's Book Store, 1022 West Roosevelt Road.

At 2 p. m. Sunday, after all volunteers have returned to the above supply stations, and from there all will go together to the Young Workers League excursion in the Milwaukee woods

CALLES AGENTS DEPORT WOLFE FROM MEXICO

Socialist Regime Does Hurry-up Job

"By order of the executive, Bertram D. Wolfe is hereby declared a federal prisoner to be held at the disposition of the secretary of the interior. He is to be permitted to communicate with no one."

"The President of the United States of Mexico, pursuant to faculties granted him under article 33 of the constitution orders the immediate expulsion of Bertram D. Wolfe from the country because his presence on national territory is inconvenient."

These two orders, issued and signed on Sunday, June 29, were executed on Monday, June 30, and Wolfe was on a train bound for the border the same night, accompanied by two members of the Mexican secret police.

Deportation in "socialist" Mexico is much easier than it is in the capitalist U. S. A. An order, signed by the president, no reasons given, no proofs offered, no court appeal possible—such is the delightfully simple procedure outlined by article 33 of the Mexican constitution and used by "Comrade" Calles to rid himself of the increasingly embarassing presence of

BRITISH GOVERNMENT DODGES ON QUESTION OF SOVIET RELATIONS

LONDON, July 8.—Foreign Minister Chamberlain denied in the house of commons tonight that severance of diplomatic relations with Russia was imminent.

"There is no proposal for the severance of relations with Russia under consideration by the government," said the foreign minister.

This laconic declaration was drawn from Chamberlain after labor members heckled him regarding reports that he was prepared to break with Russia and demanded exact information of the status of affairs.

JAP PRINCE ASSERTS JAPAN AND BRITAIN ARE UNITED IN CHINA

LONDON, July 8.—Anglo-Japanese relations are the best, according to Prince Chichibu, second son of the Japanese emperor, who arrived in England today to attend Oxford University. The young prince referred to the co-operation of British and Japanese during the Chinese strike troubles and said his presence in England was itself an indication of the closeness of the bond between the two countries.

CHICAGO NEEDLE WORKERS RALLY TO SUPPORT OF I. L. G. W. LOCALS SUSPENDED BY MACHINE IN N. Y.

The struggle between the militant membership of the International Ladies' Garment Workers and the reactinoary yellow socialist officialdom, is not a question limited to New York City, altho the fight there is taking on the character of a complete mass revolt. In Chicago, also, the members fo the I. L. G. W. have had some experiences with Messrs. Perlstein and Sigman, and the needle trades section of the Trade Union Educational League has today issued the following statement in support of the New York membership:

PERLSTEIN, Sigman and Feinberg, in alliance with the Forward reactionaries, and with the paid services of East Side gunmen and gangsters are waging a destructive war upon Locals 2, 9 and 22 of New York City.

The Perlstein-Sigman machine knows that with these three locals, representing 60 per cent of the New York membership, definitely on record for the progressive program and led by left wingers, their days of rule in the I. L. G. W. U. are numbered. So they have decided to either capture these locals by expelling the militant leaders and thru a reign of terrorism, or destroy them.

The Chicago members must not forget the trail of distrust, demoralization and disorganization that Perlstein left behind in Chicago. Now he is determined to do in New York what he did in Chicago.

Perlstein the "Organizer."

Just a few high spots as a reminder of his visit here. Perlstein came to Chicago ostensibly to organise. This is what he did. Over $100,000

FARRINGTON PROPOSES PLAN THAT WOULD WRECK THE UNITED MINE WORKERS' UNION IN ILLINOIS

By ALEX REID.

CHRISTOPHER, Ill., July 8.—When Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois Miners' Union, told the miners in Local Union No. 3192, Johnston City, Ill., that he knew they did not like him, and that he did not give a god damn, he meant exactly what he said, and the attempt to reduce their tonnage rate 12 cents per ton, thereby reducing their earning capacity, proves the truth of his assertion.

Frank Farrington, in spite of all his declarations to the contrary, is attempting to betray the Illinois coal diggers, and start a wage cutting

TO SEND 50,000 FRENCH TROOPS TO AFRICAN WAR

Riffians Take Another Town in Attack

PARIS, France, July 8—The evacuation of Taza has now been completed, war communiques from Morocco state, only men being left in the town.

The new commander of the French invading troops, Gen. Naulin, will leave for Morocco in a week.

Fifty thousand more French troops will be sent to Morocco immediately by the Painleve government, it is learned, in an effort to stop the successful attacks of the Riffian natives.

Painleve has asked the chamber of deputies for a further credit of 300,000,000 francs ($15,000,000) for military expenses. The Communist deputies are opposing the credit, and demanding the withdrawal of French troops from Morocco. The socialists are again expected to support the imperialist war.

French forces have evacuated Zaldour, north of Ouezzan, before the attack of the Moroccans.

The French have sent motor cars with machine guns mounted on them into the regions north of Taza and Fez, in an attempt to force the restless natives to support the French troops.

The war office reports that the probability of a general uprising thruout Morocco continues.

CAL IN DRIVE TO REDUCE TAX ON BIG INCOMES

Businessmen Expects to Save Millions

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 8.—President Coolidge, himself a stockholder in the United States Steel Corporation has launched a propaganda drive on behalf of big business to reduce the surtax on high incomes. The president announced that he will endeavor to reduce the tax on millionaires from the present rate of forty per cent to twelve per cent.

Coolidge announced he wanted to bring "greater prosperity to industry." He said he is launching the propaganda drive early this year in order to stave off a defeat such as was administered to the "Mellon plan" by the last congress. Coolidge called his propaganda drive an "educational drive."

ARBITRATION TRICK IS USED TO DEFEAT UNION AND KEEP WAGES DOWN

NEW ORLEANS, July 8—(FP)—Street car men organized in the Amalgamated Assn. of Street and Electric Railway employes will continue to receive 45, 47 and 51c an hour until the expiration of their contract with the New Orleans Public Service, Inc., June 30, 1926. The arbitration board refused a 10 per cent increase. The company will then insist on a general reduction. The union is bound by an arbitration agreement.

Worker Correspondent Irwin Wins $5 Prize in First Contest.

The $5 literature prize for the best worker correspondent story in the first of our twice-a-month contests has been awarded, by unanimous decision of the judges—Comrades Loeb, Engdahl and Dunne—to Worker Correspondent Irwin for his story, published Monday, June 29, under the head "Pressed Steel Car Company Uses Shutdown Threat to Speed-Up, Cut Piece Rates."

This story is remarkable for the detailed knowledge of wages and working conditions displayed. It also refers in a clear manner to the last struggles of the workers, the use of private and state police, the blacklist system and other methods of terrorising the workers.

The story gives a picture of conditions in the industry with which it deals and shows that the state power is the instrument of the bosses in maintaining their control over the workers.

It shows also the development of machinery replacing labor and the effect of this on the conditions of the workers.

The weakness of this story, however, is that it does not suggest a remedy in the form of shop committees and union organization nor does it give any idea as to what the workers are saying and thinking about the methods used by the company.

With such additions the prize-winning story could be used to the best advantage for agitational purposes in the plant because the workers would see at once that the correspondent knew what he was talking about.

The story is only a little less than a column in length and therefore somewhat too long for the average worker correspondent article but in consideration of the information contained in it, this was overlooked.

Who will be the worker correspondent to improve upon Irwin's story in the second contest now on?

"Socialist" Calles Deports Communist

Wolfe, stop the latter's anti-imperialist and labor activities in Mexico and offer another concession to Kellogg to prove the "unbolshevik" nature of Mexican laborism.

Source of "Inconvenience."

This famous article 33 of the Mexican constitution which gives to the president of Mexico the right to deport any alien for "pernicious activities" for "mixing in politics" or for being a source of "inconvenience" during his stay on national territory was adopted by the framers of the liberal constitution of 1917 as a measure aimed at the exploiters of Mexico, the British and American imperialist oil and mining investors, and by the peculiar reversals for which the so-called labor government of Mexico is famous, was turned inside out and applied to one of the most active enemies of American imperialism in Mexico.

Even in the details of the methods of applying the deportation measure, the class character of the Mexican government is made clear. When Leach, representative of big investment interests in Tampico was deported by Obregon, he was given ten days to wind up his affairs and leave the country without escort.

All oil and mining men deported for "mixing in Mexican politics" in the sense of subsidizing revolutions and bribing oppositions (to bribe the official in power is not "mixing in politics" within the meaning of the constitutional clause) have been given the ten days notice.

Didn't Get 10 Minutes Notice.

But now that the deportation article has been turned against a worker and Communist (not the first time that the arbitrary presidential power has been so used) not even ten minutes notice was given but Wolfe was grabbed in the morning as he left his house, held incommunicado until train time and deported the same night under guard without being permitted to take the necessary baggage or funds to care for himself after passing the frontier.

The deportation threat had long been hanging over Wolfe. A member of the executive committee of the Communist Party and of the executive of the All-American Anti-imperialist League, he had been a thorn in the side of the American embassy, the Calles administration and the government-owned leaders of the Mexican Federation of Labor. These leaders had themselves officially petitioned the expulsion, but had never succeeded in getting Wolfe expelled from his union altho it was affiliated with the Federation and the leaders had themselves appeared before the union to prefer charges and conduct the trial The union repeatedly repudiated the expulsion requests.

The deportation threats had become chronic. Every time the Communist Party issued a new manifesto or started a new move, every time a new union indicated tendencies of a militant nature—came another expulsion threat.

Tension Tightened in June.

But of a sudden, towards the end of June, tension tightened in Mexico. The government became panicky when it saw the autonomous unions urged on by the Communists, prepare the first steps toward the formation of a national federation independent of the government—which federation promises to control the basic oil industry, railwaymen and others, leaving the government unions only in control of minor industries. Also the American state department became uneasy and "protesty." And above all, there loomed on the horizon the sinister cloud of a general strike of the most powerful labor group in Mexico, the railway federation.

The Communists had been predicting the strike and explaining its necessity for a year and a half—ever since the signing of the Lamont-De la Huerta treaty. The Communist statement issued then to the effect that the denationalization (return to private hands) of the government-owned railways provided by the treaty contained a secret proviston to the effect that before handing over the roads the government was to lower wages break down conditions and destroy the powerful railway federation.

The "guess" of the Communists as to a secret provision attracted little attention among railwaymen at first but bit by bit the actions of the government made it clear that it had not been guesswork but correct analysis. Thereupon, the railwaymen began entering the Communist Party and preparing for a fight. By twos and threes they entered, and then by tens and twelves. May 1st found them so far advanced in their militant mood that they invited Wolfe to address their May Day meeting. By June first they had invited him to start a class in the tactics of the class struggle in their headquarters. A government representative "unofficially" interviewed Wolfe and informed him that the class would not be permitted. After the first lecture of the course, he received a second visit and was informed that he would never give the second lesson, that deportation papers were ready and that if he knew what was good for him he would "drop it."

Railwaymen Join Party.

The class continued and after every session some new railwaymen joined the darty. Alliance, organ of the Alliance of Mexican Railwaymen, began carrying articles favorable to Comunism. Its editor joined the party. The party named committees of action to aid the railway strike and the unions began putting themselves on a strike footing. The last week in June they elected a Communist general secretary of the Federation.

The government perceived that "orientation" and strike were synonomous and rightly judged that this class in the tactics of the class struggle would complicate their problem of crushing the railway unions. In fact anything which tended at this juncture to increase the will to struggle and the capacity for struggle of the railwaymen was a menace to the government and to the imperialist Lamont-De la Huerta treaty. This class had become to Calles a nightmare, a symbol of resistance to his policy of surrender to American capitalism. And the presence of Wolfe had become "inconvenient."

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 27, 28, and 29, there were conferences between the executive of the party and various prominent Communist railwaymen and sympathizers.

On June 30 there was to be a general railwaymen's meeting and on July 1 the new Communist secretary of the Federation was to take office. On June 30 Wolfe disappeared and 36 hours later—the fastest time possible, he was on the American side of the Rio Grande.

Couldn't Break Up Class.

Imagine then the consternation of the Mexican government, imagine the swarm of dicks and stoolpigeons that attended when on the following Wednesday it was announced that the deportee's class in tactics would be given as usual. And it was! The Communist Party had received too long a notice to be caught napping. Another instructor, the party secretary was prepered and drilled. The notes for the nevt class weer in his possesion and each week he received notes for the next class were in his can deport Communists but you cannot deport Communism."

This is one of the many agitational slogans that immediately were launched by previously prepared protest meetings all over the country. The July fourth anti-imperialist meetings and demonstrations arranged all over the country by the Anti-imperialist League supported by the railway unions and many other important labor bodies, were largely converted into protests at this new evidence of subserviency to American imperialism. The July 4 meeting of the Anti-imperialist League in Mexico City adopted a resolution of protest and sent the following telegram to Wolfe care of the national office of the Workers Party:

"Betram D. Wolfe,

"Anti-imperialist meeting greets you, protesting expulsion, praising your work. Greetings,

"Enrique Flores Magon,

"Chairman Meeting."

Protests Grow in Volume.

The protests continue and grow in volume. The preparations for the railway strike go on. The class and the contacts that Calles sought to stop are not stopped. The net effect of his action is to expose more clearly than ever the emptiness of his fine phrases in the Kellogg matter and the utter subserviency of his government to the mandates of Wall Stret. And it has sharpened the class conflicts in Mexico.

CHICAGO NEEDLE TOILERS RALLY TO N. Y. STRUGGLE

Support I.L.G.W. Locals Hit by Machine

was in the joint board treasury when Peristein came to Chicago. Approximately the same sum was sent to Chicago from New York. This was quickly dissipated, and the results of it were:

Most all progressive officials and delegates to the joint board and local union executive were removed. Rank and file progressives were slugged, removed from the job, fined, disfranchised, eleven of the most prominent left wingers were expelled from the union. Most every candidate for office suspected of being progressive or who would swear blind obedience to the machine were, and still are, being removed from the ballot.

The membership of the union is less, the morale lower, job control almost completely lost. This sums up in a few words Peristein's "achievements" and it cost the membership over $200,000 from their treasury alone.

Shop Chairmen Support Locals 2, 9 and 22.

The "crime" committed by Locals 2, 9 and 22, is that that they refuse to have shoved down their throats the proposed New York agreement, which is a pure sell-out, agreed to by the governor's commission, the yellow socialist lawyer, Hillquit and the Peristein-Sigman machine.

In a meeting of 2,500 shop chairmen, a resolution was unanimously adopted demanding the removal of the three local executive boards and refusing to recognize this unconstitutional and arbitrary act. The resolution further points out that it is not merely a struggle of Communists but a mass revolt of the membership against a group of parasites who assume the right to raise dues, levy assessments, sign agreements, call and settle strikes on their own terms without consulting the membership.

Members on Guard.

Like thieves in the night, Peristein and Sigman turned loose on the offices of these locals the scum of the East Side. Hundreds of rank and filers of Local 22, day and night defend their headquarters against these hired gunmen.

Brothers and sisters, you must rally to the support of Locals 2, 9 and 22. They are bearing the burden in the struggle against the black reaction that, if allowed to rule, our union much longer, will smother and destroy our organization.

Locals 2, 9 and 22 stand firmly against the governor's commission award. They are for class struggle as against class collaboration. They are fighting against corrupt gangster rule. They stand upon a fighting program of action.

Members of the I. L. G. W. U. Fight!

Brothers and sisters of Chicago, you must again militantly enter the struggle and in co-operation with Locals 2, 9 and 22, and other progressives thruout the country:

Demand the reinstatement of the expelled executive boards.

Demand that Peristein and Sigman stop raiding the treasury, stop hiring gunmen and gangsters.

Demand the reinstatement to full membership of all expelled and disfranchised members.

Demand the amalgamation of all needle trade unions into one organization covering the entire industry.

Demand that the I. L. G. W. U. take an active part in the organizing of a labor party.

Chicago Needle Trades Section,
Trade Union Educational League.

Urge "Labor Leaders" Get Together and Stop the War in the Pacific

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

TODAY, a host of intellectuals, very glib with their tongues, and rather apt at spinning theories, are meeting in the Institute on Pacific Relations, at Honolulu, in Hawaii. They have gathered as peacemakers. But they came after the war maneuvers of the American Pacific fleet had passed. Wall Street's warships are now off in Australian waters, so pacifists may talk to their heart's content, and not be charged with transgressing the murder plans of the imperialists.

• • • •

One of the offerings that has come out of this "institute" is that there must be a meeting of the labor leaders of the Pacific nations to aid in preserving peace in this part of the world.

Just who these "labor leaders" are who must come together, we are not told. And no mention is made of how they will preserve peace.

• • • •

Labor leaders fall into two groupings when the cannon begin to thunder their messages of death and destruction. Those who are for the present imperialist system that breeds wars, and those who are against it; for its overthrow. The last war clearly showed that there is no chance, especially for labor leaders, to occupy neutral ground.

Those who are for the abolition of capitalism, of which imperialism is the highest stage, either join the Communist movement or must be so closely sympathetic to it, as to be practically identified with it. There are such labor leaders, few today but more tomorrow, in the nations surrounding the Pacific. But the "institute" now meeting at Honolulu will certainly not call them into conference. That would not be "respectable." It would carry with it the dreaded "Moscow" taint.

Neither would the "institute" be able to reach labor leaders who are out-and-out imperialists, which would include most of the present heads of the American trade unions. They are willing to bask in Wall Street's golden sunlight.

It would, however, be able to reach a few "pacifists" among labor officials who like to talk against capitalist wars, until war is declared, but who refuse to join in actions against war. Luckily for the pacifists the move against the next war can still be kept, so far as they are concerned, in the talking stage. But unluckily for them, the last war is still fresh in the minds of many workers. Their "pay-triotic" antics in that struggle are still too vividly remembered.

• • • •

The "institute" has thus labored hard, and the delegates have travelled far, for nothing, if this is all that they can produce. The nations that they represent, while they talk, are slaughtering workers and students in China, and waging war against oppressed peoples in other sections of the globe.

The sterility of the "institute," in its failure to produce anything but a smokescreen of talk, should be another warning to the workers and poor farmers, that the "War Against War" rests in their hands alone, that they alone can bring an end to imperialism that carries in its womb the wars that are to come.

• • • •

Workers and poor farmers, everywhere thruout the land, cannot withhold for one moment their enthusiastic support of the significant demonstrations urged by the Workers (Communist) Party under the slogans, "Stand By Soviet Russia! Hands Off China!" The victory of the Workers' Republics marked the first great defeat of capitalist imperialism at the hands of the awakened Russian masses seeking their liberation. The daily growing struggle in China establishes another milestone in the march toward the world liberation of labor. The "Institute on Pacific Relations" is but a fly speck on the wheels of proletarian progress.

PRISON DOORS STAY CLOSED ON KLAN ATTACKERS

Stephenson's Lawyers Can't Get Him Out

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 8.—Habeas corpus proceedings in the state supreme court may be brought to obtain the release from jail of Davis C. Stephenson, Earl Klinck and Earl Gentry until they go on trial for the alleged murder of Miss Madge Oberholtzer, it was indicated by defense attorneys here today.

Altho Eph Inman, chief defense counsel, maintained a tight-lipped reticence over the probable action he and his associates may take to obtain the freedom of Stephenson and his co-defendants, the report of habeas corpus measures gained in strength following the failure of the defense counsel to reach an agreement over the next step to take in the case afer a six-hour conference yesterday.

Further conferences behind barred doors were expected to be held by Inman and the other defense attorneys. Meanwhile, Stephenson, Klinck and Gentry remain in the county jail at Noblesville following Judge Hines' sudden action Monday in adjourning court until October 5, as a result of constant bickering and jockeying by opposing attorneys over which of the three defendants should go on trial first.

SCRANTON SILK STRIKERS WIN WAGE INCREASE

Bosses Also Forced To Recognize Union

SCRANTON, Pa., July 8.—(FP)—Striking silk workers of Scranton and midvalley mills are at work again with a 12½ per cent wage increase. Some 1,200 workers, mostly miners' daughters and wives, struck for a $3 weekly raise, which would have brot earnings up to $10 to $15 a week.

The strikers organized a local of the United Textile Workers' Union, which is to be recognized by employers, and accepted raises of about $1.50.

Employers are supposed not to discriminate against strike leaders.

FAKE CO-OP TO WALL; FARMERS DID NOT BITE

Rosenbaum Grain Men in Complicated Deals

The firm of Dean Onativia and company, which is dominated by the Rosenbaum brothers, has been suspended from the Chicago stock exchange for insolvency. The firm has not yet been reorganized, and the banker creditors are demanding immediate settlement of its $30,000,000 obligations. However, the firm may be reorganized by the bankers.

The crash of the brokerage concern is closely related to the attempt of the Rosenbaum Grain corporation, the Armour Grain company and a few smaller firms to unload millions of dollars in inflated stocks on the farmers under the guise of the Grain Marketing company, a fake co-operative, while the grain gamblers kept directing control of the firm.

A banker when interviewed admitted that "The Grain marketing company may keep its name alive, but will practically dissolve. There was considerable doubt as to whether the properties were worth $16,000,000. There isn't much doubt that some of the elevator values were inflated." This banker, to whom grain firms owe money, declared that litigation proceedings will be avoided in order to prevent publicity of the inner workings of the transactions.

The Grain Marketing company had instituted a stock selling campaign among the farmers, but they refused to fall for the bogus co-op.

COMMUNISTS TO COURT FRIDAY IN SPEECH FIGHT

Nineteen Reds Must Be at City Hall

Nineteen members of the Workers (Communist) Party will appear in the municipal court, Room 1106, city hall, Friday morning, July 10, to answer charges of "speaking on the streets without a permit." Seventeen of the Communists were arrested Saturday night, June 13, on the corner of W. North Ave. and Orchard St., and two others were arrested a week later.

The Workers Party has been conducting a free speech fight on this corner all summer. The north side business men have caused the arrests, which were made on the basis of an ordinance which has been declared unconstitutional by the state supreme court.

It is necessary that all nineteen Communists arrested appear punctually at nine a. m. Friday morning, the Labor Defense announces, as bail will be forfeited otherwise.

Miners Gather to Hear Reid Give the Left Wing Program

YORKVILLE, Ohio, July 8.—Miners from all the surrounding towns attended the picnic here at which Alex Reid, secretary of the Progressive Miners' International Committee, spoke. Reid's analysis of the unemployed situation in the mining industry and his championship of the left wing program for the miners' union, was listened to attentively.

Alex Reid addressed another meeting of miners in Bellaire, Ohio, the following day.

Gigantic Growth of Industry Helped Usher in Period of Imperialism

"THE gigantic growth of industry and the remarkably rapid process of centralization of production in constantly larger organizations, are the most striking characteristics of imperialism."—Lenin, in "Imperialism—the Final Stage of Capitalism," Leningrad, May 9, 1917.

LIBERALS GIVE AID TO BLOODY U.S. IMPERIALISM

"Peace" Society Foe of Colonial Workers

(Federated Press).

WASHINGTON, July 8.—(FP)—As the to forecast the official propaganda which would accompany a sudden naval and military "occupation" of Mexico, the Advocate of Peace Thru Justice, official magazine of the American peace society, has published a leading editorial in its July issue, whitewashing the conquest of Haiti and the Dominican Republic, as well as the stationing of marines in Salvador and Nicaragua.

The irony of this plea for imperialism lies in the fact that the list of honorary vice-presidents of the society includes Jane Addams, David Starr Jordan and other liberals, along with Elihu Root and former Senator Sterling of South Dakota, while Representative Burton of Ohio and Representatives McKinley of Illinois are on the executive committee, with David Jayne Hill, leading fascist spokesman in the national capital.

Liberals Distort Facts.

Utterly ignoring the facts as to the suppression of the Haitian congress by American armed forces under command of Smedley Butler, the editorial says that the American marines were landed "to protect American and other foreign lives and property," and that "under the protection of these marines, it was possible for the congress, in accordance with the constitution, to assemble and elect a president."

It then asserts that a treaty was entered into "with this new Haitian government," and under the terms of this treaty the United States "felt itself compelled three years later to assist the Haitian government to put down a revolt of those elements which had hitherto lived exclusively by revolution and brigandage, elements unwilling to accept the new conditions. This uprising was not an organized movement with definite political aims. This rebellion—there is no other word for it—was put down by the Haitian government's own police force, with the assistance of the marines, after a long and difficult campaign."

American Bayonets Rule.

The fact that the "Haitian government" was a puppet group set up by the American military forces and maintained at the point of American rifles and machine guns is not mentioned. However, the peace society editorial admits that the marines are still in Haiti "because both governments agree that their withdrawal at present might result in disturbances and bloodshed." It ends this apology with a suggestion that the date of safe withdrawal is close at hand. The fact is that the secret extension of the "treaty" until 1935 means that the Washington government plans to retain military possession of Haiti until 1935.

Defends Capitalists.

Explanation of the crushing out of the government in the Dominican Republic in 1916 and American military occupation until 1922 is made in the same hypocritical vein. Thus: "A complete political and financial breakdown in the republic clearly threatened. After a deadlock lasting several months, the United States thereupon found it necessary to direct the officer in command of our naval forces in Dominican waters to assume the direction of affairs and to set up a temporary military government"—because the Dominican president and congress had refused to enter into a treaty dictated by the American government.

"It has not been a happy business, but we find nothing in it to warrant the charge that we have been pursuing a policy of imperialism in that country."

The editor, Arthur Deerin Call, is a conspicuous reactionary who had advocated American entry into the world court.

Picnic of Finnish Workers in Ohio Is Attended by 1,000

CONNEAUT, Ohio, July 8—The annual Finnish district picnic, held at Conneaut, Ohio, on July 4 and 5, was attended by more than one thousand comrades and sympathizers. Athletic events, concerts, speaking, and dancing gave all who attended, a very enjoyable two-day vacation. Max Salzman, district organizer for the Young Workers' League, spoke in English on Saturday, and Alfred Wagenknecht spoke on Sunday afternoon. Both meetings were linked up with the party's anti-imperialist campaign under the slogan of "Hands off China."

"Stand by Soviet Russia!" Demand "Hands Off China!"

TO the telegraphic call of the Central Executive Committee of the Workers (Communist) Party sent yesterday to the local organizations thruout the nation, replies are alreary pouring in within 24 hours, announcing that the Workers Party membership is responding to the call for action upon the slogans

STAND BY SOVIET RUSSIA!
HANDS OFF CHINA!

While imperialist diplomats of the great capitalist powers are gambling with the lives of millions of workers, while secret alliances are being made which may precipitate a new world war, while covert maneuvers of armed imperialist rivals in the field of diplomacy threaten to emerge from that veiled conflict into open warfare, while Great Britain leads the wolfish pack of robber powers now bearing their fangs at the workers and peasants of the Soviet Union and while the League of Nations council sleeps soundly at Geneva, the workers of America shall be forewarned of the war danger by the voice of the Workers (Communist) Party.

Mass meetings and demonstrations have already been arranged as follows:

DETROIT, MICH.—Mass meeting and picnic, Sunday, July 12, Campbell Grove, end of Mack Ave. car line.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.—Open air mass meeting, Sunday, July 12, 3 p. m., Richmond Park. Speaker, Robert Minor.

NEW YORK PARTY HOLDS OPEN AIR DEMONSTRATIONS

Chinese Speakers Try Outdoor Lecturing

By CHAS. KRUMBEIN,
(Special to The Daily Worker)

NEW YORK CITY, July 8.—The Workers Party in New York mobilized over 50 of its speakers for the five big open-air meetings on Thursday, July 2. The meetings were held in various sections of the city; Union Square, Manhattan, 110th St. and 5th Ave. Harlem, 163rd St. and Prospect Ave. Bronx, Grand St. Extension, Williamsburg and Stone and Pitkin Aves. Brownsville—and were huge demonstrations against American imperialism which is spreading its tentacles thruout the universe.

Thousands of workers coming from shops and factories stopped to listen to Communist speakers and to speakers of the Kuo Min Tang, the Chinese people's party.

Many Chinese in Audience.

At the Union Square meeting there were a good many Chinese listeners. The crowds remained thruout the entire meetings. Considerable literature was sold.

A resolution was enthusiastically adopted at all five meetings explaining American imperialism's connection with world affairs and demanding the withdrawal of armed forces of the U. S. from China, the guaranty of the demands of China, and the promotion of committees of action. In part it reads as follows:

"We demand the cessation of imperialist policies; the immediate withdrawal of the military forces in China; the unconditional independence of the Philippines, Hawaii and Porto Rico, the withdrawal of the marines and other forces from South America, and the immediate establishment of a policy of 'Hands off Mexico.'

"And furthermore, we call upon the workers of the United States who are in trade unions and fraternal organizations to organize their forces to compel the government of the United States to withdraw its military forces from these colonial countries; and we recommend further that committees of action be formed for the above purpose—to the end that American labor may be organized to take action to prevent a new world war."

AKRON WORKERS PLEDGE TO SUPPORT FIGHT ON WORLD IMPERIALISM

AKRON, Ohio, July 8—The Akron Trade Union Educational League held a successful picnic as an anti-imperialist demonstration of the Akron workers on July 4, at Schocalog Lake Park. Several hundred workers and their families attended. Comrade Zinich, editor of Radnick' addressed the gathering in South Slavish.

Comrade Carl Weissberg, organizer of the Cleveland Young Workers' League, spoke about the present revolutionary situation in China and the position of the working class under imperialistic capitalism.

The crowd pledged itself to fight for "Hands off China" and to work with the Workers Party, the Young Workers' League, and the Trade Union Educational League in a joint fight against imperialism.

CLASS STRUGGLE DIVIDES CHINESE IN BIG STRIKE

Yankee Consul Orders Raids and Arrests

MOSCOW, June 18 (By Mail).—The alien imperialist powers with the aid of the reactionary Chinese militarist circles are trying to drown the anti-imperialist movement in blood. The American consul at Hankow, being the senior of the foreign consular body at Hankow, sent a note to the governor of the Province Yupei, demanding the arrest of all revolutionary agitators, and declaring every strike or boycott movement to be an unfriendly act towards the alien powers.

At Hankow, American, Britain, Japanese, French and Italian marines were landed. The Russian white gurads are taking active part in suppressing the movement. In most of the undertakings, the strike is still on.

Regular Yankee Suppression.

The latest reports from Hankow tell of the execution of eight agitators. Mass arrests and house searches were carried out. The Chinese committee of the rights of man was arrested.

On the suggestion of the foreign powers, the governor issued a warrant of arrest against the leaders of the 1925 railway strike, and against the leaders of the workers' and students' organizations.

The strike movement is spreading, and the Japanese printers and the officials of the British shops have joined the Chinese strike. All meetings and demonstrations were forbidden with the threat of the use of arms.

British Shoot 12 Year Old Children.

Among the victims of the shooting that took place at Hankow under the command of a British officer, there are children of twelve years of age; several of those wounded have died.

A resolution passed by the professors of the National University at Peking, contains the demand that in view of the shootings at Hankow and of the other acts of violence committed by the aliens, Chinese troops be immediately dispatched into the territory of the foreign concessions, that the British consul be deported, and that a categorical demand be made for the immediate evacuations of the Chinese ports by the alien warships.

Shanghai Strikers Stick.

The strike at Shanghai is continuing unabated for the third week. On the grounds that it is necessary to support the national industry and to alleviate the suffering of the strikers, the Trade Union Council agreed to the resumption of work in the Chinese textile mills, but only on condition that the Chinese employers officially recognize the trade unions, pay up for the time of the strike, and to renounce forever the use of foreign police in times of strike.

Negotiations are still on. The crews of all the ships that have arrived in the port of Shanghai until now, are on strike, and the port is completely paralyzed. The Jananese strikers have rejected the proposal of the Japanese employers to sign a separate agreement until the demands of all strikers will have been granted.

Let's All Be Free!

The students of the Peking University demand the immediate cessation of relations with Great Britain; they have also decided to issue a manifesto to the peoples of the British colonies, calling upon them to declare their independence.

HOLD 'HANDS OFF CHINA!' MEETING IN MINNEAPOLIS

Eight Hundred Hear Communist Speakers

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 8.—Eight hundred workers assembled today at Washington Square, for the "Hands off China" demonstration. It was a fine success, as many Chinese people were present.

John Gabriel Soltis addressed the meeting on the historical causes of the social explosion now convulsing China. He was followed by Tim Long, a Chinese student and member of the Kuo Min Tang.

Tim Long expressed the gratitude of the Chinese proletariat, to the workers of Minneapolis for their solidarity with the downtrodden workers of China.

C. A. Hathaway spoke on the immediate causes that operated to bring on the events in Shanghai. He pointed out the economic significance of the Chinese revolution, to the working class of America. It was a masterly presentation of facts!

Vincent Dunne presided.

ZINOVIEV, IN IRONIC ARTICLE, PICTURES BRITISH HYPOCRISY OF "ZINOVIEV PLOT IN CHINA"

MOSCOW, June 18.—(By Mail.)—In connection with the statement made by the conservative member of the British house of commons that the unrest in China was caused by Zinoviev and that Zinoviev himself has admitted it, the Pravda publishes an ironical article by Zinoviev, entitled: "How I Have Caused the Unrest in China."

"Since my crimes are known to Mr. Davison, I have decided to conceal nothing and to make a clear breast of it. There are two phases to my crime: Preparation and execution."

Zinoviev then describes the preparative phase by sketching the most important stages of imperialist penetration in China since the forties of the XIX century, in others words,—45 years before Zinviev was born.

He recalls the first opium war, the Nankin treaty, the British conquest of Hong Kong, the second opium war of 1858, the Tientain treaty, the large tributes of 1860, the conquest of China's most important ports by the aliens, the Japanese war of 1895, the conquests that followed—by Japan, Russia, France, Germany and Great Britain, the consolidation of imperialist rule in Chna after the Boxer revolt in 1900,—"The suppression of which constituted a vital step in the preparative phase of my crime, since the last 25 years of imperialist brutality and plunder have obviously contributed to causing the present unrest in China."

Japs Help "Prepare."

Zinoviev then proceeds to enumerate the crimes of Japanese imperialism in China from 1905 up to the world war. But the most important factor in the "preparation" of the present unrest in China was the industrialization of China that set in in the forties of the last century, and the circumstance that the working conditions in the foreign-owned industry are incomparably worse than in the most backward capitalist country.

The Japanese and British capitalists built factories in China, taking advantage of the slave status of the Chinese worker in order to squeeze surplus profits out of him.

More Red "Preparations."

And finally, in order to complete the "preparations" the British and Japanese officers have recently displayed their talents by shooting upon Chinese working children, by murdering students, by organizing joy rides with armored cars and tanks thru the streets of Shanghai, by shooting upon peaceful and unarmed Chinese from the rear and committing other brave deeds.

All this, of course, happened not on command of the British and Japanese imperialists, but on Zinoviev's instructions, for it was only thus possible for the Bolsheviks to "create unrest" most successfully.

Little Left for Him to Do.

"Well, Mr. Davison,"—writes Zinoviev—"I admit before the entire world that I am guilty of all the crimes attributed to me, but I should like to make just one correction: all the enumerated preparatory measures were carried out by members of your camp. After these "preparations" we had but a few details to execute: To recommend to some Chinese that they commit suicide as a protest against the imperialist bestiality; to recommend to others that they cut off their fingers and write in their own blood certain short but expressive sentences; to suggest to hundreds of thousands of workers to strike and to demonstrate, to bewitch hundreds of thousands of small tradesmen and the entire student body of China into taking part in these actions, and—to get certain reactionary generals, among them Chang Tso-lin, to contribute considerable sums in support of the anti-imperialist movement.

"But, Messrs. Davison, your preparations were so exhaustive that we don't find it difficult at all to commit the crime of stirring the hundreds of millions of Chinese to unrest, so that you are now unable to appease them either with machineguns or with diplomatic notes.

"Mr. Davison seems to be as talented as Mr. Hicks, the minister of the interior, who in a speech delivered by him a few days ago, defended the right trade union leaders like Clynes, Thomas and MacDonald against the Communists. We hope that in the future Messrs. MacDonald and Clynes will continue to engage such talented counsel as with as much influence in labor circles as Mr. Hicks enjoys.

"Hicks declares that the British Trade Union Movement is financed by Moscow, and that his predecessor, Mr. Henderson, had said the same. We may congratulate both! The British Trade Union Movement is being financed by Moscow, and the Chinese unrest is being stirred by Moscow.

"All that still remains to be said is that the moon was manufactured in Hamburg and that the Japanese earthquake was decreed by the executive of the Comintern. Just continue in this manner gentlemen! You are blessing us with a pleasant recreation."

IMPERIALISM IS EXPOSED BY W. P. OF WORCESTER

Socialists Sneer at Workers' United Front

WORCESTER, Mass., July 8.—The City Central Committee of Worcester held a open air anti-imperialist mass meeting on the Common. The main speakers were Max Lerner and Tom Bell. A large number of workers attended the meeting and showed their appreciation of the speeches by their frequent applause.

In preparation for this anti-imperialist mass meeting Max Lerner, secretary of the C. C. C., sent invitations to the remnants of the S. P. in the city to participate in this meeting in common opposition to capitalist imperialism. The reply to this invitation the S. P. sent a letter which completely exposes them as open defenders of the capitalist system.

They refused to have anything to do with the meeting and sneered at the very idea of a united front of all workers in opposition to imperialism.

The speeches of Max Lerner and Tom Bell dealt with the atrocities committed by the imperialistic powers in China, Morocco, South America, Hawaii and the Philippines. Many copies of the DAILY WORKER and pamphlet were sold at the meeting.

U. S. TRIES TO CALM CHINESE WITH PROMISE

If Words Suffice, No More Will Be Done

By LAWRENCE TODD.
(Federated Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 8.—(FP)—Secretary of State Kellogg has held a number of conferences with Minister Sze, and is now drafting instructions to be cabled to John MacMurray, the new American minister to Peking, who it about to reach his post.

Alarm within the department at the rapid growth of the Chinese emancipation movement has deepened during the past two week, during which the world has witnessed the strange spectacle of the Chinese nation—united in purpose without having an actual government—presenting lists of demands for apology, indemnification and other amends for wrongs done Chinese by foreigners.

These demands Minister Sze had laid before Kellogg with a frank assurance that 400,000,000 Chinese mean to back them up. The historic international sport of kicking the Chinese is ended. Western powers are faced by the problem of saving what they can from the collapse of their position in the Orient.

What effect this victory will have on the temper and program of the Chinese people is a question to which Minister MacMurray will give his attention as soon as he reaches Peking. If he finds that Peking officials accept the proposed conference as the best road to removal of western imperialism from China, and that strikes and student demonstrations subside, he will so report, and the anxiety of Washington to please the Chinese will cool off.

If, however, he reports that the Chinese are encouraged by this success to demand a great many more concessions from the foreign powers, and that national pride is stirred to resentment against the missionaries and traders, Washington will remain anxious for quick action to satisfy these demands.

CHINESE STRUGGLE FOR FREEDOM BOUND TO RESULT IN VICTORY OF WORKERS, SAY SOVIET YOUTH

(By International Press Service)

MOSCOW—The Moscow Conference of the Soviet Union Communist Youth sent a telegram to the Communist Youth of China, greeting the Chinese struggle of liberation and containing, among other things, the following:

"From the instant when the Chinese working class took over the lead of the national-revolutionary movement, there is—in spite of all possible defeats which perhaps await you—no power in the world that could prevent the final triumph of China's working class.

The Russian Communist Youth will do everything to secure for the fighting Chinese youth the energetic and lasting support not only of the workers and peasants of the Soviet Union, but also of the workers and peasants of the whole world."

TEACHERS SEEK MORE WAGES IN NEW YORK FIGHT

Governor Smith Vetoed Increased Pay

NEW YORK, July 8.—(FP)—New York City teachers are continuing their fight for an increased wage scale that will bring their earnings up to the purchasing value of 1914 wages, William R. Lasher, chairman joint salary committee, says in announcing the teachers' plans to go before the board of estimate.

The teachers are demanding the scale of the Ricca bill passed by the state legislature but vetoed by Governor Smith. Representatives of the Teachers' Union and other interested organizations protested to the board of education in a public hearing against the scale proposed by the superintendents, which gives the already higher paid principals, high school teachers and superintendents salary increases out of proportion to the increases given the underpaid elementary and lower grade school teachers.

About 30,000 teachers are behind the demand for a higher scale.

WORKERS' SCHOOL PUBLIC SPEAKING CLASS STARTS ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON

NEW YORK, July 8. — Active preparations for the New York election campaign are scheduled to begin this coming Saturday afternoon, July 11, at 3 p. m., when the public speaking class arranged by the Workers School will hold its first session.

About 20 comrades have already registered for this course, which has the definite objective of preparing comrades for active participation as speakers in the coming local election campaign. The class will be directed by William Weinstone and will continue for eight sessions.

Registration is still open. If you possess a general understanding of Communist principles, if you have command of the English language and a voice with some carrying power, join the class and become a member of that corps of speakers which is going to carry the Communist message to thousands of New York workers this fall.

Enroll any time, day or evening, at Room 34, 108 East 14th street, or with the instructor on Saturday afternoon.

LOS ANGELES FAKER IN CLAIM WHICH INVESTIGATION PROVES FALSE; JOB SHARKS THRIVING

By WORKER CORRESPONDENT

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—This would not have been written if it had not been for a statement in an article written by E. E. Lampton, ex-secretary-treasurer of the Los Angeles County District Council of Carpenters and published in the Southern California Labor Press of June 26 in which he enumerate a number of laws which he claims organized labor has put on the statute books.

One of these is the law establishing public employment offices, in regard to which he says: "Since the enactment of this law, private employment offices have been compelled to compete with our free employment service . . . and now no one need pay for a job."

Same Old Stuff.

I took it upon myself to look into this matter and find his assertion to be a lie. What I find is that men are forced to pay for jobs as much as they ever were. There is no sign that private agencies have suffered from competition from the lonely free agency, but on the contrary, they are more prosperous then ever, as is best proved by the fact that the majority of them have moved to better locations and more spacious quarters, while those workers seeking employment have steadily increased.

There is more or less red tape connected with the free agency in the shape of registration, etc., which is absent in the private agencies. They are all, free or otherwise, scab-breeding institutions. This is so because jobs obtained from them are practically always below the union scale, and conditions are inferior in every respect.

Working Both Ends.,

It is common knowledge that the private agencies split the fees with the boss, thus giving him an incentive for getting his help from them, even going so far as to firing perfectly competent employes, or making life so miserable for them that they are compelled to quit.

In this way both the agencies and the boss are profiting. This one fact helps one to understand why competition from the free public agency is negligible, why private institutions are doing more business than in previous times and even charging more for the jobs now than they did before the law was passed.

All this is well known, but it does not bother Lampton, the provisional class collaborator, very much. If there is no better arguments in favor of organization we might as well quit trying to get the unorganized into the unions.

Can it be that the union officials do not want the unions to become strong and effective? I am suspicious.

Pretty Good Proof.

The action of Muir and Hutcheson in expelling 16 members in March, 1924, from carpetners' locals in this city seems to point in that direction. Anyway, to my mind, the carpenters used good judgment when they voted Lampton out of office in the last election.

To show how far from harmful the effects of the free agency have been on the private agencies let me mention one agency which I know something about.

Some time before the war an individual started in connection with a pool hall, in the rear of an old building on Spring St., a free employment office. This fellow used to extol the virtues of the present system from a soap box and boasted of having shined shoes for a living.

The main purpose of his spoutings was to advertise his pool hall thru the free jobs he was able to dole out, and he never forgot to try to impress the crowd with his own greatness.

Today he has a private employment office occupying almost the entire second floor in a building on Broadway. It is a place where you pay, and pay dearly for the opportunity to go to work.

A Business Without Failures.

The free public employment office did not put him out of business, nor has it hurt any other private agency. It is a business without failures, at least so in Los Angeles.

If this law had really been of such great benefit to labor it would have been declared unconstitutional long ago.

A law regarding employment offices to be effective should have abolished them entirely, or made it a severely punishable offence for employers to get their help from them. If such a law had not only been made, but also enforced one could perhaps with some degree of truth say: ". . . now no one need pay for a job."

That's Easy.

If it is true no one has to buy a job because of this law, it is equally true no one has to work below the union scale of wages.

Verily, Lampton is a smart man. No one has to pay, look for a job, or even work. We can lie down and die, —or go to jail.

The task of establishing Soviet administration in northern Saghalien was carried thru quite smoothly.

BRITISH TRADE EXPERT WARNS OF BANRKUPTCY

Adverse Balance of Huge Proportions

LONDON, June 23 (By Mail).—"We have come to the point where we shall have to contemplate liquidation of our national assets and live on our national capital."

This is the conclusion reached by Sir Allan Smith, chairman of the Engineering and Allied Employers' National Federation.

In a statement issued yesterday he said that the income available for investment abroad—in other words, our trade balance—was £252,000,000 in 1920, £154,000,0000 in 1922, £102,000,000 in 1923, and £29,000,000 in 1924.

"In the current year we have come, on estimate, to a position which, apart from war conditions, has not previously been reached.

"Estimated from the result of the first five months, the trade balance in 1925 will be adverse to the extent of £26,000,000.

Adverse Balance.

"In this estimate, 'invisible exports' are taken on the same basis as in 1924, and with the slump in shipping freights and other conditions, the figure taken is probably too favorable.

"The fact of supreme importance is, that there is an estimated adverse balance for the current year which may turn out to be more than £30,000,000 sterling.

"We have thus come to the point where we shall have to contemplate liquidaion of our national assets and live on our national capital.

"If, therefore, something is not done to revivify our export trade the result in time must be national bankruptcy.

"Obviously, we cannot continue to draw interest on investments we realize."

Russian Movie Will Be Shown on Pacific Coast

The Seattle local censorship board, known to be one of the strictest in the country, has passed "The Beauty and the Bolshevik" and "Russia in Overalls," and the I. W. A. committees in several coast cities are beginning arrangements for the showing of these films in their section.

The time and place of the Pacific coast showings will be announced as soon as they are definitely determined. Several hundred cities have enjoyed this rollicking Red Army comedy, but many more have not yet made their arrangements. The films are available for dates now at almost any time, and are all in excellent condition for running. Applications for their use should be sent to the International Workers' Aid, 19 So. MAJOR GRUBB DISAPPOINTED BY INDIFFERENCE OF OMAHA CROWD TO HIS CALL TO ARMS FOR U. S.

OMAHA, Nebr., July 8—July 4th picnickers refused to enthuse over militarization in Omaha. With a park full of people eating basket lunches and popping firecrackers, less than 200 of them could be coaxed to parade with an equal number of soldiers. A special appeal was made to them but they did not budge. They came to picnic, shoot off crackers, drink red lemonade or loll on the grass until the fireworks display. They simply ignored the military spellbinders and the marchers for imperialism.

1,000 Sign Up—330 March.

A few extracts from the Omaha Bee and World-Herald shows the utter indifference of the populace. "Because only 330 persons marched in the Defense day parade at Fontelle park yesterdya, Omaha's observance of the event was said to be "disgraceful" by Major D. C. T. Grubb, executive officer of the committee in charge, and Major General George B. Duncan, commanding the Seventh Corps area, complained: 'If Omaha men had as much spirit as the women, we would have had plenty of marchers,' says the World-Herald.

The little group who responded to the muster day appeal paraded past a throng of thirty thousand persons. Only a small percentage of these interrupted their picnics or their firecrackers to witness the procession.

"Altho one thousand persons sent post cards to defense day headquarters agreeing to march, there was not a man over 350 in the parade," said Major Grubb in the same item. "Half of those who did appear were from the army corps headquarters.

"I suppose the truble was that the day was a double holiday, defense day and July Fourth, and too many preferred to go to the country on picnics."

The major pointed out, however, that all of those in the park had been welcomed thru previous newspaper stories to parade in the defense test, without formal enrollment.

Reviewing Stand Empty.

The notables expected in the reviewing stand did not appear, and General Duncan, Mayor Dahlman and a few friends deserted the stand to watch the parade from the side lines.

General Duncan, the principal speaker at Brown Park, and John Lee Webster, the orator at Fontenelle Park, both pleaded for preparedness as the best means of defense against future wars.

Bands and Singers Fall Flat.

According to the Omaha Bee report, standards were abandoned before the retreat parade began at 7:05, the standards of 10 units, scheduled to march, were abandoned, because there were no volunteers in them or because the number was so small that several units had to be combined to form a marching column. The Seventh Corps area staff outnumbered the rest of the marchers.

The Moose band played the "Star Spangled Banner" as the skimpy column stood at attention and saluted. Then, the sunset gun was fired and the flag run down. The Moose band, augmented by three members of the American Legion drum corps, which was to have been an imposing body at the head of the column, led the parade past the reviewing stand. Altho urged by army officers, the thousands of men in the park refused to join the march. They sat under shady trees as spectators. About 20,000 persons, men, women and children, were in the park at the time of the demonstration.

At 8:30, Charles Gardner attempted to lead the spectators in singing "America." He met with response so feeble that it barely could be heard above the playing of the band.

SOVIET UNION, WITH FINE HARVEST, WILL EXPORT MUCH GRAIN

Such prospects materializing, it would be possible to export up to 5,000,000 tons (over 300,000,000 poods) of grain from the Union.

Max Eastman Is Expelled from the Workers Party

Statement by Central Executive Committee, Workers Party of America.

Just prior to his leaving for the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics some three years ago, Max Eastman became a member of the Workers Party of America, and secured credentials as a member of the organisation.

Eastman has not maintained any connections with the party during the period of his stay in Russia and his membership in the Workers Party has therefore lapsed. The Central Executive Committee of the party feels it necessary, in view of the books written by Eastman, malingning and attacking the leaders of the Russian Communist Party and the Communist International that Eastman maintain not even the remotest connections with the Workers Party of America. Therefore, although Eastman has functioned as a member of the Workers Party for more than two years, the Central Executive Committee of the Workers Party has adopted a resolution directing the branch of which Max Eastman was a member to expel him from the organization.

MANY BRANCHES PASS MOTION ON GITLOW DEFENSE

Promise Aid In Fight For Class Prisoners

NEW YORK, July 8.—The Down Town English branch of the Workers (Communist) Party, New York City, has unanimously passed a resolution of support to Benjamin Gitlow in his fight to win his freedom from the supreme court decision which will send him back to Sing Sing if carried out.

The resolution states, in part, "Whereas Comrade Gitlow has refused a pardon which would have lifted the indictment under which he is now out on bail for violation of the criminal anarchy law of this state, and whereas Comrade Gitlow has taken this step in order to make a test case before the supreme court of the United States in order to invalidate the syndicalist laws under which various political prisoners are under indictment thruout the country.

"Be it resolved, that we congratulate Comrade Gitlow on the Communist fight he has waged and that the Down Town English branch pledge Comrade Gitlow our fullest support to win his freedom."

(Signed) William S. Fanning, recording secretary.

Similar resolutions were passed by the Finnish branch of Frederick, S. Dakota (Emil Niva, secretary), and by the Italian branch No. 1, of the Workers Party (Gustavo Sgarra, secretary).

Yowl Basket Picnic at Braeside Beach on Sunday, July 12

A novel way of raising funds to carry on their organizational campaign in the many printing and book binding establishments in the loop has been discovered by Working Area Branch No. 1 of the Young Workers League.

It will be a basket picnic to be held on Sunday, July 12, at Braeside, Ill.

Admission ticket for every girl coming to the picnic will be a well prepared and attractive lunch basket. Admission for the boys will be willingness and means to share the food with the girl who prepared it. In business like English, baskets will be donated by the girls and sold to the boys.

The crowd going to the picnic will meet at 9:30 a. m. at the "L" station at Wabash and Adams and from there proceed to Braeside. Braeside is a beautiful bathing beach near Evanston.

Everybody is invited and urged to come. Watch for further announcements of entertainment and complete directions for stragglers, though everybody is expected to be at the place specified above at 9:30 so as to insure a full day of enjoyment.

Farrington Proposes Plan That Would Wreck the Miners' Union

campaign that would result in the complete wreck of the U. M. W. of A., not only in Illinois, but thruout the country.

The Illinois unit of the U. M. W. of A. is the strongest numerically and financially, in fact is the backbone of the miners' union, and this district if broken, would make it easy to destroy the other district organizations that are a great deal weaker in every way.

The Farrington attempt in the Johnston City affair is not something new to the miners in America, they remember his convention declaration of co-operation with the coal corporations; his advice to reduce the cost of production to be better able to compete with the West Virginia miners.

Helping The Operators.

You will notice in the enclosed letter sent to Mr. Texal Berry, secretary of the Johnston City local by Farrington, that he considers it wise and advisable for the miners to "do something in Illinois to reduce the cost of production and enable the operators to meet the competition of the nonunion fields."

He further states that he thinks 12c per ton reduction is too much, and suggests 10c per ton sufficient.

However, he aprpoved of a suggested contract of 12c per ton reduction the details of which is enclosed in the following "copy of contract."

Copy of letter from Farrington to the local follows and copy of contract that has been repudiated by the coal diggers.

Mr. Texal Berry, Secretary,
Local Union No. 3192,
Johnston City, Illinois.

Dear Sir and Brother—In accordance with the instructions conveyed to me in a telegram sent me under date of Feb. 13th by Joe Noble and Robert Barron I opened up negotiations with Mr. D. W. Buchanan, President of the Old Ben Coal Corporation concerning the matter of making an agreement that would allow the coal company to take over the drilling and shooting of coal at Mine No. 18 of the Old Ben Coal Corporation.

After going into the matter quite extensively with Mr. Buchanan, he offered a proposal, copy of which is enclosed herewith, for the consideration of your members. I do not know of anything that would prevent us from entering into an agreement of this kind if we thot it wise and advisable to do so and we certainly must do something in Illinois to reduce the cost of production and to enable the operators to meet the competition of the nonunion fields. If the Illinois miners are to get anywhere near a fair proportion of work and maintain their present wage scale, and if we can work out some plan that will help the operator without reducing the earning capacity of our men, it is certainly our duty to do so. Personally, I think Mr. Buchanan is asking too much when he wants 12c per ton for drilling and shooting, but he contends his examination of a very carefully kept record shows that it has been costing the miners 12c per ton themselves to shoot the coal, however, it is my opinion that we can secure a reduction in these figures by further negotiations with Mr. Buchanan. I think perhaps I could get him to agree to accept 10c per ton, but I do not believe that he could be induced to take over the drilling and shooting for any less than 10c per ton, but I think perhaps, I may be able to influence him to do so notwithstanding the fact he contends and he has the records to prove his contention that it has been costing the miners an average of 12c per ton to shoot the coal in the past. Furthermore, I am satisfied that I could induce Mr. Buchanan to write a clause into any agreement that we might make in which the company would agree that a man shall have the opportunity of loading a stipulated number of tons of coal every day he goes into the mine.

Sugaring The Pill.

For illustration: I think that Mr. Bunchanan would agree that every loader who goes into the mine shall have the opportunity of loading at least ten tons of coal per shift or whatever number of tons we may agree to. This would not mean that a loader would only be allowed to load ten tons of coal per shift, it would mean that he would have the opportunity of loading if he could load that much or if he desired to do so. The object in having that kind of a clause in the agreement would be to guarantee the loaders a day's work at loading coal, when they went into the mine. Moreover, I am sure that Mr. Buchanan will agree to amend the tentative proposal that is enclosed herewith, so as to relieve the miner of any responsibility for repairing any and all damage that may be done in a loader's working place because of bad shots, I mean by that, that any damage that was done to a man's working place by bad shooting, would have to be repaired by the company, or at the company's expense.

The Boss Is Worried!

I have gone into the matter quite carefully with Mr. Buchanan, and I am satisfied that he would agree to amend the enclosed proposition as herein stated, but I do not believe we could get him to agree to anything more than I have told you in this letter. Mr. Buchanan seems to be rather hesitant and fearful about the company taking over the drilling and shooting of coal because the company is assuming considerable risk as it would be a new practice and one which the company does not know much about so far as the cost of doing so is concerned but he has told me that if we enter into an agreement on the basis herein outlined, that he will start up Mine No. 18 and do the best he can to make the proposition a success and the matter is, therefore, referred to your members for their consideration, if they should instruct me to enter into an agreement on the basis herein outlined I shall do everything in my power to protect the interests of our members in any agreement we may make. It is not my desire to influence your members on this matter but I think I should say to you that every day the proposition of the Illinois Mine Workers is growing more desperate and work in Illinois is growing less and less and markets that have for years been supplied by Illinois coal are being taken away from us by coal coming from nonunion fields. Yesterday, the Peabody Coal Company shut down twelve of their mines in Illinois and that is only an example of what is occurring all over the state. At the present time we have hundreds of idle mines in Illinois and this is the period of the year when we should be having our best work and the only reason these mines are not working is because the operator cannot find a market for the coal and every day I hear of an instance where some Illinois operator has lost his contracts to the nonunion fields. And I fear the coming summer will reveal the most desperate experience the Illinois Mine Workers have gone thru.

Therefore, if we can do anything that will enable the Illinois operators to go out and recover their lost markets without reducing the earning capacity of our members, it is certainly our duty to do so.

I shall be glad to consult with and advise your members in any way that they may desire concerning this very important subject.

Yours truly,
(Signed) F. Farrington,
President.

Drilling and Shooting Coal.

Fifth (a) It shall be at any time optional with the operators to select whether the drilling and shooting of coal shall be done by the miner or shall be done by the operator in accordance with the plan hereinafter outlined. Where the drilling and shooting is done by the operator none of the provisions of the fifth section of the present state agreement shall apply. And it is also understood that all other sections of the past agreements or records made pursuant to the provisions of such section five, and which are inconsistent or in conflict of this revision of the fifth section of earlier agreements, shall be constrtued as not to apply in any way to mines operating under the provisions of this revised section five as hereinafter provided.

Breaking Up The Union.

(b) In all cases where the operator elects to do the drilling and shooting of the coal he shall hire at his own expense men to be known and designated as drillers, and shooters shall have all qualifications required by the state mining law for shot firers. It is agreed that the operator shall be the sole judge of the qualifications of the men whom he shall employ as drillers and shooters, and also of the number of men he shall employ. He shall be free to remove any man or number of men, from this work at any time without explanation or cause, and to replace them at any time with any man or men he may desire, but any man or men from any local shall be considered as having priority for such a driller's and shooter's position, and it is agreed that no member or members, or officers, of any local or district of the U. M. W. of A., shall object to any man or men being given drillers' and shooters' positions, and no such person, local or district shall in any way hinder the acceptance of any man's transfer card thru delay, thru attempting to charge excessive transfer fee or placing of fines, or in any other manner not specifically mentioned. The miner shall continue to be responsible for the care of the working place or places in the same manner and to the same degree that they have been liable in the past, and as provided in the state mining law. Should any miner absent himself from his working place for any cause on any day that the mine at which he is employed works and the coal in his working place has been shot down ready to load, then if in the judgment of the operator it is necessary for the safety of the working place or for the economical operation of the mine, to load out such coal, he shall have the right to do so in any manner he may elect, employing the coal in payment, but in such his option at the scale provided, taking the coal in payment, but in cush event the operator shall furnish the miner a working place the next day the mine works. Where the operator elects to do the drilling and shooting as hereinafter provided, he shall furnish and be free to select and use whatever kind or kinds of explosive he may deem best suited to the work to be performed

Operator to Have Own Way.

(c) The operator may at his option determine and provide rules and regulations which govern the time of starting, the placing and firing of shots and all details of work to be done by the drillers and shooters. No such rules and regulations are to be interpreted as inconsistent with the mining laws concerning shotfirers, and it is understood and agreed that nothing shall be done by the U. M. W. of A. to abridge this right of the operators or to interfere in any way with putting into effect by the management of the mine of any such rules and regulations as may be advisable within the judgment of the operator.

(d) All bug dust or machine cuttings, when free from impurities, may be loaded out with the snubbings or other [illegible] so as to produce a merchantable mine run coal. The above does not contemplate any change in the present method of handling bug dust or machine cuttings in Franklin County or at any other mine where it is necessary to load same out before shooting the coal, as a protection against explosions or fire.

Where the operator desires the bug dust loaded out separately this shall be done by the miner working in the place during his regular shift at the regular tonnage price, and the company shall furnish cars to load same.

"It is further understood and agreed that the miners shall properly snub their places before the shots are fired and that all places must be properly squared up by the miners before they are cut by machine. The miner shall take up the bottoms left by the machine, and the records and decisions now existing relative to taking up bottoms shall apply the same as tho the miner had drilled the holes and placed the shots.

Can Shift Men at Will.

"(e) In order to better enable the operator to furnish to each miner an opportunity to load the turn of the mine, the mine management may at his option move men from one working place to another, as in his judgment of the management, it may be necessary, but it is expressly understood and agreed that the management will not move miners from one place to another unless in his judgment of the management it is necessary to do so in order to furnish the men an equal turn or prevent men from being out of coal, the only limit that shall be placed upon the number of men working after one mining machine of any type shall be the capacity of the machine, and nothing shall be done by the miners either directly or indirectly to limit the number of men working after a machine.

"(f) Where the operator assumes the work of drilling and shooting the coal he shall be entitled to a differential of twelve cents (12c) per ton of mine run coal for all coal so drilled and shot, and in addition thereto shall be entitled to a reduction of 33 1-3 per cent in the yardage on all yardage work, and the remaining two-third of the yardage rate when paid shall in all cases be divided equally between the machine men and the loaders."

Farrington's Treachery.

The foregoing is but a sample of the Farrington treachery to the Illinois miners, and the militant rank and file who have refused to be betrayed are marked for expulsion.

When the deal was proposed, Freeman Thompson and John Watt, illegally removed officers of sub district 4, Dist. 12, hurried to Johnston City and laid bare the treason of the proposal, the miners immediately afterwards repudiated the proposal, and sent it down to defeat amidst their contempt and scorn.

Thompson and Watt have been responsible many times in blocking Farrington's treacherous proposals, and are rewarded today by being expelled by Farrington and his board.

The militant rank and file in Illinois must rally to Freeman Thompson and John Watt, or the expulsion will be carried into every local union in the District and every member who dares to criticize Farrington, or his machine, or refuses to comply with the dictation of the coal company will be expelled, and no recourse will be had thru the organization as long as the Farrington gang of fakers rule the union.

FIND SOCIALIST MIXED IN GRAFT IN BRIDGE DEAL

Minneapolis County Official Probed

(Special to The Daily Worker)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 8.—Minneapolis labor and political circles have been considerably stirred by the charges against Lynn Thompson, the socialist county commissioner, preferred against him by co-members of the board.

These charges are to the effect that Lynn Thompson has been guilty of improper administration of the affairs of his office.

Bridge Graft

Specifically, the charge are that Thompson ordered construction of Bridge No. 107 in Eden Prairie Township greatly exceeding estimates and with orders to the foreman to proceed with the work contrary to instructions as to plans and specifications from the county surveyor.

The bridge in question crosses Miller's Creek, and was built of concrete and masonry at a cost of $1,200.00 Ordering of the inquiry came at the roads and bridges committee session yesterday after the reading of the communication from the county survery's office.

Spent County Funds

The deputy county surveyor visited the bridge June 13th, and finding the work proceeding unsatisfactorily, ordered the foreman to make several changes. The foreman refused to follow the Surveyor's recommendation, declaring that he was working under direct instructions from Mr. Lynn Thompson.

The Bridge, when inspected recently, was found unsafe, the report listing several specific details.

It is also charged that Lynn Thompson has authorized the expenditure of county funds, as chairman of the roads and bridges committee, without due authority for same. It is pointed out that on January the first, the fund in question amounted to a half million dollars. Today it is down to eighty thousand dollars, with six months to go. Several projects are cited which Lynn Thompson has authorised the work on, in violation of the state law.

Bats Desert Shy

The significant phase of this whole turmoil, is the fact that both Geo. H. Mallon and Arthur Ferrin, both so-called labor members of the board, have deserted Lynn Thompson in this strife, and left him in the lurch.

John Walquist, foreman of the grand jury, promises an investigation of the whole matter.

"Defense Day" Is Fizzle, Army Chief Admits; Favors Draft

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 8.—Maj. Gen. John Hines, chief of staff admitted that the turn out for the war office's military day was only two thirds of last year's turn out. "Several governors did not feel that they could require the participation of the national guard," Hines said.

He declared that Congress will be asked to make it permissible to draft civilians for the next mobilization day.

BULGAR WHITE TERROR CRUSHES MINERS' UNION; PROGRESSIVES OF U. M. W. OF A. ASKS BIG PROTEST

By ALEX REID,

Sec. Progressive Miners' Committee of the U. M. W. of A.

The Progressive Miners' Committee calls to the attention of the miners and workers of America the horrible condition of the workers in Bulgaria, and requests that the workers draw up resolutions in their local unions, the same to be sent to the Bulgarian Embassy, Washington, D. C.

The workers of Bulgaria have been and are being mowed down in the bloody reign of terror by the Zankov butchers in the hope that they will crush all militancy amongst the workers.

Miners' Union Crushed.

Closing our eyes to the blow, doesn't lessen its impact, neither does silently standing by observing the annihilation of our class conscious comrades in Bulgaria by the bloody executioners and bourgeois thugs of the Zankov government make it any less hideous or likely to minimize the percussion upon the workers of this country.

The relationship between the murderous Zankov government and the republican government is one of complete understanding, as its silence concerning the murders will indicate, the policy of wholesale assassination of the militant workers is part of an imperial policy which America acquiesces in, and indirectly subscribes to. Therefore, it is for the workers of America to demonstrate their indignation and to vigorously protest against this brutal form of murderous repression.

The Bulgarian government is now killing off workers and peasants according to lists compiled long previous to the cathedral explosion, on the pretext that it is fighting against terrorist reaction.

The Mine Workers' Union has been dissolved by the Zankov government. The leaders have been arrested, and perhaps are now dead, the attempt made by the union to publish its own trade union paper ended in the confiscation of the first number, and the arrest of the editor, meeting with little, if any, opposition.

Send in your letters of protest to the Bulgarian Embassy, Washington, D. C., and copies of same to the DAILY WORKER. In defending your Bulgarian comrades you are defending yourselves.

Strikebreaker Cal Looking for a New Chance at the Game

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 8.—Altho President Coolidge has as yet received no specific report from Washington on the threatening situation in the hard coal fields, it was said yesterday by an official spokesman for the the president that Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Secretary of Labor Davis are keeping in close touch with developments bearing on the coming wage conference.

Should the situation become acute the president will ask his two department chiefs for full information to guide him in taking any action which might be necessary to protect the interests of the operators from the possibility of another strike.

ARMY JOINS THE COAL OPERATORS AGAINST MINERS

Joint Statement Sent To Bunk Public

(Special to The Daily Worker)

NEW YORK, July 8.—(FP)—Cunningly timed to coincide with the tri-district convention of the anthracite miners which framed the demands of these 155,000 or more coal diggers, the National Industrial Conference Board, Inc., released its analysis of its survey of wages in the anthracite field.

Mentioning that the present contract of the United Mine Workers expires Aug. 31, the release stated that average hourly earnings of workers in anthracite mines increased from June, 1914, to December, 1924, all of 192 per cent, "while hourly wages in 25 basic manufacturing industries during the same period increased only 129 per cent, hourly earnings of workers on Class L railroads 141 per cent, those of workers in illuminating gas plants 111 per cent, and in electric light and power establishments 121 per cent."

Wages, which the survey is supposed to cover, are not differentiated from earnings in the report, tho any miner can tell the difference in the thickness of his pocket book. The wage scale may be apparently high but actual earnings, because of a host of conditions, are no greater, or may even be less. The men who struck in District 1 last winter complained bitterly that changed methods of work had reduced their actual earnings much below what the scale would have brought under former conditions.

Army and Bosses Unite Against Miners.

The board admits that "average daily earnings, or earnings per 'start' of contract miners do not show as large an increase" and attributes this to the shorter day. It also admitted that "increase in 'real' earnings of anthracite workers, that is of wages in terms of purchasing power, owing to the general increase in the cost of living, is somewhat less than the increase in money."

The release did not explain how it reached its conclusions nor offer data of the survey from which they are drawn.

The affiliated organizations backing the statement are associated industries of various states, associations of manufacturers in many major industries, ordnance departments of army and navy, army air service and military intelligence service, etc., etc.—Big Business, anthracite consumers, massing strength against not only the organized miners but against the demands of all workers thru subtle propaganda.

EIGHT MILLION WORKING WOMEN TOIL LONG HOURS FOR PITTANCE

By LELAND OLDS,

(Federated Press Industrial Editor)

WASHINGTON, July 8—Eight and a half million women in the United States earn their own living, says a handbook just issued by the women's bureau of the U. S. department of labor, and of these, 2,000,000 are married. Of these, married wage-earners, 1,000,000 are native white, and 650,000 are Negro.

Native white women predominate in all the occupational groups except farming, where the Negro women are the largest factor, and domestic service, in which both Negro and foreign-born white women are more numerous than the native white. South Carolina has the largest proportion of its women at work—more than 33 per cent, while West Virginia has the least—about 11 per cent.

Low Average Wage.

Average wages for working women in South Carolina and Alabama are only $9.50 and $8.80 per week, respectively, and in these states the proportion who worked no more than 48 hours per week was only 5.8 per cent and 12.5 per cent, respectively.

The report does not discuss the question of unions.

Many Young Workers.

The actual number of women in domestic service, while larger than for any other group of occupations, is less than in 1910, and 75 per cent of them are over 24 years old. One-third of the domestic workers are over 44 years old.

On the other hand, nearly 50 per cent of the women in the manufacturing industries, and 40 per cent of those in agricultural jobs, in trades and in professions, and 65 per cent of those in transportation industries, are less than 25 years old. This younger group represents more than 40 per cent of all working women, as compared with 22 per cent for working men.

One working woman in every six is over 44 years of age, while one working man in three has passed 44.

Typewriter No Ladder, Union Says

"Shorthand and typewriting are usefull things to know," says The Office Employees Journal in its July issue, "but as a means of making a livelihood or as a steppingstone to higher positions for a young man it is the bunk.." The Journal, which is published by Bookkeepers' Stenographers' and Accountants' Union 12646, at 3 West 16th St., New York, cites the low pay and the overwhelming number in the craft as reasons why young men steer clear.

BUILDERS AT WORK

DISTRICT TWELVE INTENDS TO BUILD

Thirty-Three Subs to Make Thirty-Three Communists

Thirty-three subscriptions (remittance attached!) were sent in by Comrade Norman Tallentyre, district organizer for Washington.

Twenty-five of these were a donation of a district executive committee that realizes the importance of the DAILY WORKER as a basis on which to build for future Communist growth.

It is interesting to see how well the comrades of the district executive committee are using the DAILY WORKER as a means to do this with. In the letter sent to the DAILY WORKER Comrade Tallentyre explains:

> "Almost all the subscriptions on this list have been donated—25 of them by the district executive committee of District No. 12 and the rest of them by party members who wished to propagandize prospective recruits for the party.
> "The important ones are those whose names were given me at the state convention of the western progressive farmers, when I spoke there a few weeks ago, after a vicious attack being made upon our organization by John C. Kennedy. I succeeded in demolishing his arguments and almost all the delegates present expressed their desire to receive sample copies of Communist literature—therefore, on my recommendation, the D. E. C. has donated the 25 subscriptions."

This combination of active comrades donating for subs to build the Communist movement, and the D. E. C. leading the action with its first block of twenty-five subs, are good signs that we can soon see further growth of the Communist movement in Washington.

CLIP THIS—TAKE IT TO YOUR C. C. C.

The action of the D. E. C. and local comrades of Seattle, Wash., is one that can well be adopted in every district and city in the country. In every city without exception, workers can be reached, interested and eventually induced to step into the ranks of the advance guard of the working class—the Communist movement. And this can best be done thru the DAILY WORKER—the collective teacher, leader and organizer.

Donate a fund—make a collection—hold an affair—and apply the proceeds to subscriptions to be sent to workers in your city. District twelve did it, Buffalo, N. Y., did it—YOU CAN DO IT!

Government Rules in Favor of Oil Trust Against Self

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Refusal of federal Judge Kennedy at Cheyenne, Wyo., to grant the government a further hearing in its oil lease annulment suit again Harry F. Sinclair, will not prevent the case from being carried to the United States supreme court, it was stated here today.

The government's petition for appeal will be filed within the next two or three weeks, according to the understanding here.

Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, who are conducting the litigation for the government, will go on to Los Angeles to appear in court there in connection with a similar suit against E. L. Doheny before returning to Washington.

Bavarian Workers to Russia.

MOSCOW—It is reported from Berlin that the Bavarian factory workers' committees have decided to send a special delegation to the Union of Socialist Soviet Russia to study the actual economic conditions of life of Russian workers and peasants.

QUAKES AFFECT WORKERS' FATE IN CALIFORNIA

Victory May Be Won from Disaster

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—Santa Barbara offers fair prospects for workers. Skilled builders will be required to re-erect the city. Those who seeks employment have two opportunities, firstly, to organize the working class, secondly, to care for physical needs. While idle they can use time for organizing and this will insure them some defense while working later.

Santa Barbara Mandarins.

Like other southern California cities, Santa Barbara is ruled by an aristocracy of landlords very much as Ireland. San Diego owes allegiance to John D. Spreckles. Los Angeles bows to 20 lords who rule thru the Better America Federation. Santa Barbara stands at attention when William G. McAdoo and William R. Hearst lift their fingers. McAdoo and Hearst differ from the lords of San Diego and Los Angeles. They want wage slavery but pay maximum wages, whereas the others pay minimum. Their policy is to keep workers contented until engulfed by the high cost of living.

Building Slump in Sight.

Following the recent earthquakes, there will be a slump in building in Los Angeles. That will make this city very undesirable for workers. It will tend to force men to go to Santa Barbara where there will be more employment. But that city will soon be overcrowded. Eastern workers will do well to steer shy of California. Opportunity in Santa Barbara will be quickly seized by men now in the state. Then the situation will be worse than it now is for the workers. Increased unemployment in building trades of Los Angeles for 16 months past favors establishment of a real workers' organization at Santa Barbara, with caution and patience.—FRAPIESA.

Juniors' Outing Sunday

FORDS, N. J., July 8.— The best time ever seen by a bunch of kids will be shown to the Juniors of Fords at their outing on Sunday, July 12th. Every junior and his friends must be at the Workers' Home, 265 New Brunswick Ave. at 9 a. m. sharp where busses will be waiting. Be on time so that nothing will interfere with the big program arranged for the day.

IN 1848, Karl Marx and Frederick Engels wrote in the opening statement to the Communist Manifesto:

> "A spectre is haunting Europe—the spectre of Communism. All the powers of Europe have entered into a holy alliance to exorcise this spectre . . ."

TODAY, this spectre has grown into a reality of gigantic proportions—a living element that has forced the powers of Europe—and America—"into a holy alliance" to keep the working class from assuming power.

THIS spectre of 1848—the great reality of today, ever growing larger and under whose guiding principles one sixth of the globe is already entering into a new stage of society—

Evolution, Capitalism and the Workers

In no other advanced capitalist nation could such a trial take place as that opening at Dayton, Tennessee.

That John Scopes, a teacher in a public school, can be brought to trial for teaching evolution as a law of nature, under a law enacted by the Tennessee legislature, is evidence of the retarded development of a whole section of the United States.

The south is not yet industrialized. It is dominated intelectually by feudal conceptions which are not found in the great industrial centers where the masses are either irreligious or lukewarm towards orthodox religion.

It is noticeable that the great metropolitan dailies are on the side of evolution. The Scopes case has given them a splendid chance to demonstrate a devotion to scientific truth—truth divorced from the class conflict.

It was rising capitalism that brought about the Reformation—the restrictions placed upon independent inquiry by feudal religion made commercial progress difficult and the merchant class broke the power of the Roman church.

Insofar as orthodox religion has been of use to capitalism it has been encouraged, but the ethics of christianity have never been allowed to interfere with business—the bourgeoisie have two codes as Lafargue explained long ago:

One for business and one for their private lives.

Between the two a constant struggle takes place with the result that the best christian businessmen are the biggest hypocrites.

But to get back to Dayton.

There is much to interest the working class in what is taking place in that little mountain town where feudal reaction is in the saddle. The defenders of Scopes and his prosecutors are of the middle class. It is therefore evident that within that class is a deep division.

Darrow is typical of the middle class liberal professional intellectual—individualistic, a believer in personal liberty, educated and cultured.

Bryan represents the agrarian element in the middle class—he is a leader of the well-to-do farmers of the middle west and of the south whose economic interests are opposed to those of big capitalism—the element that at different times has crusaded as Greenbackers, Populists and Free Silverites, rallying always around some chimmerical scheme of currency reform in which was expressed their antagonism to the increasing control of industry and finance by the big capitalists.

The city and the town—these are the two forces in opposition to one another in Dayton and it is noticeable that Bryan is calling the attention of the ruralites to the ridicule heaped upon them in the metropolitan press as part of his campaign in defense of the dogma of a creator, a special creation and the first chapter of Genesis.

In Great Britain this struggle was fought out during the 80's and 90's. The complete victory of British capitalism over feudalism symbolized by the huge expansion of industry and the rise of industrial capitalism with the proletarianization of the overwhelming majority of the British masses, was accompanied by the spread of rationalism, the printing and distributing of millions of pamphlets on the Darwinian theory; pamphlets by Lyell, Huxley, McCabe, Allen; the works of Leckie and Haeckel, Lubbock and Romanes.

But it was not until the dominant capitalist class had found in the Darwinian theory of the "survival of the fittest" a justification for their oppression of the working class that opposition to the theory of evolution became negligible in England. The jungle law of "tooth and claw" seemed to them to be eminently fitted for their period. Nature itself had placed the seal of approval upon British capitalism and all its works, they claimed, and this distorted Darwinism became the petted darling of the lords of coal and steel.

It may be well to say here that capitalism seldom if ever interferes with the search for abstract truth. Scientific researches in physics, chemistry, biology, anthropology, astronomy, geology and other sciences are encouraged. It is the sociological sciences where the class character of society is shown by every truthful investigator that are frowned upon by the ruling class. Academic freedom is curtailed only when the results of scientific research tend to expose the hypocricy and cruelty of the ruling class and weaken it or strengthen the working class.

Modern science is the handmaiden of capitalist production and this valuable servant it is not going to destroy.

If we want to prove to ourselves that it is abstract freedom and not social freedom that the metropolitan press defends in the Scopes case we have only to compare the amount and the kind of publicity given by it to another recent case—the Gitlow case.

Here was a class case. The question involved was the constitutional right to advocate the overthrow of American capitalist government and the replacement of it by a workers' and farmers' government.

With a few strokes of the pen the United States supreme court wiped out the constitutional guarantee of free speech. It legalized prosecution under criminal syndicalism laws in 35 states and placed the whole working class in jeopardy.

From the capitalist press which either denounces or ridicules the prosecution of Scopes came a chorus of approval for the action in the Gitlow case.

There is one more thing in connection with the Scopes case and the anti-evolution law under which he is tried that is of grave importance to the working class. We can be certain that in spite of the devotion to abstract truth manifested by the capitalist press, that if the Tennessee law is upheld and other states adopt similar measures they will be used freely by the capitalist class to suppress all educational work having any social significance.

Just as the criminal syndicalism laws were adopted as war measures for the curbing of enemy aliens and then used against the working class, so will anti-evolution laws become another means of jailing the most intelligent and militant workers.

Invoked for this purpose they will be objects of praise instead of denunciation in the capitalist press.

NO CONCESSIONS TO BELGIUM ON PRE-WAR DEBTS

Affection for "Ally" Shown as the Bunk

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The United States will decline to recognize any difference in the status of debts contracted by European nations during or after the world war.

This statement was made officially here today in connection with the announcement in Brussels that the Belgian debt funding commission, which is due to arrive in Washington early in August, would seek to repudiate that part of its debt contracted before the armistice and would agree to pay only its post-war debt.

The Belgian government has been advised by the state department and thru the American minister at Brussels that all of its debt, now amounting to $480,503,984, must be funded on the same basis.

In the course of the discussions that have taken place in Brussels and Washington looking to the opening of debt negotiations, officials of the Belgian government and Baron De Cartier, ambassador to Belgium here, have broached the question of funding only the post-war debt.

The total of the Belgian debt prior to the armistice, the amount which Belgium now wants to repudiate, is $171,780,000, to which has been added interest totalling about $50,000,000. Belgium paid interest five per cent on this part of its debt up until 1918 and then stopped.

Criticism of the American debt-collecting policy by European financial leaders during the recent meeting of the international chamber of commerce in Brussels was looked on here as contributing to the decision of the Belgium government to carry to Washington its plea for part cancellation of its debt.

NEGRO WORKERS TO HOLD MASS MEETING TONIGHT

South Side Branch and Y. W. L. Speakers

The Young Workers' League is cooperating with the South Side branch of the Workers (Communist) Party in conducting an anti-imperialism mass meeting tonight (Thursday) in the Community House, 3201 S. Wabash avenue.

Robert Minor, Communist writer and cartoonist and authority on the Negro problem, will speak.

William Anderson, a Negro worker will speak on the struggles of the Negro workers for race equality and betterment of their conditions.

There will also be speakers representing the Young Workers' League. Admission is free. A short musical program will be rendered.

"The Will—Let's Hear the Will."

Hearing of the will of William McClintock, ward of Mr. William Darling Shepherd who died on Dec. 4, will take place before probate Judge Henry Horner on July 14, the court announced today.

AS WE SEE IT

true that they rob the farmers; they also rob the eastern bankers whenever they have the opportunity. They don't recognize class distinctions in this respect.

THE big eastern banks are putting the local fellows out of business by establishing branches of the great financial institutions in the little towns. The village bankers become their agents. But it seems they cannot keep their hands off the money. This tendency is partly responsible for the number of sickly banks around here. Of course, a good deal depends on the crop situation. Agriculture is a gamble. The farmers never can tell from one week to the other whether they are going on easy street or into the poorhouse.

THE businessmen in Sheridan county are a cowed lot today. They act like men on probation. The workers and farmers consider them guilty until they are proven innocent. The man with a paid-up dues book in a trade union, whether it be the American Federation of Labor or the I. W. W. is always sure of a friendly hand in Plentywood.

THE Producers' News goes into every home in Sheridan county. It is the official organ of the county and of the farmer-labor party. This farmer-labor party is a mass organization, predominantly farmer. But many of those farmers do other odd jobs in order to make ends meet. The crops were good last year and another good one is in prospect for this year. The ex-wobbly banker tried to make us believe that we were in for an extended period of prosperity, but the Producers' News carried a story to the effect that an unusually heavy crop is expected this year in Soviet Russia. The question of prices then becomes a burning one for the Montana farmer.

SHERIDAN county takes good care of its renegades. The farmer-labor party elected men to office many times only to see them join the enemy. But they don't get elected again. Burton K. Wheeler got only 17 votes in this county. Those farmers are well trained and they have excellent memories. One of those sent to the state legislature in the last election from Sheridan county joined up with the republican party machine. He found that the farmer-labor party was athelstic and anti-social. The farmers say that even his god will not be able to elect him the next time.

THE automobile has revolutionized farming life socially. The radio is another factor. Young men and women, fathers and mothers and children, come for scores of miles in every make of car to the summer resorts. The serious minded people listen to speakers expound their theories. The young dance the latest steps to the sound of a jazz band. The farmers' sons—some of them at least—dress like Greenwich Village cake-eaters. The baggy trousers that bring so much joy to the clothing manufacturers are very much in evidence. The wearing apparel of the girls is no more generous than what can be seen on Michigan Boul, Chicago. The twentieth century has joined city and country. The time is ripe for the workers and farmers to form an alliance and use modern machinery to its fullest extent for the benefit of the producers.

I. L. G. W. MEMBERS HOLD THE FORT AT 16 W. 2ND ST.

Guarding Their Union Night and Day

By ASSAD.

NEW YORK CITY, July 8.— The struggle is on. The battleground is all set to receive the sluggers that the officials of the I. L. G. W. U. might send to capture Local 22 from the duly elected representatives, as they did to Locals 2 and 9.

We are on guard. We are on guard as we always have been to safeguard the interests of the rank and file of the union. It gives one a sense of safety and hopes for the future, seeing hundreds of girls and men, depriving themselves of their sleep and recreations, in order that their organization, which was built thru years of hard labor and struggle should not be thrown to the dogs, that their local should not fall in the hands of those who have sold them time and again to the bosses.

An Address That Means Something.

Sixteen West 2nd St., N. Y. is an address not be forgotten in the annals of the union movement of New York, and especially among the class conscious and progressive workers of the I. L. G. W. U. Day and night passers-by can see groups of working girls and men, standing on the watch, alert and ready for any eventuality that may arise.

Inside and outside of the building, during and at the end of the night, one can see people with closing eyes, worn and pale faces from lack of sleep and rest. In spite of all that, their determination to fight till the bitter end is written on their faces. All night long they are on guard, changing posts, singing, laughing and hopeful, not withstanding the fact of their tiredness.

Holding the Fort.

In front of the building, and across the street groups of three or more are discussing the possibilities of a quick victory. The stairs crowded with people, mostly girls; eyeing every one who wishes to enter the building, the doors are guarded day and night. In the corridor still more people on guard.

First floor: Young girls and boys singing, playing and dancing; to chase away the slumber that insists on attacking them. Second floor: In one corner, a group discussing some interesting topic; literature, politics, economics and some times (not very seldom), you could hear people discussing science and philosophy.

In another part of the room somebody is leaning on an arm-chair dozing his or her sleep off. On the third and fourth floors, here and there tey're lying on the floors, on the tables and on the chairs stretched all their length with a deep slumber, but up as soon as an unusual noise is to be heard.

With Their Chosen Leaders.

It needs an artist to paint and describe the different poses, modes and expressions to be seen these days among the defenders of Local 22. In spite of all the slanderous lies heaped upon them by the reactionary papers and the yellow Forward, the rank and file of the workers are with the leaders of Local 22.

of the I. A. M. took similar action last week.

It must be said that the United is getting little results for its pains, and the scabs are actually scabbing on scabs, they are being treated far worse than scabs usually are. During the strikes of the past, scabs were accorded all protection possible, given hotel accomodations, food and even the solace of women companions, besides better pay than the bosses would grant to the union.

Scabbing on Scabs.

Today, however, union scabs of the U. G. are scabbing on the scabs. Pay is not even equal the union scale and the boss furnished luncheon only the first two days. Then the scabs were told to go out for lunch as they "would have to get used to it. When the scabs refused, saying they feared the strikers, the boss said, "Of course, we don't want you to get hurt. We'll send out to get a box lunch for you, but it will cost you 25 cents each."

Tuesday, the twelve alleged "cutters" who have been fooling around in the cutting room, suffered a great loss. Eight of them walked out and joined the strike and said they wanted no more of the "worth while" unionism of the U. G. The four remaining are not mechanics and might just as well not be there for all the work they do.

Label Girls and Order Writers Walk Out.

Signs of spunk are appearing in unexpected places. The label girls, who tend to the work tickets attached to orders sent thru the workrooms, and who have never belonged to the union at all, when asked to do some work customarily done by the workers on strike, refused and walked out.

The order writers, whose clerical tasks have never brought them into the union, when told they would have to cut, after the foreman or some of the few scabs have marked out the suits, refused, saying that they would quit rather than scab on the union cutters. The bosses were stubborn and insisted, and the order writers were honorable enough to stand by their class brothers and quit, joining the strikers on the streets with loud acclaim.

A Street Car Convention.

The strike picket line was good as usual both night and morning, with the workers from the struck shops and nearby shops covering the streets. The scabs have an uncomfortable time, in spite of the private cars provided now to sneak them off thru the alleys. One scab, sort of reckless like, opined he would go home on a street car. The strikers reached him on a Van Buren car and talked to him so convincingly that he didn't show up yesterday morning.

With all the tricks and the aid of the scabs from the U. G., not one garment has been produced that was made so anyone could wear it, all of the few turned out have been so impossible that the firm dares not ship them.

Pants and Vest Makers Support.

The Pantsmakers' Local 144 and Vestmakers' Local 152, have both held meetings on Tuesday evening. Both locals passed a resolution pledging unanimous support in every way to the strike and the strikers.

The strikers' morale is excellent, as may be seen by the joyful way they are taking the police interference, five being arrested yesterday and an attempt made to frighten them with all the fol-de-rol of lugging them off in big handcuffs to the detective bureau where they were honored by being finger-printed, mugged and Bertillon measured. But the whole five turned up smiling when the little game of the police was over—and that's how all the strikers feel. No police intimidation can scare them away.

Membership Ready to Fight It Out.

The most obscure member of the Amalgamated know that the fight with the I. T. C., is a challenge to the union. They are in readiness, have accepted the challenge and will battle the thing to a finish. They are confident that a policy of militant struggle will win. They are confident of their own mass power.

In New York City, both the Taylor firm and the I. T. C. are completely tied up. The open shop has failed and all attempts to get United Garment scabs have fizzled out. The workers of both cities feel a new unity and fraternity and nobody can hereafter tell them that they have no business interesting themselves in their mutual problems.

Manager Looks Sick; Injunction Delayed.

Kormeier, the labor manager of the I. T. C., appears to be suffering from the heat of late. On the street he shows a sickly face. No orders are being given. No one to bring them in. No one to work them up. No one to take them out.

The injunction application which was to have been given a hearing was laid over Tuesday and will probably come up on Thursday. The Italian business agent of Local No. 270, Mike De Novi, in a spirited address to the strikers at the activity meetings, told of the situation in the shops both here and in New York and declared that no injunction would prevent the militant membership of the A. C. W. from winning the strike, in spite of the police, the bosses and the scabbing United Garment crew.

German Railmen in Convention Assured of British Support

BERLIN, June 25 (By Mail).—The third general congress of the German railwaymen's unions, which opened in Cologne on Sunday, was attended by 100 delegates, representing 180,000 trade union members. Delegates from Great Britain, Belgium, Denmark, Holland, Austria, Poland, Sweden and Czecho-Slovakia were also present.

Replying to an address of welcome, Mr. C. T. Cramp, industrial general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, assured his comrades of his readiness to assist the German railwaymen to secure better conditions.

He realized the difficult position created by the Dawes scheme, but, he said, if reparations had to be paid, they must not be paid at the expense of the German working man and his wife and children.

The supreme question of the prevention of war in the future rested with the transport workers, acting with international solidarity. Mr. Cramp was definitely in favor of the workers combining to prevent war, even if it meant a series of international strikes.

Earthquake Shock Kills One in Japan; More Are Expected

TOKIO, July 8.—Nagoya was shaken by another severe earthquake shock today, which demolished several buildings, opened large fissures in the ground, killed one person and resulted in the injury of several others.

The second shock today bore out the fear that the "quiet area" of Japan, in which Nagoya is located, again is in an active earthquake phase.

Bryan Would Bar Science From the Schools

are menaced. When that sort of realization crystalizes, it can raise more hell than redfire and mob excitement.

For a Reign of Persecution.

"Those who are behind the prosecution are honest. They believe with the zeal of the crusader and have no doubt they are right. The less men know, the fewer doubts they have. They are opening the doors for a reign of bigotry and persecution equal to anything in the middle ages. No man's belief will be safe if they win. They will not be satisfied with even a belief in Christ and christianity, but will enforce their own sort of belief in them. Many protestants are as bitter against catholicism as against judaism or evolution or agnosticism. This may result in crusades of one creed against another or all others.

"While the press has handled this situation with a modicum of frivolity, the stubborn truth seems to have trickled thru. The citizens understand now how a theoretical problem can, overnight, become a revolutionary domestic, social and physical one. So this science-ban movement right now is more talked about than base ball, the movies or the weather.

"And teh lord knows, the people are not overestimating the potentialities—the dangers, I might say, the benefits the fundamentalists might say—but, either way, the possibilities. They are actual, they are imminent, they are immediate.

Other Laws Threaten.

"If such a law can be put over and sustained in Tennessee, it can and probably will be in many other states, in any states where busy fanatics can work up a feeling of bigotry, intolerance, zeal and cocksureness. And that means in most states.

"If a law can stand against teaching science in one school, it can stand against teaching science anywhere. And if it can bar the teaching of one science, it can bar the teaching of any science, therefore all sciences. This law holds the theory of evolution contrary to the divine account of creation. If that is so, and that is a crime, then there is nothing to stop action to illegalize the teaching of geology, astronomy, biology, psychology, anatomy, zoology, ahtoropology, sociology. In truth, the literal interpretation of Genesis is more in conflict with all science than with evolution. Therefore the zealots can go further and make—as they have before—any criticism of any paragraph of any of the 66 books of the bible a crime, further, they can force not only church-going, but can pick the particular church where all must go for if the bible is to be the source of education and not the source of religion, then church-going will be compulsory as education, and the theory of the Tennessee law that the education bodies can choose what may and what may not be taught will apply toward naming what church our children must attend.

State Married to Schools.

"Fortunately our laws divorce church and state, but unfortunately forgot to divorce church and school specifically. As for general guarantees, political bodies during late years have found convenient ways to ignore them as unworthy of attention.

"In the movement to extend the Tennessee school law to other states, inevitable if the Scopes defense is lost, the fanatics will run against state constitutions. But they are as easily changed as state laws. The federal constitution has no right to interfere except on grounds of federal unconstitutionality, and then only after a test case, as in the present instance. I hope the test will be a clear one. We can win nothing by getting a technical verdict of not guilty. Scopes isn't on trial. Civilization is on trial. I get no fee in this case. I enlisted for liberty and humanity, according to my lights."

Law Unconstitutional, Says Scopes.

DAYTON, Tenn., July 8—The Tennessee anti-evolution case, testing the right of any state to dictate the limits of public education should be fought out on constitutional grounds, John Thomas Scopes, youthful defendant, declared today.

If the fight is lost to the evolutionists, Scopes predicted a wholesale drive by religious, political and economic fanatics to force their theories upon the general public by placing limitations on public school curriculums.

"The real issue here," said Scopes, "is whether the anti-evolution law is constitutional. I believe it is not, because it violates the religious freedom guarantee and the property rights clause of the constitution."

Encroachment of Religion.

"What was your purpose in voluntarily becoming the defendant in this case?" he was asked.

"I wanted to safeguard our public schools from encroachments by any religious group," he replied. "Education means a broadening of the mind. To limit our curriculum in the public schools as this law provided, was to narrow the field of education, to foster bigotry and to force the religious sentiments of one group upon all the people, in defiance of their constitutional guarantees."

Scopes pointed out that both the Tennessee state constitution and the American Declaration of Independence guarantee to each citizen the right to "worship God" according to the dictates of his own conscience. This constitutional right, he added, does not involve the bible nor Christianity.

Law Would Bring Universal Ignorance

"I feel that any law requiring our school children to worship God according to the St. James or any other version of the bible is a clear-cut violation of the constitution," Scopes declared.

"I hope the fight is made on constitutional grounds and that my trial will not develop into a battle between evolutionists and fundamentalists. At least, it seems to me, to be unnecessary to drag in the fundamentalist-modernist row."

The Tennessee law, which he violated, Scopes declared, was an "opening wedge for scores of similar laws forcing the educational and religious will of the majorities upon all the people."

"In this instance, the law destroys the basic facts of nearly all the sciences. Further encroachments would eliminate the sciences and leave our public education blighted with universal ignorance flooded throut the land."

Colby Withdraws From Case.

The withdrawal of Bainbridge Colby, former secretary of state, from the Scopes evolution case, will not affect the presentation of John T. Scopes, defense, it was announced this afternoon by defense counsel.

Colby's withdrawal did not come as a surprise to either the defense or to the community, since the defeat of Colby's plan to transfer the trial into the federal courts.

LABOR HALTS ANGLO-RUSS BREAK

AMALGAMATED STRIKE TIGHTENS GRIP; OPEN SHOPPERS USE THE A. F. OF L. TO COVER SCABBING

Yesterday was the end of the second week of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers strike against the International Tailoring company and the J. L. Taylor Co., which tried to run open shop with the aid of the scabs sent by the United Garment Workers' "Union."

In spite of the rain in the morning, the strikers swarmed over the street, those without umbrellas getting soaked by heavy downpour but cheeful and determined, knowing that they would go dry again. The scabs thought that the rain would let them sneak in peacefully and without interference. Nothing doing! They were stopped left and right.

Wednesday night, hundreds of workers from nearby shops marched around the shops until late at night, to be sure that the scabs would either stay inside or give a chance for talking if they came out.

Two More Fly Away.

Thursday morning, two more workers who had been bamboozled into going to work, came down to join the strikers. They say that some of the scabs stay all night in the shop for fear of the picket line. They sleep on boxes, broken tables and eat dry lunch drenched down with water, and live like rats in a hole, with windows smeared over to prevent any striker or the sun to look inside. This shows that the strikers are watching everything closely.

Yesterday morning there were three arrests made, one being A. Martini and another Mrs. Frank Cicala. The latter, a crippled girl, tried to approach a scab, when a cop interfered and—at first—raised his club to strike. But somehow he changed his mind. Perhaps there were too many pickets around him.

There are few scabs to be stopped. The firm tries to make them look important by taking the ones who go out at night home in private cabs. But a close count shows only 17 scabs on the job.

Use A. F. of L. to Break Strike.

This is as many as they can get, in spite of the scabby United Garment "Union," whose connection with the American Federation of Labor is being used by the bosses to break the strike of the Amalgamated. How this is done can be seen by the following advertisement for union scabs copied from the Daily News of Thursday.

CUTTERS, ON SPECIAL ORDER.

We have a few positions open for experienced men: these jobs are permanent and are worth having: $47 per week for union scale; you will be asked to join the United Garment Workers, who are in the American Federation of Labor; this is a chance for many who are not satisfied with present conditions in the trade; we want men

AS WE SEE IT.

By T. J. O'FLAHERTY

DID you ever experience the discomfort of riding a lazy camel thru the Sahara desert, with your tongue amalgamated to the roof of your mouth with thirst, and wondering how long you could bear your agony when suddenly a little clump of trees catches your eye? "Ho" you say to yourself "there is an oasis, and unless I run into a hostile sheik, I can slake my thirst without having to open up my camel's belly and tap his reservoir."

AND if on nearing the oasis you saw approaching on a prancing steed, a person who might be the bearer of good or ill tidings. Thirsty travelers always prepare for the worst, I understand, and you might probably predict that an Arabian javelin might be twanging in your gizzard as soon as the horseman got near enuf to do his dirty work. What would be your emotions—provided you wern't too thirsty to have any—if the rider instead of inserting his dagger between your ribs, bowed and said to you: "Lo, weary and parched stranger, my leader the chiek, has heard of your coming and bids me welcome you, and he commands you to make yourself at home."

TRANSPORT yourself from the sandy wastes of Africa to the great open spaces of Montana and transform yourself into this mortal if you want to reach an approximation of the feelings that would be experienced by a normal traveler in the predicament described in the preceding paragraphs. The camel in this case will be capably represented by the Great Northern Railway; the oasis by Plentywood and the shiek by the Farmer-Labor Party of Sheridan County, of which Plentywood is the county seat.

I WAS scheduled to speak in Plentywood on the Fourth of July. The Great Northern Railway gave me more than my money's worth of transportation. It carried me beyond my stop. What that means in Montana can only be understood by native sons. Young men grow old between stops out there—on express trains. Locals never seem to leave their stops. However, I finally managed to get to town somewhere in the vicinity of the place I should have gotten off at. The conductor left the train to go on a hunting trip, and while he was away a man entered the coach and asked for me. On admitting my identity he ordered me to come along and get into his car. He was the sheriff of Sheridan County.

"MORE bail money!" you will say. The last time I had the privilege of riding in a car provided by a sheriff

ROUMANIAN TORTURES AND MURDERS OF WORKERS BY HANGMEN APPROVED BY TRAITOROUS SOCIAL-DEMOCRATS

BUCHAREST, Roumania—(By Mail)—"A prominent Swiss journalist, editor of the 'Journal of Geneva,' Shapiuza, visited Bucharest recently in response to an official invitation from government circles.

"According to the offer extended by the Attorney Kastafory, general secretary of the Human and Civic Rights Defense League, Mr. Shapiuza visited those accused in the trial of the Roumanian Communists.

"This visit made such a heavy impression upon Mr. Shapiuza that while leaving Bucharest he stated to the journalists: 'I am leaving your beautiful country with a feeling of a person who was bereaved of his last faith in respect for human dignity.'"—(From the newspapers.)

NEW ATTACK OF RIFFIANS DRAWS CLOSE TO FEZ

Americans Enlist On Imperialists' Side

PARIS, France, July 9.—Fez, the capital of Morocco, is again threatened by a new attack of the Riffians. Ten thousand natives have been thrown against the French invaders.

The French communique admits that the situation of the French imperilaists is alarming. "The enemy plans an intensive offensive against Fez," it states, "by a direct attack from the north. The eastern sector is still menaced and we had to disarm some tribes around Taza today."

Evacuate Civilians at Taza.

The evacuation of civilians from Taza was ordered, it has now been learned, because the native population was growing continually more hostile to the French. The natives in the Taza region have joined the Riffians in large numbers, and the remainder have been prevented from do-

Midland Tailoring Co. Reported Willing to Sign Up with A. C. W.

The tailors working for the Midland Tailoring company at 225 West Ohio street who have been on strike nearly two months now, are expected to go back soon as the firm is reported to be ready to sign an agreement with the Amalgamated Clothing Workers.

There have been about 60 men out on an organization strike, the firm having been run on the open shop plan since 1921 altho in 1920 it was in the A. C. W. The shop closed for a short period and then re-opened as an open shop.

It brought in Italians and Negroes in the hope of keeping them as strike breakers when 57 of the force walked out about two months ago. Evidently the work was not done as the old workers could do it, and in spite of the sluggers and police kept always guarding the shop the firm had to give in

GOVERNOR SMITH'S ARBITRATION BODY DENIES WAGE RAISE

(Special to The Daily Worker.)

NEW YORK CITY, July 9.—The chairman of the governor's commission which is arbitrating the conflict between the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union and the manufacturers, today denounced as "inaccurate and misleading" the reports in the New York press that the commission has granted a wage increase of two dollars on the minimum weekly wage.

This indicates that no wage increases will be granted. The commission's report will be made public Friday at the Bar Association.

Louis Boudin, attorney for the suspended executives, is suing the yellow socialist daily Forward for criminal libel, asking damages of $100,000 because the Forward stated that he attempted once to secure an injunction for a boss in time of a strike.

EVOLUTION NOW TAUGHT IN U. OF TENNESSEE, NEAL

Bryan Wants Bible As Part of Constitution

DAYTON, Tenn., July 9.—John R. Neal, chief counsel for the defense of John Scopes, who goes on trial here Friday for violating the Tennessee anti-evolution law, has first hand knowledge of the attempts of the conservative southern politicians and business men to stamp out the teaching of the truths of science in the public school system.

Neal was dismissed from his position as professor in the University of Tennessee for sympathizing with Prof. J. W. Sprowls, who was dismissed from the university two years ago because he taught evolution "too openly." Several other professors were dropped from their classes at that time.

Don't Get Along Without It

Neal will show in the trial which commences tomorrow, that at the present time, altho some of the university professors admit they teach evolution "guardedly and cautiously," that as long as science is taught, evolution will necessarily be a part of the course, or else the truth will have to be suppressed.

Professors from the University of Tennessee are to be called as witnesses, Neal said, and they will show that biology, physiology, botany and other sciences cannot be taught if the theory of evolution is ignored, and at the present time, these professors are violating the recently passed state law. If Scopes is convicted, it is planned to indict also the University of Tennessee science professors.

Judge Raulston to Preside

Judge John T. Raulston has arrived to preside over the trial. Raulston declared the hours of the trial will be from 9 a. m. to 12 noon, and from 2 p. m. until dark.

Bryan, who has made a steady stream of speeches here against the teaching of evolution, has established himself as an evangelist. He will speak in the court house Sunday

UNITED STATES TELLS BRITAIN IT WILL LET CHINA WAIT; BOTH NATIONS FENCE FOR ADVANTAGE

Caution is the supreme note in imperialist diplomacy these days as rival powers jockey for advantageous positions in the great world war now looming over the horizon.

The United States, announcing in Washington Wednesday that it was "going ahead" with plans for a conference of powers on the abolition of extra-territoriality in China, on the next morning, yesterday, announces in London that it is in no hurry whatever and that it is quite proper for Britain and Japan, being interested in China, to object, that America is not losing sleep shedding tears over the injustices being done the Chinese people and has no suspicions about British secret conferences with Japan.

Britain, for her part, states that she has not the slightest objection to giving up her extra-territorial privileges in China, but that the Chinese themselves insist upon British courts trying them, and British troops remain in China only to shoot those who may wish to be shot.

The crisis between the two imperialist powers has added a sobering effect to the British conservatives wish to make war on the Soviet Union. But deeper than all is the whirlwind of fury rising in the ranks of British labor unions against the very mention of breaking off relations with Soviet Russia. It has forced a denial of such action out of the lips of Foreign Secretary Austen Chamberlain.

Big Fencing Match Between U. S.–Great Britain Still Rages

(Special to The Daily Worker)

LONDON, July 9.—The diplomatic fencing match between British imperialism and American imperialism goes merrily on.

"The United States wishes to bring no pressure for an immediate conference seeking abolition of extra-territorial rights in China. Nor is the United States worried over the fact that Great Britain and Japan are exchanging notes over policy in China."

These are the chief points in a statement issued today by the American embassy in London. At the same time, it was understood, it was formally announced that William Perkins, representative of the American state department in London, was satisfied with the British policy in China and saw no possibility of Great Britain differing with the United States regarding action of the imperialist powers in China.

Official Statement

Perkins himself refused to talk, but his views—unquestionably the instructed views of the state department—were understood to be reflected in the amiable statement of the embassy.

The American representations, urging a conference to discuss extra-territoriality as provided in the Washington agreements, have been made "thru the usual diplomatic channels, but no note has been presented," it was said—somewhat contradictorily, at the embassy.

Willing to Let China Wait

"The United States is not insisting on an immediate conference, but is willing to wait a more suitable time," it was stated.

Regarding the exchange of notes between Japan and Britain, the American government was said to feel that inasmuch as these nations have been the objects of Chinese antagonism displayed in strikes, they are bound to form a common policy.

The tactics of the British foreign office in explaining British attitude toward the proposed conference might slangily be described as "passing the buck."

Britain Says China Objects

In Downing street, the center of British imperialism, it was said that Britain has "no objection" to an immediate conference on extra-territoriality, but that "other powers" have objections. Most remarkably, the British officials say that China's government itself is objecting and wants delay on the ground that abolition of extra-territoriality must wait until there is a "more stable government" than it is!

The British foreign office denies that it sent a note to Japan requesting joint action in China, but says that the message only "inquired what Japan's attitude is."

Where Is That Magic "Anti-Injunction" Bill The Labor Lobby Won?

England Fears Break With Soviet Union; Diplomats Confess

(Special to The Daily Worker)

LONDON, July 9—"Anybody that tells you that England is intending to break off relations with Soviet Russia is half-witted, and you can tell them I say so," remarked a high government official in answer to the persistent reports that Britain is threatening to make war on Soviet Russia and means to begin it by breaking off present relations.

It is no secret that any severance of relations would infuriate hundreds of thousands of British workers who are in no very tractable mood as it is, and the loss of trade for British industry would be an insufferable loss to British industry at present, while there is 1,250,000 unemployed registered and more being added.

Yesterday, answering a stormy bombardment of questions from members of the house of commons, Austen Chamberlain, foreign minister, flatly stated that the British cabinet was not considering breaking off relations with Soviet Russia. However, the crafty diplomat asserted that the government was "watching the course of events closely, and as before, would insist on liberty of action without consulting the commons."

Norse Communists Busy.

OSLO, Norway, July 9—The arrival today of a British fleet for a visit to Oslo was marked by intensive demonstrations by Norwegian Communists. Appeals were made to the British bluejackets and marines.

"Rise in revolt rather than to obey your government if you are ordered to make war on Russia," was one leaflet handed the British tars by local Communists.

The young Communist League of Norway placarded the city with posters, printed in English and addressed to the English visitors, criticizing the part the British government is playing in China and denouncing the present propaganda in London against Soviet Russia.

"Great Britain plans war against Russia," Communist orators and editors told the visiting Englishmen. "If a war broke out, you will be ordered to go, but you must not fight your brothers. Give them all your assistance. Start a mutiny and insurrection before you agree to this new war."

British Communists Reply to Slanders Against Communism

MOSCOW.— Gallagher, MacManus, Pollitt, and Stewart who represent the British Communist Party upon the executive committee of the Communist International, issued a statement to the press some time ago with reference to the world-wide campaign started against Communism.

Refuting the allegations that the Comintern stands for individual terror, they point out that the anti-Communist campaign is in fact but a preparation for an onslaught against the Union of Soviet Republics.

SPRINGMAKERS' STRIKE JOINED BY BLACKSMITHS

Gibson Co. Workers Fight the "Open Shop"

The blacksmiths employed at the Gibson Spring company, 1802 Clybourn Ave., have gone out on strike in sympathy with the locked-out springmakers, machinists and toolmakers.

Over 150 workers are now out fighting the ultimatum of the company that the "open shop" would be installed and that the agreement with District No. 8 of the International Association of Machinists, which has expired, would not be renewed.

The attempt of the Gibson company to smash the union in the shop came to a head a few days ago when the company posted bulletins that the eight-hour day would be abolished and the men must henceforth work nine hours a day. Their hours had been from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., and they were ordered to report for work at 7:30 and remain until 5 p. m.

Refuse to Negotiate.

The machinists disregarded the notice, and reported for work at 8 o'clock as usual. They were then locked out.

The agreement with the machinists and tolomakers expired on May 1, and with the springmakers on July 1. The workers received letters from the Gibson company 30 days prior to the termination of the agreements that they would not be renewed.

When Oscar Uhlman, business agent for district eight of the Machinists' Union, attempted to negotiate with the management, he was told that "nothing could be done as the company has decided to go on the open shop basis."

The Gibson Spring company was recently absorbed by the Associated Spring corporation of New York, and is now connected with the national metal trades association, the metal manufacturers' "open shop" association.

Police Called In.

In April the company began its drive to crush the union by employing five non-union girls for thirty-five cents an hour, under the union agreement. Rest rooms were installed for these girls by the company. Several of them have now joined the walkout.

Six or eight policemen are kept constantly at the entrance to the Clybourn avenue plant, but as yet no arrests have been made. The machinists are conducting regular picketing.

For the first time yesterday, fourteen strikebreakers were taken into the plant, but they are the professional strikebreakers, who will not turn out any work.

Amalgamated Under Fire Of Capitalist Injunction In Phila.

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—(FP)—An injunction against the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union is granted on behalf of E. & R. Rosenberg, clothing manufacturers, and Steinberg & Oritsky, cutters for Rosenberg. The injunction prevents union "members, officers, confederates, employes and all persons acting in aid for and conjunction with and conspiring to injure the operations of plaintiff's employes" from most of the usual picket duties of strikers. The Amalgamated is trying to organize these firms completely.

Strikers Curious About A. F. of L.

The strikers are wondering how long it is going to take the Chicago Federation of Labor to wake up to the fact that the name of the A. F. of L. is being used to cover scabbing.

It is hardly a successful scabbing however, owing to the power of the A. C. W. The customers of the I. T. C. are cancelling their orders, said Stephen Scala, a member of the G. E. B. speaking yesterday. Evidence was cited of letters written to the firm and copies sent to the union.

Other speakers brot out the significance of the strike to the whole A. C. W. and that it is not altruism for workers to picket the stuck shops of open shop bosses. It is self protection to defend the union wherever it is attacked. Tillie Kazak, the grey haired old fighter again had the floor at yesterday's meeting to urge her brothers and sisters of the union to stick as they are sticking until they win.

Word from the same firms' shops in New York City shows that both are tied up tightly. There, the firms made no attempt to run with a scab union. They didn't want even that much of a fig leaf to cover their naked hostility to unionism.

Yellow Dog Contract in New York.

In New York they sent by mail to each worker a blank application form of what is known as a "yellow dog" contract, wherein the worker who signs it agrees that he or she is not now a member of any union, will not become a member of any union, and will not induce anyone else to become a member of any union.

On Tuesday, there was a private detective, Joseph Kline, employed by the I. T. C. in New York City thru the Williams Detective Agency, who had a run of hard luck when strike sympathizers collided with six scabs he was guarding on their way to the shop. He is now in the Bellevue hospital and in a serious condition.

Scab Stabs Fink.

It seems that Kline was trying illegally to force people off the sidewalk to let his scabs by, when the scabs mixed in and in the melee Kline was stabbed by mistake by a scab.

The injunction reported to be given a hearing yesterday, was argued partly, but postponed until next Tuesday when further arguments will be made. No order has yet been issued by Judge Sullivan who has the case, according to information given out at Manager Levin's office.

WORKER HURT BECAUSE OF WESTERN ELECTRIC COMPANY'S NEGLIGENCE

By HARRY ALLEN
(Worker Correspondent)

Because of the greed of the railroad company to increase its profits, a worker injured his leg while unloading pigs of lead out of a box car in the Hawthorne works of the Western Electric Co. The accident was due to the company's negligence.

While pushing over a 2-ton load of lead out of a box car, a wheel suddenly broke thru the rotten floor, toppling the heavy load on the worker, breaking one of his legs in two places.

Sounds Like "Old 400" Is Coming Back Again

LAMAR, Colo., July 9.—Harvest workers, trying to ride from job to job on a Santa Fe freight in western Kansas, were denied the opportunity unless they would fork over a few dollars to the crew.

Not being able to pay for riding passenger trains they demurred to having to pay their fare on freights, took over the train and decided to ride anyhow.

When the train passed thru Syracuse, Kansas, the conductor dropped a note asking that a telegram be sent to the sheriff at Lamar and the workers were arrested.

A posse, heavily armed as though to meet invading hosts, met the train and began firing before the workers could unload and hike out after jobs. Sixteen were arrested.

Switchman Dies in Auto Crash.

CENTRALIA, Ill., July 9.—J. E. Ragland, 40, Centralia railroad switchman, died today in a hospital at Breeze, Ill., from injuries received when he ran the car he was driving into the rear end of an automobile truck near Carlyle, 18 miles west of here. His wife Minnie, 36, severely injured, was expected to recover.

GRAIN MARKET COMPANY ABOUT TO REORGANIZE

Fake "Co-Operative" Going Up in Smoke

With the fate of Dean, Onativia & Co., brokers, hanging in the balance, the $36,000,000 co-operative grain marketing company today tossed another bombshell into the already disturbed currents of the financial district by issuing a call for a board of directors' meeting to consider liquidation and reorganization.

Company Violated Laws.

The Illinois marketing act and the Copper-Volstead act require that co-operative enterprises shall handle as much business for their own members as for outsiders. The grain marketing company, it is understood, handled as high as three times as much business for outsiders as for its own members.

To Get Back Companies.

The board, it was understood, would consider liquidation of assets and return by the grain marketing to original holders of elevators and other equipment turned over to it upon its organization.

The $4,000,000 advanced to the grain marketing company by the vendor companies will be repaid, it was stated.

New Plan for Docking Teachers' Wages Under Consideration by Board

Under the heading of recommendations for dealing with teachers' sick leave, the slickest teachers' sweating plan was brot before the board of education yesterday afternoon thru Superintendent of Schools William McAndrew.

The recommendation points a way to extract part of the teachers salary. It requires that on sick leave or other valid absence such as death of relatives, the absent teacher must pay half the salary of the substitute teacher. And it demands the docking of the entire salary of absent teachers without leave with an assessment of half of the substitute's pay against the teacher's future salary.

Even the most gullible in the ranks of the teachers can no longer doubt that the teachers and not the big tax dodgers are going to supply the deficit in the school treasury.

Japan's Estimate For Year's Naval Expense Is Now $140,000,000

TOKYO, July 9.—Tentative naval estimates for the coming year show a total of $140,000,000, an increase in ordinary expenditure of $7,500,000 and in extraordinary expenditure of $12,500,000.

The latter includes $5,000,000 for new style weapons, $4,000,000 for warship construction and $36,000,000 for auxiliary warship construction.

These estimates probably will be drastically cut, however.

Rowell Asks "Courtesy" in Surging Pacific But Backs Capitalist Crimes

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

TODAY, Chester Rowell, the California "Bull Mooser" in 1912, but now a devout follower of Coolidgeism, tells the Institute of Pacific Relations meeting at Honolulu that the American immigration law against Japan "could have been framed more politely. He attacked the "lack of courtesy" shown in Tokio-Washington relations. But like a good "native son" of California and a staunch supporter of American imperialism, he declares, of the Anti-Japanese law: "But now we have it, we must live up to it."

• • • •

Thus Chester Rowell, flaming "progressive" in support of Roosevelt a dozen years ago, eptiomizes the whole philosophy of the so-called liberal-minded American politician. The brutal banditry of big business may be raw and uncouth, it may posses none of the niceties of the discussions carried on by parlor radicals, like the present conference in the Hawaiian Isles, but once capitalism's crimes are committed, as they always will be while capitalism lasts, they must be accepted, and just as often apologies advanced for them.

• • • •

The "institute" at Honolulu professes to an ambition to stave off war in the Pacific. This is a confession, even from this source, that war is on the way; that imperialist rivalries on the earth's greatest ocean are breeding another great slaughter. And all that the California intellectual, Rowell, has to offer is that the battle be carried on with padded gloves instead of brass knuckles. His plea will always remain unanswered.

• • • •

Charles C. Batchelder, formerly American commercial attache in China, gave some of the facts that should prove even to a Rowell, from California, that the surging unrest along the shores of the Pacific cannot be soothed by the srtumming of a ukulele. Batchelder offers the following:

1. The increasing tendency in Japan, India and China to manufacture locally with European machinery, such raw materials as silk, rubber and jute, formerly manufactured in Europe and the United States may upset the economic organization of the world.
2. British workers are unemployed and are not consuming American food products as a result of India's making her own cotton cloth from her own cotton instead of buying British cloth made from American cotton.
3. Indian cotton yarn is replacing British yarn in China. One hundred and nineteen Chinese mills are now manufacturing cotton cloths formerly supplied to the Chinese by Lancashire, England.
4. For the present the tremendous demand in India, China and Japan for their own products absorbs most of the local producction, but the goods of those countries are already penetrating Oceania, Malaysia and Africa and will soon invade South America. We can see the time when they will invade Europe and America.

• • • •

Like a good servant of imperialism, Batchelder has his remedies. He says Great Britain is meeting the competition of the Orient by sending "prints, bleached goods and other new products" into the orient, instead of the plain cotton cloths. As if the orientals couldn't and won't duplicate these in time.

He also points out that "high tariffs" will combat the flood of cheap oriental goods; the tariffs that are a weapon for sharpening, but certainly not for solving trade rivalries. The imperialist agent, Batchelder also worries about the clash of the oriental standard of living with that of the occident.

There is only one place in the world today where the standard of living is on the up-grade at a rapid rate. That is the Union of Soviet Republics; that stretches to the Pacific along the northern borders of China. The Soviet Union is taking care of its standard of living. China can be depended on to do the same.

• • • •

The industrialization of Asia can be accomplished peacefully thru an international economy created by a World Soviet Union. If capitalist imperialism lives, if it is not overthrown, however, it will come thru the travail of a series of world-devastating wars, finally culminating just the same in the World Soviet Republic.

• • • •

The issue is not between the 750,000,000 peoples of Asia and the 200,000,000 whites of the occident, as the imperialist press would have the workers of Europe and America believe. The struggle is between the billion workers and farmers on this globe, of all colors and races, and the small handful of imperialists who rule thru the iron fist of their dictatorship. That is something the Institute on Pacific Relations will not discuss. And when it is discussed by anyone else, it will be denouncced as Bolshevism. But in Bolshevism, as opposed to imperialism, lies the hope of the workers of the world.

Floods and Shocks Do Great Damage In Northern Japan

LONDON, July 9.—Thousands of homes in Nagoya, Japan, have been submerged by floods, which came in the wake of the latest earthquake shocks there. Traffic has been stopped.

Extensive floods also have spread over northern Japan, doing extensive crop damage and interfering with the traffic.

Two deaths occured in Tokio as a result of a heat wave which centered over the capital.

Ford Plots to Get Monopoly on Air Mail of Government

LOS ANGELES, July 9—Maintaining the greatest secrecy in their negotiations, representatives of Henry Ford were today reported to be seeking the aid of leading Southern California financiers in a gigantic air mail service plan to operate a $10,000,000 fleet of sky planes, obtaining from the government exclusive contracts for the delivery of air mail.

In the proposed merger, Los Angeles would be used as one of the chief terminals on the air mail line, it was revealed. This city would be linked with New York, traveling via Salt Lake City and Chicago.

COPS, WHO JAIL REDS, PROTECT BLOODY GUNMEN

Guard Home of Sam Genna, Bootlegger

Sam Genna is hiding under the protection of a police guard.

The man from whose trembling lips came the plea for help, which the police answered, is the brother of Tony, who has answered the summons of a gangster's gun. A month ago his brother Mike, known as "The Killer," was shot down and killed by Sergeant William Sweeney after two policemen had been killed.

Seven weeks ago his brother, Angelo, "The Bloody" died when a sawed off shotgun in the hands of an assassin spoke its message.

The appeal for protection came after he had been questioned by police regarding his brother's death yesterday and had been told he could go. As a result of his plea police are guarding the Genna family. They are also searching for two members of the O'Banion gang to question them regarding the killing of Tony Genna.

"They're going to get all of us Genna's," said Sam Genna, "and I'm next. I know. I've been told. I was told that Tony would get it. So was he. They said they'd get all of us."

Moroccans Launch New Attack.

The new attack of the Moroccans has been launched along the Ourgha river between Mjara and Tinaicha, and is pushing directly toward the capital.

Marshal Lyautey is rushing all available tanks, cavalry, machine guns, and infantry to the north front.

Reports from Madrid declare that Abd-el-Krim, will be offered "autonomy under a Spanish protectorate." This is regarded as a farce as it is definitely known that Krim will not accept a Spanish protectorate as the price of peace.

American aviators have been pressed into the service of French imperialism. Those who have already enlisted in a French foreign aviation unit to fight the Moroccans include Granville A. Pollack of New Orleans and Charles W. Kerwood of Philadelphia.

Premier Painleve's policy of warring on the Moroccans at the instigation of the French bankers to protect their interests, was again opposed in the chamber of deputies when Painleve asked an additinoal credit of 183,000,000 francs ($9,150,000) to pursue the imperialistic war. The credit was passed over the opposition of the Communists.

morning on "What shall I do with Jesus?" and is to teach a Methodist Sunday school class next Sunday.

Bryan has declared that the issue is the Bible against science in the coming trial, and he would prohibit the teaching of science and make the Bible a part of the federal constitution, over-riding the United States supreme court if necessary. He recognises the fact that scientific truths expose the Bible's story of creation as a fairy tale, and is anxious to suppress the truth and make the bed time stories (as well as the bedroom stories) of the Bible, a part of the law.

Darrow Thinks Bryan Gullible

The defense counsel, in answering Bryan's utterances, reiterate that the anti-evolution law is a violation of the state and federal constitutions, violating the rights of free speech and free opinion.

Clarence Darrow, defense attorney, declared, "If Mr. Bryan thinks a Tennessee court or jury is going to have any influence on the thot and investigations of the world he's a very gullible man."

"Bryan is a little bit off on religion," was the comment of John Scopes, the defendant.

OHIO 'HANDS OFF CHINA!' MEETING ATTRACTS 1,500

Negroes and Chinese Attack Imperialism

(Special to The Daily Worker)

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 9.—Anti-imperial week was brought to a close here on Sunday, July 5, by a monster demonstration on the public square. Fifteen hundred workers of all nationalities listened for hours to the anti-imperialist speeches made by members of the Workers (Communist) Party, the Young Workers' League, and the Kuo Min Tang.

Over a thousand voices cheered when the appeal of the All-America Anti-Imperialist League, calling for united action of all labor organizations demanding: "Hands off China" was read.

Soviet Union Greatest Friend.

Comrade James Hamilton, local organizer of the Workers Party, opened the meeting with a speech on the conditions in China and the effect of imperialist policies upon the working class. He called upon the workers of every race to join the Workers (Communist) Party which is the only fighter against the capitalist system which enslaves all workers regardless of race or nationality. He showed that in the struggle of the Chinese workers and students against the imperialist robbers, Soviet Russia was their greatest friend and helper.

Cheer Chinese Speaker.

The secretary of the Cleveland branch of the Kuo Min Tang, Brother Hong, then mounted the rostrum. He was greeted with thunderous applause in recognition of the valiant struggle now being waged by the Kuo Min Tang in China. Brother Hong told of the brutal manner in which the Chinese workers were treated by the foreign imperialists who have entrenched themselves in China by military force.

He was heartily cheered when he asked: "What would you American workers do if you had to work 14 and 16 hours a day for low wages in a mill where your overseer was free to beat you, and if you were accountable not to American courts but to the courts set up by a foreign consul? You would fight, wouldn't you? Well, that is what the Chinese workers and students are doing. They are fighting to free themselves from the rule of the capitalists and to get China for the Chinese." Brother Hong expressed the appreciation of his organization of the work being done by the Workers Party and the Communists of the world to help China in her struggle for liberation from the imperialistic rule of France, Japan and Great Britain.

Youth First Victims.

The position of the young workers under imperialistic capitalism was then exposed by Comrade Carl Weissberg, local organizer of the Young Workers' League. He showed that under imperialism wages and working conditions are lowered thru the competition of colonial workers and that the young worker is the first victim of the poorer conditions. He also pointed out that unless the American workers fight against imperialism they will be permitting the establishment of a great military machine which the American bosses will employ to beat the workers at home into submission to the capitalist system.

Comrade Weissberg explained that the young workers would be the first victims of the inevitable imperialist war, and called upon all workers to unite into an international fight against all imperialist maneuvers of the capitalist class; and he called upon all young workers who were ready to fight against the capitalist system which led to imperialistic wars, to join the Young Workers' League.

Negroes Fight Imperialism.

Comrade Martin Gordon, of the Young Workers' League, spoke on the relation of imperialism to the position of the Negro workers. He told of the fight being made by the Communists in France for the withdrawal of troops from Morocco. He showed that the Communists were fighting with the workers of all countries for their freedom from the yoke of capitalism, and he called upon all Negro organizations to heed the call of the All-America Anti-Imperialist League, and to join in the fight against the oppression of colonial and semi-colonial peoples by the capitalist class.

Sell DAILY WORKER.

The sham of July 4, "Independence Day" was thoroly exposed by Comrade John W. Marshall of New York, who showed how the imperialists are trying to mobilize the workers for military training in order to have them ready to shoot down the workers of other countries when they would rise up against the super-exploitation by foreign capitalists.

The Sunday meeting was the best that Cleveland has seen for a long time. A large number of Chinese workers and many members of the Kuo Min Tang took part in the demonstration. At least a hundred Negro workers enthusiastically took part in this protest against imperialism. When the police forbid the sale of the DAILY WORKER, the crowd showed its spirit by buying every copy of a large bundle of papers at a nearby corner. Many workers contributed to anti-imperialist work by paying fifty cents or a dollar for their papers.

Many valuable contacts have been made at this meeting with workers of all nationalities, and these will be used by the Workers Party and the Young Workers' League in the united front campaign which they are making for Hands off China.

BRITISH UNIONS WAGE WAR UPON UNEMPLOYMENT; REJECT LOW WAGE AND CLASS COLLABORATION PLAN

LONDON, July 9.—Under the direction of the General Council of Trade Unions, the British labor movement held gigantic mass meetings recently, in demonstration against unemployment and the tendency of the employers and government to cut wages on that account.

How strogly the British unions are fighting against the menace of unemployment, may be seen from the following resolution which was the usual form adopted at hundreds of meetings and was sent out by the General Council:

"This mass meeting of workers and citizens views with the utmost gravity the continuance of unemployment on a large scale.

"It repudiates the spurious remedies of lower wages, longer hours and the degradation of established working conditions, and condemns the suggestion that steps should be taken to relieve the unemployment fund by depriving of unemployment benefit workers for whom employment is not available.

"This meeting insists upon an active policy for the provision of socially useful work, and emphasises the desire of the unemployed for work rather than maintenance, whilst insisting where work is not forthcoming adequate maintenance must be provided.

"For those who are not absorbed into employment this meeting demands continuous maintenance at the rate of 30s. for the adult workers, 10s. for the wife of the unemployed worker, and 5s. for each child, and the establishment of centers for the training of unemployed workers and particularly of junvenile workers.

"With these ends in view, it calls upon the government.

"(a) National.—To establish a national employment and development board, as outlined in the prevention of unemployment bill, charged with the duty of developing for the common good the resources of the nation and of British territories over seas, and furnished with funds to enable it to develop national schemes of power and transport, to secure the fuller utilization of the land, and to promote schemes of all kinds which will augment the national resources with a view to the provision of work under recognized Trade Union conditions.

"(b) International.—To take every step to assist international trade, and in particular to reopen immediately negotiations with the Russian government with the object of encouraging and supporting trade relations by the fullest possible application of the Trade Facilities Acts and the Overseas Trade Acts to Russian Trade.

"Finally, this meeting pledges itself to continue unceasingly to press forward these proposals to secure justice for the unemployed workers and their families."

Boosters Launch Los Angeles Boom to Lure Bunkables

LOS ANGELES, July 9.—Business has been slumping in Los Angeles. Unemployment is spreading. Worry has moved the leading boosters to heroic action. After July 1, $1,000,000 will be expended to advertise the city. Eastern capital is to be sought.

Labor should profit by early warning that this capitalist stronghold is overstocked with the exploited. Unemployed crowd the workers' quarters. They are literally down on their knees pleading for work. Claims that this is the cheapest labor market in America are only too well borne out. Advertising that might bring workingmen here is criminal.

The same applies to business. In May and June the exodus to the east left trade flat. Stores and tenements became vacant. Landlords were asked by the realty board to remove "To Let" and "For Sale" signs as there were so many of them that they added to the business depression.

To advertise for industry is ill-timed. Supply of water for factories is limited and it will take many years to tap the Colorado river.

The boosters are advertising for population and nothing else. They want people to come here, spend their money and go away as soon as they are broke.

This million-dollar boost campaign will draw many strangers of moderate means to California. These will add to the army of wage slaves. That will suit the task masters.

So, if tourists only bite at the advertising bait, small harm will be done; but, if workingmen or tradesmen do so, destitution must result. Claims made in the advertisements should be subject to heavy discounts. —FRAPIESA.

SOVIET DEMANDS CHINA ABIDE BY EQUALITY TREATY

Asks Dosser Be Freed from Foreign Hands

MOSCOW, Russia, July 9.—Foreign Minister Tchitcherin has addressed a note to the Chinese ambassador similar to his recent communication of protest to the British envoy concerning the arrest in China of a Russian citizen, Dosser.

Referring to the new Russo-Chinese treaty and the numerous Soviet declarations with regard to renunciation of Russia's right to exercise the extraterritorial privileges enjoyed in China by the czarist government, the foreign minister argues that handing over Dosser for trial before a mixed court is not only illegal in view of the charges preferred against him, but also a direct infringement of the treaty.

He demands that China take immediate adequate measures to secure Dosser's release, placing on trial those responsible for his arrest.

MINERS PICKET; OFFICIALS ASK HELP FROM GOD

Operators Try to Evict W. Va. Strikers

(By Worker Correspondent.)

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., July 9.—The principal speakers at the miners' meeting here were chief international union representative, Van A. Bittner, of the United Mine Workers of America, Phillip Murray, and the former preacher, Tygart, who opened the meeting with prayer.

The picket line at Owings, W. Va., consists of about 300 men, women and children.

Union Officials Give Little Aid.

Van Bittner gave us the same old bunk about, "Don't give up boys," and I would like to know how a man with a family of five to ten persons is going to stay on strike with the kind of support the union officials are giving us.

Tony Castelak's brother John is scabbing at Owings, and the only difference between the two is that John was caught in a lot of his crooked deals, and after he saw he couldn't make any more money he went scabbing. Whereas Tony is still a union man (as he claims), and on the relief committee, and the only reason he is staying out is because he handles all the relief checks.

A Few Mine Scabs.

Others who went scabbing against us are the Wright family, ku kluxers; Collins, a gunman; old man Stuttler from Owings, who used to be the best speaker the local had, and the Dorseys.

There is one man that lives at Allied, W. Va., a member of Local No. 1854, who is also locked out, and the operators tried to put him out of the house.

Try to Evict Miner.

His case is now being tried in the circuit court, after the lower court ruled in favor of the operator. They have not been able to evict the striker yet.

FACTS OF ANTHRACITE MINING GIVEN BY GOVERNMENT SHOW HIGH PROFIT AND LOW WAGE

By LELAND OLDS

(Federated Press Industrial Editor)

Of each dollar paid by the consumer for anthracite coal, 42 cents easily covers cost of production and less than 31 cents goes to the mine workers. A 17 per cent wage reduction bringing destitution to thousands of miner families would mean less than 70 cents a ton saving to consumers. Elimination of unwarranted profits and royalties would give the consumer at least twice that saving without imparing a fair return on invested capital.

These facts based on the thoro investigation of the U. S. coal commission should be mobilized in the face of the propaganda with which the operators will flood the country for the next two months. The commission did not blame wages for high prices but blamed royalties and the profits produced by artificial scarcity of coal.

U. S. Commission Facts.

"The fundamental fact in the anthracite coal problem," it said in its July 5, 1923 report, "is that heretofore these limited and exhaustible natural deposits have been in the absolute private possession of their legal owners, to be developed or withheld at will, to be leased for such royalties as could be exacted, to be transported and distributed at such rates and in such manner as a doubleheaded railroad and coal combination might find most advantageous from the point of view of private profit."

Royalties have been increasingly adjusted as a percentage on the price thus leading the owners of the combine to encourage the high prices produced by shortage scares. The commission found royalties as high as $2.84 a ton, more than half the wage cost. In 1922 royalties from coal lands owned by the Girard estate amounted to $1.20 a ton and brot a return of $18,980,000 on an original investment of $2,340.

The wage cost of producing a ton of anthracite averages not more than $4.05. Items in the price of a ton purchased by Chicago consumers would be:

1 Ton of Antracite
Labor Cost	$4.05
Total mine cost	5.52
Mine price	6.27
Freight	4.46
Retail price	13.25

Owners Get Fat Excess Profit.

The coal combine is getting a profit of 75 cents a ton where 22 cents would pay 6 per cent on all the capital invested. The distributors are getting $2.50 a ton where $2 would pay for storage and haulage and allow a fair profit. A distributing company in Buffalo in 1920 sold coal for $1.90 more than it cost and made 100 per cent on its investment.

Labor Underpaid.

Anthracite miners working on a tonnage basis get less than $2,000 a year while those paid on a daily basis are making less than $1,200. The coal commission found many of these day laborers getting very uncertain and inadequate income. The excessive profits exclusive of royalties represent a sum sufficient to give all these workers a 10 per cent wage increase and at the same time to permit a reduction in price to the consumer. Elimination of excessive royalties coupled with the ending of monopoly underproduction would make possible higher wages with prices well within the reach of the average householder.

MY GOD, HOW THE MONEY ROLLS IN! SAY CAPITALISTS

Millions Are Reaped But Not For Labor

NEW YORK, July 9.—(FP)— The mid-year distribution of profit plums in the form of dividends and interest is the greatest ever in the history of American business, Wall Street papers show.

The sum of $437,900,000 is being disbursed to stock and bond holders to represent their share of the pluckings of the workers during the first six months of 1925. $115,200,000 is in dividends; $322,700,000 in interest, indicating possibly that loaning money by bonds or otherwise is even more profitable than investing—when the indsutrial market is not booming.

Industrial and miscellaneous corporations are paying out $58,915,000 in dividends and $158,300,000 in interest. Railroads are paying $30,510,000 dividends and street railways are paying out $10,900,000 dividends and $47,875,000 in interest.

Greater New York banks, excluding savings banks, are paying $14,875,000 dividends and all New York banks and trust companies $2,500,000 interest.

The federal government is paying out $3,000,000 in interest and the city of New York $2,500,000, with redemptions totalling $31,200,000.

Facts to Recall When India Rebels

LONDON, June 24 (By Mail)—Wages in India, and therefore the general standard of life in India, are far below those of any European country, said Mr. N. M. Joshi, the Indian workers' delegate at the Geneva labor conference, yesterday.

"Capitalism is reproducing in our country," he continued, "the worst features of the worst period of industrialism.

"The evils of slum life are terrible. In Bombay City 70 per cent of the families live in one-room tenements, and they are small rooms. On the average there are six people to a room 10 feet by 10!

Six Infants Dies in Ten.

"You may imagine the result. The infant mortality is 600 per 1,000. Six babies out of every ten die in infancy.

"Factories can work 11 hours a day—60 hours a week. In the mines there is a 54 or a 56-hour week for underground workers, but no restriction at all for surface workers,

"Men, women and children often work 16 hours a day, and women work underground in the mines.

"Everything is done to safeguard the investors of capital," concluded Mr. Joshi. "Nothing is done to safeguard the workers."

Soft Coal for Month and Hard Coal for Six Weeks on Hand

WASHINGTON, July 9—Consumers of bituminous coal had 38,000,000 tons in storage on June 1, equal to 33 days' supply, while retail dealers in anthracite had 1,100,052 on hand, equal to 52 days' supply, the geological survey announced today.

There are no available figures showing the amount of anthracite in cellars of householders, but facts relating to production and retailers' deliveries indicate that the householders' carry-over from last winter was probably normal.

The movement of anthracite in the Great Lakes trade began early this season and as a result the total of the upper lake docks now stands close to 1,000,000 tons. This is more than double the quantity on the corresponding date of last year.

Socialists Approve Torture and Murder of the Roumanian Workers

An Old Hypocrite.

Esteemed gentlemen, there are things which "cannot be discussed in respectable society."

We would not have spoken of it had it not have been for your last sincere statement regarding the trial of the accused Roumanian Communists, which convinced us in the contrary.

Is it not true, sir, that it is very unpleasant to land in a civilized country in response to an official invitation, when respectable ministers officials and social-democrats cordially shake hands with you and when you suddenly have to leave this country with a "heavy felling of a person who was bereaved in his faith in respect for human dignity."

This is a very unpleasant feeling, however, were we in the place of Attorney Kastafory, we could not act otherwise.

Easy on Assassins of Communists.

Mind you, here comes a representative of a country where political assassinations are being punished by two weeks' imprisonment, to a country where for editing a newspaper a person is sentenced to six years hard labor. This is really an event. How is it possible to let such a representative go without introducing to him, for his knowledge the unheard of crimes of the secret service.

A Few Facts.

Sir, possibly that you still remember issuing from your editor's table in Geneva all that you have seen within the damp and cold walls of the second infantry corps. You probably still remember even now the few thousands of "charges" pertaining to "criminal" activities of the accused who dared to defend thru their legal press the ideas of the struggle against the barbarous regime of the Boyar Roumania.

You undoubtedly remember even now the thousands of victims, shrivelling in nervous fit, placed in stretchers at the front room of the court-martial building after 20-25 days of their heroic hunger strike.

You still remember the groups of mothers, wives and children waiting long days in the halls of the second infantry corps for an opportunity to be let in for the rendering of immediate relief.

However, honorable gentlemen, you left too suddenly, you had no time to see even a hundredth particle.

Workers Arrested by General.

Sir, you were in Bucharest, did you see there the "Sigurantsy" secret service of Bucharest? Were you cross examined there? No? We believe that you were not cross examined. Prime Minister Bratiann prefers in certain "circumstances" to "respect human dignity."

Still, imagine yourself for a second to be arrested and suspected of Communist activity by the king's signature (siguranstsa generale).

You are brought to the reception room of the secret service during the usual hours, that is between 1 and 4 a. m. (Siguranstsa "works" nights.) You are being questioned. You are before the Communist brigade (labor is here strictly divided, according to functions-Tailorism.)

Roumanian Inquisition.

Here is the chief of the brigade, Theodor Banchelesku, a worthy provocator, who organized once upon a time and staged the provocative attempt upon the life of King Karl. Mr. Banchelesku is extremely careful. First he hands you over to the "care" of his assistants, keeping himself aside "no need of hurrying, plenty of time."

There it begins: Defendant Shapiuza, are you a Communist? No. Confess. We know all about you, 100 per cent and so on, and so forth.

Sir, pardon for placing you in such an unconvenient position, let's however, continue. And so, Shapiuza does not declare himself guilty. Then the director of siguranstsa himself appears.

Director is a very respectable name. Mr. Voinesky, director of siguranstsa is a former police officer and the author of sentimental plays which are enjoying great success in king's theater at Bucharest.

The Fate of Workers.

You want to know, sir, what is going to happen to you now? We shall quote for your benefit at least one exemplifying document.

Document No. 1. Victor Fordaig, states:

"I was arrested on December 20, 1924, in the city of Oradea-Mare, Gross-Varend, together with my wife who was just 13 days after a serious operation and was under the care of a physician. After the arrival at the secret service building the chief Vulpa beat me for a few hours with a stick as thick as a hand. After the stick was broken I was beaten up by a rubber whip and iron rod.

"I fainted. My hand was paralyzed and chin broken. I could, however, not confess, because I did not know anything. Then they turned to my wife, placed her on chairs, undressed her and prepared for beatings. Knowing her serious condition, I could not bear it and I put my signature under everything they have demanded.

Medieval Tortures.

"Then they transferred me to the city of Arad in the hands of the sigurantsy. Here they brought me face to face with Comrade Sterana Tot. I could not recognize him. His face and body had changed much, due to beatings.

"After that I was taken over to see "the cellar of tortures" where the accused are cross examined. Some were lying prostrated. On December 25, I was questioned by Commisary Melisten, who beat me with an iron glove used for boxing."

This quoted report can be found registered under a separate number in the article of Attorney Kastaforu, now secretary of the bourgeois "Human and Civic Rights Defense League"; together with this document there are scores of others authentical, duly signed and address indicated.

Mr. Shapiuza, were you ever incercerated in the fortress of Doftan? This is not some kind of a provincial jail, but a real central jail in Roumania. We shall not speak about the horrors of this torture chamber, this is known to everybody and described in all kinds of papers and documents.

Torture Cells.

Just a few strokes. At Doftany there are assigned special cells, "section N" for disciplinary punishment. These cells are half a yard wide and a yard and a half high and just think, the imprisoned can sleep only standing, keeping himself all the time in this position during his punishment for two, three, four and more weeks. Thru a small door hole which serves at the same time for ventilation, the imprisoned receives bread and water.

In these sections hundreds of innocent people are perishing. Very often nobody knows about their imprisonment. At this particular time there are placed 50 people, chained at their hands and feet, three times a week they are given a limited portion of bread and water.

Underground Dungeons.

Honorable gentlemen, did you ever serve in the jail of Jilava? Just step in a local branch of our "Red Aid" in order to have a glance at this middle-century terrible grave. Did you happen to see the fortress of Piataretti? This is now a military jail, which is located 10 yards deep in the ground. Here people are locked up for the slightest offense for weeks in a concrete cell, unable actually to move.

Bessarabians Murdered.

Sir, have you visited during your stay in Roumania the splendid shores of the river Dniestr? Don't you think it is a splendid river? Did you inquire the local inhabitants how many hundreds, tied up together in bunches of four, Bessarabian peasants have been drowned from its shores by the murderers of Chief Gussarevsky who was in charge of the Bessarabian secret service in September, 1924?

And did you ever hear of the peasants of the "Piatista" organization who will within a few days be brought before the king's court which prepared new unheard of mass persecutions of innocent people, 'traitors' of "czara mum", mother country?

"Defendant Shapuiza," at last you are free and you walk out of the prison gate, you look around terrified and run quickly away from the clapped prison gates. You are now mixed with the crowd and you are trying to recover from the things you went thru. Life is the capital of the "free kingdoms" is buzzing around you. In a straight line are passing elegant carriages, automobile horns are sounding, tram electric bells are ringing. All of a sudden at the corner of a Bucharest street you are caught by a street kid and offered the latest edition of the official "Vintora"

Socialists Back Killers.

You are not inclined now for reading, but sir,—

On the first page you read: "The socialist movement has its definite problems. It is even to a certain extent, necessary. And so we must stand for socialism, but against Communism. We would consider it a desertion if the leaders of Roumania would not take precautions against the Communist movement."

Don't you think, sir, this amusing: you have just escaped from the hell of those who are taking "precautions" this was just experienced personally by you, and here you are reading in the official paper a love letter of the hangmen to the Roumanian. Socialists? Please, do not think we are attempting to make a Bolshevik out of you.

No "Human Dignity" to Hangmen.

Just one thing, esteemed Mr. Shapiuza, you were short of time to see everything during your short and unsuccessful stay in the capital of "civilized" Roumania.

What if Mr. Venesku, "honestly" permitted you to see all the secrets of the siguarantsa department? You would feel yourselves thousand times worse than a "person, who was bereaved of his belief in respect for human dignity."

The Workers Party in Action

WORKERS MOVIES AT W. P. PICNIC IN PUBLIC PARK

Muskegon Beach Crowd Hear Communists

MUSKEGON, Mich., July 9.—An innovation in Communist picnics was held at Muskegon, Mich., where the Workers' Party Locals of this town and of Grand Rapids arranged joint affair in a public park right at the municipal bathing beach. No admission could be charged and nothing sold for profit—but the Chirman of the Committee, Comrade Walter Johnson explained, "We spend our money to bring speakers on the street corners to reach the masses, so why not go to the "mountain" where the masses are to be found on a Sunday afternoon, and spread our message there?"

In the early afternoon speeches were delivered to a large crowd, almost entirely made up of those not connected with the movement. The speakers included Wm. F. Kruse of Chicago, and Eugene Bechtold and Edw. A. Kosten of Grand Rapids. These two Grand Rapids comrades have been putting in some fine work in noon-day shop meetings at the factory gates in the "furniture capital of America."

The motion pictures had to be started a little early to permit the Grand Rapids contingent, about a hundred strong, who had paid a dollar a head carfare, to make the last special car home. By means of a special day-light screen the pictures were started at 6:30 p. m. daylight saving time, and while at first they were a little faint, the novelty of daylight movies more than made up for it and the large crowd enjoyed them very much. The first picture was "Prisoners for Progress," a three reel expose of modern industrial and political conditions, and great applause greeted pictures of Comrade Ruthenberg who was convicted and imprisoned only a few counties away. There was great interest also in the pictures of the International Labor Defense convention held in Chicago one week previously. "Russia Today," a one reel educational film showing the life and work of the Russian asbestos miners, completed the program. Two collections, one of $14.05 and the other of $34.27 were taken up.

Y. W. L. Activities

Friday, July 10.

Membership meeting, 722 Blue Island avenue, 8 p. m. Matter of the coming printing industry campaign and the sub and membership drive will be taken up. Every member to be present, admission by membership card.

Sunday, July 12.

Area Branch No. 1—Beach basket picnic. All comrades meet at 9:30 a. m. at Wabash and Adams St. to go to Braeside, Ill., where the picnic will be held.

Detroit Comrades, Attention!

The most peppy dance of the season will be held Saturday, July 11, at the Finnish Hall, 5969 14th street.

A special orchestra has been engaged for this affair. The music will be excellent. In addition to many other attractions, a $25.00 kodak will be raffled off, with tickets costing from 1 cent to 15 cents.

The proceeds of this affair go to help the Detroit league in raising its quota for the national convention assessment.

The co-operation of all party comrades is absolutely necessary. The Finnish comrades have already demonstrated their interest, by donating the hall free of charge. Everybody is expected to attend.

Don't forget and keep this date open.

Ban "Excellency" in Persia.

MOSCOW.—By order of the Persian commander in chief all the "liakaby" or honorific titles, such as "Excellency, etc." have been abolished in the military department and the army in Persia. The civil administration will have to follow suit, too, as the Medjilis (parliament) has just passed a resolution to a similar effect.

Soviet Rail Aid to Persia.

MOSCOW.—As reported from Teheran, two locomotives and thirty goods cars were recently received at Djulfa from the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics for the Persia-Tavris railway.

MINNEAPOLIS WORKERS ON JULY 12 MEET TO FIGHT IMPERIALISM

MINNEAPOLIS, July 9.—On Sunday evening, July 12, at 7 p. m., the Workers Party will hold a mass meeting at Washington Square. (Seven corners.)

John Gabriel Soltis will speak on "Imperialism.

Dan W. Stevens will talk on "The Left Wing in the Trade Unions."

All workers are urged to be on hand.

DATE OF PARTY CONVENTION FIXED

STATEMENT BY THE PARITY COMMISSION

TO THE MEMBERSHIP OF THE WORKERS PARTY:

Comrades: The date for the coming national convention of the party is herewith set for August 9. The convention call, including the agenda, basis of respresentation, and drafts of resolutions for the convention, will be published shortly. The party discussion will begin immediately after the publication of the convention call.

The parity commission will review and liquidate all matters of an organizational nature that have caused friction in the party. Thus the parity commission intends to clear the ground and the atmosphere for an intelligent pre-convention discussion of the political and organizational problems confronting the party at the present time. It will make a statement of its findings in the party press which will be a final decision of the controversial question.

The party membership should bear in mind that the work of the parity commission will in no way interfere with or infringe upon the normal functioning of the party apparatus. All leading party committees, from the Central Executive Committee down, will continue their work in the regular manner, according to the party constitution, and party discipline will have to be rigidly observed.

The big task of the coming party convention is to liquidate factionalism and to establish unity on the basis of the policies and tactics of the Communist International. To achieve this end the party must have a thoro discussion of its problems, free from factional bitterness and personal discrimination. The Parity Commission will therefore do all in its power to enable the party to come to the convention equipped for its task of unifying and strengthening the Communist movement in the United States.

THE PARITY COMMITTEE.

TELLS RICH STORY OF LIFE BEHIND SWINGING DOORS OF "POLLY" TEA ROOM WORKERS

By WORKER CORRESPONDENT

"Our employes are well paid; they do not expect tips."

This high-sounding declaration appears conspicuously on all menus at the "Polly" tea rooms, four restaurants in Chicago's loop district, where many of the white-collared class eat.

Just how true it is could best be told perhaps by Mrs. "Suze" Palmer, owner of the "Polly" cages along with her lesser partners, Raymond Friedman and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dixon. Mrs. Palmer has recently returned from her annual vacation, consisting of a brief half-year's sail around the world, —the pressure of her business responsibilities being such that she could make no more than hasty stops in Japanese ports, Constantinople, Vienna, Rome, Paris, London, etc.—with a few last moments of fleeting pleasure in New York.

Every year, however, she somehow manages to get six or eight months off from her strenuous duties as chief-cook-and-bottle-washer at the Polly places to take a jaunt to Palm Beach or California, at least,—if not across the pond.

She Ought to Know.

Thus, her wide travels and worldly experience qualify her especially well to testify concerning the wages of her employes. And she demonstrates quite conclusively that, from her own cosmopolitan point of view, they are sufficently "wellpaid" to allow her such slight extravagances as globe-trotting, beach lounging and costume-splurging.

The employes, however, due to the fact that their experiences have been limited mostly to the four walls of such prisons as "Polly" tea rooms, have a somewhat different view-point. They might say, "What d'ya mean, well-paid?" and go on to explain that $6.00 and $8.00 a week are the beginning wages for all short-hour girls; that most of the employes are hired only for the "rush" hour shifts; and that in two or three hours of work, they are so speeded up that as much as eight hours worth of energy is expended.

And they could point out that the longer hours a girl works, the less money she gets. Six and eight-hour waitresses get at the highest $13.00, many as low as $10. Behind the kitchen doors are girls not over fourteen years old,—on their feet from 8 in the morning until 6 at night,—except for a brief rest on a high stool for lunch,—and they get no more than $12.00 a week. If these bundles of skin and bones had the strength left to speak, after their ten-hour day (but they haven't) they would tell you, "What d'ya mean, well-paid? Like hell we are!"

But then, "our employes" get their meals free, Mrs. "Suze" Palmer might inform you,—a regular fifty-cent dinner. Yes, it is a "regular" dinner all right, the girls retort,—so regular that its component parts can be figured out a year ahead, if one but knows the combination. If ignorant, guess mickle-berry sausage or spare ribs and sauer-kraut or creamed cod-fish and you will have exhausted the possibilities, except the possibility of there being no left-overs. In such an emergency, "our employes" may be given the treat of a canned salmon salad (it would spoil, anyway) or a hot beef sandwich.

Their knowledge of other kinds of sandwiches, however, or of salads, or of pies, or even ham and eggs, to say nothing of a small steak,—is confined to the fact that they know how to carry them out stacked six and seven platters high, for others to eat.

Profits Spring a Leak.

Every system of exploitation has its leakages, tho, and this was especially true last winter at Polly No. 3, at 17 North Wabash. This is the place where Mrs. "Suze" Palmer is to be found, whenever she happens to be in Chicago. She sits in her balcony office, overlooking the entire floor, and keeps a fiercely glittering eye peeled for the waitresses, watching them grimly when they eat to see that none gets an extra crumb.

Accidentally, during her absence this winter, there was allowed to sneak into authority a new and rather soft-hearted head-waitress (maybe she herself had been "well-paid" once and hadn't expected tips.)

Making Hay.

The girls found out that she would let them "get away" with a few things,—a side dish of salad or a piece of pie. Being bright girls, they weren't long in making the most of it. And Mrs. Palmer, even more bright when her own interests are at stake,—wasn't long in finding out about it upon her arrival home.

"The old b—— is back," one of the hardboiled ones put it, "and there's not a damned thing to eat."

Lest the girls should "eat up the profits," Mrs. Palmer immediately installed an official checker at the kitchen door, so that instead of the customers being checked by waitresses, the checker writes out the prices for the waitresses, who pass the slips on to the customers. Since duplicates are kept, each waitress is held responsible for every dish taken out of the kitchen. And she must tell when the food is for herself, so that no forbidden morsel finds its way to her plate.

Economic Root of "Tips."

This arrangement has another and even more important advantage for the boss. Altho "our employes do not expect tips," as the menu moralistically reads, this does not mean that they do not "extract" tips whenever it is humanely possible . . . One of the first things that a Polly waitress used to do when she came on shift was to refold the menu so that the vicious lie about her being "well-paid" and hidden. Or else she clipped a special card over it.

But there was a more certain, positive way of her trying to ge full value for her labor and that was by undercharging customers. It is not so hard for a waitress with wits sharpened by continual struggle for a living to give the hint to a gullible public that she personally is to be rewarded for special service and cut prices. And so it happened that the cleverest "Polly" waitresses had built up a steady patronage for themselves of certain customers who would leave a tip somewhat in proportion to the amount left off their check.

"Them Days Gone."

But them days are gone forever since "Suze" got back from Europe and began applying the Dawes plan of "pay or starve." Thus, by eliminating the economic stimulus for patrons' giving tips, she is at last teaching the waitresses not to "expect" tips.

However, for more drastic measures will be necessary to convince them that they are "well-paid." Polly witresses usually are not so stupid as the babbittry whom they serve. Occasionally it even occurs to some of them to question whether it is Mrs. Palmer or they themselves who really "earn" all the money that it must cost to take her around the world so often and to enable her to keep up so well with the ever-changing styles, both in costumes and in exploitation.

HOLD CHINA AND SOVIET PROTEST IN PHILADELPHIA

Meeting Saturday and Picnic on Sunday

By R. BAKER.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 9.—Philadelphia Workers Party and the Young Workers' League have arranged a huge open air demonstration to protest against the American and other imperialist nations intervention in the great Chinese strike and the threat of war on Soviet Russia.

Local Kuo Min Tang has been invited to participate in the demonstration. The demonstration will be held Saturday evening, July 11 at Marshall street and Girard avenue.

John Williamson, H. M. Wicks, and R. Baker, will be the speakers at this meeting. All workers of Philadeladelphia are invited to attend this meeting and express their class solidarity to the striking workers of China.

A Labor Defense and Communist Press picnic has been arranged by the Russian branch of the Workers Party and approved by the City Executive Committee, for Sunday, July 12, at Bradley Farm, 92nd street and aVnce avenue. Workers Party members and sympathizers are urged to attend this picnic in full force.

Music and dancing will be furnished by a Russian orchestra, plenty of games, amusements and refreshments will be served to all comers. Bradley's Farm is one of the few cool isolated spots where the workers can forget their factories for a few hours and escape the heat among the many shade trees beneath which will be found a well-equipped refreshment bar with ice cold drinks and fancy Russian sandwiches.

Directions: Take Chester No. 37 car, get off at 87th street and you will meet a committee there. From down town take Jackson street car, get off at 90th street; walk two blocks south and two west.

Socialists Beat Up Workers.

To the DAILY WORKER: As a delegate representing my union at the Socialist-Labor-Fusion convention in this city, I had the opportunity to witness another descending stunt of the socialist party's vote-catching remnant.

Preparatory to this fusion farce, Meyer London, "socialist" lawyer delivered a venemous speech in which he bitterly attacked the Workers (Communist) Party, and the International Workers' World. Employing bush rounding tricks, he denounced labor action by using a putrid phrase: "turk methods" while at the same time the socialist gangsters poluted the air in the hall; and only a few hours later beat down bona-fide delegates who voiced their indignation against fake fusions.

Militant Delegates Unseated.

No action could have proved their hypocrisy better than his disruptive oration against assertive labor. Then as a verification sequence of the fusion lie many of the delegates were unseated on the charge that they were too militant.

After the unseated delegates had left, taking their seats in the gallery as visitors this socialist mockery proceeded with its farcical comedy.

By the time the resolutions were being read, to the disillusioned delegates who hoped for a real fusion convention which would unite labor's forces for the next election campaign in this city, it became obvious that nothing of the kind was taking place. Having no other alternative the delegates demanded that another convention be called in which all labor organibzations should participate.

This request was presented to the resolutions committee in the form of a resolution drawn up by the delegates. This, however, (tending to actually unveil the socialist fraud) was enuf to arouse the ire of the "remnant"—and to signal their gang to act.

In answer to indignant labor representatives the thugs jumped to their feet throwing themselves like bloodthirsty beasts upon men and women; thus using gorilla methods, instead of "Turk methods" which Meyer London had previously attributed to the Communists.

When the thugs had completed their job, I found myself being treated by an ambulance doctor who on being informed about the incident, gave me friendly advice: "that it didn't pay to fight against a majority."

In the throes of severe pain, I thot it wiser not to argue with the doctor, but as I'm in a better condition now, I feel it is urgent to ask the men and women who toil: who are in the majority; the workers, or the handful of charlatans? What could be more convincing reason for us to turn our backs on the socialist fakers, than their fusion bluff in New ork's mayoralty election campaign?

Such tactics as the "socialists" apply in their last, futile attempts to regain power are certainly hastening their complete extinction. But let labor not bemoan this historical fact. For labor is gradually coming into its own. The Workers (Communist) Party, supported by a majority of working men and women can eliminate all fakers and make the world safe for labor.

WM. F. DUNNE

Editor of the DAILY WORKER, in his article on this great document in the May issue of the Workers Monthly says:

The British Trade Union Delegation to Soviet Russia in a unanimous report has told the story of the Russian Revolution in language that trade unionists can understand.

It is wonderful in its dignified British fashion unhurried, careful, restrained, documented and beautifully dispassionate. . . .

It is a great story, told in matter-of-fact language, the story of millions of workers and peasants marching towards Communism over all obstacles; it is history hot with the breath of the struggle in the style of a convention report. . . .

Revolutionary Russian and stubborn, Slow-moving Briton both call to the American worker from the pages of the British delegation's report.

AUTO TRUST NOW SWALLOWS BUS LINE TRANSPORT

Merger of Yellows with J. P. Completed

The merger of the Yellow Cab Manufacturing company, makers of non-union operated taxi-cabs, with the General Motors company, the largest automobile manufacturing company in the world, creates a trust which not only dominates auto manufacturing, but operation of bus lines as well.

The Morgan-DuPont General Motors company buys a controlling amount of stock in the Yellow Cab Manufacturing company for sixteen million dollars, and a new corporation is formed known as the Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing company.

The board of directors of the new concern include Pierre Du Pont, the powder king, who owns seven million shares of General Motors stock, a one third interest, William Wrigley, jr., chewing gum king, Alfred Swayne, a Morgan man director of the Irving National Bank of New York and officer of the General Motors, and John A. Ritchie, president of the Fifth Ave. Coach company of New York and president of the New York Transportation company.

One result of the new company will be to protect certain railroads of the Morgan group from competition of independent bus lines.

Garage Mechanics in Meeting Monday Over Recognition Question

Machinists employed in the garages of the city will decide at a meeting to be held in the Fort Dearborn Hotel next Monday night, whether or not there will be a strike which will tie up all repair work. The threatened strike is not over the question of wages, but recognition of the union and the demand made by the union that the bosses also be members of their organization.

Novy Mir Picnic July 26.

NEW YORK, July 9.— The Novy Mir arranges a grand summer festival picnic, bathing, concert, dancing, two orchestras.

When? Sunday, July 26, from 10 a. m. until midnight.

The Novy Mir administration urgently requests all friendly organizations not to arrange any other affairs on above Sunday and help us make the festival a complete success.

Another new Sub makes another Communist.

Letters From Our Readers

Farmers' Point of View.

To the DAILY WORKER—At present when capitalism is directing more and more attention to the exploitation of agriculture, it is worth while to observe what measures the farmers will take to meet his ever increasing difficulties. Big capitalism has been so busy in exploiting industry that exploitation of agriculture has been partly overlooked. In the past it has taken place more indirectly in the form of exploiting the farmer in selling his products and buying his necessities. But today in addition to the growing intensification of this form of exploitation finance capital has got the farmer securely in its iron grasp.

After World War.

Undoubtedly the world war presented a good opportunity to finance capital to extend and strengthen its stranglehold on the farmer. The farmers everywhere fell victims to the well organized propaganda conducted by his exploiters during the war, to expand his investments and farming operations during the period of inflated prices. As this expansion was almost completely carried out by short time credit, when the loans became due the bottom of the prices of his products had dropped out. This method bankrupted thousands of well to do farmers, let alone the weaker ones.

During the past few years over 2,000,000 farmers have lost their belongings and life time savings as a result of this ruthless exploitation. The remaining ones are fighting a losing battle, driven to desperate efforts by the threatening downfall. "But the more he owes the harder he and his family works," is the way the bankers put it. The mortgage has proved to be a more effective weapon than the whip in the time of chattel slavery. It is to the bankers' interest that the framer struggles hard.

Must Wipe Out Small Farmer.

The farmer is still following the bankers' advice to produce big crops as the only way out. He is yet unaware of the existing economic conditions that are bringing his inevitable downfall. The course of capitalism is not to save the small farmer. He is an obstacle on the road of progress of capitalism, and it demands his elimination. The time is near at hand when he will be divorced from his present means of production and will help swell the proletarian class.

In political intelligence the farmer is yet the most backward of all the producing class. He still continues to uphold the existing system, the systme of his exploiters. The various reformistic political parties that have made their appearances in the past have been looked upon by the farmer with suspicion. He is afraid of any radical thot, and of Communism. He knows no more than the name and that means something violent and barbarous to him. So masterly has the ruling class succeeded in guarding the political intelligence of the farmer from proletarian ideals. It may be stated here that wherever farmers have awakened they have found out that small town business men are almost hundred per cent for big business fighting against their supporters the farmers, tooth and nail. We can hope but little from them, as long as they can retain their economic foothold.

Farmer Belongs with Worker.

The only salvation for the farmer is to join the ranks of the workers and fight for his rights under the same banner. It will be the first step toward emancipation for both. Let us unite together with the exploited peoples everywhere under the banner of Communism, welded together and leavened by the spirit of brotherhood, we will own a class conscious power before whom the money powers of the world will tremble.

E. H., Frederick, So. Dak.

Approves of Using "Master Class."

To the DAILY WORKER: I want to answer the complaint of J. M. George about the use of the terms "master class" and "slaves."

If Comrade George has been reading the literature of the class struggle 45 years, and has kept posted in regard to the events and developments of that period, it looks as if he ought to be dissatisfied with the very tame and inadequate words that are used to describe the infamous arrogance and cruelty of the master class on one hand, and the disgusting servility and patience of the slave class under the lash.

The words master and slave are not strong enough.

The class war cannot be waged with reign or polite diction. Drugged and hypnotized sleepers cannot be roused to action by a gentle suggestion that their house may be on fire and perhaps it would be well to remonstrate with the incendiaries who are robbing and murdering directly and indirectly for no purpose but to glut their cruelty and to make themselves the unchallenged masters of the entire working class.—Sarah F. J. Linn, Birmingham, Ala.

Rich Dodge Bullets.

To the DAILY WORKER: Only boys from poor families "complained" in the last war, says H. L. T., in the Daily News of today.

Why?—Because they did all the work and all the fighting—(for democracy (?) of course.) But he goes on writing about "thoroughbreds" who "took their medicine without a word."

This may be, for all I know, a reference to Arabian racehorses who, surely enuf, need a lot of "medicine" before they are able to utter a syllable in protest against anything.

But taking it for granted that he referred to a particular sort of two-legged animals in human form, those parasites were all out of the danger zone during the war to end all wars. For their "bits" were those of get-rich-quick one-dollar-a-year pa(y)triots on industrial boards' payrolls.

"Big Bertha" bullets reached Paris—but did not hurt "silk-stocking heroes" of the Vanderbilt brand in the parlors of imperialistic Washington. L. P. RINDAL, Los Angeles, Cal.

Labor Fakers for "Open Shop" Judge.

Los Angeles, Cal.

To the DAILY WORKER:

Judge McCormick ruled against the Doheny oil interests at Bakersfield, California, but he refused to grant citizenship papers to a man because he, in open court, delcared himself opposed to profiteers and grafters, etc.

Many papers, including the "labor" and "socialist" press, are making a hero out of this judge. The South California Labor Press writes: "When lawyers of as 'red' a makeup as Judge Ryckman and Job Harriman give a 'capitalistic' judge a reputation such as the above, it means something."

Yes, it shows up the fakerdom of "labor leaders" and the yellowness of the "socialists."

RAILWAY MEN OF INDIA ON STRIKE MEET REPRESSION

British Bosses Send Lying Telegrams

LONDON, July 9.—The telegrams from India last week announcing the collapse of the great North-Western railway strike, in which over 20,000 workers are involved, was apparently of a propagandist character.

The strike is, in fact, not over.

On the contrary, the following telegram from Mr. Mukundalal Sirkar, secretary of the Indian Railwaymen's Federation, to the secretary of the Workers' Welfare League of India, at Featherstone buildings, High Holborn, W. C., appeals for British assistance.

"The Punjab railway strike situation is unchanged. The men are starving.

"The Rev. C. F. Andrews, president of the Indian Trades Union Congress has interviewed government officials, but the government refuses all assistance in conciliation or any other form of negotiation.

"On the contrary it is supporting the vindictive policy of the railway administration in resisting the strike to the bitter end, a policy which is a menace to the whole Indian trade union movement.

"One hundred and ten strikers have been arrested and the situation is grave. The strikers appeal both for financial help and for parliamentary action."

BUILDERS AT WORK

NOW WE HAVE A GREAT OPPORTUNITY

Read This Very Carefully!

Never since the existence of the DAILY WORKER has such a splendid opportunity presented itself to Communist Builders to reach the organized labor movement of this country thru the DAILY WORKER.

The large ad in this issue carries the announcement of the coming serial publication of RUSSIA TODAY—the full report of the British trade union delegation to Russia.

Such a valuable collection of facts and figures—charts and maps—all the data on Soviet Russia, issued by the official and leading body of British labor, should be of the greatest interests to every worker in and out of the organized American labor movement.

The publication beginning July 20, comes at a time when two special subscription offers are being made, which should make the task of securing subs a great deal easier.

BUT DON'T FORGET—

That never has there been such an opportunity to secure bundle orders from trade unions. Go to your union meeting—and to other locals—with a bundle of the DAILY WORKER. Get the floor to speak on the DAILY WORKER, the British trade union delegation report, and world trade union unity.

Subscriptions are sure to result and bundle orders together with this drive are sure to build the DAILY WORKER to become a much greater weapon and organizer of the American Communist movement.

TALK TO YOUR C. C. C.!

Every city organization and single branches surely should appoint speakers to visit trade union locals on all issues covered in the report of the British trade union delegation and the great world movement for trade union unity.

This will be the big issue—with the recognition of Soviet Russia at the next meeting of the A. F. of L.—and reaching the organized American labor movement can be done—AS ALL COMMUNIST WORK CAN BE DONE—by means of the DAILY WORKER!

Will you—and your local—swing into action on this great opportunity?

SOVIET TRADE WITH ITALY IS ON INCREASE

Fascist Newspapers Admit Good Results

MOSCOW (By Mail).—Favorable economic consequences of the Italo-Soviet treaty are revealed thru the increase of Italian exports to the U. S. S. R. of a number of goods, machinery and especially automobiles taking a prominent place among them—according to the Popolo d' Italia, an organ closely associated with Mussolini's party.

Apart from its economic significance, the treaty is politically important, too, the Italian paper goes on to say. Nor should sight be lost of the fact that the Soviet republics have huge stocks of iron ore, coal and oil, which Italy needs.

The Agencia di Roma, an important news agency, thus comments, in part on Italo-Soviet relations: "It is not the expectation of immediate brilliant results that prompted Italy to conclude a treaty with the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. It was rather her wish to occupy such economic positions as would in future prove of great value to Italy."

The Italian Economic Institute for rapprochment with the study of the U. S. S. R. has issued a report showing that, contrary to certain incorrect statistical data brought forth in a biased spirit, the Italo-Soviet trade intercourse is actually increasing, and all signs of further development are at hand.

China and Morocco—One Front

The capitalist press correspondents have been irritating us with their references to the "loyal" tribesmen supporting the French troops in Morocco, but revenge is sweet and we learn from the same sources that these tribesmen are no longer "loyal" to French imperialism.

They have joined hands with the national liberation forces of Abd-el-Krim and the French government has a new problem on its hands. That this display of solidarity has had serious consequences for the French forces and greatly strengthened the Riffians can be gleaned even from the censored dispatches.

The Riffians have been advancing steadily for the last three days and reports of French victories have ceased.

The extent of the collapse of the French offensive is shown by the fact that every French general of any standing has refused to take the actual command of the French forces under Marshal Lyautey. The whole world has witnessed the spectacle of the French ministry of war being forced to select for the Moroccan post a division commander of troops in the French army of occupation in Germany—a man no one except the soldiers under him ever heard of.

Frantic appeals for reinforcements are coming from the Spanish forces in the Tangier zone where they have just lost a battle which the capitalist press ingeniously describes as "failure to carry out a policing operation."

The Franco-Turkish alliance has gone to pot. The Turks are supporting the Riffians openly and the friendliness of Soviet Russia for the colonial peoples has won her added influence with France's former ally.

In France proper the Moroccan adventure and the unsteady position of the franc is driving the government towards a serious crisis while the agitation of the Communists against the Moroccan war is receiving approval from wide masses of the population.

The French defeat in the east and the Spanish defeat in the Tangier zone will undoubtedly force Great Britain into the Moroccan mess. British imperialism will fight before it will tolerate any force at Tangier, across from Gibraltar, that threatens her control of the western gateway to the Mediterranean and her intervention in this zone will intensify the conflict for control of an area that almost resulted in war in 1912.

We see in the Moroccan conflict how, in this period, imperialist aggresions involve far more important considerations than the territories and people affected directly.

China and northern Africa, combining rich fields of imperialist enterprise with control of strategic routes, have been linked in a common front France and England. Turkey has been drawn in and when British military necessity forces her openly into a conflict, the chain made by the three great colonial regions will be completed. India will begin to show the same manifestations of hostility to continued slavery that show themselves so powerfully in Morocco and China.

The day is past when the capitalist press correspondents can safely go into ecstacies over the "loyalty" of colonial peoples to their oppressors.

The colonial peoples want land and freedom and they have found out that imperialism must be destroyed before they can have these two necessities.

British Imperialism Backs Down.

Speaking for the British foreign office, Austen Chamberlain has announced, in reply to a barrage of questions in the house of commons, that the government has no intention of breaking off relations with Soviet Russia.

The announcement is one of the finest examples of the power of mass pressure recently seen. The British imperialist press has been baiting Soviet Russia and the Communist International for weeks. It has accused the Soviet government of fomenting the liberation movement in China, of organizing revolution in India, of inciting the rebellion of the Riffs in Morocco. Every one of the crises in intrenational affairs has been laid at the door of Soviet Russia, but the British masses have remained cold to this propaganda, or more accurately it has the opposite effect intended—that of arousing them to a sense of the menace of such a move to their interests and spurred them to loud and continuous protest.

The tory government, elected with the largest majority received in two decades by any government, has had to back down after Foreign Minister Austen Chamberlain had made a tour of European capitals attempting to organize an anti-Soviet Russian front.

The London dispatches to a number of capitalist papers state frankly that the tory government dare not break off Russian relations for fear of bringing down on its head a storm of working class wrath. Miners, textile operatives, railwaymen and other well-organized and powerful groups of workers are demanding wage increases; the alliance between the Russian trade unions and those of Great Britain thru the Anglo-Russian Committee for World Trade Union Unity is evidence that the whole British labor movement has swung denitely to the left; mass unemployment, the demands of the capitalists for reduction in wages, the crisis in the coal, metal and shipping industries, the belief that Britain will be drawn into the Moroccan conflict and the popular opposition to this, all make the position of British imperialism extremely delicate.

The die-hards in the British cabinet led by Lord Birkenhead, who have been clamoring for action against Soviet Russia, have had to pull in their horns and the whole world has been given a chance to see that even British imperialism, the most powerful in Europe, when it wars on the workers and peasants of Russia, must be prepared to fight on two fronts—abroad and at home. This it is not able to do. The British workers have chosen to stay with their class instead of the empire and another glorious chapter has been written in the history of the world revolution.

The Communists must arouse and organize the American working class to the same degree of solidarity with the workers and peasants of Soviet Russia as that displayed by the British workers. The French workers are also on the march. Here in the United States we must close the last gap in the anti-imperialist front.

DARWINISM ON TRIAL - -

By John Brown

IN the camp of the American bourgeoisie a struggle is raging around the Darwinian theory of evolution. In the bourgeois newspapers of all shades of opinion a discussion is going on concerning the origin of animals and man, concerning the origin of earth, of god, of religion, of the Bible and the New Testament. Learned professors, clergymen and bishops, cartoonists and journalists, reporters, interviewers and foreign correspondents, even statesmen, finally even judges, are mobilized for this discussion.

Even the old man Darwin, himself, is not left in peace. Lord Northcliffe who has died a few years ago and who was during his life the king of the English bourgeois press (this main instrument for misleading and deceiving the masses)—has sought out, as reported by the Chicago Daily Tribune, in the other world, Darwin and upon instruction of the latter has communicated with the outer world that after a few discussions in heaven on the theory of evolution, Darwin convinced himself that (the ape is the anti-thesis of man) "the evolution theory is wrong." Apparently Darwin, as well as Nortcliffe, continue to occupy themselves in the other world with the same affairs as they did upon earth. The first one, with the theory of evolution, the second with newspaper reporting.

The bourgeoisie has become divided into two parts: the evolutionists and the anti-evolutionists, both sides gathering their forces for the struggle. National leagues are being formed of the evolutionists and the anti-evolutionists. Meeting and lectures are being arranged. Strategic positions in the press are being conquered. In one word, the struggle is assuming an imposing character and the general battle is forthcoming in an American court between the evolutionists and the anti-evolutionists. In other words, this "theoretical" struggle is clearly assuming the character of a political struggle between two sections of the bourgeoisie and it becomes sharper with every day.

THE working class cannot remain an idle onlooker of this struggle that is going on in the camp of its class enemy, for a number of reasons. First of all, because the split in the camp of the enemy is weakening the strength of the latter and is increasing the latter's chances in the struggle for its class interests. It is necessary to study the enemy and his forces. It is necessary to know his strong and weak side. It is necessary to do this work in the same manner as it is being done by all the bourgeois states when they study the forces of their possible military enemies. It would be very important, for example, to determine what part of our bourgeoisie exactly stands for Darwinism and what part against, and also to clarify whether this struggle which has flared up "unexpectedly" is not a manifestation of the former divisions within the bourgeoisie, whether this struggle does not merely represent a new form of the old struggle "for a third party," a new rising of the LaFollette petty bourgeoisie or of its ideologists against the old parties, or a new offensive of the latter against the LaFollette farmer-labor masses, and also against the Communist farmer-labor masses.

Indeed, Darwinism is a part of the Communist conception of the universe. That what Marx has accomplished in relation to the human society, Darwin has accomplished in relation to the animal world. Marx has discovered the laws of the human society, Darwin has discovered the laws of evolution of the animals and plants. The revolutionary signicance of Marxism and Darwinism is enormous. Darwin has overturned god and the "eternal laws" (religion) which he estbalished. Marx has overturned the eternal laws of the capitalist system established by the bourgeois scientists and their doctrine of the "eternity" of capitalism and proved that capitalism is developing an elemental power towards Communism.

PRECISELY because of the revolutionary character of Marxism and Darwinism, the overwhelming majority of the bourgeois scientists is conducting a stubborn struggle against both tendencies, for when the broad masses of workers and farmers will free themselves from the power of religion and will understand that capitalism is not eternal and that Communism is coming to take its place—nothing, no power will be able to stave off the socialist revolution. And the best proof of that is Soviet Russia in whose schools Marxism and Darwinism are compulsory subjects and out of which religion is banished.

THE struggle against Darwinism (and Marxism) which is flaring up in our country is nothing new. It has been dragging on thru decades upon the old continent. Thousands of books have been written against Darwinism and not only religious but also would-be scientific books. The numerous flock of bourgeois professors has thought out a serious of roguishly subtle "objections" against Darwinism and Marxism. They have applied all the tricks of sophistry, of falsification and casuistry in order to overturn these theories so hated by the bouregoisie. The difference is only in that in this country only the very crudest and most primitive methods are being applied.

One must not over-rate the importance of this struggle and expect that it can lead to the separation of the revolutionary "Darwinist" (and "Marxist") wing from the camp of the bourgeoisie. Amongst the bourgeois and petty bourgeois partisans of Darwinism there will be found only a very insignificant number of thoroly consequental Darwinists, capable of assimilating the atheistic and anti religious deductions which flow out of Darwinism. The overwhelming majority of the bourgeois and petty bourgeois Darwinists do not wish to split with the dear old god. They would wish only to "rejuvenate" him and to make him more modern. A typical sample of such petty bourgeois, semi-Darwinists, semi-believers, is Prof. Chamberlain, an interview with whom was given by the Chicago Daily Tribune.

Let us listen for while to this respectable scientists.

He begins his interview with a statement that "He does not dispense with god. On the contrary, he sees science coming to accept the idea of god thru all nature." But the old Jewish god (the special patron of the Jews) does not appeal to the professor. For our times he is antiquated. "The enormous enlargement in the reach of things," states the professor, "must be accompanied by an enlargement of the idea of god." In what then consists this "enlargement of the idea of god," in the opinion of the respectable scientist? In the following: "We had a monarchial god. Now let us look at the republican god." (The respectable professor wishes to see that at the present time a bourgeois god is needed.) Prove then, if you wish, after such a statement of a believing, bourgeois scientist to affirm that these people are wrong who say that the man has created for himself a god in his own image.

After all this there is no wonder that Prof. Chamberlain does not wish to break not only with god but also with his representatives upon earth. "We have no right," so he states, "to throw stones at the theologians nor they at us."

But the opponents of Darwinism do not agree even to the considerable concessions which are made by Prof. Chamberlain. "The Bible and the old god must remain unchanged and unshaken," recently declared one of our statesmen. (We shall add, on our part, that this is not a careful statement: Mr. Statesman apparently doesn't know well the Bible which he takes upon himself to defend, and has forgotten that it, the Bible, includes strictest injunctions concerning the seventh day of rest.) In order to clarify thoroly the political position of Prof. Chamberlain, it is necessary to make the following quotations from his interview and thereby one must remember that this venerable geologist has studied the history of earth for five million years:

"The old doctrine of geology was that we were on the verge of freezing up, but now we find, under the natural working of things, the system will run on. Man will have a chance to show what is in him. Some will go to the bad and try to carry the rest of the world with them, as the Soviets. Others will try to do better."

SO speaks Prof. Chamberlain. The connection between atheism, Darwinism, Marxism and the proletarian revolution, on the one hand and between religion, anti-Darwinism, anti-Marxism and bourgeois counter-revolution, on the other has been shown by Prof. Chamberlain with a remarkable clarity. A cowardly Darwinist has given out the secret of all the modern offensive against Darwinism and has thrown open the political secret of all this savage campaign. This campaign is being aimed directly against that spirit of criticism which is awakening in the American proletarian revolution in our country is impossible.

Our proletariat begins to throw off, under the influence of the revolutionary events of the last decade, many of its old traditional viewpoints, it begins to criticize the existing social system. (And yet Marx said that every criticism begins with the criticism of religion.) This is the greatest danger threatening our bourgeoisie.

Hence this fury which we observe during the last weeks in the struggle against the theory of evolution. This struggle represents a new way of reaction, aimed at the beginning of revolutionary rising of the proletariat. The rejuvenated "republican god" is needed by Prof. Chamberlain for the struggle against Soviet Russia, and against the revolutionary movements of our proletariat. The discussion between Prof. Chamberlain and the anti-evolutionist is essentially a discussion as to what are the best measures for the suppression of the proletariat revolution. Prof. Chamberlain is for a "republican" god, because the spirit of democracy inherent in such a god, will be a better means against the revolutionists than the "spirit of reaction" defended by the anti-evolutionists and which is inherent to the old "Jewish god." Precisely in this question lies the political center of gravity of the entire dispute between the "evolutionists" and "anti-evolutionists."

THE matter of methods of the suppression of the revolutionary movement of the workers and farmers is the most important matter for the bourgeoisie of all countries. Precisely in that question lies the essence of all the struggle between the democratic pacifists and the reactionary wings of the bourgeoisie. From the experience of all revolutions we know well that when arguments on this question arise within the ruling class, be it even in a very veiled form (as we are observing now in our country), this is the surest sign that the underground forces of revolution begin to work.

Our proletariat has always suffered from an extreme theoretical backwardness, in comparison with the proletariat of the European countries and particularly with the Russian proletariat. Now the very march of events is drawing our workers into the sphere of theoretical questions.

THEORY is concentrated practice. The theory of the proletariat (Marxism, Leninism, Darwinism) is concentrated practice of the proletarian struggle of all countries, the science of proletarian struggle, without which the arch of the proletarian struggle is impossible and now, when the very march of events has tied up the theoretical (scientific) questions with the practical (political) and had made the study of theory a practical necessity the further indifference to the theoretical questions becomes an intolerable crime.

Our party, as a whole, and every member of our party individually, must place in the center of their attention, theoretical questions, must put broadly the study of theory.

Otherwise it will be too late. But before the party stands also another immediate practical political task. Shortly there is forthcoming a shameful trial over a Darwinsit because he has preached his viewpoint. Such a trial is the greatest menace to the freedom of speech in our country. Today a Darwinist is tried for his views, tomorrow they will try Communists, anarchists, "LaFolletteists" and everyone who is not in agreement with the mediaval viewpoints imported from England and officially acknowledged and permitted by the bourgeois courts. All who are against this unheard-of scandalous trial which differs very little from the mediaval inquisitional trials of the witches must protest with all their forces against such monsterous mockery of the freedom of speech.

Our party must organize this protest.

AS WE SEE IT -:- By T. J. O'Flaherty

it meant bail money alright, but this time it only meant the freedom of the city. I was on my way to the political oasis of Plentywood, the one bright spot, politically speaking in the dreary republican and democratic wastes of the Anacopda Company's state. And the sheriff was a comrade, an old veteran in the revolutionary movement and one of those who is responsible for wining for Sheridan County the nickname of "Little Russia."

THE story of Plentywood's recent political history is interesting. In the heyday of the Non-Partisan League a paper by the name of the Producers News was organized. The radicals who did not agree with the policy followed by the League trimmers were not anxious to support the paper. Then Charles E. Taylor came along to edit the Producers News. And things began to happen.

THE Non-Partisan League is dead. You couldn't dig up a socialist in Montana with a steam shovel. Those who do exist are ashamed to admit it. But there is a branch of the Workers Party in Plentywood and it carries more scalps on its belt than ever hung in an Indian's tepee. After a long struggle, during which fists as well as tongues were used, the radicals of Plentywood have cleaned up every office in the county and have not alone done that, but they have either forced the capitalist politicians to keep silent or put their packs on their backs and walk the tracks to the nearest reactionary oasis. And what they have done in Plentywood can be done thruout the state, they claim.

IN the last elections, the workers and farmers of Sheridan County are completely victorious. And their lively paper the Producers' News is mainly responsible for this. Of course, without a militant organization back of it, the paper could not exist. But the News now goes into every home in Sheridan County and it is by all means the best paper of its kind that I have seen anywhere.

EACH county in Montana is entitled to elect one senator to the state legislature and two representatives. Charles E. Taylor is the senator and two Larsens are the representatives. One of the Larsens however fell by the wayside and went over body and soul to the Dixon machine. The other Larsen is as straight as a die and has a constant struggle with his conscience which was moulded in the early fires of American syndicalism. He feels about as happy among the capitalist legislators in Helena, as an ear of sweet corn in a barrel of dung. But he knows that it is duty to get all the benefit he can for his class out of his participation in the capitalist joss house.

ONE of the most interesting sights in Plentywood is the county jail. There were prisoners there. Posters demanding the release of Sacco and Vanzetti were posted on the walls. In the sheriff's office were cartoons from the DAILY WORKER, pictures of noted rebels of national and international reputation. Before the last political cleanup in the county somebody was in the habit of tearing down radical posters from the walls of the sheriff's office. The culprit turned out to be a judge. Now he is no more—a judge. The posters are more numerous and more audacious than ever.

ONE of the finest buildings in the town is the Farmer-Labor Temple. When it is finished, it will be the finest. And the farmers are proud of it. They point out what can be done thru co-operative effort. The Temple and the Producers News are two monuments to the initiative and loyalty of the workers and farmers of Plentywood.

THE farmers of Sheridan county are as well off as those in any other part of Montana, but their present condition is not one to be envied. Bankers have not as easy a time foreclosing mortgages as they used to, before Sheriff Salesburg was elected. This story is typical: A banker from a neighboring county came along with a little army to take away grain and everything else from a farmer on whose land he had a mortgage. The farmer refused to let the banker and his men take his grain away. The banker called up the sheriff and demanded his presence and assistance. The sheriff got there, tho he took his time about it.

THE banker stretched out his hand and said, "Pleased to meet you; now we can go ahead with the work." The sheriff was meticulous about law enforcement and would not budge until he was satisfied that everything was according to Hoyle. "Wait a minute," he said to the banker. "Is the farmer agreeable to the removal of his grain?" "I should say not," snorted the banker. "In fact he is decidedly hostile." The sheriff suggested a talk with the irate farmer. "Are you willing that the banker should take away your grain?" asked the sheriff. "Decidedly not," says the farmer.

"THINGS are just about as complicated as I expected," declared the sheriff. Then to the banker, "Let me see your papers. Huh! Who have you got on your bond? Any farmers?" "Farmers, hell!" ejaculated the banker, "they would not sign a bond like this. Besides they haven't got any money. This bond is signed by the bank's treasurer and myself. We have the dough." The sheriff threw up his hands in disgust and bawled out the banker for showing such brazen contempt for the law. "What am I to do?" asked the farmer. "Keep your grain," replied the sheriff as he stepped on the gas. The banker also stepped on the gas. The farmer scratched his whiskers and muttered: "Gold darned fine sheriff."

THE county attorney read the decated as I expected," declared the July 4th mass meeting. Had he read it during the war and emphasized certain sections as he did last Saturday, he would not be the county attorney but the county prisoner. By the way, he tells me that the courts in the surrounding counties, makes common cause with bandits, burglars, bankers and other criminals against the sheriff and county attorney of Sheridan county. Plentywood is a nice place to visit. Radicals looking for a summer resort could do worse than pay it a visit. Besides being politically agreeable, it is also a fine county.

Important Open Air Meetings to be Held This Saturday Night

THREE MINERS KILLED THRU FIRM'S FAULT

No Manholes Made to Escape Runaway Cars

By AUGUST VALENTINE.
(Worker Correspondent)

NANTICOKE, Pa., July 9.— Just as the employes of the Mineral Spring Collery No. 5 of the Lehigh aVlley Coal company at Parsons, were about to go to work at their various places, theye were struck by runaway cars.

Three miners were instantly killed and two others were seriously injured. The men were waiting to be hauled up the slope as the cars came tearing and ripping down the grade. It took the miners a great deal of time to lift the cars off of the mangled bodies.

No Way to Escape Provided.

Had the coal company made man holes in the ribs so the men could get out of the way, the accident could have been easily avoided. But all this costs money. It's less expensive to have first aid teams, volunteers in most cases, to give help to the slaves than toil for them.

The capitalistic sheet blew its full steam praising the first aid team and the physicians that were rushed to help the men who were instantly killed. Nothing was mentioned that is this accident was avoided, that the first aid would not be needed.

Company's Carelessness Cost Three Lives.

The accident was due to the carelessness of the coal company in using straight hooks in which the cars were coupled together, and the slope had a little level place in it.

When the cars landed on this little level place the hook bounced out and turned the cars loose. The result was that when the cars turned loose they picked up full force and before the miners realized what happened the cars were upon them.

NOTORIOUS SCAB BUILDERS USED BY SCHOOL BOARD

Veteran Educators Must Give Up Their Jobs

The question whether the board of education should continue patronising the scab Landis award contractors, is splitting the school board. Business Manager John F. Byrnes refused to give the open shoppers the job of repairing nineteen schols tho their bid was the lowest. He charges they have done poor work in the past and have proven irresponsible.

In the controversy which has arisen over this matter the fact that the school board has been employing these notorious union fighting contractors for the last 25 years has leaked out.

Not Worth the Money Anymore.

Principals have a way of looking upon themselves as superior to teachers. And no one has tried harder to keep them thinking that way than Superintendent of Schools William McAndrew. But the new pension law which goes into effect Jan. 1, 1926 shows them their true position in society. The school board has decreed that when principals reach the age of 70 their usefulness to their bosses is at an end. They must give up their work to which they have devoted all their lives regardless of whether they feel capable enuf and have the urge to continue. They must give up their salaries and live on a meagre pension for the rest of their lives because their boss no longer regards them as worth the money they draw.

Here are the veterans who are scheduled to be released next January. While at present their salaries average $5,700 a year, after their retirement they will receive only $1,500.

30,000 DEMAND SIGMAN RESIGN

MANIFESTO OF CHINESE LABOR CALLS FOR VICTORY AGAINST FORCES OPPOSING REVOLUTION

Five days before the massacre of students and workers by the British Sikh police on May 30, 1925, at Shanghai, the massacre which precipitated the historic upheaval of the Chinese nation whose beginning the world now witnesses—the Central Executive Committee of the Kuo Min Tang (People's) Party, controlling the South Chinese Republic at Canton, issued the accompanying declaration on the political situation of the Chinese people.

This declaration, followed by the events which are shaking the structure of capitalist imperialism, will be among those treasured documents when the historians of a free people shall write the records of the world's exploited and oppressed in their struggle for liberty.

The recounting of the contiauous effort to unite the Chinese people by Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the obstruction of the provisional government of Tuan Chi-jui, his betrayal of Sun's cherished wish for a national assembly, the intrigues of the militarists with Tuan and the controlling factor of all sinister forces, the foreign imperialists, the necessity for a bond of fraternity with the workers and peasants of the Soviet Union,—all these combine to make a document that will be engraven upon the hearts of the oppressed Chinese people.

The simple, eloquent languge tells the final resolve of the Kuomintang—"There is no other course left to us but to continue the national revolutionary struggel with all our might. This party will struggle together with the people to get rid of all obstacles in the way of the national revolution." This is the keynote of the manifesto which reads in full as follows:

Here is the very important declaration issued by the Central Executive Committee of the Kuomintang on the present political situation:

"ON the thirteenth of November, 1924, when our President, Dr. Sun Yat-sen, was leaving Canton for the North, he issued a declaration in which he urged the convocation of a National Assembly and the cancellation of all unequal treaties. By the convocation of the National Assembly, the big task of the national revolution was to be entrusted to the people; by the cancellation of all unequal treaties the Imperialist Powers would lose their economic and political stranglehold in China; moreover, it would deprive the militarsts of that support upon which they rely for their existence. The declaration proclaimed these the most important tasks of the national revolution. And our President aimed to call upon the people to bear the responsibility for the realization of these tasks. He also aimed at testing the sincerity of the Provisional Government (Peking) in its promise to cooperate with this party. In repeated declarations, our President declared that the aim of the Northern Expedition was not only to overthrow the Government of Tsao Kun and Wu Pei fu, but he solemnly proclaimed that, after the fall of Tsao Kun and Wu

SOCIALIST KILLS FIGHT FOR MORE AID TO JOBLESS

Uses Same Argument That Tories Give

LONDON, July 10.—The leader of the reformist yellow second International, J. H. Thomas, at a meeting of the National Union of Railwaymen, hotly opposed the motion made by Locher, delegate from the East End of London, to request the government to increase the unemployment dole to 30 shillings a week for a man, 15 shillings for a wife dependent and 10 shillings for each dependent child.

Thomas said that he opposed increasing the relief to unemployed because the measure could not be put into effect without hurting business, and to pass it would only raise hopes among the unemployed that could not be realized.

"If the workers of Great Britain want a change he said," let them use the ballot box and they would get all they wanted." Somebody yelled, "How about voting for a labor government who called out troops against the strikers?"

Thomas dodged the application of unemployment relief by saying that it was too big a question to settle internally and nationally. It would have to be done all at once all around the world or not at all. "Who is going to pay the dole?" he asked. And added that if the dole was increased, nobody would work. This is the same argument made against allowing any unemployment relief at all, by the leaders of the Baldwin tory government.

Thomas managed to get the measure killed.

SCOPES TRIAL UNDER WAY WITH NEW INDICTMENT

Precedent is Broken By Judge in Latest Move

(Special to The Daily Worker.)

DAYTON, Tenn., July 10.—John Thomas Scopes, Rhea county high school teacher on trial here for violating the Tennessee anti-evolution law, was re-indicted by a hastily summoned grand jury on the request of the prosecution when the Scopes trial opened here today, on the grouid that the original indictment was technically faulty.

The summoning of the grand jury by Judge Raulston, while sitting as a trial judge, broke all precedents of jurisprudence, it is thot. The new indictment was requested by Circuit Attorney General Thomas Stewart, chief of prosecuting counsel, who asked that the old indictment be quashed.

Prosecution Fears Mistrial

The original indictment was made out by the grand jury which had been summoned without the required sixty days' legal notice of their meetings.

U. S. IMPERIALISM MOVING SWIFTLY IN CHINESE ROW

Alternately Denies And Asserts

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 10.—American imperialism is moving swiftly but cautiously in its diplomatic maneuvers against the status quo of British imperialistic interests in China.

Today it was announced that President Coolidge has recalled Secretary of State Kellogg from his vacation at St. Paul and will meet Kellogg and Under-Secretary Grew at Smapscott, Massachusetts, tomorrow at the summer White House to "talk about China."

Denies One Day—Next Day Asserts.

Cautious feelers thrown out to push British imperialism further against the wall of her interests is seen in the statement given out—the day after a statement is issued in London denying that the United States wishes to "drag" the other imperialist powers into a conference on extra-territoriality treaties in China—to the effect that "A call may be issued from the summer White House for a conference of the major world powers" upon that subject, following the conference with Secretary Kellogg.

The unofficial statement even says that the president has been informed that France has agreed to such a conference and—more bold and astonishing—"That Great Britain already is committed to it."

Kellogg is not expected to return to his vacation, but to go back to his desk at the state department in Washington and tend to business closely from now on.

No British Consent.

SHANGHAI, China, July 10—The powerful British interests in China are making a great drive thru all the close connections with the home government at London to oppose bitterly and unrelentingly the proposal of the American government to hold a conference to revise the unequal treaties forced upon China by foreign imperialism.

British Fear Americans.

The great British commercial and financial interests, which dominate Chinese governmental finance chiefly by control of the customs tariffs administration, fear and fight against any revision of the treaties as promised by the Washington conference, knowing that the existing British advantage would be in peril from capture by American and also by Japanese competition.

An American Frame Up.

The strike situation is unchanged. The power house is still closed down and the strike lines tight as ever. Under the excuse of "searching for dynamiters" the foreign police raided several offices of the unions and arrested three union officials, after two small bombs were set off in a store window, injuring no one.

COAL OPERATORS AT CONFAB REJECT THE DEMANDS OF MINERS

ATLANTIC CITY, July 10—A double deadlock aparently had developed today as the negotiations between the Anthracite Coal Operators' Association and the United Mine Workers of America got under way.

Samuel O. Warringer, speaking for the operators at the joint conference flatly rejected the miners' demand, voiced by International President John L. Lewis for the check-off.

Lewis as quickly rejected a suggestion of the operators for submitting the whole dispute to arbitration.

Greatest Demonstration of N. Y. Needle Trades Toilers Gives Reply to Betrayers

(Special to The Daily Worker)

NEW YORK CITY, July 10.—In the greatest open air meeting of needle trades workers ever held in the history of the American Labor movement, the members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, who swarmed by the tens of thousands into the big Yankee Stadium on Thursday night, gave unanimous and overwhelming answer to the sinister conspiracy against their interests by the combined tricksters of the governor's commission, the manufacturers and—last but not least—the reactionary officialdom of the I. L. G. W. U. itself.

Only those with their union books were admitted, and thousands who for one reason or another, had forgotten or mislaid their union books massed in great crowds around the microphone outside to hear the speeches.

Inside, the full thirty thousand who had their books and were admitted, cheered and applauded the speakers who flung the demands of the garment workers into the teeth of the crooked and crafty reactionary gang of capitalist politicians, bosses and labor fakers.

Throngs Cheer the Speakers.

With Sascha Zimmerman in the chair, the enthusiastic rank and file of the I. L. G. W. U. gave fitting roars of the demands upon which the lives of the workers in the shops depend.

They demanded enforcement of the agreement; the 40-hour week; wage increases; the control of sub-manufacturers thru union agreement with the manufacturers, and the guarantee of 36 weeks' work per year for every member of the I. L. G. W. U.

The tremendous throng swept aside with the power of a mass movement the chicanery of the governor's commission, which tried to aid the bosses and the Sigman-Perlstein-Feinberg reactionary gang of officials by setting forth rumors of the commission granting a wage raise, denying it only at the last moment on the eve of the vast meeting which the united enemies of the garment workers tried to break up with this subversive propaganda.

"Socialists" Get Their Rebuke.

The yellow socialist reactionary crew, with the slimy Forward leading the pack, had its rebuke from the needle trades workers of New York City. The lies that the Forward had circulated in order to undermine the morale of the garment workers, that the attorney for the suspended executives of Locals 2, 9 and 22, L. B. Boudin, had intended once to secure an injunction for a boss in time of strike was given its answer by the mass of union members, besides the suit being brought by Boudin for criminal libel and punitive damages of $100,000.

Demand Official Heads.

Cheering and applauding, the thirty thousand cloakmakers and dressmakers unanimously voted to demand the resignation of Morris Sigman, Feinberg and Peristein, as betrayers of their interests in collusion with the bosses and disrupters of the I. L. G. W. U.

The speakers, who were continually and wildly applauded, especially Louis Hyman, of Local 9, were, besides Hyman, Rose Wortis, Portnoy, Bourcovich and Rubin.

In addition to demanding the resignations of the Sigman gang, the meeting shouted its roar of approval for the resolution expressing full confidence in the joint committee of action of Locals 2, 9 and 22.

Demonstration For Hyman.

The speech of Louis Hyman brought forth such a demonstration lasting for many minutes that Chairman Zimmerman had to quiet it to read the resolutions.

For five hours, from the time when the doors opened at five o'clock to the hour of closing at ten o'clock, the 30,000 in the stadium and the packed crowds outside around the microphones gave the most remarkable demonstration of left wing power yet shown in the needle trades unions. And all the while in the ideally cool weather, the flares of flashlights of the camera men and the crowded press tables gave proof to the emissaries of the capitalist press that their tools in the offices at the head of the I. L. G. W. U. do not have the leadership of the members of the garment unions in the city of New York.

Come To Picket And Remain To Root In Baseball Boycott

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(FP)—Boycott of the American league ball games in which the Philadelphia Athletics take part has been formally declared by the building trades, whose union shop contract the Philadelphia club management has violated.

But trade unionists have thus far failed to make an impression on the gate receipts. They have not established picket lines at the parks, nor have many union men stopped going to see the games.

The Athletics are playing unusual ball, and the building trades organization officers have decided to wait a while before asking the fans to forego any interest in their performance. During July, however, they promise to picket the parks where the Athletics appear.

China Hails Soviet Rule!

The Unioù of Soviet Republics alone recognizes the Chinese Republic as an equal among the nations of the world. This is clearly set forth in the manifesto of the plenary session of the Central Executive Committee of the Chinese Kuo Min Tang Party adopted on May 21st, copies of which have just been received in this country... This interesting section of the manifesto, which urges an aggressive struggle to achieve the complete victory of the Chinese revolution, reads as follows:

• • • •

AS to the nations which treat us on the footing of equality, we declare, as we have stated in our manifesto, on the Sino-Russian Agreement, that only Soviet Russia deserves the name of an equal partner. The Soviet Republics have not only voluntarily abrogated the unequal treaties with China, but they have concluded with it treaties on the basis of equality, and have helped the Chinese peoples in their great movement for the cancellation of unequal treaties with other countries. Soviet Russia overthrew the imperialism of the czarists; moreover, it has been leading the oppressed peoples of the world in the united struggle against world imperialism. From the letter of our president to the Central Executive Committee of the Union of Soviet Republics, we are sure that in the expression in his will referring to the nations which consider us as their equal, he meant the Soviet Republics. This party should, therefore, continue hand in hand with the Soviet Republics to struggle against imperialism for the realization of the national revolutionary movement. As to the other nations of the world, those that will treat us on the same footing of equality will certainly meet friendship on our part. For equality is the key to friendship: Without equality there can be no friendship.

Chinese Fight for Revolution's Victory

Pei-fu, no similar militarists shall succeed them. Furthermore, our President aimed not only at the overthrow of the militarists, but likewise at the overthrow of the imperialists, who are their masters and instigators.

Tuan Chi-Jui's Opportunity

After the war between the Chihi and Anfu militarists in the autumn of 1920, Tuan Chi-jui by his expressed opinion seemed to have become conscious of the troubles of China, troubles caused by the conspiracy between the militarists and the imperialists. He had the opportunity of doing the right thing for the country at the time when he assumed the office of the chief executive. The President of our party was sincere in his desire to co-operate with Tuan Chi-ju to secure the independence, the unity, and the peace of the country. He went personally to the north for this purpose and, if Tuan Chi-jui had as sincerely co-operated with the Kuomintang by accepting the proposal of our president to cancel the unequal treaties and call a national assembly, we are certain that the important tasks of the nation would have been realized and the development of the national revolution greatly accelerated.

But the sincerity of our president, his desire to put an end to civil war, to abolish the semi-colonial position of China, to unify and pacify the country, was not met with the same sincerity and desire on the part of the chief executive. On the contrary, the provisional government of Peking meekly and humbly accepted the demand of the diplomatic corps to respect the unequal treaties as a condition for a de facto recognition of the Peking government which has thus sacrificed the interest of the nation in the interest of a clique.

While our president insisted upon the calling of a national assembly, the provisional government in utter disregard of the wishes of the people, convoked the reorganization conference by appointment. When our president went even so far as to give up his proposal for the convocation of the preliminary conference which was to convene a national assembly, provided that the chief executive would consent to include into his reorganization conference representatives of the people, and of public organizations, the provisional government disregarded even the magnanimous act of our president and only included into the special committee some individuals of certain organizations and even these were given no vote.

Such actions of the provisional government were flagrantly in contradiction to the aims of our president to secure co-operation in the interest of the people. This party, therefore, declared that the provisional government in Peking was still following in the old track of the Peiyang militarist clique and was acting contrary to the interests of the people. For its existence it relies not upon the support of the people but upon the support of imperialism and militarism and it can never co-operate with this party in any of the tasks of the national revolution.

It is self-evident that the members of our party had to be instructed not to participate in the reorganization conference, or to co-operate with it.

Proposed Bogus National Assembly

But this is not all. Our party urged the reorganization conference not to perpetuate more crimes by fabricating rules to convoke a bogus national assembly, for it has not beep authorized by the people and was given no mandate by the people to settle any of the national affairs. But the Peking provisional government disregarded our warning and proceeded to formulate rules for the convocation of a national assembly, and continued to strengthen its connection with the imperialist powers. The provisional government has not only been repeatedly selling the interests of the people to the imperialists but it showed slavish loyalty to them by killing and wounding students on the day of our national disgrace.

Hopeless to Co-Operate

This party, therefore, must solemnly declare that the co-operation between the Kuomintang and the provisional government has become hopeless and that hereafter there is no other course left to us but to continue the national revolutionary struggle with all our might.

The principal tasks in this struggle, as the last will of our president charges us, is the cancellation of all unequal treaties and the calling of a national assembly within the shortest period of time.

The last will of our president charges us also with the duty to call upon the people of the country and those nations of the world which consider us as their equals to co-operate in the common struggle. In order to recover our rights and freedom and to free ourselves from the oppression of the militarists and imeprialists, the people, especially the workers and farmers, should unite.

The people of China must understand that the Kuomintang has but one aim and that is to struggle for the interest of the people. Therefore, we must unite under the national revolutionary flag and together carry on the struggle to a successful end.

Abrogation of Unequal Treaties

As to the nations which treat us on the footing of equality, we declare, as we have stated in our manifesto on the Sino-Russian agreement, that only Soviet Russia deserves the name of an equal partner.

The Soviet Republics have not only voluntarily abrogated the unequal treaties with China but they have concluded with it treaties on the basis of equality, and have helped the Chinese people in their great movement for the cancellation of unequal treaties with other countries. Soviet Russia overthrew the imperialism of the czarists; moreover, it has been leading the oppressed peoples of the world in the united struggle against world imperialism. From the letter of our president to the central executive committee of the Union of Soviet Republics, we are sure that in the expression in his will referring to the nations which consider us as their equal, he meant the Soviet Republics.

This party should, therefore, continue hand in hand with the Soviet Republics to struggle against imperialism for the realization of the national revolutionary movement. As to the other nations of the world, those that will treat us on the same footing of equality will certainly meet friendship on our part. For equality is the key to friendship; without equality there can be no friendship.

Root Cause of Civil Wars

This party has time and again declared before the world that the principal cause of the civil wars in China lies in those militarists who willingly serve as the tools of imperialism and who rely upon it for their existence. The big militarists usurp political power, exploiting and cheating the people and preventing unification on any lines whatever; while the smaller militarists hold possession of province, or part of provinces, in the name of the principle of federalism.

Whatever the high sounding names under which they like to parade, they only perpetuate civil war in China. The object of the Kuomintang is to eradicate the cause of the evils in China. It is, therefore, determined to unite the people to fight those militarists who usurp political power and use it in the interest of imperialism against the interest of the people; to fight the smaller militarists who hold the provinces in their clutches, as well as those militarists who have constantly undermined the revolutionary government. In a word, this party will struggle together with the people to get rid of all obstacles in the way of the national revolution.

Such are the tasks arising from the present political situation and these tasks can be settled only in accordance with the will of our president.

ANTI-LABOR MAIL ORDER HOUSE GOES INTO BANKRUPTCY

Bankruptcy proceedings were filed in federal court against Philipsborn's, a mail order concern, the petition placing the liabilities at more than $1,000,000 with assets of $750,000.

The petition filed by attorneys representing three creditors, alleges that the affairs of the concern are in a bad way, that it is hevily indebted to banks, brokerage houses and merchandise concerns and has been making payments to preferred creditors to the detriment of others.

The working conditions in this plant were recently exposed by the Young Workers League as being extremely bad.

U. S. and British Bank Heads Plan New Loans

BERLIN, July 10.—Considerable excitement was caused today in German banking and financial circles following the visit here last night of Benjamin Strong, governor of the Federal Reserve bank of New York, in company with Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England.

Their unexplained visit to Berlin was reported to be in connection with the Dawes plan, and extensive German credits in the American and British money markets.

The two important figures in British and American financial circles were met at the station by President Schacht of the Reichsbank.

They proceeded immediately to the Hotel Adlon, where it was evident the visitors wished their arrival to be unnoticed.

Their arrival and meeting with President Schacht brot to mind the recent report of S. Parker Gilbert, on the operation of the Dawes plan in its first six months.

New York bankers have been negotiating a series of German municipal loans recently and several others have been projected, but there has been no open discussion of another government loan in either London or New York.

BRITISH FAKE YELLOW PERIL TO FIGHT RUSS

Use Race Prejudice Against Soviets

(Special to The Daily Worker)

LONDON, July 10.—Although the British government has been forced to withdraw for the time being from a war move against Soviet Russia, it is known that the diplomatic efforts of Britain are going on night and day to try to surround Soviet Russia with a ring of nations pledged to attack the workers and peasants of the Soviet Union in one concerted drive.

The hypocrisy of British propaganda can be seen in the fact that the British government definitely unites with monarchist and oriental Japan, at the time it circulates propaganda thru the Anglo-Saxon world to the effect that the coming imperialist war is a race question, with the yellow peril as the bogey man, to drag the ignorant occidental peoples into action against Soviet Russia.

Apparently it is quietly ignored that not only is Imperialist Japan a colored nation, but that Soviet Russia is populated largely by the white races. By sending out such propaganda Britain hopes to gain anti-Soviet support from America, Australia and such other capitalist countries as can sway their masses on such fake issues.

N. F. Employe Asks More Pay.

WASHINGTON, July 10—Luther C. Stewart, president of the National Federation of Federal Employes said last night that at the Boston convention next September, every effort will be made to place government salaries on a better basis. "Much misinformation is disseminated about government employes draingaing the nation's purse," he said. "No greater fallacy is current and we shall combat it."

Bourse Closes in Protest.

BERLIN, Germany, July 10—The bourse will close the exchange for 24 hours as a protest against the reichstag's decision to differentiate between old and new holders of paper mark state loans, and ot grant the latter revaluation of only 2½ per cent, compared to five per cent for old loan subscribers.

Japanese Workers Take Smash at Rockefeller's Anti-Sovietist Count

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

TODAY, let American workers ponder well the fact that Count Michmasa Soyejima has been defeated for re-election to the House of Peers in Japan because of his anti-Russian sentiments, and because of his prediction of a future war between Japan and the Union of Soviet Republics.

This decision must be accepted as one of the first results of the effective use by the Japanese workers of the limited franchise forced from a reactionary ruling class that was the last to withdraw its troops from Soviet soil.

• • • •

Only the well-to-do workers in Japan are allowed to vote because of the high property qualifications. Young workers are barred by an age limit set excessively high. Japanese labor is now fighting to have workers over 25 years of age allowed to vote. Then there is the heavy hand of the master class censorship, supported by brutal prison penalties, against all forms of militant working class propaganda. Yet in spite of all these obstructions, the Japanese workers have struck at the anti-Sovietist, Count Soyejima, who has been four years a member of the Japanese House of Peers and is considered so safe that he is allowed to deliver a course of lectures at Rockefeller's Standard Oil University of Chicago, where only the most reactionary viewpoint on foreign affairs is allowed to trickle across the collegiate forum.

• • • •

The defeat of Count Soyejima raises the international solidarity of the Japanese workers, who showed their mettle last May 1, in the inspiring International Labor Day celebrations held in all the great industrial centers of the land. It speaks well for the future of the quadruple entente of labor that must develop in the orient, the Soviet Union, Japan, China and India.

It raises clouds of gloom for both native oppressors and foreign imperialists. When the Japanese workers take their stand with the workers and peasants of the Soviet Republics, that means that they will also stand with labor in China and India. It means that Japanese aggression in China will have small chance of success, altho supported by the great imperialist powers of Europe and the United States. It means that Japan will hesitate in making war on China, just as the British Empire is now halting its offensive against the Union of Soviet Republics, fearing its threatening working class at home.

• • • •

What is good for the workers of England, Japan and other countries; solidarity with the Soviet Union and the oppressed nations, is also good for the American working class.

While the campaign develops over the land in support of the twin demands: "Stand by Soviet Russia! Hands off China!" it is well for the workers and farmers to look far enough ahead and study the possibilities of next year's congressional elections.

Coolidge is working hard, thru the republican party machine, to maintain Wall Street's grip on the senate and house of representatives. "Liberals" and "progressives" hover about, like jackals seeking sustenance, to take advantage, if they can, of any growing worker and farmer unrest.

It is certain that the issue of "Bolshevism" will be raised again in the elections next year. That does not seem to have bothered the Japanese. It should not trouble America's workers. They must accept the label and wage the revolutionary class fight against their class enemies. When the results of the poll in November, 1926, are announced, let it also be said that American workers and farmers have sent some of their "Count Soyejimas" into retirement, as another step ahead toward their conquest of all power thru the overthrow of the capitalist dictatorship that is making the cry against Soviet rule the major issue of the hour.

CONTRACTORS AND PLASTERERS IN PACHED UP PLAN

A "Partial Solution" Found for Problem

NEW YORK, July 10—An alleged partial solution of the building trades war which had imperiled $25,000,000 in construction in six leading cities was effected today at a conference of contractors and representatives of the operative Plasteres' and Cement Finishers' International Association.

A working agreement was signed under which the plasterers will return to work pending arbitration of their jurisdictional dispute with the Bricklayers' International Union which precipitated the crisis. The contractors agreed to employ members of the plasterers' organization on all construction jobs pending settlement of the inter-union controversy.

American Fund Elects Officers

NEW YORK.—(FP)—New officers of the American Fund for Public Service (known as the Garland fund) are Scott Nearing, president; Robert Morss Lovett, vice-president; Morris L. Ernst, treasurer; Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, secretary, taking the place of Roger N. Baldwin who held the position since 1922 when the fund was organized. The committee of applications thru which pass all applications for appropriations and loans is composed of Lewis Gannett, chairman, Scott Nearing and Roger Baldwin.

WOODHEAD COMES BACK FOR A NEW DOSE AT U. OF C.

British "Don't Permit Chinese to be Unjust"

By STUDENT CORRESPONDENT.

H. G. W. Woodhead, imperialist extraordinary and minister of British capitalism in China, delivered a lecture on Wednesday, July 8, in favor of extra-territoriality, to the students in Leon Mandel Hall, University of Chicago, and then walked out into the hallway only to find that the Chinese had stolen a march on him and were there in force, distributing to all who came by twelve pages of mimeographed matter prepared especially for the occasion, and refuting in advance all of his arguments.

Something Like America.

Woodhead's only point thrugut the lecture, was that the Chinese law courts are sometimes venal and that some of the punishments are unjust. He almost succeeded in convincing the audience that a man with money stands hardly more thance of being convicted of murder in China than a gunman in Cook county, and that some of the punishments inflicted are as capricious as those of Judge Busick in Sacramento. And Woodhead claimed that because of these abuses, in isolated cases, the British had a right to set up their own courts, as also the French, Germans, Italians and Japanese, and administer their law in their own way, on Chinese soil, wherever a foreigner was one of the litigants, or was accused of crime.

The literature distributed by the Chinese at the doorway cited many cases in which Judge Busick seems to have influenced the white courts in China, for their justice is very friendly towards the white capitalists, and very harsh on the Chinese laborers.

Guileless Students Trust U. S. Imperialism.

Along with the pamphlets, a covering letter was extended to those who heard Woodhead's lecture which, after politely thanking the institute members for sympathetic attention to China's problems, pointed out gracefully that Mr. Woodhead did not know what he was talking about. It wound up with a naively trustful remark that the "traditional policy of the U. S. government of fair treatment" would undoubtedly prevail. It was signed by Lung C. Lo, president of the Chinese Students' Alliance.

The letter, it is reported on the campus, was drawn up before news reached here that American marines and bluejackets were vigorously using their bayonets against the Chinese on Chinese soil, in defense of Rockefeller's interests (including his church) in China. What effect this would have had on the students in Rockefeller's own university, is, of course, a matter of dispute.

Can't Nick a Wood Head.

The questioning of Woodhead at this, his second lecture, revealed the same complacent faculty for misinterpretation that he exhibited at his first speech, last week. When a student asked, "If the British think that the Chinese law is unjust to them, why don't they get out of China? Doesn't China belong to the Chinese?" Woodhead blandly replied;

"Why my young friend, I have been telling you for some time now, that the British don't permit the Chinese to be unjust to them; we have extra-territoriality in China." And he said not a ward about China belonging to the Chinese. Evidently that is one of the things that people of our sort never speak about, don't-you-know.

And That Was That.

Another question was, "Why are the English so unjust to the Chinese?" This one Woodhead solved happily, from his own point of view, tho it is doubtful whether his answer was calculated to soothe the feelings of a Chinaman who is being prodded with a bayonet to make him become a Christian.

Woodhead said, "The English are not any more unjust to the Chinese than are the French, the Italians or the Americans." And that was that.

ENGINEERS IN DRIVE FOR MORE WAGES, 8 HOURS

Australian R. R. Men Ask Standard Pay

MELBOURNE, (Australia.) (F. P.)—At a confference of the Locomotive Engine drivers' union, held at Melbourne it was decided to urge all locomotive drivers thruout Australia to make an effort to secure standardized wages and and conditions. The union opposed the principle of flat rates of pay, and agreed to increases being fixed on the following basis: (1) Qualifications obtained by examination and years of experience in practical locomotive running; (2) advancement from minimum to maximum rates of pay without restriction by defined periods of service.

A resolution was carried expressing dissapointment and resentment that the federal arbitration court had failed to give recognition to principles incorporated in the treaty of peace respecting the eight-hour working day. Under the award overtime rates for over 8 hours a day had been refused, and the hours to be worked on any day or any week had been extended.

Winter Wheat Crop Is Eighty-Five Per Cent of Last Year

WASHINGTON, July 10—A total production of 403,851,000 bushels of winter wheat for the United States this year was forecast by the department of agriculture.

The condition of winter wheat on July 1, 1925, was 85.9 per cent of last year, the department said.

A production of 275,739,000 bushels of spring wheat was forecast. The condition on July 1 was 80.1 per cent.

Forecasts for other products were: Corn 3,095,176 bushels; condition, 83.0 per cent.

Oats, 1,292,101 bushels; condition, 76.3 per cent.

Rye, 54,104,000; condition, 78.8 per cent.

Tobacco, 1,282,916 pounds; condition, 98.9 per cent.

ONLY REVOLUTION CAN STABILIZE COAL INDUSTRY, SAYS MINER IN LETTER SHOWING UNEMPLOYMENT

By JOSEPH BAUR,
(Worker Correspondent.)

ACME, Wyoming, July 9.—I am enclosing a notice posted at the Acme mining property, a subsidiary of the Peabody Coal company, which reads as follows:

NOTICE!

"This is to notify the loaders at Acme mine to clean up their places and take out their tools as this mine will be closed for an indefinite period. When work is resumed, it will be entirely on machine loading basis and only a limited number of men will be required for this work.

"Only such men as are qualified for loading machine operators, cutting machine runners, motormen, trip riders, drivers, track layers, etc., will be employed.

"This company will be able to take care of a few more men at Monarch but for those who cannot be employed on machine work here or cannot be employed at Monarch it would be advisable for them to seek work elsewhere as soon as possible.

"The company regrets to be compelled to go to the expense and trouble of installing machines but the non-union competition by which we are surrounded makes it absolutely necessary to put in machines or go out of business.

"(Signed) Edward Bellamby,
"General Superintendent."

Note that the bulletin says that the company is sorry to replace the men with machines, but has to do so to compete with "surrounding non-union mines." This is a hypocritical lie.

The writer has been working in mines all over the country, and there is not a mine in the country, except probably Utah, where they can produce coal as cheap. And in Utah they can produce it no cheaper.

Compared to the other mines, they have practically no expenses for day men, except haulage. Utah has the same vein of coal and pays the same wages as here. Probably they have other expenses exceeding those here.

Only Revolution Can Stabilize Industry

Here are facts that speak for themselves. The reader can see that the coal barons accepted Lewis' offer seriously and are trying to reduce the army of miners 200,000 and "stabilize" the industry.

They will reduce the army of miners, all right, but at the same time will increase production, which, under capitalism, means more misery for miners. If our working class brothers know that only the proletarian revolution can really solve and stabilize industry, they would accept the program and tactics of the Progressive Miners' Committee and put somebody in Lewis' place who will work according to the interests of the membership.

COOLIDGE POLITICIANS RAISE FUNDS TO ERECT STATUE TO THE BOSSES

WASHINGTON, July 10—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, secretary of war, John Weeks and a considerable number of other gentlemen who have the "good of the nation" and the "welfare of the common people" at heart, are raising a fund to create a memorial for Louis Coolidge, formerly holding high office in the United Shoe Machinery Company and the founder of the Sentinels of the Republic.

Dr. Butler and his friends think that this institution must live forever so that its principles may be perpetuated. This is mhat the sentinels stand for, shoulder to shoulder with fixed bayonets. Maintenance of the fundamental principles of the constitution; opposition to federal encroachment on the vested rights of states, and death to Communism. The latter of course is the main object.

NEGRO CONGRESS NEEDS $10,000 FOR LABOR WORK

Much Has Already Been Accomplished

The American Negro Labor Congress must raise $10,000.00 to carry on the necessary preparatory work of the coming congress, which will be held beginning October 25th in Chicago.

Up till now the National Committee has been carrying on its work thru the personal donations of a few individuals and organizations. Now, however, they are running short of funds.

Their newspaper, The Negro Champion, is being published twice every month. A pamphlet on racial discrimination, dealing with the Negro problem, is being prepared. An organizer has been sent into the Southern states to do the necessary work in organizing for the congress.

They have launched a drive for funds. $10,000 is their goal. It is yet to be seen how sincere are the different organizations and individuals who have endorsed the coming American Negro Labor Congress.

Indicted Judge Dies

JACKSON, Tenn., July 10.—Federal Judge J. W. Ross, who was indicted by the Madison county grand jury in connection with the failure of the peoples bank here, was killed today when the automobile he was driving plunged over a fifty-foot levy.

Police are investigating the possibility that the Judge might have committed suicide by willfully driving over the levy.

CLASS DIVISION SPLITS CHINESE STRIKE UNITY

But Imperialists' Aggression Renews It

(International Press Correspondence)

MOSCOW, June 23 (By Mail)—The latest telegrams from China describe the situation there as follows:

"The main struggle is in Shanghai where the strike is already in its third week. Among the strikers there are 150,000 industrial workers. The differentiation of the movement is daily becoming sharper. On the one side are the revolutionary working masses, the revolutionary student body, and the small traders; on the other side—the bourgeoisie and the vacillating intellectuals who are ever more inclined towards a compromise with the foreign powers, which fact meets with the greatest resistance on the part of the workers and students.

But the alien powers rejected even the modest demands of the Shanghai chamber of commerce, and the negotiations carried on in Shanghai between the foreign consuls and the Chinese government commission were unsuccessful because the former were willing to grant only the less important demands such as apology by the foreign powers, and the punishment and dismissal of those guilty, whereas they refused to discuss the main demands such as the abolition of the mixed consular courts, the right of Chinese municipalities to vote, etc., under the pretext that these demands stood in no direct relation to the recent events.

The negotiations were transferred to Peking, where they will be continued between the consulates and the government; this circumstance is causing uneasiness among the revolutionary elements, because Peking, not having an industrial proletariat, may be more inclined to effect a compromise.

At any rate it is certain that irrespective of the diplomatic negotiations, the proletariat of Shanghai will insist upon its demands and will reject all compromises.

$1,000 Reward for Stoolpigeons.

In the British concessions at Hongkong, the strike is general. The British authorities are offering a reward of £250 for any spy-information about the leaders of the strike.

At Canton, a general strike was proclaimed, and the foreigners are leaving for Hongkong.

The students of Peking are organizing military formations and are training them.

Chinese Trade Unions Cable European Unions.

The Chinese Trade Union Federation sent the following telegrams to the Amsterdam Trade Union International, to the C. G. T. U. and to the International Trade Union Association of Czecho-Slovakia:

"In the present bitter struggle we are being supported by our main ally—the European proletariat, whose moral and material support fills us with renewed energy and determination. Long live the union of the proletariat of east and west!"

Invites British Delegation.

A telegram was also sent to the British trades unions, thanking them for their telegram of solidarity, and decalring that the Chinese proletariat would greet with enthusiasm a British trade union delegation to China, which would contribute greatly to establishing fraternal relations between the trades unions of east and west.

The Chinese Trade Union Federation sent a telegram of thanks to the central council of the Russian trade unions, inviting the latter also to send a delegation to China.

IMPERIALIST DAY IN SAN PEDRO IS COMPLETE FIZZLE, ONLY A FEW SHOWING UP; EVERYBODY IS BORED

By J. STEVENSON,
(Worker Correspondent.)

SAN PEDRO, Cal., July 10—If the mobilization of last year was a fizzle in San Pedro, the "Defense Day" test of July 4 was an absolute misfire. The thing had been well exploited in the local papers and the general belief was that several hundred patriots at least would participate.

What was the result? A parade. Two dozen "bulls" who could not keep step, at the head, seven "husky" civilians mostly grey-haired or hairless, one company of coast artillery, two flags, and bringing up the rear were four preachers, one being the fort chaplain in uniform. It was surely imposing and Pres. Coolidge would have rent his Puritan soul in despair had he seen the turnout.

Crowd is Canvassed

The army chaplain canvassed the crowd at the street conrer for "volunteers," with the result mentioned.

At the reviewing point in Gaffey St., where the fort commander took the salute, one could notice the look of vacant astonishment on his face, as the last section of troops passed and no one else appeared. No klansmen, legionaires, or Daughters of the American Revolution, no boy scabs, or Young Men's Camouflage Academy-ites, what in hell had happened?

At the high school grounds another hitch occurred, the boss preacher in consultation with his confreres of the cloth seemed in a fix; he crossed the road and asked a crowd of curious women who were looking on from a porch, "Has anyone here got a U. S. school history?"

Everyone Looks Bored

He wanted to read the preamble to the Declaration of Independence and the service was held up for fifteen minutes till a copy was secured. Even the hard boiled troops looked bored.

Go ahead Cal, a few more of your freak ideas like Defense tests will work wonders in disgusting the working man with militarism.

First Group of Juniors Leave for Nitgedayget Camp, Sunday, July 12

NEW YORK, July 9.—Registration for the Junior Camp at Nitgedaget has opened! This Camp for workingclass children, established on the beautiful grounds of Camp Nitgedayget at Beacon, N. Y., is under complete supervision in every way of the Young Workers League of America. Arrangements have been made to take the best possible care of the children who come out to camp. We have worked out careful plans for the physical and mental development of the Juniors while they are at the camp. The direction is in the hands of comrades well experienced in the work. In a word, we have established a first class WORKINGCLASS childrens' camp.

Only For Children of Working Class.

The camp is limited to members of the Junior Section of the Young Workers League and to these children of the working class who are ready to join the Junior Groups. The children go out for two week period in groups of 20-25. Under special conditions a Junior may be permitted to stay at camp for a longer period.

Below are the groups as they go out to camp. GROUP I—July 11-25; GROUP II—July 25-August 3; GROUP III—August 3-22; GROUP IV—August 22-Sept. 5.

The charge for the Juniors is $7.50 a week or $15.00 for the two week period. The Young Workers League has to pay more than this sum to the Camp Nitgedayget—the deficit being partly made up thru the Junior Camp Fund we are busily engaged in raising now.

Registration has already begun—and you must be quick to get in the group you want. DO YOU WANT YOUR BOY OR GIRL TO GO OUT TO THE CAMP? Then register at once! Write us IMMEDIATELY the (1) name, (2) address, (3) age, (4) Junior Group if a member, (5) the two week period desired. (See above for a list of the Groups and the periods for which they are going out.) Send this information and all questions you may want to ask to the JUNIOR CAMP COMMITTEE, 108 E. 14th St., New York City. REGISTER IMMEDIATELY.

Special Arrangements for Parties on Short Notice

The most important work in literary and social criticism in many years, presenting a point of view original and valuable to a knowledge of our literature and our time, and all literature and all time.

THE NEWER SPIRIT

By V. F. CALVERTON

Michael Gold wrote the author:

"It delights me to see that we have at last a real philosopher in our revolutionary ranks. Your work is on a plane with the best writings of the Russian critics—the first class men among them. It seems incredible that a man of your insight, scholarship and temperament should be so red and fundamental."

John Dewey, noted philosopher:

"It is by far the best statement in behalf of sociological criticism I have ever read."

Herbert Read, editor, The Criterion:

"That 'the tendencies of art, religion and science are but the interwoven threads of social texture' is a truth that for some years has been growing into our critical awareness, but it has never before been traced with such thoroughness in the sphere of literature. Mr. Calverton draws his evidence from the consideration of three main periods with their parallel types of literature."

Sherwood Anderson, noted novelist:

"One of the few things I have read that has something to say... Remarkably fine."

Blaming It On Britain

The council of embassies of the European powers at Peking has condemned the action of the British police in firing on the Shanghai strikers and have also held the American manager of the foreign settlement responsible for the murder of students and strikers.

The demand made recently by American businessmen in China for protection and sent to the state department is thus seen to be documentary whitewashing of the murder bands of British and American imperialism. It was the Chinese that needed protection.

More important, however, than this evidence of the hypocrisy of the American capitalists and their hangers-on who have picked China as a field for easy robbery, is the intention evident in the findings of the legation council to let Great Britain fight her own battles in China. The mass movement for national liberation has assumed impressive proportions and the smaller powers are going to think twice before pulling chestnuts out of the fire.

Great Britain is in a difficult position. She stands fast for a continuation of the extra-territoriality agreements, but the United States, her greatest rival, following the traditional open door policy, proposes a conference to revise these agreements. British prestige in China rests largely upon her extra-territoriality holdings and her control of Chinese customs revenues. But her privileged position in this latter respect is a cause of jealousy among the other powers. The wolves are fighting among themselves.

Surely the situation has changed greatly since 1900 when all the great and ltitle powers united to fasten upon China the Boxer indemnity and forcing revenue control. Today Great Britain in spite of her frenzied efforts to do so has not yet succeeded in securing joint action from any of the other powers, nor is there among the other powers much evidence of a common policy. Their greed is as great and their need for the rich raw materials of China greater than ever before but the old unity of action is absent.

The rise of Soviet Russia as an European and Asiatic power has much to do with this. So has the greatly intensified conflict for the redivision of the exploitable areas of the earth. The militant working class movements in the imperialist countries and their support of the colonial movements is another reason why the present period carries so much danger for world imperialism.

For precisely these reasons the situation is the most hopeful for the masses of all the years since the Russian revolution. Centralized Communist parties exist now in most of the great nations and huge sections of the working class have a leadership which can maneuver successfully by reason of the experiences and training of the last eight years.

Anthracite Miners Strike First Blow

The anthracite coal miners, since their tri-district convention, have followed out the progressive policy adopted there.

Demands for a ten per cent increase in wages, the closed shop and improved working conditions have been made upon the coal owners who profess amazement at their hardihood. The coal capitalists make a poor mouth and say that wage reductions are in order but the miners have got in the first blow.

To the left wing in the anthracite fields must go the credit for the militant stand of the miners. Under Cappelini the principal anthracite dsitrict had become demolarized. The rank and file could get no action for the adjustment of grievances, much dissension developed and there was even the serious threat of a split.

The left wing issued a program when the confusion was at its worst and succeeded in bringing needed discipline and understanding into the situation. At the convention which followed a large part of the left wing program was adopted.

The demands upon the operators are the first gun in what will unquestionably be a hard struggle, not only in the anthracite but in the whole coal mining industry in the United States.

The spirit of the rank and file is splendid. If the United Mine Workers of America and headed by men who knew the class struggle and fought on that basis there would be no danger of the outcome. As it is, ruled by officials who have spent most of the last three years in hounding the best fighters, Communist and left wingers, in the organization, there is more than ever need for constant vigilance on the part of the militants and for the most highly organized and disciplined functioning in every local of this great union.

30,000 Enlist For Struggle

Thirty thousand members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, meeting in the Yankee stadium in New York City, gave one of the greatest demonstrations of devotion to class struggle principles as the basis of labor union that this country has ever witnessed.

No such mass rebuke has ever been given to labor fakerdom as at this gathering where left wingers, expelled by the reactionary Sigman machine, were greeted by thunders of applause which shook the huge steel and concrete structure that housed the crowd.

The fight against class collaboration, denial of political expression to the rank and file, crookedness and graft, arbitrary revocation of charters, the expulsion of militants, in the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union has been carried on with signal success. The meeting in the stadium is the proof that the entire membership is with the left wingers and against the bureaucrats.

But the enthusiasm of the stadium meeting must be given an organizational character in the work for the next convention. As in the Furriers' Unions, the left wing in the I. L. G. W. U. has passed thru a long period of struggle and has still greater struggles ahead of it.

Every effort must be made to have an overwhelming majority of delegates at the next convention and there place the organization securely in the hands of the best leadership which the long struggle has developed.

This can be done and the spirit displayed at the monster stadium meeting is a good guarantee that it will be done.

SCOPES TRIAL UNDER WAY WITH NEW INDICTMENT

Precedent is Broken By Judge in Latest Move

The prosecution feared that the defense attorneys would make use of the faulty indictment to appeal a conviction to the higher courts.

The court adjourned while the new indictment was being made out.

New Indictment Goes to Trial

After Judge Raulston had ordered the old indictment quashed and the new indictment was returned, he called for trial the new case against Scopes.

The cheer that was given William J. Bryan when he entered the courtroom showed how the inhabitants of this backward countryside view the attempt of the conservative religious elements and the business interests to suppress the teaching of science in the public schools.

Bryan Wants Bible to Rule

Bryan has said that the Bible should be "a part of the federal constitution," and frankly calls for the prohibition of the teaching of scientific facts because they contradict the Bible.

While the defense, headed by Clarence Darrow, who sat in his shirt sleeves, strongly condemns the anti-evolution law as unconstitutional because it violates the free speech clause of the constitution, they have so far catered to the ministers. The defense has taken the untenable position that the Bible and scientific facts can be reconciled—a class collaboration position on the scientific field.

Catholics against Evolution

A telegram was received from the American academy of ambulant proctology by John R. Neal, chief of the defense counsel, which said, "Ask Bryan how he explains the fact that the creator forgot to put valves in the hemorrhoidal veins." Bryan was hard pressed to defend his "all wise god," who Bryan claims, created the world in six days, and made a perfect job of man.

Benedict Elder, secretary of the Catholic Press Association of Louisville, Kentucky, said here that if Scopes taught evolution in the catholic parochial schools, he would have been "thrown out."

Dayton is over-run with evangelists, traveling preachers and bible and hymn book sellers who are here to make some money out of the crowds attracted by the trial.

Bryan Against Free Speech

Bryan in a press statement, again declared that "teachers should obey those who employ them." They should not teach what has been their experience or beliefs, he said, but must conduct classes "so as not to offend the students or their employers."

"It would be better," he said, "for Tennessee to give up school books than abandon the Bible."

The catholic organizations represented here are aiding Bryan in his attempt to suppress the teaching of science.

Judge Out of Case

Judge John L. Godsey, a member of the Dayton bar, announced this afternoon that he had withdrawn from counsel for the defense. Godsey was said to have disagreed with other counsel over the manner of conducting the case. The judge felt the case should be fought solely on constitutional grounds and was overruled by the other counsel, who intended to invoke testimony tending to show that "Evolution does not conflict with Christianity."

Examine Prospective Jurors

The afternoon session opened with the calling of veniremen for the selection of a jury. Clarence Darrow, shirt sleeved and showing his galluses, conducted the questioning of the talesmen for the defense, while Judge J. Gordon McKenzie, noted criminal lawyer in this section of the South, examined them for the state. Forty-three veniremen had been gathered off the streets by the sheriff during the recess.

W. F. Robinson, a middle aged farmer, was the first venireman called and the first juror accepted. He told the court he had formed an opinion "based on rumors" about the case but said he could give the defendant justice. He was accepted by the state but Darrow questioned him about his opinion, before finally accepting him.

Meeting of Press Picnic Committee On Monday Night

There will be a special meeting of delegates to the Workers Party Press Picnic Committee on Monday, July 13, 1925; 8 p. m. at 19 South Lincoln St. All branches and shop nuclei must send at least one representative.

The Press Picnic will be held this year on August 2, Sunday, at Riverview Park.

The proceeds of the Press Picnic go to the various language party papers and also to the English press. The DAILY WORKER, Young Worker.

Every branch and nucleus a delegate Monday, July 13, at 19 South Lincoln St.

TAKE GOOD LOOK AT THE PERSONALITIES IN ANTI-EVOLUTION TRIAL

DAYTON, Tenn., July 10.—The personalities of the local men principally identified with this famous "evolution case" are as follows:

The defendant—John Thomas Scopes, 24, slight, blond, soft spoken, boyish, diffident. He looks like anything but a teacher, surely like anything but the pivotal figure of the greatest academic battle in the world's history.

The prosecutor—Walter White, superintendent of schools, author of the Tennessee women's suffrage amendment, leader in state prohibition, candidate of 13 counties for governor; he is dressed in mail-order clothes crowned with a four-bits straw fedora.

The judge—John R. Raulston, circuit judge of the 18th judicial circuit.

Of counsel for the prosecution—Ben G. McKenzie. He has been a practicing lawyer for 32 years and has a son on the bench; he is the dean of the local bar, former circuit attorney general; former circuit court judge.

Of counsel for the prosecution—Judge J. Gordon McKenzie, his son, with a record as a prosecuter, criminal lawyer.

Of counsel for the prosecution—Herbert E. Hicks, young attorney, looks like a city slicker.

Of counsel for the prosecution—Sue E. Hicks, his brother.

Of counsel for the prosecution—Wallace C. Haggard, son of the richest man around here, a bank president; he is a kid lawyer.

Of counsel for the defense—John R. Neal, president of a law school in Knoxville which bears his name, former head of the law college at the University of Tennessee, a national authority on constitutional law.

Of counsel for the defense—Judge John J. Godsey, 66; he is the famous commercial law expert in this region.

Of course, with William Jennings Bryan and his son, and Clarence Darrow, Dudley Field Malone and Arthur Garfield Hayes on the other side, "the case bristles with personalities which perhaps overshadow the "locals."

This is an all-protestant community—not a catholic, evangelical, unitarian, christian science or Jewish church in the county.

BANKERS DECIDE TO ORGANIZE BROKERS' FIRM

Grain Marketing Co., In New Maneuvers

Rehabilitation of the brokerage firm of Dean, Onativia & Co. was made possible when the bankers' committee granted the creditors who are raising $2,500,000 to re-establish the credit of the rm until today to get the funds together. The creitors met the bankers and reported "substantial progress" altho the fund is not yet complete.

Meanwhile the grain marketing Company, which disintegrated coincidentally with the brokerage firm, began to quietly canvass plans for reorganization on another basis.

Officers have notified all clients they "may continue to market their grain on a co-operative basis if they desire to do so," but what machinery they have for marketing, particularly elevator facilities, are unknown.

Jersey Barbers Win Strike

UNION CITY, N. J.—(FP)—The union barbers in Local 316, Journeymen Barbers, won a $28 weekly minimum wage plus 50 per cent of all receipts over $40 and closing hours of 8 p. m. week days and 9 p. m. Saturdays and days preceding holidays and noon Sundays. The 110 barbers out in shops that had not previously signed up are returning to work in Hudson county shops under the new agreement.

Strike on at Rochester

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—(FP)—Over 100 workers are striking against the firm of Aaron Silverstein & Co., New York men's clothing manufacturers, as result of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union drive to enforce union conditions in all Rochester shops.

Quake Shakes Butte

BUTTE, Mont., July 10.—A slight earthquake was felt here shortly before 8 o'clock this morning. No damage was reported in the city but advices to local wire companies said the shake was more severe at Three Forks and Manhattan, where the quake of June 27 did heavy damage.

We Mourn Loss of Our Comrade.

NEW YORK, July 10—Comrade Charles Newman, member of the Young Workers League, was drowned to death while out bathing at a beach with a number of comrades. Everything was done to save him when he was taken out of the water but it was too late. It is believed he died of fright as he was rescued from the water too soon to have drowned.

POSTPONE TRIAL OF COMMUNISTS FOR SPEAKING

To Come Before Chief Justice Olson July 22

By agreement with Judge Albert George of the municipal court the cases of the nineteen members of the Workers (Communist) Party charged with "speaking on the street without a permit," were transferred to another judge, and will come before Chief Justice Olson's court, room 915, City Hall, on July 22.

The change was made because Judge George had already given a decision against J. Louis Engdahl, editor of the DAILY WORKER, in a similar case. Engdahl was fined $25 and costs under an ordinance which has been declared unconstitutional by the state supreme court.

JARDINE ADMITS INABILITY TO AID THE FARMERS

Can Do Nothing For Penniless Tillers

AMES, Iowa, July 10. While the agricultural situation has improved much remains to place th efarming industry on a satisfactory basis, Secretary of Agriculture W. M. Jardine declared in an address here today. While recognized the plight of the farmers today, Jardine said he knew of no practical short cut remedy for these troubles.

"I cannot offer you a single 'cure-all' for the difficulties of the farmer," he said. "The solution must be found in a number of directions."

Anti-Imperialist Week Demonstrations Held In Far-Off Countries

Only now, as the reports come trickling in from far-off countries, are we able to see how widespread was the participation of the oppressed peoples of Latin America in the exercises of Anti-Imperialist week, June 29 to July 4.

Manuel Gomez, secretary of the All-America Anti-Imeprialist League, announces that the Anti-Imperialist week manifesto was printed and distributed in nine countries of Latin-America as well as in Canada, the United States and the Philippines. Demonstrations of all sorts were held. Special anti-imperialist editions were published by El Machete of Mexico City, Lucha de Clases of Havana, Cuba, etc.

In Mexico, Anti-Imperialist week was turned into a mobilization of forces for the defense of Mexico against the sinister threat expressed in Secretary of State Kellogg's recent statement to the American press. The week's demonstration wound up on July 4 with a big mass meeting in the Vicente Guerrero theater, at which Carlos Leon, Enrique Flores Magon and Alfaro Siqueiros spoke. Manifestos were distributed at the meeting putting forward the following slogans:

"Latin-Americans: Rally to the Support of Mexico!

"Unite Your Forces Against the Power of Yankee Gold!

"Let Our Answer Ring in the Ears Not Only of Kellogg But of All Wall Street!

"Down with American Imperialism."

R. R.'s Owe United States Millions.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 10.—The Great Northern, the Northern Pacific, the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville, and other railroads have been ordered to pay the United States the millions of dollars which the government loaned them at a very low interest.

Write the story about your shop —Order a bundle to distribute there.

LEWIS, DRIVEN BY THE RANK AND FILE, MAKES DEMANDS ON BOSSES

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 10.—Professing to see no hope for reaching an agreement on a new contract with the operators, representatives of the anthracite miners this afternoon issued a statement declaring that if the deadlock holds "there will be a walkout on September 1." The present contract expires August 31.

The miners' statement added that "usually, after such a walkout, there are some new developments or proposals which result in an agreement."

Reiteration was made of the position taken by President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America in the open session yesterday that the miners "positively will not arbitrate the making of a new contract." This is quite true, "the miners" won't, tho Lewis would if he were not driven on by them.

Crown Jewels in Cold Storage

THE crown jewels of the deposed "House of Romanoff," constituting the most valuable collection of gems in the world, are still in Red Moscow. They were not sold in foreign countries, as stated hundreds of times in thrilling news dispatches sent over the world by Anti-Soviet propagandists. Just to put such canards to rest, the foreign diplomatic corps in Moscow was invited to a private showing of the $25,000,000.00 worth of gems, seen in the above picture. Envoys of foreign capitalist governments are looking on, wondering when the workers and farmers of their countries will take over the "crown jewels," put them in cold storage, and establish Soviet Rule.

IMPERIALISTS ADMIT MASSACRE AT SHANGHAI WAS THEIR FAULT

LONDON, July 10.—In spite of the suppression and depreciation of the news by all the capitalist news agencies, it is learned that the entire diplomatic corps at Peking, China, after theroly investigating the killing of demonstrating students and strikers by the foreign imperialist police, has decided that a British officer of the Sikh police troops, the British chief of police and the American who is chairman of the municipal council, were to blame for the massacre which began May 30, and kept up for more than a week.

CHICAGO FEDERATION DENOUNCES UNITED GARMENT SCAB UNION IN AMALGAMATED I. T. C. STRIKE

wing, and prodded daily by the DAILY WORKER, the Federation finally has passed a resolution condemning the action of the United Garment crew, disclaiming any connection with the outfit and calling upon the American Federation of Labor to investigate the way the name of the A. F. of L. is being used by the employers to shelter the strike-breaking against the Amalgamated members, who—after all, are workers on strike, even if not connected with the A. F. of L.

This action of the Chicago Federation of Labor executive caused great enthusiasm among the strikers, glad to learn that the federation had not completely ignored the superior rights of working class solidarity organizational and sectional interests.

The injunction petition asked for the I. T. C. against the Amadgamated is delayed because Judge Sullivan wants to wise up on the new law. After he has done so, the strikers predict that he will go as far as he can to help the boss. "That is what the capitalist government is for," some of them say. But the strikers are willing, apparently, to go still farther than the judge and picket in spite of injunctions.

Another cheering item of news yesterday was the walk out of three more cutters, who refused to scab any more and who joined the strike, leaving only one, poor, lonely cutter in the big shops. As the cutters are key men in the industry, it can be seen that there are no clothes being made and the strike is certainly effective.

Perhaps this was the reason that the police seemed to show a new and sudden interest in rough-housing the pickets.

They shoved and pushed and yelled and drove the strikers around, until the strikers, urged to "move on" all the time, decided that they would just put a ring around the block and keep it turning. So a circular picket line has been going on and the pickets "keep moving" but are busy as they move.

Police Intensely Hostile.

The police, probably directed by some agent of the bosses, yesterday arrested John Willie, the shop chairman of the bushelmen in the struck shops, who was not doing any offensive things at all at the time—except, of course, he was on strike. He was arrested a few days before, and it is supposed the boss has a special grudge against him.

On Thursday, the joint board met, and pledged support to the strike, instructing the board of directors of the joint board to lay out plans for financial assitance to the strikers.

Sign or Leave the Business!

At the strike meeting the strikers again voiced their determination to force the two firms to either sign the agreement with the Amalgamated or to get out of business, and no scab by United Garment "union" is going to stop them.

Organizer Grandinatti, who came from St. Louis with a delegation of the A. C. W. strikers from the struck openshop Curlee company there, told of the fight in St. Louis as did also two of the Curlee strikers, Brother Haines, a cutter, and Brother Nathan Reef.

The delegation got a hearty welcome, and delivered the message of the Curlee strikers to those of the I. T. C. The St. Louis police, too, it developed, like in all places ruled by capitalist governments, are siding with the boss and are very vicious and brutal. Hundreds of arrests have been made and the injunction issued which causes still more, because the workers know that the only place they can win is on the picket line, and that they must fight it out there injunctions or no injunctions.

U. G. Just Like Open Shops.

The United Garment scabs were no different, they found, than the plain unvarnished "American plan" open shop scabs in St. Louis. One striker in St. Louis proved that his class was the first consideration, by divorcing his wife who insisted on staying and scabbing.

If the developments of the Chicago strike in its first two weeks count for anything, the struck firms are whipped and the strike, if fought properly, can be won.

FEDERAL JUDGE "LOANED" LARGE SUMS BY BANK

Charges of Graft Are Aired by Committee

CENTRALIA, Ill., July 10.—It was charged that Judge English was shown partiality by the Merchants State Bank in the matter of loans for return favors of being named in the official depository for bankruptcy cases which Judge English was called upon to handle, at the investigation here.

Actual taking of testimony was delayed today while the committee members were shown bank records which indicated that Federal Judge G. W. English had been loaned in excess of $16,000 by the institution. Until recently, Judge English was a director of the bank.

The investigation will be resumed at St. Louis, it was announced today, after the Centralia "evidence" is heard. Judge English is accused of exercising the powers of his office to bring himself financial betterment.

World Capitalism and the Soviet Union

By KARL RADEK

IN the course of the past year the following two main phenomena could be observed in the economic development of the capitalist states: the first is the restoration of the system of international credit, the second is the commencement of the restoration of the shattered, or entirely collapsed, monetary system of the capitalist powers.

THE RESTORATION OF THE CREDIT SYSTEM.

In the year 1924 the United States of America exported 1,200,000,000 dollars abroad, to Asaitic and European countries. This sum exceeds the total of all the capital exported from America during the last few years and —apart from the war years—constitutes a record figure as regards the export of capital from the country.

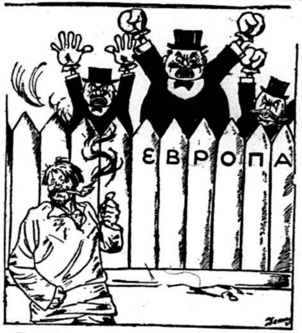
The United States of America, during the war and postwar period—from 1914 to 1923—earned no less than 20 milliard dollars by exports to the belligerent country and to Central Europe. Of this sum the debts of the European powers to America alone amount, in round figures to 10 milliards.

From whence did the United States of America obtain this immense accumulation of capital which led to such an enormous export of capital? The correct answer to this question brings with it the answer to a no less essential question; whether we have to deal here with a temporary and accidental or with a permanent phenomena connected with the entire economic life of the country. To what extent has the national wealth of America increased during this period: According to the calculations of the American census, in the year 1922 the national wealth of America was 50 per cent greater than before the war. (In this calculation allowance is made for the depreciation of the dollar consequent on the increase of prices). As result of this accumulation of capital, there followed an enormous development of industry. The accumulation of half of the gold reserves of the entire world in the cellars of the American banks led, however, to the reduction of the rate of interest. An American bank which lends money receives two to two and a half per cent interest, whilst Europe (not to mention such countries as Germany, where in the past year in the provinces, 75 per cent was a usual rate of interest) is paying back eight per cent for the loans received from America. Under such conditions contradictions naturally arose between the interests of industrial capital and the interests of finance capital. Whilst finance capital was interested in forcing up the rate of interest, industrial capital was interested in obtaining credits at a low rate of interest. The policy of the United States, however, was determined by industrial capital, whose representatives comprise the leading cadres of the republican party.

IT was only the agrarian crisis, the crisis which arose as a result of the shrinkage of the market and thru other complicated causes, and which forced the masses of the farmers into movement, which led to the victory of finance capital. Finance capital opened wide prospects to the peasant masses of enriching themselves at the cost of Europe, which is compelled to build up its economy with the help of American credits and thereby to increase its purchasing power as regards the products of American agriculture. In this manner an alliance was concluded between finance capital and the masses of the farmers, which led to a change in American politics. The United States of America decided to take an active part in the restoration of capitalist Europe. This policy is expressed before all by America seizing the initiative and carrying out the expert's report, and by the fact that America really conducted the London conference in the year 1924, the aim of which was to remove the Franco-German antagonism and to pacify Europe in order that capitalism might be put into working order again.

In addition to this diplomatic act, América also participated in the financing of European commerce and industry.

They Are Trying to Scare Him



The capitalist governments of Europe are trying to scare Soviet Russia with military conferences, the "Security pact", etc. But Russia can afford to smile at these scares. The Red Army is always ready to meet unwelcome guests.

The 800 million gold marks which the Anglo-American money market lent to Germany, the 100 million dollars Morgan placed at the disposal of the French government for the support of the franc, the various private credits—Germany for example received in the past year, besides the above-mentioned 300 million gold marks, private credits to the amount of one milliard—all this is characteristic of the commencement of the restoration of the system of international credit. If it is asked whether this implies a fundamental organic change, one is compelled to reply: yes, the heaping up of wealth in America undoubtedly forces America to become the credit power of the capitalist world. This factor will continue to exercise its effects.

The Restoration of the Monetary System.

THE second factor, as to which I have already spoken, is the restoration of the monetary system. There was a time when the German mark sank even lower than our ruble. Austria, Hungary, Poland—all these countries found themselves in such a position that their monetary systems had completely collapsed. This was the result of two causes: on the one hand, after the war, all the above-mentioned countries were compelled to import more from abroad than they exported, they consumed more than they produced. As a result, they were compelled to export gold, to sell gold abroad in order to be able to obtain the most necessary industrial and agricultural products, in the first place corn, cotton, etc.

On the other hand, the possessing classes after the war actually paid no taxes, the existing system of taxation did not suffice to maintain the valuta. Taxes which were collected one day had no value on the next, owing to the depreciation of the currency. In order to maintain the officials, the army, etc., with the sinking valuta, the state was compelled every year, every month, every week, and later on every day and even every hour to issue more and more paper money, whilst the stream of money into the state treasury became less and less. This led to the fall and collapse of the monetary system of central Europe.

THE year 1923 marked the lowest point in this process, but the end of the same year brought about the commencement of a change. Thus Germany introduced the Rentenmark and Austria stabilized its valuta with the help of a league of nations loan. Poland, by taxing the bourgeoisie, obtained the means for the introduction of a gold currency. We must examine here whether Austria, Poland and Germany—these countries whose economy was shaken the most and who stand nearest to the revolution—have stabilized their valuta to a sufficient extent and in what manner they have done so. The next question is whether the present salvage of their monetary system can be regarded as permanent.

The restoration of these valuta is to be attributed in part to the restoration of the system of international credit. The stream of gold from England and America—in the first place from America—provided the means for covering the new valuta.

SECONDLY, the bouregoisie, who stood on the edge of a precipice, was obliged to resort to an increase of the pressure of taxation and thereby self-taxation, which it had happily avoided up to now. Thus the German bourgeoisie, which in October, 1923, passed thru the sharpest political and economic crisis, made a sudden change in its policy and in the course of the year 1924, with the help of extra taxation, succeeded for the time being in balancing its budget.

The third factor is of a psychological character. Let us take Germany as an example. The mark had fallen at a continually increasing rate, the noose around the neck of the population had been drawn tighter and tigher, with the result that an insistent demand had arisen among the masses to stabilise the valuta at any price, even at the price of self-deception. The government took advantage of this and issued the Rentenmark, representing it to be a stable valuta, altho it depreciated just as much as the paper money.

one compares the gold cover of the Rentenmark with that of the viet Tchervonetz, then, as regards ability, our Tchervonetz was right om the commencement a giant comred with the Rentenmark, because was based upon a favorable trade lance. In the years 1922 and 1923 e sold more than we purchased. The chervonetz was supported by cerain metal resources of the state bank. he Rentenmark, however, was only upported by its guarantee by the erman landowners. The land and he soil, however, cannot be exported, nd in the event of the collapse of the Rentenmark not a single American would have bought as much land in Germany as would have sufficed to bury a dog. As however it was necessary for the social salvation of the German bourgeoisie the Rentenmark was introduced and was maintained by means of taking advantage of the psychological condition of the masses, until the Americans furnished gold and the mark obtained a gold cover.

What is the significance of the restoration of the system of international credit and of the re-establishment of the money system?

Extension of the Industrial Basis.

ONE can only judge the significance of this phenomenon if one takes into consideration those facts which have hitherto received very little attention, i. e., that during the war, and also in part after the war, the industrial basis of the capitalist countries had been etxended. During the war, for the purpose of providing the army with weapons, munitions, etc., production, before all the metallurgical production, in all countries had to be extended. America, England and, after the occupation of the northern districts, France also, had to set up a new metallurgical center. Italy and Japan also extended their metallurgical industries.

The armies, however, had not only to be supplied with weapons, but also with other articles. And that led to the extension of a number of other branches of industry. If one reckons therefore the number of lathes and spindles and the amount of motor

Dollarizing a World ::

By Jay Lovestone

A PERUSAL of the daily press is sufficient nowadays to give one a picture of the outstanding economic position and the imposing political role of the American imperialists.

We need not go thru ponderous editorials. We need not even attempt to read between the lines in order to have evidence of the growing power of the dollar in international politics. In a sense, all we have to do to get a line on the swift and menacing advances being made by the Yankee capitalists to dominate international finance and politics is to glance at some of the big advertisements in the financial columns of the daily press.

A fifteen million dollar loan for the city of Berlin; a twenty million dollar loan for a bank in Chile; a five million dollar loan for the province of upper Austria; and a huge loan for a province in the Argentine—all in the brief period of a few days! These are the announcements to be seen flaunting the face of the reader in the boldest of type.

Three Gigantic Strikes

THIS is the terrific pace at which American capital is being exported. Last year our bourgeoisie exported more than a billion dollars worth of capital to every corner of the globe.

Three significant events mark the development of this "dollarization" process of the world.

1. The organization of the Federal Reserve System as a means of co-ordinating, increasing the stability and centralizing American finance.
2. The change in the gold-holding relationship among the capitalist countries.
3. The change of the United States from a debtor country into a creditor country.

These three events are of monumental importance in an analysis of the growth of American imperialism into the giant stage which it has reached today.

The Federal Reserve System became the unifying force in the financial system of Wall street when the world war hastened the assumption of world capitalist leadership by the United States. Then, having become the manufacturer as well as the pantry of the world because of the fundamental disruption of the European economic order by the years of infernal slaughter, the United States became the possessor of the greatest quantity of monetary gold ever held by any national group. American capitalists now hold more gold than the rest of the world put together. The climax in this series of imperialist strides is the role now being played by the Yankee bourgeoisie as the greatest creditor in the world. Before the world war the American national capitalist group was a debtor nation.

Significance of Huge Capital Export

THE struggle for the control of the markets for the sale of manufactured and food products has been a source of capitalist wars. For the bourgeoisie of any country the certainty of controlling a market to which they can export their "surplus" commodities, a market in which they can sell the articles produced by but taken from their exploited working class, is a paramount importance. The actual and even greater potential value of China as a market for these commodities is perhaps the most prolific source of dissension among the international imperialists in the Far East.

But for the weaker and colonial peoples themselves the conflict among the imperialist powers for the control of these economically underdeveloped countries as fields for the investment of surplus capital is an even more acute menace. In this instance, far more than in the conflict among the various strong bourgeois national groups for the domination of the market for the sale of manufactured and food products, the weaker colonial peoples tend to become pawns on the imperialist chessboard.

Let us examine a concrete situation. Let us take the Latin-American countries as a market for the "surplus" manufactured and food products and the surplus capital of the British and American imperialist groups.

The American bourgeoisie and the British capitalists are angling let us say, to control the Brazilian and Argentinian markets for the disposal of their "surplus" shoes. Well, this is a source of strife between the British and American capitalists. But when the shoes are sold the Chilians and Argentinians are not necessarily interfered with on a large scale by the British capitalists.

On the other hand, let us say that the British and American steel interests are competing to sell Brazil or Argentine steel and rail equipment with which to build railroads in these countries. The export of British or American steel into these economically underdeveloped countries lays the basis for a much more permanent stay in these countries by the British and American steel interests or their agents. The building of railroads must be financed. For this purpose Brazil or Argentina must float a loan, must import capital. This necessary capital is today controlled by certain leading national capitalist groups.

There is all the difference in the world between exporting shoes and "exporting" railways, waterpower systems, harbor facilities, and other public utilities. First of all, the "exporting" of railways, electrification enterprises and mines, grows out of the exporting of vast amounts of surplus capital. Secondly, when a national capitalistic group exports such commodities as shoes the process of collecting the payment for these shoes is of far less duration than the process of collecting the interest and principle on the exported huge quantities of finance capital.

Of course, the various bourgeois groups are protected by their respective governments in the collections of such payments and debts.

Therefore, it is obvious that the shorter the duration of the process of collectiing these bills and debts the shorter will be the period of the protection of these debt and bill collectors by the respective imperialist governments. It follows, then, that the shorter the period of the protection of the exporters of manufactured commodities or finance capital by the various imperialist governments, the less likelihood there will be of interference in the internal affairs of the weaker peoples by the powerful national capitalist groups and their imperialist governments.

This is the economic basis of the continued increasing interference with the politcal economic and social affairs of the weaker and colonial peoples by the stronger imperialist powers. When the American bourgeoisie export thirty-five million dollars worth of capital to Poland, they stipulate that in default of regular pyments they will have the right to supervise the Polish railways and collect the revenue therefrom to meet the payment of interest or principle in the loan floated. Here we have a source of direct, positive domination of the internal affairs of an economically weaker country by the ruling class of an economically stronger country. Here we have also the source of conflict between the American exporters of capital and, let us say, the British or French exporters of capital, who also make stipulations and receive guarantees for the payment of interest and principle on their investments in Poland, or in any other country to which these imperialists export their surplus capital.

There is no doubt that the exporters of capital, the international financiers who control the railways, the oil-wells, the water power resources, the harbor facilities, (the electricity enterprises, and other basic public utilities, also wield a tremendous influence on the political and economic life of the industrially under-developed countries. Colonialism is but a phase of imperialism in practice. Colonial empires are but the geographical expressions of the boundary lines of imperialist aggression.

The Mexican "Incident."

IT is precisely an "incident" of this sort which occurred recently when the United States Secretary of State Kellogg sent a warning to Mexico. Few realize the sharp conflict for supremacy in the export of capital to Latin-America that is now being waged between the United States and Great Britain. Altogether there are more than thirteen billion dollars of surplus capitl invested in the Latin-American countries by the leading imperialist powers. Prior to the world war, Great Britain had by far the largest mass of capital invested in these countries. Since the world war, the Yankee imperialists have been giving the British financiers, the exporters of British capital, a merry chase. Great Britain now has invested in the Latin-American countries approximately five billion dollars. The United States already has invested in these countries about four billion dollars. This sum is growing. It is largely an after-war growth. The American investors hold nearly one-half billion dollars of the government securities of Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Peru and Uruaguay. All of these securities were issued within the last ten years. Great quantities of American capital are also invested in the public utilities, banking enterprises, mercantile houses, railroads, mining and meat-packing in the Latin-American countries.

Here we have the material, the economic, basis for Yankee imperialist interference with and domination of the political, economic and social life of these Latin-American countries. Here we also have the economic basis of another source of war between the British and American national capitalist groups. Here we also have the economic, the real, basis of the resentment of these weaker peoples towards the policies, political doctrines and diplomacy of the mighty imperialist powers like the United States.

The Dawes Plan Issue.

The situation in the Latin-American countries is now being introduced into the war-vanquished Germany. If we lift the diplomatic veils from the intense competition between the British and American exporters of surplus capital to Germany we will see clearly the why and wherefore of the developing difference in attitude towards the likelihood of the success of the Dawes plan.

Sir Josiah Stamp is one of the leading financiers of Great Britain. He is afraid that the Dawes plan may go on the rocks. Sir Josiah Stamp and the satellites of the British imperialist group have apparently decided that "the time had arrived to give the world the truth of the situation as seen by business men."

But the American financier, Willis H. Booth, vice-president of the Guarantee Trust Company; John W. O'Leary, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and the Yankee Reparation Agent, Mr. Gilbert, Jr., himself, are still waxing enthusiastic over the Dawes plan succeeding.

Surely, experience has taught the working class of the world that when international capitalist financial experts fall out, the dangers of imperialist wars multiply and intensify. Already, rash rumblings of proletarian discontent are drowning the hypocritical applause which the German bourgeoisie are today according the Dawes plan.

A Big Stick Policy.

Already, the Latin-American countries are reacting sharply to the threatening arrogant notes of Secretary of State Kellogg. We quote the following editorial comment from the LISTIN DIARIO OF SANTO DOMINGO: "As to Pan-Americanism, it has become discredited because it has served only to further the interests of American industries, big business

Russian Electricity Works Construction

Militant Leader of British Labor

A. A. PURCELL

A. A. PURCELL is the one of the fraternal delegates to the coming convention of the American Federation of Labor from the British Trade Union Congress. He is the chairman of the International Federation of Trade Unions (Amsterdam) and National Organizer of the Furnishing Trades and Vice Chairman of the General Council of the Trades Union Congress, Chairman of the English-Russian Trade Union Unity Committee.

HE was chairman of the delegation of Trades Union Congress General Council which recently visited Russia and the whole official report on conditions there has created havoc in the ranks of the reactionaries.

This article is taken from "The Operative Builder", official organ of the British building trades unions.

By A. A. PURCELL.

TO see the Russian republic in its working clothes, one might almost say at its best, take a trip to a few of its several huge stations, now in the course of completion, for the purpose of generating electrical energy. They are all, as it were, set out according to a well thought out plan in keeping with their national economy, and it would seem as consistent as practicable with the process of utilization of the natural resources of the country.

THE great theme of electrification is not merely propounded in the technical circles, it is, so to speak, part of the curriculum of the elementary education of the child and youth in the many workers' clubs thruout the vast territory of Russia.

In certain workers' clubs there is a very fine working model of an entire village built with timber hewn and transported by electrical energy, and finally heated, lighted and cleaned by the same force.

IN 1920 the writer visited Chaturi, some 60 miles out of Moscow, where a fair size station was being erected, and owing to the blockade the boilers from a torpedo boat destroyer were being installed in the powerhouse, and all around the earth's crust was being peeled and delved into to secure peat, which was to form the basis of power and energy for lighting, traction and heat en route to and in Moscow proper.

Visited again in 1924 the place had grown enormously. There were thousands more workers on the job and building workers were to be seen everywhere. The 1920 station was gradually shrinking into oblivion, just working whilst a huge station nearing completion was being equipped with power-house requisites from Czecho-Slovakia, with men from that country on the job, the transformers and switch gear being installed and superintended by Metro Vickers, with a technical engineer from Trafford Park, Manchester, in charge of this part of the job.

It was quite a tonic to go with the latter to see his wife and two children residing in a fine house placed at his disposal by the management.

THE old power-house was designed to give off 5,000 kilowatts, the new one is to give 48,000 k.w., and is expected to reach this figure by 1927.

The other stations visited in 1924 were the Mogess near Moscow, the Zemo Chavalia near Tiflis in Georgia, where water power is to be exploited, Sterofka in the Donetz Basin, where inferior anthracite is the chief fuel, the Central Moscow station, which is run on oil fuel, and the Volkhof station, with water power from the River Volk.

It is this latter which affords the best idea of the great capacity to engage in huge tasks so frequently demonstrated by the administration and workers of Russia.

VOLKHOFSTROY, as it is popularly termed, is an undertaking complete with every detail of a gigantic undertaking. It is in the Leningrad district, about 80 miles distant from the city. The scheme is to harness the tides of the river Volk, and is designed so as to secure a maximum of 200,000 k.w. The river is bridged, crossed and narrowed at its vital parts. A huge coffer dam has been constructed, and there are the usual necessary diversions.

This will be the largest station in all Russia.

Viewed from the rising ground it gives the impression of a tremendous structure of galleries and terraces, with leading tracks and bridges chasing each other up, down and around, and vanishing at the distance into a series of dead ends. Already it has swallowed up four million square feet of timber and is bedded with thousands of tons of concrete cement, stone and brick work.

WHEN finished it will have as a partner and helpmate the backing of the Utinka station, which is one with peat burning fuel, and will only work at full pressure when at the Volkhof station, owing to seasonal changes, the river Volk is not giving its full measure of energy.

The main scheme is expected to be completed during 1925, and the total estimated cost is about eight millions sterling.

At the moment there are not less than eleven thousand building workers employed on the job, all members of the All-Russian Building Workers' Union, and they have a journal of their own with some 11,000 copies purchased monthly.

As a contrast, it is stated that when this undertaking is completed the total staff on the works will not exceed 75 workers.

THE works of themselves are mighty enough, but a temporary, self-contained town has been erected around and about it.

There are hospitals, dispensaries, schools, kinemas, a theater, gymnasium, athletic and recreation grounds, baths, baby care centers and creches, and a very fine workers' club, with hall, library, reading rooms, art and educational circles.

There are electric cars for passenger and material transport, cranes and electric conveyors, and concrete forming mechanism and other equipment.

THERE are also huge canteens, cooperative stores, quarters for single men and houses for married men and their families, the usual administrative offices, and finally the trade union office, with its finance committee and secretarial departments, all well and efficiently organized.

Medical organization is properly established and equipped, special efforts being made to protect the health of the workers' children, and in this connection regular reports are made as to the health progress of each child, which comes under the care and observation of the children's hospital and baby care center, while skilled nurses and doctors are part of the make up of this huge organization.

WHILST the wage is equal for men and women workers, there are no charges whatever for medical care and attention, whether expert or ordinary.

They are free from rent, water, lighting and transport charges.

Food and fuel they pay for. They are paid for all holidays, inclusive of a full fortnight per year, free tickets for excursions and entertainments, but two per cent of their wages has to be paid to the trade union as a regular contribution.

The average wage appears to be about 60 roubles per month, that is to say about 31s. per week of 48 hours.

To this must be added all the free services, insurance and holiday payments mentioned above, together with the free clothing supplied in many instances where there is undue risk attaching to their work.

THEN there is that great feature of present-day Russia whereby numerous country houses have been converted into adequately equipped rest houses for the worker. These institutions, tho neither of the hospital nor sanatoria type, with a competent medical staff on the spot are available for the run-down or fatigued worker upon application to his trade union, who send him to one of these many establishments entirely free of all charge.

If the electrification scheme of Russia is a great plan to exploit natural resources, it, in common with the general run of economic undertakings, has to make the necessary minimum provision for the well-being of all who work regardless of their occupation or calling.

This it is that holds so many of their people together and secures in return unstinted service to the great cause for which the toll has been illimitable sacrifice.

UNDER the czarist regime in Russia little or nothing was done to develop the resources pertaining to electricity, altho British, German, French, Belgian and American capitalists were competing for the right to exploit in various directions.

But it was not until the great Lenin scheme of 1920, with its concrete and detailed plans, which were placed before the Eighth All-Russian Congress of Soviets and the technical details approved by the congress of 1,500 electricians, designers, experts and working engineers which met shortly after that the whole business was coordinated and work commenced.

AT first work progressed quite slowly, on the ground that foreign capital and credits were not available, but nevertheless amazing progress has been made when it is understood that the stations now nearing completion must be reaching in the direction of a million or more kilowatts.

If this proves anything at all it would seem to very definitely indicate that difficult as the proposition is the capitalist régime need not necessarily be even a minute part of the workers' state of the future in places additional to Russia.

So long as the admirable spirit and esprit de corps observable on undertakings such as these prevail, Russia will surely and certainly, if ever so slowly, emerge as the greatest healthy and really wealthy industrial democracy the world can know in our day and generation.

A Communist Group in a Russian Factory

By ANISE

MOSCOW, June 14.—(By Mail.)—I spent two days this past week in a Russian factory a few hours ride from Moscow. A former New York comrade in charge of "propaganda" for the district and invited me out. I first had the chance to see how Russian party workers live out in the provinces, for he moved over to share the room of a comrade and gave me his room. Certainly no unskilled worker in America, who has a job, lives so plainly. A wooden plank bed, without springs, a large table on which to work, a wash basin in one corner with a tiny pail of water hung above it, one chair and one stool—these were the furnishings. No rug, no wardrobe, not even a hook on the wall for clothes.

For cooking food, there was an electric teapot. The water had to be brought from a distance, and carried to a distance after using. There was no plate, no dish-pan, no pail and only one teaspoon. . . . . He laughed: "When they go to the north pole, they have more comforts. But I am too busy. Besides, I get a hot meal every day at the factory." . . . . At home cold food eaten out of a bag sufficed.

WE went in the evening to the meeting of the Party "Yachejka,"—the communists of the factory. Originally, the word yachejka signified a little nucleus, but now it is a big meeting; so have the numbers of the communists grown. Now also, at most of the meetings they allow outsiders or non-party people, since the subjects considered have to do with the welfare of the factory. The non-party people take part even in discussions, but do not vote.

The young secretary of the Party Committee, a group of nine elected by the whole gathering to conduct the affairs of the party in that factory, was just finishing his report of the last six months as we entered. There were 180 members of the party, of whom 60 were received this year and 60 more last year. Such large numbers of new ones, almost swamping the machinery and requiring much labor to organize into work. For work of some kind had to be found for all of them; if they were not "active" they were no use, and might be dropped. The party in the factroy existed as the active, energetic political force, correlating every activity.

OPPOSITE me as I sat down was the director of the factory—also a Communist. But he did not look happy. "He may possibly attack the report of the committee," whispered R., "for they have been making it hot for him. He is likely to be removed from his job any time now on their recommendation. The Trust thinks he's a good man, but he somehow doesn't get the cooperation of the workers. He is sincere and has tried to learn; perhaps he has learned something here that will be useful to him elsewhere. But he cannot apply it here, for in the process he has roused too many prejudices. I am also recommending to the Party that he be transferred."

As we sat down, questions were breaking out from all over the room, taken down rapidly in writing by the chairman of the meeting. "Why have we no report from the Pioneers? Are all the party members of this factory members also of the MOPR? (The relief of communist political prisoners in many lands.) Have we organized a movement to help the proletarian student? Has the Party looked into the matter of the Club and observed that we have no summer grounds or equipment for summer activities? How large is the active membership; how many members have no party duties? What has our Village Commission done in the nearby county of which we are now the "guardians?" Why haven't we a sanitary organization?

When this list of questions and dozens more had been collected, the young secretary, a worker in black leather jacket, only recently elected to the job, rose to answer.

THE Village Commission has spent two or three weeks investigating the village soviets throughout the township. They had sent speakers to all holidays and special days: The first of May, the Anti-Tuberculosis day and other events. Now came the question of organizing a day nursery for the peasants during the summer field work. It was time now, he thought, to proceed to the organization of a voluntary Society of Guardians, taking in any nonparty people who would be willing to work. Only so could the connection with the village be put on a broad enough basis, with enough willing workers to carry on all the activities needed.

No, he said, there was no sanitary organization, but there was a very good, small Sanitary Commission which had been doing some good work. It was not possible, in such a small factory with only a few hundred workers, to start so many organizations. It was best to start organizations for the important things, but merely have commissions for others.

I began to get the difference between "commissions" and "organizations." In facing any prbolem, from sanitation to the relation with the peasant, from illiteracy to political prisoners abroad, the Party group in the factory first organized a cmmission, chosen from among its own members. When this had been going for some time, and had aroused some enthusiasm, then an attempt was made to create a larger organization, drawing in nonparty members to do as much of the work as possible. But the line of direction had always been fixed first by the Partys commission. Thus they were permeating ever wider and wider groups of workers and drawing them into active participation in many new movements.

THERE were many such movements in this factory. The Down With Illiteracy Society, the Friends of Children, raising money for homeless children, the M. O. P. R., the Village Get-Together organization, the Cultural Bureau, the organization for the Protection of Labor, the organization for Speeding up Production. All of these had been once launched by the Party, but were now functioning, not under the Party, but under the Factory Committee, elected by all the workers. They had become part of the accepted life of the factory. But the Communists who had launched them still kept a guiding hand on them, assigned members to work in them, received reports from them and made suggestions to them, with the aim of keeping all the life of the factory,—its production, its workers' rights, its cultural groups,—in line with the ultimate progress towards Communism.

"The most interesting job in the factory is that of party secretary," whispered R. to me, as the meeting went on. "After that comes the job of managing the plant. But the Party secretary really has more responsibility. If anything at all goes wrong—in production, or in the life of the workers, he is going to get knocked for it. It is the duty of the manager to see that the factory produces well; he must satisfy the trust. It is the duty of the factory committee to see that the workers get good wages and conditions of labor; they must satisfy the workers. But in the reconciling of these two demands, and in the bigger questions of making the factory serve the ultimate needs of a socialist state—that's where the party secretary has to satisfy everybody. If he sees friction growing between manager and workers, he must forestall trouble, sometimes by arguing politics with the workers and showing them what is and is not possible, and sometimes by recommending the removal of the boss."

THE young secretary had just answered a question. A mild clamor arose in the back of the hall. "Our party committees are getting to be regular pets of the administration," said a discontented worker. The young secretary paid no atention. R. turned to me with a grin. "And he has just recommended the removal of the boss! That's how much he is a pet of the administration! But this of course, cannot be announced, for the recommendation may not be accepted, and there is no use in creating a scandal."

How many active members? was the next question. The secretary explains that of the 180 party members there were about 30 who had no regular party duties. There were certain conditions which brought this about. Some of them were new members who could not read and write yet, and consequently could hardly take the active part demanded in party work. There were working women with children; it was hard for them to do party work evenings after working all day. However, each individual case was being gone into, to see how soon this passivity could be remedied. Some, perhaps, would have to be dropped as pure ballast.

"Couldn't you find a stronger, more energetic woman organizer?" came the question. "Well, if you can name one," said the secretary, and paused for a reply. Getting none, he went on: "She was appointed with your assistance six months ago. She is not doing badly. But she lacks training. We are recommending her next year to a Party School."

"And what have you been doing about vodka?" came another question. The secretary explained that cases of drunkenness had been reprimanded, but that he really must ask for facts before proceeding against individuals about whom there were rumors.

"Does the Workers' Cooperative Building Association report on its work to the Party Committee? I remembered the new houses I had seen going up near the station and I caught the secretary's answer: "Of course it does."

THE questions came to an end. Who has anything to discuss? asked the chairman. One after another they rose from various parts of the room and contributed their ideas to the meeting. One man was a long-winded rambler. "That fellow was secretary of the Party here a year and a half ago," said R. "He couldn't be elected now. He talks too much. He is not a clear thinker and can't deliver the goods. The demand of the working class are now greater, and there are more people growing up able to fill the places."

The boss of the factory also asked for the floor, but he made no attempt to attack the committee, but contented himself with platitudes. He was not at home; there had been too much unhappy gossip abount him. "If he is a Communist, and uses the factory horses to go and buy sausage with for his home, naturally everybody talks about it. He's a fool to do that in a little town like this."

The meeting was drawing to a close when there was a movement of protest among the women: "Aren't we going to get the floor at all? Only one woman has spoken—the women's organizer."

"Why didn't you speak up? The floor is free," says the secretary. Then a member moves that since it is past closing time, nobody else be allowed to speak except women. It is passed amid mild applause. Dead silence falls. Finally one of the women gets up. "When are you going to give us that mechanical laundry and free us? You haven't bought us washing basins. Each woman delegate has two or three 'young pioneers' and she hasn't time to attend to them."

A LITTLE more discussion on this line and then comes reception of new members. Several "candidates" known to all present are received into full membership; two or three workers are presented as candidates. Their sponsors tell how long they have known them and why they recommend them. The applicants rise to answer any questions. There are no questions; the man is known to all; he lives in the factory barracks, and his life is an open book to his fellow workers. But suddenly a man in the back of the room throws a question: "Are you single?" "Yes." "Will you marry in church?" "No," says the applicant, and after a pause sits down. His working history, and his peasant parentage have already been announced.

It is extraordinary to think all over the largest republic on earth, from Leningrad to Vladivostok, in every factory and mill this is going on. This vital organizing life, starting cultural societies, guiding them, keeping them true to a certain line. And that all this has been organized in eight years in a country where workers were formerly not allowed to organize anything at all.

"You know how it's done," says R. to me "If a factory has no Communists, we send down three or four. After six months there are fifteen. Then we send a couple more with new ideas. Change the methods, get different things started. In a year we have forty. We form societies, Mopr, friends of children, day nursery, pioneers; we get non-party people working. We draw them in next. We keep changing personnel and bringing in new ideas and methods to keep things stirred up. That's how it goes all over the land."

"All Men Are Born Free and Equal."

By ISRAEL AMTER.

THREE days after the Fourth of July, when the patriots of this country reannounce that "all men are born free and equal," thousands of children of New York and the vicinity are applying to be adopted by a wealthy man.

E. W. Bronwing, a wealthy real estate operator, is looking for a companion for his foster daughter, and has advertised to that effect. Thousands of letters have poured in to the Bronwing mansion, appealing to Bronwing to adopt this or that child.

"Mothers plead poverty," says the New York Times, declaring that they are "too poor to give their offspring the advantage and education which they felt their children deserved."

One little girl, evidently not knowing what the procedure meant, went with her mother to the palace of the real estate operator and when asked whether she wished to leave her mother and be adopted, wept bitter tears.

Mothers giving up their children, because they cannot properly support them! Children being torn from their parents, because their parents cannot take care of them. This is the "freedom" and "equality" of which the 100-percent patriots talk so much. The same "freedom" and "equality" that Benjamin P. Chass, writer for the "Current History Monthly," in an article in the March issue, mentions when he states that "children at the age of 2 and 3 have been found toiling away their days of mere infancy, helping their mothers eke out a living in the tenement houses of New York and other cities." "In the cotton fields of California, children as young as 4 pick from sunrise to sunset."

"Margaret A. McGroarty, a visiting teacher, told of frightful conditions in the Italian section of upper New York. ...Children as young as 3 work on artificial flowers. Their wages are deplorable," she testified. "Conditions in East Harlem are simply appaling."

"All men are born free and equal." Facts prove it!

CHINA FIGHTS BACK

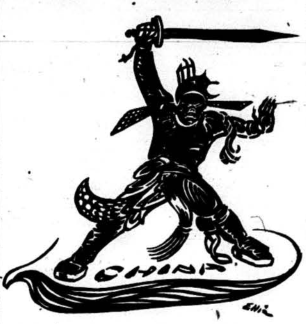
By Alfred Wagenknecht.

A SHARP report like the crack of a musket. I turned around quickly. There stood a petty naval officer boxing the ears of a rickshaw coolie. Countless Chinamen were walking up and down the Bund in Canton, and yet not one stopped.

This happened just a year ago. Coolies ears are not being boxed by sailors from foreign battleships on the Bund, in Canton, China, today. The imperialists' battleships on the Bund, imperialists' battleships are there, yes, but the sailors are standing by to defend Shameen, the foreign quarter, the home of the international banks and the trading corporations of the imperialists, and are not promenading the Bund, full of whiskey and soda, spitting into the faces of the natives.

THE year 1922 in China was eventful. The immense strikes of the railway workers of Pekin and Hankow and of the sailors of Hong Kong were the sparks which are setting off the broadsides today. It was Japanese yen which bought the knife and then paid the executioner of the Pekin-Hankow railroad workers' strike leaders, who were decapitated in public in order to teach the workers that labor unionism is not a healthy method of struggle. But the Chinese railway workers were taught quite another lesson. They formed groups of ten and continued their union activity under the very noses of the imperialists.

THIS same year saw the strike of 30,0000 Chinese Pacific sailors at the British port of Hong Kong, which spread rapidly into a general strike of all Hong Kong servants and laborers until the total involved numbered 50,000. There are strikes and strikes, but this was the kind that made the blood of every revolutionist tingle. The strikers had their own militia. The Canton workers and peasants stood by. And when food became scarce in Hong Kong and when it was suddenly discovered that the boats plying between Canton and Hong Kong were not bringing down even a solitary squash to feed the bourgeoisie of Hong Kong, armed vessels were sent to Canton on a foraging expedition. But they came back empty. It was then that the retainers of the imperialists who resided in Hong Kong, whose wonderful mansions make the Peak so picturesque, began to flee the city. They felt that the rebellion meant business. As it did.



THE strike was won. The transportation corporations, acting thru a compradore, had to agree to pay the union $100,000 damages. The union thought the go-between honest. The fine against the imperialists has not been paid to this day.

Encouraged by the militancy of the Hong Kong sailors, the latter half of 1922 saw sixty labor unions organized in Shanghai alone. These unions conducted fifty strikes. Fifty strikes for and against what?

For more than three to twelve cents a day for children between six and twelve years of age.

Against a working day of twelve to eighteen hours.

Against Simon Legree methods in the factories.

For more than an average wage of ten dollars a month for married men.

Against the inhumanity to the thousands of babies, who are dragged to work every morning upon their mothers insufficient breasts, to be thrown into a corner upon a pallet of rags or straw, there to lie until the twelve or fourteen hour day is at an end.

It might well be said that in China children go to work from birth, for from the minute the mother is rid of birthpangs, the baby is in the mill.

AT the end of 1923 there came the convention of the Kuomintang party in Canton. The Chinese masses, especially in southern China, had at last heard the message from Soviet Russia—a message backed by deeds—which broadcasted world-wide the principle of self-determination of all colonial and semi-colonial peoples, of all nationalities. And the advanced workers, seeing that the compadore-merchant leaders of the Kuomintang party were compromising with the imperialists, decided upon a new Kuomintang, a revolutionary peoples party of the masses. It was this convention that has to its credit the first attempt to organize the peasant masses in China, to bring them into political contact with the struggle for liberation in China.

IN the succeeding months the Kuomintang struck deep roots in all the industrial centers of China. It won against the fascist troops organized by its own right wing. It maintained the leadership of Sun Yat Sen. Both against the imperialists' spies, against the bribery of military governors and others influential, against the advances of the frocked man of Christ, who is also the advance agent of imperialism in China, the Kuomintang grew.

During these months the sobered socialism of MacDonald stood by the imperialists, so that they might enjoy another spree of super-profits. And we had the French, the Japanese the British, the American bourgeoisie playing their little games to possess Pekin, the seat of power.

THE imperlialists forced China to open its doors so that it might be exploited by them. Today the Chinese are pointing to this open door and demanding the immediate exit of the imperialists. Recent events in China have the prime ministers of all countries up a tree. Altho the cables have been kept hot in an attempt to unite upon some program of subjugation, no agreement has yet been reached.

And we know in which direction one eye of the imperialist beast is looking!

One eye upon Soviet Russia, the other on China, with an occasional glance at Morocco and the Riff victories—this is enough to make most any beast dizzy. And did not a South African warrior chief only the other day, while with one hand shaking the feeble arm of the Prince of Wales, shove under the prince's royal nose a demand for independence?

The world is not quite what it used to be for the dollar kings.

CHINA—a land of 400,000,000 of peasants and workers, where the most appalling situation in all the world of labor obtains, here a halt is being called to the bloodsucking. Masses numbering 400 millions and how many times this many scrofula sores, tubercular infections might we count?

Upon the docks, in every building recess, upon all junks, upon all curbs, everywhere where Chinese workers and peasants eat, sleep or work, there are to be found little boys and girls, men and women, resting a while every now and then to scratch and pick at their sores. Whenever you see a sore, there a sucker of the tentacle of the tentacle of the imperialist octopus has rested for a period.

China is being sucked white.

The Chinese masses are deciding to eat and to keep their blood.

That's what it's all about.

In Memory of Ines Armand -

By N. Krapskaya.

This year was the fifth anniversary of our periodical "Kommunistka." During these five years, it carried out its tasks from month to month, pointing out the way in which work among women should be conducted. Those who organized the work among peasant and working women went to this periodical during these five years, but its initiator, our beloved comrade Ines Armand, is no longer with us. She organized this periodical, she put it in working order, but she herself was not given much opportunity to contribute to it. The periodical was founded in the spring of 1920, and in September of the same year Ines died in the Caucasus.

A Friend of Lenin.

Ines was something more than an ordinary worker. She was very gifted, she continually tried to improve herself, she was steady and capable of self-control, and devoted herself to the revolutionry cause. She was bubbling over with energy, and took to heart every success and non-success of the Bolsheviks. As far back as 1905, Ines took an active part in the movement. When in 1911 she came to Paris from Brussels, where she had lived as an emigre after her imprisonment and exile, she became closely connected with our Bolshevik group and was soon one of its most active members. She got through an enormous amount of work in connection with the establishment of closer contact among our various groups abroad. She carried on an extensive correspondence and had many connections. One can say there is hardly a Bolshevik living as an emigre in 1911-1917 who did not know Ines. She was never down-hearted, and encouraged others by her cheerfulness. I personally, received very much from Ines. I loved her dearly. She soon became a close friend of our circle.

Vladimir Ilyitch was particularly fond of discussing our plans of work with her. Half French, half English by origin, Ines knew French and English perfectly, and her services were very valuable in connection with our relations with foreign parties. She translated all documents, was before the war delegated by the Bolshviks to defend the Bolshevik policy at the session of the International Bureau.

She fulfilled the same function at the International Women's Conference. In 1915 she was our delegate at the Zimmerwald and Kienthal Conference and took an active part in the work of the Comintern. In 1911, Ines played an important role in the organization of a party school near Paris, where she lectured on political economy. Among those who attended the lectures in this school were: Comrades Orzhonikidze, Schwartz, Breslav, Dogadov, Zevind, Sagurin and others. This school did an important piece of work by linking up the Bolshevik cadres for energetic work at the time when the revolutionary wave was in the ascendant. In 1912, Ines went illegally to work in Petersburg. She was soon thrown into prison, and subsequently became again an emigre.

Her Work Among Women.

She worked very energetically in all the branches of Party work, but paid special attention to work among women. Already in 1914, she sent from abroad articles for the Petersburg "Rabotnitza" and was a member of the foreign section of the Editorial Board of this periodical. She prepared reports on work among women for the International Women's Conference, which it was proposed to hold in Vienna in 1914 simultaneously with the general International Congress, but which did not come off after all. When Ines came to Russia in 1917, she began immediately energetic agitation and propaganda among working women. She did not only speak at meetings, she also wrote for the working women. Her excellent pamphlet: "How I Came to Defend the Soviet Power," became very popular. Ines was the initiator of the "Working Women's Pages" in the "Pravda" and "Bednota." These pages have been very useful for propaganda among working and peasant women. But still greater were her services in connection with the organization of the working women.

A Pioneer in Women's Work.

In 1919 she was at the head of the working women's section attached to the C. C. of the R. C. P. (B), and issued very careful instructions to all working women's organizers. Now everyone can see how important it is to have women delegates, but during the first years of the revolution, the manner of carrying on work among non-party working and peasant women was a contentious question. Ines was a keen advocate of delegate meetings. She exercised considerable influence over working women.

Now, when we witness the increasing influx of working and peasant women into our Soviets, when we see that working and peasant women are eager to join the Party, we must not forget the comrade who laid the foundation stone of the organization of working and peasant women, who accomplished and sacrificed so much for their emancipation.

Working and peasant women, let the memory of Ines Armand be ever with you.

The Why and How of Shop Nuclei

By Joseph Zack.

THE last congress of the Communist International made it mandatory upon all sections to reorganize on the basis of the new basic unity of the Internatoinal Communist Party—the shop nucleus. For our party with 25,000 members operating in a whale of a country with 90 per cent of the proletariat unorganized, divided into so many languages, the matter does not appear so very simple. I am not exaggerating when I say that the bulk of our membership is as yet completely at sea on the theory of this question and especially on its application specifically to this country.

The Theory of the Shop Nuclei.

THE organization structure generally should reflect the aim of the movement, and as, every one knows, we inherited our present oganization fom the Second International. The social-democratic theory of peacefully growing into socialism by reforming the capitalist state and gradually legislating capitalism out of existence made it necessary for social-democracy to accept the permeation of bourgeois parliament as its main objective. With this as the starting point, the whole movement was placed on a reform basis; its organizational apparatus had to run parallel to the bourgeois machine and its parties. Furthermore, in order that the masses should not thru some intemperate outburst resulting from the daily conflict of economic interests, disturb the bourgeoisie order sufficiently for the ruling class to abolish these nicely won democratic privileges, social-democracy needed to manipulate such struggles into peaceful channels.

OURS, the Communist program, is exactly the contrary. The perfection of bourgeois democracy and the bourgeois parliament is not our objective. Our aim is to express its sham and hypocrisy and to use the elbow-room that it affords us as a platform to preach the slass struggle. Neither do we pacify the violence of the daily class struggle. We try to organise the masses of the exploited for action outside of the sphere of bourgeois parliamentary politics intensify the antagonisms of the daily struggle until it becomes one mighty blow that will crush the bourgeoisie completely and establish the proletarian Soviet power.

Where to Organize.

THE whole capitalist political apparatus called the state, no matter what its democratic camouflage, is in essence the armed fist of the bourgeoisie to ensure and perpetuate the exploitation which is most severe at the point of production. It is there that the daily struggle to get a bigger share of life takes place in its severest form. It is there that we are "skinned alive." And naturally it is there that the proletariat does and should organize for self-preservation, offense and defense. There is also the soil to plant the roots of a fighting revolutionary working-class organization, in factories, mills and mines, where the struggle takes place day by day, we can really participate in those daily struggles, broaden them, and organize the proletarian industrially and politically for our program. It is precisely here that we are at the present time weakest and cannot grow because of our present form of organization.

Hence the need to junk it and to build one that suits our program.

THE achievement of the nucleus form of organization is that it hitches the basic party unit to a definite group of workers in a shop or mine and charges that group of our party with the definite task of organizing these workers and participating in their daily problems and struggles; of matching their wits with the brains of the capitalists who exploits them; and thus truly becoming their vanguard, not only in words but in deeds, and thru this activity, establishing the party's leadership among them, politically as well as economically.

Our present party unit, the territorial branch does not link up with the workers. It is like an engine generating lots of noise with little results. We have a Bolshevik program with a menshevik form of organization and this makes the shop nuclei reorganisation a major issue confronting the party. Let us make the big step in Bolshevizing our party by Bolshevizing its form of organization.

SOME comrades say the theory is all right but it wont' work!

1st. Because we cannot organize a nucleus composed of Russians, Germans, Finns and Americans. They would not understand one another and we cannot destroy our federations. The nucleus idea is all right for the English comrades.

2nd. Our party is so small numerically, that there are but a few factories with sufficient members to form a nuclei. So let the party first grow big enuf, say five hundred thousand members, and we will see. Meanwhile, we can form a few nuclei here and there, but this must not disturb the party structure.

3rd. In this country, we have the T. U. E. L. taking care of "that end of the movement," so we do not need it.

4th. It may work among the miners, but what about the seasonal needle industry, where small shops predominate? How about the building trades, when a construction is finished, no more nuclei? Or the marine workers? What about unemployment, especially a big economic crisis in which ten million are out of work? The whole party machinery will continually get out of gear. What about the many members who do not work in industry?

IN short, say those comrades, the C. I. must be convinced that in this country the nuclei proposition can receive only limited application. It is all right, of course, in another country. We are for it in principle, etc., etc. These questions are quite interesting and each presents a problem. For each of them there is, however, a logical and practical solution, provided the principle of shop nuclei organization is really agreed upon as the desirable form of party organization.

The Problem of Nuclei Reorganization in the U. S. A.

LET us for simple illustration assume that our entire party is composed of English-speaking comrades and deal with the language problem later. We would in this case take all the party members of one factory—three, five or more and organise them into a factory or shop nuclei branch. During the transition period and until the party grows into considerable numbers, we will be faced with the problem of having our members in ones or twos in a factory, mine or shop. In order that the party shall be in a position to hold these members to activity and responsibility for party work in their place of employment, such comrades until the time they can form a nucleus in their shop or mine, should be attached to the nearest nuclei branch or shop or street nucleus. If there is no nucleus in their area all the individual comrades should form a shop nuclei branch or street nucleus (International branch) and thru their organized activity work it up into a genuine nuclei branch of the party.

THESE shop nuclei branches then elect their delegates to the section or city committee (at the beginning 'each individual small shop nucleus of 3, 5 or more does so until a shop branch is formed), which then constittues the city organization. In big cities section committees will be formed of all the nuclei branches or single nuclei in a factory area. The same principle can be applied to small cites or factory districts where several nucleus may form the city committee instead of being formed into a nuclei branch or section committee as in big cities. The various central committees within an industrial area then form a sub-district of the larger party district in that territory. The basic unit of the party, the shop or nucleus or thru the nucleus branch, select delegates to the party.

THE general party divisions will of course also be organized more along the lines of predominating industries, such as coal, textile, oil, etc. It goes without saying that for national work along industrial lines in one or another industry or union, the nuclei in the various shops, factories or mines will be connected with the national and local machinery of the T. U. E. L. Thus, the left wing will establish its organizational roots not only in the local unions, but also in the shops.

THIS answers the problem of generel reorganization and co-ordination of the party machinery on shop nuclei basis, as well as the problem of organizing into this machinery the isolated comrades of one or two in a factory. We must of course go thru a transitory state in this work, but under this form the bulk of the membership can be drawn into the nuclei machinery and an honest attempt made to apply the nuclei reorganization to a numerically, as yet, weak party.

The Functions of Shop Nuclei.

AS we well enuf know, the American proletariat is politically yet very backward. Whatever class consciousness there is amongst them is mainly economic. More wages, less hours, etc. It will be the most difficult task of the nuclei to broaden this vague economic class feeling into real political class consciousness, to draw these workers into class politics. The party will succeed thru the shop nuclei to do this much better than now, because its literature, leaflets, press, will thru intimate contact with the masses be more suitable for this purpose.

However, especially at the beginning, under the tremendous pressure of the politically ignorant working class, there will be an overwhelming temptation for the nuclei to work only on economic issues. This is not remedied at once by making the nuclei work difficult before they strike roots amongst the workers, but must be constantly kept sight of and remedied thru better tactics and more care in our political agitation. Leaflets, press, stickers, etc must always be distributed in various ways by the nuclei. In proportion to the growth of favorable sentiment, attempts should be made to pull the workers down en masse to mass meetings of and demonstrations of political character.

Aside from political work which applies to all nuclei in organized and unorganized industries alike, the work of our nuclei could be divided at present into two main categories: the nuclei in organized industries and those in unorganized industries.

Nuclei in Organized Industries.

AS far as the economic activities in organized industries are concerned, nuclei will have to follow the program of the T. U. E. L. in that industry, and establish the left wing as a factor in the shops, instead of only on the floors of the local unions. The nuclei in its every day contact with the workers in the shops will be in a better position to bring home to the workers the meaning of the basic slogans of our party, such as, amalgamation, shop committees, labor party, etc., because the need is more striking at the point of production where many fracts or trades work in the same factory and do fancy bureaucratic tricks are in order there to side-track the feeling for solidarity.

AMONG the ordinary daily activities of the nuclei it must be the objective of any nuclei or comrades in a union shop to get the shop chairmanship and to see to it that the union agreement is interpreted and enforced in the interests of the workers. The nuclei must continually counteract the perpetual attempts of the boss to undermine the union agreement with the intention to eventually establish the open shop. It must fight against reductions in wages, in any form, and to fight every inch of the ground for the interests of the workers. A Communist must come into a shop with an attitude that he has something to say about conditions and production there and to get the workers to support our fighting policy.

IN trades where the shop chairman system is not established, the nuclei members should fight for it in the unions. If they have influence or the tacit consent of the workers, they same factory and do fancy bureau- any trouble that may arise in their factory so that, altho unofficially, but just as effectively, they will be considered as leaders of the workers in the place where they work. Besides the daily struggle for the interests of workers on purely shop questions, the nuclei with all vigor fight for the introduction of the shop committee system. In some unions, shop committees have already a legal basis, in others semi-legal.

THE shop committee idea will appeal mostly to those workers who, altho working for the same boss in the same plant, are divided into different unions and can easily see the advantage of unity on the job. In some industries and localities we can, with a little fight, get the shop committee officially adopted, in its milder form as it already exists in some unions, viz: limited only to shop questions, instead of, as our demand is, control thru shop committees of the entire union. While the fight goes on for official union recognition of shop committees, the nuclei must broaden out their organizational power and ideological influence by organizing all those that favor unity thru shop committees and amalgamation of the entire industry.

The nuclei must try to influence, as a sort of unofficial shop committee, as many workers as possible in the factory, with the object of unifying these workers for the struggle against the boss and the union bureaucracy, and establishing the machinery that will make it possible for the left wing, entrenched in the shops and led by the party, to force amalgamation from the botom and to enable the party to take leadership in the struggles, despite and over the heads of the union bureaucracy.

THE entrenchment of the nuclei in the shops will make it possible to bring broader layer of the workers into union activities and to bring them down to union meetings to reinforce the activities and power of the T. U. E. L. fraction. The activities of the nuclei and the work of the T. U. E. L. fraction must go hand in hand. These are, generally, the functions of nuclei in organized industries.

Socialist Likes Daily Worker.

The DAILY WORKER: I am almost a life-time socialist, have belonged to the socialist party ever since it was organized and my first vote was cast for Old Bill Weaver. Ever since I have been a radical, but for some reason I never had seen a copy of your paper until the Fourth of July meeting here (the Debs meeting).

At that meeting I bought a copy of your paper and am enclosing a check for a three months' subscription to it. Its tone strikes me favorably and it certainly has the support of the laboring element.

We socialists have no organ, not even a weekly.

To the Editor, The DAILY WORKER: I am sending you a 6 months subscription to The Daily Worker. Would like to renew for a year, but I have been unemployed since the third day of December, 1923, having worked only thirty-three days since that date.

However, I am enclosing two dollars in addition as a special two months subscription card for a new subscriber.

Yours for Communism,

Jewish Colonization in Soviet Russia

By MORRIS BACKALL.

WHEN the workers of Russia organized the Soviet form of government they established complete national freedom in their country. They took a deep interest in the list of all the people inhabiting the land, they found that the middle class among the Jews is too large. It is true that the peasant is also a middle man, but he is a productive one, while the Jew was non productive, and a non productive element stands in conflict with the entire situation of a Communist country.

The Jewish population in czaristic Russia were not allowed to live in large industrial cities and states. The industries in the Ghetto were not large enough to employ a great deal of workers, and the government owned factories, even in the Ghetto were closed to Jewish workers.

Jewish employers sometimes refused to employ Jewish workers, because they could find cheaper labor among other people, so the Jews in Russia were compelled to become the go-between for the village and the city and be the merchant, the broker, the middle man.

Jews Back to Land.

At the conferences of the Jewish section of the Communist Party of Russia in 1918-1919, the question of settling the Jews on land was raised, but, Ukrainia and a portion of White Russia was occupied in 1919 by the Germans, and the question was how to bring back the Jews to their former settlements. In June of 1919, at a second conference of the Jewish section of the Communist Party in Soviet Russia, the question of settling Jews on land was the central question of the gathering and the Jewish commissariat issued a manifesto in regard to Jewish colonization in Soviet Russia.

But in August, 1919, the Soviet government had to evacuate Ukrainia. In 1920, in the Jewish districts the terror of the whites reigned and the Jewish population was afraid to show itself on the streets and right afterward military Communism was striving for economic reconstruction which had on its program the bringing of peasants to the city, and not colonization on soil.

It was Trotsky's plan of the labor army to bring thirty million peasants into industry, and therefore the idea of settling Jews on land was out of question.

Restriction of Private Business.

In 1921 came the N. E. P. (new economic program) and some of the Jewish population had the illusion that the old possibilities of speculation had returned.

In 1922 this Jewish population of Soviet Russia awakened from this illusion. They understood that this is N. E. P., but the old times cannot return any more, the little merchant is unable to compete with the government owned stores and co-operatives, that private business must give way in Soviet Russia.

In the meanwhile in Soviet Russia, labor became a very valuable element, people began to be proud of productive effort; the psychology changed, because of this new objective condition.

Productive Labor Necessary.

About a million and two hundred thousand Jews are now living on labor, but, there are six hundred thousand that have no source of livelihood, and the question for them is, either to starve or to occupy themselves with productive labor.

The tendency to colonize the Jews on land found its expression in voluntary settlements of about sixty thousand Jews on soil, without anybody's efforts. The Jewish Communists of Soviet Russia, therefore, started a big campaign for colonization. They did not invent the problems, they did not also invent land, they only found the address to it.

In 1922, when the old Soviet Russia exhibition of agriculture took place the Jewish Communists demanded a pavilion for the Jewish peasants in the exhibition. In 1923, the pavilion was built and hundreds of thousands of visitors praised the great efforts of the Jewish peasants for their very modern agricultural accomplishment.

Land Committee Organized.

At the thirteenth Communist party convetnion in Soviet Russia, the question of colonizing Jews on land became a general government question because of the very elaborate discussion of how to change the government policy of private business, and as a result of the great discussion at the party convention, the Comzet (land committee) was organized.

What are the results? The government gave to the Jews forty-five thousand desiatin (a desiatin is over two acres) in one place in Ukrainia, in the district of Cherson and Krivorog. The Cherson circle is divided in three lines, first, Nikolaiev and Cherson, second Cherson and Merepo on the way to Charkov, and third, Nikolaiev and Dolinsipaia, it is a triangle. In the triangle alone there is thirty-six thousand desiatin and ine thousand in the Krivorog district of the state of Jekaterinoslav. The district of Cherson reaches the river Mingovicz, which is surrounded with all Jewish colonists.

Jews Given Land.

The second stretch of land was given to the Jews this year in Crimea, with eight thousand desiatin and ten thousand desiatin n White Russia, and also another piece of land in Crimea.

The program of colonization is as follows: four thousand five hundred families with a population of twenty five thousand will be colonized this year.

Every person is supplied with transportation for which he pays only one-fourth of the regular price. Every young man that is of military age gets a postponement for three years. They also get an exemption of taxes for several years. The families that are going to Crimea are also getting wood to build houses free, and also getting seeds on credit for several years.

The Jews are colonizing first as pioneers, every small or larger town sends out first, a small group of its people and then they are making themselves ready to colonize by whole towns. In Crimea settles this year, three hundred families, and in Ukrainia three thousand and the rest in White Russia. It costs six hundred rubles to colonize a family. The Comzet is still short a half million dollars for this year, but for the next year the program is to colonize ten thousand Jewish families and yet a poorer class of Jews, and the need will be eight hundred rubles for each and every family.

American Jews Must Help.

The "Narkomzet" of Soviet Russia is ready to give to the Jews enough land to colonize hundreds of thousands of Jews. It offered a million and a hundred thousand desiatin in the district of Shelabisk on the Ural, but the funds to make it possible ought to be raised in this country. The Jewish workers organised themselves in the "Ikor," but they are finding difficulties to arouse the class consciousness of the Jewish workers in the trade unions which are still largely under the influence of the Forward and are blind even to such a great necessity.

The Jewish distribution committee on the other hand did receive favorable reports about Jewish colonization in Russia and is undertaking a big campaign for funds.

There are 125,000 Jews already colonized in Russia, occupying 250,000 desiatin land. This is only the beginning. In Palestine only fifty thousand desiatin are held by Jewish farmers and it is after forty years of activity, this shows what national freedom means in a Communistic state.

Dollarizing a World

and commercial imperialism. The very mention of the term is an insult to the purity of intention announced by Monroe."

And already, the imperialist watchdogs of Yankee capitalism are barking ferociously. Listen to the following declaration of the mouthpiece of the Ynakee militarist caste, The Army and Navy Journal of June 20th, 1925, in speaking of the Mexican situation: "It is not at all unlikely that a display of force will be necessary a little later to make Mexico understand that American interests, too long ignored, must be protected."

Could any imperialist clique speak more "politely?"

Corrupting the Workers.

HERE we have the economic basis for the bourgeoisification of sections of the working class in imperialist countries. Here we have the economic basis for the growth of a labor aristocracy, in the United States for instance. Here we have the basis for the growth of that anomaly called by Lenin, a bourgeois working class.

In the United States, where imperialism is most powerful and highly developed, bourgeois working class leaders, labor bankers, flourish and dominate. No doubt we will soon read on the tombstone of the late grand chief Warren S. Stone, a list of directorships in such banks as the Empire Trust Company of New York and the National Bank of Boston. The total resources of the banks and finance companies in which this labor leader was a director are approximately one hundred fifty million dollars. No less significant is the fact that at the funeral of this weed of a working class, railway labor leader, there were present two union-hating railroad presidents like Daniel Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio rialroad and J. B. Yohe of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad.

What worse source of corruption, what more menacing cantankerous growth could there be on the body-politic of the proletariat in the United States?

Onward to the Next War.

BEFORE the great world war, America was a debtor nation. Today it is a creditor nation. Before the world war, in 1908, when the Yankee imperialist power was not yet so full grown, the United States toured a fleet of eighteen war vessels around the world. Today, exporting capital at the rate of about a billion dollars annually and occupying all the front row seats in the international imperialist arena, the United States navy is starting a "friendship" cruise of fifty-seven warships to Australia and New Zealand.

The rate of the militarization of America is terrific. There are today seventy-five thousand college students and about forty thousand high school students getting military training for varying periods during the year. To facilitate the building up of a military caste in the United States the War Department has officially detailed seven hundred forty-five officers and one thousand enlisted men for such training. The United States War Department is spending more than two million dollars annually on military training camps.

This year the United States will spend $674,581,000 or nearly 22 per cent of its total federal budget for the war and navy departments. In the fiscal year of 1924 this proportion was only 19.3 per cent. It is interesting to note that Great Britain is spending this year only about 13 per cent of its estimated total expenditures for its military and naval departments. Last year Great Britain spent more than 14 per cent of its total government expenditures for the army and navy.

"Dollarization" abroad means militarism at home. The export of huge quantities of American capital is paving the road for the exporting of vast armies of the America proletariat to be pitted in slaughter against the proletariat of other countries. "Dollarizing" the world simply means for the American workers an addition of acute hardships, a subtraction of the most elementary political rights and economic needs, a division in their own ranks, and the multiplication of the dangers of devastating war.

Imperialism means war sooner rather than later.

War is hell. Imperialism is hell.

Letters From Our Readers

To My Fellow Auto Gypsies.

To the DAILY WORKER: Our daily press which like George Washington never tells a lie, is getting train fever trying to invent a way to stop the influx of auto gypsies.

Headed by Miss Adeline Buffington, of Salt Lake City, a move is on foot to wipe out this condition. These moron social workers charge the American people with packing their effects, and taking to the road to run away from work. "They use the plight of their children to gain sympathy and assistance. They are ruining the chances of the next generation by teaching them not to work, etc., etc.

But let us see why the citizens of this country are degenerating into a band of gypsies. That there are multitudes of auto tramps is beyond question. They come and go in every direction. As soon as a family pitches camp the first questions asked are: Where can I get a job? How far to the next camp? How are the roads? What do they soak you for gas, and how much for camping?

Then come tales of experiences and hardships, and there are many.

While writing this a family with a small baby is pitching camp. They have a 1916 Ford with broken spring. They have not got the price of a new one which is $2.50. Many have no tents and take pot luck with weather conditions out under the open sky.

What do these people eat? Certainly not healthy wholesome food, to which workers are entitled.

This morning a family of six left camp. They did not own their car, they had $4.35 in their possession, their clothes were in rags and they had four little kiddies.

The father was willing to work at anything, he had not seen a day's work in months. Does anyone mean to insinuate that these people prefer this to a good home and a steady income? They are on the tramp, simply because they cannot get work. They cannot pay rent so the landlord drives them out. The grocer cuts their credit. Once on the road, it is steal, beg or starve. Another class of tramps can be found on the road. They travel in fine big cars, stop at hotels, resorts and beaches. Money they have plentiful but they do not toil. They bring with them a maid servant to do the chores and a man servant to drive the car. This class feeds upon our bodies. They are the parasites and they exist because you workers will not organise to fight our common enemy, the thieves who rob us. Meekly we crawl into filthy places called auto camps, and pay a dollar for the privilege while they go to the beauty spots of the earth. We pay their bills with our life blood and that of our children.

In winter you go to some city, get a dingy, musty room in the tenement district and you call this home.

Get into the Workers (Communist) Party of America and fight like men and women.

Only a cur lies down to die.

World Capitalism and the Soviet Union

power in industry, one perceives that capitalism emerged from the war with an extended basis of production.

In the post-war years only a portion of this industry was employed—in many countries below 50 per cent of its capacity. The chief causes for this were: The collapse of the monetary system and the lack of credit. After the war, capital only accumulated in America. America, however, cut itself off from European affairs.

Now, when the international credit system, the international monetary system is being restored again, a revival in industry is commencing; all its earlier accumulated forces are being set in motion and are working in the direction of the stabilization of capitalism.

The Extension of the Market by Means of the Reduction of Prices.

WILL this process of stabilization be maintained? What are the difficulties which confront it? etc.

In replying to this question we must withdraw a little from current events and engage in a number of abstract considerations. One cannot come to the conclusion that capitalism has finally worked its way out of the post-war morass. Capitalism means exchange of commodities and its stabilization depends upon the question of markets and comes up against the fact of the shrinkage of the markets. Capitalism knows of two ways whereby it can etxend the market:

The first way consists in the cheapening of production. If goods are sold at a lower price they find a wider circle of purchasers within the limits of the existing national wealth, of the existing national income.

The second way is the capturing of new markets.

Reduction of prices requires either a change in the organization of industry and commerce, or a new technical equipment of economy on a mass scale.

Does capitalism possess such technical possibilities, the use of which would enable goods to be cheapened? Yes, these possibilities consist in the employment of electricity, in the transition from steam power to electrical power.

FOR capitalism, however, this is at present a purely theoretical possibility. The hindrances in the way of its practical realization are: first, the accumulation of capital is only taking place to any considerable extent in America. Europe is poorer than before the war, and the investment of big capital sums for the purpose of etxending the electrical basis of industry on a mass scale exceeds the powers of international capital. Very interesting results were furnished in this respect by the London electricity congress which took place last year. The results of this congress show that New York alone consumes more electric current than the whole of England. The richest country of Europe, Old England, cannot afford to transfer to electricity, altho the most far-seeing bourgeois politicians perceive this to be the only way out of the deep crisis under which the country is laboring. The published report of the commission of the liberal party, with a preface by Lloyd George: "Current and Coal," states what enormous expenditure is necessary in order to electrify England.

Another reason why the countries of old capitalism encounter such great difficulties in transferring to electricity is the following: they have invested an enormous amount of capital in industry driven by steam power and they cannot therefore transfer to electricity before amortizing the plants and equipment of this country without great losses.

We therefore maintain that the development of electricity can only proceed in the first place in the young capitalist countries, and in those countries where the rule of capitalis already belongs to a certain extent to history—we speak here of Russia. Our advantage consists in the fact that we are creating many new things and can create them with the help of electricity. The steam basis of Russian industry is not very great and its basic capital has been consumed to a very great extent.

Of the capitalist countries America is the first that is capable of developing its industry in this direction.

Let us mention a characteristic trifle: Before the war it had been calculated how much money Italy would require in order to go over to electricity and to free itself from the heavy tribute which it had to yield to other countries for coal. This sum amounted to half of the annual expenditure of this country for the war. Bourgeois Italy could not bring itself to expend this money for the reorganizing of industry, it could, however, venture to squander far larger sums for war purposes. As a result it is now no longer in a position to go over to electrification.

For the capitalist countries, therefore, the way to the cheapening of goods is scarcely possible all the more so as the policy of the trusts leads to higher prices.

The Anthracite Coal Miners' Convention

By PAT TOOHEY.
(A Delegate.)

THE much talked of tri-district miners' convention is now a matter of history and the anthracite miners are now wondering what comes next.

It was at this convention that a new wage scale would be drafted, that is, a uniform set of demands of the miners to be presented to the anthracite operators at the expiration of the existing agreement. It was at this convention that the hand picked scale committee would be given to understand just exactly what the rank and file wanted. But to those not acquainted with the usual procedure of miners' conventions, let it be understood at the beginning that it did not differ in the least from any other miners' convention, that is, that the delegates did not transact the business but the "fat bys" on the platform did that little thing.

THERE appeared at the convention a small but well organized opposition to the fakers. On practically every question of an important character it was this group that led the offensive. That this group was recognized as a force to be reckoned with was demonstrated on several occasions. It was this group that Lewis was forced to deal with thruout the convention, as a definite opposing group, opposed to the collaborative tactics of Lewis-Cappellini Co.

Many progressive measures were placed before the convention and fought for by the Communist delegates and their sympathizers. On the resolution demanding the release of all class war prisoners none spoke but the Communist delegates. The convention decided not to assist the causes of these prisoners in a financial way, but decided to give them their "moral support."

A resolution favoring the labor party was introduced by the Communists. The resolution committee attempted to evade the issue by submitting a report recommending the resolution be referred to the international convention, but this move of the "fat bys" was blocked. After much debate the committee was instructed to reconsider the resolution and submit another report, which was done, the report recommending concurrence.

HIS ROYAL LOWNESS, John L. Lewis paid us a visit. John's paunch has increased in size since I saw him last (we must not forget an assessment was levied this spring). After singing the delegation to sleep by enumerating the wicked deeds of "that great American" Schwab, Rockefeller, etc., etc., John had to cook up something frightful to awaken them and to do it promised if the coal barons and "the great Americans" would continue to "scrap" the Jacksonville agreement that a national strike would be called. The Communists realize what this would do for the union but know also, that it will never materialize with Lewis heading the union.

The scale committee, jokers picked from a stacked deck by the way, reported a 10 per cent increase for contract miners and $1.00 in crease for company labor, including the check-off, tonnage, etc., would be demanded by the miners. The Communists fought militantly for higher demands but the machine was too well oiled and the fight was lost. It was pointed out by the Communist delegates that the anthracite operators made millions of dollars in profits in the last few years and that the demands as formulated by the scale committee, regarding increase in wages, was not equitable and sufficient compensation for the work performed. Combatting the press propaganda that the operators were running the mines at a deficit it was pointed out that the Glen Alden Coal Co., Lehigh Wilkes-Barre Co., Penna. Coal Co., Philadelphia and Reading, and other large companies made a tremendous profit, running into the millions of dollars, in the last few years. The insistance which the Communists demanded 20 per cent for contract miners and $2 for company labor roused the ire of His Lowness, who was the chairman, who demanded of the Communists that they were not "ham-stringing" the officials.

THE scale committee, jointly with the district officials of Districts 1, 7, 9, including the International officials will soon go to Atlantic City to meet the operators. Lewis will demand the establishment of the checkoff and will make this the paramount demand, not because the checkoff will be a powerful thing for the union, but insuring Lewis and Co. tax on all the membership, some locals at present not paying tax for their full membership. Even if granted, the 10 per cent and $1 per day wage demand which is a remote possibility, it will not mean very much to the anthracite mine workers, who are very poorly paid at the present time, considering the wage scale of other organized territories. The scale committee forgot entirely the plight of the thousands of ill-paid boys slaving in the mines for a miserable wage, they did not demand the equalization of wages for these boys who perform work, men's work, that is fundamentally necessary in the production of coal, the scale committee, bowing to His Lowness, forgot many things.

Measures introduced by the Communists and adopted by the convention were the following: Child Labor, Labor Party, Class War Prisoners, coal to be paid for on a tonnage basis and that the existing system of paying on a car basis be done away with, time and a half for all overtime and double for Sundays and holidays, and several other of a minor nature.

ONLY under the leadership of the Communists, and fighting on the Communist program, will the lot of the anthracite miners be bettered. To continue in the future as in the past will be suicidal and to the destruction of the organization. The Communists have demonstrated to the miners of the anthracite field that they are the only element who really fight for the betterment of their conditions and for their happness generally. To the delegates to the coming convention of District 1 the Communists call upon you to support them and their program, support them in their fight against the Lewis-Cappellini machine, support them on the issues they will fight for on the convention floor.

BUILDERS AT WORK

A BUILDER WALKED INTO OUR OFFICE.

A Very Short Story.

A very anxious and enthused Communist Builder walked into the DAILY WORKER office. Eureka—he had discovered something new—something that he was sure would get more results than ever, something "so simple," he told us, "that it's a wonder no one ever thought of it before."

The truth of the matter was that others had thought of it before—often. But not often enough to repeat it, over and over until this fact stuck in every Communist Builders mind so clearly that it would make him act automatically.

The anxious and enthused Communist Builder who walked into the DAILY WORKER office proposed that the best way to "Build the DAILY WORKER was 'TO TALK ABOUT IT' in the shop, and in the trade unions where it counts most", said the comrade, "but not only there—everywhere!"

"Surely our comrades will see the value of this. In my shop when crooked trade union officials are mentioned, I join the conversation: 'Sure,' I tell them, 'the other day the DAILY WORKER showed up in Frisco . . . . . .' When China was mentioned—I got every article of Bill Dunne's 'The Enslavement of China' in my shop locker, and whenever I get a chance, I talk about the Daily. Just talk—that's all—and you know how many subs I got—".

The comrade stopped to light a cigarette and began all over.

Just imagine how much a capitalist concern would pay to have thousands of workers talking up their products. Why they'd pay millions of dollars—and they do it right now for less!

We have the best advertising medium in the world for Communism—thousands of convinced Communists!

If every one of them talked—just talked—in the 57 varieties of languages we have—we'd have thousands of Communist agitators and organizers—and our party and the DAILY WORKER would be many times their present size.

Our Communist Builder put on his hat with this closing advice:

"I got so many results that I'm going to keep it up whether anybody else does or not. But just tell the other DAILY WORKER Builders about it—will you?"

IMPERIALIST POWERS SPLIT ON SHANGHAI REPORT BY DIPLOMATIC CORPS; BRITISH WISHED SECRECY

(Special to The Daily Worker)

SHANGHAI, China, July 12.—The rivalry of various imperialist nations is splitting the unity of their front toward China and a veritable hornet's nest of bitter antagonism is caused by the publication of the secret report of the diplomatic corps on the massacre of Chinese students and workers at Shanghai.

The report places the whole blame for the killings upon the British and demands the dismissal and punishment of many British members of the municipal council and its American chairman, Fessenden.

British interests are charging that the report was prepared by French and Italian envoys in the diplomatic corps, with the malicious object of destroying British standing in Shanghai and China generally, to aid their own nationals in getting the trade and concessions.

The report not only recommends the punishment of the British involved and a reprimand for the American chairman of the Shanghai council, but authorizes the consular body at Shanghai to demand resignations of the whole municipal council if the instructions are not carreid out.

Things Begin to Happen

When the report was received in Shanghai, with the mantle of secrecy still over it, the British became violently angry and accusative toward the French and Italians. In addition, British Consul Barton cabled London demanding permanent suppression of the report.

Austen Chamberlain, British foreign minister, assented by cable, but the imperialist enemies of British imperialism had meantime got copy released thru unexplained channels and the Tokio and Paris press ran it in full.

U. S. Mixing In

It was this delicate situation which caused the American minister, J. Van A. MacMurray, to rush from Shanghai to Peking as soon as he landed at Shanghai on July 4th.

British gave as the excuse for suppressing the report, the argument that the Shanghai municipal council gets its authority from a British treaty with China, and that therefore no other nations have a right to butt in and order the municipal council, even tho composed of various nations, how to run the local affairs. The other nations are allowed share of control only by Britain's favor, is the British view.

Ruins Imperialist United Front

Whatever the formality of the report or the objections to it, its publication has effectively ruind the unity of the imperialists in holding out against the rising tide of Chinese liberation.

Already, England is circulating rumors, amounting to a threat, that an

SOCIALIST IN PLOT WITH GEN. TO ATTACK RIFF

Letter Reveals Plan To Extend Boundary

(Special to The Daily Worker)

PARIS, France, July 12.—The letter written by Vatin-Perignon, chief of the civil cabinet of Marshal Lyautey, military dictator of Morocco, to the resident general's nephew, Pierre Lyautey, which was read to the chamber of deputies by the Communist Deputy Jacques Doriot, reveals that the socialist leaders, Paul Boncour and Leon Blum conspired with Herriot, then premier, to support Lyautey's attack on the Riffians.

The letter further shows that Marshal Lyautey had been granted permission by the French government to advance north of the Ouergha River and estblish a chain of forts, although no limits had been set to the Riff-French boundary line.

The letter, which exposes the plots of Lyautey and the socialists to attack the Riffians, follows. It was printed in L'Humanite, the French Communist paper, on June 10:

Shipping Board Members Fight For Their Masters' Bids

WASHINGTON, July 9.—War broke out afresh today between the shipping board and the Emergency Fleet corporation.

The recommendations of Admiral Leigh Palmer, president of the fleet corporation, that the bid of the Boston Iron and Metal company of Baltimore for 200 surplus ships be accepted, was rejected by chairman O'Connor of the shipping board. The Baltimore company bid $1,355,000.

July 10 has been set as the new date for receiving bids.

PEASANTS OF SOVIET UNION HAVE ADVANCED THRU CO-OPERATIVES AND GOVERNMENT AID, DELEGATE SAYS

TIFLIS, —(By Mail)— The delegates to the Peasants' International from Italy, Comrades Miglioli and Massarenti, have returned to Tiflis from a visit to Kakhetia. They had taken their trip in the company of Comrade Khomeriki, a representative of the peasants' mutual aid committees of Georgia.

The delegates visited Telav, the peasant farms and cooperative organizations of the villages of Shilda, Quareli, Zinandali nd Mukuzani. At Mukuzani the delegates inspected the local experimental station.

Co-operatives Are Growing

The delegates were particularly interested in the state of agricultural and consumers' cooperation and in the vine-growing and silk production of Kakhetia.

In conversation on his impressions of Kakhetia, Comrade Miglioli said:

"Considering the circumstances of Georgia, which only 4 years ago obtained the opportunity of free development, it must be admitted that the successes of cooperation and scientific

Fisher Auto Workers in Detroit Fight Wage Cuts

By AL GOETZ, Worker Correspondent.

DETROIT, Mich., July 12.—Another wage slashing campaign that beats anything for sheer nerve and disregard of the welfare of the workers has been started by the Fisher Body corporation at their Plant 18. Recently, a series of wage cuts were announced, so drastic as to cause an entire department to go out on strike 100 per cent and has created a feeling of most bitter resentment thruout the shop.

The oil sanders who got the most drastic cut and who were the ones to go on strike received the following wage cuts: On Dodge sedans they were cut from $2.50 per car to $1.00 On the Buick sedans they were cut from $2.50 a piece to $2.00 and on the big new four door sedans with far more work on the new model than on the old, they were cut from $3.50 to $2.50 a piece.

Barefoot's Barefaced Lie

The announcements of these wage cuts Wednesday evening so angered a large department of over 100 men, that they refused to go back to work Thursday morning and they have been on strike ever since. The superintendent, Dave Barefoot, told them when they walked out that they would be paid off and none of them would be re-employed by the firm. None of of the men were fooled by this bluff and Friday morning this same superintendent was out again begging the men to return to work and try to see if they could make out on the new wage schedule. Needless to say none of the men went back.

The company had hired a new gang of men Thursday, to take the place of the old men but as no one except inexperienced men would take a job at these prices they are not making much headway. They are paying these new men 60 cents an hour for the first three days and the men on strike confidently expect that by Monday when

BRYAN SEEKS TO BAR SCIENTISTS IN SCOPES CASE

Gets Cold Feet And Would Suppress Truth

(Special to The Daily Worker)

DAYTON, Tenn., July 12.—Clarence Darrow, leading defense lawyer in the trial of John Scopes here for violating the state law against the teaching of evolution in the public schools, will fight in court tomorrow for the admission of testimony of scientists and theologians on evolution and the bible.

William Jennings Bryan and counsel for the prosecution, in spite of their announced intention of championing the story of creation told in the bible and "showing up" evolution, have made a sudden switch and are now demanding that the trial shall proceed on purely technical lines.

Today a motion of attorney general Thomas Stewart to bar testimony of scientists and confine the case to evidence as to whether or not Scopes actually taught evolution and hence violated the evolution law, will be argued.

Darrow, in a statement of Bryan's change of front, strongly hinted that Bryan is afraid of a fair trial, and said:

"The constitution of Tennessee contains one of the strongest guarantees of religious liberty among all the constitutions of the Union, and no law that would undertake to establish religion or measure conduct would have any validity in this state or any other state without first getting rid of the constitution.

"Mr. Bryans' statement about the rights of Tennessee to protect its religion is ambiguous if he means that any state has the right to pass a law which prohibits the teaching of a theory that is contrary to any religion, and he is flying in the face of every state constitution. The fact that any theory or any scientific view may be contrary to any religious idea furnished no right for a state to prohibit it. If this were true, then most of astronomy and geology would fall under the ban."

Darrow's Position Weak

Darrow and the defense attorneys have so far taken the weak position

MacMillan Takes On Eskimo Interpreter At Windy Pickle

WASHINGTON, July 12—The MacMillan Arctic expedition left Hopedale, Labrador, heading northward to Disko, Greenland, said a radio dispatch to the National Geographic Society from Commander Donald D. MacMillan.

MacMillan said that conditions outside of Cape Harnigan were excellent, altho the seabreezes were blowing ice northward.

Lieut. Commander R. E. Byrd, commanding the naval unit with the expedition, reported to the navy department that the departure from Hopedale was delayed by ice, which was closing the mouth of the harbor. He said that stop probably would be made at Windy Pickle, Labrador, to take on an Eskimo interpreter.

BRITISH PLUTES REFUSE TO AID FRENCH IN RIFF

Morrocans Have Taza Entirely Surrounded

(Special to The Daily Worker)

PARIS, Frnace, July 12.—The British government has replied to the French and Spanish notes asking the cooperation of English imperialism in the war on Morocco, definitely refusing to enter a combined attack on the Riffians, it has leaked out here.

The British capitalist have many interests in Africa, and they decline to aid the French and Spanish imperialists to make secure their African colonies.

The French war minister has decided to transfer three colonial regiments now on the Rhine to the Moroccan front, bringing French forces in Africa above 100,000. The new commander of the invaders, Gen. Stanislaus Naulin, who is expected to reach Morocco on July 18, has been ordered to immediately begin an offensive against the Riffian natives.

TALKS PEACE BUT MOVES TO ANOTHER WAR

Coolidge Maneuvers To Corner Rivals

(Special to The Daily Worker)

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 12.—Covered by fine words about desiring peace, the Coolidge administration is taking the steps that may precipitate war.

Seeing that the American imperialist interests may now with advantage champion the enforcement of the long forgotten nine-power pact made at Washington in 1921, Coolidge and Kellogg have decided that more efforts will be made to force Britain and Japan into a conference or to hold them up as violators of the pact and the principle of international concord if they do not respond.

Three Artful Proposals

One proposal is that a meeting of the nine powers to consider the "eventual" abolition of extra-territoriality rights in China, be held. Another provides that the imperialists consult and graciously give China the right to raise her customs tax from five to ten per cent. The way that the imperialists have so far kept China from having a strong central government, is their denial of any income to it from customs. Thus, because the government is weak, they insist that China requires foreign control. The third suggestion which the Coolidge administration is putting out as propaganda against Britain in the Chinese affair, is the proposal for a revision of the land leasing regulations.

The American government has gone right ahead, and named Silas Strawn of Chicago and Minister MacMurray, as delegates to the customs revision consultations.

French Allied to U. S.

France is, apparently, working with the United States in the Chinese question. And altho the Coolidge administration knows perfectly well that proposals are flatly contrary to the interests and wishes of Britain and Japan, the bland announcement is made that "The United States is sure that other nations will co-operate and the American government will, of course, act with other powers."

The similar stand is taken by Britain and Japan, particularly Japan, which in an interview quoted from Tokio, said that "Japan backs Britain in China, and is sure that the United States will also approve and support."

Sinister Moves Have Innocent Front

By asking only that the nine powers which ratified the Washington conference plans in 1921, the United States artfully uses the seemingly innocent argument that these nations merely live up to their agreements. Actually, however, it is a grave men-

FOUR METHODISTS AND SIX BAPTISTS TO TRY SCOPES; TEN FARMERS

DAYTON, Tenn., July 12.—Ten farmers, a landowner and a shipping clerk today held the fate of John T. Scopes in the anti-evolution trial.

The Scopes jury follows:

W. J. Robinson, no church, a farmer.

J. W. Bagley, Methodist, farmer.

Jim Riley, Baptist, farmer.

W. P. Taylor, Methodist, farmer

R. L. Gentry, Baptist, farmer.

Col. J. R. Thompson, Methodist, wealthy landowner.

W. D. Smith, Baptist, farmer.

Jess Goodrich, Church of Disciples, shipping clerk.

J. H. Bowman, Methodist, farmer and cabinet maker.

William G. Day, Baptist, farmer.

R. L. West, Baptist, farmer.

E. S. Wright, Baptist, farmer.

CHICAGO FEDERATION OF LABOR SCORES UNITED GARMENT SCABS; SUPPORTS AMALGAMATED STRIKE

Lodge No. 113, Tool and Die Makers, of the International Association of Machinists, has joined Lodges Nos. 199 and 390 in condemning the scabbing of the United Garment "union" on the Amalgamated Clothing Workers at the International Tailoring company's struck shops, and instructed the delegates to the Chicago Federation of Labor to demand action against this anti-union crime.

That the members of the Trade Union Education League, and the left wing generally have been stirring the protest against the United Garment scabbery, was seen in the fact that the Executive Committee of the Chicago Federation of Labor finally passed a resolution condemning the scabbery and asking Green of the A. F. of L. to investigate the use of the American Federation of Labor's name for purposes of scabbing. The resolution is as follows:

Resolution

WHEREAS, there is a strike on at the International Tailoring company and the J. L. Taylor & Co., located at Jackson Blvd. and Peoria St. (two different corporations but owned and managed by the same persons), involving about eight hundred members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers; and

WHEREAS, the International Tailoring company, along with all of the large garment manufacturing concerns, has had union shop agreements with the Amalgamated Clothing Workers for the past six years, which agreements just expired; and

WHEREAS, all the other concerns renewed their agreements for another period of three years, except the International Tailoring company and J. L. Taylor & Co. They insisted upon a reduction in wages and certain changes in working conditions that would further reduce wages, thereby creating a situation which made it impossible for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers to accept; and

Strike Justified

WHEREAS, in order to resist this reduction of wages, and in order to protect the standards of wages and working conditions enjoyed by the thousands of members employed by the concerns who renewed their agreements, the Amalgamated Clothing

ANTI-FASCIST MEET STIRS PHILLY COPS

But Audience Sided With Speakers

(Special to The Daily Worker)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 12.—Almost a thousand workers packed the Public Hall to pay honor to the memory of Giacomo Matteotti, and voice a vigorous protest and denunciation of his murderers personified in the Mussolini fascisti government.

The police made several attempts to break up the meeting but only succeeded in arousing the wrath and enthusiasm of the audience.

The great response of the workers to this united front demonstration is partly due to a leaflet issued by the local fascisti group denouncing the meeting and the organizations and speakers participating in it. The meeting was arranged under joint auspices of the Workers Party, Young Workers League The Artisan society, Local 1050 of the Carpenters Union, Local 139 of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers and the Shoe Workers protective.

At least 50 police, uniformed and otherwise, were present at the meeting, directed by several captains, chiefs sergeants, etc. It semed the entire police department was sent

RED SOLDIERS PUNISHED FOR ASKING LIBERTY

Mail Held Up; Can Speak to No One

(Special to The Daily Worker)

FORT SHAFTER GUARD HOUSE, Honolulu, Hawaii, July 12.—Paul Crouch and Walter Trumbull, Communist soldiers who have been sentenced to three years and one year in federal prison for their Communist views, are being punished because their lawyers instituted habeas corpus proceedings in the civil courts here.

Trumbull and Crouch are held incommunicado. They are not allowed to speak to each other or anyone else, not even their attorneys.

Their mail has been withheld from them. Books and papers sent to them have not been delivered.

Petitions Are Filed

Crouch and Trumbull were to have been removed from Hawaii to the military prison at Alcatraz, California, on July 26, but the last heard from them they were being held there pending the outcome of the habeas corpus proceedings.

The attorney for the Communist soldiers, Fred Patterson, served on U. S. attorney Charles Parsons two petitions for writs of habeas corpus, which were filed with the clerk of the federal court. The petitions stated, "Your petitioners are not imprisoned, restrained or deprived of their liberties under any process, judgment or decree of any competent court or tribunal of civil or criminal jurisdiction."

Detention Unconstitutional

"Said judgments are matters over which the general courts martial have no jurisdiction. The trials of said causes were not carried out in accordance with the rules and regulations prescribed for general courts martial by the military authorities of the United States. On the said trials, the said courts acted without due regard to the rights of your petitioners. The detention of your petitioners is illegal and without authority or justification of the law and is in violation of the constitution of the United States."

PARIS SUBURB TO HAVE COMMUNIST CELEBRATION ON TUESDAY, INSTEAD OF THE USUAL NATIONAL HOLIDAY

PARIS, July 12.—The usual celebration of Bastile Day, the national holiday, will be omitted next Tuesday in Malakoff, a Paris suburb, governed by a Communist mayor and a Communist council.

Instead, Malakoff will celebrate the proletarian victory as the chief significance attached to the French revolution and Marcel Cachin, Communist member of the chamber of deputies will address the townspeople.

Already, in anticipation of the proletarian celebration, Malakoff is draped with Red flags, and photographs of Lenin, the Russian proletarian leader, festooned and garlanded, everywhere occupy places of honor

BRITISH UNIONS LED BY MINERS, MAY TIE UP WHOLE NATION IN A FIGHT AGAINST BOSSES' ATTACK

LONDON, July 12.—A general tie-up of the British coal industry appeared imminent today, perhaps beginning on July 31.

The government's mediator, W. C. Bridgeman, has failed to bring about a resumption of negotiations between the miners and operators, and this was followed by the announcement that the Trade Union Congress will support the miners in their opposition to wage cut and longer hours.

All hope has not yet been abandoned, but the outlook is dismal for British capital. If the breakdown leads to a strike, there is grave danger it may become general with a resulting complete tie-up of Britain's commercial and industrial life.

PAUL CROUCH, COMMUNIST SOLDIER, REVEALS TORTURING OF MILITARY PRISONERS BY U. S. GOVERNMENT

By PAUL CROUCH

HONOLULU, Hawaii, Fort Shafter Guard House, (By Mail)—Army officers who have retained their instincts of justice, and almost the entire personel of enlisted men, are aroused against the present autocratic and unjust system that exists in the American army.

"Crouch and Trumbull are making a lot of trouble for military authorities, but I don't blame them. Their sentences were intended to bully the soldiers." This statement was made by a captain at Fort Shafter.

Officers Mistreat Soldiers

The sentences of Comrade Walter M. Trumbull and the writer, tho they have received considerable publicity, are not exceptions to the policy of military authorities regarding soldiers who dare think for themselves. Hundreds of men guilty of no crime are enslaved and tortured in disciplinary barracks and penitentiaries. The punishment inflicted by courts martial for trivial offenses is so great that many victims are driven to desperation.

It is almost impossible to bring an officer to account for crimes against soldiers. In a recent trial at Schofield Barracks, an officer, who stuck a prisoner in the back with his sword, was found "not guilty" by a court martial after only five minutes consideration.

Prisoners At Officers' Mercy

For the purpose of being shown to "investigators," prison regulations are prepared which state that prisoners are to be worked about seven and a half hours daily, are to receive all mail (except that money is to be kept in the hands of the prison officer) that they are to have reading matter, etc.

In reality, the prison officer is the law and prisoners are at his mercy. As an example, at the 35th Infantry guard house, no reading matter is permitted. Newspapers intended for prisoners are opened, read and destroyed by authorities.

Prison Tortures

Men in the guard house not only work during the day but also for two hours after supper. When they protested against this abuse, the Colonel told them that if they refused to work after supper he would force them to work without shoes and force them to sleep without matresses and blankets.

A prisoner in the 11th Field Artillery guard-house was placed in solitary confinement, given only bread and water, and was forced to sleep on the stone floor with no protection from mosquitos. When he protested to the regimental adjutant, the officer remarked: "I am sorry there are no rats to eat you."

Another Communist Prisoner

A typical case of army brutality is that of Richard Agnelli, sentenced to two years imprisonment at hard labor. The charges against him were that after being deprived of his dinner, he refused to work without eating and when ordered to do so, said: "To hell with the god damned officers and the god damned army."

Agnelli, who is a Communist, wishes to hear from his brother, Paul, an agent for the Daily Worker, Novy Mir, and other Communist publications. Mail for him should be sent in care of his wife, Mrs. R. J. Agnelli, 1133 Kamehameha IV Road, Honolulu, Hawaii.

Efforts are being made by Maj.-General Smith to have the stockade at Schofield Barracks reopened and prisoners sent there instead of to the mainland. To the soldiers in Hawaii, the Schofield stockade is a synonym of hell. Before it was closed, a few years ago, the brutalities perpetrated within its grim walls could be equaled only by going back to the days of the Inquisition.

The cruelty of Capt. Hall, the prison officer, would have put Nero to shame. Hall felt secure as he had the support of Gen. Kuhn, then commanding the Hawaiian division. Prisoners were forced to work long hours at the rock pile, using a heavy hammer with a nocked handle so as to cut the hands. They were marched to and from work at double time, forced to stand at attention from supper until bed time, and to get up at four o'clock in the morning.

When a prisoner fainted at work, a bucket of cold water was thrown in his face and when he regained consciousness he had to pick up the heavy hammer and continue with his labor. For those driven to desperation who refused to work under such cruel conditions, a much worse fate was in store. They were sprayed with formaldehyde. One man died as a result of burns from it. Three others lost their sight.

After these conditions had existed for a long time, details reached the war department. This was too much for those accustomed to the milder form of military autocracy found on the mainland. An investigation was held and the stockade closed.

The only punishment for Kuhn was a transfer and a slight reduction in rank. Capt. Hall is said to have been killed by one of his former victims after his return to the mainland.

Rewarded For Murders

I believe that a commander in the Red Army guilty of such crimes as those sanctioned by Gen. Kuhn could hope for nothing better than life imprisonment. But an army under the capitalist system is different, and Kuhn is now in command of the First Corps Area of the U. S. Army.

Officers who do not like the present brutal system are forced to keep silent. Most of them have been educated along lines useful only for military purposes and if they were "fired" from the service, would find it difficult to earn as much as they receive at present. Many officers would find it difficult to compete with enlisted men in civilian life. The army officer is a product of capitalist imperialism.

Soldiers When "Free" In Same Fix

Altho the examples given above describe the prison life of the soldier, his treatment when free is but little better. In fact, many soldiers say life in the guard house is even better than when "on duty" in the service.

The American military autocracy has gone so far in its brutal treatment of the enlisted men that they are turning to Communism for freedom from mental and physical slavery. Military authorities are greatly alarmed by the rapidly growing support of Communist ideals among the soldiers.

CAFE WORKERS ON STRIKE IN W. AUSTRALIA

General Walkout Of Perth Hotel Employes

PERTH (Western Austrialia).—(F. P.).—Hotel, restaurant and tea-room employees, barmaids and barmen, and brewery employees are out on strike. All cafes and hotels are closed, and the breweries have ceased supplying liquor. The strike arose over the question of union labor in cafes.

The Hotel, Restaurant, Club, Caterers and Tearoom Employees' Union demanded, under the preference to unionists clause, that persons engaged must become unionists within a fortnight, while the employers held that it was sufficient if the empolyee made formal application for membership in the union, irrespective of whether he was accepted as a member or not.

The cafe workers came out in a body, and were followed by the barmaids, barmen, and brewery employees. Several attempts to settle the strike have failed.

Tell other workers what happens in your shop. Write a story and send it to the DAILY WORKER. Order a bundle to distribute there.

CHICAGO FEDERATION OF LABOR SCORES UNITED GARMENT SCABS; SUPPORTS THE AMALGAMATED STRIKE

Workers were left no other recourse but to strike; and

WHEREAS, the Chicago Federation of Labor, some fifteen years ago, in conjunction with the Women's Trade Union League, organized the garment industry of Chicago and after a strike lasting five months and in which the Federation and League collected upwards of seventy thousand dollars to sustain the strikers and finally coming out of the strike with an agreement covering some ten thousand members whom we organized under the United Garment Workers of America; and

U. G. W. Disfranchised Members

WHEREAS, the United Garment Workers made it impossible for these thousands of workers, and twice as many thousands who came in later, to remain with the Garment Workers at each recurring convention of the Garment Workers; the laws were construed so as to disbar representatives of these groups until finally, through no choice of theirs, and in order to remain organized, they were compelled to form the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America; and

WHEREAS, since the inauguration of the Amalgamated they have maintained a strictly trade union organization with skill and ability and have practically succeeded in organizing the special order and ready made clothing industry of America, and no organization has been more willing to co-operate morally and financially in the strikes and difficulties of the general labor movement; and

Use A. F. of L. to Hide Behind

WHEREAS, in the present strike we find the deplorable condition, no matter what the pretext, of the United Garment Workers trying to fill the places of the men and women on strike, and further we find the International Tailoring company advertising in the daily newspapers, using the name of the United Garment Workers and the American Federation of Labor in an effort to induce men and women to take the places of those on strike; and

WHEREAS, the executive board of this federation has no desire and will not inject themselves into any controversy between employers and employees unless first requested to do so by the employees, and certainly would not inject themselves into this matter without having reached the conclusion that the very foundation and the very fundamental practices of the labor movement were being uprooted and in jeopardy: therefore be it

Not Responsible

RESOLVED, that we disclaim any responsibility or atuhority in the action of the United Garment Workers in this strike; and be it further

RESOLVED, that inasmuch as the name of the American Federation of Labor is being used publicly to make it appear that there is no labor difficulty in this situation, that we call upon President Green to investigate the manner in which the name of the American Federation of Labor is being used in this instance; and be it further

RESOLVED, that every effort possible should be exerted to the end that the Amalgamated Clothing Workers be brought within the fold of the American Federation of Labor; we feel that this can be accomplished without injuring in any way any organization now affiliated with the A. F. of L. and we request and urge the president and executive council to take such action as will within their judgment be most practical to obtain the desired results.

EXECUTIVE BOARD CHICAGO FEDERATION OF LABOR.

(Signed) John Fitzpatrick, Pres.;
E. N. Nockels, Secretary.

At Local 113, Tool and Die Makers, a member of the left wing made the following motion, which carried:

"I move that the delegates to the Chicago Federation of Labor be instructed to request the Chicago Federation of Labor to condemn the action of the United Garment Workers in scabbing on the Amalgamated Clothing Workers who are on strike."

Reports state that the Federation passed the resolution as a reply to the formal complaint sent Fitzpatrick by the Amalgamated Joint Board of Chicago on July 1st.

Saturday was a busy day, as usual, for the pickets and for their enemies the scabs, tho the latter were so few that great rivalry developed among the strikers to see who could get at a scab first.

Scab Missed Teeth

Somewhere between her scabby home and her scabby job, a scab lost her teeth Saturday morning, and altho accompanied by a few cops and a private slugger she rode around the block in an auto for an hour or so, looking for two girl strikers she thot might have found her teeth. She was unsuccessful, and so drove off to get some new ones from the dentists.

The St. Louis strikers are taking part in the picketing, singing some songs they cooked up in that city and wearing their buttons "Curlee—We Are Out to Win!" Their enthusiasm was good but not altogether necessary, since the Chicago strikers don't need any inspiration or prodding. Their spirit is high and full of fight and they expect the Amalgamated union to win by their solidarity. The union has reported arrangement for financial relief.

Five Arrests

Picketing was carried on Saturday until 2 p. m., then only a small committee was left to make sure that if there were any scabs left to sneak out, there would be someone left to welcome them. There was some doubt expressed if there were any scabs left. Five pickets were arrested Saturday, among them Mary Despensa and Dominick Convera.

"Bill" Bryan Seeks to Bar Scientists From Scopes Case that the theory of evolution does not conflict with the fairy stories told in the bible, of the world's miraculous creation.

Bryan, after parading in a pith helmet to the accompaniment of a brass band on his arrival, released some of his typical bold sounding "thunder," to the effect that science and the bible are directly in conflict and that the teaching of science must go. To this Darrow answered that the defense would endeavor to show that the theory of evolution and christianity do not conflict thus taking a typical liberal "class collaboration" policy.

The defense, of course, is contesting the constitutionality of the law as a denial of the rights of free speech.

Stewart declared, "The state will insist as vigorously as it is possible to do so that evidence by scientists or bible students with reference to whether the theory of evolution as taught by science conflicts with the story of man's creation, is absolutely incompetent in this case."

It is the claim of local business men that there is no chapter of the ku klux klan in Dayton. But this is a strongly masonic community with more than one hundred thirty-second degree men in this town of 1700.

Jury of Moss-Backs

A total of 400,000 words have been wired from Dayton all over the world on the proceeding of the trial before Judge Thomas Rauleston.

The jury is made up of conservative, religious farmers, including three methodists, eight baptists, and one disciple. One of the jurors, Capt. J. R. Thompson, a rich berry growing plantation owner, is the only juror who admitted he does not attend church.

Japanese "Big Biz" Well Schooled in Bandit Lore of World Imperialism

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL

TODAY, the Japanese pour out their grievances against American capitalism thru the medium of the Institute of Pacific Relations ending its meeting at Honolulu, Hawaii. The delegation at the Institute for all purposes is official in its character and is in constant touch with the government at Tokio. It is the only delegation that occupies this position.

• • • •

The Japs want it understood that they are not so much troubled by the exclusion act passed by congress a year ago. They claim this is not the real issue that is fomenting strife between the two countries.

The actual stake is the place of capitalist Japan among the other great capitalist nations, notably the United States, "whatever the Japanese nation stands on an equal footing with western powers or is to be denied fellowship and driven back upon a purely oriental policy and theater of operation," in the words of Yusuke Tsurumi, semi-official spokesman of Japan.

• • • •

Tokio has ambitions for world empire and world domination, just as much as Washington. The Japs at the Honolulu conference urge a gentlemen's agreement for the plundering of the world, declaring that if this is not granted the Japs, it will give strength to a new party rising in Nippon that will resort to the sword to win its rightful place in the sun, as it believes.

The Japs give thanks to the United States for having opened it to capitalist "civilization" eighty years ago, in 1846, and not only introducing steam engines, telephones, parliamentarism and laboratories, but also armaments. After three centuries of peace, the Japs now boast of having won three international wars during the last half century, giving her, as she feels, not only supremacy in the Orient but also the right to a big place in world capitalist councils. Here, for instance, is one of the questions that the Japanese are asking:

> "What is the moral difference between the policy of America's extending her dominion over the Caribbean, protecting her capitalists and Latin-American investments, and the policy of Japan in widening her sphere of empire in Asia and supporting her capitalists in their forward-looking enterprises?"

• • • •

It seems that the Japanese plutocracy has learned too well. It realizes to the full and admits what the "democratic" statesmen of the United States try to hide, that the capitalist state is but an instrument in the hands of the imperialist oppressors.

The Japs feel that they have a primary right to the Orient as their sphere of influence, believing that the United States should confine itself to its own western hemisphere. But when the American fleet left Chinese waters and sailed down into Manila Bay, in 1898, and won the first battle of the Spanish-American War, not in West Indian waters, but in the far-off Philippines, the war clouds sailing the stars and stripes began to loom on Japan's horizon. And they have been coming closer ever since.

• • • •

The pacifists gathered in the Honolulu talkfest were bluntly told that "there is a large and powerful party in Japan that confidently expects the United States to challenge Japan's economic advance on the mainland of Asia as a hostile move," and that means war.

There is only one power in the United States and Japan that can halt the inevitable slaughter, and that is the joint power of the workers and poor farmers of these two countries. Against the imperialist rivalries of both countries there must rise the irresistible solidarity of the toiling masses of both countries, rising in both countries to displace the contending capitalist dictatorships with their own co-operating Proletarian Dictatorships. There is room for but one flag in the Pacific, as in all the other oceans over the earth. That is the Red Flag of Communism.

FISHER AUTO BODY WORKERS IN DETROIT FIGHT WAGE CUTS

the three days are up the men now taking their places will quit due to their inability to make more than $1 or $2 a day on the new piece rates.

On the old rates the men made from $5 to $8 a day according to the kind of work and the amount of it. From now on with the hardest kind of work, even the most capable men will not be able to make more than $4 or $5 a day.

Once Got Twice As Much

In 1918, '19, and '20 when the Auto Workers Union of Detroit had a strong organization most of these workers received exactly twice as much for about half as much work as they are now doing. In those days instead of the oil sanding process now in use, the bodies were rubbed by varnish rubbers with pumice stone and water. The work was much easier than the present rubbing with the oil sand paper but the men received $9 for three cars.

Now that the work is far more strenuous than before, because the workers have no organisation to protect them and fight for them they are turning out 15 cars for $9.37.

Five Times the Work for the Money

In other words they are turning out five times as much work for the same amount of money, one man now doing the work that he and four other men used to do, thereby increasing unemployment and laying the foundation of present and future wage cuts.

During the days when this industry was organised the workers received from $10 to $15 a day and today with a far higher rate of production they are lucky if they can earn $6 or $7. What this means to these men and their families is easy to be seen. They are simply using up the men as quickly as they can get them.

Killing Pace

The strain of the work is so great that no man can stand it for any length of time and the workers are constantly coming and going. The company seems to be aware of this and they are careful to hire none but young workers as an older workers cannot keep up the killing pace that must be maintained if he is to "cut the buck" and make enuf to keep himself and his family alive.

Besides the oil sanders, the sprayers, doorhangers, panelmen and cusion makers were also cut. In almost every case the cuts amounted to from 10 to 20 per cent of the wages and means a decrease of about 75c to $1 a day when the men are only making $6 or $7 at the most.

Men Expected to Unionize

The Auto Workers' Union Local 127 has been carrying on a campaign in front of the various shop gates for the last two months. So far most of the strikers are not yet organized. But if the company keeps up this reckless campaign of wage-slashing long enuf, the men will be forced to organize themselves in self protection and instead of this or that department going out alone they will strike as a body and the boss will have to treat with them if he wants his orders filled.

The workers are beginning to realize this and many of the strikers are expressing themselves in favor of organisation. They recognize their helplessness in the present isolation and they feel confident that the other departments will follow them as soon as the cuts in the other departments are definitely made known.

Men Asked to Join Union

The organization campaign of the Auto Workers Union Local 127 is bearing fruit. Noonday factory meetings before the Fisher Body plants receive a greater response than ever before. Local 127 will redouble its efforts to bring the message of organization to the workers engaged in the auto industry in Detroit. Open meetings of the Auto Workers Union are held every Friday evening at 55 Adelaide St. All auto workers are invited to attend these open meetings.

NO WAGE RAISE AND NO STRIKE, SAID COMMISSION

Expected Swindle And Got It, Say Workers

NEW YORK CITY, July 12—The report of the governor's advisory commission in the cloak, suit and skirt industry, given Friday to representatives—Hillquit and the Sigman gang—of the union and the jobbers and manufacturers, turned out, as expected by all left wing workers in the International Ladies' Garmnet Workers' Union—to be a swindle. There are nine points, and nowhere is there any indication that the commission recognizes the demands of the workers or their needs as superior to all other factors in the industry.

Besides the many other issues in which the interests of the workers and their union organization is ignored, the announcement by Chairman George Gordon Battle, that the commission "does not find it practicable to propose any change at this time" in the wage scale, was just the kind of hokum that the garment workers expected, since the Sigman gang have openly betrayed the demands of the I. L. G. W. membership to the commission and both have worked in concert to deprive the workers of their needs and influence the membership of the union in an effort to break the force of the left wing fight led by Locals 2, 9 and 22.

The report will be published in the DAILY WORKER tomorrow.

STRIKE IN HARD COAL REGION IS LOOMING STRONG

Operators and Lewis Confer at Beach

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 13—With their joint session adjourned until Tuesday, operators and miners' representatives debating the wage issue which threatens a nation-wide anthracite coal strike Sept. 1 were as far apart today as they were when the deliberations were started last Thursday.

The situation was:

1.—John L. Lewis, International president of the United Mine Workers, declared that Friday's conference "did not change the opinions formed by the miners." (The miners had expressed themselves as believing ther would be a suspension of work August 31, when the wage contracts expire.)

2.—The operators asserted that if wages were advanced the cost of coal would go up; that the public is "tired of high coal prices" and want the price to go down; that they "are so poor they can't afford to pay the hard coal miners more money because of the competition the anthracite mines are getting from the manufacturers of oils, coke and electricity."

The miners have put twelve demands up to the operators, the principal demand being for an increase of wages of 10 per cent for anthracite miners and $1 a day for other classes of labor.

Most of the poverty stricken operators left for their palatial summer homes to be gone Sunday and Monday. Lewis remained here, at one of the nation's finest beaches. He said he would have no statements to make over the week-end. The miners—they, of course, are still in the little coal camps neither in palaces or fine hotels—but shacks unfit for habitation.

Of course, if they work they can go underground and risk their lives in hard labor below the surface.

Revamped Brokerage Concern Reopens Today; Bankers Aid

The reorganization of the brokerage house of Dean, Onativia and Co., which was placed in receivership ten days ago with liabilities of thirty six million dollars, has been completed, with the help of Chicago and New York bankers. The company will reopen its doors today.

WOES WROUGHT BY CALIFORNIA LABOR TRAITORS

Organization is Sundered By Dissensions

LOS ANGELES, July 12—The many flaws in the American Federation of Labor of California are becoming fissures likely to disintegrate the organization. Dissensions are pronounced. Building trades revolt against Central Labor Councils and painters' unions secede from Building Trades Councils. When reverse action follows, wider breaches result.

San Bernardino and Los Angeles.

Two months ago painters, decorators and paper hangers of San Bernardino and Riverside counties broke away from the Building Trades Council. Their independence is now practically complete. Wm. McCook led the secession.

In Los Angeles the Building Trades Council is an organization apart from the Central Labor Council. L. M. Lipsett heads it and is determined to keep it as far from the main council as possible. The central regards the Building Trades as an insurgent body whose purpose is to undermine the central.

The Building Trades Council publishes the Southern California Labor Press in opposition to the Citizen, organ of the Central Labor Council. Competition between the two papers is not only as keen as a razor blade but also as poisonous as a snake's fangs.

Strife Founded in Perfidy.

Seed from which the contentions are growing was sown when the I. W. W. order was outlawed by the California legislature. The A. F. of L. was behind the legislative action. Capitalists took the "credit" which was due the A. F. of L. If the latter had not approved, there would have been no law against the I. W. W.

The animus was jealously blind and unscrupulous. When membership in the California I. W. W. numbered 40,000, as compared with 100,000 in the A. F. of L., the big organization decided to knife the smaller. It was as Rome against Carthage, war to the death.

A. F. of L. Officialdom and Times United.

Forgetting its own experience with the A. F. of L., the Times approved the outlawing of the I. W. W. by the A. F. of L. It would have approved the outlawing of the A. F. of L. by the I. W. W. also. But opportunity united the Times and the A. F. of L. at the time and there has been little animosity between them since.

The Times is nonunion thruout. Furthermore, it operates a school for training nonunion printers, linotypers, etc. But the A. F. of L. does nothing about it. Why? Because the Times washed it in the blood of the I. W. W. and made it white as driven snow. Yet, if the I. W. W. was guilty of the outrages charged to it and the A. F. of L. had ot account only for the blowing up the Times, the I. W. W. could march into heaven 40 abreast while the A. F. of L. could not [illegible] one of its membership in. So, is it not edifying to see Times and A. F. of L. doing business at the same old stand while the I. W. W. is scattered over the face of the earth?

California Workers in Jeopardy.

The Times and A. F. of L. are at peace, with the vantage ground held by the former. In San Diego the Labor Leader, organ of the A. F. of L., exchanges advertisements with the Union, capitalist organ, owned by John D. Spreckels, showing harmonious relations. The A. F. of L. Labor Journal of San Bernardino gets along well with the Better America Federation servant, the Sun. There is peace everywhere between the A. F. of L. and the capitalists in California.

But there is war within the A. F. of L. That makes a serious outlook for the workers. As the A. F. of L. is the only labor organization left in the state, if it disintegrates, the working class will be face to face with peonage. The workers may be reduced from wage slavery with hops to hopeless wage slavery.

Chance for Redemption.

Any organization is better than none. This is well known to the social vultures, led by the Times, who now see an opportunity to completely disrupt organized labor and batten on the strewn remnants at their leisure.

Betrayal of the I. W. W. set up the conditions afflicting the A. F. of L. Treason is now being reaped, making the labor fakers cling to capitalists for safety. But in treason there is no safety.

Workers can save their organization by washing corruption out of it and injecting moral courage itno it. The new blood of the Workers Party can perform the feat.—Frapiesa.

Worker Correspondents Meet Tuesday

NEW YORK CITY.—The New York class in communist journalism will meet again Tuesday, July 14, at 8 o'clock at 108 East 14th street. Every worker who would like to become a DAILY WORKER correspondent will find it worth while to join this class at once. The text books have now come.

WITH THE YOUNG WORKERS

CONDUCTED - BY THE YOUNG WORKERS LEAGUE

Y. W. L. Holds Membership Meeting

THE membership meeting of the Young Workers League, Local Chicago, held Friday, July 10, at the Greek Hall, demonstrated that the Chicago league will carry on greater activities than ever before during the summer months.

Not only were plans laid for more intensive activities, but the activities will be launched and the Chicago league will show its strength by carrying on three important campaigns at once.

This membership meeting was called by the City Executive Committee especially to deal with these three important campaigns which are being started immediately, and the members responded enthusiastically to the call for volunteers to distribute anti-militarist leaflets, to get subscriptions for the Young Worker, and to carry on a huge campaign in the printing industry, the goal of which will be the organization of nuclei in the biggest printing plants in the city.

Anti-Militarist Activities.

In reporting on the campaign against the citizen's military training camps, as well as against all capitalist militarism, Comrade Gilbert Greenberg reported that the Chicago league would distribute 30,000 leaflets against the citizens' military training camps, all of which will be disposed of at the factories.

How They Will Be Distributed.

They will be distributed at the biggest plants in the city, and especially those plants which send young workers to the camps will be covered.

Branch No. 1 will distribute 4,000 leaflets, Branch No. 2 will distribute 4,00; Branch No. 3, 3,000; Branch No. 4, 7,000; Branch No. 5, 4,000, and Branch No. 6, 3,000. Besides this squads will be organized on a city scale to cover two of the biggest plants in the city.

The Printing Industry Campaign.

Comrade John Harvey, reporting on the preparation that had been made for a campaign in the printing industry, told of the importance of conducting a campaign in this industry in Chicago.

Chicago is the center of the printing industry, which is one of the biggest industries in the country. Out of the 35,000 workers employed in the industry here, a large percentage are young workers, as it is greatly by employing thousands of young workers and a big percentage of helpers in comparison to the skilled bindery workers and printing, that the employers in Chicago have been to put the industry here so much on an open shop basis.

Different From Other Campaigns.

Comrade Harvey pointed out that there were many live issues on which we will fight in our campaign in the printing industry. The rotten conditions in the big open shops, the large number of unorganized young workers who work side by side with the union workers, the difficulty to get into the craft unions, the open shop apprecenticeship schools, and many other issues vital to all young workers in the industry will be touched upon.

This campaign will be conducted much differently from the campaign in the mail order industry. It will be less of a journalistic and more of an organizational campaign, and while there will be plenty of interesting articles on conditions in the industry and stories on the various shops, the success of the campaign will be judged not by the number of papers we sell, but by the extent we are able to crystalize our activities into concrete shop nucleus results.

Will Last Seven Weeks.

The campaign will last seven weeks, and instead of having all of the articles in one issue of the Young Worker as in the mail order house campaign, the league will tackle one shop at a time, concentrating all of its forces at this shop three days of one week, when they will start on another factory, and the work of keeping up the campaign will be left to the area branch in whose territory the plant is located.

This will not only make it possible to accomplish more at each shop, but will make it easy for the branches to continue the campaign there, as during the whole seven weeks there will be much interesting material in the Young Worker, which the young workers in these shops will want to read even when there is no special story about their shop in that special issue.

The seventh week at the end of the campaign, there will be a special issue of the Young Worker which will be sold at all of the plants and will be the wind-up of the most intensive part of the campaign tho far from the end for the branches, which will keep on going to the shop in their territory to see that organizational results are realized or to help the nucleus already organized.

Many Comrades Volunteer.

More than 60 comrades volunteered to go to the factories during the printing industry campaign, and in this way registered their enthusiasm and showed that the Chicago league could make this campaign a success. Comrades also volunteered to go to the factories at noon when there will be more time to speak to the young workers to get names, and when street meetings will be held.

This is the biggest number of volunteers that the Chicago league has had for any campaign, and coming right after an appeal for volunteers for the distributions of the anti-militarist leaflets, it showed plainly that the Chicago league had the forces to carry on intensive activities in several fields at once.

A Red Week For the Young Worker.

When Comrade Natalie Gomez reported on the preparations that had been made for a big subscription drive, which would start on Sunday, July 19, when the comrades will canvass the lists of subscribers for the DAILY WORKER and the language press in Chicago, as well as the Workers Monthly and readers of the other radical press, it looked as if the Chicago league was going to be able to get enough subs to fill its quota in the Red Star Subscription Drive before the national convention. With the help of the lsits which have been prepared, the members will be able to canvass for subs without spending hours in visiting homes where they will not be listened to.

The drive for subs will not only be on this Red Sunday, but will continue thruout the whole week, and as there is a large list of names the comrades expect to get many subs both for the Young Worker and the Young Comrade.

Prizes Will Be Given.

Prizes have been arranged for those comrades getting five, ten, fifteen and twenty subscriptions, and as these are especially attractive prizes, the comrades will try their best to win them.

After Comrade Gomez finished her report, there were many challenges from comrades and branches who felt sure they could beat the other in getting subs. Branch No. 4 challenged Branch No. 1 to get 75 subs; Branch No. 5 challenged No. 6 to 60 subs, and No. 2 challenged No. 3 to 25 subscriptions.

Individual comrades who challenged each other in getting subs are:

Twenty-five Workers' Societies Combine For Big Picnic July 26th

NEW YORK, July 12.—Twenty-five of the Hungarian Workers Societies are arranging a combined picnic for the workers of the state of New Jersey on Sunday, July 26, at the Fedak Farm, near New Brunswick.

A rich program has been arranged which will include music, dancing, a contest of three singing societies, a football match, athletics, a march of the children's group of Perth Amboy, wrestling and two attraction numbers. Hungarian goulash, cold eats, and drinks. Amateur play by the Elore Dramatic Society of New York for the benefit of the UJ ELORE.

To get to picnic from New York take train to New Brunswick. From there the Middlesex car or the Fast Line. Car stops near Fadek Farm. From Carteret, Newark and Elizabeth the Fast Line stops at Bonehomptown.

Admission 50c in advance, 60c at the gates. Gates will open at 9 a. m.

WHITE GUARD ASSASSIN TRIES TO KILL CANTON GOVERNOR; GETS KILLED

CANTON, July 12.—Wu Hon-Min, civil governor of Canton in the government recently formed and Heu Sung-Chi, minister of war in the same cabinet, are reported to have been wounded by an assassin, who was killed by their bodyguard. The assassin, it was said, was recognized as an ex-officer.

French Bankers Guilty

During the debate on the granting of the Moroccan credits the Communist deputy, Cachine, declared that France was guilty of all the bloodshed in Morocco, and that Abd-el-Krim was fighting for the application of Wilson's doctrine of self determination of all peoples.

Deputies of the right parties demanded that the government "put all Communists in prison for treason."

Painleve declared he would "deal iwth the Communists as far as the law allows." He added he would "keep the tri-color flying over Morocco in defense of the sovereignty of the sultan and civilization."

That Painleve is 'keeping the tricolor flying,' in defense of the French bankers is further shown in the fact that the Spanish millionaire Horace Echeyarietta, and other capitalists were entrusted with the mission of delivering the French-Spanish "peace terms" to Krim. It is known that these terms will not be accepted, as Krim is ordered to accept a Spanish protectorate, which he has refused to do.

Fresh Credits Won't Help Much.

PARIS, July 12.—Supported by a fresh credit of 183,000,000 francs and the assurance that French and Spanish conferees had reached an accord in Madrid, the Painleve government which a few days ago placed a new commander over the French Moroccan troops was today preparing for a campaign of renewed intensity against Abd-el-Krim and his Riffian tribesmen.

But the terms of the agreement are not wholly reassuring. Already official Paris is convinced that Abd-el-Krim, flushed by his successes in withstanding the assaults of the world's foremost military power, will ask for beterr terms than those proposed at Madrid.

Abd-el-Krim is expected to refuse the joint French-Spanish proffer of Riffian autonomy under a Spanish protectorate. If he renews his old proposal to accept autonomy under a French protectorate, he will seriously embarrass the Madrid accord for the rebellious Riff territory is under Spain.

Communists Stress "14 Points."

Not the least of the embarrassments here at home is the revival by the French Communists of the late President Wilson's fourteen points with their stress upon "self-determination of small peoples." That is a phrase which has bothered the chancelleries of Europe ever since its author first pronounced it. French Communists are using it today to the discomfiture of those who are responsible for the Riff campaign.

Spain is undertaking new negotiations with the Riffs according to the Midi which today said: "Gen. Primo de Rivera has summoned Dr. Echevarrieta, requesting him to return to Adjir, accompanying a representative of the French government for the purpose of engaging in new peace negotiations with Abd-el-Krim on the basis of conditions laid down in the Madrid conference."

PHILADELPHIA JUNIORS ORGANIZE WORKERS' HEATER ALLIANCE

By SAMUEL WEINBERG.

After a wonderful success they made last season in presenting a two-act play named "School Days" impersonating our Juniors in action, some of our party members have taken the initiative and organized The Workers Theater Alliance.

Our object is to reach all those who are willing to contribute their talents and enable us to embrace the various branches of art in one organization that will be used to spread education among workers.

If you are interested in this work to help build the revolutionary movement no matter whether you are a member of the Workers Party or not, you can join the Workers Theater Alliance.

The DAILY WORKER begins the first American serial publication of the official report of the British Trade Unions—AT A TIME WHEN SPECIAL PRICES ARE BEING OFFERED.

WM. F. DUNNE

Editor of the DAILY WORKER, in his article on this great document in the May issue of the Workers Monthly says:

The British Trade Union Delegation to Soviet Russia in a unanimous report has told the story of the Russian Revolution in language that trade unionists can understand.

It is wonderful in its dignified British fashion unhurried, careful, restrained, documented and beautifully dispassionate....

It is a great story, told in matter-of-fact language, the story of millions of workers and peasants marching towards Communism over all obstacles; it is history hot with the breath of the struggle in the style of a convention-report....

Revolutionary Russian and stubborn, Slow-moving Briton both call to the American worker from the pages of the British delegation's report.

JIM CROWISM IN WASHINGTON, CLOSES BEACHES

Negro Labor Congress To Discuss Equality

The American Negro Labor Congress, 19 S. Lincoln St., Chicago, has received a letter from Washington on the bathing beach situation. It seems that some people in Washington would rather go without baths than to bathe where the other people bathe.

The Chicago Defender says: "Citizens in the nation's capital must go without bathing facilities for at least another year, it has been decided by congress. Representative Madden of the first congressional district of Illinois, chairman of the house committee of appropriations, has declared himself against establishing separate beaches for the two races in Washington.

"So representatives and their friends in the city have opposed the one mixed beach and that was closed. Segregation and Jim Crowism will be one of the main subjects for discussion at the American Negro Labor Congress which will be held in Chicago, October 25."

NATIONAL DEFENSE CONFERENCE HELD IN CHICAGO ON JUNE 28th UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTS RESOLUTIONS

The resolutions printed herewith were unanimously passed by the more than one hundred delegates present at the National Conference for Labor Defense, held in Ashland Auditorium, Chicago, June 28. These represented workers' organizations from all parts of the country and were called together by the Labor Defense Council to unite all forces in the labor movement against persecution of workers and for defense of all class war prisoners regardless of political opinion or industrial affiliation.

The Conference founded the International Labor Defense, an individual and collective membership organisation that is to undertake the role of champion for all workers attacked by organized capital irrespective of their faith or affiliation. A National Committee of 37 was elected upon which are many prominent figures in the labor, radical, and liberal movements of this country among whom are Eugene V. Debs, Upton Sinclair, Bishop William Montgomery Brown, Fred Mann, Ralph Chaplin, Scott Nearing, Wm. Z. Foster, Benjamin Gitlow and Ben Fletcher. Andrew T. McNamara of Pittsburgh was elected chairman of the organisation, E. C. Wentworth, vice-chairman, and James P. Cannon of Chicago the secretary.

At the conference 25 local trade unions beside central labor bodies, workers' defense organizations and labor fraternal and benefit societies totalling a membership well over 200,000 were represented by delegates. In addition scores of endorsements came from workers' organizations and prominent individuals thruout the country who could not be represented there.

The resolutions that follow were passed by the conference in the nature of instructions for work to the officers of the International Labor Defense and taken as a whole, comprise a complete program.

1. The Fight for Release of Class War Prisoners.

THE fight for the release of the imprisoned fighters for the cause of labor is one of the most important problems on the agenda of the American Labor movement. Every worker in prison for the "crime" of loyalty to his class represents a victory for the capitalist exploiters and an injury to the workers. The continued confinement of so large a number of the most conscious elements of the working class without any real protest against it, is of itself a sign of weakness in the labor movement. The indifference and neglect which characterizes too large a section of the labor movement in regard to this burning question is a great danger to the movement as a whole. It encourages the exploiters of labor and their subverted "legal" and "illegal" agencies of persecution to go ever farther with their methods of terror, while, at the same time, it weakens the morale of the workers.

It must be recorded, to the shame of the labor movement that Mooney and Billings, victims of the most atrocious frame-up in all labor history, still languish in prison. Sacco and Vanzetti, courageous fighters for the working class, still stand in the shadow of the gallows. Rangel and Cline and their comrades who went into Texas prisons in the best years of their youth have already spent more than twelve years there. Ford and Suhr, intrepid leaders of the Wheatland hop pickers' strike, have already paid for their courage and devotion to the workers with a dozen years of imprisonment. The I. W. W. men who defended their union hall in Centralia, Washington, deserve the gratitude of the whole labor movement, but their reward are long terms of imprisonment. Scores of workers in California have been thrown into San Quentin and Folsom prisons for the crime of belonging to the I. W. W.

CROUCH and Trumbull, soldiers in the United States army, expressed their sympathy with the cause of the colonial workers in Hawaii and declared their solidarity with the revolutionary workers' movement. It cost them court martial and sentence to military prison.

CHICAGO WORKERS TO FORM NEW COMMUNE TO SETTLE IN RUSSIA

A meeting was held at 4601 S. Hermitage Ave., for the organization of an agricultural commune to go to Soviet Russia. Comrade Andrejchiok told of the organization of the Red Ray Commune of which he is secretary.

The Commune is prospering in the Ukraine and only a handful of members are still left in Chicago. They have three tractors, other agricultural machinery and cattle, and are getting ready to build a flour mill.

Comrades Gebert and Stoiar spoke in Polish and Russian. The foundation of a new agricultural commune was laid at this meeting

In West Virginia, 137 union miners were made to stand trial only recently for picketing mines against scabs. In Maine, Ohio and other states, workers and groups of workers are expiating behind bars the crime of activity in the ranks of labor that won for them frame-ups and perversions of justice.

In addition to those workers, already convicted, prosecutions are now pending against many others. The action of the supreme court in sustaining the conviction of Benj. Gitlow, confronts Foster, Ruthenberg and thirty others in the Michigan cases with the danger of prison terms. Fred Merrick and nine other Communists are facing trial in Pennsylvania on the charge of "sedition" for circulating working class literature.

The labor movement must be awakened from its slumber and must be rushed to the menacing significance of the attempt of the capitalists to break the morale of the working class by imprisoning its best fighters. The workers must not be allowed to forget those who lie in prison for them, but must be stirred into action in their defense.

SYSTEMATICAL widespread publicity must be conducted in regard to the situation in general and each specific case must be made known to the masses of workers. Agitation must be commenced in all labor organizations in behalf of class-war prisoners and preparations made for great mass protests against their continued imprisonment. General and special campaigns must be organized and carried on with ever-increasing energy and momentum.

The International Labor Defense will take the initiative to organize a wide-spread campaign for the unconditional release of imprisoned fighters of the class struggle and will endeavor to unite all the forces of conscious and militant labor for this fight.

Tomorrow:—The resolution against injunctions and anti-labor legislation.

Steel Orders Decline.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation declined 339,342 tons in June, according to the monthly report of the corporation, issued at noon today.

The unfilled tonnage on June 30 aggregated 3,710,458 tons, against 4,049,800 tons on May 31, and 3,262,565 tons on June 30, 1924.

SLUMP-BESET, BIG FRY K. K. K. IS FLOUNDERING

"Better America" Order Declines Apace

LOS ANGELES, July 12.—The year ended June 30, 1925, showed a marked falling off of subscriptions to the Better America Federation, which has its headquarters in Los Angeles and advertises that "it operates in 38 states." Figures indicate a decline of 41 per cent as compared with the preceding year.

Because of the unfavorable showing, the organization is frantically seeking funds. It is carrying on frenzied advertising, urging on prospective subscribers the need of contributing to counteract Bolshevism. Its weekly "news letters" almost concede the speedy overthrow of the government by the Reds.

The $5,000 in prizes recently given to boy orators by the federation for lauding the constitution brought in many times the amount in free advertising through the Los Angeles dailies but did not bring in subscriptions to correspond. Heads of the organization act as tho they feel that they have yet to get their money's worth out of the $5,000 given away.

Causes of the Falling Off.

If the coming year goes like the past, the federation will have cause to lament the building slump of 1924, the expansion of the ku klux klan in southern California and the election of Coolidge. These three events caused the trouble. The building depression closed the purses of many subscribers. H. B. Haldeman, son of Harry M. Haldeman, head of the federation, took charge of the K. K. K. in Los Angeles county and increased klan membership at the cost of the rival order. When Coolidge, supported by the B. A. F., was elected by a prodigious majority, many subscribers reasoned that all danger of radicalism was over and that there was no use contributing any more to the federation.

The worst blow was the expansion of the K. K. K. This took thousands of $1, $2, and $5 a month subscribers away. It also established the identity of the B. A. F. and K. K. K. as Siamese twin vipers. With Father Haldeman as head of the former and Son Haldeman of the latter, the two orders looked like one family affair. Many dupes suspected that the orders were being worked for money making purposes by the family most concerned.

Operations Must be Curtailed.

As a rich men's ku klux klan, the B. A. F. spent from $150,000 to $180,000 a year, principally on persecution. It listed I. W. W.'s, etc., trailed them, drove them to starvation, prison and suicide. Doctors, dentists, nurses, landladies, cooks, kitchen wenches, etc., were in its pay. Its spy system included detectives at $10 a day, hotel clerks at $5 a month and chambermaids at $1 a month. The methods charged to the Jesuits in France were improved upon by the order. Many are the tales of horror told of doings of hirelings.

Retrenchment must come. The luxuries will first be dispensed with. There will be less employing of detectives, surgeons, etc., and more of hotel clerks and chambermaids. Eavesdropping, violation of correspondence, pumping, etc., must be resorted to.

Several Los Angeles firms have been contributing $10,000 and $15,000 a year. They drove competitors away. But they have no present need of the federation. If they require help they can get it from the K. K. K. at better terms. That means more retrenchment for the plutocrats' organization.

Beginning of the Wind-up.

The head of the B. A. F. resembles a medium-sized hog, with black bristles. He stands on two feet as tho he isn't used to it. He looks as tho he is disposed to bountiful repasts and Bright's disease. His usefulness is of the past. Jo S. Joplin, manager of the B. A. F. is an importation from Kentucky and a typical A. P. A. If properly tonsured, he would easily be mistaken as a Dominican monk of the Spanish inquisition. He has the bloodless face of a bigot with a craving for money. Three of the boy orators who won the B. A. F. prizes were Roman Catholics, students of Jesuit colleges. They were banquted under the beaming smiles of Haldeman and Joplin, ku klux klanners at heart.

How About Language Papers?

The American Communist movement is a balanced one. It is equipped to the needs of the American workers—among which are foreign speaking elements of many languages.

Communist equipment, Communist tools for building are at hand. The DAILY WORKER, official organ of the Workers (Communist) Party is not the only one. Many others exist, good Communist dailies, weeklies and monthlies in many languages. All these are fighting the workers battles, all are good Communist tools for Communist Builders to use for reaching the foreign born workers.

The DAILY WORKER has repeatedly brought this fact to the attention of Communist Builders: thru special sub blanks, thru the "Tool Box" (of which over thirty thousand were distrbiuted) thru the present catalogue of good books for workers "From The Source of All Communist Literature", thru repeated references in the DAILY WORKER, and by word of mouth thru every organizer ever sent out by the DAILY WORKER—not to mention thru the machinery of DAILY WORKER agents thruout the country.

And yet this is not enough. Never can too much be said for the language press of the Communist movement whenever the DAILY WORKER is spoken about.

Send for the List!

If you haven't a catalogue—or a list of the Communist foreign language papers (and sub prices!) send in to the DAILY WORKER for it at once. A special list and the catalogue in which this list also appears will be sent to you without charge.

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT SENDS ITS TROOPS ABROAD TO GUARD NINE BILLION DOLLARS FOREIGN LOANS

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Since imperialism and dollar diplomacy are synonymous in the bright lexicon of American foreign policy, a report of an investigation recently completed by the national industrial conference board concerning the growth of private investments abroad has significance.

This organization which is one of the adjuncts of "Big Business" says that the total investments of United States private capital abroad in 1924 amounted to $9,090,000,000, 44.4 per cent of which is placed in latin American countries.

The change from the period 1780-1820, when Europe was lending the struggling young republic a bare million dollars a year, to the year 1920, a century later, when the United States loaned the world nearly a billion and a half dollars, says the conference board, represents one of the greatest transformation in the history of the world.

Of the total amount of these "private investments" 58 per cent represents capital put into industrial, business, financial and other enterprises while the remaining 42 per cent represents money loaned to governments. About one fifth of the American money has gone to Europe in addition to the $11,000,000,000 loaned there by the American government. But Canada has absorbed over two-fifths more and the loans to governments and investments in Latin America amount to about $4,000,000,000.

The governments of the latin American countries have not received much of this fund, comparatively speaking, for the total amount of those loans is only $840,000,000.

So more than three billion represents private American capital put into South and Central American concessions, for the guarding of which American diplomacy, American marines and sometimes the army and navy are called into action.

The conference board finds that from the beginning of the United States until 1914 capital moved almost entirely from Europe to America. That movement stopped when the world war began and ever since it has swang the other way, until now the amount of American capital invested abroad is fifteen times greater annually than it was in the 18 years preceeding the war.

Yowlecs in Superior Hold Street Meetings With Great Success

SUPERIOR, Wisc.—The entire Young Workers League student branch, 55 in number, held two anti-imperialist street meetings in Superior, Wisc., July 4th. The crowd was interested and sympathetic.

Margaret Helander, the first speaker, spoke on the Anti-Imperialist campaign, and the situation in China.

Toivo Tenhunen, spoke of the war capitalism is forcing on the workers.

Clem Forsen explained the program of the Workers Party, and the demands of the workers.

Neuman Dunker spoke of the conditions in America, of the Anti-Syndicalist laws, and of the Labor defense. The meeting closed with the audience singing the International.

The DAILY WORKER and the Young Worker were sold.

The crowd vigorously applauded the speakers, and exclaimed: "Fine, fine, these young kids are pretty good."

LOS ANGELES LAND VALUES EMPTY FRAUD

Method of Inflation Crude and Risky

LOS ANGELES, July 13—Boosters assert that Southern California orange land now commands $4,000 an acre as compared with $400 a generation ago. But they say nothing about the fact that the growers are in a more precarious state financially than they were formerly. Certainly the $3,500 appreciation does not go to them. To whom does it go? The answer is simple and yet it will be sensational news to 99 out of every 100 readers.

Process of Inflation.

The leading boosters are J. F. Sartori, most enterprising banker, and George I. Cochran, foremost insurance promoter and leader of million-dollar advertising campaign. That is the key to the answer.

A generation ago the banks lent growers $200 on the $400-acres security. Interest at 6 per cent amounted to $12 per year. With oranges selling at $1.20 per box, it took 10 boxes to pay the interest. Producing 250 boxes to the acre, growers advanced their prices to $1.25 per box. The burden was simply passed on to the consumers.

Life insurance became interested. Growers were convinced that they should carry enough insurance to cover mortgages so that in event of their deaths their families could save the groves. They paid $8 per year to cover the $200 insurance. Again they raised the price of oranges and passed the burden on to the consumers. With the price of the product raised $85 per acre, for the benefit of banks and insurance companies, it naturally followed that the growers valued the land to correspond, increasing the price $250 per acre. This suited banks as it gave them a larger margin of safety on loans.

On the $650 valuation operations were repeated. Banks lent $325 on the acre at $20 a year interest. Insurers issued policies at $14 per year. Growers raised prices 15 cents a box to meet interest and insurance charges. With values of products increased $34 per acre per annum the land value was inflated $340, to $990 per acre.

Only three more operations were necessary to bring the land values up to $3,500 an acre, $500 short of where they are now said to be.

Banks and Insurance Supreme.

A few years ago banks charged growers 8, 10 and 12 per cent interest, clinching their control of the orange industry. Their interest rate at present is 7 per cent. If they lend $2,000 on a $4,000-acre valuation growers must pay $140 per year interest to them. With oranges at $3.50 per box this is the equivalent of 40 boxes.

On the present basis of $30 per $1,000 for life insurance annual premium, growers pay the insurers $60 per year on the acre, or the equivalent of 17 boxes. Banks and insurers' share of the 250 boxes per year is 57 boxes, worth $200. But the growers charge that up to the consumers. So, on practically every box of California oranges the consumers pay a tribute of 55 cents to the banks and 25 cents to the insurers.

The Bubble Must Break.

Growers sell the fruit to wholesalers at $3.50 per box, wholesalers to jobbers at $7.00 to $8.00, jobbers to retailers at $12.00 to $15.00 and retailers to consumers 10 cents apiece. But the inflation is all due to the banks. Productivity of orange land is the same as it was 30 years ago. The $3,600 increased value per acre is fictitious, a creation of and for the banks.

If consumers stop eating oranges, the banks will foreclose on the growers; if they do not stop, the price of orange land will mount. But every bubble must eventually break and California orange land value is a bubble.

When Easterners cease coming to California ot buy land at fabulous prices the bubble will break. That is why bankers and insurers boost Southern California with million-dollar advertising funds.—Frapiess.

Real Labor Solidarity

The DAILY WORKER, and with it the entire body of union labor interested in attaining trade union unity against the capitalist class, hails the action of three Chicago lodges of the International Association of Machinists, and the resolution of the Chicago Federation of Labor in support of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, and in condemnation of the scabbing of the United Garment Workers, as a step of genuine labor solidarity.

The executive committee of the Chicago Federation of Labor is to be commended for its action, however long the men and women on the picket line waited for such deserved support in their bitter struggle to maintain their union.

But above all are to be praised the militant unionists who go to the rank and file of the Chicago labor movement, explaining to them the issues of union scabbery versus class solidarity. The members of the Trade Union Educational League in the Machinists' and in other unions are to be praised for raising the issue, and thus bringing the union men and women of Chicago who are not in touch with or do not comprehend the gravity of the offense of the United Garment Workers, into consciousness of their class duty.

Without this sort of mass understanding, the offenders against labor solidarity can go along indifferent to committees or investigations from the American Federation of Labor, thru which President William Green will probably delay results until after the strike is all over.

The executive of the Chicago Federation has taken the correct stand, but the DAILY WORKER wishes to accent the fact that the struggle for labor union principles in this case, as in all others, rests primarily upon the members of the left wing, and led by the Trade Union Educational League.

Auto Workers' Wages

In the automobile industry, as in many others, the employers are beginning to take the offensive against the standards of living of the workers.

In the coal mines, there is a union to fight back, granted that the leadership of John L. Lewis can be pushed ahead by the rank and file and made to break away from collaboration with the operators. The U. M. W. of A. is now demanding, just by reason of this mass force from below in the union, an increase, even if only of ten per cent, from the coal barons of the anthracite.

In the auto industry the union is not so well organized, tho it is better and more courageously led. The auto workers, who have thought, perhaps, that because their particular industry was thriving and because that they had been getting good pay, that they always would and that god or somebody else than their own unified powers would surely guarantee their wages and hours—these workers are finding out their mistake.

The Fisher Body company has laid down the most savage wage cuts upon their workers, and if the Fisher company is successful, the auto workers of Detroit can be sure that other firms will follow suit and probably pass the low record.

The Auto Workers' Union is courageously fighting to organize the workers, and if the workers are at last aroused from their indifference, and are willing to fight for their wages and conditions, their chance is ample and the union they enter is ready to lead the struggle.

George Bernard Shaw has written another alleged attack on Communism for the Hearst press. Any worker who will inform this office as to what the British cynic, who parades as a bourgeois radical, is talking about will receive a prize of a life's subscription to the DAILY WORKER.

"Peace and Order" In China

The struggle of the Chinese workers against foreign oppressors gradually uncovers the enemies of labor within China itself.

Thus the class battle of Chinese labor is turned against native as well as alien exploiters.

General Chang Tso-lin, the Japanese catspaw, who has been rather timid in his moves during the last few weeks, is now reported to have issued a "strong proclamation," which the imperialist press reports definitely places the Mukden war lord on the side of "peace and order," which is an oriental translation of the well known American phrase, "law and order."

This means that strikes will be forbidden, the privilege of holding meetings will be denied, working class literature will be contraband, while military jails will ever be hungry to receive the spokesmen of the Chinese workers. Warships of all nationalities ride at anchor in all the Chinese ports ready to see that the capitalist dictatorship that has fought American labor in bloody wars in West Virginia, Colorado, at Gary, Indiana, and Pittsburgh, Pa., keeps up its murderous record.

The solidarity of the Chinese workers alone can stand against this new offensive of the Chinese traitor, Chang Tso-lin, supported by foreign bayonets. The few merchants who originally joined the workers' movement against foreign tyranny have deserted because the continued struggle "hurt business." The nationalist revolution thus takes on the aspects of the class war, of the workers' revolution. It is this revolution that will in time bring the only real "peace and order" to China, with the ousting of all capitalists. Chinese labor must bend to the struggle and win the victory.

John D. Rockefeller, Sr., has just "sold" four of his palatial palaces to his for something like $3,000,000.00. Workers will justly ask where John D. Jr., got the three million, since he has never done a day's work in his life. They will find that he got the three million in profits from oil stock handed to him by his father, the original oil bandit. It's a neat little game to continue the reigning money houses of America. But the workers will spoil it when they wake up and cease being slaves to any man.

Coops Aid to Peasants of Soviet Union agriculture have been considerable indeed.

"We became convinced of the unquestionable growth of the member ship of the cooperative organizations, and of their growing material interests and activity.

Agricultural Progress

Touching on the question of scientific methods of agriculture employed by the peasants, Comrade Miglioli said:

"The most characteristic feature in the development of peasant economy is its trend in the direction of cooperation and of collective forms of cultivation in general. In a number of places we saw with our own eyes the progress of peasant economy, as, for instance, the grafting of vines, etc.

"At every step we saw the able leadership of the agricultural organs of the government and of the cooperative organizations.

"We were particularly struck by the activity of the peasants in the matter of cooperative credits. It shows the highest form of confidence on the part of the peasants, who invest their savings in the cooperative credit organization. Although the cooperative organizations at Telav have only existed for a few months, they have already succeeded in attracting considerable numbers of peasants and in raising sufficient capital for their operations.

Revolution Caused Peasant Advance

"We believe that all the things which we have seen in Georgia, as for instance, the growing activeness of the peasantry, is the result of the great transformation caused by the revolution in all the spheres of village life: in economy, in the school, in public life, and in the home.

"We engaged in conversation with the peasants at the village of Shilda, and the latter were extremely pleased to hear me say that the calumny and lies of the bourgeois papers of the West have been completely repudiated by the actual realities which I had the opportunity to see for myself."

Peasants Fight Capitalism

Miglioli is one of the oldest organizers of the peasants' movement in Italy, the representative of the left wing of the "Popolari" party. Comrade Miglioli has been and is waging an intense campaign against the agrarian bourgeoisie and the reactionary parties of Italy. Massarenti is one of the active people in the left wing of the Italian social-democracy, who has become known as a determined opponent of fascism.

Miglioli said further: "I am a journalist and I'm glad to talk to you about my impressions and the things I have seen.

"We came to the U. S. S. R. to take part in the deliberations of the plenary session of the Peasants' International, which notably embraces the revolutionary peasants' movement of all countries without distinction of party politics, religion, etc.

"Our participation in the revolutionary Peasants' International shows that we are working in the direction of getting the peasant masses of Italy to join the fight against capitalism.

Toured U. S. S. R.

"After the completion of the work of the plenary session we profited by the kind offer of the Peasants' International to take a tour thru the U. S. S. R., which has enabled us to get a closer acquaintance with the state of agriculture and the forms of peasant economy in U. S. S. R. While at Kiev, we visited several villages, agricultural experimental stations, Soviet farms, etc. At Kharkov we attended the congress of the Ukrainian Soviets, where we spoke on some questions of policy that are of interest to the workers and peasants of the U. S. S. R. and Italy.

"At Rostov we got the opportunity to take a trip to the Don district where we saw the prevailing forms of peasant organization, the Soviet farms the cooperative organizations and the communes as well as the individual farms, gaining a complete understanding of the development of agriculture in the district.

"Interested at the same time in the labor movement, we inspected at Rostov the 'Aksai' agricultural machinery works. In our talks with the workmen and the red directors, as you call them, we were struck by the unanimity and cordiality existing between the administration and the workers.

Kept Press Libels Soviet

"In Tiflis we paid a visit to Comrade Nazaretian, acting chairman of the Caucasian Council of People's Commissaries, and to Comrade Djudeli, acting chairman of the Georgian Council of People's Commissaries.

"In our conversation we touched upon questions of local industry and agriculture, and also on questions affecting the libelling campaign of the bourgeois press about Georgia and the U. S. S. R."

In regard to the results of his tour of observation, Comrade Miglioli characterized the situation in U. S. S. R. as follows:

"The progress of agriculture is noticeable in the increasing growth of upward trend of peasant economy in agricultural cooperation and in the general. Considerable success has been recorded in the consumers' cooperative organization.

"I cannot help considering as marvelous the successes of the U. S. S. R. on all the fronts. It is hard to believe that all this was accomplished in such short time.

Soviet Government Stable

"By the moods and sentiments of the workers and peasants it is possible to judge as to the stability of the Soviet government. These moods and sentiments clearly indicate the unity of interest existing between the workers and peasants and the government, and just now it is hard to imagine a more stable government in the world than that of the Soviets.

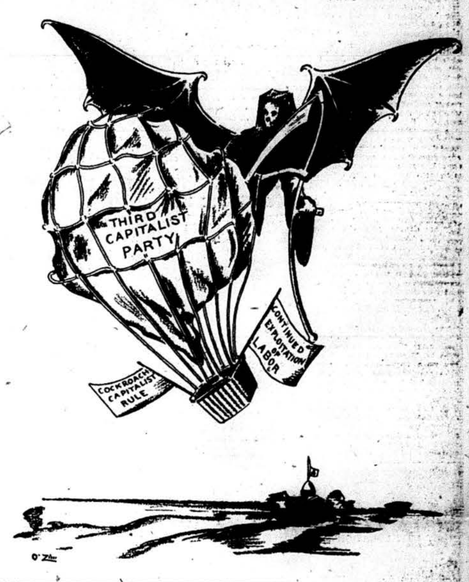
"We think it quite necessary for all the politicians who visited the U. S. S. R. and who are free from bourgeois influence to tell abroad about the achievements of the October revolution.

Will Inform Italians

"The short-sighted policy of Europe in regard to the U. S. S. R. is, in the first place, detrimental to the European countries. It would be of extreme benefit and interest to the workers and peasants truout the world to learn about the true state of affairs in the U. S. S. R.

"On returning to Italy—concluded Comrade Miglioli—we shall tell everybody about our impressions and observations in the U. S. S. R., in order to dissipate the false impressions which the bourgeois parties are trying to create."

AN ILL-FATED FLIGHT



BIG "HANDS OFF CHINA" MEETING HELD ON COAST

One Thousand Hear Tallentire Speak

By AARON FISHERMAN.

(Special to The Daily Worker)

SEATTLE, Wash., July 12—What is considered to be the largest attended open air meeting for a long time was held under the auspices of the Workers Party on Occidental avenue and Washington St. It was a most enthusiastic anti-imperialist "hands off China" demonstration attended by more than one thousand workers.

Norman Tallentire, Workers Party district organizer delivered the address dealing with the invasion of China by imperialists of the world dominated by Great Britain and now by the imperialists of the United States. He traced the rise of the nationalist movement dominated and guided by the Kuomintang built up under the leadership of Sun Yat Sen and the awakening of the proletarian class of China. Tallentire explained the meaning of the conflict going on there. He was enthusiastically applauded.

The sentiment of the crowd was one of the best expressions of class solidarity with the Chinese masses. A large collection was taken up and a large quantity of literature sold. Thousands of "hands off China" leaflets were given away free.

Next Saturday night, July 18, another large meeting is being contemplated by workers united front organizations in the same place and it is anticipated that thousands of workers will be in attendance at this demonstration.

Stand by Soviet Russia and "hands off China" resolutions of protest against the use of troops as strikebreakers and demanding that they be withdrawn were unanimously adopted.

Anti-Fascist Meet In Philadelphia, Pa., Stirs Up the Police

down in expectation of a riot and not finding any disturbance did their utmost to create one.

Objects to Talk of Priests

H. M. Wicks, representing the Workers Party, was the first speaker. He outlined the role and history of the fascist movement of Italy and other European countries. While illustrating the fascist actions of the bloody Zankov government of Bulgaria and the close co-operation of the cross-bearing priests with the hangmen, the police created a disturbance and made an effort to stop the meeting on the grounds that religion could not be criticized at public meetings in Philadelphia. The police made several rushes for the platform accompanied by a tremendous outburst of protest against their disruptive methods by the audience.

Wicks ended his talk with a statement that the Communist International and the Communist Parties of the world are the only force capable of crushing the fascist terror and instituting in its place the rule of the proletarist. The audience greeted the mention of the Communists with a demonstration lasting several minutes.

Arturo Giovannitti was the second speaker and was welcomed with a wild demonstration. He spoke in the Italian langauge and in his first remarks he referred to the incident of the police interfering with the remarks of Wicks, pointing out that we are too busy to bother with the priests, we have a greater battle to conduct against the fascisti and capitalist governments of the world, stating nevertheless the police have no right to stop anyone from criticizing religon especially in the city of Philadelphia where but 150 years ago the Declaration of Independence was signed.

Second Police Rush

At this point a squad of police headed by several captains and a group of plain clothes men rushed upon the stage and threatened again to stop the meeting. This open incitement to riot by the police was answered by a long wild outburst of protest by the audience. The meeting finally continued and Giovannitti finished his speech. Carlo Tresca was the last speaker and was likewise greeted with a long ovation.

Every mention of Mussolini and the fascist government of Italy was drowned in flood of boos and loud resentment.

This meeting was a splendid example of the bitter anti-fascist sentiment existing among the Italian workers of Philadelphia and stands as an obstacle to every effort of the fascist organizations to establish foothold in this city. For the last three years the police have waged a warfare against the anti-fascist movement with the result that it is gaing headway and strength daily. The Communists are the leading spirit in this movement and are recognized by the workers as such.

TRIAL OF RED SPEAKERS IN CICERO COURT

Two Arrested at Open Air Meeting Thurs.

Two members of the Workers (Communist) Party, Irving Search and J. K. Dante, who were arrested last Thursday night at a street meeting on the corner of 14th St., and 49th Court, will appear in the Cicero police station 25th St., and 50th Ave., this morning for a hearing.

The Communists were arrested after a crowd of Cicero gunmen, and a few middle class church goers, led by a Lithuanian priest, attacked the open air speakers, hurling bricks and threatening the speakers with violence.

The speakers were Irving Search, who spoke on conditions in the Western Electric company, D. E. Early, who explained the attempts of the world imperialists to enslave the colonial peoples, M. Zaldotis, who spoke in Lithuanian and G. Geller, of Detroit.

Search was arrested after he had concluded his speech, but the meeting was continued to the end. Dante, who was attacked by the gunmen, had not yet spoken.

Another meeting will be held on the same corner next Thursday night, and speakers should report to Charles Erickson, secretary of the Cicero English branch, which conducts the meetings.

Cook County Women Win Right to Serve On Juries With Men

Women voters may serve on all juries in Cook County. They were placed on a parity with men by the nineteenth amendment to the federal constitution and the Illinois women suffrage act, and are now the peers of men, within the common law definition of freemen and as such automatically eligible to serve as jurors.

This was the opinion delivered by Judge Philip L. Sullivan of the circuit court, in overruling the demurrer of the jury commisisoners to the petition for a mandamus brot by Mrs. Hannah Beye Fyfe of Oak Park. An appeal probably will be taken.

Mrs. Fyfe, in her petition, charged that the jury commisioners had refused to certify her name for jury service, after she had been subpoenaed legally because of her sex, and asked the court for a mandamus to compel the commissioner to permit her to be placed in a regular panel of veniremen.

Kluxers In City Invasion, Dodged Chief Bootlegger

Two thousand unmasked Ku Klux Klansmen in automobiles paraded thru the suburbs of Berwyn, Stickney, La Grange and Cicero warning law evaders that they must obey the law or be driven out.

A score of moonshine, gambling and vice resorts were visited, the owners and occupants being brot into the street and addressed by a spokesman of the klan.

A detour purposely was made to avoid the resort of "Scarface-Al" Brown, also known as Tony Capone, because, klan officials said, Brown's henchmen, all armed, had prepared an ambush for the raiders.

FLORENCE, Italy, July 12.—The trial of Gastano Salvemini, professor of history at the university of Florence, and Professor Ernesto Rossi, charged with "calumniating the King and government," begins Monday in the fascist courts.

U.S. MOVES TO MEET CRISIS IN ORIENT

ANTI-[illegible]TION LAW BRANDED UN[illegible]TUTIONAL IN FIGHT FOR FREEDOM OF EDUCATION

(Special to The Daily Worker)

DAYTON, Tenn., July 13.—Charging that the educational liberties of the American people are at stake, counsel for John Thomas Scopes today started a fight to destroy the Tennessee anti-evolution law as a violation of the state and federal constitutions.

The weapon of the defense was a motion to quash the indictment against Scopes on constitutional grounds. It was made by John R. Neal, chief of defense counsel.

A clash between state and defense attorneys immediately followed when Circuit Attorney General A. Thomas Stewart the jury out.

moved that the jury be excluded. Bitterness cropped into the exchange of arguments, but Judge John T. Raulston finally sent

The defense based its fight chiefly on four constitutional points. These were that the anti-evolution law violated these state constitutional guarantees:

Fight For Four Points.

1—"It shall be the duty of the general assembly of the state to cherish literature and science."

2—"That all men have natural and indefeasible right to worship almighty god according to the dictates of their own conscience."

3—"Every citizen may freely speak, write and print on any subject, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty."

—"No man shall be disseized of his freeholds, liberties or properties by the judgement of his peers and the law of the land."

The defense all contended the law itself was so vague and indistinct that the defendant did not know the "nature of his alleged violation." The motion closed with allegations that the law violated three guarantees of the constitution of the United States, those pertaining to religious liberties, property rights and to court procedure.

Law Makes Schools Churches.

"It is not necessary," said Neal, in opening his argument, "to argue upon your honor that it is your power and sworn duty to pass upon the constitutionality of a statute of Tennessee. In order to pass upon the law it is necessary to know what the law is.

"It is our contention," Neal continued, "that in this act there is made mandatory the teaching of a particular religion in a particular book. We contend it is unconstitutional because it transforms the public schools of the state into a church establishment that is in violation of every guarantee or religious liberty in the state and federal constitutions."

Arthur Garfield Hayes of defense counsel followed Neal. He also attacked the law, charging it denied religious liberty and freedom of thought to the religious minorities of Tennessee.

The court instructed the attorneys to prepare briefs of their arguments. "This is too profound a subject for hasty consideration," said Judge Raulston. "I hope you'll prepare briefs."

Fight Constitutionality of Law.

A wave of public passion, created a tense situation today as the Scopes anti-evolution trial was resumed.

Armed sheriff's guards and imported uniformed police were scattered thru the courtroom as crowds assembled for the second session.

This element of passion spread to

AS WE SEE IT.

By T. J. O'FLAHERTY

HIDDEN away in a remote corner of one of our big capitalist dailies was a news item telling that the trial of 77 Communists, who were alleged to have participated in last December's revolt against the white guard Esthonian government, was opened in Dorput. The radicals are being tried by a court martial. No doubt, the Esthonian hangmen will prepare another murder feast for themselves as did their Bulgarian cousins. It should not be forgotten that Esthonia is one of Britain's tools and most of that little country's campaigns against the Communists and against Soviet Russia are financed by Britain.

THERE are rumors that the defunct Anglo-Japanese alliance may be revived. It appears that the United States is not playing ball with England and Japan in the present Chinese crisis. The Chinese masses see in England and Japan their worst enemies. The wily Yankee trader knows what the Chinese can do with the boycott and he prefers that the Chinese people should take out their hate on John Bull, if there is any hating to be done. And there is.

JAPANESE diplomats are now hinting that the United States left England holding the bag when she succeeded in inducing the Downing street statesmen to drop the Japanese alliance in return for a condition of naval party between Britain and America. This is partly true. Britain and the United States are today the two fiercest competitors for the spoils that capitalist thieves fight over. This is true despite the oceans of ink that are being shed by piffle peddlers, who pretend to see in the close relationships between the parasites of New York and London, a guarantee of everlasting peace between the two powers.

BRITAIN would never have given up the Japanese alliance but for pressure from Australia and New Zealand. And ever since, the United States has missed no opportunity to convince those two antipodean colonies that the big white uncle in Washington is at least as good a protector as the little white father in London. If Britain finds it necessary to make a deal with Japan over the Chinese crisis, and should it turn out that this deal conflicts with the interests of the United States, it is not unlikely that the colonies will be-

KUOMINTANG PAPER TELLS ISSUE UPON WHICH PARTY FOUGHT AND WON THE RECENT CANTON BATTLE

The DAILY WORKER has received from China a copy of the Canton Gazette apparently an organ of the Kuomintang government. This issue, dated June 1, appeared on the eve of the reactionary rebellion of the Yunanese troops financed by British and French imperialists.

It is of great historical interest, therefore, to observe the leading article in the Canton Gazette, which gives the gauge of battle between the Kuomintang forces of the civil government at Canton, and the reactionary Yunnanese led by the Chinese military tools of foreign imperialism. It shows clearly the issue upon whcih the Kuomintang fought bravely and won after once losing, the city of Canton. The article is as follows:

THE REAL ISSUE.

Government Determined to Get Rid of The Unruly and Lawless Soldiery And Make the Province Safe For the People.

The treaty port press, the hirelings of imperialism, have once more begun to sharpen and poison their shafts of malice and slander against the Kuomintang government. Informing their patrons of the conflict in Kwangtung, they gleefully proclaim the impending downfall of the detestable Kuomintang, smacking their lips in anticipation of the happy event.

The wish is father to the thot. The hireling press is possessed with but one desire and that is to see new conflicts in Kwangtung, and conflict that would bring an end to the Kuomintang government, even tho the province might thereby undergo untold suffering. It is this desire of the imperialist press that finds expression

Lies that Lead to War

LONDON, July 13.—No agreement has been reached between Japan, the United States and Great Britain regarding a policy toward China, it was stated officially at the foreign office today.

It was said that discussions regarding the possibility and scope of a tariff conference were going on but that no decision had been reached.

In the British view, the tariff conference must precede the conference on extra-territoriality, since there would be no advantage in discussing the abandonment of extra-territorial privileges by the nations interested until China has sufficient funds with which to operate the country. These funds, in the British view, would be provided by a tariff revision.

TOKIO, July 13.—Altho no definite agreement has as yet been reached, it was semi-officially stated here today that the United States, Japan and Great Britain are approaching a compromise basis for a solution of the Chinese problem.

M. Caimusho, a foreign office attache, pointed out that there were no differences in fundamental policy, the divergent views thus far expressed, involving only the method of handling an admittedly difficult situation.

It is believed that recent conferences here between Foreign Minister Shidehara, John V. A. MacMurray, American minister to China, Edgar A. Bancroft, American ambassador here, and Sir Charles Eliot, British ambassador, brought a reconciliation of divergent viewpoints appreciably nearer.

NATIONAL DRIVE FOR PRISONERS

LABOR DEEFNSE DAY CALLED FOR SEPTEMBER 13

Hold Mass Meetings and Conferences

International Labor Defense, the non-partisan workers' organization founded at the National Conference held for that purpose in Chicago on June 28, will be officially launched on Sunday, September 13, which date will be set aside as "Labor Defense Day."

Local conferences of delegates from workers' organizations will be held in all the large cities of the country in the afternoon of Sept. 13 at which local organizations of International Labor Defense will be set up. They will be followed by monster mass meetings staged in the evening.

These conferences and meetings will occur simultaneously in no less than one hundred cities on "Labor Defense Day" and every available speaker in the labor movement will be asked to give his services.

Freedom for Labor's Prisoners.

This action was decided on at the first monthly meeting of the National Executive Committee of the new organizaion for the purpose of reviving labor defense issues in the labor movement generally on a large scale and to establish a broad united front movement with its roots in the labor unions. James P. Cannon, secretary of the organization said, "We will make the labor movement ring with the slogan 'Join the fight for the freedom of labor's prisoners.'"

International Labor Defense will be built on the basis of individual and collective membership and the report of the secretary showing preliminary organization work well under way. 30,000 pamphlets containing the manifesto, resolutions and constitution of the June 28th conference are ready for distribution. Dues stamps and books are prepared for prospective individual membership and a comprehensive plan has been drawn up for collective affiliations.

Funds for Prisoners and Families.

On the motion of committee member Fred Mann, the National Executive Committee decided to send at least five dollars monthly to all of America's more than 128 class war prisoners who are willing to accept it. In order to avoid conflict or friction with other defense organizations directly handling certain cases, it was decided to send funds thru these special committees for forwarding to prisoners.

A campaign for the raising of a special fund for this purpose is to begin at once and to include the giving of material aid to dependent families of class war prisoners.

Indians To Hold Memorial

NEW YORK, July 13.—(FP)—To express the sympathy of Americans and Indians in America with Indian nationalists on the untimely death of C. R. Das, leader of the Swaraj party and mayor of Calcutta, a mass meeting is being held at the International house, New York, July 22 in the evening.

A. C. W. STRIKERS LAUGH AT I. T. C. TRICK; SCABBY UNITED GARMENT OFFICIALS HAVE BODY GUARDS

Monday morning is the time when strikes are lost. Such is the experience of strike organizers, who confront in some strikes where morale is poor, an inclination to rush back to the job. But there is no lack of high and intelligent morale in the ranks of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers striking against the International Tailoring Company and the J. L. Taylor Company. The strike is still 100 per cent strong and the boss 100 per cent out of luck.

The whole body of strikers turned out on the picket line early Monday to make sure that they get a chance to say "Good morning, scab," to any one resembling a human being that the United Garment scab agency can dig up.

Two Scabs Will Have A Date Elsewhere

The girl strikers were particularly anxious to interview two girl scabs who had been pretending to be office help and had sneaked past the pickets on that excuse. Monday morning they were stopped and after the interview it was agreed by the pickets that they probably would not show up tomorrow.

The third week of the strike opens with the strikers in good spirits and determined to fight it out. On the other hand the firms are in no condition to be cheerful. The I. T. C. has only one cutter and a few tailors. No work can be done, for if even the scab tailor could cut, it would mean only nine or ten garments a day, whereas the shop's normal capacity is 350 a day.

Welcome Aid From Unions of A. F. of L.

All efforts of the concern to get scabs have failed completely. Neither the splashing big ads in the capitalist papers nor the cowardly assistance of the United Garment scab agency has helped things. And now the United Garment is under fire from the rest of the Chicago unions who don't like to see an A. F. of L. union and the A. F. of L. name to cover up scabbing against any strikers.

The Amalgamated members are cheered to learn that the Executive committee of the Chicago Federation of Labor took a stand for solidarity and even more glad to know that the A. F. of L. union membership is learning of the justice of their case against the United Garment crew from the DAILY WORKER and the members of the Trade Union Educational League and left wing militants.

FRENCH LINE IN RIFF CRACKING, FEZ ENCIRCLED

Troops Sent from the Ruhr to Repair Loss

(Special to The Daily Worker)

PARIS, France, July 13.—The situation of the French invaders of Morocco is still critical, with the Riffian natives attacking Kelaa des Sless, the French outpost nearest the capital of French Morocco, Fez.

Abd-el-Krim's strategy has compelled the French to string out their forces on a line much longer than they can effectively hold, and his attacks on the weakest spots in the line have kept the French columns scurrying back and forth over much territory.

Send Troops From Ruhr.

The French have begun their first large scale movement of troops from the Ruhr. The twenty-ninth infantry has left Bochum, one of the great Ruhr steel and coal centers. The promptness of the evacuation of the Ruhr is due to the need for more troops in Morocco to carry out the designs of the French bankers.

The wheat crop of Morocco will be 19,584,000 bushels, this year, it is forecast. The aggregate wheat production forecast for the three North African countries of Morocco, Algeria and Tunis amounts to 61,030,000 bushels as compared to 47,706,000 harvested last year.

No Troops to Tangier.

LONDON, England, July 13.—Foreign Secretary Austin Chamberlain announced in the house of commons today that the British government does not propose to send troops to Tangier, Morocco. Spain had asked troops because of the restlessness of the natives living in the Tangier International zone.

Postpone Cunningham Trial.

GARY, Ind., July 13.—Trial of Mrs. Anna Cunningham in Crownpoint court has been postponed until Thursday morning because of death of Mrs. Martin Smith, aged mother of Judge Smith, who is presiding over the trial. Mrs. Cunningham is on trial for the murder of her youngest son, Walter.

U. S. AND ANGLO-JAP WAR NEARS AS GIANT RIVALS FOR ROBBERY OF CHINA JOCKEY FOR POSITION

(Special to The Daily Worker)

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 13.—President Coolidge today was facing the most important diplomatic crisis of his White House incumbency. It is a crisis which has within it the possibility of a new world war.

In the Chinese situation, the executive has before him a problem of the first magnitude created almost overnight by the receipt of information that Great Britain is planning to play a lone hand in the Orient to the exclusion of the eight other powers that are signatories to the Chinese treaty negotiated at the Washington arms conference.

Secretary of State Kellogg, handling his first big issue on foreign policy, is back in Washington after a week end conference with the president here, under instructions to open informal discussions with the British government at once to determine just what Britain plans to do with respect to China.

America to Challenge Britain.

Every possible step will be taken to forestall the English move, which, if carried to fulfillment, would nullify the Washington treaty. The American move to offset any such effort will involve insistance that the Washington agreement be followed to the letter.

Kellogg, before leaving the summer white house here, announced definitely that this conference would be called, and it is understood the United States will seek to enlarge it into a general discussion of the whole Chinese problem.

The president and his diplomatic aide are frankly concerned over the British attitude.

British to Defy Rival Robbers.

Ambassador Houghton has reported from London that the foreign office there is preparing to step in and see that British interests in China—by far the largest of any of the major powers—are protected without regard for existing agreements.

According to Houghton's report, Downing street intends to demand from China complete reassurance that British financial interests there be protected absolutely regardless of what the newly created customs commission shall decree, and further plans to protect such interests, even up to a display of military force.

The treaties brought forward out of the Washington arms conference stand as one of the outstanding accomplishments of the republican post-war administration in aiding American imperialism in China at the expense of rival powers, chiefly England and Japan, and both President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg are determined that they be carried out implicitly.

Switch to Coal.

NEW ORLEANS, July 13—Seven hundred tons of coal more will be burned in New Orleans every day because of the switch from oil to be made by the American Sugar Refining Co. plant Aug. 1 after 6 years of oil consumption.

The Light & Water Co. of Mobile changed to coal from oil recently but its consumption is less than 1,000 tons month.

Took 11 Years to Get Postcard.

WASHINGTON, July 13—A postcard has just turned up and been delivered to the addressee that has taken 11 years to travel from Manchester, N. H., to Oakland, Cal., and then Uncle Sam had the nerve to charge the extra half cent that did not go into effect until nearly 10 years after the card was mailed. The card was mailed by Mrs. F. A. Yarney on June 19, 1914, and was delivered to Miss Emma Inberg at Oakland, May 14, 1925.

WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS GRANTED 2 RED SOLDIERS

International Labor Defense Sends Funds

(Special to The Daily Worker)

HONOLULU, T. H., July 13.—A writ of habeas corpus filed by Attorney Fred Patterson for Paul Crouch and Walter Trumbull, Communist soldiers under sentence of court martial here, was granted by Judge John T. Bolt, of the United States district court against Major General E. M. Lewis who must show cause why they are being detained in the guard house.

The writ was issued in time to prevent the removal of Crouch and Trumbull to military prison at Alcatraz Island, San Francisco, which had been previously assigned as their place of confinement for three and one year sentences respectively for Crouch and Trumbull.

Labor Movement Aroused.

Nation-wide attention has centered around the court martial of these two soldiers for Communist activities. The original sentences were forty and twenty-six years but were later reduced by the war department.

CHINESE AND HINDUS UNITE TO AID CHINA

Detroit Students in Joint Action Meet

By H. S. LIANG

(Chairman, Detroit Students' Council Emergency Committee)

(Special to The Daily Worker)

DETROIT, Mich., July 13.—A joint meeting was held here in Detroit Saturday evening by the Chinese students and Hindu students in the city upon the present Chinese situation. About two hundred people were present.

The meeting was initiated by the Detroit Hindu Students' Club and fully supported by the Detroit Chinese Students' Club. Hot speeches were delivered denouncing the inhuman and brutal foreign imperialists and capitalists who have been for so long and are still crushing the workers and common masses of both India and China.

Resolutions were also adopted by the Hindu students to the effect that the Indian congress will immediately withdraw all the Hindu troops and police forces from the Chinese soil, and to the effect that a telegram will be sent by the Hindu residents here in Detroit to all Hindu organizations in U. S. A. urging their immediate taking side with the Chinese all thruout the states in their actions toward the liberation movement in China.

A donation was also immediately raised right there and then to be sent to China to help along the strikers.

Bosses' Protectors Meet.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 13.—The thirty-second annual convention of the international association of chiefs of police got under way here today to continue for four days with more than 150 police heads in attendance.

'PEACE AND JUSTICE' CLOAK U. S. MOVE TO WORLD WAR

By HARRISON GEORGE.

With the full consent of Coolidge, Secretary of State Kellogg has returned to his desk at Washington determined to fight with every diplomatic weapon at hand to checkmate the Anglo-Japanese effort to stop the American government from using the advantage of the nine-power pact in the present Chinese upheaval to forward the interests of American imperialism in China at the expense of British and Japanese positions already existing.

The American diplomacy is—like that of other nations—designed to effect the maximum of imperialist advantage, with propaganda skillful enough

FINNISH WORKER TO TRIAL UNDER ESPIONAGE LAW

Mrs. Kannasto Fights Deportation Action

(Special to The Daily Worker)

DULUTH, Minn., July 13—It is very likely that Mrs. Sanna Kannasto, Finnish working woman held under the wartime passport act will be brot to trial at the next session of the U. S. district court here. Mrs. Kannasto was arrested several months ago by the immigration authorities on the advice of an informer who said she was a "red" who had been very active in the Finnish revolution.

Mrs. Kannasto was arrested after she had crossed the border from Canada without interference. She has proven at several hearings that she has lived in the U. S. and Canada for 20 years and has passed freely back and forth many times.

Nevertheless she will be brot to trial under a war-time act on the grounds that she is not a citizen of the United States. The International Labor Defense of Chicago has undertaken the defense of Mrs. Kannasto, who is free on $10,000 bail.

Pope's Quarrel With Czecho-Slovakian Government Unabated

ROME, July 13.— The vatican remained adamant today in its controversy with the Czecho-Slovakian government, which resulted in the withdrawal of the papal Nuncio from Prague.

Spain Refuses to Attack.

MADRID, Spain, July 13.—Dictator Primo de Rivera has rejected the French appeal for Spanish co-operation against the Moroccan troops, it is reported here.

The Spanish government insisted that the international zone around Tangier be given to Spain in return for a Spanish offensive, but England rejected this proposal as a danger to her fortifications at Gibraltar.

Quake in East Unlikely.

NEW YORK, July 13.—The probability of an earthquake on the Atlantic coast is almost negligible, due to the structure of the earth in this region, Professor Emanuel Freidlander, a German-Italian geologist, said today on arrival from Italy.

NEW YORK, July 13.— Week-end fatalities among motorists and swimmers around New York totalled ten, according to a police estimate. Six persons were killed in various motor accidents and four were drowned.

Hold Anti-Evolution Law Unconstitutional

the ranks of prosecuting counsel who repudiated a "gentleman's agreement" to devote today's session to arguments over the admissibility of scientific testimony reconciling evolution with the biblical story of the divine creation of man. This change caused a postponement of a much advertised debate between Clarence Darrow, defender of evolution, and William Jennings Bryan, standard bearer for fundamentalism.

The prosecution's attitude forced defense counsel to launch at once their fight against the constitutionality of the anti-evolution law. Their chief weapon was a motion to dismiss the indictment against Scopes on the ground that the law violates the constitutional guarantees of religious liberty, freedom of thought, property rights and for the preservation of science.

Throw Out Evolutionist.

The smouldering fires of religious intolerance swept one modernist minister from his pulpit here and resulted in another preaching his sabbath sermon in the presence of armed sheriffs' deputies.

The situation was such that Sheriff R. B. Harris announced himself "prepared for trouble."

As a result of the sabbath outburst, Rev. H. G. Byrd, pastor of the methodist episcopal church north, resigned his post and started out today to hunt a new job. He quit when his congregation threatened to "break up his church" if he permitted Dr. Charles Francis Potter, unitarian minister, to occupy his pulpit. Byrd, a lean fighting carpenter by profession, barred his church door to Potter and then locked it on himself.

Byrd has a wife and three children. He said he would try to find work either as a carpenter or electrician.

Altho barred from the church, Dr. Potter finally delivered his sermon from a platform on the courthouse grounds, where William Jennings Bryan had spoken earlier.

Prayers For Litigant.

The religious issue leaped to the fore when counsel for the defense formally protested against opening the trial with a prayer.

The protest was voiced to presiding Judge John T. Raulston by Clarence Darrow just as court convened.

"Is it customary," ask Darrow, "to open a case in this court with a prayer for the success of one of the litigants?"

"It is the usual custom," the court replied, "to have a prayer if there is a minister present."

Bryan Angers Catholic.

Bryan faced two new controversies as a result of his sermons to Dayton audiences.

On one side he was attacked by Michael Williams, editor of The Commonwealth, a catholic publication for his alleged purpose to "put god into the constitution." On the other he was criticised by Dr. Charles France Potter, unitarian of New York, for his "lack of knowledge" of the schooling of Jesus.

Bryan said: "The purpose of this trial is merely to prevent attacks on the Bible and the introduction of irreligion or forms of religion antagonistic to the religion of the taxpayers."

"If this," said Williams, replying, "is not an open and avowed intention to bring about a union between state and one particular form of religious belief (protestant fundamentalism), then there seems to be no sense in Mr. Bryan's words."

Bryan Doesn't Know Bible.

The attack on Bryan's biblical knowledge on Jesus' education came when Dr. Potter spoke from a platfrom occupied earlier by Bryan for an afternoon sermon.

"It is perfectly evident to me that he (Bryan) has been too busy doing other things to read his Bible," Potter said.

Twelve Scientists to Testify.

Twelve nationally known scientists are here or enroute to Dayton to testify for the defense in the Scopes anti-evolution trial, it was announced this afternoon by Clarence Darrow of counsel for the defense.

"PEACE AND JUSTICE" CLOAKING U. S. MOVE TOWARD NEW WAR

to justify making war if need be upon highly moral grounds and always "in the interest of the peace of the world."

War Makers Always Talk Peace.

American imperialism's pretensions of a desire for peace and its cunning propaganda designed to make the masses believe its government is morally justified in contesting the interests of Britain and Japan even to the point of war, is based upon the seemingly praiseworthy issue of actually fulfilling the agreement called the "Nine-Power Pact" with reference to "considering ultimate abolition" of extra-territoriality in China, and the highly moral end of "bringing peace to China and the Far East."

The effort to put Britain and Japan in a bad light before the American masses as provokers of a war, can easily be seen in the news dispatches of the capitalist press. No capitalist news from Washington or Swampscott is free from subtle propaganda to justify the attitude of American imperialism's governmental mouthpiece. An example may be seen in the following quotation from a capitalist news agency today:

Putting Propaganda Over.

"Failure of Great Britain and Japan to accept at once the American suggestions that sufficient time has now elapsed since the Washington armament conference to go ahead with the program outlined there for the political development of China, has handicapped the secretary of state, but he feels that the door has not been closed to a new conference and that sooner or later the powers will have to get together."

But the desire of American imperialism is not to relieve China of her imperialist exploiters, but merely to gain the position of dominance in that exploitation now held by Britain and Japan for her own interests.

In order to bring China to a realization that the United States by no means intends that its attitude is a grant of recognition for the right of the Chinese people to proceed to eject all imperialists with their own revolutionary powers, the American state department, simultaneously with the movement against Britain and Japan, also warns the Peking government that the United States strictly insists that China "observe the treaties" and fully protect all foreign people and property.

Warning China Not to "Go Too Far"

This leaves the loophole open for American armed intervention, if necessary, at the moment most suitable to replace Anglo-Japanese control with American control—because to demand that the Chinese government guarantee "protection" in all parts of China while the government is prevented by these same foreign nations, including America, thro robbing it of funds by control of funds by control of the customs, is—as was described by a current writer—"Like choking a man with both hands while commanding him to sing like a Caruso."

The insistence by the U. S. government upon a conference is a declaration of war upon British and Japanese interests. The demand upon China to protect all foreigners is a threat of armed intervention against any liberation movement of the Chinese people, especially if it allies itself with Soviet Russia. Yet both of these are put forth to the masses as a movement designed to "preserve world peace and settle the Chinese situation with justice for all."

America, seeking for an outlet for trade and financial control of China rather than the conquest by arms of territorial spheres such as Great Britain now holds, can afford to talk peace and agree to renounce extra-territoriality (with reservations)—of Chinese soil held by Japan and Britain!

Where U. S. Clashes With Soviet Russia.

America is proceeding, by a pretense of friendship, to mimic the real friendship extended to the Chinese people by Soviet Russia, hoping to gain more by that tactic than by the use of arms—which America will use, however, if need be.

This struggle against Soviet Russia for influence in China is, of course, another aspect of American imperialism outside the view of this article which sketches the immediate clash between American imperialism and that of England and Japan.

The wolf of imperialist diplomacy stalks its prey in the sheep's clothing of ardent efforts for peace. American diplomacy at the present hour is no exception.

Directors Meet to Bury Fake Grain Co-operative Merger

Directors of the Grain Marketing Co., the $26,000,000 fake co-operative organization, went into session here today to wind up the company's affairs so far as the merger of the big grain companies—the Armour Grain Co., the Rosenbaum Co., and Rausenbaum Brothers is concerned.

Today's meeting was to decide under what conditoins, if any, the "co-operative" plan was to be carried on. One suggestion was that the organization be re-incorporated under the laws fo Minnesota which differ from those of Illinois under which it now is incorporated.

ARRAIGN SIX MORE IN CONNECTION WITH COLLAPSE OF CLUB

BOSTON, July 13.—Six more defendants, charged with manslaughter in connection with the collapse of the Pickwick club building, which caused the death of 44 persons, were arraigned in superior court today before Judge Lummus. Each pleaded not guilty and were held in bail of $2,000 each.

Each of the defendants was indicted on two counts of manslaughter.

MOBILIZES UNIONS FOR GOVERNMENT

Green a Perfect Echo for Kellogg

WASHINGTON, D. C. July 13.—The class collaborationist function of the higher labor union bureucracy of the American Federation of Labor was no better discharged by Samuel Gompers in the days when he delivered American labor to the "war for democracy" than when William Green responded instantly to the need to mobilize working class opinion for the position of American imperialist interest as stated by Secretary of State Kellogg Sunday after interviewing President Coolidge.

Always "Stand Behind the Gov't."

The policy of Green is (just as the policy of Gompers was) to follow exactly in the steps of the American state department in all foreign policies, not going an inch further or trailing an inch behind.

There is no astonishment then, that Green, now President of the A. F. of L., should, within 24 hours after the policy of the United States government was announced, have made public the following letter to President Coolidge "asking for a conference of the powers on China." The letter, written for propaganda, reads:

"Sir: On behalf of the American labor movement, I wish to urge for your favorable consideration and speedy action that the United States take the initiative in calling an international conference to make plans to abolish extra-territorial rights in China.

"Since the Washington conference on the limitation of armaments and political questions in the Pacific and Far East, convened at our invitation in 1921, provided for the appointment of a commission to study this subject and that action was not carried out, there devolves upon us a responsibility for keeping the faith with China and the friends of international justice to see to it that the intent of that pledge is redeemed.

There is every reason to believe that the fundamental cause for present disturbances in China is due to special privileges given foreign nations in treaty pacts and that the abolition of extra-territorial rights of foreigners is necessary to China's administrative integrity and sovereignty. The Chinese are an ancient and honorable people who have developed a distinctive culture of rare qualities, and they have a right to demand the respect and defense accorded to national sovereignty.

"Our American trade union movement believes firmly that our republic stands for ideals of human justice and equality of opportunity for all and that these ideals must direct not only national policies, but our relations with other countries."

It will be quite as easy, however, for Green as it was for Gompers, to change clear around if the government does, and express a contrary policy.

FIVE MINERS GO TO HOSPITAL IN VEIN EXPLOSION

By AUGUST VALENTINE.
(Worker Correspondent.)

NANTICOKE, Pa., July 13. — The Pittston hospital is a receiver of five more victims as a result of an explosion in the Red Ash vein at the Exeter Colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal Co. which last year made over seven million dollars in profit. The miners are beginning to realize thru bitter experience that the profits of the coal barons are made out of the mangled bodies of the miners.

A cave-in in an old working forced a pocket of gas into the shaft where the men worked and the explosion followed. As the news of the explosion spread, a large crowd, composed of the wives, children, and friends of the miners gathered at the foot of the shaft. It is said at the hospital that the men will recover.

Another "Incident."

A minor explosion occurred in the mine where I work. The miner was burned about the face and hands. Altho the explosion took place Saturday, I did not learn about it till Tuesday, as the company did its best to cover up the news of the accident.

Donkey Not Monkey to be Hit Hard by Bryan's Raid Against Animal Kingdom

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

TODAY, interest shifts to a very great extent, from the courtroom at Dayton, Tenn., where the anti-evolution trial is under way, to the future political possibilities growing out of this struggle featuring William Jennings Bryan, for 30 years one of big leaders in the democratic party.

The trial is being held in the heart of "the Solid South," rock-ribbed democratic territory. Bryan has been for years a resident of Florida, with the South adopting him as a "native son," altho an immigrant from Nebraska. There is no doubt that the South, with Dayton, Tenn., as an example, is adamant for Bryan's religious fundamentalism. One preacher, who showed a little indication of dissent, has already been driven from his pulpit, another delivered his message with shotgun protection, while a travelling free-thinker, who sought enjoyment of his constitutional right of free speech, was arrested by Dayton's "law and order," and then run out of town.

• • • •

It is this blind fanaticism that Charles Michelson, a well-informed Washington correspondent, says is considered a joke in New York, Chicago and Boston, but, he adds, "so was prohibition a dozen years ago."

Michelson says that Bryan's "reversion to the mental habits of the dark ages," may become as great a political issue as either the ku klux klan or prohibition, claiming that it was these two problems that kept Coolidge in the White House "by turning the democratic convention into a dog fight and thus transforming the prospect of a probable victory into the most hopeless of campaigns."

• • • •

One of the contradictions of the American political struggle is the fact that Bryan and Clarence Darrow, who now face each other in combat in the Tennessee courtroom, have been for years boon companions in politics. Back in January, 1896, before Bryan had been nominated for the presidency in that year following the delivery of his impassioned "Cross of Gold" speech, "the Commoner" as he was later dubbed, was collaborating with Darrow and Ignatius Donnelly, the Minnesota populist leader, in an effort to unite the nation's reform forces. Bryan's maneuver was crowned with success, since he received the nomination that year of both the democratic and populist parties. But that was the last of the populists. And Mark Hanna, Wall Street's republican chief, put the finishing touches on Bryan on election day.

• • • •

Both Bryan and Darrow were at the New York democratic convention last year. They saw the klan and liquor issues rend the democratic gathering. They have since seen desperate efforts on the part of the democratic leaders to unite their scattered forces. But without success. The Tammany Hall wing in New York clings to catholic, anti-dry governor Al Smith more desperately than ever; the far west is for McAdoo, while the Bryan brothers, William Jennings and Charles W., lay claims to the South and parts of the Middle West. Again quoting from the Washington correspondent, Michelson, we find:

> "It is no safe assertion that the world has progressed so far that the Scopes incident is merely an interesting demonstration of the persistence of intolerance in an isolated community. There are innumerable Daytons thruout the South and West, and they will be heard from. Mr. Bryan might quite easily be the Peter the Hermith of the occasion. It is the kind of role into which he fits perfectly. Opportunity for an impassioned appeal to emotionalism and faith .... burning words and revival incoherency, with the right kind of slogan .... and no one can tell how far he will carry it."

• • • •

Altho there may be differences of opinion as to the trend future political events may have; there is agreement that Bryan will seek to exploit the Dayton trial for his own political purposes. This cannot help but disrupt still further, rather than strengthen the democratic party. Perhaps in his blind frenzy Bryan may even attempt to organize a party of his own, emphasizing the divisions, and causing a break in the ranks of the capitalist class. Communists must ever be ready to take advantage of such schisms rending the class enemy of labor.

STRIKERS LAUGH AT I. T. C. TRICK

C., pushed himself thru the strikers with an official sort of manner, and thus calling attention to himself, "accidentally" dropped a fake telegram which purported to be from the New York shops, saying that all Chicago work should be sent to New York as it "would be well taken care of."

Loud guffaws of laughter swept the strikers' ranks when they read this phoney telegram. "they agreed" the work they send to New York will be taken good care of—all rightee! "We have a strong membership of the Amalgamated there to take care of such things—we certainly have, and anybody who thinks the Chicago clothing workers can be split away from the New York clothing workers of the Amalgamated, or vice versa, is due for a surprise."

Unity With All Workers

In this case the New York shops of the I. T. C. and the J. L. T. outfit are tied up tighter than a drum. There is not even one scab trying to work. And no one of sense would try.

It is doubtful if the United Garment scab crew will try to furnish any more scabs in the face of universal denunciation. The ratty officials of the U. G. haven't got the guts of a slugger and when they visit the bosses at the shop, these "union labor leaders" dare not come up without a body guard to save them from the rightfully indignant workers they betray.

Daily Worker Seen Everywhere

The DAILY WORKER is seen everywhere among the strikers and is read with interest and appreciation for its clear-cut stand for the winning of the strike in the interest of the rank and file of the workers and its clarion calls for labor solidarity.

Today, so it was announced at the meeting, the amount of strike benefit to be paid those on strike will be made known, and how it will be paid. This is an item of great interest and importance to the strikers and they look forward to today's announcement. They feel that the organization as a whole is behind them when this earnest of their interest is made.

The five strikers arrested Saturday appeared in court yesterday and demanded a jury trial, which was granted and postponed. Two strikers were arrested yesterday morning.

MacMillan Turns Back to Hopedale to Repair Bowdoin

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The flagship Bowdoin of the MacMillan arctic expedition damaged its propellor north of Hopedale, Labrador, and is turning back, said a radio dispatch this afternoon to the national geographic society from Commander Donald B. MacMillan.

The Bowdoin will return to Hopedale, where the ship will be beached and the necessary repairs made. While the Bowdoin is being repaired, the airplane carrier Peary will put into a nearby port for coal.

The message was picked up in England and relayed to Washington thru a station in New Jersey.

Political Differences Bring Divorce.

VIENNA, July 13.— Karl Schmidt and his former wife Marie, were free today on a divorce granted because their political views clashed. Schmidt is a socialist, his wife an extreme nationalist. The judge granted the divorce without blame to either.

FASCISTS JAIL PROFESSOR ON 'TREASON' CHARGE

No Evidence Against Florence Teacher

BULLETIN.

FLORENCE, Italy, July 13.—In a packed court room, Prof. Gaetano Salvemini, of the faculty of the University of Florence was placed on trial today charged with writing and circulating pamphlets insulting the king and the Italian government.

• • •

(Special to The Daily Worker.)

ROME, Italy, July 13. — Professor Gaetano Salvemini, professor of modern history of the University of Florence, will be brot to trial on July 15, by the fascist authorities, charged with "treason."

Prof. Salvemini is charged with writing for an opposition newspaper outlawed by the fascisti, Non Mollare (Don't Weaken).

The only "evidence" against Salvemini is the statement of a printer that it seemed to him that the person who once gave him a manuscript for the paper, "mentioned Salvemini."

The arrest of the noted professor early in June astonished all Italy. At the same time three other professors at the university were arrested for attempting to place a wreath of flowers on the monument to Garibaldi, in memory of Giacomo Matteotti, socialist deputy who was murdered a year ago by fascist leaders.

Defense Sends $250.00.

A letter from George W. Wright of the Honolulu Central Labor Council to the International Labor Defense asked that money be sent to help pay the expenses of the court battle for the release of Crouch and Trumbull, Communist soldiers under sentence there. Now that the cases are in the civil courts, Wright expressed the hope that Crouch and Trumbull would be released on bail.

International Labor Defense immediately sent a check for $250.00 and will raise further funds to be sent to Hawaii.

Politicals on Hunger Strike.

VIENNA—(By Mail.)—One hundred thirty political prisoners in the Kishenev, Bessarabia prison, have declared a hunger strike as a sign of protest against the unbearable conditions and medieval regime prevailing in the prison. The majority of those accused, have been in prison from 6 to 12 months without having any charge whatever brot up against them. The repressions of the Roumanian reactionary Boyar government have literally filled the prisons of Bessarabia with workers and peasants, who have rebelled against political tyranny.

Keep Away from Twin Cities.

St. Paul, July 13—Misleading advertisements in Detroit and other cities are responsible for a warning by organized labor to workers to keep away from St. Paul and Minneapolis. "Give the labor organizations of the northwest an opportunity to bring conditions up to standard," advises the Union Advocate, official Minnesota labor organ.

The most important work in literary and social criticism in many years.

THE NEWER SPIRIT
By V. F. CALVERTON

Michael Gold wrote the author:

"It delights me to see that we have at least a real philosopher in our revolutionary ranks. Your work is on a plane with the best writings of the Russian critics—the first class men among them. It seems incredible that a man of your insight, scholarship and temperament should be so red and fundamental."

30,000 GARMENT WORKERS CHEER SPEAKERS WHO ADVOCATE POLICY OF STRUGGLE AGAINST BETRAYAL

By JOSEPH MANLEY.

NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.—This city has witnessed the greatest open air mass demonstration in the history of the militant New York labor history.

Yankee Stadium located far-up-town and reached only after a long ride on the Subway, was the scene of the demonstration. The immense ball park was jamed with Cloak and Dressmakers members of Locals 2, 9 and 22. Nothing but the modern microphone and amplifiers allowed the great gathering literally to drink in every word of the speakers, who were all members or officers of the three suspended executvie boards.

Nailing the old Fairy Tale

In spite of the attacks of the yellow Forward and its printed "appeal" to the Cloak and Dressmakers, the gathering was a laughing, jolly but militant mass of men and women Cloak and Dressmakers, who filled thru the turnstile entrances and showed their union books to the Sergeants-at-Arms who permitted only those having books to enter. The reason for this was the action taken by the meeting and to hurl back in the teeth of the Sigman crew their stock cry: "It was not a meeting of Cloak and Dressmakers."

The meeting was held in the typical New York manner, which meant "right after work," from 5:30 to 10:30 p. m. The chairman was Sasha Zimmerman and the speakers were Julius Portnoy, manager of Local 22; Rose Wortis, executive board Local 22; Joseph Burchowitz, manager of Local 12; Louis Hyman, manager of Local 9, and Morris Rubin, of Local 22. The auspices under which the meeting was held was the Joint Commitee of Action of the three locals.

Hyman's Call.

A great roar of approval from the throats of the assembled Cloak and Dressmakers, that could be heard almost at Times Square, when Hyman in his native graphic Yiddish said: "Let us give notice to these 'low lives' that just as we drove out the gangsters of Czar Nicholas, so we will be strong enuf to drive out Sigman and his gangsters. To tell Sigman and Co. thru this great gathering: Take your hands off the membership, we warn you and we warn the bosses that you have no right to represent the membership and that we will not pay attention to "your" agreements; that if you will attempt to terrify us we will stop the 'electric' in the shops and go on a great strike if necessary."

Chairman Zimmerman, in opening up the meeting declared:

"This is a historic meeting even in the history of our union. We gather here this evening to review the events that have led up to the present situation; to restate once more our purposes and policies. We are opposed to splitting tactics and want our union for the rank and file. We want to get rid of a few individuals who have fastened themselves upon the back of the rank and file. This great revolt is the result of years of struggle. We are still keeping the 'barricades' and we intend to keep them."

Portnoy on Class Collaboration.

Portnoy was the first speaker. He told how the new administration of Local 22, had been sabotaged by the Sigman gang. He dealt with the governor's commission pointing out that it was supposed to bring peace in the industry.

Saying that: "Instead of pressing our demands upon the governor's commission, they have been making war upon us and so neglecting the demands of the workers. The time is not far away when they will have to leave the union. They are not there for idealism. If there is no pay they will not stay for a day, and you have refused to pay your dues to the joint board. As long as these people are at the head of the I. L. G. W. we will not pay them one cent." (Applause.)

Wortis Tells of Defense.

Rose Wortis, the next speaker, declared: "You know it is not because we are Communists, but because we fight for the issues of the workers, the Sigman, Feinberg, and Perlstein want to expell us. From the very beginning our policies and those of the administration have been different. It is because we hold these views that they have tried to break the Dressmakers Union.

"They say in the yellow press, that we are splitters. I want to say that they, and not we, are the real splitters. We have proven by years of service, that we work for unity and for the interests of the rank and file. We have seen our union press turn agent-provacatuers: we have seen our joint board office turned into a police station, where workers were held for arrest, we have seen our own office Local 22 held by us behind barricades, day and night for four weeks. For four weeks we have withstood their atack and today have real unity in our ranks."

Hyman's Great Speech.

Louis Hyman was introduced as "The lawyer and our chief counsellor. Hyman declared "I never studied law in college, but I think I know enuf to protect the workers against Hilquit and such lawyers."

Hyman went into the demands of the Cloak and Dressmakers. He told the story of the general attitude of the Sigman gang toward the fundamental problem in the trade, that of the contractors and jobbers.

He recalled how Bisno had been ousted from office in the middle of the night by this same gang, just as they had done with Local 2 and 9. And after Bisno, his successor, Professor Hourwich, was treated in almost the same manner. He said "they are used to collecting dues, they cannot get them voluntarily, now they want to collaborate with the bosses' association, so that it will help them to collect."

Demonstration for Hyman.

At the close of Hyman's speech a tremendous demonstration took place, finally when Chairman Zimmerman's voice thru the amplifiers stilled the enthusiastic workers, he read a resolution which set forth the grievances of the three locals and called for the support of the membership in the struggle of Locals 2, 9 and 22 against the misleaders of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

The resolution called for the resignation of Sigman, Pearlstein and Feinberg, and asked the membership to refuse to pay dues and taxes until these resignations and reforms in the organization have taken effect. The resolution also pledged the membership to the raising of a defense fund to help carry on the struggle.

The vote on the resolution, (given below) from this great assembly of the membership was unanimous, just as was the vote on a motion which quickly followed, registering full confidence in the Joint Committee of Action. This following a fiery speech by teh old fighter "Mershe" Rubin. Then the gathering dispersed.

The Resolution.

"Whereas, a few individuals, notably Morris Sigman, president, Meyer Perlstein, vice-president, and Israel Feinberg, vice-president and manager of the Joint Board, have arrogated to themselves the power and misused the name of the General Executive Board of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union and of the Joint Board of the Locals of the said union in the City of New York, for the purpose of disrupting the said organization and particularly the New York Local unions; and

"Whereas, in the execution of their said nefarious purpose they have employed illegal and unconstitutional means and strong-arm methods by attempting to suspend the three largest locals of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union in this city in an unconstitutional manner by preferring false and malicious charges against all of the officers and members of the executive boards of the said locals contrary to the provisions of the constitution of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, and have by force and the use of strong-arm methods illegally obtained possession of the headquarters, records and property of Locals 2 and 9 and

A Long Struggle.

"Whereas, these actions were the culmination of a long struggle within the union in whcih the said three individuals, taking advantage of the undemocratic constititution of the Joint Board have attempted to foist upon an unwilling membership of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union of this city policies objectionable to them both in methods of internal organization as well as in dealing with employers, such as the imposition of high dues and special taxes for the purpose of raising large revenues which were unnecessary for the regular and ordinary business of the union, but which enabled the said individuals to maintain an expensive and corrupt machinery upon which they based their powers in the union, and the calling of fictitious strikes and stoppages as an excuse for the raising of the said revenues and as an opportunity to illegally squander the same by corrupt and illegal methods; and

"Whereas, in order to mask the real struggle going on in the International Ladies Garment Workers Union between the membership and its misleaders, the said misleaders have raised the false and fictitious cry of "Communism" so as to raise a smoke screen behind which they could pursue unpunished their illegal and criminal methods of warfare;

"We, the members of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union resident in New York assembled in mass meeting at the Yankee Stadium in the City of New York on this 9th day of July, 1925, on the call of Locals 2, 9 and 22, do hereby

"We, the Membership."

"Resolve, that we hereby express our sympathy and pledged our loyal and devoted co-operation with Locals 2, 9 and 22 in their struggle against the misleaders of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, and particularly against the individuals named; and we hereby approve the action of Locals 2, 9 and 22 in electing a Joint Committee of Action to take all necessary means for the protection of the officers and executive boards of the said three locals, as well as the entire membership of the said local unions and their property from illegal attacks; and we hereby express our sense of solidarity with them in this struggle, which we believe to be for the benefit of the entire membership of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union thruout the country and for the protection of their rights as members of the said union.

"Resolved, Further, that the said struggle is in our opinion a struggle for true and correct policies of trade unionism, that its origin and development is purely along questions of internal policy of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, such as dues and other burdens imposed upon the membership, and the proper or improper attitude taken by the leaders in the struggle with employers, and that the issue of "Communism" is faked by Messrs. Sigman, Perlstein and Feinberg and their confederates for the purpose of obscuring the real issues involved in this struggle; and we hereby expressly assert that Messrs. Sigman, Perlstein and Feinberg never hesitated to employ Communists or anarchists in their service when it suited their purposes.

Call to All Labor.

"We therefore call upon all the members of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union in the City of New York and thruout the contry, and upon all organized labor, to disregard the smoke screen attempted by Messrs. Sgiman, Perlstein, Feinberg & Co., and the inquiry into and examination of the real issues involved in this struggle, which are of great importance not only to all of the members of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, but to all organized labor, as all organized labor is interested in honest and democratic management of the unions and in the suppression of any attempts to ally organized labor with the criminal underworld or to in any way use the latter in the struggle between workers and employers.

"Resolved, Further, that in our opinion the raising of the dues of the membership in New York City from 35c to 50c, and the imposition of a special tax of $2.50 were both unjustified and unnecessary, and that the tax was imposed unconstitutionally, and that the raising of the dues and the imposition of the tax had as their sole purpose the raising of a vast corruption fund so as to enable the misleaders of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union to maintain themselves in power by illegal and corrupt means.

Demand Resignatinons.

"Resolved, Further, that in our opinion the troubles in the International Ladies Garment Workers Union will not cease so long as the present leaders, and particularly Morris Sigman, Meyer Perlstein and Israel Feinberg, stand at its head and are in control of its affairs, and until the composition of the Joint Board in the City of New York will be changed in accordance with the requirements of democracy, so as to provide for proportional representation, each local to be entitled to representation according to its membership, thus doing away with the Rotten Boroughs of paper locals.

"We therefore demand the immediate resignation of Morris Sigman, Meyer Perlstein and Israel Feinberg, from the offices now held by them; and the taking of immediate steps towards the reconstruction of the Joint Board in the City of New York, in accordance with the requirements of democratic principles.

"And we call upon the membership of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union to refuse to pay any dues or taxes until the said resignations have been obtained and proper steps taken towards the institution of the said reforms, and not to recognize the authority of the few individuals now misusing the name of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union in an illegal and uconstitutional manner.

Have No Authority.

"We also hereby declare publicly that the said leaders have no authority to make in our name any agreements with any employers, and that we will not recognize any agreement unless the same are negotiated with our true representatives and submitted to the membership for their decision under conditions that will insure an untrammelled vote and an honest count thereof.

"We hereby also declare that until the constitutional machinery of the local unions of New York City has been restored, the Joint Action Committee elected by Locals 2, 9, and 22, is the only authorized body to speak in the name of the Cloak and Dressmakers of New York City.

"We hereby also pledged our selves to the raising of a defense fund to enable the carrying on of this struggle, and we hereby call upon all members of the International Ladies Garment Union in New York and elsewhere and upon all their sympathisers to contribute liberally towards this fund."

MINNEAPOLIS LEFT WING CONFERENCE VICTORY EOR LABOR

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 13.—The conference of the left wing elements in the local trade union movement successfully brought out forty members representing different organizations.

This conference laid down a foundation for a permanent organization of the left wing. The weaknesses of the local labor movement were thoroly discussed, and it was the concensus of opinion among all those present that a fighting program for reconstruction would have to be adopted.

To that end a resolution for a campaign to "organize the unorganized" was adopted. All those present recognized that the initiative for this work would have to be taken by the left wing.

A spirit of work prevailed among the members present, and a real desire to achieve effective progress in the work of building up the trade unions of the city.

Other conferences will follow bimonthly.

The reactionaries made a crude attempt to sabotage this conference. They notified the capitalist press that this was an attempt to set up a dual central body. In their zeal to keep the wet blanket over the labor movement, and thus prevent its growth and progress, they stop at nothing to forestall the efforts of the honest workers to do constructive work. This flimsy attempt on their part, failed completely. The rank and file is aware that the left wing element possesses a real program of action.

SUMMARY GIVEN OF GOVERNOR'S TRICK 'AWARD'

Workers' Resentment Growing Fast

NEW YORK CITY, July 13.— The report of the governor's commission to which "impartial" swindling the Sigman gang has betrayed the membership of the I. L. G. W. with the yellow socialist Hillquit as Sigman's spokesman, has been given out at last.

A summary of the recommendation follows:

Bureau of Research.—The commission recommends that a bureau of research be established under joint auspices and it be partly financed by contributions from independent manufacturers, submanufacturers and jobbers as well as by contributions from the parties to the collective agreements and from the unemployment insurance fund.

The Sanitary Label.—We strongly urge the fullest possible development of the use of the label. The standards adopted by the joint board of sanitary control should be rigidly enforced and gradually improved so that the public may rely on the labels guaranteeing that the garments upon which they appear are manufactured and produced in shops having high standards of sanitation and modern working conditions.

Shop Strikes—The commission believes that the shop strike in the industry is harmful to the interests of all parties concerned and is contrary to the spirit of the collective agreements. Energetic steps should be taken to prevent the occurrence of these shop strikes, and it is recommended that the union issue explicit and frequent instructions that under all circumstances, shop strikes are to be avoided.

Reorganization—We are not prepared to make any definite recommendations on this subject at present. We suggest that the industrial council and the union confer on this matter.

Discounts—The commission wishes further data on this subject. The recommendation is that the two associations involved agree to accept a decision of the commission to be rendered during the fall. If any change is then recommended, it is to become effective for the business of the spring season.

Net Yardage—The sub-manufacturers should be called upon to pay only for the actual yardage received. In other words, they should be charged only with the net yardage after sponging. To charge the submanufacturers with shrinkage in materials thru the process of sponging is a constant source of irritation and gives rise to frequent unnecessary disputes.

Unemployment Insurance—The facts brought out by the investigation shows clearly that the periods of employment are on the average much shorter in the jobber-manufacturer system than in the inside shops. It is the employes in this system who make the heaviest demands upon the insurance fund. Having in mind this situation the commission recommends that the insurance items to be paid by the jobbers be increased to 50 per cent, as against the schedule now in force.

"No Change" in Wage Scale.

The commission does not find it practicable to propose any change at this time. It recommends that in the new contracts the several parties agree to accept a decision on this subject during the fall. This will be on the understanding that if any increase will be granted, it will go into effect for the spring season.

Independent—(a) No contract shall be entered into by the union and a jobber, manufacturer and (or) submanufacturer who was suspended from membership in Merchants' Ladies' Garment Association, or Cloak and Suit Protective Association, or American Cloak and Suit Manufacturers' Association because of failure to comply with an award made against him on complaint filed by or thru the union or any other party to the collective agreements, or who has been suspended for failure to pay his dues, assessments and (or) charges levied against him for the purpose of carrying into effect any provision of the collective agreement with the union, until such jobber and (or) manufacturer and (or) contractor shall have paid to the association all such charges.

(b) The contracts between the union and independent jobbers, manufacturers and sub-manufacturers shall provide for the deposit in cash or its equivalent with the union of a sum sufficient to cover any damage by reason of any violation committed by such independent sub-manufacturer, manufacturer and (or) jobber.

(c) Such contracts shall provide that the independent submanufacturers, manufacturer or jobber shall contribute to a fund for the expenses of the bureau of research in amounts to be approved by the impartial chairman.

That "Impartial" Chairman.

The commission does not believe that the expenses of the impartial chairman should be paid in part by the independents. The impartial chairman and his machinery should be reserved for the adjustment of disputes between the members of associations and the union, who are parties to the collective agreement in the industry, except in so far as controversies involving independents may, by consent of the parties to the collective agreements, be submitted to the impartial chairman.

(d) No contract shall be made between the union and an independent sub-manufacturer, manufacturer and (or) jobber containing any provisions more favorable than the provisions in the contracts executed between the union and the various parties collectively, and all such individual agreements shall be open for inspection by the association and their duly accredited representatives at the office of the impartial chairman, at such times and under such conditions as he may designate.

(e) All such contracts shall provide that the books of an independent jobber, manufacturer and (or) sub-manufacturer against whom a complaint is made by any party to the collective agreements shall be open for inspection at such times and under such conditions as the impartial chairman may designate.

With the union led into a trap by Sigman and company the alleged "objections" of Hillquit to the "award" of such a raw deal was as weak and fraudulent as could be expected.

Too Many Lawyers to Expect "Justice"

Louis Solomon, attorney for the American Cloak and Suit Manufacturers' Association, representing the manufacturers, expressed his disappointment because the report did not do away with haggling over prices paid the manufacturers. Sam Blumberg, attorney for the Merchants' Ladies' Garment Association, merely said that the merchants would consider the report and report back. Evidently the big bosses have litttle to kick about. William Klein, another attorney completing the battery of lawyers who try to dispose of the destiny and lives of the workers, spoke for the industrial council of the Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Protective Association opined that things would come out all right thru the research bureau.

The expression of opinion of the workers in the shop is yet unformulated, but it will probably be in consonance with the individual opinion of the militant rank and filers of the I. L. G. W., that they expected nothing but betrayal from the Sigman gang and the council of lawyers and they are going to fight their own battles for their own interests.

BUILDING UNIONS OFFICIALS CARRY ON RUINOUS WAR

Members Want to Amalgamate; Officers Don't

NEW YORK CITY, July 13—Building trade workers should take notice of the significance of the present inexcusable jurisdictional quarrel between the Bricklayers' and the Plasterers' unions. It is a shining example of not only the need for amalgamation in the building industry, but of the fact that the members want amalgamation and the officials block it. This impossible situation will only be remedied by the rank and file of both unions taking hold of such obstructionist officers and piling them on the scrap heap.

The Bricklayers' officials do not wish to carry out the resolution for amalgamation passed at the 1921 convention; and the Plasterers' officials pretend to get insulted because the Bricklayers' resolution for amalgamation refers in passing to them as being a "dual" union Both sides are happy to find some excuse to set the membership at swords' points with each other.

The Progressive Building Trades Worker published at 156 West Washington street, Chicago, has the following enlightening remarks to make in a recent issue:

Probably the most stupid and criminal jurisdictional fight that has ever taken place in the history of the building trades, is that between the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers International Union and the Operative Plasterers' and Cement Finishers' International Association. Here are two organizations covering practically the same field. The only solution is amalgamation, and yet the officials have decided to fight it out. This means that both unions will be materially weakened, to the detriment of the members of both organizations.

At the last convention of the Bricklayers, held at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., September, 1924, the rank and file expressed themselves on this matter in the following resolution:

"Whereas, Owing to the deplorable conditions existing in the Plastering industry thruout the country, and such conditions being caused by the existence of a dual organization known as the O. P. and C. F. I. A., therefore be it

"Resolved, That the incoming Executive Board be empowered to spare no expense to protect the jurisdictional rights of the B. M. and P. I. U. and to use such efforts as will bring about the amalgamation of the O. P. I. A. and our International Union in order that dual unionism will forever disappear in so far as our craft is concerned, so that harmony may be established in the industry."

Members for Amalgamation.

This is a clear-cut declaration for amalgamation. It comes from the man on the job who is most affected by stupid internal strife. Yet how do the officials of both organizations greet this sensible and practical solution of the problem?

At the meeting of the officials of both organizations held last February, in Miami, Fla., to discuss this situation, the representatives of the Bricklayers, according to a circular letter sent out by the O. P. & C. F. I. A., said "that in their opinion there was no way out by conference, that it would be a long drawn out battle and that they had made preparations for same."

Both officialdoms agree to fight it out. The representatives of the Operative Plasterers even excuse the Bricklayers when they say, referring to the resolution passed at the Bricklayers' convention and the declaration of war, "We realize that they were compelled to do so in order to carry out the instructions of their last convention held at Saratoga Springs."

The representatives of the Operative Plasterers deliberately misinterpret the letter and the spirit of the resolution when they say, again referring to the resolution, "It would seem from the above action taken by the Bricklayers in their convention that we are considered by them as a 'dual' union of Plasterers and Cement Finishers." Both officialdoms find a ready excuse not to bring about unity, but to fight it out.

JOBLESS WORKER AND FAMILY GO TO JAIL TO KEEP FROM STARVING

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 13.—William Bowman, his wife and their two children voluntarity went to the Los Angeles jail to keep from starving to death. They are absolutely destitute, due to the husbands inability to get work.

Bowman has been loking for a job, without success, for four months and there is every reason to believe he is telling the truth. He is a radio worker, young and able bodied, yet he and his family are in jail as a last resort to keep from taking the long trip "west."

ARBITRATION CHANGE MEANS WAGE CUTTING

Boston Carmen Vote for Strike

By TOM BELL.

(Special to The Daily Worker.)

BOSTON, Mass., July 13—Union street car men employed by the Boston Elevated company have voted overwhelmingly for a strike to force the company to abandon their stand on arbitration. The vote was: For strike, 4,968; against 197. This empowers the wage committee to set the date for the strike, and to call it when advisable.

For many weeks the company has been insisting that the method of arbitration be changed. The union is insisting that the arbitration method laid down in the agreement with the company be carried out. Behind all this juggling with words there is the determination of the company to cut wages if at all possible.

It was against any possibility of a wage cut that the rank and file voted. This overwhelming vote for a strike is also a demand on the union officials that they cut loose from the continual conferences with the bosses on the question of arbitration.

The trustees of the company have visited Gov. Fuller to lay the case before him. It is stated that he is determined to take all steps possible to prevent a strike. President Green of the A. F. of L. is in town and stated that the differences between the union and the company are so slight that no trouble should be had in finding a common ground for a settlement. John H. Reardon, general executive board member of the union, is in charge of the situation.

All of these people seem to have lost sight of the fact that the carmen have voted for a strike, and that such a strike would bring the company to its knees. But they are all blabbering about a "common ground of agreement," and the statements of the governor and those of Green are identical. All of them are afraid of a strike. The rank and file know that they are faced with a cut in wages if strong action is not taken to bring the company to terms, and they have voted for such action.

3,000 WORKERS REFUSE TO DANCE TO BOSSES' MUSIC

Western Electric Has Successful Failure

By HARRY ALLEN.

(Worker Correspondent.)

True to their class character, some 3,000 workers of the Western Electric Co. refused to take part in a dance given by the company which was held Friday during lunch hour.

With a week of systematic publicity for an out-door dance for the employes, to be held at noon hour bringing a crowd estimated at about 2,000, yet, despite the popular dance music, no more than 30 to 40 couples danced at any one time.

Not a single worker with overalls on was seen to dance, altho there were hundreds there dressed in overalls, and only two girls were seen with their working dress on. Those who participated were of the chalk and flapper type of office workers.

The workers feel that the dance was put on to make them believe the company is good to them but they cannot forget their low wages, long hours and miserable working conditions no matter how good the company appears to be.

It Fools Them Too.

PARIS, July 13.—The French chamber of deputies has ratified the Washington eight-hour convention. This was one of the draft conventions adopted by the international labor conference at its first meeting in Washington in November, 1919.

MELLON SLAVES TOIL IN OPEN SHOP HELL HOLE

Aluminum Trust Hates Reds-Smashes Unions

By EUGENE GROSS.
(Worker Correspondent)

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 13.—The U. S. Aluminum company, owned by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, has a small plant in Fairfield, Conn. It employs about 250 workers, most of them foreigners. The pay for the unskilled workers—and about 75 per cent are unskilled—is from thirty-eight to fifty cents per hour. The plant works 44 hours per week, because the work we are doing is so hard that we are hardly able to do it even for eight hours.

"This Is an Open Shop, and Not a Card Shop"

If you look at the shop rules, that hang on every wall, you will see the above line that says "not a card shop." This line wants to tell the worker that this is an open shop and not a union shop.

And the conditions in the shop prove to you that it is not a 'card shop.' They are afraid of radicalism so much that during the election campaign someone wrote on the walls a few words about radicalism, and when the manager saw them, he became very frightened and instructed every foreman to find out who the bolsheviki were, and told him to discharge that worker right away. But they were unlucky and they could not find out who it was.

Work Faster

When the whistle blows in the morning, you have to be at your place, and you can't stop work before 12 o'clock. If you stop a few minutes before, the foreman goes to you and tells you that there isn't any washing time. They have a "bonus" system.

Every afternoon, the timekeeper goes from one worker to the other and writes up how much work he has done, how many pieces, and the number of the work.

The report goes up to the production office, where the white-collar slaves figure out how much—or how little—is coming to the worker. Of course the worker is only getting a few per cent of his over production and the big part of it goes into the pocket of the company or into the pocket of Mellon's fat trust.

Another thing the company is doing with its bonus system is to separate the workers. One is afraid that the other one might take away his good bonus job and so he gets angry at him. And so one worker becomes the enemy of the other; instead of hating the company they hate each other.

Toiling Like Animals

In the foundry the work is very hard. Especially during the hot summer days when they work in undershirts. The shirt gets all wet from the sweat of the slave. I went in their department to get a drink of water and I stood aside and watched how they carried the hot aluminum and they were tired and half dead.

I was thinking that if this army of slaves are going to wake up to their present condition, then the Mellons and the rest of the stockholders are not going to suck the workers' blood any longer.

Coolidge Saves at Workers' Expense.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 13.—President Coolidge has brot the mechanics from the yacht Mayflower to his summer home to repair his plumbing. He stands and watches them work. This is part of Coolidge's "economy program."

Soviet Demands Investigation.

MOSCOW, July 13.— The Soviet government has demanded of the Polish government the formation of a commission to investigate the burning of a Soviet border guard station by Polish soldiers.

The Activity of the Central Agitprop Department of the German Communist Party

By MAX ENGELS (Berlin)

THE activity of the central agitprop of the German C. P. has passed thru three epochs since first coming into exisctence eabh epoch representing a definite stage of development.

The first epoch comprises the time which the department was founded: August, 1923, till December, 1923; the second epoch extends from January until December, 1924; the third from January, 1925 until now.

In August, 1923, it was decided to form a special agitprop department for the centralization of the whole of our agitational and propagandist work. At the time of the founding of the agitprop no definite working plans had however been made; the limits of the field of activity had not yet been drawn. The vaguest ideas circulated as to the extent of work, and especially as to the co-ordination of work with the various departments of the party. Questions of method and technics were dealt with soldly by means of small discussions on special examples (the organization of a meeting or demonstration, debates on the method of educational work in the party). The essential difference between propaganda and agitation was not even clear to the leaders of the party.

ONE example of the defective organization and deficient knowledge of the essential character of agitprop work may be seen in the fact that altho the party publishers were subordinate to the agitprop in every branch of their work, the other departments of the party central (trade unions, co-operatives, land propaganda, etc.,) were not co-ordinated to the agitprop in any way. And it was not until November, 1923, that the whole of the printing orders received by these agitprop departments were carried out by the central agitprop. The agitprop was however responsible for the technical side only (make-up, printing, etc.). Material for agitation was produced in large numbers. Leaflets ran into editons of millions, and pamphlets such as "Civil War," "Hooked Cross or Soviet Star" were issued in editions of 100,000 each, almost all of which were sold, as the prices had been rendered exceedingly low by the inflation. A systematic use of the material did however not take place.

In the first epoch of agitprop work it was not yet possible to achieve any substantial progress in the centralization of our whole agitation and propaganda. The agitprop was affiliated to the organization bureau; the political bureau issued handbills without previous consultation with the agitprop, published appeals, and carried on every description of this kind of political work quite independent of the agitprop.

THIS lack of system was not changed by the events in October, and the first months of agitprop activity passed without that more being done than placards and posters being brought out, and attempts being made by the agitprop to create for itself an independent printing apparatus, and to centralize the printing possibilities already offered by the party printing offices all over the reich.

In January, 1924, a member of the central was appointed to lead the agitprop department. The agitprop was brought into closer contact with the entire work being done by the party central and its organs.

In the course of the epoch lasting until December, 1924, the agitprop had three great tasks to accomplish:

(a) the electoral campaign for the reichstag election on May 4, 1924.

(b) the international campaign against war in August, 1924.

(c) the electoral campaign for the reichstag election on December 7, 1924.

THESE last two campaigns had to be carried on in the midst of the struggles of the German Party against the experts' report, against the London conference, and against the Dawes plan. During this year the agitprop accomplished the task of drafting in detail the plans for the campaign, of transmitting corresponding instructions to the other departments of the party, of producing the whole of the material, and of controlling the organization and execution of the campaigns in the party organs (district and local groups). The political slogans and campaigns leaflets and appeals, were passed on to the agitprop department by the political bureau. The agitprop was affiliated to the organization bureau; the contact with the collective work of the party became much closer than during the first epoch.

The best example of more systematic and concentrated agitation work was furnished by the anti-war campain in August, 1924. This was thoroly prepared for weeks beforehand by the whole party. The central agitprop issued a detailed plan of campaign, containing concrete instructions for every sphere of work (trade unions, co-operatives, parliaments, women's secretariat, cultural and sporting clubs, etc). This plan of campaign was introduced by political instructions given by the political bureau, organizatory instructions from the organization bureau, and special instructions from the central agitprop department. The complete working plan comprised a pamphlet of 32 printed octavo pages, and an edition of 8,000 copies was distributed gratis among the most important party functionaries a few weeks before the campaign opened.

THUS the whole of the party functionaries were not only informed on the political slogans of the campaign (including the international ones, since the political instructions issued by the executive were included in the pamphlet as appendix), but were enabled to obtain a comprehensive survey of the work falling to their share in their capacity as trade union co-operative, or other functionary, and of the work which their fellow functionaries were called upon to perform. This coherent formulation of the whole plan of the campaign prepared the way for the highest possible degree of coordination in the co-operation among the different organs of the party. Special instructions were also given for the most important branches of agitation (press, meeting campaigns, organization of demonstrations etc.)

The central agitprop published the following agitation material for this campaign:

	Copies
Circulars to the various party organs	19,500
Material for speakers	13,000
7 different handbills, totalling	5,250,000
1 poster	50,000
7 different bills	700,000
8 pamphlets, for sale, totaling	93,000
3 illustrated papers, totalling	540,000
1 satirical paper	283,000
Total	7,049,250

AS a result of this excellent organizatory preparation, the campaign was exceedingly successful, altho we were obliged to state in our final report to the E. C. C. I. "that a serious defect in the organization of the campaign consisted of the fact that co-ordination was still insufficiently developed with respect to the work of the different party organs."

We give below a further table showing the material provided for the reichstag election on December 7, 1924:

	Copies
Instructive material	122,700
Handbills	14,460,500
Leaflets	1,261,000
Posters	1,032,500
Pamphlets	970,000
Miscellaneous	14,866,500
Total	32,713,200

THE agitprop thus emerged in its second epoch from the embryonic state of its first, established the confines of its sphere of activity, secured its influence upon every branch of work. Questions relating to the method and technics of agitation and propaganda were discussed upon the basis of actual experience. The chief defects still hampering the work of the department lay in the circumstance that the subordination of the agitprop under the organization bureau forced organizatory and technical questions into the foreground so that propaganda (educational work in the party) was accorded too little attention.

The third period of agitprop work began in January, 1925, with the reorganization of the agitprop department. The agitprop became the organ of the political bureau, organizing, carrying out, and controlling the whole of the agitation and porpaganda conducted by the party in every department of work.

This fundamental definition of the actual sphere of work, and the position of the agitprop department in the apparatus of the party as a political organ, as an organ of the political bureau, was the most important prerequisite for thoro and systematic agitational and propagandist work thruout the whole party. This form of organization is the only guarantee of a consistent centralization of all agitation and propaganda, ensuring their political guidance and bringing the individual tasks of the other departments into correct relations with the plans and principles of the party central. The work of agitation and propaganda within the trade unions, co-operatives, etc., must be subordinated in methods and technics to a central leadership which sees not only the narrow limits of agitprop work. The slogans and aims of this work must be consistently co-ordinated with those of the work of the other departments, in accordance with the principles laid down by the decisions of the party central. This centralization is the sole guarantee that the whole of the forces in the party, the whole of our means and possibilities of agitation, are concentrated and directed under the consistent leadership of the party central towards our ultimate aims.

THE work falling to the share of the agitprop may now be classified under two main headings, these being again subdivided into various minor categories.

The chief department of agitation comprises the whole of the general agitation carried on by the party in every sphere, the organizing of international and national campaigns, the organization of elections, etc., it further comprises the sub-departments for press and publishing work, and a special sub-department for the production of the whole of the material required for the work of agitation and propaganda.

The chief department of propaganda comprises the whole of the educational work carried on within the party, in related and sympathizing organizations, and in trade unions, co-operatives, etc. This department controls the editorship of the theoretical organ issued by the party central. It possesses a sub-department for archives and libraries. It organizes the courses of instruction in Leninism and the educational circles in the whole party. A further sub-department for statistics has recently been added. This last department not only collects and publishes important political and economic statistical material, but compiles statistics on the results of elections, census of the population, etc.

THE actual central agitprop department organizes and leads both the whole of the general agitation and the special campaigns (at present: for the unity of the trade unions, factory council elections, election to the presidency). The agitprop draws up the plans for these campaigns, and after these have been approved by the party central they are sent (8,000 copies) to the leading party functionaries. The whole of the material required for these campaigns, the party material needed by public speakers and debaters, for the press service, and the posters, handbills, etc., required as agitation material, are produced and published on the instructions and under the control of the central agitprop, in accordance with the established plan of campaign. Besides these tasks, the organization of suitable agitprop departments in the districts, local groups and factory cells, is an urgent necessity, and must be carried out by the central agitprop department. The organization plans for the German agitprop, as also the principles to be pursued in the systematic organization of international campaigns, are submitted to the international agitprop conference which will be held in the middle of March. The work of organization must be made to run parallel with the giving of instruction on the method and technics of propaganda and agitation within the functionary corporations and among the members, by means of instructive pamphlets, conferences, and courses of study.

The gigantic apparatus in the hands of our opponents (press, cinema, theater, school, family, army) is something with which we cannot in the least compete as far as quantity is concerned. If we are to break the influence of this apparatus, this can only be by enlisting everything and everybody in our service; that is, when every functionary in the party, every member and every person in sympathy with the party, ceases to carry on the work of agitation in a merely accidental manner, but pursues it in accordance with a definite plan concentrating all forces under one consistent leadership; when we have learned to make use of, and organize the use of, every technical auxiliary means available for agitation (leaflets, posters, bills, handbills, placards, factory nuclei newspapers, theaters, cinemas, wireless) in such a manner that the highest degree of success is ensured.

THE success of these efforts towards increasing and deepening the influence of the Communist Party is not so much dependent upon the material means available, as upon the degree of organization, the utmost acme of centralization in the whole of the work of agitation and propaganda. Accident is but a feeble ally. It is the organiaxtion of all available powers, the systematic utilization of all available forces, and the central leadership of agitation, which will enable us to defeat our adversaries.

PHILIPPINES RULED ON BEHALF OF AMERICAN CAPITAL, WOOD ADMITS

MANILA, P. I., July 13.—In a statement here Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, military dictator of the Philippine islands, declared that the islands should be kept under American domination for the U. S. commercial interests.

"Our commercial interests demand that we control the gateway to the orient," Wood said. "The Philippines should be made an advance outpost of American power in the Pacific, which in the future will be the center of the world conflict."

Wood's statement was suppressed here.

MAINTENANCE OF WAY UNION ASKS SMALL INCREASE

B. of R. T. and O. R. C. Demands Forming

Submissions have been filed by the maintenance of way employes' union with the United States Railroad Labor Board from members of the organization employed on fifteen of the largest railroads asking for an increase in wages of 5 cents an hour for all classes in the maintenance of way department.

The rates paid these men now range from 27 cents an hour for trackmen in southern states to 40 cents an hour in the northwest.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railroad Conductors had previously started a movement for wage increases, which, it is said, will ultimately involve every railroad in the country.

Among the railroad whose employes are represented in the submission to the rail board are the Pennsylvannia, New York Central, Michigan Central, Wabash and other roads running out of Chicago. This list will be increased rapidly, it was stated.

Doheny Lease Is Revoked.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 13.—Final decree confirming revocation of the Elks Hill naval reserve oil leases by the government to E. L. Doheny was handed down in the U. S. district court here by Judge P. J. McCormack. The Pan-American petroleum company, a Standard Oil subsidiary, is ordered to pay for oil used, and for court costs.

Arraign 3 In Pickwick Collapse

BOSTON, Mass., July 13.—Three of the nine men who have been indicted in the collapse of the Pickwick Club, where 44 persons were killed, have been arraigned. They are George Funk, an architect, Timothy J. Barry, president of the club, and Hyman Bloomberg, lessee of the building. All pleaded not guilty.

BUILDERS AT WORK

This Column is For Communist Builders

Have You Any Ideas?

From letters of active workers thruout the country we are able to show the good work they are doing, practical methods in use and valuable hints for others Communist Builders. That is the purpose of this column.

But some Builders write very seldom—if at all. They are content without an additional word they just send in their batch of subs and renewals.

The truth is that a large percentage of the good work done, is being made in this quiet and simple way. But this is not always the best way. Other workers also want to get the results—they also wish to do their share of promoting Communist activity and THEY DON'T KNOW HOW!

So don't be content with simply doing in your way the work that you feel is so essential to the movement.

• • • •

Write a Letter!

Tell other Communist Builders thru this column just how you go about it: what you do in your shop; how you approach your union members; what is the easiest way that you have found to get subs for the DAILY WORKER, Workers Monthly, Literature Sales and subs for all foreign language Communist papers; what do you suggest that has never been tried—and any other matter that you feel other workers should know about.

And don't worry about how straight your English may be. Idieas, methods, ways and means to build the Communist movement thru the DAILY WORKER—THAT'S IS WHAT WE WANT! Send in your letter to the "Builders At Work" Column—make it short and snappy and pile in your suggestions so that other Builders will be at work.

FACTORY PAPER AND DAILY GET BOSS EXCITED

He Actually Offers Vacations Now

(By Worker Correspondent.)

ASTORIA, L. I., July 13.— I have some important news to tell in my third story, since the circulation of the factory paper and the DAILY WORKER, in our shop.

On July 8, when our shop paper was passed around, two workers got discharged. But this will not discourage anybody, because there are so many progressive workers that unless the boss closes up the whole factory he cannot stop them.

On the same day that two were fired, the rest of the workers who have been three years in service, were promised a week's vacation with pay. How gracious our boss begins to be, when he thinks the workers are watching him and are organizing. Never before has any vacation even been thought about.

Most of the workers in the shop are with the progressives in the fight for better conditions, which proves that the so-called "loyal" ones have lost their grip on the employes.

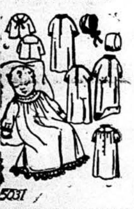
But the little shrimp who works on pulleys is becoming the real champion of all the "suckers." Yet he may not be a champion of some fist fights he may run into sometime in the near future.

The superintendent, the foreman, the bookkeeper, all held by the same guy—a sort of "three in one" man, has also proven himself to be an "A-1" slave peddler. Some day he will surely be full of rheumatism, and will not be able to see himself.

Some few workers in the shop are due to be exposed in the DAILY WORKER. Take notice that you may be next unless you play a man's part in a man's place with your fellow workers of the wage working class.

Our Daily Patterns

A PRACTICAL SET OF INFANTS' GARMENTS



5031. This outfit consists of a Yoke dress, a night gown, a sack and a cap. One could use voile, lawn or batiste for the dress, long cloth or outing flannel for the gown, outing flannel, flannel, crepe or silk for the sack, and lawn, silk, crepe de chine or poplin for the cap.

The pattern is cut in one size. If made as illustrated, the dress will require 1⅝ yard of 36-inch lawn or nainsook, and 2⅝ yards of edging 3½ inches wide for the ruffle. The gown will require 1⅞ yard of 27-inch material. The sack ⅞ yard of 27-inch material, and the cap ½ yard of 18-inch material.

NOTICE TO PATTERN BUYERS—The patterns being sold thru the DAILY WORKER pattern department are furnished by a New York firm of pattern manufacturers. Orders are forwarded by the DAILY WORKER every day as received, and they are mailed by the manufacturer direct to the customer. The DAILY WORKER does not keep a stock of patterns on hand. Delivery of patterns ordinarily will take at least 10 days from the date of mailing the order. Do not become impatient if your pattern is delayed.

Kuomintang Paper Points Out Issues

in their malicious sheets that is responsible for the misrepresentation and distortion of the true facts or for the maintenance of a conspiracy of silence on the true issues involved in the conflict in our province.

Those in the treaty ports who can see beyond the illusory prosperity which usually comes to them in every calamity in China, in the form of high rentals, higher bank dividends and more subsidies; those who wish to see this province take the highway of prosperity rather than to remain in the narrow alleys of intrigue will put the sheets of the hired press aside and try to ascertain for themselves the true facts and issues involved in the preseint conflict in this province.

What Are the Issues.

What are the issues and do they justify the conflict?

Is it to replace one militarist by another and continue to undermine the economic, political and moral life of the province to the satisfaction of a set of derelict generals in the province, and higer rentals, more bank dividends and subsidies in the treaty ports?

Is it to impose upon this country the principles of centralisation as against the principle of federalism, under the banner of which an opium-soaked warlord with a harem of concubines is marching or rather fleeing from the woe-begone province of Yunnan to other soldiery-ridden provinces? Is it that a Eurasian mongrel, an adventurer for hire, a curio dealer, an expelled member of the Kuomintang has hurriedly come down to the neighboring colony to "aid" a few militarists against the Kwangtung government by putting into their shivering hands the scarecrow of Communism and trotting them out as the champions of liberty and prosperity of the province of Kwangtung? Is it that the Kwangtung government is going to replace the almost non-existent capitalist system in this province by Communism?

These are not the issues upon which the present conflict is going to be settled. There is but one issue, one clear cut issue. It lies in the contradiction which for years has marked the principles of Kuomintang and the means for their realisation. The principles are good, the means were bad. It is the contradiction between good and evil.

Principles of the Kuo Min Tang.

What are the principles? Anybody not blinded by prejudice, intolerance, imperialist snobbery and a muck-raking press will understand them? Nationalism, democracy and the economic welfare of the people. These are the principles. And if in China, as in any other colonial or semi-colonial country, these principles are anti-imperialistic in their nature, it is not the fault of the principles: it is the fault of imperialism.

What have been the means at the disposal of the Kuomintang government for the realisation of these principles? An unruly, tyrannical, selfish, unpatriotic soldiery. When legislative, judicial and executive authority are usurped by armed bandits in uniform there is no hope for the principles of Kuomintang, no hope for the province and for the country.

For years the soldiery was robbing and terrorizing the people, undermining the prestige of the government, at the head of which stood the great leader, longnig to do something in accordance with his principles. The generals listened or pretended to listen to their patriotism, their past revolutionary records, and even to that feeling of compassion which Sun Yat Sen believed no man to be devoid of, but all to no avail. They did what they pleased. The many conferences held with the generals thruout these years were futile. The finances remained ununified; unjust taxation continued to be exacted from the people, gambling was rampant, prostitution was encouraged for revenue. The generals' deposists in the foreign banks in the safe havens of retreat were swelling, while the common people in the province were getting poorer and poorer, swelling the ranks of banditry.

The Beast of Militarism.

The contradictions between the principles of the party and the realities in which it lived and worked became apparent to everybody. If allowed to go on they threatened to destroy the party. The good principles would be swallowed by the evil practices of the militarists. This of course, would be highly welcome to the imperialists, for the triumph of Dr. Sun's principles means the annihilation of unequal treaties; while the triumph of the militarists means the perpetuation of the semicolonial position of China. And so the militarists have to be destroyed that the principles might triumph. But how was this to be done? Admonitions and appeals to reason failed. The hearts of the militarists were hardened by plunder, by gambling and prostitution revenues, their human feelings dulled by idleness and opium. There was nothing left but to appeal to the people to free themselves from the tyranny of the soldiery, to help the government to carry out the necessary reforms,—reforms that would bring peace and prosperity to the province.

This appeal was made by Dr. Sun to the people of Kwangtung. Did the people respond? Some did and some remained deaf to the appeal. The peasants, the workers, the students, the patriotically-minded citizens responded nobly to the appeal. But a portion of the merchants believing themselves to be secure from the soldiery in their narrow lanes were soon to find out to their own ultimate peril that the arming of other hoodlums to fight the government only added to the general calamity. The thing to have done was not to have listened to the selfish counsel of the Chan Limpak crowd, to arm hooligans against the people and the government, but to unite with the government for the eventual expulsion of a tyrannical soldiery. Fortunately, the merchants have since come to realise that salvation lies in the victory of the Kuomintang, and today they stand solidly behind the government in its difficult task of making this province safe for the people. The merchants are beginning to understand the game of the hirelings of imperialism who use every Tom, Dick and Harry to prove that the Kuomintang is Communistic when it is not. The merchants are investigating for themselves and it is their own conclusion that counts.

We Have Come to a Parting of The Ways.

The present conflict is one in which the people and the government are on the one side, the tyrannical soldiery, supported by expelled members of the Kuomintang who fail to render accounts of public and party funds, reactionary and predatory interests of imperialism, on the other side. The issue in this conflict is to get rid once and for all of the contradictions between the principles of our party and the means for their realization. Henceforth the Kuomintang and a marauding soldiery must part their ways. Henceforth, the Kuo Min Tang and the people of this province will travel on the same road to peace, democracy and economic prosperity. If needs be, this issue will be fought to a finish. He who doubts the outcome of the conflict may well keep in mind the East River campaign: it was short, decisive and comparatively bloodless.

Valuable Prizes Won At Pittsburgh Picnic; Another Coming Aug. 9

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 13.—Every comrade is cautioned to hold open Aust 9 for the mid-summer picnic to be held by District No. 5 at George Zaar's farm. Prizes just as valuable as the ones given at the July 4 picnic held at Zaar's farm will be the big feature.

The following were the lucky ones at the July 4 picnic:

F. Rukesa, Box 67, Wilmerding Pa., won a radio set; L. Lujan, 11 Butler St., Pittsburgh, Pa., suit of clothes; John Dzepina, Box 407, Vestaburg, Pa., gold watch; Wm. Grant, 409 Liberty Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa., painting (Karl Marx); S. A. Tuanisto, 1121 Jenny Lind St., McKeesport, Pa., set of table silverware; John Dzepina, Box 407, Vestaburg, Pa., 3 volumes of "Capital"; H. H. Gardner, 8608 Carnegie Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, one year subscription to the DAILY WORKER; Edda Haisaman, 176 Smith St., Canonsburg, Pa., vanity case and handkerchiefs; J. Kluckovich, 4912 Hatfield Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa., 1 year subscription to Workers Monthly; Louis Cherney, 2706 East St., Pittsburgh, Pa., one set Lenin pictures.

Swedish Employer Forced to Return Seized Soviet House

MOSCOW, (By Mail.)—An interesting case has been settled at Stockholm, when the Swedish court gave judgment against a Swedish manufacturer, a Mr. Ericson, who had illegally taken possession of a house belonging to the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

The court decided that Ericson should either return the house in question to the Soviet minister in Sweden or hand over the corresponding value of the house, which is 315-000 Swedish crowns plus interest. Further, the court declined to consider the defendant's claims for losses sustained by him thru the Russian revolution

SIGMAN KEEPS GANGSTERS BUSY BLACK JACKING

NEW YORK CITY.—A group of 30 gangsters attacked the 15 members of Locals 2 and 9, while they were peacefully picketing the Gotham Cloak company at 250 West 39th St., about 7:30 Friday morning, and beat until he was unconscious, Alex Ritzer of 1608 Madison avenue.

Ritzer, a member of Local 2, had been taken off his job with the Gotham Cloak company, by order of the business agent, and he and his comrades were urging the workers in the shop to demand that he be allowed to return to his job. The gangsters seeing that they outnumbered the workers, boldly ordered them away from in front of the building, and when they resisted, the strong arm squad began to work. Ritzer ran to the opposite side of the street without knowing that another group was waiting there and immediately ten thugs fell on him, knocked him down and beat and kicked him until he was senseless.

Victim in Hospital Held Illegally.

An ambulance which was summoned, refused to take the man to the hospital and finally comrades took him in a taxi to St. Mark's hospital, where he is now lying in a serious condition. The hospital authorities have so far refused to let anyone, even a physician see Ritzer, stating that by order of the police, he is to be held incommunicado altho he is not under arrest.

Later, about 1 o'clock in the afternoon, the gangsters tried some more of their terrorist work along a new line. A private automobile drew up to the curb on West 21st street, just east of the headquarters of Local 22, at No. 16 West 21st street. Four gangsters stepped out and immediately started a crap game on the sidewalk near the building.

A New Sort of Crap Game.

In a few minutes they pretended to be quarreling; two of them sprang up and after the others had thrown sand into the faces of the workers gathered near by, four men attacked Harry Offberg of Local 2. One of the thugs drew a knife from his pocket and gashed Offberg's face under the right eye, then he dropped the knife and it was picked up and carried off by one of his companions who jumped into the auto and rode away. When the police approached the scene, one of the gangsters called out, "Oh, it's nothing but a fight over a crap game." A near-riot followed as the workers tried to reach the gangsters, and police finally arrested one of the gangsters and Offberg.

Offberg was arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct and released on $500 bail. One of the gangsters was also arrested and released under $500 bail.

Bronx Comrades, Attention!

NEW YORK.—Have you any books that you can spare? The Bronx Workers' Library appeals to you, to look over your library, pick out all the books you are not using, and bring them over to the library. It's a shame to let them go to waste, comrades, when at the library are any number of young Communists gathered nightly, hungry for knowledge, and anxious to read anything in the line of economic science or good literature.

Look 'em over, comrades. Surely, you will find a book or two or maybe more, that you have read and can dispense with. We need them, we can use them, and many comrades who spend their spare time at our library will feel deeply grateful to you for the gift.—Bronx Library Committee.

Water Frightens New York.

NEW YORK, July 13.— A broken water main at Fifth avenue and Forty-second street early today flooded New York's subway system in that region and so alarmed police and engineering officials that they closed adjacent streets to all vehicular and pedestrian traffic. For fear the rushing water might have weakened the below surface structure of sidewalks and sky-scrapers.

Find Two Sisters Dead.

SIOUX FALLS, Ia., July 13.—Police today were searching for a mysterious Chicago man, following the discovery late yesterday of the decomposed bodies of Mrs. Josie Goodwin, 59, former Cedar Rapids, Iowa, police matron, and Mrs. Elizabeth Anthony, 56, formerly of Boise, Idaho, sisters, in a shack which they occupied here. All their jewelry and money was missing.

Arrangements with THE INTERNATIONAL PUBLISHERS CO. make possible its American serial publication in the DAILY WORKER.

BEGINNING SATURDAY, JULY 25

WHAT IS IT?

No greater nor more important document on Soviet Russia by an impartial body has ever been issued.

It is an unbiased report of a British Delegation, composed of Trade Union Leaders and experts who have travelled thruout Soviet Russia, studied every phase of Russian life today and reported in the book for the first time issued in America.

Nothing is overlooked — Politics, Finance, Army, Religion, Education, Trade Unions, Wages—every phase of life in every section of Soviet Russia is here treated—by a Non-Communist, impartial body of British Labor.

HOW IT WILL APPEAR.

To enable every worker to possess this valuable publication, RUSSIA TODAY, will be printed EVERY DAY beginning July 25, in A UNIFORM HALF-PAGE INSTALLMENT.

Easy to clip and preserve.

These pages can form your copy of this great document.

In addition to the valuable collection of facts and figures on the world's first workers' government as it is today, charts and maps will be included showing the development of industry and composition of the peoples in the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics.

NOW YOU CAN GO TO YOUR UNION!

During the month of July, two special subscription offers to the DAILY WORKER are being made:

OFFER NO. 1

A two months' sub to the DAILY WORKER for $1.00.

Just the thing to enable every worker to begin reading this great historical document of British Labor.

OFFER NO. 2

A three months' sub and two books.
1.—The State & Revolution, by V. I. Ulianov (Lenin).
2.—The Theory & Practice of Leninism, by I. Stalin.
ALL FOR $2.00.
($2.50 in Chicago).

Go to your trade union—bring up the question of subscriptions to the DAILY WORKER in your meeting—talk to trade unionists—the question of Soviet Russia and the World Trade Union Unity will be the big issue of the coming convention of the American Federation of Labor.

The DAILY WORKER begins the first American serial publication of the official report of the British Trade Unions—AT A TIME WHEN SPECIAL PRICES ARE BEING OFFERED.

WM. F. DUNNE

Editor of the DAILY WORKER, in his article on this great document in the May issue of the Workers Monthly says:

> The British Trade Union Delegation to Soviet Russia in a unanimous report has told the story of the Russian Revolution in language that trade unionists can understand.
> It is a great story, told in matter-of-fact language, the story of millions of workers and peasants marching towards Communism over all obstacles; it is history hot with the breath of the struggle in the style of a convention report. . . .
> Revolutionary Russian and stubborn, Slow-moving Briton both call to the American worker from the pages of the British delegation's report.

The British Coal Crisis

According to indications, a general tie-up of the nation's coal industry will take place in Great Britain shortly. The operators claim that their properties are no longer paying big profits, so they wanted to restore prosperity for themselves, by asking the miners to accept a reduction in wages and longer hours. This the miners refused and one of the greatest industrial struggles in the history of Great Britain is in the offing.

The Trade Union Congress has voted to support the miners, and a fighting alliance of workers in the other basic industries is being urged by men like A. A. Purcell, A. B. Swales and A. J. Cook—all leading figures in the British trade union movement. The British miners have not forgotten the tragedy of Black Friday in 1921, when the Triple Alliance went to pieces thru the treachery of J. H. Thomas and Frank Hodges, resulting in a defeat for the miners.

Fortunately for the British miners the Thomas-Hodges leadership is now almost entirely discredited. Those fakers can still injure the workers by placing obstacles in the way of trade union unity and by counselling co-operation with the employers as a substitute for struggle. It is hoped that the lesson of Black Friday has not been lost on the British workers, and that they will see the need for a united front against the bosses. The fight of the British miners for a united front against the bosses. The fight of the British miners not only is the fight of every worker in Great Britain, but it should be considered the fight of the workers everywhere. The miners of the United States should be particularly interested in the struggle of their brothers across the ocean. They should see to it that no American scab coal is shipped across the ocean to break the strike and send the miners back to the pits to slave at the mercy of their masters.

The industrial crisis in Britain comes at time when the ruling class of that country see on every side of them signs of approaching disaster. They are involved in China; their relations with France are delicate and the American capitalists are everywhere encroaching on their preserves. They are unofficially at war with Soviet Russia, and their slaves in the oppressed colonies of India and Egypt are seething with rebellion. Things look dark for the empire. Things look bad for the British working class. But the future belongs to the workers. The British mine strike, if it takes place may have far-reaching consequences.

There is no hope for the British workers under capitalism. That system is no longer able even to fill their stomachs. The road to their salvation lies over the dead body of capitalism and the British Communist Party is pointing out the road, and organizing them for the task of running the country in the interests of the producers.

Keep Up the Fight

The action of the executive committee of the Chicago Federation of Labor and several locals of the International Association of Machinists in condemning the scabbery of the United Garment Workers in the present Amalgamated strike against the International Tailoring company and another subsidiary concern, should be followed by similar action on the part of every local union in this city and vicinity affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The DAILY WORKER took the lead in urging the trade unionists of this city to rebuke the scabby officials of the United Garment Workers for their brazen and treacherous conduct in openly acting as a scab recruiting agency for the clothing manufacturers. We are very glad to note that the labor movement has responded, but the matter is of too great importance to be permitted to remain in the resolutions stage. Not only must the members of the American Federation of Labor condemn scabbery of one union on another, but they must give practical aid to the clothing workers who are fighting to retain a standard of living and working conditions that were won after many hard struggles.

The fact that the striking tailors are members of a union not affiliated ot the American Federatoin of Labor does not alter the situation. If they lose, every employer in Chicago will see in that defeat a signal for a reduction in wages and more profits at the expense of his employes. If they are victorious it will be a warning to the employers that the workers are prepared to defend their gains, and that they are learning the needed lesson of solidarity.

Moral and Political Bankruptcy

The disgraceful and treacherous attitude of the socialist parties thruout the world is typified by the conduct of the socialist party of Belgium under the leadership of Emil Vandervelde. The fortunes of an election campaign divided the results so evenly between the socialist and other parties that no one party could hold office on its own strength. The socialists, greedy for the spoils of office, agreed to a coalition with the right wing catholics. But the catholics refused to enter the government with the socialists.

According to Lansbury's Labor Weekly, the Belgian socialists placed themselves at the disposition of the king, prepared to do anything he suggests. In an editorial headed "The Belgian Shame," the Labor Weekly says: "May we remind Vandervelde and his colleagues that once upon a time they were counted as socialists and as men." That was some time ago. The Belgian socialists are true to type. Like their prototypes in other countries they have sold the working class. Let us hope the workers will soon be in a position to reward them for their treachery.

Oscar Ameringer, court jester and footstool to Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois Miners' Union, is afraid that if the Communists win out in America he will be compelled to read the DAILY WORKER. He would prefer a daily diet of rusty fish hooks and carbolic acid, he tells us. We are surprised. Actually, Oscar has been feeding on dung so long that we thought he would look on a diet of fishhooks and carbolic acid as a delicacy.

The DAILY WORKER has excited the wrath of the editor of a southern newspaper, because of our criticism of the christian deity for his negligence in allowing the Santa Barbara earthquake to topple down a building devoted to religious activities. If this be Communism, snorts our contemporary, to hell with it, or words to that effect. We still believe god was sleeping at the switch.

BIG CALIFORNIA CANNING SEASON LURING WORKERS

But More Than Enough Are There Already

By FRAPIESA.
(Worker Correspondent.)

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—The canning season is at its height in California. Between 200,000 and 300,000 persons are employed in the canneries.

This is not an advertisement for help. On the contrary, it is a warning for workers to keep away from California.

The great army of cannery operatives is active only seasonally. When the fruit is harvested it is disbanded.

In a state where there is steady employment a canning industry such as California has could not exist. Requirements of labor could not be filled.

Labor Supply and Low Wages

There are more than 600 canneries in California. A few of them employ less than 100 persons and a few over 1,000. Most fo them require 100 to 1,000.

When a cannery is ready to operate for the season announcement is made and in one, two or three days all the workers needed are on hand and many are turned away. That shows how plentiful labor is. The wages are uncertain. Under the minimum wage law $16.50 might be considered the lowest for women. But the law is evaded. Vacation time enables the employers to exploit children. Piece work is also used to cheapen labor. At the end of the season the operatives can show more experience than hard cash.

Bunco Advertisements.

One of the tricks of cannery magnates is to circulate thru the press stories that certain girls or women operatives earn $20 to $25 a day on piece work. That is on a par with tales of rapid rises of moving picture "actors."

Sometimes an operative, at a killing pace, may make a high wage for piece work, as a rule, the workers make little at that class of work. Piece work is a task maker and pacesetter to the advantage of the employers.

Workers Unorganized.

There is no union among these hundreds of thousands of cannery workers. Class consciousness is not manifest. Yet all the wealth of the canning industry in this state is produced by them and the machines independently of the magnates. Great capitalist roganizations reap the profits.

A Workers Party has certainly an open sesame here.

Our Readers' Views

Starvation is Mine Bosses' Whip.

To the DAILY WORKER: My subscription expires on July 10th but I am unable to renew on account of unemployment. Since last September I had so little work I could hardly make my living but, from April 1st all mines except one have shut down. It is impossible to get work and we miners here struggle with misery and starvation.

In this town fifty to sixty families made an application to the county court for aid to feed their children but they were told if they would accept a wage cut the mines will open and that they will get more work than before but the miners replied that this is bunk. If there is to be any gain the operators and not the miners would get it.

Comrades, please, if you can, send me the paper and when I get employment I will renew my subscription.

Please put this in the DAILY WORKER so that the workers can acquaint themselves with conditions in this town.

Fraternally yours, Tony Stanfl, Mystic, Iowa.

FORTUNATELY for the subject peoples of the world, the big robbers cannot agree on a division of the loot. The great powers would like to get together and clean up on China. They would like to clean up on Russia. The spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak. Hardly a week passes that we do not hear of some new plan to organize a coalition against Russia. But the plans never materialise. The conflicting interests of the capitalist powers make peace between them impossible. On the other hand, the identity of interests between the exploited masses in all lands make working class unity possible. If the capitalist powers unite, it will only be in the face of a crisis that threatens to engulf world capitalism.

NO doubt, that time will come and in desperation the robbers will make common causes against their greatest foe, the worker. But the workers will also have learned something and will unite to get rid of the robbers. In the meantime, a study of the developments in China will prove interesting and instructive. During the quarrel between Wu Pei Fu and Chang Tso-Lin, England and the United States supported Wu, while Japan and France supported Chang. As the DAILY WORKER often pointed out, the policies of the capitalist powers do not "stay put" very long nowadays. Today there is a different line up in China.

FRANCE appears to be willing to support Britain and Japan, tho there is a suspicion that the French are double crossing their rival across the channel. The United States is playing for the Chinese market and is endeavoring to regain the friendship of the Chinese people, at the expense of the other capitalist powers. The United States wants that friendship in the coming war with Japan. The plot thickens.

WHILE this drama is being enacted in China, we find England supplying the Riffians in Morocco with munitions to fight the French. Previously the French supplied them with ammunition to defeat the Spanish. Now the French and the Spanish are trying to patch up an alliance so they may be able to beat the Riffs. Should the latter be successful they may next wage war on Britain. This is how the capitalist powers play the game with each other. And there are people who expect such a gang of crooks to establish peace. The capitalists can no more stop from pursuing this policy than a bed bug can overcome the temptation to bite an unoffending slumberer.

THE Tennessee fundamentalists are just about as crazy as a meadow full of ten-year old foxes. The Dayton merchants are lopsided from carrying the proceeds of their sales to the banks. Thousands of people are crowding into the city to watch the circus. The Daytonians don't care whether they are atheists or not. They will sell them anything they call for, from bibles to moonshine. A fundamentalist preacher asked a permit to carry two small cannon. He wanted to lay them on his pulpit while preaching. It is not known whether he feared the devil or Darwin. The sheriff refused him the artillery permit. Daytonians will stand up under a lot of ridicule provided the visiting agnostics, atheists and modernists spend their money freely.

He wondered if he could get a little help. But Comrade Lewis had to inform him, of course, that the aid was all income here. That the outgo was to our brothers across the sea where we send so many of our bullets, good whisky and poison gas.

'MOTHER' BLOOR SPEAKS ON JULY 15TH IN TOLEDO

Reaches Columbus, O., on Hitch-hiking Tour

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 13—Mother Bloor, going east on her cross country hitch-hiking tour for the DAILY WORKER, arrived in this city today on her way to Toledo, where she will speak on July 15, 16 and 17, at meetings arranged.

Arriving in Columbus from a successful visit to Dayton, Ohio, Ella Reeve "Mother" Bloor, sixty-year old Communist fighter advises:

"I arrived here last night without any trouble. I have not yet paid a single penny for railroad fare since leaving San Francisco over a month ago and I don't intend to begin now.

"The field for the DAILY WORKER and Communist organization is most promising and I mean to get Ohio subs to make more Communists even more easily than I got those of fifteen other states."

From Toledo Mother Bloor goes to Cleveland, for meetings to be held previous to a campaign she will stage in the Ohio and eastern Pennsylvania steel and mining districts.

DOWN WITH THE ROUMANIAN WHITE TERROR! SAVE LIVES OF 500 BESSARABIAN PEASANTS!

TO THE WORKERS AND POOR FARMERS OF AMERICA:

The Roumanian capitalists and land aristocracy are running mad. Having made Bessarabia into a hell of suffering and starvation for the workers and peasants of that province, the Roumanian government is ruthlessly murdering and exterminating every manifestation of protest against its bloody rule.

In Kishinev, 500 Bessarabian peasants are now facing court martial. These 500 peasants are in danger of losing their lives because, driven to desperation, they dared to rise in protest against the brutal oppression of the Roumanian capitalists and land magnates.

The Roumanian government is holding Bessarabia by sheer force against the will of the overwhelming majority of the Roumanian population. The Roumanian government is dispossessing the Bessarabian peasants from their land. The Roumanian land aristocracy had instituted in Bessarabia, as in the rest of Roumania, a system of economic and political oppression which is literally ruining the lives of the workers and peasants of that unfortunate province. The so-called "Bessarabian System" has become a word of terror to every worker and peasants of Roumania.

Driven to desperation by hunger, starvation, and by the merciless whip of the Roumanian forces of occupation, the peasants of Southern Bessarabia have resorted to the last means at their disposal in defense of their lives. In September of 1924 the peasants of Tatar Bunar rose in revolt to protect themselves against the exterminating rule of the Roumanian land aristocracy.

The rising was drowned in rivers of blood, and now 500 peasants are facing the Roumanian court martial in Kishinev, in danger of having their lives taken by decision of the court, for the crime of wanting to live and to enjoy peacefully the fruits of their labor.

Workers and poor farmers of America! You cannot remain indifferent to the fate of these 500 Bessarabian peasants. You must not permit the bloodhounds of Roumanian reaction to sacrifice hundreds of lives of honest toilers of the Bessarabian soil, who demand nothing more than the right to their homes and to their land. You must raise your voices in thunderous protest against the outrageous rule of the Roumanian forces of occupation in Bessarabia. You must make the Roumanian government feel that you will not permit the sacrifice of the lives of the 500 peasants now facing court martial in Kishinev.

The government and the bankers of the United States are behind the government of Roumania. Millions upon millions of dollars squeezed out from the toil of American workers and farmers have been given by American bankers and by the American government to support the shaky foundation of the Roumanian government. The bloodthirsty hounds that rule Roumania feel secure in their position because of the ready help that they receive from the American bankers and their government.

The bankers and the government of the United States stand behind the government of Roumania. Therefore, the workers and poor farmers of the United States must stand behind the workers and peasants of Roumania.

Down with the Roumanian White Terror!

Down with the oppressive rule of the Roumanian capitalists in Bessarabia!

Hail the struggles of the Roumanian workers and peasants!

Save the lives of the 500 Bessarabian peasants!

FEAR OF SOVIET RUSSIA MAKES IMPERIALISTS PATCH UP RIVALRY IN SECRET PACT TO TRICK CHINA

(Special to The Daily Worker)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 14.—The dispatches from Tokio indicate that the fear of the Soviet Union gaining a swift dominance in China has caused the imperialist rivalry between America on one side and England and Japan on the other side, to be temporarily healed for a patched up united front against Soviet influence in China.

The dispatch states that the agreement was secretly made, which may account for high officials of the U. S. state department denying that any agreement exists.

Not only the fear of Soviet Russia, but also the possibility of the Chinese people actually winning national liberation from imperialist control of the great robber powers fell to quarrelling, moved the three imperialist rivals to the agreement.

The British and Americans both made concessions to patch up unity. Britain consented to accept a truthful verdict which lays the blame for the Shanghai murders on British troops and agreed even to stand by it if it involved censure and dismissal for British officials, while the United States agreed that it would quit agitation for any immediate consideration for abolition of extra-territoriality and stop using such propaganda against Great Britain and Japan.

Try to Placate Chinese.

It is calculated that the Chinese can be placated by pretending that something is going to be done after "due consideration" and the performance of some special concession which the imperialists hope will satisfy the pride of the Chinese without really giving them anything. Such a "concession" is expected in the resignation of all the officials responsible for the Shanghai massacre.

By similar moral maneuvers and the chance that the Chinese revolt will subside while the red tape is being unwound, with great display for the proposed conferences which are merely going to investigate and consider later action, the imperialist trust that their pretended friendship will offset the warm accord growing up between the Chinese masses and the Soviet Union.

Japs Steer Crafty Course.

Japanese diplomats have steered a crafty middle course in the whole affair, and while Britain wished to intervene with armed force and America wished to insert the question of immediate conferences in order to boost her own imperialist business, Japan has advocated that China be stalled off with promises of abolition of extraterritoriality in "due time" and give just enough concessions and no more, than are necessary to keep China from turning once and for all and completely to Soviet Russia.

There is more than one danger to this imperialist united front, however. The rival powers all seek secretly to gain an advantage over the others regardless of agreements, and in addition the Chinese liberation movement, under the guidance of the Kuomintang party, may not be easily satisfied with fine words and diplomatic promises and may go on to an accord with Soviet Russia to fight against imperialism.

Fear Power of Kuomintang.

JAMES Ramsay MacDonald, ex-British premier, is rather sensitive to criticism. When some of the workers objected to his acceptance of a large gift from a tory manufacturer, he thot his critics were stepping off the reservation where the humble toilers should keep themselves. More recently, MacDonald gave aid and comfort to the bloody Zankov government of Bulgaria by advising the socialists of that country that the report made on the conditions in Bulgaria—a report unfavorable to the Fascisti—by members of the British Labor Party, was not an official report but merely an expression of the views of those who wrote it.

ONE branch of the Independent Labor Party, to which MacDonald belongs, objected to this letter, taking the position that MacDonald was helping the murderers of the Bulgarian workingclass by writing it, at the very moment when Zankov's hangmen were building the scaffolds for some of the best leaders of the Bulgarian workers and farmers. And the branch was entirely correct. MacDonald repliled to this criticism by telling the members to "mind their own business," and that socialism was not "the creed of a lot of blithering easieoosie asses" but something that requires rectitude of thot and consideration of action.

MACDONA[illegible] winds up by saying: "I really [illegible]ise your branch not to int[illegible] matters that it knows nothin[illegible], and to refrain from passing resolutions which show not only their inability to state the facts, but their equally great inability to come to any respectable conclusions from them." Now, bear in mind that "Mac" is not a Communist, hates the dictatorship of the proletariat like stale beer and is a fervent believer in democracy. But note the contempt this gentleman shows for the rank and file! They are not supposed to be able to think. Just say nothing but pay their dues, so that Mister Mac can disport himself in knee breeches and be financially capable of purchasing quantities of antiseptic with which to treat his lips when about to

PRODUCTION AND WAGES INCREASE IN SOVIET UNION; CONDITIONS OF WORKERS ALSO GROWING BETTER

By D. ANTOSHKIN.

MOSCOW, (By Mail.)—Since 1922, the average real wage of the manual and office workers of Soviet Russia has been steadily increasing. This was accompanied by a corresponding increase in the productivity of labor, the latter increasing even a little more rapidly than the former.

At the end of 1923 the position was as follows: Individual productivity of labor in the main branches of state industry was 66.4 per cent of the

TWO PASSENGERS ARE BADLY HURT IN CRASH OF DOUBLE DECK BUS

Two passengers on a northbound, double-deck bus of the Lake Shore Drive No. 51 route were in a serious condition in Columbus Hospital today as a result of injuries received when the bus crashed into a concrete pillar in front of Grant's monument in Lincoln Park.

A score of passengers were shaken up and six women and three men were treated for wounds after the crash. The two who suffered the most serious injuries and were unable to leave were:

Mrs. Anna May Worel, 1107 Harrison St., Evanston, cut about the body and suffering from skull wounds, and Peter Swenningson, 51, fractured arm, cuts and bruises.

MOSCOW-PEKING FLIGHT MADE BY SOVIET PLANES

Four Pilots Land in the First Air Route Trip

(Special to The Daily Worker)

PEKING, China, July 14—Four Soviet airplanes have arrived here from Kalgan, completing the first air route trip from Moscow to Peking, a distance of 4,340 miles.

The Soviet pilots made the trip in 57 flying hours. Six planes started, one being forced to land during a sandstorm in the Gobi desert, and another being damaged in landing at Kalgan.

Two of the airplanes, which are of commercial type, were built entirely in the Soviet Union, and one of these two completed the journey. The flyers were met by Chinese and Soviet officials, and by representatives of numerous Chinese labor, educational and anti-imperialist organizations.

The Soviet fliers declared that the results of the trip will be to further cement the friendship between Soviet Russia and China.

COMMUNISTS DEMONSTRATE THRUOUT FRANCE ON BASTILLE DAY AGAINST INVASION OF MOROCCO BY BANKERS

PARIS, July 14.—Demonstrations were being conducted by the Communist Party today, the anniversary of the taking of the Bastille, against the invasion of Morocco by the imperialistic Painleve government.

The Communist municipality of Malakoff, is holding a celebration of the proletarian revolution, with Marcel Cachin, the Communist deputy, as the principal speaker.

Premier Painleve refused to see the Communist delegation appointed by the recent Communist congress to conduct an investigation of the Moroccan situation. Painleve hinted that he will soon endeavor to have parliament pass laws aimed at suppressing the growing protest of the workers against the Moroccan invasion.

CHINA MAY CUT RED TAPE WITH CANCELLATION

Has Right and Power to Revoke Treaties

(Special to The Daily Worker.)

WASHINGTON, July 14 — The Chinese government, it was learned in an official quarter today, is holding in reserve one very powerful weapon which may be used in case the powers fail to come to a satisfactory agreement respecting customs increases and concessions concerning the abolishment of extra-territoriality in China.

This weapon is to denounce existing treaties which restrict the sovereignty and administrative authority of China.

The Chinese government is convinced that under international law and international practice it would be justified in first serving notice on the powers of its desire to terminate existing treaties, and, if the powers failed to acquiesce, in denouncing those treaties as null and void.

International Law Gives Right.

This right arises, in the view of the Chinese government, from the precept of international law that any sovereign state has the right to terminate an existing agreement, or to denounce the agrement, if the other party to it declines to agree to its termination. While this principle is generally recognized in the practice of nations, it is asserted, the strength of such position is particularly enhanced when conditions under which the treaties were entered into have completely changed, as in the case with China.

Should China elect to denounce existing treaties, it is pointed out, the only recourse left to the powers objecting to this action would be the use of force. While it is barely possible that some of the powers affected might favor the use of force in case the treaties were denounced, it is doubted that unanimity of action could be obtained, without which, it is believed, armed intervention would constitute an extremely difficult and delicate problem.

Force Couldn't Do Much.

It is the conviction of officials of the American government that, aside from any question of ethics involved, the use of force in a country so vast and so disorganized as China would be so costly and so ineffective as to be almost out of the question. This view is known to be shared by numerous other powers, notably the present Japanese government, and it is recalled that when Great Britain proposed a naval demonstration against China some two years ago a majority of the powers objected. At the present moment practically all the powers are committed to a policy of using force only for the protection of the lives and property of their nationals.

COMMUNISTS RAISING RELIEF FUNDS TO AID PERSECUTED CHINESE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14—The following letter, justh reecived from the "Chinese Sufferers Relief Association in America," 843 Stockton street, San Francisco, shows that the work of trying to establish a friendly bond between the Chinese workers and the American Communist movement is making progress. Outside of donations by the Chinese of this city themselves this contribution of $80.50 by the City Central Committee of the Workers Party is the only local financial aid thus far offered the strikers of China.

The letter is as follows:

"Workers (Communist) Party of San Francisco,

"Gentlemen: We are in receipt, thru the Unionist Guild, of your check for $80.50 as contribution to our relief find, for which please accept our hearty thanks. Permit us to express our deepest gratitude for the sympathy and co-operation you have so generously given us."

"Very graetfully yours,

FRENCH BANKERS RUSH SOLDIERS INTO N. AFRICA

Expect New Attack on 200 Mile Front

PARIS, France, July 14.— A great Riffian offensive against Fez along a 200-mile front is expected at any moment. The Moroccan division has been withdrawn from the Rhine, and is being hurried into north Africa by the Painleve government.

The Spanish millionaire Echevarrieta, who has large holdings in Morocco, is now on his way to carry the Spanish-French "peace" terms to Abd-el-Krim. The terms are really an ultimatum to Krim. It is known that they will not be accepted as they place Krim under the sovereignty of the sultan, Moulay Youssef, who is a vassal of French imperialism.

The proposed "peace" is an empty gesture of the French made for propaganda purposes to attempt to show the workers that peace is desired.

The Spanish-French negotiations for a combined attack on the Moroccans are also regarded as impossible of fulfillment, as even if the plan proposed by the French were accepted by Spain, 40,000 more Spanish troops would be required before the plan of a combined assault on Chechouan could be carried out.

Gen. Naulin is expected to leave for Morocco on July 18, ten days earlier than was expected.

8-HOUR HOKUM OF JUDGE GARY USED BY JOHN D.

But the Bait Is Full of Fish Hooks

NEW YORK CITY, July 14.— Another fake reform very similar to the United States Steel Corporation's loudly heralded "abolition" of the 12-hour day, is announced for the Standard Oil company.

The workers in the oil camps are supposed to be granted the eight-hour day, just out of the kindness of heart of Mr. John D. Rockefeller.

However, and there is always an "however" concealed in the bait, the announcement amends the statement by saying that "Not all of the workers will immediately go on an eight-hour basis. In outlying districts where camps have been built, the twelve-hour day will remain in force, because the men preferred to work the longer day rather than be idle for four hours."

It is not explained why the generous Rockefellers insist on the infliction of such idleness on even a part of the workers. Particularly as the shorter day is said to be a "great boon" in one part of the announcement.

But there is still another joker in the deck. The announcement says innocently that the workers will lose "only $2 a day" by a wage reduction on the total paid by the hour.

As there are only enough workers really put on the eight-hour shift in the steel mills to make a propaganda that the nice steel trust has abolished the twelve-hour day, it is expected that the same fake reform is going to be done by Standare Oil to enable Rockefeller keep up with Judge Gary in wholesale bunk peddling.

INJUNCTION JUDGE STALLS ON AMALGAMATED VENUE CHANGE; LOCAL 81, I. L. G. W. RAPS U. G.

When it comes to issuing injunctions for the bosses, precedent means nothing to Judge Dennis E. Sullivan. This was the attitude taken by the injunction stand-by of the bosses today when Wm. A. Cunnea presented a petition for change of venue on behalf of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' striker defendants in answer to the bill for an injunction presented by J. L. Taylor & Co. and the International Tailoring Co., thru their attorneys Otto H. Jaburek and Harold W. Jirka.

The petition by the strikers said "that they feared that they will not receive a fair trial," and that Judge Dennis E. Sullivan is prejudiced against them.

Whenever a party to a law suit in the capitalist courts asks for a change of venue by presenting a petition it is the common and usual procedure to grant the request immediately. Judge Sullivan attempted to use every devise of the law to stall off the strikers and keep the case within his jurisdiction. No action has been taken; the case was put over until Wednesday morning for more law to convince the "injunction judge."

Frame Up Technicality.

There are 36 defendants named in the bosses' bill for injunction, while but two were served to appear in court. It was upon the technicality that not all of the defendants had answered the bill and affixed their name to the petition for change of venue that Judge Sullivan refused to let the case slip from his experienced hands. And the story goes that the company made some scabs defendants in the suit so the union couldn't get all defendants to sign the petition.

Even tho Attorney Cunnea presented the judge with a late decision, not yet printed in the books, given by the appellate court declaring that even the slightest hesitation on the part of a judge to refuse to grant a change of venue was sufficient to show that he was prejudiced, Judge Sullivan hesitated and looked wise and asked for more law.

Foxy Trick Exposed.

Cunnea charged that the names in the bill for injunction were taken from the books of the company and that the company in this way is trying to defeat the efforts of the strikers to get a change of venue to a judge who has not worn his pen so bluntly in the service of the bosses.

"If this company can put the name of one man who is a scab on this bill for injunction and he refuses to join in asking for a change of venue, then we are defeated in our legal rights to get a judge whom we think would act fairly in a matter of this kind," urged the attorney for the strikers.

The lawyer for the company charged that there were numerous assaults and that an injunction should be granted forwith.

Wants More Law—May Get It.

Judge Sullivan could not bear to let the case out of his grasp so he asked for "the wisdom of some competent higher court and not of the counsel before me." So more law is going to be given Denny at the next hearing, Wednesday morning.

He gave no indication as to whether he would grant the change of venue or whether he will hear the cases and follow his beaten path—for the employers.

While the officials of the Amalgamated were in court, the strikers held their daily meeting, and listened to speakers in Polish and Italian. Here

DAYTON JUDGE RULES APE LAW CONSTITUTIONAL

Would Allow State to Suppress Science

(Special to The Daily Worker.)

DAYTON, Tenn., July 14.— Judge T. Raulston today declared the Tennessee anti-evolution law constitutional, after considering the motion of the defense to have this law, upon which the indictment against John T. [illegible] is based, declared unconstitutional as a violation of the freedom of expression.

Raulston's conscience seemed to bother him, as in the morning he adjourned court, saying he had not had enough time to consider the state law against the teaching of evolution in the public schools, under which Scopes is being tried in his court.

The judge decided that the Tennessee legislature was fully within its police powers in placing restrictions upon the curriculums of the public schools.

The next battle of the defense will be to secure the admission of the testimony of scientists as to what evolution is, against the violent objections of the defense.

The religious controversy left bad feeling in its wake. During the recess, William Jennings Bryan quarreled with a New York newspaper man who asked him about his belief in the bible.

"Do you believe that Joshua made the sun stand still?" the reporter asked.

Bryan flamed with anger.

"I'm tired of having asses ask me silly questions," Bryan said heatedly.

"Am I to take that as a personal remark," the reporter queried.

"It goes for anybody who asks me a silly question," the commoner replied. But he thot it better to attempt no answer.

JUDGE IN SCOPES' TRIAL ASKED TO RULE ON CONSTITUTIONALITY OF TENN. ANTI-EVOLUTION LAW

(Special to The Daily Worker)

DAYTON, Tenn., July 14.—The Scopes evolution trial, marking a clash between religion and science, hung upon a constitutional issue today with its fate resting in the hands of presiding judge John T. Raulston.

The pending question was on the defense motion asking the court to dismiss the indictment of John T. Scopes as unconstitutional and to hold the law itself invalid. Raulston came into the courtroom, after working most of the night on his decision, but later announced he needed more time and called a recess. opinion here predicted the judge would approve the indictment and overrule the defense's motion.

Question of Liberty of Thought.

The defense based their principal hope for success on a contention that the law violated the guarantees of religious freedom in the state and federal constitutions. Their other points, involving property rights, the protection of scientific education and an alleged technical irregularity in the law were issues compared to the great question of religious liberty raised by Clarence Darrow in his address to the court.

Darrow charged the law fostered bigotry, ignited fires of intolerance and denied minorities the right to worship god according to the dictates of their consciences.

With a decision favorable to the state, both sides were ready to proceed with the trial on its merits. Scopes will be arraigned, plead not guilty and his students will take the stand to accuse him of teaching evolution in defiance of the law.

Then will follow the postponed clash over the admissibility of testimony by scientists. In this contest, William Jennings Bryan was expected to take his first active part in the trial.

The future of the trial will hinge on this debate and the decision of Judge Raulston on hearing scientists.

Clarence Darrow formally objected today to opening the trial with prayer.

The objection was overruled by Judge John T. Rauston and Darrow immediately entered an exception into the record of the case. The defense forcefully protested against the prayer, leading to sharp argument between attorneys for Scopes and the state counsel.

After a sharp debate, Rev. A. C. Stribben, pastor of the Cumberland presbyterian church, was called to the judge's rostrum to pray.

Prefers to Be Worker.

Rev. H. G. Byrd, driven out of his church pulpit by an unsympathetic congregation of fundamentalists has definitely decided to become an electrician, he announced today. Byrd has received a dozen offers of employment, including several new church charges, but said he preferred to become an electrician.

Shepherd Seeks to Cash in on Will at Probate Court

William D. Shepherd's battle for the $1,000,000 estate of his foster-son, William Nelson McClintock, was scheduled to begin, in probate court here today.

Proof of heirship, under the terms of the "millionaire orphan's" will, which leaves the bulk of the estate to Shepherd, was to be presented by Shepherd and his attorneys.

To offset this, representatives of McClintock's Iowa cousins, Isabelle Pope, Billy's fiance, and David McClintock, of East Carnegie, Pa., a 90-year old, grand uncle announced they would protest admission of the will to probate.

SOUTH BLAMES SCOPES 'HERESY' ON COMMUNISTS

Tennessee Newspapers Shriek of Red Menace

DAYTON, Tenn.—Saturated as the community of Dayton is in the primitive religion of the Tennessee mountains, the trial of John T. Scopes, high school biology instructor, for violating the anti-evolution law is bringing the usual modern trimmings of political cases.

Real Red Elements

There are real red elements. The "modern" New York and Chicago metropolitan dailies will have to stop smiling for a time when they learn that Tennessee has swiped their own exclusive stuff and considers the Communists responsible for the uproar.

"Instructions from Moscow," the favorite scream of the big city press whenever workers rise against wage slavery or subject peoples turn against the imperialist oppressor, is being echoed in the backwoods of the Appalachians.

And here is the Communist snake, as plain to the fevered view of the Chattanooga Daily Times as to the cultured vision of the New York Times or the Chicago Tribune. Is not the American Civil Liberties Union financing the Scopes defense? And has it not defended I. W. W. and Communists? Is not its director, Roger Baldwin, under jail sentence at this very moment, for breaking the law of New Jersey during a strike in which Workers (Communist) Party speakers cooperated? And does not Baldwin sit on the same board of directors in another organization with William Z. Foster, chief American agitator of the Moscow heresies and apostacies?

Bosses Promote Religion

Behind all the solicitude for religion and the hatred of radicalism stands no doubt the all-pervasive influence of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, the U. S. Steel corporation with its southern interests, centering in Birmingham and its Tennessee Coal and Iron subsidiary. The backwoods may believe in a literal flaming hell but they are catching up with all the most up-to-date bogeyman that the capitalist press uses to scare the city workers in the centers of culture. Gary and Sen. Underwood of Alabama have a far bigger stake in the fight against modern social ideas than has Bryan.

Prehistoric Skull Is Found Near the Sea of Galilee

JERUSALEM, July 14.—A prehistoric skull whose discovery holds coincidental interest with the Scopes trial in Tennessees, today furnished scientists with another link in the evolution chain.

The skull was discovered near Tiberias, which lies near the Sea of Galilee in Syria, and for those of literal orthodoxy may lead to the location of what was the site of the Garden of Eden.

While the skull resembles that of the Neanderthal European type of prehistoric man, scientists say it places the time of primitive man in Palestine at a more remote period than any previous discovery.

INCOME FIGURES SHOW MILLIONS GET PUNY WAGES

The Millions Go to a Few Employers

WASHINGTON, July 14. — Four American millionaires had incomes of more than $5,000,000 in 1923, and paid income tax totalling $10,908,000, the bureau of internal revenue announced today.

In a revised statement of tax statistics for 1923, it was disclosed that the total income for that year was $24,840,000,000 instead of $26,336,000,000 as originally estimated.

Incomes from $40,000 to $50,000 proved the most lucrative source of taxation, with a total of $35,118,000 paid, 8,472 individuals having filed returns in that class.

Large Mass Have Small Income.

Of the total of 7,698,000 returns filed, 2,515,324 represented incomes of from $1,000 to $2,000, 2,470,000 were in the $2,000 to $3,000 class and 1,125,000 the $3,000 to $4,000 class.

Millionaires in the $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 income tax class numbered 39. Twelve individuals filed returns showing incomes of $1,500,000 to $2,000,000, and twelve others incomes of from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000.

It is the income tax on these high incomes which President Coolidge is seeking to abolish in the next congress.

LONDON DOCTORS SOLVE CANCER GERM PROBLEM

LONDON, July 14.—The London Lancet, leading medical journal of Great Britain, has placed its carefully tempered approval on the startling discoveries of Dr. W. E. Gye and J. E. Barnard in isolating the cancer germ, it was announced today.

"Dr. Gye's observations, we may well believe, represent the solution of the central problem of cancer," says the Lancet.

Dr. Gye modestly has accorded Barnard, who is proprietor of a hat store near Piccadilly, his share of the credit for their discoveries. The hat store proprietor has made microscopy his hobby and earned the reputation of the most learned microcopist in in Great Britain.

Technical details of the discoveries were being kept secret pending the publishing of two papers in a coming issue of the Lancet, one by Barnard explaining the part the microscope played, and the other by Dr. Gye setting forth the medical significance of their discoveries.

POLICE TERROR FAILS TO COW CURLEE STRIKE

Plate Press Raves at Communist Influence

By MARTIN A. DILLMON.
(Federated Press Staff Correspondent.)

ST. LOUIS, July 14.—Never in the history of St. Louis has extreme police brutality against strikers been dished out so liberally as in the strike involving 900 workers, called June 2, by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers against the Curlee Clothing company. The issues are the right to unionize, 44-hour week, improved shop conditions, a 25 per cent increase of wages. The company, an uncompromising open shop for 15 years, refuses to negotiate. The strikers' ranks are unbroken. Strike benefits are being paid by the union.

The Amalgamated recently presented 50 affidavits supporting its charge of police brutality against strikers. Sergt. W. E. Joplin attacked a girl picket, Bertha Luedhoff, with his fists and spit in her face for good measure. Miss Elsie Turck, a striker, was arrested. Her bond was signed at 5 p. m., but she was held until 11 o'clock that night after which she was advised by the police that they desired to "teach a lesson you'll not soon forget."

Police manhandle several patrol loads of strikers, book them on imaginary charges, and the Curlee company's attorney is permitted to appear in the role of special prosecutor.

A temporary injunction has been issued against picketing by federal Judge Davis. Federal officers serving the injunction advised the strikers to return to work, as "the strike is lost now, anyway."

The St. Louis capitalist daily press is turned against thee strikers full force. The St. Louis Star invites A. F. of L. unions to "join with the employers in an investigation of the Communistic character of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers."

PATRIOTIC JOHN D. IN CROOKED TAX DODGE DEAL

Sale of Estates to Son Saves Millions

(Special to The Daily Worker)

NEW YORK, July 14.—(FP)—John D. Rockefeller, Sr. celebrated his 86th birthday by selling his four homes to his son for about $3,000,000 saving the son thereby hundreds of thousands of dollars in federal and state income and gift taxes. The transfer tax, based on the tax valuation of the property, amounted to $1,732.50.

The federal gift tax alone would have been $100,000 on the Pocantino Hills estate while federal inheritance taxes on this property would have been several hundred thousand dollars. The old Standard Oil multimillionaire, once "the world's richest man", sold his son his town house, 54th and Fifth Ave., New York; his Lakewood, N. J., country estate; and his winter home at Ormond Beach, Florida; all with proviso that John D. Sr. occupy them during his remaining years of life.

Dream Bubble of Great Pan-Pacific League of Nations Due for Bursting

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

TODAY, the requiem of the Institute of Pacific Relations is sung in a headline in the Chicago Daily News as follows: "Permanent Pacific Peace Body Formed; Next Meeting of Institute Set for 1927, Likely to Be Held in Japan." The main task will be the floating of a $75,000 fund to finance the organization for the next five years.

No resolutions were adopted, no declarations made, no programs set forth as a result of the Honolulu gathering. Just talk, a plea for funds and then an adjournment, just like all other similar propaganda organizations that appease the minds of liberals, and even some radicals, who chloroform themselves into the state of mind, that they are "getting somewhere" under capitalism.

• • • •

The institute talked peace in the Pacific, but as the sessions closed it faced a broadside from Congressman John F. Miller, of the state of Washington, who was in the neighborhood "studying the Hawaiian fortifications." Cannon can also speak, and Miller is going to see that there are plenty of them provided for the American imperialist outpost on its Oriental frontier.

But there are other voices. Motosada Zumoto, Japanese editor of the Herald of Asia, tells America to "please remember that the slow and patient east is stirring and its voice will be more and more insistent on winning back its seat of equality in the family circle of peoples to which its civilization and morale entitle it."

Zumoto speaks for the Japanese ruling class of today. He will use the unrest in China and India to frighten American imperialism, if he can, into granting concessions to his class.

The great masses of oppressed China realize that only the Russian workers and peasants recognize them as equals and treat them as such. The Soviet Union has established an equality among the nations of which Zumoto never dreamed, but which he, and the class from which he springs, fear with the same fear that is keeping the foreign ministers of Washington, London and Paris awake nights trying to conjure up some workable scheme for combatting it.

• • • •

It is said that Henry Cabot Lodge, as long as he lived the U. S. senator of the "open shop" interests of New England, and Franklin K. Lane, dreamt of a Pan-Pacific league of nations. Like the "league" that was spawned by the Versailles peace, it was to be a capitalist "league" for the common plunder of the workers and farmers of the nations that border the Pacific. The statesmen of big business have not given up the idea. But the failure of such a "league" is already a foregone conclusion, recognizing that it would have serious vacancies at its council tables from the beginning, if it were possible of organization.

The Soviet Union and revolutionary China would be on the outside, very comfortable to be sure. The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics would be beckoning to other nations to join its growing ranks. Revolutionary China would be a standing inspiration, as it is even now, to other peoples to struggle against this imperialist "league." But the imperialist rivalries themselves would make such a Pan-American league as barren of definite action as "The League" that holds interminable councils in the quiet fastnesses of Switzerland, trying to forget the wars that rage 'round the world, especially in Northern Africa.

• • • •

The institute of Pacific relations adjourns and peace is as far off as ever, so far as it is concerned. Peace comes, however, on the bayonets of Chinese workers, turned against native and foreign capitalists. Peace comes only with the ending of capitalist rule.

Local 81, I. L. G. W. Repudiates Scabbing.

It was learned yesterday that at the recent meeting of the International Ladies' Garment Workers, Local No. 81, the local decided to send a resolution to the joint board and to the Chicago Federation of Labor protesting against the scabby action of the United Garment Workers and demanding action against such an unprincipled lot of scabs masquerading as unionists.

With such support coming from all sections of the Chicago labor movement, led by the agitation of the DAILY WORKER and the activity of the left wing unionists of the Trade Union Educational League, the Amalgamated strikers are very hopeful.

Better Than at Start.

The strike is in even better shape than when it started. The open shop bosses can no longer pretend that work is really being done, and even the trick of faking up telegrams from New York telling that the Chicago orders would be done there, fails to work.

Yesterday, just before noon, thinking that the rain and the hour would favor them, a few scabs tried to sneak in. But the strikers don't mind a little rain and did mind a scab. In this case women strikers constituted themselves as a committee on scab reception. The party was for scabs only, not even cops were admitted. The scabs will probably remember the party for some time even if they don't brag about it to their kind. They went away with the greetings of the Amalgamated girls to Scab Herder Slater of the U. G.

Gloom Peddlers, Beware!

At the strike meeting the workers were warned against agents sent among them when on the street by the bosses or the scabby United Garment crew. Some of these characters have shown up in the crowds with noisy propaganda about "Work done in New York," "the strike being lost" and so on. Something may be lost if any more such chaps appear, but it won't be the strike.

The whole Chicago membership is keeping close watch in their respective shops to see that no I. T. C. of J. L. Taylor work is sneaked thru. It would be a warm day for any boss who gets caught with such open shop jobs on his work tables. But the bosses have strong solidarity and the workers are ordered to look sharp.

Today the workers will meet by groups, coat makers, pants makers and vest makers, and will receive the news of how the strike benefits will be paid. It is possible that the benefits will start in a day or so.

success of the Kuomintang influence upon the Peking government in calling for more than a vague revision of treaties, and demanding that all treaties be declared null and void and cancelled completely.

This would put the imperialists in a new kettle of hot water and their rivalries would again crop up in case some insisted on using armed force to compel China to obey and observe the old treaties.

TEUT FASCISTS ADMIT CRIMES AGAINST LABOR

Killers Tell Soviet of Work for Police

(Special to The Daily Worker)

MOSCOW—An article in the Pravda, official organ of the Russian Communist Party, entitled: "German Fascists before the Soviet Tribunal" contains among other things the following relating the attempt of three German fascists to murder Soviet officials:

"The satements made by one of the three accused German fascists who came here to assassinate prominent personalities of the Soviet state and of the Communist Party, reveal the ethics of the monarchist conspirators in such a light that the most phantastic Communist imagination could furnish no better arguments against the bourgeoisie.

"How long has the German press shouted in the attempt to prove that the Moscow trial was a mere fabrication, and that the accused were not fascists and white guards, but young knights of the spirit, young scholars who went to the land of red inventions, red phantasies and red wonders, where they are kept in prison, and that only the Moscow Tchekists could accuse these innocent scholars of plans of assassination, knowledge of poison and guns, conspiracy and other similar things.

Backed by Berlin Police.

"The defendant Dittmar has shown how hypocritical and false these worries of the German press are, especially of the fascist wing of the German counter-revolution. Monarchist conspiracies in Germany, spying among the workers, penetration of agents provocateurs into the Communist Party, service in the police headquarters at Berlin, connections with counts, barons, etc., and with the fascist organization "Consuls," bloody repression of the revolutionary attempts of the German proletariat, unsuccessful attempts to penetrate into the Trading Representation in Berlin, and finally the murderous trip to Russia—all these are links of a chain of crimes committed by counter-revolutionary cliques who are soiled with the blood of the German people, and who were about to shed the blood of the best men of our Soviet country.

"The crimes these people committed against the German proletariat are not being tried before our courts; that will be a matter for the proletarian tribunal of the German Soviet Republic. Altho the clues lead close to the gates of the Berlin police headquarters, and to a series of prominent personalities of the German oligarchy, we are not disposed to make a hysterical attack on Germany.

"We weigh everything soberly, and we know that there are deep-rooted economic and political forces that make us interested in friendly relations with the German Republic. We must say openly however, that the methods adopted by the fascists and monarchists arouse the bitter indignation and repulsion in our country. Our people cannot tolerate such things; and the court will, if the course of the trial shall require it, be stern in its verdict, i. e. if the results of the preliminary investigation and Dittmar's deposition should be confirmed. Our court opreates neither with forged Zinoviev letters, as the civilized forgers of Great Britain are wont to do, nor with false citations as did Painleve a few days ago, when, after reciting a lot of his own inventions, declared with a self-satisfied smile: "Se non e vero, eben trovato!"

Soviet Has No Use for Agents.

Our courts have no use for insane provocateurs such as Felix Neumann; our courts prefer to operate with objective data, with genuine documents and depositions, made not by agents, but by persons who came here in the service of the fascists. Our authorities do not intend to attack the representation of the German Republic, as was done by the German police in Berlin, altho the same police is involved in the matter of the fascist defendants now on trial; we are not hysterics like the monarchists and social-democratic heads of the police in Berlin; we are in favor of peace and for the development of peaceful relations. Our tribunal will consider everything soberly, and will decide upon the punishment of each defendant.

ANTHRACITE PROFITS ENOUGH TO PAY MORE THAN LEWIS DEMANDS, SAYS PROGRESSIVES' SECRETARY

By ALEX REID

(Secretary Progressive Miners' International Committee.)

As the United Mine Workers in the anthracite, with the coal operators, are at the moment engaged negotiating a contract covering the hard coal industry in Pennsylvania, it may be appropriate to look at a few figures, profits wrung out of the starving slaves in the hell holes of the anthracite mines to better understand the situation.

The hard coal barons of the anthracite living in New York City, Newport and along the Atlantic shore, have nothing in common with the slaves working in their mines. They know not the miners' living conditions, their trials and hardships, their blasted hopes, aspirations and disappointments, and they care even less.

The operators are trying to lower wages already entirely too low to feed a miner and his family, and an attempt is being made by the operators to break down working conditions and further reduce the inadequate wage standards.

The average wage of the anthracite miner is less than $5.00 per day, and they do not average more than four days per week. Out of this $5.00 per day, house rent, lights, water in some cases, doctor's bills, children's school books, etc., etc., are taken, and very little is left to the coal miner to feed himself and family.

A doctor, prominent in various mining towns in the anthracite field, a few weeks ago told the writer that the miners in the hard coal district were underfed and suffering acutely from malnutrition.

The following list of profits of the hard coal barons may be of interest to the "dear public" which is receiving the benefit of the $500,000 poison propaganda fund put out by the anthracite kings to educate the "dear people."

The "dear people" will also realize that out of the operating expenses, Pike's Peak salaries are paid to the coal kings.

It may be interesting to know that $12,000,000 per year is wrung out of the human blood of the hard coal miners to pay royalties to individuals who do not know the color of the anthracite. A higher tonnage rate is paid to royalty beneficiaries than is paid to the men who dig the coal!

It costs an average or approximately $4.00 per ton to produce hard coal, according to the operator's figures, and the anthracite sells to the "dear people" for from $10 to $16 per ton. Who gets the difference?

It would be well for the workers to inquire into the mining situation in the hard coal from sources more reliable than the capitalists' sheets if they wish to learn the truth.

The railroads and the anthracite mining operators together controlling the industry, and the press, are not proper places from which to expect facts.

The miners of Pennsylvania will repudiate any attempt to cut their wages, and will fight for an increase to their miserable dole that they may better feed their starving children.

CONFERENCE OF PLASTERERS IS VERY STUBBORN

Thinks Amalgamation Means Absorption

CLEVELAND, July 14—More than 200 representatives of the Operative Plasterers' and Cement Finishers' International Association at the close of a two-day conference here adopted a resolution empowering the executive board to carry on the jurisdictional fight with the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers' International Union.

Officials of the first named union charge that the bricklayers' union is trying to absorb it. This is denied by the bricklayers whose only action has been the resolution of the last convention favoring—not "absorption" of either organization by the other—but amalgamation of the two into one organization.

WILL THE BRESLAU GANG SAVE THE SITUATION IN THE FIGHT AGAINST THE SIGMAN MACHINE?

By BENJAMIN GITLOW

The war in the American labor movement between the rank and file and the reactionary officialdom is shaking the very foundations of organized labor. The climax has been reached in the International Ladies Garment Workers Union. Three locals with a combined membership of 30,000 workers have been expelled from the organization.

The officers of locals 2, 9 and 22 have been suspended because in the International and particularily in the New York joint board they have been conducting a fight against the betrayal of the workers interests and against the disruption of the organization.

The policy of Sigman machine backed by William Green president of the A. F. of L., the socialist party with its Jewish Daily Forward, the bosses and an army of hired gangsters and gunmen, is to rule the organization or ruin it. When the capitalists are combining and merging their interest the reactionary officials of the American labor movement are doing everything in their power to prevent the unification of the workers by proceeding methodically and in a high handed manner to disrupt and split the unions.

No Broken Ranks

The 30,000 members of the expelled locals have clearly demonstrated where they stand in the fight that is now going on in the International. They stand solidly behind the left wing and the suspended militant leaders of the rank and file. Every attempt by the use of gangsters and police to break their ranks has failed. The mass revolt that is sweeping the International Ladies Garment Workers Union is indicative of what will soon take place thruout the American labor movement.

When this mass revolt will become general and will have the spirit and determination of the revolt now sweeping the International, then the reactionary officialdom with its policy of class collaboration and craft unionism will be defeated and driven out of the unions.

Wrong Move Hinders

The eyes of the entire American labor movement is focused on what is now taking place in the International. A wrong move on the part of the workers now will greatly hinder the progress of the movement for the rebuilding unification and strengthening of the unions. The Sigman gang of disrupters has so far failed to make a dent in the ranks of the workers who are militantly and aggressively fighting against his disruptive tactics.

This makes it all the more necessary for the workers to guard against any insidious attempt on the part of the reactionaries to fool them into a position where their ranks will become demoralized and their fight dissipated. If this takes place it will result in the reactionary leaders again dominating the organization with their policies. Vigilance and more vigilance is now required of the workers.

Breslau Favors Sigman

Such an insidious attempt on the part of the International machine to fool the workers is the attitude of Breslau, the czar of Local 35. Workers are being fooled into the belief that Breslau does not favor the expulsion policy of President Sigman. This is rather strange. Only a few months ago Breslau, who has the wholehearted support of the Forward, the champion of a thorogoing expulsion policy, was opposed to Sigman because he was not aggressive enough in expelling the left wing.

There were many militants who, correctly estimating the Breslau group in the joint board as one of the blackest forces, were inclined to favor Sigman at the time. To expect such a dyed in the wool reactionary labor official to oppose a militant policy of expulsion against the left wing is the high of folly. Breslau is and will continue to be a bitter opponent of the left wing.

Playing a Double Game

While some workers are putting hope in the attitude that Breslau is assuming, Breslau, like Sigman did before, is playing a double game. While maintaining an attitude of hostility to Sigman, his elements in Local 35 are valiantly supporting Sigman in his fight against the militant workers who are being driven from the shops in the desperate attempt of the Sigman machine to defeat the rank and file.

Breslau is a menace and a danger to the organization and particularily to the fight that the rank and file is now conducting against the attempt to split the organization. Breslau typifies the blackest elements in the labor movement. His methods have been a blot on the record of the International. The workers should not forget his methods of terrorism against the rank and file. He is the tool of the infamous socialist sheet, the Forward.

Give Breslau the upper hand in the International and he will outdo Sigman in a campaign of terror and expulsion against the rank and file. There is not a spark of progressivism in Breslau. He is a craft unionist to the core. To him a union is not a fighting organization for the members who are exploited in the shops but a business organization that must collaborate with the bosses at the expense of the workers.

A Wolf in Sheep's Clothing

Breslau is coming to the cloakmakers and the dressmakers in false garments. He is a wolf disguised in sheeps' clothing. Once he will be able to fool the workers he will discard his false clothing and show his teeth. Breslau and Sigman are one against the rank and file. The workers must fight them both.

Cloakmakers and dressmakers and militant members of the rank and file of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union should stand loyally by the expelled locals. They should keep up the militant struggle. They should win every shop for the rank and file. It is their duty to get rid of the Breslau-Sigman-Schlessinger disrupters of the union. They should have nothing but contempt for the Jewish Daily Forward and should combat its campaign of calumny and abuse against the fighting members of the International.

By so doing, they will defeat the attempt of the reactionaries, the Forward and the gunmen to disrupt their organization and to throw the workers at the mercy of their exploiters. Their slogan should be: March Forward to victory for a stronger, better and militant International!

DES MOINES CAR MEN WHIP COMPANY IN ONE WEEK FIGHT FOR UNION

DES MOINES, July 14—Normal street car service was resumed here following agreement between the striking platform men and the company upon a compromise settlement proposal. The company agreed to discharge a non-union employe and the union agreed to court interpretation of a section of the working contract relating to the "check-off" method of collecting union dues. The latter issue will be settled at the September court term. Cars had been tied up for a week.

TRI-DISTRICT MINE CONVENTION AND LEWIS' DEALINGS THEREIN, PUT UNDER ANALYSIS BY MANLEY

By JOSEPH MANLEY.

Now that the Tri-District (Anthracite) Convention is over and the last echos of the speeches of Lewis and Kennedy are but a memory, one can begin to examine what really happened. In comparison with the last Tri-District Convention held two years ago, where the writer and several companions seated in the gallery of the convention, were made the issue by Lewis to side-track the progressive spirit that was developing alongside the factional fight between Brennan and Cappellini, the convention just held may be rated as having taken some steps along the road to progress.

But as to what kind of progress and what kind of road the miners are being asked to follow under the leadership of John L. Lewis, this convention and what happened therein and in connection with it may prove a guide.

After watching this convention for four consecutive days most of which were consumed by speeches by Lewis of Kennedy, the thot persists—Is American imperialist capital fastening a strangle hold upon the trade union movement? Is its plan to have Lewis, as the secretary of labor in the cabinet of Coolidge, while Green, the servant of Lewis is the President of the A. F. of L.?

Lewis Moralizes.

Lewis, in his speech to the convention on the opening of the second days' session went over the story of the breaking of the Jacksonville agreement. He referred particularly to the repudiation of the agreement by the Consolidation Coal Company and the Pittsburgh Coal Company. Speaking of the former he mentioned John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in the following words:

"A captain of industry in our land, a gentleman of many fine traits of individual and social character, a religious, God-fearing man if you please, namely John D. Rockefeller, Jr.. Mr. Rockefeller is a large stockholder in the Consolidated Coal Company, and yet, as a stockholder in that company and wielding a great influence, he joins with Colonel Watson in the tearing up of the contract with the United Mine Workers of America. What a great contrast between the private morals and the business morals of a great American citizen."

Of Mellon, he said, in part: "Mr. Mellon is a fine, upstanding citizen, has many admirable traits and qualities, and without question is, perhaps, the greatest secretary of the treasury since the days of Alexander Hamilton. Yet he permits his coal company, the Pittsburgh Coal Company if you please, to violate a contract with the United Mine Workers of America without, in so far as I know, any protest on his part. What a remarkable difference between the private and the business morals of a great captain of industry."

Fine Words About Shut Down.

Almost at the close of his speech Lewis declared: "I have cited the instances and I have named the names of the men responsible for this action, (the breaking of the Jacksonville agreement) and if this situation continues it may be necessary, later on, to authorize a national shutdown of the mines of this country while the government and the coal operators and the representatives of the mine workers discuss the question of whether the Jacksonville agreement is going to be carreid out."

The only fighting note in his speech was for "full recognition of the union and no reduction in wages." This means of course the checkoff.

Following on the heels of this speech made by Lewis at Scranton on Tuesday, a Scranton paper on Wednesday carried a dispatch from its bureau in Washington which indicated that the government was optimistic concerning the coming negotiations on the anthracite scale and that the administration placed "great faith" in Lewis. Parts of this dispatch are worth quoting as they indicate how closely American labor is being bound to the wheels of heavy industry as expressed in republican party politics:

Lewis is the "Horse" for Government.

"It is understood here (Washington) that the president had practically tendered the post now held by Secretary Davis to John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and that the latter would now be a member of the cabinet had it not been for the unusual situation developing in the industry in which he is an influential element. Secretary Hoover is declared to have taken the position that it would be unwise to "swap horses" while the operators and the miners were in midstream.

"President Lewis is counted upon by the administration to be a restraining and compromising factor in bringing together the conflicting demands of employers and employes. To a greater degree than perhaps any other labor leader he enjoys the confidence of the white house and members of the cabinet, and the feeling prevails here that he will do his best to have peace maintained in the industry.

Lewis, Confidant of Coolidge.

"While administration spokesmen are extremely reticent in regards to their view of what is a fair compromise of the wage issue, it is expected here that the policy to be pursued by Secretaries Davis and Hoover will follow the program which they urged upon the bituminous miners in April of last year . . . A tie up at anthracite mines, Secretary Hoover is said to believe, would defeat the purpose (prosperity?) he had in mind when he practically forced the acceptance of the Jacksonville agreement."

Asks Blessing of Business Men.

To complete the picture it is worth quoting Lewis on the policy of the union. In his book he says: "The policy of the United Mine Workers of America is neither new nor revolutionary. It does not command the admiration of visionaries or utopians. It ought to have the support of every thinking business man in the United States, because it proposes to allow natural economic laws free play in the production and distribution of coal."

From this it can be gleaned what manner of man heads the largest and most powerful organization of labor in America. He is the president of the organization, a leader of the republican party, as such the candidate for the present position of Davis in the cabinet.

Lewis' economic theories are those of Alexander Hamilton a bulwark of American capitalist reaction. Lewis however is no fool. He knows how to talk to the mine workers many of whom have not learnt how to see thru his sophistry and his glib phraseology.

"General Shutdown" Just Talk to Catch Miners.

For instance when he spoke of a "general shutdown," the rank and file of the delegates applauded loudly. Not stopping to think that Lewis is the last man in the American labor movement to lead a militant struggle against the employers. On the contrary he is just the man who can and will bow to the same kind of so-called agreement he made at Jacksonville. The only militant struggles that Lewis wants to lead are against Communists and Progressives.

This story started with the Tri-District Convention and now appears to have been taken up with a discussion of Lewis. In order to understand the situation in the Miners Union it is necessary to discuss Lewis. He and his policies typify better perhaps than any other labor bureaucrat the lengths to which class-collaboration in the labor movement have develaped.

Tho he only arrived on the scene of the convention on the second day and tho he only spoke for about an hour on that day—it was all the convention listened to, it adjourned after hearing him—he and his machine were in complete control.

The reasons for it are vastly different than these in the bituminous fields. In the anthratice the unemployment is at present negligible. The companies have tremendous influence in the union thru the control exercised by their bosses. The scale committee of the Tri-District Convention is a handpicked affair. So that there is little chance for a progressive measures to get by the machine control of Lewis.

Passing Buck on Nationalization.

A few progressive resolutions were passed, such as abolition of anti-syndicalism laws; release of class war prisoners and endorsement of the Pennsylvania Labor Party. However, the vital resolution on nationalisation of the coal industry was referred to the next International Convention, plainly passing the buck on this fundamental problem.

Perhaps fearing a struggle and the need for avoiding it, Lewis did not want to repeat the scandalous incident of the last Tri-District Convention. Even he, hard boiled reactionary that he is, cannot afford to lose all sense of bourgeois dignity. Especially if the bee of a cabinet position is buzzing in his bonnet.

As for real accomplishments in the Tri-District Convention they were not to be found. Unless the demand for a ten per cent increase; full recognition of the union and the better working conditions contained in the report of the scale committee can be considered real accomplishment. Nothing was done in the convention to lay the basis for a fundamental struggle with the anthracite trust.

Lewis, for all his speeched and book writing, said nothing about the trustification of the anthratice industry nor did he in speaking with such meticuluous care of the religious Mr. Rockefeller meniton the fact that he is also one of the big boys in the anthratice industry. Such indidentals are probably beneath the superior economic wisdom that John L. has all of a sudden become so gabby and high falutin about.

Progressive Day is Coming.

The program of the Progressive Miners widely circulated in the anthracite region previous to the convention made a lasting impression upon many rank and file elements. The planks contained in this program will show increasing strength as the economic crisis in the industry develops.

The Progressives in the convention, few tho they were, made a good impression upon those who were not directly under the influence of the Lewis machine. Theirs was the only voice which dared to rise in fundamental challenge to the system of wage slavery which is grinding the lives out of the anthracite miners.

All the terror of the Lewis machine thruout the region will not stop the development of the progressive movement amongst the rank nad file of the mine workers. Neither the fine words of the convention speeches nor the political ambitions of the mine workers' reactionary leaders can halt the class struggle.

MINNEAPOLIS PAINTERS DEMAND IMPERIALIST HANDS OFF CHINA

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 14— At a regular meeting of the Painters' Union Local 186 held last night the following resolution was adopted:

"WHEREAS the workers of China are today engaged in a bitter struggle for decent wages and living conditions against the American, British, Japanese and other foreign capitalists who have for years carried on a policy of ruthless exploitation in that unhappy country, and:

"WHEREAS: at the present time these foreign imperialists are rushing troops and battle cruisers to Chinese ports and are shooting down the workers of Shanghai and other Chinese cities, and

"WHEREAS: in this fight the Soviet Republic of Russia has given its support to the Chinese workers with the result that imperialist powers are threatening war on the Soviet Republic, therefore be it

"RESOLVED: that this local union in regular meeting assembled demands that the Wall Street government in control of this country keept its "Hands Off China" and be it further

"RESOLVED: that we pledge ourselves to stand by the Soviet government of Russia and demand that instead of gestures of war, this country give recognition, both diplomatic and economic, to the First Workers' and Peasants' Government.

"Signed—Dan W. Stevens, President."

The gestures of war on the part of the imperialist powers to the Soviet Union, are inspiring resentment on the part of the workers in Minneapolis. They are conscious of the fact that the first desire of capitalism, is the destruction of the Soviet Union, since it stands as a Beacon, lighting up the path which the workers are treading toward social and economic and political freedom.

WORKERS OF SOVIET UNION VOTE AT MASS DEMONSTRATIONS, ONLY EXPLOITERS OF LABOR BARRED

By LYDIA DUBI.

(Worker Correspondent)

MOSCOW, (By Mail.)—I am 20 years old and as a Swiss citizen, ought to have had the opportunity several times of voting in Switzerland. But since I am a woman, and the women in Switzerland haven't the right to vote, altho in a democracy the equality of all citizens ought to be taken for granted, since the women as well as the men are subject to the laws, must work and pay taxes. I had to come to Moscow before I could vote as an equal.

In Soviet Russia, as is known, not only all workers, regardless of sex, but even foreigners, if they belong to the working class and are engaged in actual work, have the right to vote equally.

Select Soviet Candidates.

Of course there are differences betwen the elections in the oldest democracy in the world and the Soviet elections in Soviet Russia. I will not quote the whole Soviet constitution, but simply report on how I voted. Our comrades will themselves be well able to find the difference.

The Moscow Soviet elections took place from March 25 to April 6. Several days before they began, our whole institution assembled in the club which we have in the building itself. There a candidate for the Moscow Soviet and one for the Rayon Soviet (Rayon means district) were nominated and unanimously accepted. These were a man and woman comrade from our institution, both of whom were known to all of us as good workers in the reconstruction of Soviet Russia.

A little later every worker and employe in the institution received a voting ticket, and on the day on which our district was to vote, work finished in the institution at 3 o'clock and the whole institution, from the highest secretary down to the cleaning woman and stove tender, marched in a public demonstration with our flags and to the accompaniment of a band to the Conservatory where the voting was to take place.

March to Voting Places.

Our tickets were taken from us as we entered, and we took our places in the hall. Gradually the hall filled with workers from other institutions in our district, who had also arrived in a body with flags from their institutions. When the hall was filled with about 2,500 people, one of the two bands which were present suddenly began to play a march, and in marched the pioneers, who ignore no public occasion here, and who know better what elections mean than some of our old Swiss citizens.

The boys and girls with their red kerchiefs stood on the stage and greeted us with a battle song. A member of the election commitee opened the meeting and those present elected the Presidium of the meeting. A worker spoke a few words about the death of six Russian leaders, and the meeting, in their memory, stood while the funeral march was played. Then the business of the meeting began.

Comrade Radek Reports.

First point on the agenda: A report on the situation in the Soviet Union and the tasks of the Soviets at the present moment. The reporter was Comrade Radek, whom the meeting enthusiastically granted unlimited time to speak. It would take too long to say anything about the report itself.

It purported to tell the workers the tasks they must impose on their represenatives in the Soviet and how they must demand their fullfilment. After the report many questions were asked, which prove how much the workers are interested in all questions. After the concluding words, which were greeted with acclamation, just as the report had been, the elections began.

Election of Candidates.

Every institution the employes, of which were in the hall, had put up a candidate, or in case less than 500 persons with the right to vote were employed in one institution, two or three combined and agreed on a joint candidate. The 2,500 people present there had to send five representatives to the Moscow Soviet and five to the Rayon Soviet.

The list was read, while every candidate was stormily applauded by his own institution. In accordance with the decision of the meeting,—things were conducted in punctiliously democratic manner in every respect—the whole list was voted on in toto by a show of hands, and all ten were unimously elected. Prolonged applause and a flourish of music followed. The elections were over, not so ceremoniously and secretly as in capitalist countries, but openly and with enthusiasm. Everyone knew his candidate and had confidence in him, because he was certain that he would not betray the interests of his electors.

Protest Polish Terrors.

A protest resolution on the trial of Comrade Lanzuzki in Poland was passed and then the whole meeting sang the International, in token of the union of all toilers in Soviet Russia.

But that was not yet the end. On the street a procession was formed in order to march to the Moscow Soviet and greet the newly elected Soviet. It was a gay procession, composed of all sections of the laboring population. Next to typical clerks marched robust workers in their sheepskin coats and leather jackets, women cleaners with red handkerchiefs on their heads. From the balcony of the Soviet a comrade spoke a few words to the people gathered below, several loud cheers, the International, and then the demonstration scattered.

Only Exploiters Are Excluded.

This is how the working class of all Moscow votes. Only those are excluded who exploit the labor of others, or do socially useless work, like priests for instance, also former (and secretly even now) enemies of the working class, like former czarist officers or police officials. Since the elections started the streets have been filled with demonstrations of original way. I saw all 24 of them. workers from various institutions who march to the voting booth or demonstrate in front of the Moscow Soviet.

The employes of the omnibusses, which have been running in Moscow only for a short time, voted in an one after the other, on one of the last days of the elections, coming up the Tverskaya, filled with employes and decorated with flags and slogans. In front of the Moscow Soviet, which, by the way, is also festively decorated with flags and slogans, and on the front of which letters three meters high, formed electric lights, blaze forth the name of Lenin at night, the omnibusses halted on the square while one comrade spoke. A splendid picture of the ever increasing economic stabilization of Soviet Russia.

Tasks of Women.

We will still have to do tremendous work in the capitalist countries in order to progress as far as Russia has, and especially will we women still have many tasks to fulfill before we get not merely the formal right to vote but really complete equality with the men, as the Russian women have.

This, however, is possible only if we overthrow the capitalist social system and take power into our hands as the working class. But we will not attain that by standing over our pots and pans, but by fighting in the Communist Party with the masses of workers for this aim.

LABOR PARTY IS DEMAND OF REDS IN CLEVELAND

Call On the Unions to Support Conference

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 14.—The Workers (Communist) Party of Cleveland has sent a letter to all labor organizations of this city pointing out the necessity for the formation of a labor party to work in the interests of the working class.

The letter, printed below, calls upon all labor bodies to indorse the call for a conference on the matter of labor participation in the coming municipal elections here.

The letter follows:

"To labor organizations of Cleveland:

"With the approach of elections, the question comes to the front, What is the government doing for the workers?

"The usual experience after elections has been a betrayal of the interests of labor by the successful candidates regardless of the amount of pro-labor noise they may have made during the campaign.

Councilmen Serve Railroads.

"It is now well-known that most of the seventeen councilmen endorsed by organized labor at the last municipal election have served the New York Central and allied railroad interests and forgotten the workers whose votes elected them.

"Organized labor well remembers the milk drivers' strike of three years ago when the city government put policemen on the wagons to protect the scabs.

"The street car men have fresh in their minds the freedom allowed John Stanley in his strike-breaking preparations recently and the police protection provided the company for strikebreakers in times past.

"The city administration bitterly fought against the payment of union wages to city employees some months ago even after the courts had decided in favor of the wage increase.

"When the garbage collectors two years ago demanded a thoroly deserved increase in pay and improvement in conditions, they found out that the city government is just as willing as any other boss to employ strike-breakers, and besides, it has the police all ready to protect its scabs.

Labor Must Exert Political Power.

"The recent decision of the Ohio state supreme court against the street railwaymen and the failure of the federal government to punish the Teapot Dome oil thieves are reminders of what the workers are now coming to accept without argument; that from the city up, the government is in the hands of the employing class which uses the governmental power to increase profits and keep down the workers.

"History offers abundant proof of the fact that what little has ever been gained by labor from a capitalist government has been only because of the political power it has exerted. Because labor has been so weak politically, it has gained practically nothing. On the other hand, there has developed in the United States the world's most powerful financial oligarchy whose motto is, Destroy the Unions. The 'American plan' is the policy of these capitalistic interests which today control government from city councils up.

"To fight the 'American plan' and the open shop campaign means to fight not only the industrial control of the financial interests, but their political power as well.

"The Workers Party maintains that labor should abandon forever its nonpartisan policy of supporting whichever old party politician shouts the loudest before election in favor of labor. The policy of following in the train of so-called 'Progressive' parties led by professional politicians or 'friends of labor' must also be given up, because such parties in reality represent business interests, if not those of Wall Street, then the smaller fry who are not one whit less anxious than the big interests to grind out of labor every possible penny.

"Labor must adopt once and for all the policy of voting as a class for its own candidates. Let labor form a labor party, composed of the unions and political and other organizations of workers willing to unite on the basis of independent working class political action against the common enemy, the capitalist class.

"We urge upon your organization to give the fullest consideration to this question and to endorse the calling of a conference on the matter of labor participation in the coming municipal elections and the formation of a labor party for Cleveland.

"Down with the industrial and political rule of the open shoppers! Up with independent political action by the working class! Forward to a labor party! Forward to workers control!"

Production and Wages Increase in Soviet Union

pre-war level (gross production per head per day, 5 rubles, 31 kopec, and in 1912—8 rubles at pre-war prices). Towards the end of 1923 wages were on the average 60 per cent of the pre-war wage.

In the middle of 1924, the roductivity of labor was 75 per cent and wages on an average 72.5 per cent of the pre-war level. In the following months the increase in labor productivity was somewhat slower and the discrepancy between it and the increase of wages was greater.

Demand For Goods.

The slowing down of labor productivity was a considerable danger for the further development of our industries and for the economic development of the U. S. S. R. in general. The revival of our agriculture and the growing requirements of our towns have resulted in an increased demand for manufactured articles.

Our industries must keep pace with the demand, and it is not only a question of extending industrial production, but also of making production cheaper by bringing prices for manufactured goods into closer proximity with prices for agricultural produce.

This can only be achieved by improving the methods of production and by increasing the productivity of labor for the purpose of making the process of mass production cheaper. The raising of individual productivity of labor is of particular importance in the U. S. S. R. in view of the fact that our industries have comparatively little reserved capital at their disposal that we cannot introduce the necessary technical improvements rapidly enuf.

Improve Working Methods.

Under such conditions increase of wages cannot be thot of unless there is a corresponding increase in the productivity of labor. Therefore all the efforts of our workers organized in the trade unions and of our economists were concentrated on this, starting with the last quarter of 1924.

The measures adopted to achieve tihs aim consisted in the introduction of unlimited piece rates together with a revision of possible output, and in the adoption of a number of organizational measures aiming at the improvement of the methods of production. In connection with the revision of the output figure the condition of the equipment of the enterprise and all other conditions affecting productivity of labor are taken into consideration.

It has been ascertained that when the revision of the output standard is accompanied by technical organizational measures for the improvement of working methods, positive results have been attained; both, productivity of labor and wages have increased; a more rational use is made of the working hours; there is less waste of time and less malingering.

Output Per Head Advances.

The fact that all the measures introduced were accompanied by the workers' increased interest in the raising of labor productivity resulted in a considerable increase in production. For instance, the total value of articles produced in the main branches of industry during October-January, 1924-25 increased 50 per cent as compared with the same period in 1923-24, and 36 per cent as compared with June-September 1924.

The gross output per head day in the first quarter of the business year of 1924-25 increased 30 per cent compared with the first quarter of the business year of 1923-24 and 6.1 per cent as compared with the fourth quarter of the same year, the maximum increase in output being observed in the metal, electro-technical, chemical and food industries. The average real wage also increased: in the first quarter of the business year 1924-1925 it amounted to 78.4 per cent of pre-war rates, having increased 5-6 per cent as compared with the fourth quarter of 1923-1924. The increase of the daily real wage in some branches of industry was as follows: 9 per cent in the metal industry, 1.7 per cent in the textile, 7.2 per cent in the chemical, 12 per cent in the leather, 17 per cent in the food, and 9.3 per cent in the printing industries. There was no change in the mining industry.

Changes in Monthly Wages.

The following table shows the changes in monthly wages in 1924 as compared with 1913 (percentage to 1913 wages):

Industries	VII-IX	X-XII
Mining	48.6	52.8
Metal	55.5	64.6
Textile	86.5	96.2
Chemical	90.8	100.9
Printing	93.0	106.1
Cotton	100.3	111.5
Leather	73.6	112.7
Food	124.8	143.5

Increase of Productivity 40 Per Cent.

We will have a few more figures concerning Leningrad industry. In July 1924 the average daily wage in commodity (real) rubles was 1 ruble, 21 kopecs, whilst the output per head per day at pre-war prices amounted to 8 roubles, 55 kopecs; in December the wage was 1 ruble, 45 kopecs and the output 10 rubles 15 kopecs, namely the increase in wages and output during the half year was 20 per cent in round figures, whilst for the whole year—from January to Decemer 1924, wages increased 40 per cent and productivity of labor 35 per cent. These figures show very graphically the positive results of unlimited piece rates and of the revision of the output standard.

We will give a few more figures to show how Leningrad wages compared with wages thruout the entire industry. According to latest statistics the average real wage of Leingrad workers is at present 94 per cent of the pre-war wage in the same town (in 1913 the average wage in the Petersburg industries was 35 rubles, 35 kopecs, whilst at present it is 33 rubles, 55 kopecs). In the various industries wages in Leningrad exceed pre-war rates as follows: in the food and tobacco industries 35 per cent, in the chemical industry 20 per cent, in the cotton industry 19 per cent in the leather industry 16 per cent and in the textile industry 8 per cent. The wage of Leningrad metalists is now 80 per cent of the pre-war wage and the wage of the wood-workers 85 per cent.

Conditions of Workers Improve.

On the whole, the above statistics show that the efforts of the trade unions and of our economists are attaining good results: productivity of labor increases, and with it wages also. If the rise in wages during the current business year is not as considerable as before, we have every reason to believe that the development and extension of our industries and increase of productivity of labor will enable us to improve considerably the material conditions of the workers in the near future. Mention must also be made of the fact that wages are not the only indication of improvement in the material and cultural conditions of the workers of the U. S. S. R., for besides wages, there are a number of state and municipal measures which benefit the workers and give them considerable privileges either free of charge or at a very low cost (housing policy, communal services, educational institutions, etc.)

VICIOUS FRAME-UP PERPETRATED BY AHERICAN AND JUGO-SLAV JUNKERS LANDS COMMUNIST WORKER IN PRISON

A letter has come to us from a Jugo-Slav comrade in one of the bastilles of American capitalism at MacNeal Island, Wash., telling of a vicious frame-up that has been perpetrated against him. He was sentenced to thirteen years after which time he is to be deported to Jugo-Slavia. Here is the letter:

To the DAILY WORKER:—I am greatly overjoyed and more grateful then I can say for the subscription to the DAILY WORKER. It may interest you to know something about myself and my imprisonment. I am a native of Dalmatia, formerly Austria, and now a part of Jugo-Slavia. During the world war I was exempted from military service on account of physical disability, but I had to submit to some government service.

I could not bring myself to co-operate with the bourgeoisie to take away the lives of the people of my class. Consequently my services were not of much value to them.

Russia His Inspiration.

I visited a number of European countries including Russia, which is now a marvelous country. The people are now better established than ever before. They have a system of education that is their greatest security.

I came back to America to study working conditions here, and to earn my livelihood and support my aged parents back home. But ever since I came to this country they have been trying to frame-up something on me and put me in prison. As soon as I departed from the old country the Jugo-Slavonian authorities had immediately notified their agents here that a dangerous agitator was on his way to America. That he has done time over there for advocating Bolshevism. I wasted three months in Mitrovice, Sriem, for my views.

The following message was forwarded here and it read thus: "Peter Musidin or Mulberg or under whatever aliases he may go, is in America on a radical mission. He is 5 feet 7 inches tall, light complexion with blue eyes. He is educated and well mannered, speaks several languages, with a light voice. We urge you to take any steps that you consider necessary and report to us whatever facts may come to your knowledge regarding his connections. We should like to know as definitely as possible who the people are and his conversations with them. Incidental details will be of interest and value to us."

The frame-up charges have their origin in the following. A man with whom I had only a slight acquaintance wished me to keep a suitcase for him in my room until he returned to town. Later government authorities swooped down upon my room, grabbed the suitcase and opened it up in my presence. It contained some counterfeiting copper cuts for printing currency. Needless to say, I know nothing about the contents of the suitcase.

They have given me a savage sentence of thirteen years imprisonment at McNeil Island, Wash., by the U. S. court of Portland, Ore. I am to be deported at the expiration of my term.

They can deport me, but they cannot take away from me my faith, ideal and ambition, altho Jugo-Slavonian authorities are eagerly awaiting my arrival to grab me when I get there.

In conclusion, I wish to eypress my kindest regards to you and all. With deepest appreciation, I remain, Yours fraternally, Peter Mulberg.

COMMUNISTS OF McKEESPORT, PA., MAKE ARRANGEMENTS FOR PICNIC

All workers regardless of nationality are urged to attend this picnic.

N. Y. Greek Branch Free Speech Fight Gets Bigger Meetings

(By Worker Correspondent.)

From Greek Branch, Dist. No. 2.

NEW YORK, July 14— Our branch, the Greek branch of the uptown district, is holding successful meetings at the corner of 39th and 8th avenue, the Greek workers' center.

Last night we were holding one of our regular meetings (peacefully, as usual) with a very good Greek audience, when a bull instigated by a Greek bible society, surged into the meeting and demanded that we stop. We ignored him and continued our meeting. He dragged our comrade, Pappayianis, a garment worker, off the platform. Comrade Serros, the chairman, protested. He placed the two comrades under arrest. Before taking them to the police station, he kicked the platform down and to further show his heroism, he started clubbing the platform. He did not dare to club our comrades for the look in the faces of our audience told him what was good for him.

Hold Another Meeting.

A few minutes passed and the platform was up again, this time Comrade Stanitsides speaking. He was followed by Comrade J. Jamos, who spoke for half an hour to an audience of over 300 Greeks. He told them that the Communists are not afraid to fight the exploiters of this country and that like our comrades all over the world, they will keep up the fight to a finish. He urged them to join their unions, to study and learn about Communism and to fight the Greek and American bosses. The audience cheered the speakers. To show their sympathy with our ideals they volunteered to act as witnesses for our arrested comrades. Over sixty of them gave their names and addresses, among them being some Greek women. This shows us that the Greek worker is awakening and we are determined to draw them to the class struggle.

At the police station our comrades were charged with disorderly conduct. They were sent down to the night court where the Workers Party council asked for a postponement of the case until the next day. The comrades were set free after we produced $25 bail for each.

Picnic in Providence to Honor Imprisoned Class War Prisoners

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 14.—Under the slogan, "Workers, Defend Your Fighters," the workers of Providence are called to a unity picnic at Thienert's Farm outside the city to be held on August 2nd.

The proceeds of the picnic will go to build up "International Labor Defense," as a great mass movement rousing the whole labor world to remembrance of its imprisoned fighters and to help in the latest move of the I. L. D. to raise a fund to send $5.00 per month to each of America's 128 class war prisoners.

If you live in Providence, or any place in Rhode Island for that matter, take a Woonsocket-Provindence trolley, get off at Albion Road and follow the signs. There will be speakers in English, Russian, Ukrainian and Italian besides games, music and refreshments.

NEW YORK STANDS BY COMRADE GITLOW

NEW YORK, July 14—The following resolution was adopted by the D. E. C. of New York District No. 2, Workers (Communist) Party at its meeting held recently, with the request that it be sent to all party papers:

"Whereas, the United States supreme court, the buttress of capitalism, has decided that our Comrade Benjamin Gitlow must serve the remainder of his ten years' sentence for uttering the famous left wing manifesto of 1919; and

Whereas, our Comrade Gitlow has during the past six years held aloft the red banner of Communism in America, devoting himself unflinchingly to the cause of the Communist International, be it

Resolved by the D. E. C. of District No. 2 of the Workers Party in regular meeting held in New York City to congratulate Comrade Gitlow for his determined stand for the exploited masses and to offer our support and our pledge to work unremittingly for Comrade Gitlow's freedom so that he may continue his splendid activities and in building the Workers (Communist) Party of America into a genuine mass Communist Party, and be it further

Resolved, that we send this resolution to the C. E. C., the DAILY WORKER, and all other party organs with the request that the same be printed therein, and be it further

Resolved that District No. 2, W. P. centering around New York be recorded as giving its full support to this resolution.

Detroit Y. W. L. Picnic

REICHERT DIED VICTIM OF FOES OF THE WORKERS

Was Jailed Because He Led Clothing Strike

The death of Jacob Reichert ten days after he was released from prison by Governor Donahey of Ohio because it was known he could not live thru his fifteen years sentence, marks one more of a long series of such crimes being committed yearly against workers active in the ranks of the labor movement.

Reichert went into Columbus prison three years after the beginning of a frame-up prosecution that grew out of a strike of Amalgamated Clothing Workers in Cincinnati in 1922.

Reichert was business agent of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Union during the strike and it was because of his zealous work that he won for himself the persecution that caused his death.

Now Swimming Blamed for Empty Church Seats; Pastors Ask Blue Laws

(By Worker Correspondent)

MONESSEN, Pa., July 14.—The pastors of the Charleroi churches passed a resolution that the Charleroi bathing beach be closed on Sundays.

They claim that the beauty contests that are held there every Sunday injures the morals of the young people and they are not attending church, therefore the beach and others must be closed on Sunday.

When these pastors are successful, which they will be, what is the poor working man going to do on Sundays? We are not allowed to play baseball on Sunday, now we are not allowed to swim.

Monessen, which boasts of being a third class city, has no beach. They even prohibit you from swimming in the city limits. When you go out of the limits to swim you have to cross the railroad, and the railroad bulls are always on the lookout for you for trespassing on their property.

The rich around here take out their high power cars and motor to the country club for the Sunday golf. The ministers don't have a word to say about this.

Probe Rates on Farm Products.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The interstate commerce commission's investigation of all freight rates in the United States—the most comprehensive inquiry ever undertaken in the history of American transportation—will start on September 1.

It was announced today that the first hearings would be held at Chicago and that they would be concerned chiefly with the rates on farm products on western railrodas.

Foreign Exchange.

KU KLUXERS STOP BLOOR MEETING AT DAYTON, OHIO

Plans to Speak in Spite of Attack

last night in connection with the dedication of their new temple at Jefferson and Green streets.

Banners and floats were part of the parade. One read: "Lord is our leader, and we shall lead the world." The paraders were in their long white robes and dunce caps but wore no masks.

Fiery crosses and floats featuring "Welfare Work" were numerous. One had a woman and baby sitting by a table with a kerosene lamp on it and three children under it, while three ministering "angels" in the form of big and overly plump women of the k. k. k. stood around "welfaring."

To Speak in Dayton.

Little boy kleagles wore hats with "k. k. k.—100 per cent American" printed on them. Bands played "Onward Christian Soldiers" and they all marched merrily toward the fair grounds where they dedicated their "temple."

Parades of the naughty-naughty-numbskulls have occasionally interfered with meetings on my cross-country tour for the DAILY WORKER and this time I was stopped but I am making a return trip to this city where thru the arrangements made we will form another Communists' branch right in the heart of kluxdom.

To Hold Many Meetings.

Thru the co-operation of the district offices of the Workers (Communist) Party and the DAILY WORKER the following cities have arranged meetings where Communism and the DAILY WORKER will be the great message for the workers assembled:

Thursday, July 16—Toledo, Ohio.
Friday, July 17, Saturday, July 18—Cleveland, Ohio.
Sunday, July 19—Warren, Ohio.
Monday, July 20, Tuesday, July 21—Akron, Ohio.
Wednesday, July 22, Thursday, July 23—Canton, Ohio.
Friday, July 24, Saturday, July 25—Youngstown, Ohio.
Sunday, July 26—Cleveland, Ohio.
Monday, July 27, Tuesday, July 28—East Liverpool, Ohio.
Wednesday, July 29, Thursday, July 30—Bellaire.

ITALIAN DELEGATES TO PEASANTS' INTERNATIONAL GREET WORKERS OF THE ADJARISTAN SOVIET REPUBLIC

BATUM, (By Mail) — A public meeting of the City Soviet was held here assisted by delegates of the labor organizations, to welcome the delegates of the Peasants' International, comrades Miglioli and Massarenti, noted political and public workers of Italy, upon their arrival in Adjaristan.

Comrade Massarenti said: "We had the opportunity to travel thru your country. Your mountains and valleys reminded us of our Italy which has many points of resemblance to Adjaristan. Yet while looking at the landscape and thinking of its resemblance to Italy, we could not help thinking at the same time that you have something which we miss in Italy. That thing is—Freedom."

Greetings From Italian Workers

"It is this freedom, which enables your workers and peasants to feel themselves masters of their country, that we lack over there. On the contrary, the peasants and workers of Italy are more oppressed today than at any time in history. We are very thankful to the government and the Communists Party of Adjaristan for the opportunity we had of seeing not only the natural riches, but also all your achievements.

"We have been to your villages, we have seen the labor of your peasants and workers, and this has still more stirred the flame of our hatred against the fascist regime in Italy. We bring to you the greetings of Italy, not from the ruling clique of Mussolini, but from the revlontionary peasants and workers of Italy, who want to follow you in the victorious fight for revolution (cheers.)

Socialist Party Dying

"I am a social-democrat, but I think that after the things I have seen here and after what is happening in the world today, when Ebert and those like him are becoming transformed into corpses, that the social-democratic party will also become a corpse (cheers). I am convinced that those Italian workers and peasants who are still in the ranks of social-democracy will understand that there is a common road to Communism, the road chosen by you, which must be followed (cheers.)

Lenin's Spirit Alive

"We, the Italian workers and peasants, look with admiration at your leaders and the energy displayed by them in the last decades. Particularly strong is our admiration for Comrade Lenin (cheers). When in Moscow we visited the mausoleum containing the body of Ilytch. There he lay dead, but what we have seen since has convinced us that the spirit is alive and will live for ever." (Stormy and prolonged applause).

Peasants' Consciousness

Comrade Miglioli said: "How could it happen that a peasants' organisation united under the banner of religion has in my person joined the Peasants' International? It is the first case on record when peasants of christian sentiments have sent their representative into an international organisation.

"I will give you just one little instance. When I began to understand the course of events and started on the road of revolution, I personally could not make up my mind to join the Peasants' International. Then it happened that at Milan, at a secret meeting of peasants, I put the question: should we join the Peasants' International. All of them replied in one voice: you must go there! (cheers).

"I believe that this new consciousness of the peasants is characteristic not only in Italy, but that it has manifested itself also among the peasants thruout the world; because as a result of the war there is extreme poverty and misery among the peasants which prompts them to throw in their lot with the revolution.

Forty Nations Represented

"The buorgeoisie is trying to get the peasants on its side, to divide them, to set one section against the other, and having thus weakened them, to establish its sway over the village. But the revolutionary movement which arose after the war, having scared the bourgeoisie out of its wits, has at the same time caused the peasants to unite and join the Peasants' International.

"The Peasants' International has now been existing for 18 months. Its appeal has met with the response of the peasants of 40 nations."

Comrade Miglioli went on to speak about the role of the Peasants' International in uniting the peasantry, of the position of the peasants in the different countries, of fascism and bourgeois oppression, and in conclusion he said:

"Today, in walking thru the streets of Batum, I saw the common graves of the revolutionary heroes. I understood that Batum has also its glorious past in the fight against the bourgeoisie, and I crave to be permitted to place wreaths upon the graves of the fallen fighters. (Stormy and prolonged applause).

"Long Live the U. S. S. R.! Long Live the future revolutionary Italy!"

Tinplate Trust Gets Decision on Freight Rates from Coolidge

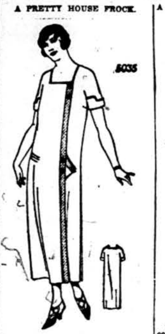
WASHINGTON, July 14.—The interstate commerce commission today ordered certain railroads to establish, on or before October 9, a rate not exceeding 51 cents a 100 pounds from McKeesport, Pa., and Yorkville, O., and 53 cents from Cumberland, Md., on shipments of tinplate in carloads, to New London, Wis.

14 Hurt in Crash.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., July 14—Fourteen people were injured, ten of them so seriously they had to be removed to the hospital in a collision today between a trolley car and a motor truck.

OUR DAILY PATTERNS

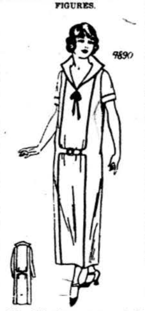
A PRETTY HOUSE FROCK.



5035. This design makes a very attractive morning dress. It is suitable for linen, pongee, gingham, chambrey and crepe.

The pattern is cut in seven sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. A 38-inch size requires 5¼ yards of 36-inch plain material, with ⅜ yard for the fold and the facing on the pocket. The width at the foot with plaits extended is about 2 yards.

A STYLISH FROCK FOR SLENDER FIGURES.



4890. Silk alpaca, crepe or kasha could be used for this style. It has straight lines and a very new and attractive collar. The sleeve may be short or in wrist length.

The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. An 18-year size requires 4¾ yards of 32-inch material if made with long sleeves. If made with short sleeves 4⅜ yards will be required. The width of the dress at the foot is 1⅝ yard.

FASHION BOOK NOTICE!

Send 12c in silver or stamps for our up-to-date Spring and Summer 1925 Book of Fashions, showing color plates and containing 500 designs of ladies', misses', and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

NOTICE TO PATTERN BUYERS—The patterns being sold thru the DAILY WORKER pattern department are furnished by a New York firm of pattern manufacturers. Orders are forwarded by the DAILY WORKER every day as received, and they are mailed by the manufacturer direct to the customer. The DAILY WORKER does not keep a stock of patterns on hand. Delivery of patterns ordinarily will take at least 10 days from the date of mailing the order. Do not become impatient if your pattern is delayed.

FAKERS OCCUPY PUBLIC OFFICE IN LOS ANGELES

Many Red Baiters Get Their Reward

By L. P. RINDAL
(Worker Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 14.—This city has a brand new charter, and a lot of brand new officials. But indications are that things will run in the same old way. The old dictatorate of the municipality turned over its affairs to the incoming one—but not before some of the old timers had staged a nice little riot. Only adjournment prevented the calling of the forces of "law and order." The lie was passed, but Councilman Ralph L. Criswell, ex-"socialist" and at one time president of the city council, would not stand for it. He used his fists very effectively.

The trouble came up over grafting in connection with a secret sale of $13,500,000 worth of bonds—at a discount. Criswell is kind of hostile anyway because he lost the race for congress against Fredericks, the notorious reactionary prosecutor of the McNamara brothers. Criswell had also, for a while, an able rival in Comrade Emmanuel Levin in the 10th congressional district. All this weighed heavily on the mind of this former "champion fighter" for the cause of labor; he saw "red" and fought like a bull(y). Anyhow, he has shown himself a better prize fighter than a labor leader, or a legislator.

Now another bright star on the horizon of Los Angeles "Green" fakerdom, John S. Horn, secretary of the Central Labor Council, has appeared in the new constellation. He has been appointed as a member of the board of public works. The salary is $500 per month.

This is his reward for supporting Mayor Cryer in the recent campaign.

Friend of Police—Not of Labor.

John S. Horn is a great "lover" of the "reds." The hall of the T. U. E. L. was raided, and many Communists were expelled from the unions during his administration. The police—with mental minds of children, according to August Vollmer, former chief of police—and pa(y)triotic officials at the Labor Temple worked hand in hand with perfect harmony, it appears.

They attempted to arrest the writer several times while selling the DAILY WORKER at the Labor Temple. One comrade was sent to jail for 30 days for this crime.

Stale Bread, No Honey For Idle Workers.

As the city is full of idle men, it remains to be seen what "brother" Horn will, or can do to start up public work to improve the conditions under which the unemployed are suffering in this city. This may be a "land of milk and honey" for men like Horn—but stale bread, if any at all, and milk (skimmed blue) take the place of honey for idle workers down at 420 Standford avenue, headquarters of I. B. W. A.

Insanity in Public Work.

A produce broker, A. W. L. Dunn, is another new member of the board of public works. During his career as a newspaperman, in the past, he was interested in matters concerning the welfare of the insane (it is claimed that this was one reason for his appointment).

Now it is to be hoped that Commissioner Dunn will renew his splendid effort of his younger days and bring some sanity into the affairs of public officials.

"Catastrophe" Avoided.

Mayor Cryer's election at the primaries was contested in the court by supporters of Benjamin Bledson, the loser—another reactionary injunction judge. But, while writing this, the case is dismissed. Therefore, Mr. Cryer will head this municipality of starvation, criminal syndicalism and rats—all screened from sight by rows of bathing beauties and sparkling stars.

As this "catastrophe" (putting one capitalistic lawyer out from the mayor's chair and another legal light of the same brand into it) did not come to pass, our dear "brother"—John S. Horn—does not have to do "a fair day's work for a fair day's wage" for some time to come.

And since the Labor Temple crowd—thru its official organ, The Citizen—claims to have elected the "best administration Los Angeles ever had" (whatever that means), great benefits for the working class of this city are expected to be the results. If not, the policy of "punishing enemies and rewarding friends" does not mean anything—except to show up the complete bankruptcy of that antiquated method in the daily struggles of the wrokers.

BARBARIC SENTENCE INFLICTED ON NINETEEN YEAR OLD YOUTH BY MARYLAND COURT; GETS 10 LASHES

FREDERICK, Md., July 14.—Ten lashes on his bare back was the sentence imposed on Robert Shrover, aged 19. Shrover was ill today from rheumatism, so the whipping will be delayed. Sheriff Albaugh has been assigned to inflict the punishment.

BUILDERS AT WORK

This Comrade Simply Wants to Know

DAILY WORKER Agents Are Inquisitive

A hard working, earnest agent for the DAILY WORKER writes a letter in which he is a little peeved.

"Why don't you see that local..............gets into the BUILDERS AT WORK Column", he inquires.

Now very likely, there are other locals who feel that they also are slighted. If this is the case, then there are very likely two reasons for this:

1. The local had done or is doing nothing that deserves special mention for the attention of other locals that are working hard, building the DAILY WORKER.
2. Tho they may be doing fair work they give no information on how they go about it.

• • • •

The Remedy

1. If you are sending in subscriptions, selling bundle orders or working on shop or trade union campaigns—tell the DAILY WORKER just how you are doing it.
2. If you see nothing about it in the DAILY WORKER, write it yourself and address it to the BUILDERS AT WORK COLUMN and you will surely see it in print.

• • • •

The "Builders At Work Column" is conducted especially to point out better ways to do Communist work thru efficient propaganda distribution. And none can point out the way to do it better than the one who does it . . . THAT MEANS YOU!

Write the DAILY WORKER just how you are making more Communists—that's important information for every Communist organizer in the DAILY WORKER machinery.

STEEL WORKERS TO HOLD ANNUAL T. U. E. L. PICNIC ON SUNDAY, JULY 19, AT WARREN, O., TO HEAR FOSTER

WARREN, Ohio, July 14 —The annual T. U. E. L. picnic and outing for the Mahoning and Trumbull county steel workers and friends will be held this year at Mahoning Park, Warren, Ohio, on Sunday afternoon, July 19th. The park can be reached by taking a Leavittsburgh street car out of Warren.

William Z. Foster, secretary-treasurer of the T. U. E. L. of Chicago, will be the principal speaker and he will bring a message of vital importance for the organized and unorganized steel workers of the valley.

White Chairman

Wm. J. White of Girard, O., well known member of the militants in the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers will preside as chairman. Local A. A. members will speak in Finnish and So. Slavish. The speaking will start at 2.30 p. m. promptly.

The steel workers are showing great interest in the meeting and all readers of the DAILY WORKER and party organs are requested to advertise the picnic and bring out every worker possible, to attend.

Proceds To T. U. E. L.

The proceeds from the picnic will be used entirely for the carrying on of T. U. E. L. work.

The round trip fare from Youngstown to Warren, via street car, is 60 cents by using tickets.

CHICAGO LABOR DEFENSE

On Friday night, July 17, at 8 p. m. there will be a meeting of the Chicago Labor Defense Council at 722 Blue Island Ave. All delegates from affiliated bodies will please take notice and be there without fail.

Bloody Bulgaria

According to a recent dispatch from Berlin an unparalleled reign of terror is still raging in Bulgaria. In the war of extermination conducted against the workers and farmers by the Zankov regime, boys and girls are not spared. They all look alike to the executioner's axe. When Oliver Cromwell, the sanctimonious British butcher who is the idol of some alleged liberals, was laying Ireland waste with fire and sword, he used the expression "nits will be lice," as little children were spitted on the points of his soldiers' bayonets. The modern Cromwells of Bulgaria look upon the children of the revolutionary workers and farmers as vermin that must be exterminated.

There is no outcry in the capitalist press against this carnival of slaughter. The hypocritical crew that frothed at the mouth when the spying Polish priest Buchavietch was executed in Russia, now draw the veil of silence over the bloody deeds of the Bulgarian fascisti.

Already several Communists and radical agrarians have been executed under circumstances that reveal the present regime in Bulgaria as a set of inhuman monsters. Eighty six others have been condemned to death and hundreds have been sentenced to long prison terms. Several thousand are under arrest and public executions have become a daily occurrence. The European papers print pictures of boy and girl students loaded with heavy chains being marched thru the streets by armed guards.

This is democracy under capitalism. Here we have the workers massacred under our very eyes, by the murderous capitalist butchers while their comrades in other lands barely raise a voice in protest. Only the workers who are under the influence of the Communists in all countries have so far made any effort to block the gory work of the Zankov killers. Had the European masses listened to the appeal of the Communist International the victorious workers and farmers of Bulgaria would today be chanting hymns of victory over the unhallowed graves of their persecutors.

A poet once sang, that from the grave of every martyr one thousand heroes rise. As the red flag of Communism today floats over the scene of the czar's tyranny and over the ashes of Russia's revolutionary heroes, so in Bulgaria the workers and peasants will some day reform their ranks and visit a terrible justice on the bloody monsters whose favorite sport is murder of the toilers.

New Fields of Conquest

The news that American bankers have made a loan of no less than $100,000,000 to Australia, is the kind of news that has a significance beyond the mere amount.

This is the sort of thing that—in addition to the contest to see who can rob China—is bringing American imperialism and British imperialism to grapple with each other in a struggle of giants which leads to war. The conflict is now in the secondary stage of diplomacy where recriminations are beginning and the ground being laid for the issuance of "white books" and other fancy propaganda on both sides to prove that the other is a nation of depraved imperialists.

Canada already has fallen under the dominance of United States banks. There is more United States money invested in Canada today than there is English money. And it may be taken for granted that the "Little Old Lady Threadneedle Street" looks with jaundiced eyes on British colonies being seduced by Yankee capital.

Now another colony has succumbed to the blandishments of the House of Morgan and far away in the antipades the last outpost of English business has fallen to the pirate crew of Wall Street bankers. Australia, the island continent, the undeveloped land Britain has had staked out for many a long year as field of expansion, has been seized by a claim-jumper.

And just to accent the fact that the claim-jumper means business, he has brought a whole fleet of warships with him on some maneuvers which, of course, are supposed to have not the slightest connection with Morgan's bank and its loan.

But American capitalist imperialism moves on to new fields of conquest, and the warships somehow trail along behind as easily as if there were a tow-line.

George Wheeler Hinman, one of William Randolph Hearst's paid liars, declares that there would be no trouble in China if the businessmen who have over a billion and a half invested in the Orient stopped financing Moscow's revolutionary campaigns in the East. The trouble is, says Hinman, that they keep on handing over their money to Moscow for concessions. Moscow spends the money on propaganda. Good luck to those crazy capitalists. Every day in every way they are getting nuttier and nuttier.

The fundamentalist who applied for a permit to decorate his pulpit with two gats while he was speaking reminds us a favorite observation of a radical who entertained no kindly feeling towards the bible. "There is nothing about a gun," he would say, "that would make a man carry a bible, but there are lots of things in the bible that would make a man carry a gun."

Federal prisons are getting filled so rapidly that Attorney General Sargent is about to appeal to the governors of the states to take over federal prisoners convicted in their respective jurisdictions. Business is good all around—even in the prisons of capitalism.

The Struggle of the Imperialists Against the Chinese Labor Movement

By G. VOITINSKY
(Moscow)

THE working class in China is at present passing thru the most difficult period of its development.

In the peculiar circumstances of China, a semi-colony, an object of interference on the part of world imperialism, the path of the struggle of the working class is very difficult and complicated. At its very inception, at its very first steps on the path to emancipation from slavery, the Chinese proletariat is met by a powerful enemy in the form of the imperialistic groups of Europe, America and Asia and by their tool, the Chinese militarists.

The most recent development of events during the strike of the textile workers in Shanghai and Tsingtao must be viewed in this light.

WHEN for the first time, in the bespite of their conflicting interests in every branch of industry and trade in China and in every part of this enormous country, form a united front to attack the Chinese proletariat? Why is it that on Chinese soil the foreign police meet the most elementary demands for the right to exist on the part of the Chinese proletariat, by firing into the unarmed crowds of men, women and children?

Why on the other hand, do the students, the offspring of the Chinese bourgeoisie, join with the working class and likewise sacrifice themselves in the struggle against the foreign capitalists? Why, finally, are even the Chinese chambers of commerce compelled to support the demand of the workers that foreign troops be withdrawn from the most important Chinese ports?

All these questions can be answered by the following formula: The Chinese proletariat is inevitably taking up the position of an outpost in the war of liberation of the Chinese people, and therefore, in the nature of things, assumes more and more the hegemony of the national movement for the liberation of the Chinese people as a whole.

WHEN for the first time, in the beginning of 1922, a part of the working class of China, which was organized not on the model of class trade unions, but in a large guild, the Seamen's Union of Hong Kong, declared war on English shipowners, it was regarded both by the foreign capitalists and the Chinese public as a duel between the Chinese workers and the foreign oppressors.

At that time, England played the leading role in the political oppression of China. This happened two years after the destruction of the Japanese apparatus in China, the Anfu Club, with the president Siu-Shi-Tsan and his nephew, the younger Siu, the dictator of Mongolia. In the period between the summer of 1920 and the autumn of 1922 the English apparatus of colonization in China had been extraordinarily strengthened.

The Sun Yat Sen government which had only been formed at the beginning of 1922 in Shantung after Tshen Tsiu Min had been driven out, was a thorn in the flesh of the British imperialists and seemed to cloud their bright prospects of a further enslavement of China. The opposition of the seamen of Hong Kong to the English shipowners and bankers at that time, an opposition which paralyzed traffic in the Pacific Ocean and the Yellow Sea, which left some hundreds of thousands of tons of goods lying in the docks and on shipboard, which drew the whole of the urban working population of South China into the anti-British movement, was a serious blow to the prestige of the English colonization apparatus in China and a great help to the revolutionary government of South China.

WITH gnashing of teeth, the proud Britons had to yield to the union of Chinese seamen and to comply with its demands, which were, it is true, modest enough. For the first time organized Chinese workers succeeded by means of a six weeks' strike in obtaining recognition of their union and compensation for lost working time. Then as now, the whole English press was filled with lies and calumnies regarding the seamen on strike, then as now, the press hacks declared the influence of Bolshevist agitation to be the cause of the strike.

In order to better understand the significance of present events in China, it must be remarked that the representatives of American capital, at whose instigation the conference at Washington (end of 1921 and beginning of 1922) was called, with the object of procuring better entry and security for American capital into China "sympathized" with the opposition of the workers to England and, in their semi-official organ in China, the Weekly Review, reported as follows:

"The strike movement in China is growing slowly but surely... strikes in China are at present just as inevitable as floods and epidemics... China is not yet threatened with strikes involving the whole country, but the time will come when the masses will more clearly understand the significance of the labor movement."

THE prophesies of the ideologists of American imperialism are perhaps beginning to come true sooner than they excepted. This is the chief reason for their hatred of the Chinese proletariat.

A second characteristic feature of the struggle of the Hong Kong seamen was, that even on this first occasion of Chinese workers opposing the imperialists, the treacherous role played by the upper strata of the Chinese bourgeoisie, became evident. The Chinese Comprador (wholesale dealer) and banker Robert Hotun, well-known in Hong Kong, who had been knighted by the king of England, cheated the Seamen's Union in his capacity as negotiator with the striking seamen, in that he first of all delayed payment of the sums agreed upon, and then refused to keep his promise.

AS a result of the strike of the Hong Kong seamen, a wave of strikes passed over the whole of China. The labor movement began to take economic shape. So far the workers had not given expression to any political demands, neither had the students demonstrated in sympathy with the movement. This is explained by the fact during the whole of 1922, the Chinese bourgeoisie and the intelligenzia still cherished hopes that the promises of the conference at Washington would be fulfilled, i. e. that the Japanese troops would be withdrawn from the province of Shantung with its magnificent harbor of Tsingtao, and that the customs duties would be raised in favor of China.

After the conference at Washington the reactionary movement in the country grew stronger. Wu Pei Fu carried out the wishes of Anglo-American capital. Partly in fulfillment of their wish, he entered into war against his former ally and party comrade (of the Tshili clique) Csang-Tso-Lin. The conflict between these two generals expressed the endeavours of the Anglo-American imperialists to make sure of an actual influence in China, which had been formally achieved at the conference of Washington. And the victory of Wu Pei Fu over Chang Tso-Lin did, as a matter of fact, establish an extraordinary influence of the Anglo-American imperialists in Central and North China. The end of 1922 and the beginning of 1923 were characterized in China by the growing political reaction wich threatened to spread thru the whole country and to overthrow Sun Yat Sen's government in the South.

IN the atmosphere of tense political reaction in the country, at the moment when Wu Pei Fu was with the aid the Anglo-American imperialists, preparing military measures for the destruction of the nationalist revolutionary base in the province of Kwantung and for uniting the country, when he was stifling every appearance of social thought and preparing a new government, the strike of the railwaymen on the main line from Peking to Hankow broke out, in the chief sphere of influence of English imperialism, on the line on which Wu Pei Fu had to transport his troops to the South.

The workers suffered cruel defeat; they defended their trade unions and their flags, but the armed bands of Wu Pei Fu shot down the workers and their leaders and threw many into prison. The workers' unions, or rather the embryos of unions, were compelled to become strictly illegal.

BUT the rise of the railwaymen of the line Peking to Honkow in February 1923 had immense political consequences. Wu Pei Fu was revealed in his true character to the whole of the Chinese pepole. The students revolted. Wu Pei Fu began openly to place Chinese policy on the same level with the English apparatus of colonization. And, regardless of the fact that reaction continued to rage thruout the country, a change took place in the political life of the land; Wu Pei Fu had to abandon his expedition to the south and to pay close attention to events in Central and North China. The heroic behaviour of the Chinese railwaymen in 1923 was a blow to the most reactionary part of imperialism in China, to the apparatus of the Anglo-American imperialists.

There is no doubt that the attitude of the railwaymen of Hankow, which rendered it impossible for Wu Pei Fu to rely on the hinterland, stimulated Chan Tso-Lin to fight against Wu Pei Fu's power in the autumn of last year.

Wu Pei Fu's fall set the nationalist revolutionary emancipation movement in action thruout the country, extended the base of the Kuomintang party and made it possible openly to carry on an anti-imperialist campaign in the whole country for several months.

OF course this process was not systematically organized, nevertheless the Chinese proletariat, when fighting its own battle in its own interests, is, in the nature of things, the most consistent and irreconcilable fighter against the colonial yoke of imperialism, and thus becomes the leader of the whole national movement.

This and this alone explains that unprecedent wrath and cruelty with which the headsmen of Anglo-Japanese imperialism are using their whole apparatus of brigandage in the suppression of the workers' strikes in Shanghai and Tsingtao. This also explains the other fact that the overwhelming majority of the Chinese people is siding with the Chinese proletariat in its present fight. The struggle of the masses indeed in its totality has now a more consistent and revolutionary character than was the case a few years ago, thanks to the circumstances that the class war of the Chinese proletariat is more and more becoming the backbone of the national emancipation movement.

WHAT then is the most distinguishing feature of recent events in China? That the proletariat of Shanghai and Tsingtao, in the course of their struggle against the Japanese employers, are again striking out at the most dangerous group of imperialists in the country. Japan has in fact in the course of the past ten months, i. e. since the October revolution in Peking, once more become the most important imperialistic power in China, the most important in that the power of the state in China, in the form of Tuan Tsi Tshuf and partly in the person of Chang Tso Lin, is on the side of the Japanese imperialists.

To the extent that its influence grew, Japanese imperialism became more and more an aggressive power against the liberation movement in the country, which grew irresistibly in consequence of the victory over Wu Pei Fu and over the Anglo-American colonization apparatus.

THE elementary outbreak of the workers of Shanghai and Tsingtao, which drew the broadest masses of the urban population of China into the fight against the imperialists, can only be explained by the unspeakable insolence of the Japanese imperialists who were convinced that they held a position of supremacy in the suppression of China. The struggle against the Japanese imperialists and the English imperialists who came to their help, is now part of the most dangerous and most important front of the anti-imperialist movement in the country.

All the slogans raised by Sun Yet Sen, the leader of the national revolutionary party, Kuomintang, have now, thanks to the struggle of the proletariat, become essential demands of the whole Chinese pepole.

The fight in all the great towns of China is being fought round these slogans; it was for them that the general strike in Shanghai, which may in a few days spread to other industrial towns in the country, was declared.

The fight of the Chinese proletariat in these days is a new stage in the emancipation movement of this vast country, a stage which will call forth new, decisive battle against imperialism at its most vulnerable spot.

BUT even an I. L. Per is not entirely bereft of stomach ballast. The secretary of the branch was authorized to come back at MacDonald like a charge of dynamite. And tho the language used by the secretary may seem mild to those who are accustomed to the style of the DAILY WORKER, readers acquainted with the British labor movement will smell sulphur. After reiterating that MacDonald's letter was detrimental to the interests of the Bulgarian workers the branch secretary writes:

"With regard to the remainder of your letter, the tone of it is quite uncalled for, and in the opinion of members of the branch, contrary to their conceptions of socialism. They are forwarding your letter and this reply to the socialist press so that the 'bleething easie-oosie asses' may know your opinion of them." This much space is devoted to MacDonald so that our readers may form their own opinions of MacDonald without any aid from us. I might add that this material is taken from the Daily Herald of London, the official organ of the trade union movement.

WILLIAM GREEN, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a speech delivered in Buffalo, New York, has urged the church to join with labor. Green has already asked "capital" to do the same thing. The trouble with labor is that both have already joined with it to its sorrow and loss. What labor must do is to break all connections with capitalism and to relegate the church to the dung heap of history. The church is a parasite that feeds on the workers and poisons their brains. The capitalists know that the church is one of their main props. Fortunately the workers are getting wise to the church, despite the efforts of labor fakers like William Green.

THIS is Judge Gary talking: "I have followed the twelve golden rules of health all my life. I have kept my conscience clear. I have worked hard and I have been abstemious." What a wonderful acquisition a clear conscience is? Professional murderers, who sometimes feel a little twitching when obliged to resort to extreme methods in disposing of their victims, must envy the judge. Turning the guns on strikers of course, would not cause an excess of acidity in the judicial food bag. Shutting down his shops and throwing thousands of workers on the streets, would not cause Gary's fodder to turn into concrete in his stomach. The judge never lets such trifles interfere with the serenity of his conscience.

GARY'S slaves work from eight to ten hours a day. They used to work twelve, until the judge got scared that they might organize. He then made a concession to them. How much time have to follow the twelve golden rules of health that the judge prescribes? A local food expert advises us to "chew our milk" carefully in the morning before going to work. A good idea, perhaps. But most workers don't have time to take a chew of tobacco while on their way to punch the clock in the morning. If they take the time to put their milk thru a scientific chemical process before letting it drain down the gullet, the boss may give them lots of time to chew the cud on a bench in the park. But they will lack the wherewithal to purchase milk.

IT is well that the working class should look after their health, as best they can under the circumstances. But long hours and short pay, unhealthy working conditions, worry and want are causing greater havoc among the workers than faulty mastication of food or a superfluity of starches in their menu. This fact should not be forgotten, by well-meaning food "radicals" who have developed a greater hate for white flour and juicy beef stakes than they have for the capitalist system. Let us get rid of Garyism and we will have lots of time to devote to scientific dieting.

MINERS HAVE HARD FACTS ON HARD COAL

Operators Try to Use "Public Opinion"

(Special to The Daily Worker)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 14.—Both sides were set for a battle of statistics when the wage conference between Anthracite miners and operators was resumed here today.

The operators had figures pretending to show "the consumer" will not stand for a raise in coal prices which they allege would follow an increase in miners' wages.

The miners had statistics upholding their contention that the anthracite industry is on a sound, financial basis and well able to stand the demand of the union for a ten per cent wage increase for contract workers with a dollar-a-day increase for unskilled mine labor.

Facts prove that the demand for a ten per cent raise is very modest and that the miners are getting far too little to live on at present. They have been working for an average of $5 a day only four days a week.

Meanwhile, the anthracite operators' own figures show that anthracite costs them only $4.10 a ton to produce, while the cost to consumers is from $12 to $15. That the operators got the difference is shown by the profits of four companies alone piling up $17,500,000 last year. The Progressive Miners' Committee had urged the anthracite miners to demand 20 per cent instead of the ten per cent increase. The Lewis machine prevented the 20 per cent demand being made.

NEGRO WORKERS OF PORTUGUESE EAST AFRICA TORTURED, WAGES ARE STOLEN, WOMEN ENSLAVED ON ROADS

(By The Federated Press)

NEW YORK, July 14.—Portugal no longer exports slaves for sale but Portuguese planters and traders in Angola, Portuguese East Africa, hold the natives in peonage "worse than slavery," Edward A. Ross, University of Wisconsin, professor of sociology, announces in his report on compulsory labor in the Portuguese colony.

Slavery in the simple form of ownership of blacks by whites was ended with the downfall of the Portuguese monarchy in 1910 but the terrible new system began in 1918. Between 1910 and 1918 when "republican principles" were supposed to be in use, Portuguese landowners complained of the "laziness of natives." Most Portuguese employers thought the natives should work for nothing or at most 20 cents a month and about 2 cents a day for food, Ross reports.

Workers Flogged and Tortured

Nineteen villages were visited and nearly 7000 natives interviewed thru interpreters. Local pastors and teachers were talked with.

Everywhere it was found that the workers were ruthlessly driven: forced to work up to 12 months a year; flogged with the djambock or hippo lash and tortured. Women are requisitioned to work on roads and "if a mother lays a baby under a tree and rises up from her work when it cries, she may get struck for it."

Native police are forced to inflict brutal punishments upon their brother blacks. "A year ago police came to a mission, collected the men, went to the pounding rocks where the women pound their manioc and had their meal spread ready to dry and took them off to work on the road without even giving them a chance to gather up their meal and carry it to their homes.

"Children had to quit the mission school saying, 'Father has been taken to work on a plantation, mother and the older brothers are working on the roads, so I must stay out of school to hoe the fields, pound the manioc into meal and feed my little brothers and sisters.' Furthermore, the child will have to pound the meal and carry it to mother working on the road with the baby on her back."

Wages Are Stolen

So much of the natives' time and strength is requisitioned by the Portuguese masters that the blacks are no longer able to attend their own gardens and fields. "There is little evidence that any considerable part of the wages turned over in trust to the officials by the employers of natives hired from the government actually reached the hands of those to whom it belongs," Ross says. "The amount of unpaid labor exacted of skilled natives is not infrequently so excessive that the young men see nothing to be gained by their acquiring skill in the missionary schools."

Most Road Workers Women

"Motor roads have been extended by conscripted, unpaid, unrationed natives, for the most part women, with only the most primitive implements." Labor-stealing is widespread, that is, no pay for half-days and many other days worked. "We heard of no effort made by any official to curb this despicable practice. The official does not appear to be in a strong position with respect to his fellow nationals, the traders and planters... The blacks feel that the Portuguese are leagued against them and that there is no recourse the white man's violence and injustice."

Government Does Nothing

"The government provides practically nothing in the way of schools, medical care, emergency relief or justice against the white trader, for the people of the villages, as recompense for the heavy burden of unrequited toil it lays upon them. The treatment of natives in Portuguese territory compares so unfavourably with that experienced by the natives of Rhodesia or Belgian Congo that there is a strong tendency to emigrate across the frontier."

CHANGE OF VENUE GIVES THE AMALGAMATED INJUNCTION JOB TO JUDGE FOELL; HEARING TODAY

Reluctantly, Injunction Judge Dennis E. Sullivan granted the request for change of venue asked for by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' striker defendants. The J. L. Taylor & Co., and the International Tailoring Co. will now have to press their demand for an injunction before Judge Charles E. Foell of the superior court.

Judge Foell set the case for Thursday but was not so sure he could hear it at that time because this was the last week he would hear cases before vacation.

The attorneys for the bosses were frantic at the delay in changing judges and whinced their discomfort before Judge Foell. However, the new judge assured them that he could not help them since he was in the midst of the hearing of another case. Foell is a twin for Sullivan when anti-labor injunctions are concerned, however, and all the union gains is time.

In commenting on the change of venue, Judge Sullivan said, "It would be dangerous for me not to turn this over to another judge in the present state of the case." Whether he meant by this the bosses might suffer by his action was not made clear.

Hurry to Help Bosses.

Judge Sullivan seemed anxious to hear the case himself, but to permit the attorneys further to argue the case would mean delay, and more time for the strikers on the picket line. To facilitate matters it seemed best for the bosses to get the change of venue and they did not fight the change vigorously but pleaded for immediate hearing and a prompt injunction.

The attorneys for the employers seem well stocked up on the new anti-injunction law. Their plea will be that it deprives them of their property (the right to the scab's labor) without due process of law.

Capitalist Court Give Workers No Justice.

Any worker is, of course, foolish to expect to get justice for a working class case from any capitalist court, but Sullivan has played the same trick on the Amalgamated Clothing Workers as he did on the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, as Foell is an old stand-by

AS WE SEE IT.

By T. J. O'FLAHERTY

THE evangelical business is still booming, even tho a goodly number of the evangelists are prevented by prison bars from serving the lord after their desires. They do not go to jail for violating criminal syndicalism laws either. One of the most widely advertised of them all, Billy Sunday, has finally decided to leave the devil alone or "let him go to hell" as Billy would say. That religious acrobat cleared up at least a cool million at the game and can now enjoy life to his heart's content.

HERRIN, Illinois, is now as safe as Dayton, Tennessee, if we are to believe another evangelist by the name of Howard Williams, alias the Mississippi Thunderbolt. Herrin burst into fame when the union miners made scabbing a hazardous sport down there. Then the ku klux klan came along and hostilities between the hooded order and their opponents raged for a few years. Many lives were lost. The klan claimed that they were doing the work of god. Their opponents, just as godly, placed more reliance on their trusty gats than in divine intercession. So did the klan. And God was on the side of the heaviest artillery.

AFTER the dead and wounded were counted, it was discovered that god was fairly impartial. The decision was somewhat on the basis of proportional representation, which means, that the losses were in proportion to the number of gats employed on both sides. After the leading fighters were annihilated, a more or less peaceful situation prevailed. Now comes this evangelist Williams and claims that he went to heaven at the suggestion of Jesus and converted the natives to the ways of peace.

• • •

THE fact is that the kluxers were beaten in the last elections and when the evangelist came along he had only to do a little spiritual mopping up. Speaking before the Rotary club in Chicago, Williams won applause when he said: "Christ is the greatest Rotarian and I am just a little Rotarian, but when I went to him and asked him if we together should go to Herrin, he answered, 'Yes.' So

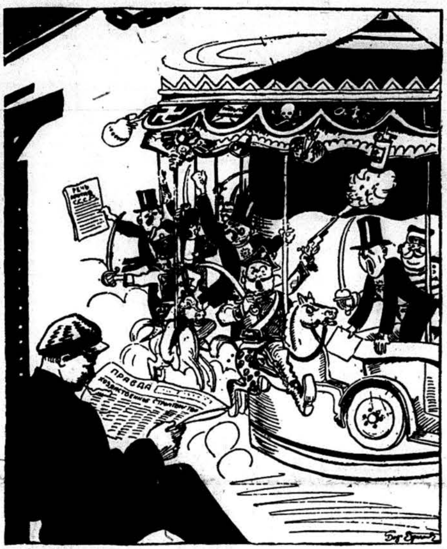
"HANDS OFF CHINA" MEET IN NEW YORK ON FRIDAY, JULY 17

(Special to The Daily Worker)

NEW YORK, July 15—A meeting to demand that foreign imperialist governments take "Hands Off China," and calling upon the workers of the city to stand by Soviet Russia, is to be held Friday, July 17, at 6 p. m., at Union Square, under the auspices of the Workers (Communist) Party and the Young Workers League.

The open air mass demonstration will take place on the corner of 17th St., and Broadway. Speakers will include Chinese workers.

TRYING TO PROVOKE HIM



The imperialists of the world are trying to provoke another war against the Soviet Republics while the workers there are studying the reconstruction of the country.

BRITISH ORDER "SHOOT TO KILL" BEGAN CHINESE UPHEAVAL, WRITES EYE-WITNESS OF BLOODY CLASH

By SINBAD.

SHANGHAI, June 15.—(By Mail.)—Towards the end of May Tsingtao and Shanghai had been the scenes of strikes almost simultaneous of Chinese laborers employed in Japanese owned textile mills. In Shanghai there had been an outbreak and two textile workers had been murdered by Japanese gendarmes at the mills. This was followed almost immediately afterwards by a series of demonstrations at Tsingtao where six textile workers were killed and many more seriously wounded.

On Saturday, May 30, 3,000 students and workers planned a demonstration which was to be held on Nanking Road, the main street in Shanghai. Incidentally the demonstration was to maintain a peaceful character thruout (the authorities were informed of the fact but of course, permission was not granted) and its purpose was to be a protest against the then-recent killings on the part of the foreign police.

At 3 o'clock the parade began. The paraders marched west on Nanking Road and had gotten as far as the town hall, when the leaders were ordered to stop at once and turn back. When they refused they were arrested and brot to the Louza police station nearby. The crowd, instead of being deterred, proceeded in the direction they had started in spite of

FRENCH BANKERS BREW NEW WORLD WAR BY MOROCCAN INVASION, SAYS ZINOVIEV; SOCIALISTS TRAITORS

MOSCOW, July 15—Gregory Zinoviev, president of the Communist International, in a speech to a mass meeting of Moscow workers, on the War in Morocco, declared that a new imperialistic upheaval is foreshadowed by the invasion of North Africa by the French.

Comrade Zinoviev showed how the French socialists, repeating their betrayal of the workers in 1914, have enlisted on the side of the bankers in the imperialistic attack on the Riffians.

But new Liebknechts are arising, Comrade Zinoviev said, and this time, many of them who are rallying the workers against the bourgeoisie. The workers at the meeting sent greetings to the Communist prisoners in France.

BRYAN'S RELIGIOUS RANT HIDES CRIMES OF CAPITALIST SYSTEM

By BEN P. CHASS

DAYTON, Tenn., July 15.—This quaint old primitive town is being stirred up somewhat. Each day a little more doubt is being thrown into the christian hearts of these hitherto unperturbed people. A sudden change has crept over the inhabitants of Dayton and surrounding territory. As a result of this fear and dwelt religious revivals are springing up thruout this benighted section of the south.

The small evolutionaist minority of Dayton is finding itself in bitter conflict with the bigoted and fundamentalist majority.

Bryan Considered a Faker

Outside the church where Bryan spoke people were seen standing with facetious grims on their faces, expressing their doubt about Bryan's religion and sincerity. This is something unusual for the people of this town. The newspaper men think Bryan's talk ridiculous and incredible; they cannot believe that a man of the 20th century should utter such ridiculous and moronish talk; they say that such talk belongs in the jungles among the primitive savages.

One thing is sure that as the trial progresses the minds of these Main Streeters are receiving some severe jolts; their hitherto stagnant minds are being moved. From their talk and expressions on their faces, it is apparent that this trial will mark an epoch in their lives. Heretofore they slept with the bible; now they will have nightmares that will jar their

SCOPES PLEADS "NOT GUILTY", TRIAL THEN PROCEEDS; JURY ENTERS

DAYTON, Tenn., July 15.—John Thomas Scopes pleaded "not guilty" to the charge of violating the Tennessee anti-evolution law, before Judge Raulston's court here.

The plea came following the ruling of Judge Raulston that the law is constitutional. Following Scopes' plea, the trial proceeded.

The jury was sworn in and permitted to enter the jury box, having been kept out of the court room while the arguments over the constitutionality of the law were taking place.

RED FLEET OF SOVIET UNION TO SAIL NORTH

LENINGRAD, July 15—The Soviet Baltic fleet is starting on an extensive training trip. Ships of all classes including mine layers, cruisers, torpedo boats and submarines will take part in the maneuvers.

Two of the cruisers, the Aurora and Comsomoletz, will cruise around Scandinavia and the northern coast at the end of this month. They will visit Swedish and Norwegian ports.

The Aurora took part in the Communist revolution, bombarding the winter palace from the Neva.

NATIVES JOIN KRIM'S FIGHT ON FRENCH ARMY

New Attack Launched on Fez and Taza

PARIS, France, July 15.—The official French war communique from the Moroccan front admits that all the natives north and south of Fez have joined Abd-ed-Krim in his fight to drive the invaders from Africa.

A bitter battle is now being waged along the 200 mile front from Quezzan to Kifane. The Riffian natives are now within thirty miles of Fez and are less than twenty miles from Taza. The new attack of the Moroccans is aimed at Taza and Fez, and the main railroad of the French.

The war ministry has asked for volunteers to go to Morocco and is sending French troops to Algeria and Tunis to relieve the native troops which are being sent to the Moroccan front.

The heat at Fez has reached 100 in the shade, with the prospect of hot weather continuing thruout the Moroccan summer.

Premier Painleve has accepted the offer of American aviators, drawn from the moneyed class, to form a unit to fight against the Moroccans. Most of these aviators were in the foreign legion of the French army during the world war.

ALL-CHINA UNION FEDERATION SENDS APPEAL TO WORKERS OF THE WORLD TO AID LIBERATION

(By Rosta News Agency.)

SHANGHAI, China, July 15.—The All-China Federation of Trade Unions has issued the following manifesto addressed to the labor organizations of the world:

"The Shanghai events have, like flashes of lightning, lighted the situation in China. Everything has now become clear, and everybody in China and abroad has been able to clearly see the true face of imperialism, the faces of murderers.

Imperialist Robbers Anxious.

"The success of the national liberation movement, the victorious struggle at Canton, the students' movement, the last months' strikes at Shanghai, Tsingtau, Hankov, the growth of the trades union movement as evidenced by the revival of the Federation of Railway Workers, and the organization of the All-China Federation of Trade Unions—all this has filled with anxiety the hearts of imperialists, who had been accustomed for decades to rob with impunity, oppress and tear to pieces our great country.

"While the revolutionary movement was confined to the south, it did not seem dangerous to the imperialists. But when it widened, extending to the north, and especially when the working masses were stirred at Shanghai, that stronghold of imperialism in China, the intrenational imperialists, directed by British and Japanese capital, resolved to suppress the movement with a merciless bloody measure. "Blood, more blood!" is the imperialists' watchword.

Americans as Murderers of Strikers.

"The Tsingtao and the Shanghai striking textile workers presented the most modest demands, and yet they were cruelly beaten and shot by the administration and mercenaries of the Japanese mills. When the Shanghai students by a peaceful demonstration expressed their sympathies with the workers, and protested against the murder committed, the British police, envying the laurels won by the Japanese, swamped the demonstration in blood.- Thus it appears that to express sympathy with the Chinese workers is to be guilty of the greatest offense in the eyes of foreign capitalists.

"All those murders, shooting, hunting down of the people by the British, American and other volunteers and wild special police employed by the imperialists, lasted for over a week. As the available armed forces stationed at Shanghai seemed to be inadequate, the imperialists demanded more from their governments, and, subsequently, foreign batleships have daily been landing marines.

Answer With General Strike.

"However, neither the murders nor the armored cars, nor the marines frightened the Chinese masses. Just the reverse: all that went to strengthen their will. To the challenge of the imperialists the Chinese responded by a general strike, which has already been under progress for twelve days, embracing all the toiling masses of Shanghai.

"The Chinese masses now stand like one man. They are striving for freedom, independence, the right to human existence. In the most painful conditions has the Chinese proletariat shown a united front and full readiness to struggle to the end.

A Call Demanding an Answer.

"It is to you, organized workers of all countries, that at this historical hour we, organized workers of China, are appealing for brotherly help and strong support. By all available means help us to overthrow the burden of imperialism! If imperialism triumphs, our exploitation will mean that you will be yourselves oppressed and exploited.

"Let us close our ranks and act together against our common foe! Only that will secure freedom for us all. Down with bloody imperialism! Hands off China! Long live the united front of the proletariat of the whole world and the national liberation of the peoples of the East!"

GIVE OATH TO COAST COUNCIL LEFT DELEGATES

Unseated Unionists Demand Full Rights

(Special to The Daily Worker)

SEATTLE, Wash., July 15.—Morris Hansen, William H. Jones and H. G. Price, three of the six arbitrarily unseated Communists from the Seattle Central Labor Council, compelled John H. Jepsen, president of the Council, whose term expires next month and who in violation of the Council's constitution, declared them unseated, to administer them the oath due acredited delegates.

When the credentials of newly delegates to the Council were read at the last meeting of the Council, Hansen and Jones of Painters Local 300 and Price of Hope Lodge Machinists No. 79, whose names were read by the secretary on their credentials, presented by their respective locals to the Council, stepped forward with the rest of the delegates before the presiding officer to take the oath.

Call Jepsen's Bluff.

Jepsen told them that they were unseated and therefore he would not administer them the oath and continued to insist that they step aside so that the other delegates would take the oath.

The trio of Communist delegates, however, told Jepsen that he has long enuf overridden the councils' constitution and abused the rights of their respective locals and the local labor movement and that he would now have to recognize these rights and persisted that he go on with the ceremony.

Jepsen knew and realized from the delegates' determination that should he call on the sergeant-at-arms that it would result in most serious consequences to his administration. He therefore administered them the oath.

Move Unconstitutional.

After having given the oath, Jepsen regained enuf courage to tell the delegates that they were still unseated according to his opinion and that the matter was out of the council's jurisdiction. This the delegates denied and co-delegates questioned and demanded of Jepsen to show them on what particular clause of the councils or the A. F. L. constitution he was basing his pronunciamento. Jepsen, however, remained silent.

Jepsen has also stated that in future credentials of unseated delegates would be disregarded and not read on the floor of the council. Thus Jepsen would move one step further in violating the councils and the A. F. L. constitutions and depriving local unions and delegates of their rights.

Hold State Convention.

The council has decided to adjourn for two weeks, till Wednesday, July 22 on account of the convention of the state Federation of Labor being held at Aberdeen commencing Monday, July 13.

Some of the delegates, however, stated that the two weeks adjournment was due to the fact that the greater part of the machine would be at the convention.

BRITISH MINERS REJECT WAGE CUT AND LONGER HOURS; CRISIS MAY BRING BIG GENERAL STRIKE

(Special to The Daily Worker)

SCARBOROUGH, England, July 15.—The mine workers' federation today unanimously adopted a resolution refusing to accept the government's court of inquiry into the mining dispute and refusing the coal mine owners' proposal for negotiations until the latter withdrew their notice terminating the present working agreement.

This action indicated the determination of the miners' federation, in session here, to fight to a finish the wage reductions proposed by the owners

SOUTHERN POLITICIANS TO SEEK NATIONAL ANTI-EVOLUTION BILL IN CONGRESS; LAW RULED VALID

(Special to The Daily Worker)

DAYTON, Tenn., July 15.—Judge John T. Raulston handed down his predicted decision today upholding the Tennessee anti-evolution law and declaring it constitutional, and overruling the motion of the lawyers defending John T. Scopes that the indictment be quashed.

Raulston ordered the trial of Scopes for teaching evolution to his high school biology students to proceed "on its merits."

The judge also decided that the state had properly drawn the second indictment against Scopes.

Judge Raulston's decision held that the state of Tennessee was "within its constitutional police powers in prohibiting the teaching of any theory of evolution that denied the biblical story of the creation of man."

May Spread to Nation.

According to the decision, if upheld in the higher courts, the teaching of scientific facts may be barred from the educational system of the state at the will of those controlling the legislature.

It has already been announced by southern politicians backing the anti-evolution law that a national campaign will be begun by them next fall to place an anti-evolution law on the federal statutes. A bill is to be introduced by Representative Will Taylor, republican, Tennessee, or William D. Upshaw, democrat, of Georgia, to prohibit the teaching of evolution in the nation's public schools.

Again Object to Prayer.

The opening prayer was offered by Dr. Charles Francis Potter, a unitarian minister and evolutionist from New York.

Dr. Potter was chosen for the ceremony by the Dayton pastors' association at the request of Judge John T. Raulston. The prayer, however, was again objected to by Scopes' counsel even tho the minister came here to be a defense witness.

Dr. John R. Neal, of Scopes' counsel, voiced the protest and announced that an exception was taken to the judge's ruling permitting the prayer. He cited an opinion from the supreme court of the United States, which read: "The court will take judicial notice that religious world is divided into numerous sects and that a general doctrine is held by each sect."

Raultston Overrules Defense.

The defense immediately entered an objection, and the judge as quickly overruled it. An exception was taken by Frank McElwee, a new Scopes' attorney. At the same time, John R. Neal entered a demurrer for the defense to the indictment on the same constitutional grounds carried in the motion to quash.

The court overruled every constitutional question raised by the defense in his conclusion.

Judge Raulston read his decision, approximately 8,000 words long.

Would Give Legislature Dictatorship.

In answering the defense's charge that the law violated the fourteenth amendment of the federal constitution, the court held that the legislature had sufficient authority under its police powers not only to prescribe a course of study, but to name the books used, and that the courts could not interfere.

He cited the opinion of Justice McReynolds of the United States supreme court in the Oregon school case, the same court's ruling on the Meyer-Nebraska case and on the decision of the Tennessee state supreme court in the Leper case, which held that the legislature could prescribe certain books in all its schools.

Upholds Educational Censor.

"In the absence of expressed constitutional provisions," Raulston ruled, "the power (to control schools) must necessarily reside in the legislature and hence, it has the power to prescribe a course of study as well as the books to be used."

Then there came the flurry of motions from defense counsel and the judge ordered a recess.

DAYTON CROWD APPLAUDS SCOPES' DEFENSE; STATE APOLOGIZES FOR HARSH WORDS; JUDGE PROBES LEAK

DAYTON, Tenn., July 15.—Sue K. Hicks, youngest of the local prosecuting attorneys, demanded the court prohibit the defense's constant objections to the daily prayer, when the trial of John Scopes opened before Judge Raulston today.

Judge Raulston repeated his declaration that the prayer was a custom in his court and that he did not feel it would influence any person in the case.

Crowd Applauds Hayes.

Clarence Darrow, ranking defense attorney, made the formal exception to Raulston's ruling. It was entered on the record.

Some of the bad feeling between lawyers was removed when Attorney General A. Thomas Stewart arose to apologize to Arthur Garfield Hayes for his "shut your mouth" statement made during yesterday's session. Stewart said he was "very much ashamed" for his discourteous remark. A burst of applause greeted Stewart's statement.

"I accept the apology," said Hayes, "if the state's attorney will refrain from further reference to the states from which defense counsel came."

The crowd applauded Hayes.

Investigate Leak.

The court then renewed his investigation of the "scoop" carried yesterday by the International News Service and printed in the DAILY WORKER, revealing that his decision would uphold the constitutionality of the Tennessee anti-evolution law. Raulston called Richard J. Beamish, of Philadelphia, chairman of the committee of newspapermen, which was appointed to investigate the International News Service story.

Report on News Leak.

Beamish submitted the following report:

"The committee appointed by your honorable court to investigate a reported news leak of the substance of your honor's opinion upon the motion to quash the indictment of John T. Scopes respectfully reports: That it has ascertained that the brief bulletin to the effect that the decision would uphold the indictment was based upon information which the sender of the bulletin believed to be truthful.

"That the sender did not obtain this information from your honor's stenographer, nor in any improper and unethical manner.

"We recommend that no good ground exists for further investigation and that the sender of the bulletin be not disturbed in his relations with the court."

Philip Kinsley, Chicago Tribune, a member of the committee, did not sign the report.

"I think the court is entitled to know where the information came from?" said Judge Raulston.

"Upon investigation, we found that the information came from the court," said Beamish, as the crowd laughed.

"How? What's that?"

Reporter Used "Strategem."

"The young man met the judge entering a local hotel," Beamish continued. He then recited a conversation between the judge and this correspondent.

"Will court continue tomorrow?" Beamish said this correspondent inquired. "And your honor, you answered 'yes.'

"The reporter knew that court could not continue if you quashed the indictment. He therefore made a careful deduction that you intended to rule against the defense motion and based his story upon that."

The court thereupon called this correspondent to the stand and asked him whether he intended to "use strategem" upon the judge. When the reporter denied any intended trickery, the judge dropped the matter.

At this point Clarence Darrow, ranking defense attorney, arose and protested to the court against having the "religion of any of the lawyers in this case being made known to the jury." The court ruled in his favor.

'PEACE PACT' A PLAN TO KNIFE SOVIET UNION

German Reply to Be Ready Next Friday

BERLIN, Germany, July 15—The German cabinet, after much disagreement between foreign minister Stresemann and other cabinet members, has drafted a tentative reply to the French note on the basis of a treaty between Germany and the allies.

The socialist leaders are reported to be playing their usual role of servants of the capitalists, in supporting the "security pact" proposed as a means whereby the German and English capitalists can form an alliance against the Soviet Union.

Stresemann has disagreed with Schiele, nationalist minister of the interior, over the proposed reply. Schiele demands a note which makes it clear that Germany will not relinquish its demands for more territory on its eastern frontier. Stresemann favors a more conciliatory reply.

Stresemann's real purpose is to break the Rapallo treaty with the Soviet Union, and join hands with the anti-Soviet nations. It is hoped by the German capitalists to buy support from the U. S. and English capitalists by agreeing to oppose the Soviet Union.

There will be a final sitting on Germany's reply Friday at which the cabinet, the premiers of the federated states, and the reichstag's foreign relations committee will confer.
